Spohn Announces Ruby Business Staff Set-up

George Spohn '42, business manager of the 1942 Ruby, recently announced the personnel of his staff, members of which were selected after a call for candidates had been made. Editor Kenneth Hoopes '42, announced that the editorial staff would not be chosen until the beginning of next year.

Advertising manager is John Yeomans '42, with Robert Cooke '43, as assistant advertising manager. Other members of the staff are Helene Berger '42, Geraldine Reed '42, Dorothy Trout '43, Jean Webb '42, Peggy Keagle '43, Wilson Burke '44, David Krusen '44, and Herbert Leswing '43.

James Coulter '42, is circulation manager and Charles Burroughs '43, his assistant. The other staff members are Lenore Berky '42, Marion Britton '42, Jean Dornsife '43, Wilma MacCreedy '43, Dorothy Schleinkofer '42, Harry Smith '42, and Edward McCausland '43.

The third staff is the utility staff with Charles Graver '42, as manager. James Richards '43, is his assistant and the remainder of the staff is composed of Doris Morgan '42, Pauline Nissely '42, Ruth Riegel '43, Dorothy Thurston '42, Wilma Weisgerber '42, George Shuster '42, William Keagle '43, and Robert Young '44.

Robert Rapp '43, has been appointed to the post of assistant business manager and the junior assistant business manager is Howard Lyons '44.

The utility staff is an innovation on the Ruby business staff. To it will be assigned the candy business and plans are being made to sponsor various social events next year in an effort to raise more funds.

Noted X-Ray Specialist To Speak Here Tuesday

At the next two meetings of the James M. Anders Pre-Medical Society, the society and the student body of Ursinus will have the privilege of hearing two medical men of international reputation.

On Tuesday, April 22, at 7:45 p. m., Dr. George E. Pfahler, who is today the world's most distinguished Roentgenologist and a member of the Board of Trustees of the College, will speak and show some of the most recent films on the prevention and occurrence of cancer.

Dr. Pfahler will also describe the newest methods in the application of radium in the treatment of cancer. This talk should be of special interest to all, for in recent years, deaths from cancer have increased at an alarming rate.

Two weeks later, on May 6, Dr. George K. Dorrance, eminent surgeon and research scientist, will speak.

Dr. Dorrance was a founder of the Doctors' Hospital in Philadelphia, and is the chief surgeon at the Oncological Hospital and a member of the surgical department and Graduate School of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania. He is highly regarded in medical circles for having devised the Dorrance method of determining the time of blood coagulation.

On the week-end of April 25-26-27, a group of Ursinus students majoring in biology will travel to New York City. While there they will visit the American Museum of Natural History, the Botanical and Zoological Gardens, the Bronx Park system, and several medical centers.

IN BRIEF!

Room drawings for next year's senior women will be held this evening in Dean Stahr's office from 6:45-7:45 p. m. Next year's juniors will draw tomorrow from 5:00-6:00 p. m. and next year's sophomores from 6:45-7:45 p. m.

Students now in College who wish to apply for scholarships or self-help jobs for next year should do so by May 1.

Deadline for material to be submitted to the Lantern staff for the spring issue is May 1.

Annual Open House To Be Held May 3

Prospective students will be given an opportunity to view Ursinus life in all its phases on Saturday, May 3, when the annual Open House will be held. This year the program will be confined to Saturday since no overnight invitations are being extended.

The visitors will register at 9:00 a. m. in Bomberger. At 9:30 a. m. examinations for scholarships will be given, and the Committee on Scholarships will interview the scholarship candidates in the course of the day.

Luncheon will be served at noon, for which there will be a charge of twenty-five cents. From 10:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. there will be several exhibits in the Science Building and the Alumni Memorial Library.

During the day the prospective students will have ample opportunity to tour the campus and inspect the various buildings, including the men's dormitories and the women's residence halls.

Sibbald Chooses Play Committees

Committees for "Lightnin", the Curtain Club play which is to be presented in the Thompson-Gay Gymnasium on Friday and Saturday evenings, May 9 and 10, have been announced by Dr. Reginald S. Sibbald, who is coaching the production.

The stage committee is headed by John Musser '41, who will be assisted by David Krusen '44, Clark Moore '43, Gracemary Greene '42, and Winfield Smith '41.

Muriel Howarth '41, chairman of the ticket committee, will have as her assistants Joyce Lownes '42, Jean Ehlers '41, Emily Baldwin '41, Dorothy Campbell '42, Marian Kriebel '41, Shirley Anderson '43, Dillwyn Darlington '41, and Roy Wenhold '42.

Members of the properties committee of which Nadine Sturges '41, is chairman include: Irene Maginins '43, Carol Anfinen '42, Isabel Carranza '42, Walter Huff '43, Blanche Schultz '41, and Robert Ihrie '44.

The chairman of the publicity committee, Denton Herber '42, will be aided by Marjorie Foster '42, and Mary Hyde '41.

Circus Theme Will Provide Novel Setting for May Hop

Several orchestras have already been auditioned by the committee for the May Hop, announced chairman Roy Wenhold today. The choice of a band now rests between two competing orchestras. This will be the last informal dance of the school year and is being sponsored by the combined student governing bodies on Saturday evening, May 17. Announcement of the orchestra chosen to provide the syncopation will be made soon.

A circus theme has been decided upon by the committee not only because of its novelty but also in view of the fact that the world-famous Barnum and Bailey Circus is scheduled to open in Philadelphia that Saturday afternoon.

The theme will be carried out with the decorations depicting elephants, giraffes, monkeys, clowns, and tight-rope walkers. Even pink lemonade and animal crackers will be served to complete the circus atmosphere.

Variety Is Keynote of Prom; Minstrel Show Gets Laughs

End Men Put New Life Into Old Gags

The second half of the Junior Weekend program got under way on Saturday evening with the production of a minstrel show under the auspices of the Junior Class and the Booster Committee.

The show, a product of the fertile brain of John Rauhauser '41, was replete with black and white songs and jokes. Henry Shuster '42, James Coulter '42, Victor Troxell '41, and Don Fetterman '41, as end men Owens, Tambo, Rastus, and Bones, respectively, kept the audience in a continual titter with their jokes which were mellowed things of age. Don Melson '43, as part of the white entertainment, sang "Shortnin' Bread" and Roy Snyder '41, who also appeared without coloring, rendered "And He Strummed on His Big Base Viol" and "Without a Song".

A white chorus of Gracemary Greene '42, Betty Knoll '43, Roy Wenhold '42, and Donald Melson '43, vocalized "There'll Be Some Changes Made" and "Dolores". The "Dark-Clouds" orchestra composed of Archer Crosley '42, George Hopkins '41, and Bob Worthing '41, with Frank Morris '41, on the piano supplied the rest of the music.

After the show there was dancing to the orchestrations of a nickelodian.

Besse Howard To Speak At Forum on April 30

Miss Besse Howard, internationally known lecturer and current history commentator, will speak at the Ursinus Forum on April 30, at 7:30 p. m. in Bomberger. The subject of her address will be a topic of current interest.

Formerly a director of the Pennsylvania Branch of the League of Nations Association and a director of the American Committee during the disarmament conference at Geneva in 1932, Miss Howard has made frequent trips to Europe and has obtained extensive knowledge of international affairs through her keen observation and contact with all classes of people.

She was graduated from the Randolph-Macon College in Virginia, received a master's degree at the University of Pennsylvania, and attended the University of Grenoble in France as training for her work.

Last Call for Reservations For the Y New York Trip!

All students planning to make the New York trip sponsored by the social service committee of the Young Men's - Young Women's Christian Association must sign up immediately with Jean Patterson '42, and Frank Morris '41, co-chairmen of the committee. A group of twenty-five students is necessary in order to make the trip possible.

The excursion plans to get underway from the College Friday morning, April 25, and return Sunday evening, April 27. Various religious centers will be visited, including the Bahai Assembly of the Persian religion, the Buddhist Temple, the Jainist Temple, the Temple Emmanuel and the Jewish Religious Educational Center. In addition, the group will include in its itinerary many other points of unusual interest.

The total cost of the trip has been estimated at eight dollars.

Dr. Price Presents Paper

At the sixth meeting of the College of Physicians in Philadelphia on April 1, 1941, Dr. John B. Price, College physician, presented a paper on "The Autonomic Nervous System and Its Relation to Upper Respiratory Symptoms".

The article dealt with the responses of membranes in the respiratory system to barometric conditions, and general appearance of the nasal and pharyngeal membranes based on the association and behavior of the sympathetic and para-sympathetic nervous system.

Bandmaster Leads Dancers In Novelty Numbers

By Bill Ditter '43

More than one hundred and sixty couples danced to the music of Herby Woods and his orchestra at the Junior Prom on Friday evening in a "stardusted" Thompson-Gay Gymnasium.

To Richard Arnold '42, and the Junior Prom committee goes the credit for one of the most successful proms staged at Ursinus in recent years.

CUB AND KEY TAPS FIVE

As has been the custom in recent years, the Cub and Key Society held its tapping ceremony just before intermission. Five juniors were tapped in the society because of their high scholastic standing and service to the College in extra-curricular activity. Those selected this year were Garnet Adams, Karl Agan, Fred Binder, Denton Herber, and Roy Wenhold.

After the Cub and Key initiation last night, the senior members of the society elected Garnet Adams as president and Roy Wenhold as secretary-treasurer, for next year.

The Cub and Key Society was organized in 1939 to give recognition to the work of outstanding men among the undergraduates of the College. The present senior members are Nicholas Barry, Joseph Duquette, Nathaniel Johnson, John Rauhauser, Harry Showalter, Frederick Weiland, and Frank Wood.

Herby Woods in his first appearance at Ursinus made a definite hit—his smooth rhythms and his "boogie-woogie" were unusually good, but when he climbed down from the bandstand to teach the dancers the "Coki-Coki" and the "Bumps-a-Daisy" and lead them in the "La Conga, he sold himself to the whole group. The light sprinkling of Viennese airs and South American tunes offered a pleasant diversion from the strictly "fast" or "slow" music.

Professional decorator Fred Lynch fitted a fine background along the stardust theme for the gala affair. The gym was camouflaged with hanging "stars" and decorations of constellations painted on the false walls.

The chaperons for the evening were Vice-President and Mrs. Donald Helfferich, Miss Camilla B. Stahr, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter P. Stevens.

Eunice King Gives Talk On Christian Community

Miss Eunice King, traveling secretary for the Student Christian Movement, gave a talk last Wednesday evening on "Christian World Community—Fact or Fiction?" Miss King, a graduate of the Women's College of North Carolina University, stated that the Christian community was considered by too many as a pipe dream, "there are three steps that we should know concerning the progress of this movement".

The first was the Madras Conference held three years ago in India to which came theologians and philosophers. There they discussed the idea of a Christian World.

The second was the Amsterdam Conference which was a cross-section of youth of international scope. The outcome of this conference was a realization that a search for truth transcends all backgrounds.

The third was the Toronto Conference to which 500 people of North America gathered to study missions. "A truer understanding of the method of a missionary—a day in, day out witness and example of the Christian world community" was the result of this conference.

Binder Elected President of Council; Other Offices Filled in Delayed Vote

Last week saw the finals of the voting race for campus offices end in a hard-fought battle between Bruce MacKenzie, '42, and Fred Binder '42, for the presidency of the Men's Student Council.

Rapidly becoming discouraged after two votings had failed to settle the election, the men students were called upon to vote a third time. The second count showed that the voting machine had been tampered with in such a manner that, after noon, MacKenzie received Binder's votes while his own went into a third column. However, a vote by ballot taken under the strict supervision of the council showed that Fred Binder had been the chosen person. Consequently, according to the law, MacKenzie became vice-president by virtue of having totaled the second highest number of votes.

It was omitted from the last issue of the Weekly that Edward Maykut '42, had been elected representative for the Men's Day Study.

Since there was no majority for presidency of the Senior Class a revote was held in which William Selfridge was elected.

The following persons were elected to offices unfilled after the votings of the previous week:

Class of '43 council members, Fred Becker, Robert Cooke, Evan Morrow, Robert Bauer; '44 council members, Blaine Fister, William Daniels; Y. W. C. A., Grace Brandt '43, vice-president; Peggy Teal '44, secretary; W. A. A., Natalie Hoagland '42, president; Peggy Keagle '43, vice-president; Jean Mathieu '44, secretary.

Men's Debating Club Elects Denton Herber President

The Men's Debating Society elected new officers last Monday night at a special meeting in Free-land Reception Room.

The club chose Denton Herber '42, president; J. William Ditter '43, manager; Garfield Clark '42, vice-president; Al Wells '44, secretary; and Elwood Heller '43, and Donald Melson '43, assistant managers.

Plans were discussed for the annual banquet to be held with the Women's Debating Club in the near future.

Leuallen To Present Paper at Meeting of Collegiate Chemists

Curtis Leuallen '41, will present the scientific paper from Ursinus at the Intercollegiate Convention of Student Chemists to be held at Villanova College, Saturday, April 26. Leuallen's paper will deal with the subject of sulfanilamide. Prizes will be awarded to the students presenting the best papers.

Chemical societies from eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware will be represented at the convention. Exhibits, talks, and motion pictures on various scientific subjects are on the day's program that will be witnessed by a sizeable Ursinus delegation of the Beardwood Chemical Society.

Edward Benjamin '41, president of the society, has announced that Leuallen will receive a gold key for his successful effort. Money necessary for the purchase of the key is being raised through sales of candy bars in the various labs of the Science Building.

The society will hold one more business meeting before the end of the semester.

Blum and Wismer Reach Finals at TKA Conclave

Charles Blum '41, and Eli Wismer '41, represented Ursinus at the Mid-eastern District Conference of Tau Kappa Alpha at Muhlenberg College on April 18 and 19.

Blum and Wismer reached the finals of the debating competition, but were there defeated by Mendelsohn of Albright and Miss Finney of Upsala. Wismer took part in the after-dinner speaking contest at the conference.

Dr. Harvey L. Carter, sponsor of the Ursinus chapter of the debating organization, was reelected district governor for the coming year.

Last Thursday afternoon, the Ursinus chapter of TKA elected the following into its membership: Elwood Heller '43, Garfield Clark '43, William Ditter '43, Donald Melson '43, John Rauhauser '41, Paul Wise '41, Martha Jane Evans '41, Marion Witmer '41, Marion Byron '42, Jean Patterson '42, and Joyce Lownes '42.

Preparedness For Peace

Today there is a great deal of consideration given to national defense preparations and preparedness for war. But Americans should not make the mistake of forgetting that similar measures must be taken to prepare for peace.

Peace is not a negative thing, not merely the absence of war. It requires more, it requires positive action to make it enduring.

When military power from across the seas threatens that which we cherish, it is surely necessary to look to our soldiers and their arms to be ready to protect us if the need should arise. But when the dangers of armed conflict are not abroad in the world, there is likely to come indifference to national welfare; and in time of military preparedness, other phases of our national life may be neglected. For time of peace as well as time of war, or threats of war, it is necessary to mobilize our resources as a nation.

Mobilization for peacetime can include three aspects: mobilization of human resources, mobilization of productive resources, mobilization of intellectual resources.

The threat of war brings to any nation a realization of the value of its manpower, of the necessity of giving attention to the physical condition of individuals, and to their training in industrial skills. Why neglect this in time of peace?

The same situation is present in the case of our productive resources, our factories which stood idle, our farms whose products have had such great difficulty reaching consumers that they were destroyed, first by nature and then by the farmers. Why should not these facilities be in full production in peacetime?

By mobilization of intellectual resources, we mean that America would take her place in the world of international affairs in peace, and that, internally, she would be made free by truth. Facts must be plainly, clearly, and logically faced and dealt with. By these means our country can become "strong, healthy, and united", as essential a condition for national defense as the production of arms and armies. Let us take heed from the example of France, which fell, not because of military weakness, but because of a previous failure of public spirit in time of peace. W. S. B. '42

Now For Some Fresh Air!

Democracy at Work!

The recent petitioning, electioneering, and voting—what a relief now that it's over—are just evidences that our campus democracy is at work. But as our democracy worked last week, a distinct body odor was only too noticeable. Perhaps it came from the sweat of its workings, but it certainly is a shame that such a tiny, dainty democracy as ours should diffuse such a stench.

For one thing, the election period was too long and drawn out. We're not putting the blame for this upon any one person. Maybe the voting machine was to blame and so everybody is absolved of any complicity in prolonging the balloting. We sincerely hope that no one's conscience bothered him for any part he played in the election. Whatever the cause for the apparent miscarriage of votes, it was a shame, wasn't it?

Codes of ethics on the part of certain ward-healers were not blameless either. Understand, we believe that it is perfectly legitimate to present your candidate's case squarely and fairly before the voters. But we don't believe that fraternity or sorority affiliations really have a bearing upon a candidate's fitness for office.

All things being taken into consideration, we're glad elections are over. Now perhaps we can once again breathe the pure, fresh spring air.

Congratulations to the successful candidates! We hope that all the campus organizations will go on to become bigger and better under your leadership. D. A. H. '42

GAFF from the GRIZZLY

Notes on the Prom:

Even the stars came out for the Junior Prom this past Friday eve. Everyone and his cousin was there in his (or his room-mate's) best bib and tux. There was a bevy of beauties—we don't mean beauts—and much of Ursinus' manly manhood. Even the decorations couldn't daunt the "spirits" that prevailed. Herby Woods' Conga, with "Ginger" Ducat's hip-swinging lent spice to the affair.

We'd like to take this opportunity to congratulate the five men who were honored at the Cub and Key tapping ceremony. We realize it is a just reward for outstanding service and you deserve it.

Off Main Street:

It is getting too crowded on 8th avenue bridge these lovely spring evenings. So if you young couples care to take walks "wif wooin' as your object" please sign up for half hour periods. Ask for P. B. in the Girls' Day Study.

Campusettes:

Some of these haircuts are certainly BARBAR ASH (a shining example).

It seems as though Satch did much better by a darn sife this past week-end.

All questions on the above facts will be gladly answered in the next week's column, providing a signed question is handed to a member of the Weekly staff.

Society Notes

The social committee of the Ursinus Women's Club gave a "coffee" for the senior girls last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Manning in order to acquaint them with the benefits of the club. The chairman of the "coffee" was Mrs. Leighton Smith.

Miss Grace Saylor '12, entertained the girls with songs in French, German, and English.

While refreshments were being served, Miss Florence Benjamin '30, president of the Ursinus Women's Club, told the seniors what the club is and what it has done.

When the club was originally founded the members had to be graduates of Ursinus, but it soon extended its membership to the women of this community and to any other friends of the College. In addition to some other achievements, the Ursinus Women's Club has bought "612", paid the salary of the first athletic directress, and it still furnishes a yearly scholarship to a woman student of high standing.

Kappa Delta Kappa Sorority held its annual elections at a meeting held last Tuesday evening. The new officers are: president, Dorothy Brosz '42; vice-president, Betty Knoll '43; treasurer, Geraldine Reed '42; corresponding secretary, Gladys Heibel '42; recording secretary, Ruth Moser '43; and chaplain, Betty Reese '43.

The Women's Day Study recently elected its officers for next year. They are: Betty Wismer '42, president; Betty Reese '43, vice-president; Martha Hess '44, secretary-treasurer; Betty Allebach '42, W. S. G. A. representative; and Peggy Teal '44, Y. W. C. A. representative.

Things'n Stuff

By IHRIE

Orchids to the Junior Class as a whole, and to the committee in particular, for putting over a really splendid Prom. The decorations were attractive; the orchestra was excellent; and the ladies and gentlemen looked elegant in their formal finery. But it certainly did cost money!

Three dollars and a half to get in; then there's gas for the car, a corsage, tux rental—and you didn't even eat yet. What with dinner, dances coming along, it's quite an expense.

Now understand, we fellows think our girls are worth all that money—you bet your life we do—and we wouldn't stand for a cheap affair; yet Muhlenberg had Tommy Dorsey for $2.50 a couple and there's nothing cheap about Dorsey.

We'll grant that 'Berg, had an auditorium and admitted outsiders, nevertheless Muhlenberg is a small school, T.D.'s is an expensive outfit, and $2.50 is very reasonable.

Now I don't suggest renting an auditorium, nor admitting outsiders, nor hiring Dorsey; but there's one student body that keeps the price of its social affairs low enough to be within the reach of almost everyone and still is able to secure big-name bands.

It would seem that at a "poor man's college" we could do one or the other, or both: either hire better bands, or reduce the prices of our dances, or alternate policies during the year. Most students would be content with a price reduction.

Allotting for decorations, dance cards, and orchestra (no additional expenses seem necessary), there is no apparent reason why $2.50 formals and dollar dances could not be a success all around—even financially for the sponsoring organization. Indeed, I doubt whether students would object.

After all, are dances run purely for profit, or for entertainment too? Why should dances alone bear the burden of financing organizations?

The problem seems well worth looking into, particularly in view of the May Hop which is traditionally an inexpensive dance success.

The Commentator On Convoing Ships

The English editors hint vaguely at it; the Washington correspondents discuss it freely, but guardedly. At latest reports it is the question uppermost in the minds of all administration leaders. The most important decision of American foreign policy yet to be made concerns the extent to which the United States is willing to go to assure the safe passage of its "Lend-Lease" cargoes to England.

It is a safe assumption that the majority of the administration believes that some sort of protection is necessary. The big question is how this protection shall be given. The word convoy has an ugly and foreboding connotation in the minds of most Americans. Therefore in addition to looking for a new method of protecting the "Lend-Lease" ships, the administration leaders are at a loss searching for an acceptable substitute for the word—convoy.

The type of convoy now used by the English to protect their cargoes meets this group of ships at a designated point, usually about 800 to 1500 miles away from the home ports, depending on the direction from which they are coming. An English convoy consists of a double line of from sixteen to thirty cargo ships in the center of which is usually a large cruiser or merchant vessel. The purpose of this latter ship is to drive away surface raiders. It is the duty of the two lines of destroyers on the outside of the lanes of ships to protect them from submarines. Despite all this seemingly adequate protection, these convoys are still very vulnerable to attack because often there are too few destroyers and the large cruiser, or armed merchant vessel, usually cannot drive off one of Germany's battleship raiders.

The sort of protection which will be needed on the part of the United States is quite different from that demanded of England. In the first place, it may be stated that despite Churchill's warnings to the contrary, few of the convoys have been attacked beyond the range of English convoys. Neither submarines nor their eyes, the airplanes, can operate for a long time far away from their home bases. It is the last 600 miles which is the really dangerous part of the trip.

In the second place, up to this time the American neutrality patrol has served rather well to prevent many attacks close to our shores. Therefore, we may be said to be already protecting British cargoes for a part of the way. The main question, at present, is how we can expand our protection so that the ships will be well guarded until English ships can take over the job and still avoid open conflict with the Nazis.

Our first move should be to extend the range of neutrality patrol halfway over the Atlantic and north as far as Iceland. We should then concentrate our patrol boats along the chief shipping lanes. As a further move of protection we should send out our large navy patrol boats to serve as eyes against submarines and other raiders. Their chief job would be to report the presence of German subs or surface raiders to the British.

By such measures the United States government could do the two things about convoys it deems most necessary. First, it affords a maximum of protection with a minimum of involvement. Secondly, such measures would not be convoys in the strict sense of the word; hence, the use of the word convoy would be obviated.

Sugar Cue & by Spice Ball

What is worrying us about the "Reggie"—ment of knit-wits that has hit the campus is—do the boys really have to wear the best girl friend's yarn masterpiece? It is beyond our "Ken" how Mr. Snyder will ever struggle into that diminutive number Punchy's purling, and mark our word, Betty is going to make someone look like the "before" picture in a Fels Naptha Ad if he should ever don that "tattle-tale gray" white sweater she is so lovingly "knotting".

Rumor has it that Maples is becoming an undertaking establishment. We will all have to "Stretch" our imagination to believe this.

We dropped in on a rehearsal of "Lightin'" the other evening only to find freshman Willard Lutz handling the romantic lead. What is this younger generation coming to, or is Harry slipping?

Incidentally the way all those actors with two lines keep fitting across the stage, we see this Curtain Club production is going to look like Macy's Basement on Dollar Day.

Editor d'emeritus Nick is afraid of our verbal attacks. Perhaps if we Buckle-y down to work and do some super-sleuthing we can get the goods on him.

And then there is the case of the girl who calls some of her courses "ginger" 'cause they're such snaps.

Why don't the freshmen sponsor a dance? The seniors have a Ball; the juniors, a Prom; the sophomores, a Hop, so why not a freshman "Frizzle".

= SCREENS FOR ME =

'Tis fine to see the old world
And travel up and down,
Among the famous palaces
And castles of renown;
But to me it seems a finer thing
To view our sweltering rooms,
A-filled with flies and
gnats and bugs
Which dangerously loom.
It seems that there are windows
That let the cool air in;
But without the screens
they're supposed to have,
In come the flies and kin.

"YOU SAVVY
QUICK, SOLDIER!"

DAD ought to know. Look at the wall behind him—his personal military history. Photo of the troop. Dad by himself, very proud in his old-style choker-collared blouse. And his decorations—the Order of the Purple Heart, Victory Medal, Croix de Guerre with palm.

"You savvy quick, soldier," he says to his son as that chip off the old block in the new uniform proffers Camels. "These were practically 'regulation' cigarettes with the army men I knew. Lots of other things have changed, but not a soldier's 'smokin's.'"

Right! Today, and for more than 20 years, reports from Army Post Exchanges show that Camels are the favorite. And in Navy canteens, too, Camels are preferred.

Just seems that Camels click with more people than any other cigarette—whether they're wearing O.D., blues, or civvies. You'll savvy, too—and quick—with your first puff of a slower-burning Camel with its extra mildness, extra coolness, and extra flavor, why it's the "front-line" cigarette!

Bear Trackmen Drop First Meet To G-Burg Saturday by 86-40 Score

Handicapped by inexperience and the absence of several regular members of the squad, the Grizzly cindermen went down to defeat Saturday at the hands of the Gettysburg Bullets, by a score of 86-40, on the latter's track. Jim Raban, and Joe Irvin, sprint mainstays, were forced to remain home in order to play in the Penn A. C. baseball game, while Curt Leuallen and Paul Detwiler had to rest injuries.

High scorers for the Bears were Buddy Adams and Ed Conine with nine points apiece, while following them was Russ Huckel with six.

This Thursday afternoon the track team will meet Delaware University on Patterson Field. Since all men should be available for that meet, Coach Hashagen is looking for a win.

Baseball Squad Defeats Haverford 4 - 1 but Bows to Pennacs 9 - 3; MacMahon Fans 13 in Haverford Tilt

Bears Play Errorless Ball Against Haverford

Coach Jing Johnson's baseball proteges combined a perfect defense and concentrated offense with the four-hit pitching of Schmoke MacMahon to score a 4-1 victory over Haverford, away, last Monday afternoon.

MacMahon personally accounted for half the putouts by fanning thirteen men; and he was given errorless support on the field, as well as in the run-making department, in his first mound triumph of the season.

The Haverford lads opened the scoring in the second inning when they pushed across their only run on two hits and a walk. But the Bears tallied twice in the fourth on a walk, an error, and a single by MacFarland, to go out in front, 2-1.

The Bears made it 3-1 in the seventh frame as a result of three bases on balls and a timely blow by George Spohn; and registered again in the ninth on Joe Irvin's hit to set the final count at 4 to 1.

Rorer Combination Finishes Pennac Game

After registering six runs in a disastrous second inning, the Penn Athletic Club went on to take the measure of the Ursinus baseball squad, 9-4, here Saturday afternoon.

Doubles by Fetterman and Berman, a base on balls, and MacMahon's single, gave the Bears a 2 to 0 lead in the initial frame. But the Penn A. C. batsmen took advantage of three walks, a single, an error, and a homer by Ogden with the bases loaded, to go ahead 6-2 in the second canto.

The visitors tagged Schmoke for two more counters in the fourth inning on a bunt, a walk, a double steal, and a single, making it eight to two. After Penn A. C. had hammered MacMahon for eight runs in four innings, the Rorer battery combination went in at the beginning of the fifth and completely stemmed the attack, striking out eight men and yielding only two hits and one run for the remainder of the game.

When Tkacz and MacMahon had walked in the fifth stanza, MacFarland drove in a run with a smashing two-bagger, before Schmoke was caught off base to retire the side.

The Penn A. C. athletes pushed across their last tally on an error and a double in the sixth; Ursinus came back with another in the last half of the ninth as a result of a walk, a double steal, and a hit, to set the final count at 9-4.

Women's Golf Team Loses Opener to Swarthmore 5 - 0

The women's golf team of Ursinus dropped their first match of the year to a strong Swarthmore team last Tuesday on the Jeffersonville course, by the score of 5 to 0.

Veteran Ann Robinson and newcomer Jane DeLorme came very close to copping their matches for Ursinus, but both girls lost out in the last couple holes.

The Ursinus team was made up of the following girls: Ann Robinson, Dot Schleinkofer, Ruth Heinkel, Betty Barberick, and Jane DeLorme.

ATTENTION GOLFERS!

The Intramural single hole golf tournament will be held Thursday, May 1. Contestants may practice any time on the golf course which has been put in shape by a group of workers, under the direction of Nick Bis-cotte.

Softball In Full Swing

The intramural baseball race is now going into its third week. Stine is in the lead at the present time. The feature game of the past week was Curtis' 3-2 triumph over the once-heralded, "Duke" Deardorff.

The standings of the teams are:

	W.	L.
Stine	2	0
Curtis	1	0
Brodbeck	1	1
Faculty-Highland	1	1
Derr	1	2
*Freeland	0	3

*Freeland has been eliminated from the softball race because of its second forfeit, as this automatically drops a team out of the competition.
