Prompter—Marion Simpson '40.

Research Topics to Be Assigned at Debate Club

Topics for research on this year's questions will be assigned to members of the Debating Club tonight at a meeting in the Freeland reception room.

Colleges this year are debating two questions: "Resolved: that the basic blame for the present war rests upon the Allied powers"; and, "Resolved: that the Federal Government should give financial aid to the several states in order to equalize educational opportunities for all citizens".

The problem as to whom Ursinus will debate this year will also be brought before the club members during the business meeting.

German Club Members Will Discuss Poetry, Handel's Works

The German Club will discuss German poetry and the works of Handel, composer of "The Messiah", at its first meeting of the year on Tuesday evening, November 14, at 8 o'clock in Bomberger.

Charles Steinmetz '40, president of the club, invites everyone who has some knowledge of the German language, including any freshmen who may be interested, to attend the meeting.

NOTICE

The Council on Student Activities wishes to remind organizations that they are not to schedule meetings in the Science Building on any evening without permission from the Vice-President's office.

Chuck Gordon, who will play for the Senior Ball on December 8, will bring a new style of music to the Ursinus campus. Not only will he feature the arrangements of the national dance band idol, Glenn Miller, but also the most popular arrangements of the day of the top bands of the country. The versatility of the Gordon swingers has made them popular through every engagement that they have had, including twelve weeks this past summer on location at the Pier, Ocean City, Md.

The leader himself will assume a playing role with his orchestra, playing several instruments among which he selects the trumpet as his favorite. Chuck himself is a college man, having been graduated from West Chester State Teachers' College, where he studied music.

Recent successful engagements include Princeton University, Lehigh University, University of Delaware, Haverford College and Washington College, Chestertown, Md.

Betty Kirk, the charming vocalist with the band, has come right up along with the rest of the boys and enjoys her share of the popularity wherever she is heard.

Chuck, according to his managers, is eagerly looking forward to his first visit to Ursinus and hopes to make many friends while "giving out" at the Senior Ball.

Students from West Chester Will Conduct Vespers Nov. 19

The Vesper service for Sunday evening, November 19, will be in charge of a group of YM-YWCA members selected from the student body of West Chester State Teachers' College. The entire service will be in their hands. Besides a student speaker and several leaders, there is to be a men's chorus which will present selections.

Believing that variety is not only invigorating, but also inspirational, the Ursinus "Y" organizations have set about presenting different types of Vesper Services. In accordance with this policy, the West Chester group was invited to conduct this special pre-Thanksgiving service.

Representative of Lugier's Will Be on Campus This Week

Mrs. Elizabeth Newkirk, representative of Lugier's, make-up artists who demonstrated at the women's mass meeting on November 6, will hold interviews this week on campus.

She will be at Shreiner Hall on Wednesday from 2:00 p. m. until evening, and on Friday from 2:00 p. m. until 6:00 p. m.

Appointments may be made in Room 2 on Tuesday at noon and after dinner.

"Weekly" Places in Three INA Contests

Leon Pearson, Washington correspondent and brother of Drew Pearson, co-writer of "Washington Merry-Go-Round", was the speaker at the closing banquet of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association Convention at Bucknell University in Lewisburg, Pa., over the weekend. The Weekly took third place in three INA contests, the largest number of prizes it has taken to date.

Mr. Pearson, who specializes in Latin-American news, was the first president and one of the founders of the association, which includes college newspapers of the Middle Atlantic States. His talk consisted of a number of his experiences at the White House press conferences, which included material on the third term question, American foreign policy, and the possibility of keeping out of war.

Following Mr. Pearson's talk, prizes for editorials, news, sports, and advertising were awarded to member newspapers. The Weekly took third place in editorials, news, and sports.

The program for the week-end included two general sessions, business meetings, and group conferences, on Friday and Saturday. John Rauhauser '41, and Nicholas Barry '41, were the Ursinus representatives at the conclave.

Handel's "Messiah" Embodies Mastery in Simplicity

By Robert C. Yoh

Mozart through his economy has given the world of music infinite grace and pure beauty; Beethoven has portrayed great moments of dramatic intensity. But Georg Frederick Handel was a composer who was always simple, direct, and masterful. With a few well-worn harmonies and sequences put together with an unerring sense of form and balance, he produced the mighty choruses which, because of their simplicity and directness, have become well-known and beloved by thousands of people.

Handel worked all his wonders with materials that would have caused boredom in the hands of a lesser artist. He was a firm believer in economy, but in economy so well handled and so inspired that it brought King George II and his dusty court to their feet in tribute of the Hallelujah Chorus—perhaps the best-known section of "The Messiah", which is to be presented by the Ursinus musical organizations on December 7. And with Handel's economy there was a reserve. He never used two instruments or voices where one alone would do. Handel held in check his reserve forces, until, when suddenly unleashed, they turned an ordinary success into a glorious triumph.

"The Messiah" owes its birth to the fact that unscrupulous persons pirated Handel's "Esther", and produced this Biblical work on the stage with action and scenery. It was condemned by the Bishop of London as sacrilegious. In return Handel revised "Esther" and performed it in the theatre without action and scenery. It was a great success—and so the concert oratorio was born. "The Messiah" followed "Esther", and as a sun outshines the stars, so this work outshone its inspiration.

It is safe to say that the entire credit for the great success of "The Messiah" should not go to Handel alone. The world owes thanks to Charles Jennens, without whose wonderful words, so well selected and arranged, "The Messiah" might never have been written. Jennens was a wealthy aristocrat, who was dreadfully conceited. He

World Union Topic Of Nov. 28 Forum

Dr. Vernon Nash, Chairman of the Speakers Committee, Inter-democracy Federal Unionists, will speak at an Ursinus Forum on Tuesday evening, Nov. 28, at 7:30 p. m. in Bomberger.

Dr. Nash is one of the founders of the committee supporting the proposals of the book "Union Now", by Clarence K. Streit (see Ursinus Weekly Nov. 6, page 5)

Dr. Nash's topic will be "The World's Option—Union or Chaos." By reason of extensions and improvements in the realms of communication and transportation, the world has become sufficiently integrated, interrelated, and interdependent that anarchy in international relations has become intolerable. Either we must end it by a federal world government or it must degenerate into sheer chaos, Dr. Nash thinks.

Dr. Nash will elaborate reasons for believing that a federal system offers the only acceptable middle ground between a too powerful super-state and a too weak league, and for believing that in the initial uniting of the world's democracies we have the most practical first step to that end with incomparably the best prospects of early adoption in time to avert catastrophe.

Dr. Nash is a native of Missouri and was a Rhodes Scholar from that state. He was with the British Army in India and East Africa, 1917-1918, and served in China from 1924-1936 as representative of the Missouri Yenching Foundation in Yenching University, Peiping.

Dean of Temple Law School Will Speak to Pre-Legal Society

John G. Hervey, Dean of the Temple University Law School, will speak to the meeting of the Pre-Legal Society on Monday evening, November 20, in the Freeland reception room.

Dr. Hervey received his education and his degree of LL.B. at Oklahoma University. For a period of five years he taught in the political science department of the Wharton School, receiving his Ph.D. degree from that institution. Prior to his assuming the deanship at Temple Law School, Dr. Hervey served in the capacity of Associate Dean for four years.

Dr. Hervey is the author of several books and magazine articles, and frequently appears on the lecture platform. Recently he took an active part in the mayoralty campaign in Philadelphia. He is a member of the Pennsylvania Bar Association.

Bardsley Crosses Goal On Pass, Biscotte Boots Pair of Extra Points

By Harold Chern

Toy Dawson, Ursinus star ball carrier, and Tom Hughes, the Drexel "Humming bird" halfback, turned in a couple of one man performances to give their teams a 14-14 tie at Drexel Field, Saturday.

Dawson and Hughes, outstanding all afternoon, figured in both touchdowns scored by their respective teams; Dawson featuring with a 68 yard punt return to score Ursinus' second touchdown.

Bears Open Scoring

The Bears opened the scoring in the middle of the first period when Dawson passed to Buzz Bardsley in a play which covered 42 yards.

Backed into their own territory by a Drexel offense which opened red hot following the opening kickoff, Kellett's Grizzlies had little chance to do anything but dig in until Hughes punted over the goal line giving Ursinus possession of the oval on their own twenty.

Dawson back on first down faked a punt and then passed short to Steinmetz, Ursinus blocking back and acting captain of the game. Running well behind a veritable cloud of interferers, Steinmetz reached the Drexel 38 before being dragged down.

Biscotte Boots Extra Point

Two cracks at the Drexel line cost the Bears four yards before Dawson and Bardsley pulled their battery act which resulted in a touchdown. Biscotte, booting for the seventh point, put his shot squarely between the goal posts.

On the opening play of the second quarter Hughes, by far the outstanding player on the Drexel team, broke loose in returning a punt from mid-field his two touchdown jaunts, giving the Dragons a chance to tie the score, now on the 23.

Three running plays and a short pass gained eleven yards and a first down on the 12. A line buck failed and the quarter ended with the Dragons on the Ursinus 12-yard line, second down and 10 yards to go.

Williams Scores

On the first play of the second period Williams, huge Dragon fullback flipped a lateral to Hughes who sped over to score without being touched. Williams smashed over for the extra point from the yard and a half line, where the ball had been placed following an off-side penalty against Ursinus.

The third quarter opened with the Bears driving deep into Drexel territory only to be stopped by the Dragons defense.

Taking over on their own 26-yard line the Dragons then turned

Christmas "Lantern" to Appear on December 11

With the deadline for material set for December 1, Editor Kenneth Snyder '40, announced last week that the Christmas issue of The Lantern will appear on campus December 11.

A plan by which The Lantern will cooperate with the English department and publish a few of the better writings produced in the composition courses has been approved by Prof. Martin W. Witmer, one of the three faculty advisors of the publication.

A more standardized design for the cover and several minor changes in the arrangement of The Lantern will be used in the coming issue, which will feature, as in the past, student writings in poetry and prose.

New members of the staff are John Rauhauser '41, and Robert Luginbuhl '42, who will assist Circulation Manager Robert Null '40.

PRE-MED STUDENTS

There will be a meeting of all senior pre-medical students in room S12 of the Science Building at 12:30 p. m. tomorrow (Tuesday).

Lest We Become Prosaic

There are many of us who feel that poetry is a rather sissified affair—perhaps it is because we are afraid to express our own high thoughts; perhaps we feel it a sign of weakness for others to do so. Yet poetry lives on, and will live on, just because it dares to express mankind's highest self.

Poets have captured those lovely things most people miss in their daily lives. Either people are too busy to see the wonder and beauty of life and the world, or they are too lazy and indifferent to do so. The day may yet come when all mankind will hear "the burst of music down an unlistening street" that is beauty.

This is not a treatise on poetry, but it is meant to uphold poetry, which, in its turn, upholds the things that really count. What man must learn to do is to change his prosaic and every-day point of view. He must not sit still and calmly accept the stars on a cold and crisp clear night. He must not walk in the Fall of the year and take for granted the trees that have lent themselves as willing canvases for the artistry of nature. He must not walk with his eyes constantly fixed on the ground.

John Bartlett's Quotations has not found all the worthwhile lines of poetry and prose. There is a minor poet named Richard Kirk, whose point of view is extremely noble. He says, in a poem entitled "We Visit My Estate":

"That cloud, now! Just below that strip of blue!
 You like it? That's mine too!"

All of us need to see the old half-known things in a new light. It takes originality and a wide-awakeness to be a poet—not dreaminess; and it takes infinite skill and alertness to get the most out of life. As we go about our busy ways on our college campus, we should never be blind to the things that really count. Life need not be a narrow sphere for us—it can be a heavenly one, if we only give it a chance! We must learn to say with the poet:

"Lord, I do fear
 Thou'st made the world too beautiful this year!"

It is not enough to read the newspapers with their headlines; it is not enough to cram the mind with studies; it is not enough to war and to talk of war—these things lose their importance on the morrow, and they die; but, though kingdoms fall, the beauty of man and the earth remains, for this is "the burst of music down an unlistening street."

R. C. Y. '40

Too Much of a Good Thing

Many so-called intellectuals, theorists, and lecturers today have worn to the bone the subject of the deplorable plight of civilization. Who has not heard that war will cause a new "dark ages," that the younger generation lacks the firm principles of the pilgrim fathers of old, that people are obsessed with the pursuit of security?

For example, one Lin Yutang, a Chinese author, writing in The New York Times, refutes the initial complaint of many people—that modern civilization will be destroyed by war. However, he falls prey to an attractive topic for exploitation—that the real threat to civilization is the changing conceptions of life values entailed by certain types of political doctrines.

Without enumerating the other similar topics of speakers today, may we suggest that such well-meant advice has been carried to extremes. How do men benefit themselves to speak in pleasant generalities when we still have an unsolved unemployment problem, an unfair distribution of opportunities in wealth and education?

To speak in such generalities, if that word may be employed in this instance to mean the pet fears similar to those enumerated above, is to delude oneself from defending our civilization against its real enemies. Our enemies are not so much political doctrines as unbearable economic conditions which do exist in some parts of the country; for who would deny that the economic situation of Germany was the mother of her prodigal son, Hitler!

Though no nation can afford to ignore the presence of a conflict between existing political doctrines, to revel in the discovery of the conflict, complacently overlooking the causes thereof, has become a dangerous pastime of many economically secure Americans.

We must bring ourselves to the realization that liberal social legislation has the power to help make into an actuality the hopes of all theorists who would keep freedom alive in America. This we must do if we are to present a united front to well-organized bodies which are hacking away at the foundations of democracy.

GAFF from the GRIZZLY

Our Prayers—as inspired by the song hit "My Prayer".

Monday—...and so give to us more faith that we may hold ourselves together until 1940, when the "New Deal" and all its infamy shall be ousted.

Tuesday—...teach us to learn the "basic concepts" and "fundamental theories" in back of religion.

Wednesday—...show us how to "psychologically" deal with our fellow men and guide our "immature emotionalism."

Thursday—...We pray that... (ad infinitum)... (15 minutes later) — Amen.

Friday—...It is better to "give" than to receive, as was shown by the recent "Y" organization movement.

Saturday—...Snore, snore, snore!

Sunday—...More of the same, except for those who have Sunday a. m. dates.

When Marjorie Bell has a birthday, she really wants the world to know, even if she has to broadcast it on the "Around the Clock" program at some unearthly hour in the morning. And she is twenty-one, would you believe it? It was Thursday last—A. D., too.

If we'd be allowed to print it, we could probably get a four-star "Gaff" column from the recent student council survey on the Ursinus food problem. Yes, we said problem!

For example, the questionnaire asks, "Do you usually "attend the Friday evening meal?" Yes, we usually "attend".

This is only hearsay, but we understand that those who asked the most questions at the "Beauty Clinic" last week, have the biggest problems to work on. To mention names would be nasty.

Shux all mighty, wat's all this h'yar talk about Sadie Hawkins Day? We've bin havin' the same thing fer nigh unto some time now h'yar at Yoursinus, but we allus jest called it "Lorelei". Remember, boys, when Lorelei comes around, "It's better to be a dog-hound than a hare."

Someone was kind enough to drop this little poem in our letter box the other day:

A Maiden's Prayer
 Breathes there a man around this school
 Sufficiently restrained and cool
 Enough to limit his demands
 And say "Good night"
 Just holding hands
 Who has the decency to wait
 Until at least a second date
 To reach a warm, romantic state,
 And gives a girl some preparation
 Before expecting osculation
 At least an hour in duration?
 If such there be, go mark him well
 I'll date the guy
 And make him tell
 Just what in the world
 He had for dinner that made him so sick!

Student Opinion Survey Shows Dewey Leading Candidate among Collegians

Thomas E. Dewey, youthful New York district attorney, is first choice for the United States presidency among the nation's college and university students, less than a third of whom want Franklin D. Roosevelt to run again.

Six months ago the Student Surveys of America, sounding board of U.S. college youth, found in its first poll on presidential possibilities that Paul V. McNutt, Democrat, held the lead with a popularity of 17.7 per cent, only 2.1 per cent over Dewey. Today the racket-busting Republican has climbed ahead and has with him over a third of those collegians who declare they have made up their minds on a candidate for 1940. McNutt has dropped to second place, Vice-president John N. Garner following a close third.

The poll represents the opinions of students without including President Roosevelt as a possible candidate. Staff interviewers also asked a cross-section of students including all age, sex, geographical, and political groups, "Would you like to see Roosevelt run for a third term?"

Only 31.8 per cent said "yes". But since last January the President has increased his third-term approval among collegians from 28.2 per cent, the continuing polls of the Student Opinion Surveys show. The Surveys are published weekly by student newspapers the nation over, including The Ursinus Weekly, which cooperate by conducting local interviews that are mailed to the headquarters at the University of Texas for tabulation.

To the question, "If Roosevelt is not a candidate in 1940, whom would you like to see elected president?" these answers were given:

	Per cent	May '39	Today
Dewey (R)	15.6	33.8
McNutt (D)	17.7	11.0
Garner (D)	9.7	9.4
Vandenberg (R)	3.8	8.3
Hull (D)	8.3	7.9
All Others		29.6

In both polls it has been found that most college youth apparently pay no attention to political party lines. Many who say their or their parents' sentiments lie with the Republican party select a Democrat, and vice versa. Therefore, in the results above there is no attempt to separate Democrats, Republicans, or any others.

Comparisons with the polls of the American Institute of Public Opinion show that possible candidates leading among the nation's voters are the same among college students. With Republican voters Dewey is a favorite. With Democrats Garner is the leader, and McNutt, who has been gaining consistently, is second only to the vice-president. Among students, however, Garner led only in the South. In every other section of the country Dewey and McNutt are more popular.

The answers above represent opinions only of those students who have decided on a possible candidate. There are a large number—about 4 out of every 10—who say they do not yet have any particular choice.

The costlier tobaccos are slower-burning...milder...cooler...mellower

MANY a smoker has switched to Camels because his value-sense applauded the thrift of getting more puffs per pack. But... that's only one small part of the story of slow burning. You get a lot more than savings! You get extra mildness! Common sense tells you that a fast, fiery, hot-burning cigarette will not smoke comfortably or yield a delicate taste and fragrance. And that slow-burning tobaccos naturally would be mild and mellow. You get extra coolness. You needn't be a scientist to know that the slower tobacco burns, the cooler the smoking. You get extra-fine flavor. Excess heat ruthlessly destroys the subtle elements of flavor and aroma. Slow-burning Camels tell their own taste-tale! So... for thrift and for a smoking thrill... light up a slow-burning Camel!

By burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them—CAMELS give a smoking plus equal to

Harry Atkinson Looks 'Em Over

The presidential holiday decree washed out today's classes, but didn't affect the Weekly jobs.

Toy Dawson's private touchdown jaunt was the greatest exhibition of sheer grit and drive seen in Ursinus football annals.

The heart and spirit that prompted Dawson to perform the seemingly impossible is what coaches and pep speakers are driving at all the time.

For every yard Dawson ran he has a bruise or a scar to match.

The Bear triple threat ace's showing was reminiscent of "Fats" Costello, his freshmen year room mate.

If the Maxwell Committee didn't take notice of that day's work, some 5000 fans would like to meet the gent who reaps the laurels.

Nick Biscotte tied the knot with a boot as true as brother Vernier's scale.

Figaro's first period field goal essay got off to a good start, but gave way to the wind en route. A gust sneaked around the Provident Life Insurance Building just in time to knock the ball off the track.

But when the chips were really down the Bridgeport Bambino rang the bell.

Drexel's Dads and the Ursinus half-raters scarcely were settled in their seats when Dawson cut loose a strike to "Buzz" Bardsley, who hauled the oval through the pay station.

But Tommy Hughes wouldn't rest on his last year's laurels and promptly hustled the score into a tie with the help of Glenn Williams, who bucked the line for the extra point.

The same Hughes went off on a scoring toot again to put the Dragons ahead 14-7 in the third period, and took care of the optional counter himself.

Then came Dawson's electrifying scamper through the whole Drexel team, followed by Biscotte's bull's-eye conversion to make it even-Steven.

What with the F. and M. game on tap for 10 days hence, Don and his boys will be cutting some lively capers.

Notice, night football fans: The gargantuan spectre heard grunting and puffing around Patterson track each night is "Falstaff" Wise, training for Hash.

Alpha Kappa Kappa had a host of pledges from the Goon girls' Sadie Hawkins Ball at the Ben Franklin Saturday eve.

Jayvee Hockey Team Splits Pair of Games During Week

Ursinus Jayvee hockey team took a win and a defeat last week when they played Beaver and Rosemont, on Tuesday and Saturday respectively.

The game Saturday was with the Rosemont varsity with a score of 2-1 for Rosemont. The game was lost in the first half as Ursinus' defense missed balls continually. Dot Ducat scored in the second half, but the Jayvees were unable to score again.

Earlier in the week, the team had a much better afternoon, taking Beaver with a score of 3-1. Helen Caulfield made the first goal. Laura Keyser, playing a strong game at center half, sent the ball into the cage for the second Ursinus goal. In the second half of the game Evelyn Huber made the third score for the co-eds. "Glad" Levingood and Betty Frorer were strong at the defense, and Eleanor Frorer handled the ball well at right wing.

Basketball Team to Scrimmage Tonight

Things are starting to take shape already after one week of practice for Ken Hashagen's basketball team. The Ursinus courtmen have been working out daily since last Monday, and tonight engage in their first outside scrimmage when the Pottstown Collegians will work out against them.

The Collegians are made up of former Philadelphia college court stars and will be a tough club to deal with in the season's first scrimmage. Coach Hashagen plays with the team from up the line, along with Bob Freeman and "Shorty" O'Donnell, who were his team mates at Penn.

Fourteen men have been taking part in the drills to date, while three more will report after football is over. Bob Keehn, Hal Chern, Frank Meade, Hal Moyer, and John Wise, all holdovers from last season, have already shown flashes of real form working together. Al Hutchinson and Howie MacMahon, up from Don Kellett's '38-'39 freshman outfit, will give the lettermen a real scrap to hold their old jobs if they develop as Hashagen expects.

The biggest surprise to the Bear mentor is Junior Nat Johnson, who has shown so much improvement over last year in current work-outs that he may be a serious contender for a steady job. Johnson's ball handling and floor work have marked him as a dark horse upon whom Hashagen may readily depend.

Soccer Team Loses to Teachers by 3-1 Score

The West Chester jinx that has followed the Ursinus soccer team for the past five years was still too potent to be overcome when the Bears dropped a well-played game last Friday on the Teachers' field, 3-1.

Led by Captain Robinson, a former Ursinus athlete and a nominee for All-American honors this year, the West Chester aggregation dazingly outpassed and outshot their opponents to score two goals in the opening period. A corner kick was converted into the third West Chester score before the second period closed.

Trailing woefully, the Bears came back in the second half to play their brand of ball, not only fighting the highly-touted Teachers to a standstill, but scoring a goal of their own when Joe Harrison took a nice cross from Buddy Adams and rifled the ball past a startled goalie.

Hugh McLaughlin shone brightly as the defensive star for the Bears, playing behind a line that rose to great heights in the final half. "Lefty" Whitman, a former Ursinus soccerman, saw action against his former teammates as Coach Waters substituted freely.

on a 74-yard drive which wound up with Hughes scoring his second touchdown which put Drexel out in front. Drexel cashed in the point-after-touchdown, when Hughes snared a pass in the end zone, and led 14 to 7.

In the final period the Bears tied things up as a result of Toy Dawson's 68 yard "hero-runback" of a Drexel punt.

Standing in the center of the field on his own thirty-two Dawson gathered in the punt and ran through the entire Drexel team to score. Biscotte converted for the second time to tie the score at fourteen all.

There's No Great Mystery about Cigarette Tobaccos

THERE ARE FOUR TYPES of tobaccos found in the more popular cigarettes, namely...Bright, Maryland,
Burley and Turkish.

ALL THESE TOBACCOS except Turkish (which is bought direct from the planters in Turkey and Greece) and Maryland (which is bought through sealed bids under government supervision) are bought at public auction, just like any other auction where you might have bought in a table or a chair.

AT THE AUCTION SALE the tobacco is piled in baskets weighing from about 100 to 500 pounds and each purchaser buys all of his tobaccos by competitive bidding for the particular piles he wants.

THE CHESTERFIELD BUYERS buy the best of these mild ripe tobaccos for the Chesterfield blend. And it is Chesterfield's Combination... the right amounts of Burley and Bright... just enough Maryland... and just enough Turkish—that makes the big difference between Chesterfield and other cigarettes.

IT IS BECAUSE of this combination that Chesterfields are COOLER, have a BETTER TASTE and are DEFINITELY MILDER. They are made of the world's best cigarette tobaccos. You can't buy a better cigarette.
