PRICE, 5 CENTS

Hamburger Is Most Unpopular Food at Ursinus, Poll Shows

King Hamburger leads all other dishes in unpopularity with Ursinus students, according to the food questionnaires recently distributed and tabulated by the Student Government Associations, with the end in view of presenting in concrete form the students' constructive criticisms as well as pet complaints concerning the dining room situation.

Although King Hamburger raced in for top honors in the foods of the worst quality, and the foods most poorly prepared, Meat Loaf managed to nose him out for the doubtful honor of the most objectionable meat. Fish swam in third and Croquettes threw in everything they had to gain fourth position.

Vegetables Vie for Honors

Leading the parade for most objectionable vegetables was Sir Boiled Potato, followed at some distance in point of numbers by the Bean Boys, Lima and Baked. Pickled Beets staggered into a placing position, and Cabbage also managed to get ahead. Pea, Bean, Tomato, and Spinach were able to ladle themselves honors in the unpopularity contest for soups, Pea pouring himself out quite a lead.

Desserts? Well, Butterscotch and Rice were found to be pudding themselves in the lead, with Apricot placing himself along side of Jello.

As for quality, the Ursinus stomach seems to have a definite dislike for fish, canned vegetables, and eggs in addition to the aforementioned hamburgers. More objectionable, however, is the preparation of the potatoes, meat loaf, croquettes, and fish—led, of course, by the hamburgers.

Variety of Suggestions

Suggestions to better the situation included lamb chops by 14, steak and chops by 12, and a variety of potatoes by 10. Further than that, 13 people want cleaner dishes, nine want cocoa and chocolate milk, and six ask for variety, "the spice of life".

And did you know that the average number of meals missed each week per student is 4.7? Well, it's a fact. The two most poorly attended meals, those on Friday and Sunday evenings, find only 136 and 121 persons, respectively, with hungry looks on their faces.

There were other suggestions, too. Why not have flowers on the table? How about having clam chowder, catsup, mustard, and molasses on revolving trays on the tables at all times? Another "constructive suggestion" was to have "grapefruit without the squirt". (That is not a reference to the short waiters).

Since we've started quoting, here are some more: "The sight of boiled potatoes here nauseates me. As for the hamburger, I'm taken ill every time I've eaten them—need I say more?"

Dr. John Price Will Speak to Pre-Med Society, February 6

Dr. John Price, College physician, will speak at the next meeting of the Pre-Medical Society on February 6.

In addition, the Society plans to have several speakers and movies during the second semester, including a movie on bone surgery and a talk on the eye later in the year.

Worth of Wit Told By Dr. F. H. Green

"Cultivate a sense of humor; cherish the ability to laugh," said Dr. Francis Harvey Green in a talk at Vespers last evening in Bomberger. Dr. Green explained that "life is a mighty solemn thing", and that in it we need humor and joy and gladness. His address, entitled "The Nature and Worth of Wit and Humor", was illustrated with many examples of these amusing anecdotes.

Dr. Green, widely known educator and lecturer, and Headmaster of the Pennington School, declared, "Humor has been of priceless worth to the world", and illustrated his point by the life of Lincoln. To have joy, he maintained, you must give joy away. "Is someone happier because you lived today?" he inquired. He asserted that the spirit of Christianity is not one of gloom and pessimism, but on the contrary it is a feeling of hope and joy.

Defines Wit and Humor

In his talk, Dr. Green defined wit and humor. Wit, he declared, is that which is for the object of amusement; it comes from the head rather than from the heart. It is not necessarily opposed to depth and earnestness, as one may be prone to think. Humor, on the other hand, is that whose object is pleasure; it comes primarily from the heart and is essentially kindly.

Dr. Green then proceeded to explain and to give examples of several particular types of wit and humor, for the great enjoyment of his audience. He emphasized the fact that everyone laughs at some type of deformity, whether it be of language, of spelling, of idea or of any other nature. His talk concluded with an expression of his belief in the wisdom of seeing the joyous side of life.

Social Service Trip to New York City April 5

Mr. Sherwood Messner, Field Secretary of the Student Christian Movement, is helping the Social Service Committee of the Ursinus Y. M.-Y. W. C. A. to plan a trip to New York for the week-end of April 5.

A limited group of twenty-five students, who will leave the College at 9:00 a. m. Friday, April 5, and return about 3:00 p. m. Sunday, April 7; will tour prisons, view court procedure, and attend a juvenile probation court. One evening will be reserved for a motion picture or a play.

The price of the trip, including transportation, will be approximately $6.00. Women will room at the Martha Washington Hotel, a Y. W. C. A.; and men will stay at the Sloane House, a Y. M. C. A. Rev. and Mrs. Franklin I. Sheeder, co-sponsors of the "Y" at Ursinus, will accompany the group.

NOTICES

The French Club will meet tonight at 8:00 in the West Music Studio.

Dean Walter H. Hitchler of the Dickinson Law School will speak to the Pre-Legal Society tonight at 8:00 in the Freeland Reception Room.

Seniors are reminded that class dues of $4.00 are now payable to Treasurer Paul Wilson.

Dr. George W. Hartzell will lead a discussion on "The Fundamentals of Christianity" this Wednesday evening, January 17, in Bomberger.

Nocturnal Succorers Labor in Vain

"'Twas the night before last And all thru Curtis Not a creature was stirring" . . .

except John (Renfrew of the Royal Mounted) Wise. Suddenly the sharp, persistent ringing of the telephone shattered the nocturnal taciturnity. Renfrew leaped from his bed and tore the receiver from the hook. His intrepid "Hello" was answered by the hysterical lamentation of a frenzied woman. "Ace", the faithful guardian of the Fearful Fems of Firecroft, was away, and the premises were in the process of being violently entered by the likes of a male of the human species well on his way to a dementia praecox ward.

Like a flash, the stalwart Renfrew sprang to his oath-sworn duty. Stopping only to summon his valiant lieutenants, Dick Tracy Bardsley and "Junior G-Man" Benjamin (affectionately known as Louie the Mad when not on a case), the dauntless self-appointed defender of the chastity of the flowers of our womanhood plunged into the sinister cloak of night.

Renfrew Plans Strategy

Silently approaching the scene of the flagrant menace, the daring Galahad strategically planted his valorous associates in the surrounding foliage. Renfrew boldly stalked his prey around the mansion, but to no avail. With burning visions of fleeting glory searing his tormented mind, the befuddled Renfrew reassembled his hidden colleagues and rapped on the door. Alas, and alack, the devoted "Ace" was not only home, but could produce neither the criminal nor any evidence that such a frantic call had been made.

"Somewhere in this favored land the sun is shining bright Somewhere men are happy, somewhere hearts are light. Somewhere, smiling by his phone, is a very contented mucker Who made the courageous Renfrew an awful foolish sucker."

Dr. McClure Attends Meeting Of Presidents of Penna. Colleges

President Norman E. McClure attended the meeting of the Association of American Colleges last Thursday and Friday in Philadelphia.

Dr. McClure also attended the annual meeting of the Commission on Higher Education of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, and the Pan-Presbyterian College Union, on January 8 and 9 in Philadelphia. At the same time he attended the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania. Dr. McClure is treasurer of the committee.

Ursinus Dribblers Divide Pair Of Close Contests During Week

The Ursinus basketball team assumed the lead in the Eastern Pennsylvania Basketball League last Wednesday night by defeating Muhlenberg in an overtime thriller, 54-48, but fell into second place as a result of a 39-37 defeat at the hands of the championship Gettysburg outfit on Saturday night. This week finds the Bears busy, with games carded with three more League opponents, Lebanon Valley, Franklin and Marshall and Bucknell.

Almost everything he touched turned into points in the Muhlenberg game.

Ferguson Is Chosen To Head Soph Hop

President Albert Hutchinson of the Sophomore Class today announced the appointment of George Ferguson as Chairman of the Soph Hop Committee. The date for the dance has not been set as yet, Hutchinson says, but it will probably be on either the first or the second week-end in March.

Other members of the committee are Isabel Carranza, Betty Ulrich, Betty Replogle, Gladys Levegood, Jean Patterson, Karl Agan, Joseph Glass, Richard Arnold, and Nicholas Biscotte.

Ferguson, whose home is in Philadelphia, attended Northeast High School and Brown Preparatory School. He won his letter in varsity football last year, and is a member of the Physical Education Group.

McGowen Elected Freshman Prexy

Daniel J. McGowen was elected President of the Freshman Class on Thursday evening to succeed William J. McAllister, who will not return for the second semester. McGowen defeated George Kratz, Evan Morrow, and Walter Vernon.

McGowen attended Cheltenham High School, and resides in Glenside, Pa. He is a member of the Mathematics Group.

Four Trips in Schedule Of Men's Debating Club

The Men's Debating Society will begin their 1940 campaign on February 13 when they entertain their first opponent, Drew University. This debate will begin a heavy schedule, in which the men will take part in over thirty contests, including two planned broadcasts and four extensive trips to other schools.

Although the dates of the debates are not certain, the Ursinus team will match wits with representatives of Drexel and those of the University of Pennsylvania over the radio some time soon. It is planned that Charles Blum '41, and Harry Showalter '41, meet Drexel, while Charles Barnes '40, and Joseph Dubuque '41, will meet Penn in two radio debates.

The society will make four trips, the first scheduled to begin on February 14. On this trip the club's representatives, Joseph Dubuque '41, Charles Barnes '40, Paul Wise '41, and John Rauhauser '41, will debate at Rutgers, Drew, Bard, and Wagner, returning to Ursinus on February 16.

Saturday's defeat was the first setback for Coach Ken Hashagen's charges in three League starts. It was Gettysburg's first game in their quest to retain the League championship. The Bullets, defeated only once in six years on their home floor, played heads-up ball from the start and assumed an early lead, which they held throughout the remainder of the contest.

Bears Off Form

A 12-5 lead built up by Gettysburg at the first quarter proved to be the downfall of Ursinus. Coach Hashagen's all-senior quintet was far off form in losing to the G-burg five who, however, have lost only one game in six years on their home court, and are hard to beat there. The Bears, either fatigued by the long ride or just suffering a let-down after Wednesday night's thriller with Muhlenberg, could not get going until the closing minutes, when a spirited drive put them just the two-point margin behind the winners. Their shots were not dropping, and the usual fine ball handling gave way to a rather ragged offense which restricted the Ursinus five to shots from outside the normal scoring range for the first 35 minutes of the battle.

Second Semester Plans Revealed by Y.M.-Y.W.

The campus Student Christian Organization today announced tentative plans for the second semester. During this time freshman will receive their first opportunity to participate in "Y" activities. Any freshmen interested should see either Dorothy Reifsnnyder '40, President of the Y. W. C. A., or Kenneth Snyder '40, President of the Y. M. C. A.

Vespers services, conducted bi-weekly this semester, will be held every Sunday evening during the second semester. Outside speakers will be presented, as in the past, every other Sunday, and members of the student body will speak at the intervening services.

Richard Evans '40, has been announced as the first student speaker, on the subject, "The Good Companions". Charles Blum '41, will speak at a later date on "The Relationship between Jew and Gentile". Anyone interested in securing the experience and training offered by this opportunity should see either of the "Y" presidents.

Indian Pacifist Will Speak

R. Babu Lal Singh, of British Guiana, a member of the All-National Congress of India and an advocate of Gandhi Pacifism, has been engaged to speak on Wednesday evening, February 14, in Bomberger. Tentative plans are under way to secure Sherwood Eddy, prominent author, traveler, and lecturer, to speak at a similar service later in the semester.

On the social activities list, February 23 has been announced as the date on which an informal party will be held in the gym by the organizations. The usual novelty of "Y" parties will be continued at this affair.

The popular weekly "sings" on Freeland steps will be resumed as soon as the weather permits. In conjunction with the Music Club, the "Y" organizations plan to revive the musical concert of all vocal and instrumental students.

Inter-Fraternity-Sorority Dance Draws 100 Couples

One hundred couples danced to the music of Fred Wrigley's orchestra at the Inter-Fraternity-Inter-Sorority Dance last Saturday night in the Thompson-Gay Gymnasium. The committee for the dance was headed by Frank Wood '41.

A motif of blue and white was a background for the College and fraternity banners. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Mattern were chaperons for the evening.

Unemployment — Politically Fertile

There seems to be a widespread belief today among what have been dubbed conservatives that unemployment will continue because spineless youth look continually to their government for a living. Perhaps the implied suggestion is that were the government not to bother to subsidize industry and not to regulate it that young men would then be forced to find work.

There seems also to be as widespread a belief that it is the modern function of government to be a service to industry as well as the referee she was in the immediate past.

Holding to one or the other of the two conflicting views makes a considerable difference, because the youth problem in this country is exceedingly fertile politically. Unfortunately the adult American public is trying to pass the problem to their children, who anxious to find some substitute for the feeling of insecurity they have, are dangerously gullible.

The first view, the older and to some the more substantial one, would seem to be an indictment against the very group who hold to it; for they are advocating a policy to force the young people to solve a problem for which they are not yet responsible. In short young people are asked to carry the father generation's load.

The second view, that the present depression is not like previous depressions, seems also to ring of weakness on the part of its supporters. Furthermore such a policy of government intervention in business entails all the expense and inexperience of officials to administer the program.

Considered as merely two sides to a theoretical dispute on the general unemployment question, the above two views hold little interest for most of us; however, when we realize that economically uncertain young people, consequently emotionally unsteady, will grasp at some solution, there must be something substantial within reach. The new conception of government as a social and economic service agency seems more adequate for the increasing economic complexities of the present world than does the consistent reminder of what took place in pre-war economic America.

The Commentator

- * CLEARING UP RUMORS
- * THAT JACKSON DAY SPEECH

This column wishes to dedicate itself to clearing up two widely circulated rumors. You have heard, no doubt, that our President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, is co-operating with the Roman Pontiff, Pope Pius XII, to secure world peace. You have heard, moreover, that Mr. Roosevelt has ordered the warring nations to stay 300 miles out of the Americas. These things are true.

But it is not true that the President and the Pope are planning to extend our neutrality zone to the Russian Urals, thus to end the present war. While this plan bears a close resemblance to others of the President, it has received no official corroboration, either per the White House conferences or per Steve Early. We suggest, therefore, that you regard the whole thing as highly improbable.

Secondly, let it henceforth be known that this columnist is not a candidate for the Presidency of the United States. While he accedes to the idea that it is high time Ursinus had her own man in the White House, he does not consider the present a fitting time nor himself a fitting specimen to launch a campaign. Being a puny soul, he would not like to be trampled in the rush. Besides, he has a "sense of timing".

Turning from the subject of candidates it is a pleasure to discuss the speech of another who has too fine a sense of timing to announce his candidacy at present. We refer, of course, to President Roosevelt's standing up to the $100 plate and taking his swing last week. From a hunk of parchment that rattled noisily into the microphone he read an assortment of gag lines to a raucous mob of laugh-hungry partisans.

But there were four empty chairs at the Jackson Day love feast. Four suspicious Republican brethren chose to practice economy and listen to the radio with us. Mr. Roosevelt ably explained their absence. Quoth he, "Perhaps they didn't want to go to heaven with this bunch". All of which was a reference to a none-too-good joke we heard when our Dad took us to our first minstrel show.

Throughout the reading the President maintained a commendable unity. Never did he forget the central theme—Roosevelt. At one time he said, in effect, "I and Lincoln have saved the country, each in his respective era". Mr. Roosevelt did not actually brag thus. He merely said with quiet modesty that he has been "highly instrumental" in saving the country now.

In further approval of the President we noticed that he steered around the national debt with the skill of a sailor on the south seas with two wives on every island.

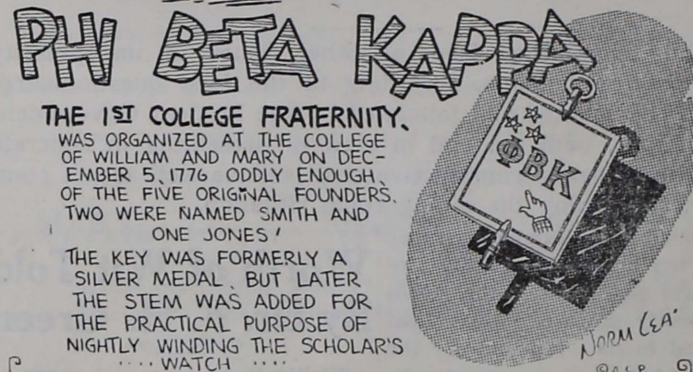

But to us the most touching episode was his description of the friendliness rival legislators display for each other outside the legislative chambers. Somehow we couldn't avoid seeing this picture: Democrat Jack Garner tickling Art Vandenberg's bald head with a bushy eyebrow in a cloakroom clinch. Such a picture well demonstrates how far our national leaders have risen above petty political prejudice.

Too bad those four Republicans didn't attend.

Note: To save the editor the trouble, we let you know that the opinions herein expressed are the writer's, and not necessarily those of The Weekly.

CAMPUS CAMERA

GAFF from the GRIZZLY

"Snow, snow, beautiful snow, oh, how I love to play in the mud!" Strangers passing the stately edifices of Brodbeck and Curtis might think they were slumming in Hogan's alley if they judged the joints by the appearance of the windows, or rather the window frames.

The Finnish capital of Hell-sinki couldn't look much worse, or much more window-less. And we have no Russian Communists, either!—or does Mr. Eugene Miller think otherwise after Friday's Sociology Brawl with Senator Blum?

Up to the time of going to press, we've heard of no major casualties, although snowballs were flying faster than old exams the night before the finals. However, unreported as yet is the Dawson vs. Spohn "incident".

Minor bruises were sustained in the wrong place by Bryce Cochrane, the ski star from the Northlands (N. Phila.) when the Jones Pullman Car put him on the wrong track.

Chairman Frank "The Lover" Wood announced that the annual Intra-Frat-Sorority Brawl met with notable success, at least morally, if not financially. Everyone, almost, enjoyed the swing of Fred Wrigley and his music gummers, particularly.

The psychological effect of exams has already evinced itself in outbursts of emotionalism other than the Snowball Barrage. Freeland reverted to "ye olde tyme" water battle the other night. The boys were hitting the books so hard they just had to have some relaxation.

Right here and now we're warning that South St. Suit Shop they'll be getting back a shrunken tent, 'cause Albright Zimmerman forgot to remove his "good" suit before he entered the fracas.

For some real humor we advise you to read The Commentator by H. L. S. '41.—No, that's not his social security number. His analysis of the Jackson Day "love feast" is very enjoyable—at least for the Republicans. From where we sat that night F. D.'s speech sounded like a cross between the "Voice of Experience" program and Jack Benny's Hour.

Collegiate Chatter

Officials of John Tarleton College and North Texas Agricultural College announced that relations between the two schools would probably be severed after North Texas students in a plane attempted to bomb a pile of wood on the Tarleton campus.

The pile of wood was a future bonfire and the North Texas bombers tried to drop chemicals on it to set it off before the scheduled time, which was the eve of the traditional football battle between the two schools.

An entire chemistry class at University of Toledo was hurriedly dismissed recently when a student put some chemicals together to inadvertently make tear gas.

We don't go in for exam boners very often, but this one from a Hillsdale College quiz contains more truth than boner: "A moron is a person with several husbands or wives, an insane sort of an individual."

Big business has at last invaded the realm of collegiate party-throwing. A University of Detroit student has organized "Parties, Inc."—and the new firm will guarantee the success of any social function from a hayride to a wedding.

But the company—wisely—will have nothing to do with your escort for the evening. You'll have to take care of that little matter without the firm's expert advice!

AUTHOR. If you want to make an AUTHOR author squirm, send a story ending to Mutual's Author, Author show. Each Monday, 8 p. m., a board of literary lights tries to tag beginnings on the endings listeners have sent in.

John Chapman, MC, has four authors to keep in hand. Regulars are Heywood Broun and Vicki Baum, with two guests to help. They usually solve four endings, with listeners paid ten dollars each for those used.

The authors are now getting revenge, and making listeners squirm. Each week they dramatize a story ending, with prizes offered for best beginnings sent in by listeners.

MODERN The Modernaires, who AIRES started singing in high school and are now with Paul Whiteman (CBS, Wednesdays, 3:30 p. m.,) have discovered that when four college men get together, that's a quartet. They get so many requests from college students for their secrets on four-part harmony that they've decided to write a book explaining it. They've sold the book to an anxious publisher, and now they're trying to find time to write it.

Recently, on a personal appearance tour with the Whiteman ensemble, the Modernaires turned up in Mitchell, S. D. Students from nearby South Dakota Wesleyan invited them to sing at an 8 a. m. assembly. The Modernaires, up till 2 that morning, were an hour late. They apologized by singing not less than 12 songs.

VOX POP In Houston, one afternoon, an announcer from station KTRH, named Parks Johnson, stood outside the station with a hand mike on a long piece of wire, and went up to the first man who happened by. "Good-day, sir," said Parks, "If it's an elevator when it goes up, what is it when it goes down?"

That was the beginning of Vox Pop—first radio program in which the innocent bystander becomes the center of attention and the man on the street has to explain what he's doing there.

After seven years Vox Pop is going stronger than ever with a new spot on the CBS network (Thursdays, 7:30 p. m. EST) and an attic filled with crates of questions sent in by listeners.

When the New York World's Fair closed, Parks and his partner, Wally Butterworth, moved their mikes to the Barbizon Plaze Hotel in New York. A crowd always gathers to watch the goings-on, and a few words in Parks' gentle Southern accent make the bystanders ready to tell their all to the radio audience.

It wasn't always as easy as that, Parks himself almost missed his diploma at Emory University because he had stage fright and couldn't make a speech to his classmates. A kindly teacher of public speaking slid him under the wire. "Don't worry", he told Parks, "you'll never have to speak in public, anyway".

B. A. IN BED It won't be so long, maybe, till the day when you can get your diploma while lying in bed by turning the radio on. Northwestern University has announced that part credit in the undergraduate course in Modern Life and Letters will be given students for listening to CBS Of Men and Books broadcasts by professor John T. Frederick of the University's Midill School of Journalism.

This is a first step, and a cautious one. In order to receive credit, students must listen to the broadcast in Columbia's Chicago studios, and must stay in the studio for two hours, while Professor Frederick lectures after going on the air. In addition, outside reading is required, and a final exam will be taken after conclusion of the program series in May.

The broadcasts will be an extension of Professor Frederick's regular college course in Modern Life and Letters. Founder and editor of the famous middle Western literary magazine, Midland, until it stopped publication a few years ago, Professor Frederick is recognized as an authority on regional literature. A friend of many of the most important literary figures of our time, he is frequently assisted on his broadcast by the novelists and poets whose books he reviews.

Not pulling any punches, and staying friends with his authors is a trick that few besides Prof. Frederick have mastered.

College Men and Women Divide on Subject Of Pensions; Optimistic on Expected Incomes

College youth of this new year is faced with some of the most staggering problems of modern civilization, further complicated by this nation's attempts to make itself a better place to live.

Unemployment continues to be a major U. S. problem, vying for attention with the war in Europe, which is bound to have its effect on business and on wages. On the first of February monthly Treasury checks will begin coming to many of the aged of the country, and by the end of 1940 nearly one million persons will be receiving benefits as the gigantic Social Security program assumes full stride.

The Student Opinion Surveys, national polling organization of the campus press, has tapped the college mind on two topics that may give a glimpse of America tomorrow: old age pensions and the income college youth expects.

Surveys' interviewers found the usual student optimism. Almost two-thirds of the collegians don't want the government to pay them pensions when they reach 65, and nearly 7 out of every 10 believe they will be able to earn $100 a month or more as soon as they leave college.

The poll on pensions does not mean that students are opposed to Social Security for the needy. And college women differ with their male classmates. The Surveys found that the men are of the opinion that they should not be beneficiaries, principally because they believe they will be able to take care of themselves. Most girls voted on the opposite side. Asked, "When you reach the age of 65, do you think the government should pay you a pension?" students gave these answers:

	Men	Women	Both
Yes	34%	56	37
No	66	44	63

The Survey's interviewers also asked this question of a scientifically-selected cross section of student in strict proportion to U. S. Office of Education figures representing the entire national enrollment, "How much do you believe you will be able to earn from your first job after you leave college?" Not counting those who had no definite idea as to their future incomes or girls who did not plan to work, these were the results:

$75 or less	11 per cent
75 to 100	20 per cent
100 to 125	38 per cent
125 to 150	16 per cent
150 or more	15 per cent

These answers take on more significance when projected against the findings of the American Youth Commission, which indicate that even in cities, where wages are higher, the typical youth's weekly pay envelope contains about $15. College graduates often get much more, but the cases are not many, and the average is much lower than what the undergraduates now expect.

(Results of other Surveys that will be printed soon include the first national student poll on the ROTC and the Dies Committee).

Herber Analyzes Finnish War At I. R. C. Meeting on Tuesday

Denton Herber '42, was the speaker at the last meeting of the I. R. C. on January 9. He gave a resume of Russian-Finnish relations since the outbreak of the war. Herber included in his talk the reasons why the Russians are not more successful in their attempted drives.

Following Herber's talk there was a financial report on the I. R. C. Quarterly. It was voted to continue the Quarterly publications under the present staff. When this staff was elected, they were only to edit the first Quarterly.

John Yeomans '42, was elected to the club and the resignation of John Rauhauser '41, was accepted. February 13 was set as the date for the next I. R. C. meeting. The speaker will be from the faculty of another college.

Twenty - Seven Sons, Daughters of Ursinus Alumni Prove that College Is Family Institution

Ursinus College is a family institution, a fact proven by an analysis of the lists of students. In the student body there are twenty-seven who are sons and daughters of former graduates, and thirty-nine who have brothers or sisters who are graduates of Ursinus.

Six states and the District of Columbia contribute to the enrollment of 565. The great majority, 432, are Pennsylvanians. New Jersey is represented by 96, New York by 32, and Delaware, 3. Indiana, Massachusetts, and the District of Columbia each contribute one.

The ten largest Pennsylvania County representation's are Montgomery (160), Philadelphia (67), Delaware (52), Chester (25), Berks and York (20 each), Northampton (19), Lancaster (12), Bucks (10), and Schuylkill (7).

Ninety-six high schools and thirteen private preparatory schools are represented, including fourteen schools from which no students had been drawn in recent years.

Sons, Daughters Listed

The third generation is represented by Julia Heyl Hogg '42, of Llanerch, Pa., and Virginia H. Ashenfelter '43, of Norristown, Pa. Miss Hogg is the great-granddaughter of the founder and first president of the College, Rev. J. H. A. Bomberger, LL.D., the granddaughter of the late A. W. Bomberger, Esq. '82, and a niece of Rev. J. H. A. Bomberger II, '17. Miss Ashenfelter is the grand-daughter of Rev. S. L. Messinger, D.D., '85, the daughter of the late William B. Ashenfelter '07, and a niece of Dr. Mark B. Messinger '17. The sons and daughters, with their parents, are as follows: Mark D. Alspach '40—Rev. Dr. T. A. Alspach '07 (also brother of Hon. A. C. Alspach '33, Mary Helen Alspach '36); Virginia H. Ursinus Named for Famed Reformer, Teacher, Principal Author of the Heidelberg Catechism

Although most of us know that Ursinus College was named for one Zacharias Ursinus, few of us appreciate the fact the man for whom the school was named was one of the most prominent scholars of his day in the Reformed Church of Germany. In addition to being a great theologian and teacher, Ursinus was also the principal author of the Heidelberg catechism, which is today the creed of the Reformed churches and of the Presbyterian churches in America.

Latinized Name

Zachary Baer, whose name was Latinized into Ursinus, after the fashion of his time, was born at Breslau in eastern Germany, July 18, 1534. As the result of his excellent work as a student at the St. Elizabeth School at Breslau, the city council and merchants' guild of Breslau made possible his entrance into the University of Wittenberg when he was less than sixteen years old. While at the university, young Ursinus attracted the attention of Doctor Crato, one of the greatest physicians of his day, who gave the promising student financial aid all during the time that he was at Wittenberg. Ursinus made the best of the opportunities which his benefactor made possible and came out of the university filled with noble aspirations. When he finished at the university, Ursinus accompanied one of his teachers to the Diet of Worms, where he met some of the great reformers who were very active at this time.

Taught Theology

Several years later Ursinus went to Heidelberg and became the head of the theological department, which was called the College of Wisdom. It was while teaching at Heidelberg that he was selected by the Reformed churches of Europe to prepare a new creed, which is one of the greatest of the Protestant catechisms.

When the university was removed to Neustadt in western Germany, Ursinus went with it and finally died in Neustadt on March 6, 1583.

Such was the life of the man who prepared the way for the introduction of the Reformed doctrines in many parts of Germany, the man for whom Ursinus College is named, Zacharias Ursinus.

"FASTEST MAN ON WHEELS"

Here's ace bike rider Cecil Yates burning up the track at Madison Square Garden. He's won eight six-day bike races!

Time out... for a few winks of sleep, a meal, a quick massaging of weary muscles—and a mighty welcome Camel.

WHEN Cecil sprints, the track fairly smokes. But when Cecil smokes, speed's the last thing he wants in his cigarette. Because cigarettes that burn fast can't help but burn hot. And excess heat burns away the tobacco's elements of flavor and fragrance. The result is a hot, flat, unsatisfactory smoke.

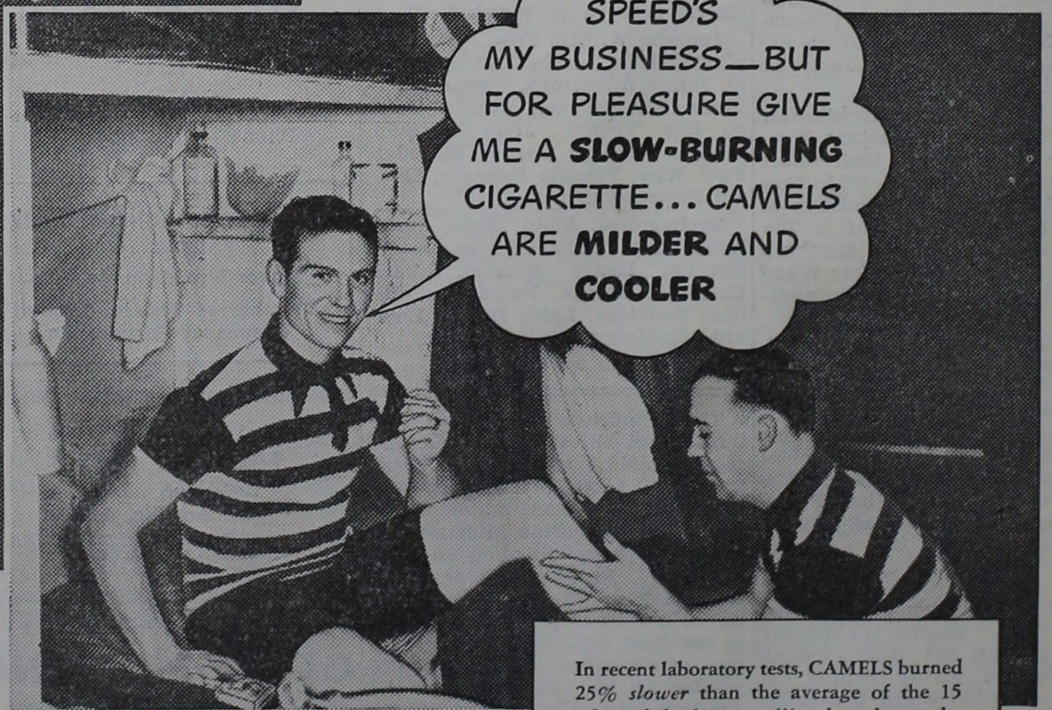

"Slow-burning cigarettes are cooler, milder, tastier, and more fragrant"—science and common sense both say so. And the slowest-burning cigarette of the 16 largest-selling brands tested was Camel! (The panel to your right gives details.) A few puffs of a Camel tell you that there's more pleasure per puff...and then you find that there are more puffs per pack—an average smoking equivalent of 5 extra smokes!

MORE PLEASURE PER PUFF...MORE PUFFS PER PACK!

...he smokes slow-burning Camels for

- EXTRA MILDNESS

In recent laboratory tests, CAMELS burned 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them. That means, on the average, a smoking plus equal to

Harry Atkinson Looks 'Em Over

Hash's quints really put on the heat to take Muhlenberg for the first time since this gang took up varsity ball.

The Bears coaxed the Mules into an extra period, and then pole-axed them with an eleven-point overtime avalanche.

Hal Moyer could have shot a pea through a keyhole at ten paces Wednesday night, when he personally added 22 points to the heat of the attack.

Falstaff Wise (alias Renfrew) played possum during the regulation time, but U-boated his way thru to five game-winning points in the extra time.

The courtmen struck a snag at Gettysburg, when "Stretch" Trimmer, with some aid from four others, nosed them out by a deuce.

The elongated G-burg pivot man seems to take special delight in whipping the Bears, having personally done the trick last year down here in an overtime.

The boys got going near the end, but a couple of questionable out-of-bounds decisions staved off the rally that looked like it might have been the game.

Trimmer dropped in all sorts of shots, paying little attention to the conventional manner or positions for shooting.

A busy week before taking on the pros for the next two weeks will see the local five meeting three Conference rivals within the coming six days.

F. and M. and Bucknell will both be riding in the number one berth when the Bears tackle them.

We're hoping to see Miss Snell back soon, fully recovered from her illness which has benched her since the holidays.

Her Amazons went out and swamped Glassboro State Teachers' College to let their convalescing coach know they haven't given up the game in her absence.

Gordy Astheimer blew the football squad to a venison feed par excellence at the Sanatoga Grange Hall Thursday.

Here's a plug for the Prices and the Sunday night supper. A cup of cocoa and the dash of peanut butter was enough to shatter the monotony.

The rain wiped out the snow before the Student Council's snow-balling fines wiped out some of our strong armed members' pocket-books.

Freshmen Bow to Mules, Conquer Girard, 44 - 32

The Bear freshmen copped their first victory of the season last Saturday afternoon when they downed Girard College, 44-32, in the spacious Girard Armory in Philadelphia.

Kenny Grosseck was the big gun in the Cubs' attack, racking up 18 points during the afternoon, nine of them in each half. Paul Augustine found his shooting eye and stuck up five field goals to help the Bear cause. Sherman, Girard guard, led his team with six two-pointers.

Ursinus went ahead at the start of the game and led, 20-14, at the half. The contest was slow throughout, but it gave Coach Don Kellett a chance to see his reserves in action.

MUHLENBERG GAME

Don Kellett's Ursinus freshman basketball team lost its second game in as many starts last Wednesday, dropping the preliminary game to the Muhlenberg College yearlings by a score of 30 to 25. Kellett's five put up a good scrap against the towering first year men from Allentown, but suffered a lapse in the second period when the winners took the commanding lead.

Kenny Grosseck, former Wildwood High court star, again led the local Cubs in scoring with 12 points on 4 field goals and the same number of fouls. Jim Ziegler was second with 5. Sweda and Becker paced the Muhlenberg greenhorns with 10 and 6 respectively.

Kellett's club shot to an early lead in the game but fell behind, 16 to 13, at half time.

- Intramurals -

The intramural "lull before the storm" is in session now until after exams. The second semester will find the inter-dorm Winter program in full swing.

The only occurrence of any importance during the past week was Derr's volleyball victory over Free-land.

Three victories and no defeats puts Derr on the top of the heap, and close to their first championship of the current year.

The winter program for intramurals this year will include volleyball, basketball, boxing, and wrestling.

The big feature will be Intramural Night, when the boys tangle for glory and a medal on the mat at Thompson-Gay gymnasium.

If you like sock and plenty of it, don't miss the party, when the punches start from the floor and keep coming on Intramural Night.

Girls Defeat Glassboro In Opening Tilt, 47 - 15

Glassboro State Normal College of New Jersey fell before the Ursinus co-eds last Thursday, 47-15, in Thompson-Gay gymnasium in a game in which Ursinus led throughout.

"Bunny" Harshaw was again high scorer for the team. With her seemingly effortless style she chalked up 27 points. She was supported mainly by the passes of Nat Hogeland and Captain "Squeaky" Von Kleeck.

Veteran Betty Snyder at guard showed evidence that she will retain her position on the defense again this year. New faces on the basketball court were Peggy Keagle at guard, Doris Harrington, substitute forward, and Dot Ehmman, of last year's jayvees, as a forward substitution.

Bullets, Diplomats, and Bisons Top Conference

Franklin and Marshall and Bucknell, the latter a recent entry into the Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate Conference, are sharing the sunberth of the popular "Spitfire" League at the close of the first week of activity. Each sports a record of two won and none lost.

Gettysburg, with only one game played and that won, is also in the first bracket. Ursinus is in second place with wins over Albright and Muhlenberg and a single loss to Gettysburg. Bucknell and F. and M. both hold decisions over Lebanon Valley and Albright.

Ursinus will play three tough games this coming week in the league, entertaining Lebanon Valley on Tuesday night and the pace-setting Bucknell Bisons on Saturday, while traveling to Lancaster Thursday night to meet F. and M. The Bears should rule the favorite over the Flying Dutchmen from Annville on Tuesday, but will not take the contest too easily. The Valley club is feared around the loop for its startling upsets, and Hashagen will have his club "up" for the scrap.

Thursday's tussle with F. and M. will be one of the toughest of the year, and the Diplomats will probably rule the favorites to win. Little is known of Bucknell to date, but all reports seem to indicate that the Lewisburg five will be a strong title contender.

Grizzly Courtmen Divide Pair of Games With Muhlenberg and G-Burg Quintets

Exciting Finish

Only in the closing five minutes did the Bear courtmen show any real spark. Moyer and Meade scored on fast breaks under the hoop, and Ursinus took on their old form. Bob Keehn was fouled twice in succession in the act of shooting, and both times converted the fouls to narrow the margin down to 37-34 with but a minute to play. Simon tossed one in from the corner for Gettysburg to widen the gap, but Chern came right back with a sensational right handed shot from under an avalanche of Bullet hacking fouls, but failed to draw a shot. With three seconds left to play, Keehn was again fouled under the hoop in the act of shooting. The eagle-eyed guard converted on the first try and Acting Captain Chern refused the second shot, taking the ball out of bounds as the alternative. Chern passed to Keehn, who let fly a heave half the length of the floor a split second after the final gun had sounded for the Gettysburg win. Keehn's toss missed the mark, however, so the timer's decision was not necessary to settle the outcome.

Trimmer Hot for Bullets

The Gettysburg team had an "on" night in defeating the Bears, with "Stretch" Trimmer dropping one handed pivot shots from all angles of the floor to account for 20 of the winners' 39 points. The lanky Bullet pivot man had a night reminiscent of Hal Moyer's exhibition against Muhlenberg, when he seemed unable to miss, and also controlled the ball under both hoops the majority of the time. Bob Buyer tossed in 9 for the winners in the first half, but Bob Keehn handed him a complete whitewashing in the final half to turn the game into a one-man show for Trimmer.

For Ursinus Hal Chern was the outstanding man on the floor, and appeared to be the only man playing his par game. Chern contributed to the Bear scoring column, and played a great scrapping game all night. Hal Moyer suffered a bad first half, but came back to score 9 points in the second half to match Chern's total. Keehn, who took very few shots all night, posted two field goals and four-for-four from the foul line for 8 counters.

MUHLENBERG GAME

The Ursinus basketball five triumphed over previously unbeaten Muhlenberg, 54-48, in an extra period thriller on the home floor last Wednesday night, and took the lead in the Eastern Pennsylvania League.

A fast start and a scorching finish, plus "Hal" Moyer's deadly shooting were the big factors in the win, Moyer scoring 22 points, 16 in the second half. John Wise also played a hero's role, scoring all of his five points in the extra period. "Abe" Chern again broke the ice for the Bears with a one-hand stab at the start of the game, but Minogue retaliated immediately with a field goal for the Mules. Moyer then took a throw-in and scored to put the Bears in front. Ursinus went on to an 18-17 half-time advantage.

The Mules were unable to go ahead until after a few minutes of the second half, when they momentarily took a one-point lead, but "Hal" Moyer's big guns went into action, dropping set-shots from all angles. From the middle of the half on, the lead see-sawed back and forth, with Diamond and Schneider scoring most of the visitors' points.

Garrison Finish

Near the end of the regulation game, Muhlenberg led 40-37, but Moyer hit the cords for a field goal and two fouls to put the Bears ahead, 41-40. Podany evened it up with a foul toss, then "Sparky" Meade made good on two fouls and the Bears seemed almost certain of victory, but Joe Podany beat the gun with a long field goal to tie the score as the regulation game ended.

Chern scored first in the extra period, and with John Wise's five points, Moyer's field goal, and Hutchinson's foul shot, the Bears out-scored the visitors, eleven to five, in extra minutes to win, 54-48.

A heavy toll in personal fouls made things look dark for the Bears at times, but Ken Hashagen's reserve material came through in the pinch. A total of 14 out of 18 foul shots gave the Bears and 80 per cent average for their two League contests.

Ursinus Wrestling Squad Two Deep at Every Spot

Coach Pete Stevens' recently revived wrestling team is fast taking shape for its coming schedule with the former Temple University football captain holding daily workouts in the Bomberger wrestling room. Preliminary conditioning drills are over, and Stevens is really bearing down on his matmen in anticipation of the tough competition ahead.

For the first time in several years, the Ursinus mentor will have men two deep at least in every class, which will insure a team at full strength for nearly every meet. With veterans Johnny Witman, Dick Arnold, Joe Lobby, Will Snyder, Jim Armstrong, Max Zeski, and Gordy Astheimer back, and many promising newcomers working out, the outlook is very bright for wrestling at Ursinus. Stevens is particularly pleased with the freshmen out for the team, and expects to have a really good team for several years to come.

Capacity Crowd Views Showing Of Baseball Moving Picture

A full house viewed the showing of the National League Baseball film, "Play Ball, America!", in the Science Building theatre last Thursday afternoon. The current senior league moving picture briefly reviewed the game from the beginning in 1839 until the present day, with several shots from the Centennial celebration in Coopers-town last summer concluding the introduction.

Hamburger

Another: "It would be helpful if the pancakes and French toast breakfasts would be at regular times so that those who don't like them will not have to get up. Perhaps it would be a good plan to alternate pancakes on Monday one week and Tuesday the next, so that everybody could have breakfasts fit his 8 o'clock schedules at least every other week."

More? "Hammer out the forks or they'll rip our tonsils out."
"—Must we have lamb every Sunday?"

And the pay-off—"If God thinks milk is good enough for babies, why isn't it good enough for us?" This last quotation expresses, if not in toto, at least in spirit, the opinion of a large number of students who want more milk.

Perhaps a more constructive suggestion was that foods with mineral salts should be prepared more frequently. There seemed to be a general agreement on the contention that the meals are poorly balanced, and that we are eating entirely too many starches and not enough fruits.

Pennington Grads Lead Service

The entire service was under the direction of graduates of Pennington School, including John Taxis '40, who led the prayer, John Burkhalter '43, who read the scripture, and Ernest Muller '40, who introduced the speaker. William Heefner '42, was at the organ and Roy Snyder '41, led the hymns. The service was concluded with the singing of "Taps", the words for which were written by Dr. Green.

Rev. James C. Gilbert Plans Series of "Quiet Hours" for Lent

The Rev. James C. Gilbert, Vicar of St. James Episcopal Church, Perkiomen, Evansburg, recently announced a series of "Quiet Hours" to be held on Wednesdays during Lent. They will be conducted at the Evansburg church.

These meditations and addresses are being arranged primarily for the students of the College. Various clergymen will assist Mr. Gilbert in conducting the "Quiet Hours".

Automobiles will leave the campus every Wednesday, beginning February 7, between 4:10 and 4:20 p. m. The service will last from 4:30 until 5:20. Students may be back at the campus by 5:30.

Announcements of the topics and speakers will be made at a later date.

Women's Debate Club Will Discuss Two Questions Tonight

The "Federal Aid to Education" and "Basic Blame for the European War" questions will be discussed at the Women's Debate Club meeting tonight in Lynnewood at 8:00 p. m.

On Monday evening, January 8, a debate was held in Bomberger with Penn State, represented by Misses Lois Notovitz and Hilma Eisen, who were accompanied by Mr. Doughert, their coach. Claire Borrell '40, and Lorraine Seibert '40, of Ursinus debated the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved: That the Basic Blame for the Present European War Rests upon the Allied Powers".

The next debate planned by the club will be held here on February 11 with Yeshiva College of New York.

The Gettysburg trip, February 21-23, will see Dubuque, Blum, Showalter, and Attso Hashizume '40, debating against Gettysburg, Western Maryland, Dickinson, and Franklin and Marshall; while Denton Herber '42, Eli Wismer '41, and Barnes will take the Penn State trip, February 28-March 1, debating against Penn State, Bucknell, and Susquehanna. On the final trip, March 6-8, Blum, Herber, and Showalter will debate Lafayette, Muhlenberg, and Moravian.

The club will argue four questions in their fifteen home debates: The education question, whether the Federal Government should give grants to further educational opportunities; the Basic Blame for the War in Europe; the question as to whether the Federal government should or should not control the railroads; and the question of furthering investigation into un-American activities.

Two New York Artists Present Concert at Valley Forge Chapel

The Music Center at the Washington Memorial Chapel in Valley Forge, which is under the direction of Miss Marion G. Spangler, College vocal instructor, presented Mr. Benjamin De Loache, baritone, and Mr. Milfred Snell, pianist, in a joint recital at the Chapel last Thursday evening.

Mr. De Loache is a graduate of the Curtis Institute of Music, in Philadelphia. He and Mr. Snell are New York artists.

Medieval Life Shown at Exhibit On Display in Science Building

An art exhibition of medieval life and customs opened today in Room 213 of the Science Building. The exhibition has been arranged by Dr. Elizabeth Foster, of the history department, through the cooperation of the Philadelphia Art Museum, and is open to the whole College.

Made up entirely of pictures drawn from medieval men in their daily habits of life, the exhibit depicts their major occupations, farming, fruit-growing, sheep raising and weaving; the town life and that of the nobles; and the crude forms of medical treatment.

The exhibit will include a photograph of the copy of the Magna Charta exhibited at the New York World's Fair. The photograph was presented to Ursinus College by His Majesty's Government through the courtesy of Mr. Frederick Watson, British Consul-General in Philadelphia.
