Ursinus College Evening School Registration Increases

Evening School registration for the Fall Term is more than twice that of the fall of 1953. Eighty-six students are in attendance in the fourteen courses now being offered. These students live in thirty-six different communities and are connected with forty-five different business and industrial organizations.

An interesting development in this year's program is a no credit course in Human Relations to which the Continental-Diamond Fibre Company of Bridgeport, Pa., is sending a group of its foremen. This course has been especially designed to meet the needs of their Supervisory Development Program.

vide that the student may spend the money for anything other than college tuition, room, or board; the money is to be of general help to the student.

Miss Livingstone is a scholarship student majoring in mathematics. She expects to enter secondary school teaching.

Ursinus Faculty Member Presents T.V. Program

Mr. H. Lloyd Jones, Jr., Assistant Professor of English, is appearing on WFIL-TV's University of the Air every Thursday morning at 11:35 for a fifteen lecture course in The Poetry of the Two Elizabethan Ages.

Mr. Jones is tracing themes, techniques, and ideas, in the poetry of the era of Queen Elizabeth I and then by drawing parallels or contrasts to the present, will attempt to answer the question of whether the reign of the second Elizabeth shows any promise of becoming another golden age of literature. Mr. Jones emphasizes that it is of course too soon to draw any conclusions. Nevertheless he feels that by studying such universal themes in love, religion, philosophy, and the like in the poetry of the two periods, it may be possible to make some valid predictions, and certainly to make us aware that the human artistic spirit is relatively immune to change.

This is the fifth year that University of the Air has been presented by WFIL-TV and for seven of the nine semesters thus far, members of the Ursinus College faculty have participated.

THE COLLEGE

Three New Members Join The Ursinus Faculty

With the opening of the Fall term, Ursinus students will have the opportunity of meeting three new members of the Ursinus Faculty.

Miss Jenepher Price '54 is new to the campus only in respect to her new duties. Jenepher, who was May Queen this spring, (see March issue) is returning to teach in the physical Education Department. In addition to instructing in the practical courses and first aid, she will be aiding in the coaching of the girls J.V. and varsity hockey and basketball teams. Miss Price is living in Wayne, Penna.

Mr. Robert Sutton, the new college librarian, is replacing Mr. Tilton M. Barron, who had accepted a position at Clark University. Mr. Sutton, a graduate of James Ormond Wilson Teachers College at Washington D.C. has received the M.S. degree from the University of Pennsylvania. He has had previous library experience as the curator of the Edgar Fahs Smith Memorial Collection in the History of Chemistry at the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Sutton is married and has two sons.

The Sociology Department welcomes Mr. George H. Haganir, who will present Dr. Jessie Miller's course during her leave of absence to accompany her husband Dr. Eugene H. Miller '33 to

ROBERT SUTTON

Tokyo where he will be a Fulbright Lecturer at Tokyo University of Foreign Students. Mr. Haganir is Assistant Professor of Sociology at Temple University and will teach at Ursinus on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. He received the A.B. degree in 1938 from Temple and the M.A. degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1942. He is experienced in both public school teaching and college lecturing in Industrial Sociology and Techniques of Social Research. Mr. Haganir is married and has three children. The family lives near Norristown.

Eight-Week Summer Session at Ursinus

The 1954 Summer Session returned to a shorter program than the twelve-week schedule which had been in operation for the past several years. The shorter program was offered in response to requests of students who wished to accelerate the college course and at the same time have a longer period to work during the summer than was permitted by the twelve-week schedule.

Ninety students were enrolled for the session, twenty-one of whom were from other institutions.

The Ursinus Summer School tradi-

1954-55 Academic Year Opens with 685 Students

Classes started September 22 for the Fall term at Ursinus with an enrollment of ten students greater than last year. There are 240 new students enrolled, of which 208 are freshmen, and 32 are either special students, transfer students, students taking a fifth year course of study, or students re-admitted to the college.

The present freshman class is larger than last year's by eighteen students. It consists of 138 men and 70 women or a ratio of approximately two to one. For the entire school the ratio of men to women is approximately four to three.

The incoming students represent about 140 different secondary schools from 15 different states and several foreign countries. Nearly all religious denominations are represented among the enrollment.

All available dormitory space is full including the additional use of many private homes in the community. About 130 of the students commute daily from nearby towns.

The registrar's office reports that of all the applications which qualified for entrance to the college, twenty-five percent were finally accepted for admission. At the present time applications for the academic year 1955-56 are being received by that office at the rate of ten per week.

tionally has been made up of serious students who wish to be graduated in a shorter time than the usual four calendar years. The number of students repeating courses which have been failed is low.

Students were permitted to select their course of study from the twenty-two courses which were offered. They were permitted to carry a maximum of nine semester hours of work in the eight weeks.

The Dean reports that the members of the Faculty who were engaged in teaching in the Summer Session were pleased with the results of the shorter program.

South Jersey Alumni Group Holds Annual Dinner Dance

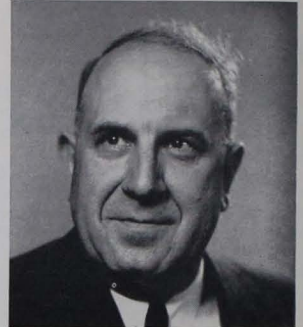

Eighty-two members of the South Jersey Alumni Group attended their annual dinner-dance at the Medford Lakes Lodge on Saturday evening, Oct. 2. At the meeting Paul Isenberg '21 the past president of the group turned the meeting over to the newly elected president Maurice Shuman '34. Guests of the group at the dinner were Dr. Helfferich, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Glassmoyer and Dr. and Mrs. Roger P. Staiger.

Following the dinner the newly elected officers met to plan the group's program for the coming year which will include a college open house meeting at which time the group proposes to bring prospective students to the college with the hope of encouraging them to enroll at Ursinus.

Alumni Booster Group Organizes

Spark plugged by George Saurman '50, a group of Ursinus Alumni met on the campus on the evening of September 29 to lend moral support to the 1954 football team and to join them in a kick-off banquet in the Freeland dining room. The dinner was attended by the entire football squad, the coaches and trainers, and many former Ursinus athletes.

Following the dinner, a meeting was held by the alumni present to lay plans to perpetuate the event. George Saurman was unanimously appointed chairman of a five member planning committee. The objectives of the group are to get as many alumni as possible to take an active interest in Ursinus sports, to increase alumni attendance at athletic functions, to recruit alumni to attend the next Varsity Club banquet, and to accumulate a list of names of alumni who will work with the group. It is suggested any interested alumni write to George Saurman, R. D. 2, Boyertown, Penna.

Ursinus Colony at University of Delaware

By EARL NEWBORN '53

The colony of Ursinus graduates at the University of Delaware has a population of seven students at present. Six of this number are members of the Chemistry Department. They are Trygve Meeker, '51, and Spherus Nemphos, '52, who are studying Physical Chemistry; and Mary Jo Lucas, '52, Richard Ludwig, '52, Robert Lovett, '53, and Earl Newborn, '53, who are students of Organic Chemistry. The remaining colonist is James Scott, '53, who last fall broke the monopoly of the chemists by enrolling in the Graduate School of Mathematics.

The goal of these seven is, in some cases, a master's degree, but most of them intend to continue beyond that point to attain a Doctor of Philosophy degree in their fields. Trygve Meeker, the senior member of the group is farthest along the road leading to the doctorate, having received his master's degree in June, 1954.

Although seven, taken by itself, is a rather unimpressive number, it gains stature when related to the number one hundred, the approximate enrollment of the Graduate Schools of Chemistry and Mathematics at Delaware. Like colonists everywhere, these at Delaware hope to see their establishment grow.

Dr. William J. Phillips, professor of English at Ursinus delivered an address "Cornelius Wegandt, Teacher, Scholar, Man of Letters", which was published in the Fall Pennsylvania Dutchman.

Dr. Wegandt was visiting lecturer in Sixteenth Century poetry at Ursinus for two years.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION IN INDIA

By LESTER E. WILLIAMS, '31

With the partition of India in August, 1947, all the Christian colleges in the northwest part of the sub-continent were left in the new country of Pakistan. This meant that the great state of Punjab (the breadbasket of India) was left without an institution of higher learning under Christian auspices, with the single exception of a specialized college of medicine at Ludhiana.

Certain Christian groups working in that part of India quickly decided that there must be a Christian college to serve the people of the state, and four of them joined together in a united effort in education at the college level. The four groups are (1) the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., (2) the English Society of Friends, (3) the Church of England in Canada, (4) the Church of India, Burma and Ceylon. Early in 1949 Baring Union Christian College came into being and was established at Batala, a town of 65,000 people, where the Church Missionary Society of the Church of England had carried on a boys' school for many years.

The first two or three years of the college's existence were by no means easy ones. Batala is only fifteen miles from the Pakistan border and there was considerable unrest in the district as a result of the widespread riots that accompanied partition. It took some time for the people to recover their sense of "belonging", after having been uprooted from their homes, and even yet there are refugees in the area who have not been completely rehabilitated. Naturally, students were also restless, discipline became a real problem, and students were always ready to organize a strike against the college authorities. Baring College was fortunate, however; it never had a full-fledged student strike. This is a rare thing for an Indian college, where the "strike" is a common weapon used by students whenever they do not happen to like any particular rule or action of the college administration.

One of the things which the Presbyterian Church insisted on before agreeing to participate in this new venture was that the college should be coeducational. Coeducation is still frowned upon in most of India, where ancient ideas concerning the respective places of men and women in the social structure are still strong. There are a few good colleges for women (notably Women's Christian College of Madras and Isabella Tournell College of Lucknow), and many colleges for men; but scarcely any where the two sexes are brought together in the same academic environment. Baring College is experimental in this respect, and the experiment seems to be succeeding. At first only three or four girls came, and they were painfully shy, saying nothing and taking no part in student activities. Each year, however, a few more have come until today, out of a student body of 425, there are 35 women students. Nor are they any longer shy; for they now speak up in class, write articles for the college magazine, make speeches before the whole student body at college functions, and participate in the college athletic program. Recently one of the women students represented the college in an inter-collegiate radio debate over one of the All-India Radio stations, and two others were sent as delegates to a student parliament session held in the state capital.

Most of our students are village young people, and while they may lack something of the polish of the city-bred person, they make up for it in wholesomeness and in an eagerness to better their lot in life through education. It is extremely difficult for most of them to meet the expenses of college education, even though the costs are ridiculously low in terms of American costs ($15.00 a month pays for everything—room, board, tuition, extra fees, and books). They need help, and the college tries to find funds for scholarship and student aid purposes. In 1951, the Y.M. and Y.W.C.A. of Ursinus College sent several boxes of used text-books and clothing. The books were put into the college library, the clothing sold and the proceeds put into the Student Aid Fund. It was a very real help and we were most grateful for it.

Although Baring Union Christian College is small (425 students), it is bursting at the seams; for the space is very limited. Every year many young people who want to enroll for their higher education are turned away because there just isn't room. The college is affiliated with the Punjab University, one of fifty-two colleges and the only Christian college so affiliated. There is only one university in the state, and it alone has the power to grant degrees. Baring prepares students to sit for the B.A. examinations of that university.

The shaky and uncertain experiment begun five years ago in the northwest corner of new India is now settling down into a well established institution, respected by the community, and gratefully recognized for its service to the young people of the district.

College Supply Store Under New Management

Mr. William S. Friedeborn '54 has been installed as the new manager of the Ursinus College Supply Store. Mr. Friedeborn majored at Ursinus in Business Administration. In addition to his new duties he will continue as assistant to Mr. E. M. Bailey, Director of Athletics, a position he held prior to graduation.

WILLIAM S. FRIEDEBORN, '54

Mr. Friedeborn says the general policy of the supply store will be such as to give the greatest benefit to the students, the faculty, and the college, and that any profits accumulated will be assigned to college scholarship funds.

Mr. Friedeborn is married and has three daughters, Cheryl 9, Sandra 5, and Marcia 4. The family is living at R. D. 1, Collegetown. Bill is a veteran of World War II during which he served in combat duty in the European theater. He has also given eighteen years of service to the Dramateurs Inc., a small theater group in Jeffersonville, Penna.

Sports Review

1954 Soccer Prospects

Soccer practice started as usual with the first day of college. Captain Garry Cox and all-conference inside left Larry Zartman are leading a normal sized squad through a grueling schedule of calisthenics daily. The first game, a practice match with Hill School, will be followed by a formidable series of matches with the usual opponents.

The squad lost all of its halfbacks by graduation and the star center forward of last year did not return to college. It is obvious, therefore, that a championship is hardly to be expected, but the wealth of inexperienced players who are improving steadily will assume a competent team as the season progresses. The squad is already looking forward to a victory over the Alumni on October 23. An encouraging feature is the number and ability of freshmen players who have reported for practice. Several of them who have played in high school are certain to see service on the varsity this year.

All in all we look for a good season.

Women's Varsity Hockey

The Ursinus girls will open their 1954 hockey season against Beaver College this year after a loss of seven starters. The players remaining from last year are: Ruth Heller, Phyllis Stadler (Captain), Joanne Kuhn, and Marge Dawkins. Newcomers that will fill in the gaps will be Aggie Watson, Annette Dannenhower, Liz Mason, Jane Dunn, Sue Holmes, Anne Schick, Vonnie Gros, and Ricky Bauser. The coach has emphasized that the team is potentially strong and should develop quickly to produce a successful season.

Ursinus Women's Alumni Hockey Team Plays Irish Touring Team

The Ursinus Alumni Team, undefeated last year, have become the defending champions of the Philadelphia area. Because of this, they were asked, with the cooperation of the Norristown and Buxmont clubs to field a team against the Irish Touring team. The team selected from these three clubs included nine Ursinus alumni: Bev Syvertson ('54), Marge Watson (ex. '54), Betty Straurowsky ('51), Audrey Rittenhouse ('53), Adele Boyd ('53), Mary Tyson ('50), Jen Price ('54), Marge Anderson ('54), and Ginnie Dulin ('48).

The game was played at Ursinus on October 8, 1954. The Irish won, 7-0. (Continued on page 20)

ALUMNI GIVE OVER $20,000

Irene Heinly, Class Secretary Explains the Success of the Class of 1911

The 1954 Loyalty Fund Campaign for the Class of 1911 was started by the Chairman, Henry W. Mathieu. Within a very short time Mr. Mathieu passed away suddenly and Mr. Amos J. Heinly, the vice-president of the class, was asked to take over the unfinished task. Sometimes Mr. Heinly had to write more than one letter to a classmate before receiving a response, at which time he stressed that each contribution would count, however small, but that 100% participation was the goal. Each was asked to give what he could, but not to refrain from giving because his contribution might appear insignificant. The results were most gratifying to all.

The Class of 1911 was a small class. Probably that fact accounts in part for the feeling of friendship and cooperation that exists to this day among the members of the class. The class consisted of five girls and ten boys who were regular college students, but there were four others who received diplomas at the same time after completing Saturday and Summer Courses, and these are included among the loyal alumni and members of the 1911 Class organization.

The five girls all became school teachers, and two of them later married classmates. Of the fourteen men in the class, nine became teachers, two ministers, two business men, and one a chemical en-

1954 Loyalty Fund Report

CHARLES V. ROBERTS—
Chairman of Reports

In this, our second report on the Ursinus Loyalty Fund, we are happy to give the final results for the period from July 1, 1953 to June 30, 1954. All funds collected after this date will be credited to the current drive ending June 30, 1955. The grand total for this, our first year of organized giving, is $20,598.90, representing sixty classes and a total of 1,107 individual contributors. This is a first-year record of which all our alumni have reason to be proud.

As promised in the March issue of the Journal, we are including with this report the names of all contributors. More than 29% of the living alumni have contributed. The average contribution is $18.60.

On the other side of the ledger we find over 2,600 among the missing. If your name isn't on the list of alumni contributors won't you please include Ursinus in your plans for the coming year?

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Reinhart Attribute the Success of '49 to the Aid of the Vice Chairmen

The Class of 1949 holds first place for the largest number of contributors for any one class. The Reinharts were extremely active in organizing their class, but they attribute the success of the drive for the 49ers to the assistance given them by their vice chairmen.

UC Messiah Chorus Largest in History

The seventeenth annual presentation of Handel's Messiah is scheduled this year for the evening of Thursday, December 2.

The Ursinus Messiah Chorus has always been lauded for its rendition of the great sacred oratorio. One year the chorus was invited to sing in the John Wanamaker Store in Philadelphia. Edwin Schloss, music critic on the Philadelphia Inquirer, said it was the finest Messiah chorus on the Eastern seaboard.

Although the number in the chorus has never been under 100, this year there is the largest number ever to be in the chorus—268—not counting practice teachers and alumni who will add to the number the night of the performance.

Each year the guest soloists, who are from New York City, are accompanied by members of the Philadelphia Orchestra and a group of student musicians.

Dr. William F. Philip, who initiated the Messiah tradition, has directed the rehearsals and the final performances each year. Dr. Philip receives many letters from alumni each year expressing their appreciation for having an opportunity to be a part of the Messiah tradition.

Curtain Club Plans Fall Production

The Curtain Club's production The Night of January 16th is scheduled for November 19th and 20th. Mr. H. Lloyd Jones, newly appointed Director of the Curtain Club, and Mr. James Bowers, Class of '55, directors, are busy with rehearsals and promise a stirring performance.

The past theatre season having served such a smash hit throughout the country with the popular Caine Mutiny Court Martial Trial, the Curtain Club of Ursinus College has decided to equal this success with another version of a court trial, namely, The Night of January 16th. The unique feature of this play is that the jury will be drawn from the audience each night of the performance and the cast will not know what verdict will be rendered, they having prepared alternate endings for the play.

All alumni are invited to attend either performance of this play. Tickets are $1.00. All seats are reserved. Call Mrs. Steele in the President's office for reservations or buy tickets at the door.
