Local Police Department Awarded Grant

Gov. Julian M. Carroll today announced the awarding of a $2,079 grant to upgrade the Murray police department's record-keeping systems.

The grant comprises $1,559 in federal money plus an additional $520 in local matching funds.

The grant to Murray was part of a large package of criminal justice grants amounting to $3.7 million in federal-state-local funds which had been approved at the July 10-11 meeting of the Kentucky Crime Commission and later submitted to the governor for final consideration.

The federal share of the total — $3.1 million — comes from funds made available to the state Department of Justice by the U. S. Law Enforcement Assistance Administration. State and local matching money totaling $600,000 makes up the balance.

Under the grant to Murray, the records section in the city police department will be expanded to include a photography and fingerprint laboratory section. The section will be available for the security police at Murray State University, Calloway County Sheriff's Office, as well as the city police.

Other grants awarded today by the governor included, by program area, the following:

—Adult Corrections: Clearinghouse for Ex-Offenders at Louisville ($45,000) and Lexington ($39,703); Blackburn Correctional Complex at Lexington ($388,350); Bureau of Corrections' Office of Inmate-Staff Relations ($32,310); Office of Treatment Services ($23,760); Probation and Parole Reorganization ($837,180); Adult Halfway House Programs ($250,000), and Jail Consultant Program ($63,450); St. Andrews Adult Halfway House at Lexington ($40,000).

—Police: Bureau of State Police Criminal Investigation Unit ($204,120),

New Jersey Capital Running Out Of Water

TRENTON, N.J. — (AP) — The city of Trenton, capital of New Jersey, and surrounding communities were expected to run out of water this afternoon.

Mayor Arthur Holland declared a state of emergency shortly before noon because of a broken pump in the city's water supply system.

An estimated 250,000 persons could be affected by the crisis, including about 100,000 in Trenton and the rest in the surrounding suburban communities of Ewing, Hamilton and Lawrence townships.

Holland ordered parochial schools, which opened today, to close, and city officials said the state and county offices may be shut down and that the staff at City Hall would be reduced to a skeleton crew.

Joseph Tuccillo, director of the city's public works, said nearby communities, including towns in Pennsylvania just across the Delaware River, had agreed to pump in about one-fifth of the 35 million gallons used by the city's water system each day.

Tuccillo said the city was calling for tank trucks to provide emergency water supplies to hospitals and other critical areas.

He also said it would be at least 48 hours before the broken pumps at the Trenton filtration plant adjacent to the Delaware River could be replaced.

The new owners of the stations are the Timkay Corporation, which includes MSU professor Dr. Glenn Wilcox and his immediate family.

The announcement said the new owners anticipate no immediate programming changes, and listed the sale price at $1 million.

Man Charged In Kidnapping Held In Paducah

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — A man charged in the kidnaping and slaying of a 3-year-old Paducah boy was to appear today before a U.S. magistrate.

James Howard Timmons, 38, was brought to Paducah and held in the McCracken County Jail after his arrest by FBI agents and other officers Monday night in Illinois.

He was sought in the death of three-year-old Eddie Belt, whose body was found in the Tennessee River here after his disappearance last June.

Timmons was indicted by the August McCracken County grand jury on a murder charge, and was charged in a federal warrant with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for kidnaping.

Stanley C. Czarniecki, special agent in charge of the FBI in Kentucky, said FBI agents, Kentucky State Police, Illinois State Police and the Massac County, Ill., Sheriff's Office took part in the arrest.

He said Timmons was apprehended without resistance at the home of a relative about 5 miles north of Metropolis, Ill.

The FBI recommended that bond for Timmons be set at $150,000.

Fewer Than 400 Die On Nation's Highways Over Labor Day Holiday

Fewer than 400 persons were killed in traffic accidents over the Labor Day weekend - one of the safest three-day holiday periods in 14 years.

The Associated Press counted 392 traffic fatalities on the nation's roads during the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday local time.

Circus To Be Here On September 16

The Hanneford Family Circus will give two performances in Murray on Tuesday, September 16, under the sponsorship of the Murray-Calloway County Jaycees.

Advance sale tickets for the performances are now on sale and may be purchased at Montgomery Ward, Long John Silver's, Peoples Bank or the Bank of Murray, a Jaycee spokesman said.

Advance tickets for children 12 and under will be $1.50, $3 for adults, and $8 for a "family" package. The Jaycees are also offering advance student tickets at $2 each and a special "Golden Age" advance ticket for $1.50. Prices at the gate will be $2 for children under 12 and $4 for all others.

The two performances of the circus will be staged at 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. at the Calloway County Fairgrounds.

The Hannefords made their first appearance on the American circus scene 61 years ago. Since 1915 there has not been a season without a Hanneford family member appearing in one of the leading American shows.

The circus will feature aerial acts as well as animals shows typical to circus fare.

Cloudy and Warm

Partly cloudy and warm today and Wednesday. Fair and mild tonight. High today around 90. Low tonight in the upper 60s to low 70s. High Wednesday in the low 90s. Thursday partly cloudy, warm and humid.

Officials of the National Safety Council, which before the holiday estimated between 460 and 560 persons could lose their lives in traffic accidents during the period, had no immediate explanation.

"It's quite surprising, very definitely it's low," said Jack Recht, manager of the council's statistics section. "As a matter of fact, we'd have to go back in the records to see if there is anything near it."

However, records of the AP, which has been counting holiday traffic deaths since 1946, show the 392 fatalities are the fewest over a 78-hour Labor Day period since 1961 when the toll was 386.

The only other years in which fewer than 400 persons died in traffic accidents during summer's last long weekend, were 1954, 1950 and 1946-48.

Last year, 515 persons were killed during the Labor Day period and at that time it was the safest Labor Day weekend since 1962.

But last year, Recht pointed out, traffic fatalities were markedly lower than

Four Die On State Roads Over Holiday

Kentucky's Labor Day weekend traffic toll rose to four with the death of an elderly eastern Kentuckian.

Earlie Flora, 81, of Carlisle, hospitalized Saturday after his car ran off U.S. 68 in Nicholas County, died of his injuries Monday, according to State Police.

Three persons died earlier in the holiday weekend. Two were pedestrians who were hit by a car late Friday as they walked in the northbound lane of I-65 in Warren County. The other was a motorcyclist from Jeffersonville in Montgomery County who struck a blown-down tree on U.S. 460 near Mount Sterling.

Five persons died in Kentucky traffic accidents last Labor Day weekend.

The state's highways were heavily traveled Monday as the holiday weekend vacationers headed for home, but State Police reported only one major tieup.

Back-To-Work Movement Spreads Through U.S. Coalfields Today

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A general back-to-work movement spread across the coalfields today, but many southern West Virginia mines, where the walkout began, remained closed.

United Mine Workers Secretary-Treasurer Harry Patrick said virtually all union members had returned to work in western Pennsylvania; Illinois, Indiana, Virginia and northern West Virginia.

The UMW also said a number of mines had returned to work in southern West Virginia. However, both the union and industry spokesmen said they did not want to name those mines, for fear they would be closed again by pickets.

At Pikeville, Ky., Coal Operators and Associates said UMW mines in eastern Kentucky remained shut down.

The West Virginia Coal Association estimated that about 30,000 miners were still idled today by the strike in southern West Virginia.

"Nobody at all showed up," said a spokesman at Island Creek Coal Co.'s Amherstdale mine in Logan County.

"They're not working here; those pickets got them," said a Boone County foreman.

U.S. District Judge K. K. Hall scheduled a hearing later today to determine if the union must pay a civil contempt fine of $500,000 to coal companies.

The continued shutdown in southern West Virginia followed weekend solidarity votes in Boone, Logan, Kanawha and Raleigh counties of West Virginia, where the strike blossomed more than three weeks ago.

Reader Strikes Gold In Public Library

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I live in Salisbury, Mass., and I use the Newbury public library quite often.

I recently checked out an old book and brought it home to read. When I started to read it, I got the shock of my life. There, in the second chapter, was an old $5,000 bill! It's good. I have already checked it out.

What do I do? Keep it, or take it back to the library and find out if someone has reported it lost or misplaced.

I really want to do the right thing. Of course I would like to keep it, but not if it belongs to somebody else. Please advise me.

FINDERS KEEPERS

DEAR FINDERS: Take the $5,000 bill back to the library and ask them to try to find the owner. If they are unable to locate him (or her), the money is yours. (And check with a lawyer before you do anything.)

DEAR ABBY: I have heard many mothers say, "I have to tell my child three or four times to do something, but if his daddy tells him just once, he jumps."

I think I know why this is true: In most families, when the mother asks the father to do something, he just sits there as if she hadn't spoken. But when the father says to Mother, "Send my suit to the cleaners," or "Mail this letter," the mother does it right away.

Before long, the child notices that Dad's voice gets a response, but Mom's goes unheeded, so he accepts that as normal and follows the procedure.

D.L.

DEAR D.L.: I think the practice of ignoring Mother and jumping when Father speaks probably became standard operating procedure after the child tested both parents and discovered that when Mother is ignored, nothing happens. But when Father is ignored, all you-know-what breaks loose.

DEAR ABBY: How does a happily married 35-year-old woman handle flirtations initiated by a married man in the presence of both spouses?

I find myself very much embarrassed, and needless to say, his wife and my husband are not exactly overjoyed. How can such a man be put in his place in a nice but firm manner? We run into this couple fairly often, and I am dreading the next encounter.

FLUSTERED

DEAR FLUSTERED: When next you meet, give Casanova an impersonal hello, then promptly launch into small talk with his wife. Keep it a two-way conversation until you depart. No man can "flirt" without a partner.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1975

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) Investigate whatever stimulates your interest, but don't "go overboard" on a new proposition without looking beneath the surface.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21) Some planetary restrictions. Be cautious in making investments, and DO control emotions. Some situations will call for unusual tact.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) A suggestion to which you have not given much previous thought could, quite unexpectedly, open new doors to progress. Pull it out of your mental file.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) Pay no heed to glowing reports or sensational rumors—especially if finances are involved. Keep on an even keel and you should do well.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) A good day for business enterprises. You may get some information you have been seeking for some time. Don't make hasty decisions, however.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) A mixed day. Job associates are in-tune with your efforts right now, but you can expect some ups and downs in a romantic situation.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Fairly favorable influences encourage your interests, but do not "go overboard" in making program changes. Neither reach for the obviously unattainable.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) Lesser matters may be highlighted now, but these could spark big achievements later. So, whatever you attempt, give your best. And do be prepared for all contingencies.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) You may discern a hint of things to come where your personal ambitions are concerned. Accept advice and support from interested friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you attempt to gain your way by unconventional methods, it could cause discord. You are generally conservative in your leanings, but there's a tendency toward indiscretion now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Keep emotions under control and do not make drastic or needless changes on the spur of the moment. Be especially careful in romantic involvements.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Stress moderation. Do not strive for the unreasonable and do not permit your active mind to carry your physical self beyond sensible bounds.

YOU BORN TODAY are notably steadfast, purposeful, domestically inclined and always faithful to a trust. You seldom change occupations unless circumstances so compel, and you do a bang-up job for both superiors and dependents. Virgoans are wonderful at keeping secrets, which is why they make trusted associates and valuable confidential secretaries. You are extremely sensitive and sometimes self-conscious, though your gentleness and graciousness usually belies this. Fields in which you could excel: education, theology, chemistry, banking, journalism and literature. You would also make an outstanding literary or dramatic critic. Birthdate of Sarah C. Jewett, novelist.

Down the Garden Path

By MRS. W. P. WILLIAMS
There is a lot that can be done and what is more, should be done during these last weeks of summer. But if everybody feels as I do, they won't want to.

It is a lazy time. I don't have the energy it takes when the days are so hot and humid. But even a little bit of work each day, cleaning out flower beds, trimming grass around the edges, pulling a weed here and there really pays off.

I think perhaps the best time of the day is early in the morning. It is so fresh and clean, the sun hasn't reached the "boiling-point" and the dew sparkles on the grass.

One caution, wear gloves as you pull weeds. I made the mistake of not doing so last week and evidently touched some poisonous weed, with the result that I had blisters covering two fingers. So protect your hands not only from poisonous plants, but from having broken fingernails and scratches.

It is surprising what a few minutes of work in a flower bed can accomplish. If you could work 15 minutes a day, you could see the results in neater beds, grass seed and weeds out of the way and many a potential weed of next spring destroyed. I think it is the regularity of work that counts; a little while each day is worth more than a couple of hours at one time and much less tiring.

Have you planned your spring planting yet? Have you ordered your bulbs yet? Be sure to include some of the pink daffodils. Some of them open out pink and others are more of an apricot until the second day. Pink Glory is a favorite, as is Lady Bird. Try some of the small daffodils like Yellow Cheerfulness or Silver Chimes.

There is a wealth to choose from when it comes to daffodils. There are the exotic ones, like Gold Collar, or the magnificent Golden Sensation. Try the big white one called Broughshane. Plant them lavishly. You will enjoy them for years to come.

Don't make the mistake of planting them too shallowly. The big daffodils should be planted eight or nine inches deep. That is to keep them from gradually growing smaller each year.

Plant the smaller ones about three times their width and in groups of six or eight. Small masses of bloom are effective in sparking up your garden and are inexpensive. Most of them are in shades of pale blue, lavender and white and have an airy appearance that is delightful. Try some of each.

There's A Lot Left To Be Done

CONGRESS gets back to work tomorrow after a month-long recess, and there is plenty for it to do.

The top item on the list of "must" actions is the national energy program.

That program is in limbo at present. In hasty action, Congress voted before going home or off on junkets simply to leave things as they have been for another six months. But President Ford has made it clear he isn't going to let things stay as they have been.

The question, therefore, is whether Congress can pull itself together sufficiently to come up with something better than immediate decontrol of oil prices alone, which is what we get if the President vetoes the controls extension as he has indicated he will do.

The chances of overriding a veto appear slim, especially in the Senate.

Failing an override, the best thing Congress could do would be to put together as quickly as possible a windfall profits tax which would recover increased oil company profits that are not plowed back into exploration and development of new oil.

But the prospects for even that much action don't appear bright. The House Ways and Means Committee, which would have to initiate such legislation, has been tussling with the issue for months without coming to much real agreement.

Meanwhile, other matters will be piling up.

Still to be dealt with are 13 of the 15 regular appropriations bills for fiscal 1976. Last year, Congress had cleared 7 of 14 regular appropriations bills by this date.

The appropriations business is somewhat more complex now than it has been in the past, of course, because this Congress has decided to give the new plan for balancing income and expenditures a trial run. But appropriations must be voted before the new budget committee can review them, so unless Congress gets around to this item of business soon the test of the budget planning committee may fall on its face.

As for other matters before this session, the list is so long it can be noted only by subject matter at this point.

It includes:

Air pollution legislation to replace the act that expired June 30 and has been extended temporarily.

Arms procurement, which has become a hot issue since the Senate rejected the conference committee report.

School lunch program funding.

Bankrupt railroad funding.

Food stamp reforms.

Grain inspection reforms.

No-fault auto insurance.

Proposals to strengthen antitrust enforcement.

Gun control.

Criminal code revision, including the thorny proposals intended to prevent leaks of classified information.

Tax reforms, including the question of extending the one-year tax relief plan.

And if all that and more is not enough to keep Congress busy from now until the end of the year, remember that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is coming home with a new Mideast plan which would require congressional approval not only of financial aid to that area but also approval of the sending of Americans to the buffer area to help insure the peace there.

IS CONGRESS up to all this?

Not if we judge by its record thus far.

And not if we look at its schedule for the rest of the year. That schedule includes a five-day recess for the House to observe Yom Kippur this month, 10-day recesses for both House and Senate next month to note Columbus Day, another several days immediately after that to mark Veterans Day and yet another 10 days at the end of November to observe Thanksgiving.

All this on top of the 74 working days recesses the House already has taken and the 75 days the Senate has had.

It is not a great record this "young and vigorous" Congress has racked up. It is not what the voters expected when they went to the polls last November.

Tommy Brown Feels 'Jaws' Has Belly Full Of Murray

By M. C. Garrott

Tommy Brown, who rides herd on all the theaters in Murray, tells me that "Jaws," the big thriller movie about the 23-foot, man-eating, great white shark and how it terrorized an East Coast beach, will soon become the all-time box office champion.

As of August 20, the movie, which cost more than $8 million and which almost wasn't produced because of production problems and mushrooming costs, had grossed more than $100,375,000 in only 59 days of release—and this has been just in the United States. It hasn't even hit the foreign screens yet.

"Jaws" has already swallowed up "The Sting" and "The Exorcist," moneywise, and soon is expected to gulp down the three all-time big-money pictures, "Gone With The Wind," "The Sound of Music" and "The Godfather."

Here in Murray, Tommy says the movie has out-drawn anything he has shown in the 18 years he has been handling the flickers. In the first four weeks of its six-week booking, it grossed more money at the local box office than the old Capitol Theater on East Main Street did in an entire year 10 years ago.

Of course, the tickets cost more now. The 1965 ticket cost 75 cents as compared with $2.50 for "Jaws," but let's remember that the theater didn't pay as much for a film in those days as it must pay today for one such as this big picture.

"Jaws" opened in Murray five weeks ago, and this is its sixth week. Tommy plans to hold it over for one more week, through Sept. 11. He turned them away for both shows when it first came to town, but it is "swimming pretty slow now," he says. "I think old 'Jaws' just about has his belly full of Murray."

I read the cut-down version of "Jaws" in one of the Reader's Digest condensed books about two or three years ago. I told Cathryn at the time that it would make a good movie if they could find a shark that was big enough, could act and wouldn't eat everyone on the set.

It was the most gripping story I believe I have ever read. I read it through almost without putting the book down. It was really frightening. I felt I was the one being attacked, and it was scary.

I don't believe I have ever been so moved by anything in print as I was by the part in the book in which the little boy was devoured by the big shark while bobbing happily on his rubber raft. I guess it was because we have a little one about the same age. Sometimes I feel my reluctance to see the film relates to that episode.

I was surprised, however, some time later when someone who had read the book in its entirety made some remark about how "dirty" the book was with its profanity and sex carryings-on. That wasn't in the condensed version. They had cut it out, which proves a book can be great today without all that stuff.

I thoroughly enjoy the Reader's Digest condensed books. I believe the most recent one contains four of the best stories they've ever published in one edition: "The Money Changers," "Mrs. Ariss Goes to Moscow," "Collision" and "Massacre at Fall Creek."

Arthur Hailey, the fellow who wrote "Hotel" and "Airport," both of which made great movies, is the author of "The Money Changers." I predict we'll see this story on the screen, too, before long.

It's a behind-the-scenes story of a big city bank and the struggle among the two top vice-presidents for the top job after the president calmly informs the board of directors that he is dying of cancer.

It'll make a great movie. Once you've read it, you can almost see the cast yourself. Watch for "The Money Changers" at Tommy's theaters. It's a natural for the screen.

Add to your list of look-alikes: Evelyn (Mrs. Conrad) Jones and singer Dinah Shore.

WANTS 'UNUSED' TAX DOLLARS FOR BIKEWAYS

REP. RALPH S. REGULA (Ohio) "...My concern is to give attention to the fact that the provisions for building bikeway systems under the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1973 are generally going unused. It should be noted that of the 40 million Federal dollars available for bikeway construction in fiscal year 1975, only 23 States and the District of Columbia have requested a total of less than $25 million. But of this amount, the Department of Transportation reports that less than a mere $2 million was actually spent by the States for bikeways.

"This is appalling, when you consider that the bicycle is no longer only a child's toy, but is becoming a viable and significant mode of transportation and recreation, worthy of more attention, since the energy crisis is here to stay..."

REP. EDWARD I. KOCK (N. Y.) "...I am introducing with Representatives Bella Abzug (N. Y.), Max Bacus (Mont.), Yvonne Burke (Calif.), Bob Carr (Mich.), Cardiss Collins (Ill.), John Conyers (Mich.), Bob Eckhardt (Texas), Robert Edgar (Pa.), Don Edwards (Calif.), Donald Fraser (Minn.), Gilbert Gude (Md.), Mark Hannaford (Calif.), Michael Harrington (Mass.), Ken Heckler (W. Va.), Ramon Mazzoli (Ky.), Claude Pepper (Fla.), Henry Reuss (Wis.), Ralph

Regula (Ohio), Paul Sarbanes (Md.), Henry Waxman (Calif.), and James Weaver (Oreg.) the Urban Bikeway Transportation Act of 1975. If enacted this bill would provide $20 million annually for the construction of bicycle lanes, paths, parking and support facilities, and traffic control devices in urbanized areas—50,000 or more population...

"There are those of you who might ask, 'Why more money for bicycles?' The answer is really quite apparent. First, the money now available, limited as it is, requires a diversion from highway usage, which some localities are reluctant to do.

Second, as we all know, the country is faced with a severe energy shortage...If the Congress is truly concerned about the fuel shortage and the need for different transportation alternatives, the bicycle provides a clean, quiet, economical partial solution to both of these problems..."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

It's apparent that 27 States are not interested in spending highway tax dollars for Bike trails. So some congressmen look for a way to build Bike trails by new legislation; Urban Bikeway Transportation Act. To be funded with new tax money of $20 million annually. Have any of them considered applying the 'unused' tax dollars to the 'appalling' Federal deficit?

Let's Stay Well

Prevention Of Schistosomiasis

By F. J. L. Blasingame, M.D.

Brilliant advances in medicine occasionally have resulted because of the astute observation that nonmedical persons were doing something that had a result which could be medically beneficial.

A classical example is the history of foxglove (the plant from which digitalis is derived) being used in the treatment of dropsy. Physicians now use digitalis widely in treating heart failure.

An observation has been made which may result in the prevention of one of the world's major parasitic diseases (schistosomiasis).

Schistosomiasis affects an estimated 200 million people in the Middle East, Africa and Asia. Current treatment is of limited benefit. Prevention is far more desirable, and most likely it will depend on ridding the fresh water of snails, which act as intermediate hosts in which the parasites live.

In 1964, Aklilu Lemma, of Haile Selassie I University in Ethiopia, studied the snails in a small stream and noted a large number of them dead downstream near sites at which people had done their laundry. They had been using local erod berries as a detergent, and they harmed no other plants or animals.

In 1969, Lemma made field studies in an Ethiopian village in which 70 per cent of the population and 50 per cent of the young children had schistosomiasis. Erud berries were applied to the stream banks with water cans every three to eight weeks. Preliminary studies showed that schistosomiasis had dropped among the children from 50 per cent to 15 per cent.

While further research will be necessary, current evidence is encouraging, in that, at long last, an effective procedure to prevent dreaded schistosomiasis has been found. This discovery can make large areas of the world a safer place in which to live.

Q Mrs. F. R. wants to know if epilepsy is inherited.

A: Heredity is a factor, and some families show a higher incidence of this illness than others. However, a tendency to convulsions may be due to an injury at birth, low blood sugar, or to an infection. The cause requires careful evaluation and often determines what treatment, if any, is needed. With modern medications, persons who have epilepsy are usually able to live useful, responsible lives. Genetic counseling may be helpful if epilepsy "runs" in the family.

Q Mrs. L. Y. wants to know where she can receive a hearing test.

A: If you think that you have a hearing loss (it is not always easy to know, if the loss has come about gradually), it is best to see a physician. You may want to call the medical society in your community. A simple screening test for hearing loss is sponsored by the Chicago Hearing Society, and a test can be conducted by dialing a particular number. If you are unable to hear all eight tones over the telephone, you have a hearing loss and should see a physician for more complete testing.

It is clear that the Soviet policy of communistic imperialism has not changed. It speaks of detente, but it continues to arm and to probe and test the free world at every opportunity.

Our response should be, as President Ford said in Minneapolis, to remember the fundamental lesson of preserving freedom. We should retain our military might, material strength, moral purpose and unity even as we make an honest effort to meet an enemy half way.

Bible Thought

And this is the record, that God hath given us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. I John 5:11.

Life is so very precious, that we cherish it especially when it is running out. Don't wait until then to begin to know Jesus.

Civil Preparedness Education To Help Students In Crises

FRANKFORT, Ky.—How Kentucky students and their teachers react in case of tornado, flood, fire or other emergency may well depend on a program being carried out by the state Department of Education.

Allocating responsibility in case of an emergency and presenting school districts with a model emergency plan are two parts of the program, directed by June Preston, a former education specialist with the Department of Military Affairs' division of disaster and emergency services.

An important part of Ms. Preston's job is helping Kentucky's school districts work out definite plans to follow during specific emergency situations. She has already helped develop plans in use in eight school districts in Kentucky.

When Ms. Preston works with a school district, she often gives them a model emergency plan that they can adapt to fit their particular needs.

This plan specifies who is responsible for certain emergency tasks such as notifying the police or fire department (the principal's duty) and checking to see if any children are missing (the teacher's responsibility).

It also includes sample letters to be sent to parents to determine if they want their children to remain at school or to be sent home or to a neighbor's house in case warning of an emergency is received in time to permit students to reach home before being exposed to danger.

"In the past there have been some effective, but scattered, programs for emergency planning in Kentucky," said Conley Manning, head of the Bureau of Instruction's division of program development.

"Through June Preston, we hope to help local superintendents throughout the state prepare their districts for emergencies.

Another aspect of Ms. Preston's job is assisting in the development of a disaster preparedness curriculum designed to help students understand the consequences of different types of civil emergencies and how to avoid these consequences, Ms. Preston said.

To accomplish this goal, Ms. Preston is introducing school systems to a student book and teacher's guide called "Your Chance To Live," which was produced by the national Defense Civil Preparedness Agency.

"Your Chance To Live" deals with emergencies ranging from forest fires and severe weather to atomic disasters and power failures. The material is available to schools free by contacting Ms. Preston. Teachers may also borrow 16 mm films, filmstrips and cassettes to accompany the text.

"After studying 'Your Chance To Live,' we students probably know more about what to do in an emergency than most adults do," wrote a Bourbon County student whose class was asked to evaluate the program.

"The only problem with 'Your Chance To Live' is that it is aimed primarily for junior high school students," Ms. Preston said. To remedy this situation the Bureau of Instruction is now developing a special disaster education curriculum for the elementary grades.

Earlier this year, Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. Lyman V. Ginger appointed an advisory committee on disaster education made up of school administrators, teachers, a curriculum specialist, other educators and Military Affairs officials who helped to develop this curriculum.

Their work should be ready for Kentucky elementary teachers this fall or by early next spring, according to Ms. Preston. In addition to teaching students how to prepare for emergencies, the material will help them deal with the emotional aftermath of a disaster, with fears and apprehensions all too familiar to teachers in areas of Kentucky hit by last year's tornado.

Ms. Preston attended Morehead State University and Kentucky State University. She worked for two years in the former Civil Defense area office in Paintsville before transferring to Frankfort. She has taken classes and attended workshops at the Defense Civil Preparedness Agency staff college in Battletree, Mich.

Anyone interested in future information about civil preparedness in the schools may contact June Preston at 1939 Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort 40601.

Bugs Alive Wins All-America Futurity Quarterhorse Race

By BOB GREEN
AP Sports Writer
RUIDOSO, N. M. (AP) — The quarterhorse owner had a premonition, a hunch. Ralph Shebester had horses that finished second, third and fourth in the 1968 All American Futurity, the world's richest horse race and the event that is the Super Bowl, the World Series, the Stanley Cup and the Masters of quarterhorse racing. It was a shattering disappointment for the Wynwood, Okla., breeder. But a couple of years ago his mare, Ralph's Lady Bug, delivered a foal that gave Shebester a hunch. "I figured 1975 was about the time for our Bugs to come alive," he said. And the oddly named Bugs Alive in 75 turned that hunch into a reality Monday. He broke on top, quickly established his superiority and was never headed in a front-running romp that provided Shebester with

$330,000 from the total purse of the $1.03 million in the 17th running of the All American. "They played hell trying to catch us," said veteran jockey Jerry Burgess. "The last 100 yards I just put my feet up on the dashboard and coasted home." It was that simple. Bugs Alive in 75, now the winner of $512,106 as a juvenile, won by one-half length and completed the 440-yard spring in 21.98 seconds, the slowest winning time since this classic was extended from 400 to 440 yards three years ago. A filly, Chick Called Sue, was second, one-half length in front of the previously unbeaten Rocket's Magic. Another length covered the rest of the field of nine 2-year-olds that finished in riding school precision. Bugs Alive paid $8.40, $4 and $3. Chick Called Sue returned $3.80 and $3. Rocket's Magic, the favorite with the crowd of 15,250 that bet a state record of $950,755, paid $3. Neither really challenged. "After we got over the hump a little rise in the track about 200 yards from the gate I knew we had it," said Burgess, who rode his first winner in six All America tries. All nine runners, as well as the scratched Chick's Deck, received a share of the enormous purse, however. Chick Called Sue nipped $138,000 for owner Aubrey Stokes of San Angelo, Tex. and Rocket's Magic collected $64,000 for Bill Thomas of New Iberia, La. The pay-offs ranged down to $27,000 to Chick's Deck, who injured a knee during the qualifications. The purse is advertised in excess of $1 million but $234,000 was distributed in three consolation races and another $30,000 went in breeding and nomination awards, leaving $766,000 for the feature that closed the season at this modern little track in the Old West country of the Sacramento Mountains.

Royals Lose Pair Of Players But Win Game

By HERSHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer
The Kansas City Royals lost two players Monday...and won a ballgame. First, starting pitcher Nelson Briles had to leave after blanking the Chicago White Sox for three innings when his knee began acting up. Doug Bird took over and yielded one run and six hits the rest of the way. However, Bird didn't become a winner until Hal McRae hurt his rib cage fouling off a pitch in the eighth inning of a 1-1 deadlock. Harmon Killebrew pinch hit and created a 2-2 pitch from Claude Osteen into the left field seats for his 571st career homer and the Royals' first in eight games.

The two-run shot was Killebrew's 12th of the season and enabled the Royals to win 3-1 and split their Labor Day doubleheader. But the Royals dropped the opener 10-8 and coupled with Oakland's 6-3 triumph over California, left Kansas City eight games behind the A's in the American League's West Division. The New York Yankees turned back Boston 4-2, thopping the Red Sox' lead in the AL East to 5½ games over the idle Baltimore Orioles, who were rained out of a doubleheader against Cleveland. Elsewhere, the Minnesota Twins beat the Texas Rangers 5-3 and the Detroit Tigers edged the Milwaukee Brewers 5-1. "I've never lost a game like that," moaned White Sox Manager Chuck Tanner after Killebrew's wallop. "They get two guys hurt and then two guys come in and get the job done for them."

In the opener, Chicago trailed KC's Steve Busby 4-0 after 1½ innings but Bill Melton cracked a three-run homer to cap a five-run third inning and Jorge Orta drove in three runs on three hits.

A's 6, Angels 3
Billy Williams and Reggie Jackson slammed two-run homers as Oakland rallied from a 3-1 first-inning deficit to beat the Angels. Jackson drove in a third run with a double while Vida Blue finished with a four-hitter for his 18th victory.

Yankees 4, Red Sox 2
Rick Dempsey, Rick Bladt and Fred Stanley, the tail znd of the New York batting order, keyed the Yankees' 14-hit attack against Roger Moret and Dick Pole. Doc Medich blanked the Red Sox for six innings, survived a Boston rally in the seventh and needed help from Tippy Martinez in the eighth. Stanley collected three hits while Dempsey, Bladt, Walt Williams and Roy White had two apiece and Bladt, Stanley, Dempsey and Sandy Alomar delivered run-scoring hits.

Twins 5, Rangers 4
Phil Roof hit a solo home run and a two-run single to lead the Twins over the Rangers and Ferguson Jenkins. Roof tied the score 1-1 with his sixth homer of the year. The Twins took a 2-1 lead in the fifth on a single by Lyman Bostock, an error and a single by Rod Carew and chased Jenkins with three runs in the sixth after the Rangers' mound ace bobbled a grounder to start the inning.

Tigers 5, Brewers 4
Bill Freehan poked a 3-0 pitch for a run-scoring single to cap a four-run rally against four Milwaukee pitchers in the seventh inning.

Giles Sounds Call To Change Format Of Open

By MARSHALL JOHNSON
AP Sports Writer
RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Ever since the young collegians began to dominate the amateur scene, the U. S. Golf Association has found itself caught in a crossfire between those who favor medal play over match play to determine the national championship.

With its 75th tournament now history, the USGA is faced with the prospect many national class players — including Vinny Giles of Richmond, the 1972 champion and this year's British Amateur winner — may start their own national stroke play championship. Giles said today in an interview with the Richmond Times-Dispatch he discussed the possibility of such an event with a number of top players during the tournament which ended Sunday over the James River course of the Country Club of Virginia.

The title was won by Fred Ridley, a 23-year-old Stetson University law student from Winter Haven, Fla., with a 2-up victory in the 36-hole final over Keith Ferguson, a 21-year-old two-time University of Houston All-American. "Now, I have no reason to knock Fred Ridley. He is the man of the hour. Anybody who wins it deserves it. I want to make that very clear to everybody," said Giles.

But he added that Ridley was "close to 30 over par for the tournament. At stroke play, not only do I know 30 over doesn't win it, it doesn't even finish in the top 10."

To win the championship, Ridley had to beat two other All-Americans, Curtis Strange and Andy Bean, on his way to the finals, but Giles said, "He caught every one of them on bad days."

Of the proposed new tournament, Giles — who serves as business manager for several pro golfers — said: "There are a lot of difficulties involved, not the least of which is getting people who would be willing to run it. "We'd have to have people in different regions to run regional qualifying, and we'd have to have a full-time guy to serve as tournament director. We'd have to find the courses for the qualifying and the tournament itself and do all the other things that a tournament of this nature would require."

Giles said: "Match play has a lot of plusses, but one of them is not to determine the national championship."

Evert Overwhelming Favorite On Clay At U. S. Open Tourney

By KAROL STONGER
AP Sports Writer
FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP) — What do you say after you say Chris won?
That Connors won, too, which he did. That Ashe and Laver didn't, which is the way it went. But Wendy Overton, Miss Evert's 81st straight victim on clay, said it best: "It's like giving the title to Christ."

"I go out there and have fun you gotta love it. But Chris is just so steady, mentally tough on clay, that's all." Miss Evert is such an overwhelming favorite to win the U. S. Open Tennis Championships that, if this were Wimbledon, where there is legal betting, no one would make book on her. She hasn't lost on clay since Evonne Goolagong beat her 6-2, 7-5 in the final of the Western Clay Courts in Cincinnati in 1973.

Miss Overton, all dolled up in green and gold brocade for a center court crowd of 8,187 Monday night, looked as though she were having anything but fun. She won only 16 points, five of them in the first set, in Miss Evert's 6-0, 6-1 romp into the quarter-finals.

Defending champion Jimmy Connors had fun, though, in his match with Harold Solomon hat began when Connors was 22 and ended when he was 23. The duel, with Connors the aggressor, actually lasted three hours, but it was past midnight, and Connors' birthday, before he downed Solomon, the No. 13 seed, 6-4, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3 when Solomon double-faulted at match point.

The triumph by Connors came as predicted although two other youngsters prevailed over older, more seasoned grass court specialists. Eddie Dibbs, a three-time All-America at Miami University whose forte is clay, toppled fourth-seeded Arthur Ashe 6-4, 6-2, 6-3, and Bjorn Borg, the teen-ager from Sweden seeded No. 5, overpowered ninth-seeded Rod Laver of Australia 6-1, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2.

In a match of unseeded players, Andrew Pattison, 26, of Rhodesia ousted 35-year-old Bob Hewitt of South Africa 6-4, 6-2, 1-6, 6-2. Joining Miss Evert in the quarter-finals were Kerry Melville Reid, Kazuko Sawamatsu, Katja Ebbinghaus and two seeded players — No. 2 Virginia Wade and No. 4 Evonne Goolagong — Mrs. Reid, a 24-year-old Australian, downed her Boston Lobsters partner in World Team Tennis, Greer Stevens, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4. Miss Stevens, 18, of South Africa, is a former top gymnast in her country and a corner on the tennis court. Miss Sawamatsu, 24, of Japan, downed another South African, 19-year-old Linky Boshoff, 6-2, 7-6, and Miss Ebbinghaus, 26, of West Germany, overpowered Pam Teeguarden of Los Angeles 6-0, 6-3.

Beth Norton, 18, the U. S. junior champion from Fairfield, Conn., kept the older and more experienced Miss Wade on the run throughout their match before the British vicar's daughter downed the Connecticut judge's daughter 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

And Evonne Goolagong, ebullient as ever, eliminated Calerie Ziegenfuss of Mission Viejo, Calif., 6-3, 6-2.

Biggest Story At Auburn Is Retirement Of Coach

By ED SHEARER
AP Sports Writer
AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — The biggest story in Auburn football this year is the retirement of Coach Ralph "Shug" Jordan. It's been widely publicized that Auburn is the most likely team to challenge favored Alabama for the Southeastern Conference championship. It also has been known for some time that the gentleman coach is stepping down after this, his 25th season.

And, just as he has conducted himself during a long career in Southern football, the soft-spoken Jordan would just as soon everyone forget his retirement and get on with the business of playing football. "We have not played on the emotions of our football team," he said. "Some of the players say they are going to make a great effort but I'd like to know how they could give us more effort than they have."

"I'd like to see my retirement in the context of being just as normal as blueberry pie," he added. "I'm trying to keep it real low key as far as I'm concerned." Jordan doesn't even want to worry much about new National Collegiate Athletic Association rules limiting dressout squads at games to 48 on the road and 60 at home. "I have decided there's nothing I can do about all these things," he said. "So we might as well get our mind on Memphis State and Baylor and Tennessee and not worry about the Jordan's 24-year record of 172-77-5 makes him the third winningest active coach in the nation. Despite a tough schedule that includes seven games on the road, he should build on that mark this year. Auburn's problems are on defense where eight starters graduated and another was lost to injury during spring practice. However, the Tigers traditionally field strong defensive teams.

Jordan acknowledges that because of a lack of experience on defense, it will be up to the offense to shoulder much of the load in the early games. "Most of the key offensive personnel return, including the backfield of quarterback Phil Garcia, fullback Sedrick McIntyre and tailback Rick Neel. The other three returning starters are linemen — tackles Dave Ostrowski and Chuck Fletcher and guard Lynn Johnson.

The Tigers open Jordan's final season here Sept. 13 against Memphis State.

Gibson Has His Day Of Honor

For 65 minutes Monday afternoon in St. Louis, they honored a man who has given 17 years of his life to the St. Louis Cardinals. It was Bob Gibson Day and a crowd of over 50,000 was on hand in Busch Memorial Stadium.

It wasn't a happy occasion. It was sad. It reminded me of the poem "To an Athlete Dying Young." I suppose every Cardinal fan feels like they know Gibson personally. And in a way, I guess we do. We've learned what the man was like on the inside. We've seen the raw courage coming from his famed right arm.

Never will I forget the night in the 1971 season that Bob Gibson was struck by a batted ball. It hit him in the leg and he went down. But he came back up and continued to pitch until he walked the next batter. Then he collapsed on the mound, with a broken leg. If every athlete today had the courage and gave the effort that Bob Gibson gave in every game he played, professional sports would be much more respected.

Remember the no-hitter against Pittsburgh? I cried that night because I was so happy. Or the time Gibby struck out 17 Tigers in the World Series in 1968, the year he won the Cy Young Award with an unheard-of ERA of 1.12.

Or in 1964 when the Cardinals and Phillies were battling to see who wouldn't win the pennant. The Cardinals were playing the lowly Mets and were tied with the Phillies who were trying every way in the world to give the Cardinals the pennant.

On a Friday night, Gibson lost 1-0 to the Mets and Al Jackson. The Phils lost Friday night to the Pirates. On Saturday, the Cardinals lost 15-5 to the Mets and the Phils lost again. Then came Sunday. And with one day's rest, Gibson walked out to the mound and beat the Mets. The Phillies lost again and the Cardinals had won the pennant. Once in the seventh inning, Gibson fell off the mound from exhaustion. I wasn't quite 13-years-old then but I learned a lesson from Gibson even at that young age. And that was to give everything you have, no matter whether it be sports or not. The long and brilliant career of number 45 is about over. But the inspiration he gave us will be long remembered.

Win Meals At Rudy's

We'll be starting back today with the contest for the free meal at Rudy's. Because of about 14 dozen different reasons, I haven't had the contest in some time. And since we've been on the subject of Bob Gibson, we'll have one of those Cardinal questions:

"In his 17 years with the Cardinals, Gibson has lost three times in one season to only one pitcher. Who was the pitcher that beat Gibson three times in one year?" There will be two free meals up for grabs this time. If you think you have the answer, call at 5 p.m. Wednesday at 753-6977. The value of the free meal at Rudy's is $2.50.

Heath Tough

Who would have guessed Heath would have upset Mayfield Friday night? Quite a few folks.

Mayfield was ranked second in the Class AA poll and it just goes to point out you can't rely on high school polls.

Dave Celaya of the Murray Ledger & Times went to the game and said that Heath (a 27-24 winner over Mayfield) just might be the top club in the area this year. Murray High will get its first test Friday at Reidland. The Greyhounds opened their campaign this past weekend by romping Marshall County 22-0. So we are about ready to settle down and begin watching what could be one of the best years ever for football in this area.

Major Change In Vandy Football Is Size Of Crowds For Games

By ED SHEARER
AP Sports Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — All-Southeastern Conference tight end Barry Burton has seen a major change at Vanderbilt, sparked by the Commodores' rise to a 7-3-2 record last year and an appearance in the Peach Bowl.

The change is in the crowd at Vandy games.

"I can remember when a Vanderbilt game used to be a social function," Burton told the touring Southeastern Conference Skywriters.

"The good loyal people didn't know how to yell because they hadn't done it in 15 years," Burton said.

Now Vanderbilt crowds are reacting like others in the football crazy SEC. Sections of the stadium here are developing their own personality — yelling from start to finish and proudly wearing shirts on which is printed "N Section" etc.

New Coach Fred Pancoast is caught up in it too.

"They (players) do feel it (crowd reaction) and respond to the environment," Pancoast said.

Pancoast is the third coach for the seniors on this Vanderbilt team, who were recruited under Bill Pace and built into a bowl team by popular Steve Sloan, who left shortly after a 6-6 tie with Texas Tech in the Peach Bowl to take the coaching job at Tech.

Pancoast, who was head coach at Memphis State and has served as an assistant at Florida and Georgia, jumped at the chance to return to the SEC.

He said the Vanderbilt situation "was a lot better than I expected. I had been on the other side and had gained opinions. But this is a unique situation. They feel they can play."

There are some quality players here. Fred Fisher is an outstanding quarterback who has been slowed by a series of injuries.

Lonnie Sadler and Adolph Groves give the Commodores a pair of outstanding runners, accounting for almost 1000 yards last year when graduated Jamie O'Rourke was almost matching that figure.

Jay Chesley, another All-SEC star, ranks among the top strong safeties in the nation. Dennis Harrison is a 225-pound sophomore destined for stardom at defensive end. Tom Galbierz is a steady nose guard.

Pancoast says the "feeling here is so good, not one of those things, hopefully, that happens every 20 years. We want to have two good years in a row."

Vandy is picked to finish in the second division this year, but could build a creditable record against nonconference competition.

YOU WON'T LIFT HIM OFF HIS FEET—No matter how hard Greg Garland pushes with his neck and shoulders, he isn't going to lift Tim Garland, the Tigers' 230-pound candidate for defensive tackle, off the ground.

Gibson, Seaver And Jones Had Big Days

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Tom Seaver, Bob Gibson and Randy Jones: three outstanding pitchers at contrasting points in their careers.

Jones is at the beginning, on the rise, just starting to realize the wonders he is capable of working; Seaver is at the peak, a star shining brightest; Gibson is nearing the conclusion, one who has been to the top and still retains a touch of the class which carried him to greatness.

All three had big days Monday:

—Seaver blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates on four hits, struck out 10 and set a major league record with his eighth consecutive season with 200 or more strikeouts in pitching the New York Mets to a 3-0 triumph, becoming the first 20-game winner in the National League.

—Gibson, who will be retiring at the end of this season at age 39, was honored by a sellout crowd at Busch Stadium in St. Louis on "Bob Gibson Day" and heard salutes from Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and Cards chairman August A. Busch and a telegram praising his career from President Ford.

—Jones scattered nine hits and raised his record to 18-9 by hurling the San Diego Padres to a 2-1 decision over the Cincinnati Reds.

Elsewhere in the National League, Philadelphia nipped Philadelphia 6-5, Los Angeles beat San Francisco 3-1 and Houston topped Atlanta 5-3.

Seaver needed just 95 pitches — "or maybe an all-time low for me" — to stop the hard-hitting Pirates and raise his record to 20-7, joining Baltimore's Jim Palmer with 20 wins. The shutout lowered his earned run average to 2.07, best among major league starting pitchers.

When Seaver blazed a fastball past Manny Sanguillen in the seventh inning it marked the eighth consecutive year he has fanned 200 or more batters, a feat never before accomplished.

Rube Waddell and Walter Johnson had seven consecutive 200-plus years.

The victory, Seaver's sixth in a row, lifted the Mets to within four games of the first-place Pirates in the four-team NL East dogfight. St. Louis is three games out, the Phils tied with the Mets at four.

Cards 6, Cubs 3

Lou Brock drilled three singles, stole three bases and scored twice to pace the Cards' victory. He now has 52 steals, the 11th straight year he has had 50 or more.

But the day belonged to Gibson, whose uniform was retired in pre-game ceremonies.

"It's both a sad day and a proud day," said Busch. "A sad day because it marks the end of one of the greatest baseball careers of all time. But it's a proud day to say, 'Bob Gibson, you have done a great job.'"

Padres 2, Reds 1

Randy Jones scattered nine hits to post his 18th victory of the season. Dave Winfield was San Diego's batting star with three hits and two runs scored.

Expos 6, Phils 5

Tim Lincecum drilled a tie-breaking double with two out in the ninth inning and scored the winning tally on a single by relief pitcher Dale Murray as the Expos handed Philadelphia its third loss in a row in a nationally televised game.

Dodgers 3, Giants 1

Right-hander Burt Hooton, 14-9, stopped the Giants on six hits for his eighth consecutive victory. Lee Lacy drove in a pair of runs and scored the other for Los Angeles.

Astros 5, Braves 3

Cesar Cedeno's two-run double in the fourth inning helped Houston to victory as starter Doug Koenig, 6-12, gained his first victory since July 30 with relief help from Dave Roberts and Joe Niekro.

Oklahoma Not Taking Much Faith In Polls

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — The Oklahoma Sooners are more blasé — or more realistic — this year about being the preseason choice as the nation's top college football team, and Coach Barry Switzer isn't sure they even deserve it.

"The cats around here don't think about it so much any more," said All-American halfback Joe Washington. "It's the final outcome after all that blood and sweat and tears that counts."

Washington pointedly noted that the Sooners were No. 1 in last year's preseason poll, too — and lost the slot after a relatively narrow victory over Southwest Conference champion Baylor.

This year the Sooners racked up 54 first-place votes and 1,184 points from the sports writers and sportscasters who make up The Associated Press board.

The board voted Alabama second, including one first-place vote; Michigan, also with one first-place vote, third, and Ohio State, with three votes for No. 1, fourth. Southern California was picked fifth; Penn State, with one first-place vote, sixth; Nebraska seventh; Auburn eighth; Texas A&M ninth, and Notre Dame 10th.

The second top 10 positions went to Texas, Michigan State, North Carolina State, UCLA, Florida, Arizona, Maryland, Tennessee, Arkansas and Stanford.

Switzer was more concerned with the three meager points on the scoreboard after Saturday's scrimmage than with the top heavy vote.

"We're not deserving today. We're not ready to play by any means," said Switzer, whose record in two years as a head coach is blemished only by a tie with Southern California.

He was obviously upset with Saturday's practice and said the team would work every day this week instead of tapering off, as he had planned.

Don Iverson Scores His First Major Win, Takes B.C. Open

By MARVIN R. PIKE
AP Sports Writer

ENDICOTT, N. Y. (AP) — It was cool and damp, but Don Iverson was sweating.

He stood at the 18th green Monday, his first Professional Golfers Association victory within reach. But there were two players strolling up the 18th fairway with a chance to tie Iverson and force a playoff for the $35,000 B.C. Open prize in the $175,000 B.C. Open golf tournament.

Australian David Graham missed his 20-foot birdie putt and Jim Colbert, who hit his second shot into the rough right of the green, settled for a par.

Iverson, 29, of LaCrosse, Wis., had won.

He toured the 6,815-yard, par-71, EnJolie Golf Club course in 68 for a 10-under par 274.

"At no time did I know how I stood," Iverson said after pocketing the $35,000 check. "I didn't want to look at the boards."

He admitted glancing at one midway in his round and perspiration formed on his brow. Several players were then eight under par.

"I really didn't want to look. I never won a golf tournament before, so I told myself not to worry about what someone else was doing."

Iverson collected five birdies and bogied two holes. Three of his sub-par holes came in a row, the 10th, 11th and 12th. Following a 13th hole bogey, Iverson parred in and began the wait.

As Graham was about to putt at the 18th, host pro and defending champion Richie Karl moved behind Iverson.

"Richie was trying to cover my eyes when Graham was over the last putt," Iverson said.

"Heck, I wanted to look."

Colbert and Graham, who shared second place with 275s, each carded 68s. They were followed by Terry Diehl, who had a 66 for 276.

Hubert Green, the 1973 B.C. Open Champion who failed to make the cut last year, was bracketed with Jerry McGee and Jim Wiechers at 277. McGee had a 66 and Green and Wiechers 67 each.

Butch Baird, who led after the second and third rounds and teed off nine under par, blew to 74 and was at 278 with Sam Snead, who came in with a 67.

Karl, who beat Bruce Crampton on a playoff last year, finished at 72-287.

Don Menne, 33, of Lawrence, Mass., having a bad year after winning the 1974 Kemper Open in his fifth season on the tour, scored a hole in one on the 200-yard seventh hole. Had he aceed the 17th, he could have driven home in a new sports car donated by a sponsor.

Winds And Sun To Meet In WFL Game Saturday

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Winds, who have lost four of their five World Football League games including last Saturday's loss to Memphis, come up against another toughie Saturday — the Southern California Sun.

The Sun, meantime, is coming off last Friday night's 58-39 rout of Philadelphia and leads the Western Division with a 4-1 record.

Memphis, the Eastern Division leader with a 3-1 mark, stopped Chicago last Saturday as Ed Marshall caught three touchdown passes — two from Danny White and one from John Huarte. Jim Klick added a four-yard TD run and ran for an action point before a Memphis crowd of 21,515.

In last Saturday's other games, San Antonio belted Portland 22-0; Charlotte stopped Jacksonville 33-14 and Birmingham upended Shreveport 21-8.

John Walton passed for two touchdowns and Jim Strong and Bill Sadler each surpassed 100 yards on the ground for San Antonio, 4-2, over Portland, 1-4 before a crowd of 12,197 at San Antonio.

Tom Sherman hit on nine of 11 throws for 119 yards in powering visiting Charlotte, 2-2, over the Jacksonville, 2-2, with 16,428 fans on hand.

Quarterback Matthew Reed guided Birmingham, 3-2, over Shreveport, 2-3, in a game witnessed by 18,700 fans at Birmingham.

In addition to the Winds hosting Southern California next Saturday, Hawaii is at Memphis; Philadelphia visits Charlotte; Jacksonville goes to Shreveport and Birmingham is at Portland.

NEW YORK — Religion in the United States remains fragmented despite many mergers and the ecumenical advances of the last decade.

It also offers something for everyone, from the person seeking a philosophy of life free of ritual to the most zealous fundamentalist. There are the simplicity of Quakerism, the pomp of Roman Catholicism and Eastern Orthodoxy and the enthusiasm of tongue-speaking sects.

In Europe, an Italian may be safely assumed to be Catholic, while a West German is likely to be Lutheran and a Scotsman a Presbyterian.

Not so in the United States, where people are part of a religious as well as ethnic melting pot, whether Protestant, Roman Catholic, Jewish, Buddhist, Moslem or adhering to another of the hundreds of organizations labeled "religious."

Even in the mainstream Protestant denominations, diversity prevails. While the Southern Baptist Convention remains the largest Protestant body, with more than 12 million members, there are nearly 30 other Baptist groups. They range from the sizable American Baptist Churches in the U.S.A., created in the Baptist split over slavery before the Civil War, to such small and relatively unknown bodies as Two-Seed-In-The-Spirit Predestinarian Baptists and the Duck River (and Kindred) Associations of Baptists.

Likewise, the United Methodist Church, the second largest denomination, represents but one of the 19 Methodist groups, some of them with substantial memberships. And the Presbyterians and Lutherans are also made up of a number of separate entities.

Within the American main-line bodies, principally the Baptist and Methodist, racial segregation accounts for much of the fragmentation, with the number of organizations made up largely of blacks who have not yet won equal acceptance in larger white groups.

The fragmentation of American religion is highlighted in the new edition, the sixth, of the "Handbook of Denominations in the United States," compiled by Frank S. Mead, an editor and well-known church historian.

This what's what of American religion is being distributed by the Abingdon Press, publishing house of the United Methodist Church.

Mead has presented more than a catalog. He also provides considerable basic information about each group, ranging from Adventists to the Wesleyan church, with such bodies as the House of David and the Pillar of Fire.

With 5,000 members, 60 branches and four radio outlets across the country, the Pillar of Fire Church is the outgrowth of evangelistic efforts of Mrs. Alma White, wife of a Methodist minister, who broke with main-line Protestantism in 1901. Although small, the church is vocal, reaching widely through the publication of a considerable body of literature and through graduates of a college, several preparatory schools and a Bible seminary. To Pillar of Fire adherents, the Bible is to be taken literally, and they are convinced that Christ will return to reign 1,000 years on earth.

COTTAGE CHEESE

When I was a boy on our Minnesota farm, mother used to let skim milk sour and then hang the curds up in a cheesecloth bag and let them drain into the sink. I vividly remember helping her pour the soured milk through a sieve and then putting the curds in the cheesecloth to hang overnight. In the morning she would mash the curds into smaller curds and add some whole milk or cream and salt to taste.

We did this with extra milk we couldn't otherwise use, or sometimes just because we wanted cottage cheese.

ONE OF the great things about cottage cheese, besides its good taste, is its high protein content. Another is the fact that it is low in calories. One-half cup of cottage cheese (uncreamed) contains only 98 calories. Creamed cottage cheese has 120 calories to the half cup (4 oz.).

Creamed cottage cheese offers about 15 grams of protein, uncreamed about 19 grams, almost twice as much as a glass of milk and equal to the protein in a 2 oz. serving of tuna fish, fried chicken, or lean meat. Or three medium-sized eggs, or two slices (2 oz.) of cheddar cheese.

Today, according to a recent survey, big-city people, small families and West Coast residents eat the most cottage cheese. A switch from my Minnesota farm days is that people in cities of more than a million population eat more creamed cottage cheese than other people.

FAMILIES with one or two members buy more than four times as much cottage cheese per capita as do larger families with six or more members.

This is too bad, because the relative inexpensiveness of cottage cheese could benefit the larger families, especially. But older people understand this, for purchases of cottage cheese increase as consumers get older.

SOME OF cottage cheese's nutritional virtues are: 1) it is a convenience food, ready-to-serve; 2) it's easily digested, whatever your age; 3) it shouldn't be regarded as a substitute for milk as some of milk's calcium is lost in the making process, but cottage cheese is a marvelous substitute for meat, fish or poultry. It's great with fruit, with baked potato, as a snack by itself. In fact, its uses are almost endless.

Louis Weber inspects Paris Landing Coast Guardmen after he assumed the command of the unit Thursday from retiring George Todd, following Weber down the line. Todd retires after 30 years in the Coast Guard and Navy. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Claude Todd, whose family farm is now the Coast Guard station site. Weber is from Key West, Fla., and has been in the Coast Guard more than 23 years. He and his family will move to Murray, Ky. The Paris Landing Coast Guard unit is responsible for all of the Tennessee and Cumberland rivers, their tributaries and 50 miles of the Ohio River. Serving under the Paris command are stations in Sheffield, Ala., and Chattanooga.

Something For Everyone In Church Melting Pot

HOLLYWOOD — David Wayne, versatile veteran of Hollywood and Broadway, sat on the edge of the NBC-TV "Ellery Queen" set in a ballroom of the Biltmore Hotel and remembered Marilyn Monroe.

In the "Ellery Queen" action, Farley Granger was having a little trouble adjusting his stride to Joan Collins' lines, so the director was calling for repeated takes.

He wanted Farley to reach a certain spot just as Joan finished a certain sentence, so the timing was tricky, and the stars had to go through their paces several times before they were letter-perfect. Which reminded Wayne, Ellery Queen's father in the series, of MM.

"What was the greatest number of takes you ever did for a single scene?" he was asked.

"That was with Marilyn in 'How to Marry a Millionaire,'" Wayne answered without having to stop and think about it for a minute. "We went 28 takes."

"This was the first picture ever completed in Cinemascope. I think 'The Robe' was the first released, but this was the first completed, so they were still experimenting a lot with the lenses. And, because of the lens, in the plane scene that I did with Marilyn, they couldn't break away. They had to keep everyone in place. All the extras, everybody."

"And it became incredibly hot because of the technicolor lights."

"Marilyn blew take after take after take. But eventually we got her on the 28th take."

"I'll never forget that, because it was just heartbreaking — so rough — so rough on everybody."

"Later I told Billy Wilder about this, and Billy said when they were doing 'Some Like It Hot' they went to 38 takes."

"He said, 'So I took Marilyn over to the side, and I said, 'Marilyn, don't worry.' And she said, 'Worry about what?' 'Had Marilyn lived.' Wayne speculated, 'I doubt that she'd be working much, because she couldn't have done television. She would have cost too much.'"

"However, there was something about her which had nothing to do with talent that made the public like her, something in her face."

"Not intelligence, but a vulnerability."

"It's hard for me to judge her potential, because Marilyn was very inexperienced when we worked together."

On the other hand, Wayne was thoroughly experienced when he was cast in "How to Marry a Millionaire."

He made his first professional appearance in "As You Like It" with the Globe Players at the 1936 Cleveland Exposition, and three years later he played his first substantial Broadway part in "The American Way."

Following a tour of duty in the U.S. Army, Wayne starred in the Broadway musicals "Park Avenue" and "Finian's Rainbow" and for the latter won a Tony Award.

He was Ens. Pulver in Broadway's "Mister Roberts," he won his second Tony for "Teahouse of the August Moon" and he starred in Arthur Miller's "Incident at Vichy" and Eugene O'Neill's "Marco's Millions," to cite only a sampling of his Broadway accomplishments.

Periodically interrupting his Broadway career with

Hollywood stints, he's made a number of pictures in addition to "How to Marry a Millionaire," among them "Adam's Rib," "The Tender Trap" and "The Front Page."

Wayne, married to the former Jane Gordon, has two nonidentical twin daughters, Melinda and Susan.

His only son died in a boating accident several years ago and his body was never recovered.

The Waynes have a home in Connecticut, which they rent when he's working in another location. Last year, they rented it to the Robert Redford family.

Ford's Benton Sees Car Sale Upsurge

INDIANAPOLIS — Bill Benton sat at the edge of the Indy 500 Speedway and insisted the U.S. automobile industry isn't dead in the water as some folks keep saying.

In his Dearborn, Mich., office Bill is William P. Benton, Ford Motor Co. vice president and Ford Division general manager. But out here, where there is a gathering of the speedsters once a year, he is an industrial maverick who believes the American wage earner should be able to buy the kind of car he wants, not what the government tells him to buy.

Some of the shenanigans going on in Congress both puzzle and disturb Bill Benton.

Here to preside over a covey of newsmen as they drove Mercury Bobcats around the two-and-a-half-mile speedway course in fuel economy runs, the Ford executive had some pungent remarks about what's going on atop Capitol Hill.

For one thing, Benton disagrees with moves in Congress to push through a regressive tax based on the weight, size, exhaust emission levels or gasoline mileage of cars.

Moreover, he can't abide by the so-called "two-car" strategy suggested by Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, which would limit automobile production to two models — one an urban or city-driving car, the other a larger auto for everybody else who drives.

"It's simply not fair to penalize a big car owner with regressive taxes," Benton says. "A man with a big family needs a large car."

"So does a salesman who must carry his materials and equipment around with him as part of his business."

"The salesman can't support his family with a small car. It's as simple as that."

As for the Muskie proposal, Benton says "that gets away from the American tradition of letting the car buyer choose what he wants to drive."

That's like having the experts in Washington tell people they can have only two house sizes to live in — big or small.

Or like telling the ladies they can have either a green dress or a white dress, but no other color.

"What it amounts to is the government telling people how they should live."

"I don't think we're in such a condition in this country that the government should dictate our life-styles to us."

We think we (in the industry) have more expertise than Washington."

Benton, of course, recognizes that the small, high fuel economy car has moved upstage since the Arab oil embargo and the resultant energy crunch. The Bobcat is one of Ford's answers to the growing demand for gas-sipping autos.

"But people still are going to buy what they need," he insists. "They're not going to drive around in a four-passenger car with four kids."

"Assuming they will get reasonable mileage, they are going to buy standard-sized cars for their families, if not luxury automobiles."

While he believes the Muskie proposal goes too far, Benton concedes the industry will turn out fewer car models in the next 10 years compared to the last decade.

"Yet there will be enough models to meet the desires of all the buyers," he adds.

But what if gasoline prices climb to a dollar a gallon?

"I can't see a dollar a gallon," Benton replies. "Prices might go as high as 75 cents a gallon if the President imposes the third tariff dollar on a barrel of imported oil." (He already has decreed a $2 per barrel tariff.)

W. S. McConnor, president of the Union 76 Division of the Union Oil Co. of California, agrees with Benton. Both point to the dollar-a-loaf bread price which never materialized to refute dollar-a-gallon speculation.

But gas prices never will slide back, Benton believes. "The Arabs have had a taste of high prices and they won't back down," he says.

For all his rebel ways, Bill Benton is bullish on the auto industry's future.

"We were headed for a 12-million-car-sales year by 1976-77 until emission controls, the recession and the oil embargo came along," he recalls.

"That trend was broken, but consumer confidence is returning now. Improved car sales reflect that growing confidence. They're moving up from last November's low annual sales rate of about 4.9 million cars to more than eight million now. By the fourth quarter we think the annual sales rate will be better than nine million."

The U.S. record is 11.4 million new car sales in 1973.

"I think we can hit the 12 million or 13 million mark by the late 1970s or early 1980s," Benton says. "Cars are still a helluva good value when you think of what you get."

LET'S TALK ABOUT NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

This series of columns is prepared by the advertising staff of The Murray Ledger & Times. Left to right are Barbara Alexander, advertising manager; and Frank Gonzales and Debra Miller, sales people. Contact any one of them at 753-1919 for assistance with your advertising program.

SHOULD YOU PREPARE YOUR OWN ADS OR SEEK HELP?

Everyone who has been in business for a few years should have learned many valuable lessons about preparing his own newspaper advertising, if he has done much advertising during his business life. This is probably the reason for the old adage which states that everyone is his own favorite ad writer.

It is certainly true that experience is the best teacher, but where advertising dollars are concerned, unless you have "hit on" an advertising approach that works 90% of the time to your advantage, you are taking a definite gamble if you don't seek the advice and counsel of your newspaper advertising representative. Here are a few good reasons why this is fact:

1. Your newspaper rep is not just a salesman. He has serviced many accounts and knows from past experience the type of advertising that "works", and, of course, the kind that does not prove resultful.
2. Your own advertising experience, though it may involve years in your business, is limited only to the results obtained through your own trial and error. For example, jewelers, druggists and bankers may know all there is to know about their businesses, but it is only logic to submit to the possibility that they may be experts in all aspects of business. If this were not true there would be no need to have specialists such as accountants, corporate attorneys, quality controllers, etc.
3. If you are a "lone wolf" when it comes to preparing your advertising, the chances are you will make mistakes that will lose business you could have had by simply getting and using an experienced advertising man's opinion. If you are going to spend money for advertising why not get as much results as possible? What difference does it make who came up with the "good ideas" as long as you get good results?

There are advertisers who will not take suggestions for improvement of their ads, but these are the same people you'll find crying the blues about insufficient results from their advertising. If you enjoy creating your own ads, fine, do it! But, don't shut yourself off from the benefits that are attainable by having another opinion before your ads go to press. Especially the opinion of your newspaper advertising representative.

Remember, there are thousands of professional advertising and copywriting men in the world, and even they, the pros that are supposed to know everything about advertising, NEVER place an ad in a newspaper or other media without consulting other men and women in the field. Two heads are still better than one!

If you are a businessman who has help from suppliers, in the preparation of advertising layouts, you are indeed fortunate. A supplier providing you with professionally prepared ads, pre-tested for positive results, is performing a very worthwhile service, even if you must pay a small fee for it. If you doubt this, ask an independent advertising preparation service what they would charge for the creation of just ONE ad; you will be convinced!

Is working with an advertising agency a good idea? Absolutely, if your budget is big enough to interest an agency. Most agencies work on a 15% commission which is paid them in the form of a discount from the media in which they place your advertising. So, except for special service charges such as artwork, photography, supplies, etc., the service costs you nothing, and you have the distinct advantage of having highly experienced advertising personnel create for your approval all of your ads. Of course, care in selecting an agency should be exercised by talking to other clients of the agency to evaluate service, whether they meet their deadlines on time, pay their bills on time, and, above all, whether their advertising gets results.

For the smaller businessman not large enough to be attractive to an agency, and not large enough to maintain a full time advertising manager, your best "bargain" is your newspaper's advertising representative. He'll serve you well if you let him and your advertising will be far more resultful with his guidance than without it!

Grand Jury To Begin Probe Into Disappearance Of Ex-Labor Boss

DETROIT (AP) — A federal grand jury launches a probe today into the disappearance of ex-Teamsters union boss Jimmy Hoffa. U. S. Atty. Ralph Guy said he hopes to unravel the mystery by taking testimony from more than 70 subpoenaed witnesses.

Guy said the grand jury's work initially will be to investigate rather than to collect evidence for indictments.

Meanwhile, the FBI will attempt to maintain custody of an auto which agents believe may hold a clue to Hoffa's July 30 disappearance. The car belongs to Joseph Giacalone, son of reputed Mafia figure Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone.

A hearing on the car controversy is scheduled before U. S. District Judge Robert DeMascio.

The auto was being driven by Hoffa's foster son, Charles L. "Chuckie" O'Brien, on the day Hoffa vanished.

O'Brien is scheduled to testify Wednesday before the grand jury. Hoffa dropped from sight after leaving for a luncheon appointment at which he told his family he was to meet with the elder Giacalone at the Red Fox Restaurant in suburban Bloomfield Township.

Giacalone, however, denied that he planned to meet Hoffa.

O'Brien said that, by coincidence, he was driving young Giacalone's car in the vicinity of the restaurant on the day Hoffa was last seen.

Officials familiar with the probe confirmed last week that three tracking dogs detected Hoffa's scent in the back seat and trunk.

But O'Brien said it was "ludicrous" to suggest Hoffa was in the car with him the day Hoffa disappeared. O'Brien said he borrowed Giacalone's auto to deliver a fish to a

Israeli-Egyptian Pact Goes To Parties Today

JERUSALEM (AP) — The new Israeli-Egyptian agreement for a second Israeli withdrawal in the Sinai Desert went before Israel's political parties today for its test.

The Knesset, Israel's parliament, was expected to take up the agreement Wednesday after the parties determined their positions. Statements from political leaders before conclusion of the negotiations indicated it would be approved by a narrow majority.

Israel and Egypt initiated the new agreement in Jerusalem and Alexandria Monday after a 12-day diplomatic shuttle by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who left Egypt today for Saudi Arabia.

If the Knesset approves the accord, Israeli and Egyptian delegates will meet in Geneva to sign the accord, probably Thursday, Israeli officials said. They said they were correcting an earlier statement that the agreement would be signed in Israel and Egypt without a direct meeting.

Meanwhile, the Ford administration opened a campaign to win approval of the agreement by the U. S. Congress. This is needed because the pact provides for the stationing of some 200 American civilians at electronic surveillance stations between the two armies.

President Ford said if the agreement collapsed because Congress would not authorize the American presence, the result would be "turmoil, increased tension and obviously a greater chance for war."

Although Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and some other influential members oppose the American involvement, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has said he expects congressional approval.

Israel and Egypt initiated the new agreement in Jerusalem and Alexandria Monday after a 12-day diplomatic shuttle by Kissinger. If the Knesset approves it, the two governments are expected to sign it in Geneva several days later.

In addition to the Israeli troop withdrawal and return of the Abu Rudeis oilfields to Egypt, the pact commits the two longtime enemies to refrain from the "threat or use of force" against each other. Kissinger said he hoped "the implementation of this agreement and the documents that we have initiated today will be remembered as that point where peace at last began in the Middle East."

Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin admitted that there were risks for Israel in the accord. But he said these had to be taken to move toward peace, and the agreement could "open a new chapter in relations" with Egypt and in the Middle East.

"I think the agreement... marks a turning point in the Arab-Israeli conflict,"

President Anwar Sadat said at the ceremony in Alexandria.

President Ford telephoned Kissinger and Rabin in Jerusalem and Sadat in Egypt. "You can count on us to continue to stand with you," he told the Israeli leader. "You can rest assured that we will work with you to make sure that the agreement is carried out, not only in spirit but in letter."

"We will not tolerate stagnation or stalemate," Ford told the Egyptian president. "You have my assurance that we will keep the momentum going."

Ford congratulated Kissinger on a "great achievement, certainly one of the most historic of this decade if not the century."

In the accord, Egypt and Israel acknowledge that "it is not a final peace agreement" and pledge to continue seeking peace in accordance with U. N. Security Council resolutions.

The terms call for Israel to vacate 1,900 square miles of desert, 1,520 of it to the U. N. Emergency Force for a new buffer zone between the two armies. This zone includes the Gidi and Mitla passes, the traditional invasion route through the Sinai mountains.

Egypt will take over the old U. N. zone just east of the Suez Canal as well as the oilfields on the east coast of the Gulf of Suez and an access corridor along the coast to them.
