Special Session May Include ERA And No-Fault Law

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Don't be surprised if the special legislative session next fall is expanded to include—yes, the Equal Rights amendment—and no-fault automobile insurance.

Judging from Gov. Julian Carroll's remarks over the weekend, those subjects may be added to the three already scheduled—mine safety, Louisville sewer problems and implementation of more of the judicial article.

Carroll said: —If a constitutional majority of the legislature notifies him formally it is ready to vote to rescind the 1972 assembly's approval of ERA he will put the issue on the agenda.

—If a new study shows that insurance premium rates have risen "substantially" under Kentucky's new no-fault law he will throw in that topic, too.

The anti-ERA movement, which took up an inordinate amount of time in the past regular session, has been prematurely buried a number of times.

Certainly it did irrevocably when Anti-ERA forces in the final hours could not push through repeal, right?

So it seemed, until the governor all but issued an invitation to the anti-ERA forces Friday night on the Kentucky Educational Television network to try once more by petitioning him through the legislature.

The anti-ERA women, who are especially powerful in Western Kentucky, are not likely to let this golden opportunity pass.

Legislators all over the state, many of whom quake at the thought of another ERA ordeal, will be under pressure to sign for repeal.

One catch is the constitutional majority condition—in other words, 51 House members and 20 senators.

The ERA rescission measure passed the House 57-40, but died in a Senate committee.

Through parliamentary maneuvering it reached the House again and but for the last-minute deluge of legislation, might have succeeded—with the Senate quite possibly going along.

Now the wheels are grinding again, and Carroll can expect during the summer, if not sooner, to hear from the legislative branch.

The no-fault issue is more subtle. Opponents of the system are making an end run instead of a head-on attack.

Under no-fault, a policyholder's company pays for injuries regardless of who was negligent in a traffic accident, and the policyholder in turn waives or limits his right to sue the other party.

No-fault began last summer and, sure enough, rates have been rising considerably.

But Insurance Commissioner Harold McGuffey said premiums were going up anyway and he believes they would have increased even more without no-fault.

A legislative Research Commission study is expected to reveal the actual trend.

"I have no intention of letting the insurance companies deceive the consumers of this state," the governor said. "If there is a savings (under no-fault) the people have a right to know."

Opponents of no-fault tried to destroy it with a bill that would have wrecked

Truckers Return To Roads Today

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) — Teamsters union truck drivers returned to the roads today, but trucking industry leaders say the settlement that ended their three-day nationwide strike is going to cost the public money.

The agreement, reached Saturday night, now goes to the rank-and-file for ratification. It was recommended unanimously by union negotiators. A simple majority is needed for approval, a Teamsters spokesman said, and results of the mail balloting will be available in two to three weeks.

Meanwhile, officials at union locals throughout the country reported their members returning to work. Plans by General Motors Corp. and other auto manufacturers to shut down several plants today if the strike continued were canceled, although one GM plant will remain closed because of a shortage of parts.

The settlement, reached after nearly four months of negotiations between industry officials and union leaders, was "in the best interests of the nation," said Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery Jr.

But Usery declined to say whether the agreement would have an inflationary impact on the nation's economy. He did say it would affect upcoming contract talks in the rubber, auto manufacturing, electrical appliance and construction industries.

Some trucking employers were unhappy with what they viewed as an inflationary settlement. John Murphy, chairman of Gateway Transportation Co., one of the nation's largest carriers, said the industry would seek rate increases from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In Charlotte, N.C., W.L. Nahrgang, president of Johnson Motor Lines which operates 73 terminals in 21 states, said wage and benefits hikes in the contract must "be passed along to the public."

The tentative settlement contained nearly all the economic terms union negotiators sought and reportedly included new stipulations for three days' sick leave, air conditioned trucks by 1978 and separate rooms for long-haul drivers.

There were these other developments on the labor front:

In San Francisco, it was another day of hitchhiking, bicycling and walking for residents and tourists today with no word of progress on the municipal workers' strike now six days old.

"I just don't have good news for the people of the city," Mayor George Moscone said after the latest negotiating session broke up early this morning.

Talks were scheduled to resume later today, and 10 strike leaders who have been served with court orders declaring the strike illegal were slated to appear in court today.

The strike by 1,900 city craft workers over a proposed pay cut has shut down the municipal transportation system and some other city operations.

The main issue is $5.7 million in pay cuts which the board of supervisors said were mandated by voters last November when an old pay formula, which gave the craft workers parity with their counterparts in private industry, was repealed.

Under the new system, carpenters' wages would be cut from $21,800 a year to $17,240; electricians' wages from $21,620 to $16,620 and streetsweepers' pay from $17,300 to between $12,000 and $14,000.

Local Youth Is Reported Missing Here

City Police are still investigating a report on a missing 13-year old girl, last seen Saturday night.

Officers said Sue Hodge, 13 years old, 828 South Fourth, was last seen Saturday night and is still reported as missing.

The youth is described as 5 feet, six inches, 128 pounds, brown hair and blue eyes. Persons having information on the youth should call Murray Police at 753-1621.

Eighth, Danny Lamb and Roger Guthrie, Seventh.

The preliminary round of the tournament consisted of tests on vocabulary, comprehension and reference skills. The top five students in each grade were then given an additional test to determine the top three winners in each grade. The tests were prepared and administered by Dr. Yancy Watkins and Dr. Larry Saloman from Murray State University, Division of Reading and Gigi Dawson, Trigg County.

Registration of approximately 150 students, parents, teachers and administrators, during which time coffee, cokes and donuts were served, preceded the tournament. Following the tournament, lunch was served to all those attending.

A tournament of this type is to encourage and promote better reading habits for all students and to recognize those students who excel in the ability to read, said Principal Cothran.

Final Revolutionary War History Symposium Slated

The eighth and final of a series of major symposiums dealing with America's Revolutionary War history and held periodically at Murray State University for the past four years will be conducted at the University tomorrow, beginning at 2 p.m.

Two lectures by nationally-recognized historians are scheduled for the day, while U. S. Senator George McGovern (D., South Dakota), the Democratic nominee for President in 1972, will speak on the campus Saturday, April 10, to officially conclude the series.

Speaking at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the University School auditorium will be Dr. Hugh F. Rankin, professor of history at Tulane University, speaking on "The American Soldier in the Revolution."

At 7:30 p. m., Dr. John R. Howe, professor of history at the University of Minnesota, will speak on "The American Revolution: A Useable Past."

Senator McGovern will speak following an outdoor luncheon, beginning at 12:30 p. m., in the campus quadrangle area and to which the public is invited. The luncheon tickets are $5.00 each, and in the event of rain, the luncheon will be held at Winslow Cafeteria.

The senator's appearance is being sponsored jointly by the Departments of History and Political Science and the Student Activities Board.

The symposium, like the seven earlier ones, has been designed to help junior high, high school, community college and college-level history teachers prepare for more meaningful teaching of the Revolutionary War era during 1976-83, America's bicentennial celebration period.

Controversial Subjects Up For Debate Before Senate This Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two of the most controversial subjects before the Congress this year are up for formal debate this week in the Senate.

Debate was scheduled to begin today on a 43-provision compromise measure drafted by the Senate Agriculture Committee to overhaul the food stamp program.

And, on Thursday, the Senate Budget Committee will call up its initial resolution on federal spending for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1.

That resolution would limit actual spending to $412.6 billion. Revenues are calculated at $362.4 billion. That would mean a budget deficit of $50.2 billion.

President Ford's updated budget proposal calls for $16.8 billion less spending and anticipates a deficit of $44.6 billion and revenues of $351.3 billion.

The House, meanwhile, was expected to approve Ford's request for an emergency $135-million program to immunize Americans against a possible outbreak of a virulent form of influenza. The funds would provide vaccine for 200 million persons.

Conferees from the two chambers also are expected to go to work during the week on a compromise version of legislation to reconstitute the Federal Election Commission, made powerless by a Supreme Court decision. That is necessary to resume the flow of public funds to presidential candidates.

Under the new budget-making process, both the House and Senate must pass identical budget resolutions by May 15. Those would constitute spending targets over-all and for the 17 categories of programs. Four months later, similar resolutions will set binding lids on spending.

Money is one of three fundamental areas involved in the food-stamp debate. The other two concern the philosophical questions of who the government should help with grocery bills and how, and the more politically tinged arguments about the nature and operation of the program day by day.

Over the weekend, Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., ranking GOP member of the Agriculture Committee that prepared the pending bill, said that he and two other key members of the panel had been working privately all week on a compromise approach to avoid a prolonged floor fight between conservatives and liberals. But the compromise was "not even near," those involved said Sunday night.

The major provision of the bill would eliminate coverage for families with incomes after taxes that are more than $100 a month above the official nonfarm poverty lines.

No major votes were expected on the bill today, because both Dole and Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., another member of the committee, were out of town.

The Calloway County High School Speech Team took fourth place in the 56th annual Kentucky High School Speech Tournament in Lexington over the weekend. The speech team is coached by Larry England.

Catholics Endorse The Living Will

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR READERS: As I have stated in a previous column, I have signed The Living Will. It is simply a document that a person signs stating that he does not want to have his life prolonged artificially after his physician decides that there is no reasonable hope for recovery. I have given copies of this document to my physician, lawyer, clergyman and to members of my family.
On February 23rd I published the official Jewish view on the right to die with dignity submitted by Rabbi Bernard S. Raskas. On March 15th I published a statement from the Rev. Norman Vincent Peale concerning the Protestant view. The following letter was received from the Most Rev. Fulton J. Sheen:
My dear Abby:
What a joy it was to hear from you, having not had the pleasure of seeing you for such a long while!
In answer to your question, "What is the official Catholic view on the right to die with dignity?" it is not necessary to use extraordinary, artificial means to keep a person alive. Wishing you every blessing, and with the warmest of personal greetings, I am,
Sincerely yours in our Lord,
FULTON J. SHEEN

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and considered very pretty. I am going steady with a great guy who is 32. We really love each other, and he wants to marry me. The problem is, he is very bald and my mother told me that bald men are always unfaithful to their wives.
HEIDI

DEAR HEIDI: If you love him—marry him. Most bald men started fooling around when they HAD hair.

When it came time for the bride to throw her bouquet, the photographer lined up all the bridesmaids for a picture of the memorable moment. Well, the bride threw her bouquet directly to her younger sister (the maid of honor), and dumb me reached in front of her and intercepted it! Everyone was horrified—especially the bride and her sister.
I suppose I should have known better, but I honestly did it without thinking.
Abby, if the bride wants a certain person to have the bouquet, why bother telling it? Why not just hand it to her?
I've been severely criticized for what I did, but I honestly did it without thinking. Was I wrong?
SORRY IN ALABAMA

DEAR SORRY: Forget it. You acted on impulse.

DEAR ABBY: I have a suggestion for the mother of that nut who is suing her for $100,000 for his circumcision. She should countersue for back womb rent.

An enjoyable musical program was presented by Dan McDaniel and a group of his students from Calloway County High School at the annual potluck luncheon held by the Home Department of the Murray Woman's Club on Thursday, March 18, at 6 p.m. at the club house.

The group sang a number of songs in keeping with the Bicentennial theme including several of Stephen Collins Foster's well known compositions as well as one number selected from the Old Southern Harmony songs, typical of the ones sung in the Song Fest given each year at Benton. Their program was well received and enjoyed by the club.

The devotion was given by Mrs. Alfred Taylor. It was based on readings from the book of Psalms. She also read a poem titled "All This, And Heaven, Too."

Mrs. Irma LaFollette, president of the Murray

Woman's Club, gave a report on a state meeting she attended recently in which discussions were held in regard to the Kentucky Women's Clubs participation in a fund raising campaign to help keep the Kentucky Educational Television programs on the air for another year.

Several names were tabled to be voted on for membership in the department. Voting on these names will take place at the next regular meeting on Thursday, April 15, according to Mrs. Carl Harrison, chairman of the department.

Hostesses were Mesdames Fil Boston, Nix Crawford, Quinton Gibson, Ray Buckingham, and K. T. Crawford.

Bridge Winners Listed By Club

Last Wednesday night's bridge players saw the team of Maurice Humphrey and Patty Windrum Quinn breeze into first place at the Murray Open Duplicate Bridge Club's weekly meeting.

Bob and Ruth Howard were right behind them, and as the last scores of the evening came in it was anybody's game. Patty and Maurice, however, maintained their slight lead to take the top honors. The Murray Open Duplicate Bridge Club meets every Wednesday evening in Gleason Hall at St. Leo's Church on N. 12th St. Doors open at 6:30 and play begins at 7:00. All bridge players are welcome at this unrestricted, non-profit club.

By MRS. W. P. WILLIAMS

The time of the year just ahead of us is a paradise for those who love to arrange flowers. The new green of the shrubbery provides ample background for all bouquets. The spirea, forsythia and japonica give the needed color, and with daffodils and tulips there is variety. Dogwood is lovely now, and azaleas can make one of the prettiest arrangements imaginable.

Weigelia is showing its color and most of the Viburnums are ready to bloom. So there is no lack of variety for color or texture among the spring blossoms.

Therefore it is a good time to check over your containers. Clean them up, shine them up, and get them ready to be filled with the beauty of your yard. If some of your vases, especially glass ones, have become stained with constant use, try mixing a little vinegar with your cleansing water. It will help to cut the incrustation where water has stood and where stems of flowers have stained the glass.

The stores are full of dainty small containers to be used as miniatures. Fill these with violets, pansies and any of the small blossoms that abound just now.

Get a tall container to make a vertical arrangement, or a low one for a crescent. I will reprint a chart of basic shapes of flower arranging in the near future, so you can have them to copy. Then try to make some of the harder designs. It is in striving to do something hard that we are able to learn. Our first attempt may be rather crude, but if we keep trying, we find it becomes easier and the result becomes more pleasing.

Sometimes all an arrangement needs is to be placed on a base to lift it up a bit. I remember a friend who had several bases made from cross sections of a piece of a tree. The slabs were planed, smoothed, painted or varnished, with the bark left on and were beautiful. She had them in varying sizes and they were quite a help to the overall appearance of the arrangement.

Be sure your flowers are anchored securely to the container. A frog of sufficient size can be fastened to the bottom of the vase or bowl with mortite. I have seen bouquets that looked as if they might topple forward or sideways any minute. A little forethought can assure you that your arrangement can be carried to church or to a garden club meeting with safety.

You can still set out plants, azaleas, evergreens or almost anything. Easter is still three weeks away, so I am waiting until then to set out annuals, just to be on the safe side. They are so reasonable in price and so easy to plant, so let's plant lavishly and turn the bare spots into a gardener's dream.

Don't forget to set out something you never planted before.

SPECIAL PINEAPPLE

Add two tablespoons vinegar, one tablespoon soy sauce and a dash of liquid red pepper seasoning to an undrained one pound 4 ounce can pineapple slices. Chill several hours or overnight. Use as a spiced fruit accompaniment for salads, fish, poultry or meat platters.

Mrs. Katherine Chrisman Gives Program For The Mason Circle

The Mason Circle of Mason's Chapel United Methodist Church held its March meeting in the home of Mrs. Coleen Linn, president, who presided over a short business session.

Mrs. Renee Linn, vice-president, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Katherine Chrisman, who gave a short devotion and then led a discussion on "Faith." She had illustrations and examples of various people displaying faith.

After the program Mrs. Coleen Linn presented Mrs. Chrisman with a set of glasses.

Refreshments were served to nine persons. Others present, not already mentioned, were Mrs. Sherla Underwood, Mrs. Brenda Owen, Mrs. Sharon Myatt, Mrs. Sheila Tidwell, Mrs. Sherry Goughly, and Mrs. Kay Lowe.

ADD CHEESE

Let cheese give new life to your menus as a welcome ingredient in vegetable and meat dishes! When cheese melts and blends with other ingredients, these dishes come alive with color and flavor. How about adding cubes of Cheddar cheese to hamburgers and chili, cubes of Swiss cheese to potato salad and shredded Cheddar cheese to cooked broccoli or cauliflower?

Ford's New Intelligence Set-Up

The new intelligence set-up announced by President Ford seems designed to do two things which are patently essential:

1. Preserve a meaningful intelligence apparatus without which the security of the nation would be jeopardized.

2. Provide safeguards against abuses which would diminish the personal freedom and privacy of American citizens and against violence to the persons of foreign officials in time of peace.

But the plan outlined by Mr. Ford is not perfect.

For example, he could not answer to the complete satisfaction at least of the inquirer what can what can be done to keep people within the new intelligence community from abusing "secret" and "confidential" classifications to hide their misjudgments.

It is now generally conceded that such misjudgments were the root of the problems which have beset the Central Intelligence Agency and kindred entities.

But no intelligence set-up can be perfect. The American people will have to trust the president, as the one who has final responsibility and accountability, as well as the "oversight" panel which Mr. Ford has appointed.

Real reforms, however, require that Congress place trust in the chief executive and his appointees. Further, as Mr. Ford said, Congress must clean its own house so that there will be no more leaks of data which are justifiably classified as secret.

A final judgment as to the full worth of Mr. Ford's plan will have to await details of the legislation he is proposing and of the disposition Congress makes of his proposals.

Meanwhile, the intelligence reorganization outlined by Mr. Ford has got to be considered a major step in the right direction.

Sensing The News

By ANTHONY HARRIGAN Executive Vice President United States Industrial Council

TODAY'S TOPIC: SHAREHOLDERS ADVOCATE

The more than 25 million Americans who own shares in business have a difficult time getting their views heard in Washington. Politicians pay scant attention to these owners of business, and the other millions who own corporate bonds, insurance, or real estate, because the property owners are not organized.

Efforts are under way, however, to organize those millions who have invested their savings in thousands of companies nationwide. One of these efforts is the Stockholder Advocate Association, P. O. Box 999, Charleston, S. C. 29402.

Henry L. Scott, head of the Stockholder Advocate Organization, recently addressed a civic club on the subject of shareholder rights and their aims. He made these telling points:

"The wealth of this great land is generated by its productive heart. It comes from those who invent, create, discover, employ, heal, and build. These were the priceless ingredients which went into the creation of the moral system yet devised by man—the free enterprise system.

"If you are a shareholder, you are a part owner of the private productive might of America and have a vital stake in its future. You have a right to the opportunity for gain. When politicians speak scornfully about 'Big Business,' they are speaking scornfully about you and me. We did not invest our savings to have them dissipated by the ravages of politicians or bureaucrats who usurp our inalienable right to a fair return as owners.

"We shareholders who own most of private enterprise are being robbed of our life savings by the mismanagement, malpractices, and deadly offenses of bureaucrats. But even worse, every American citizen is being subjected to subtle forms of larceny and death by ruthless regulators.

"When thieves break in and rob your home this is a criminal offense. What was it when the Interstate Commerce Commission regulated 60 per cent of our Eastern railroads into bankruptcy, confiscating the hard earned savings of countless frugal Americans? These investors placed their savings in the safe keeping of these companies only to have them regulated out of business by bureaucrats. The I. C. C. and its officers were neither held liable nor brought to justice, and the government laughed all the way to the bankruptcies.

"We see the same pattern emerging in the airlines. More than one half million Americans who own these companies have invested their savings in the managements of these concerns. The C.A.B. and its commissioners have usurped the prerogatives of management, failed to meet their own meager guidelines for profits in 14 of the past 15 years, brought at least three airlines to the brink of bankruptcy, and seriously injured the rest. How much longer will we permit these people to set themselves above the laws of the land? What liability have Congressmen who witness this and do nothing?"

These comments by Henry L. Scott clearly indicate that he is an articulate advocate for a very large group of forgotten Americans—those who are shareholders in productive enterprises. These Americans should be encouraged to organize and to speak out on the issues affecting productive citizens. Their views are entitled to consideration because they have a tremendous stake in America.

Eye Tumor Treated without Surgery

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Nonsurgical techniques are now being used to treat certain eye tumors (retinoblastomas) successfully with preservation of useful vision. These tumors formerly required enucleation of the eyeball, with all the associated effects of the complete loss of the eye. Sometimes the malignancies appear in each eye, and the treatment leads to complete blindness.

Eye tumors are on the increase for some unexplained reason, and the present incidence is estimated at one of these tumors is 18,000 births. These retinal malignancies develop most often in children, especially during the first two years of life. This cancer arises in the cells of the retina, usually in the back portion of the inside of the eye, though the tumor may extend forward into the front of the eyeball. Some cases occur in families with a tendency above average to have this tumor. A retinoblastoma in the second eye of the same person appears more often in cases which occur in these families. However, most cases arise sporadically in the general population.

The new nonsurgical treatment is radiation. It is controlled in amount to kill out the cancer cells but directed so it will not damage unaffected parts of the eye—such as the lens, which is shielded.

This radiation therapy, reported in a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, was carried out by a team of physicians, headed by Radiation Therapist Homayoun Shidnia, M.D., at the Indiana University School of Medicine.

The team has treated 28 cases of retinoblastoma since 1967. All cases survived. Of the 28 patients, 24 retained useful vision, according to the report of this work. Unfortunately 17 of these patients had advanced lesions which required removal of the affected eye. The remaining 11 patients received medication along with other forms of nonsurgical therapy. In 10 of them, the tumors were successfully controlled; the 11th had a recurrence and eventually required surgery.

These results point up the advantage of early diagnosis of an eye tumor. These earlier cases have a better outlook for control and cure by nonsurgical measures and a better chance of preservation of useful vision.

These benefits gain even more significance since most of the cases occur in children who otherwise have a long life expectancy. Having vision makes a great difference in the quality of their lives and in their chances for gainful employment.

Q Mrs. T.G. wants to know whether a young woman who has had kidney failure, followed by a successful kidney transplant, can tolerate a pregnancy.

A A few women have had a pregnancy after a kidney transplant; however, pregnancy places added burdens on the kidneys. Pregnancy in such cases will almost always carry risks above normal. The tolerance of a pregnancy by a woman who has had a successful transplant must be individually evaluated by a physician who is familiar with her case.

Q Mr. M.S. asks for an estimate of amounts saved in educating and training a mildly to moderately retarded person.

A According to the President's Committee on Mental Retardation, the economic impact is significant and favorable. The earnings of a mildly retarded individual can amount to more than 12 times the cost of his training. In addition, the quality of his living is improved.

The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

Heartline: I have heard that President Ford made some new proposals for the Medicare program concerning coverage in a hospital. Can you tell me something about this?—T.F.R.

Answer: The proposal by President Ford would place a $500 limit on the amount of money any Medicare patient would have to pay for covered hospital services in any year. This proposal would protect the elderly against the cost of a long "catastrophic" illness better than the present Medicare program. Yet it would require Medicare patients to pay more money for short term hospital stays.

Under the President's new proposal, a Medicare patient pays the first $104 and then 10 per cent of actual hospital charges until the patient has paid $500. This proposal would remove all limits on the use of hospital and skilled nursing home services.

Under the present Medicare plan a patient pays the first $104 and then nothing out of his own pocket through the 60th day. From the 61st day to the 90th day a patient must pay $26 a day. If a patient requires more than 90 days care, he or she may then use their 60-day lifetime reserve. During this 60-day period a patient must pay $52 per day. Once the patient uses any day of his or her lifetime reserve, it is shortened by the number of days used.

In comparing the new proposals against the present program, a Medicare patient will pay less money out of his own pocket under the present program until he has been in the hospital at least 75 days. For long, drawn-out illnesses which would require a hospital stay in excess of 75 days, the President's new proposal offers more protection.

For a 10-day stay in the hospital, the present Medicare program would require the patient to pay only $104 while the President's proposal would require the patient to pay $104 plus 10 per cent of the actual hospital charges every day after the first day.

In short, the President's new proposal on Medicare hospital insurance will protect the elderly much better if they are unlucky enough to need long extended hospital care. However, it is not nearly as protective for the person who goes into the hospital for a very short stay.

Racer Women Netters Win Weekend Tourney

By Patsy J. Beauchamp
Ledger & Times Sports Writer

It only takes one point to win. Anybody will tell you that. Especially Coach Nita Head and the Murray State women's tennis team.

In Murray State's first major tournament victory, the lady netters edged Kentucky Intercollegiate champion Western Kentucky University by one point 66-65, to capture the University of Tennessee-Martin Invitational Tennis Tournament held this weekend.

Western won five of seven singles positions while Murray won the other two positions.

Murray's Weis and Spellman captured the number two slot, defeating Western's Johnson and Langridge 4-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Felicia Pinner Stars In Weekend Track Meet

Led by the outstanding performances of sophomore sprinter Felicia Pinner, the Calloway County girls' track team placed sixth out of a field of 11 at the Paducah Tilghman Invitational Saturday.

Tilghman won the meet with 72 points while Owensboro Apollo was second with 47½. Other team scores were: Henderson County 36; Owensboro Senior 28, Cape Central 21, Calloway County 14½, Mounds Meridian 6, Providence 6, Daviess County 5, Charleston, Mo., 3, and Marshall County 1.

Pinner, who finished second last year in the 440-yard dabs in the State Meet, won the 440 at Tilghman Saturday with an outstanding 60.9.

In the preliminaries, she was clocked in 59.2, which betters the track record.

Pinner was second in the 220 with a 26.2, finishing behind freshman sensation Lynn Maxwell of Tilghman, who was clocked in 25.7. Maxwell could well wind up running for the United States Olympic team.

The Lakers girls took fourth in two relay races. In the 880-relay, Calloway was fourth with a 1:54.9 as Clara Cole, Diana Lawrence, Donna Adams and Ellen Mahan ran legs. In the 380-medley relay, the Lakers were fourth in 2:02.3 with Cole, Lawrence, Sandy Bibb and Mahan running the legs.

The only other place for the Lakers came in the 100-yard dash where Cole recorded a 12.5 for fifth place.

The regular season will open for the Laker girls and boys Tuesday when they are at Mayfield for a triangular meet with the hosts and Heath.

A STEP BEHIND—Sylvester Onyekwe of the Racers hands the baton off to Dennis Mabbitt for the third leg of the mile relay. Mabbitt was behind when he took the baton but wound up ahead after his quarter-mile sprint and then Bert Jacobs anchored the team to a win.

Geiberger Disappoints Fans By Taking Tourney

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — "I knew I was in trouble on the eighth hole," a weary Al Geiberger said. "When I missed the green, the gallery cheered."

"It was a stampede," his pretty wife, Lynn, said. "I couldn't see anything. After a while I just came in and watched on TV."

"The way the gallery was acting, I felt like I was one shot behind instead of one ahead," Geiberger said. "I had to stop and have a little talk with myself, say, 'Hey, you're one in front with four to play; just go on and take it home.'"

He did. It was a disappointment to the jostling, unruly, beer-drinking, loudly pro-Lee Trevino gallery, but Geiberger brought home a two-stroke victory Sunday in the Greater Greensboro Open.

He turned back the bid of Trevino with a two-iron shot that missed by a couple of inches of being a hole in one.

"Wouldn't that have been something?" Lynn asked. "If he'd made it, they wouldn't have been able to talk for a month. I know the gallery is always for the underdog and that Lee is a real personality, but this was a little much."

"That's golf," the quiet Geiberger said, then flashed a gentle, shy, boyish smile. "I had some fans out there. They were the quiet ones. His were the noisy ones."

The noisy ones were all but silenced by the magnificent shot on the 217-yard, par-three 18th hole. Geiberger had a one-stroke lead at that point, and on-rushing Trevino having chopped four shots off his once-commanding lead, and was making a determined charge.

The ball trickled past the cup, a couple of inches to the right, and stopped a few feet away. Trevino had to work hard to save par and Geiberger rolled in the birdie putt. It put him two in front with two holes to play and it was all but over.

"Lee really put a round to me," said the skinny, 38-year-old veteran who turned his career around 18 months ago with a victory in the Sahara Open. "I'm real proud of the way I made the clutch putts."

Geiberger had a three-under-par 68 and a 72-hole total of 268, matching the best of the year on the pro tour and 16-under-par on the hilly, pine-covered Sedgfield Country Club course.

Trevino started the final round five shots back, moved to within one, but couldn't get closer over the last few holes. He had a six-under-par 65 and a 270 total, his best performance of the year.

Veteran Miller Barber took third place with a 67 and a 271 total. Rookie George Burns, a new father, and U.S. Open champion Lou Graham were at 273. Graham had a 67, Burns a 66. Tom Weiskopf, the 1975 Greensboro champion, Eddie Pearce and Bob Menne finished at 274. Pearce had a 65, Menne and Weiskopf 69s.

The victory was worth $46,000 from the total purse of $230,000 to Geiberger and pushed his earnings for the year to $68,084.

Watts Named Head Coach At Fulton County

Stan Watts, who holds the record for the longest field goal in Murray State football history, is going home.

Watts, a graduate of Fulton County High School, has been hired as head football coach to replace Jim Whitby who resigned as football coach at Fulton County.

The announcement was made today by Fulton County superintendent Harold Garrison.

Watts, whose last year at Murray was the 1971 season, once kicked a 58-yard field goal against Western Kentucky.

Racer Tracksters Are Third In Triangular

Southern Illinois University, ranked as the 12th best track team in the nation, proved worthy of its lofty position Saturday as the Salukis romped to first place in a triangular meet in Stewart Stadium.

The Salukis amassed 90 points while Western Kentucky was a distant second with 54 and host Murray State was last with 34 points.

Murray's lone win came in the 220-yard dash where Bert Jacobs won with a 21.4, easily winning over second-place Winston Brown of Western who crossed in 21.8.

Lester Flax ran a 48.9 and was third in the 440-yard dash. Martyn Brewer of the Racers was third in the mile-run with a 4:12.2. Tony Staynings of Western won the mile in 4:06.9.

In the three-mile run, Brian Rutter was fourth with a 14:31.7. Western's Chris Ridler destroyed the field, winning in 13:38.5.

In the field events, Patmore Chatham was second in the long jump with a 24-0½ while in the triple jump, Murray got two places. Chatham was second with an effort of 49-3 while Kevin Caines was third with a 48-3½.

The Racer track team will be at the Dogwood Relays in Knoxville this weekend.

Murray also won both relay races. The 440-relay team of Stanford Patrick, Jacobs, Norman Simms and Patmore Chatham won in 41.6 while the mile-relay team of Sylvester Onyekwe, Dennis Mabbitt, Lester Flax and Jacobs won in 3:13.6.

Jacobs lost in the 100-yard dash. Mike Kee of SIU recorded a 9.5 to win while Jacobs was second in 9.6 while Patrick was third in the same time.

Lester Flax ran a 48.9 and was third in the 440-yard dash. Martyn Brewer of the Racers was third in the mile-run with a 4:12.2.

Tony Staynings of Western won the mile in 4:06.9.

But Tom Lie, Del Purcell and Jeff Leeper all lost their singles matches in straight sets then all three doubles teams lost for the Racers.

On Friday, Murray lost 7-2 to Indiana State with Owen at number two and Purcell at number four getting the lone wins.

Horsma, at number one, fell 3-6, 6-2 and 5-7 to Curt Williams of the Sycamores.

Owen won 5-7, 6-1 and 6-3 over Bill James while Purcell won 6-1 and 6-2 over Greg Griffey.

Also on Friday, the Racers trounced Illinois State 7-2. Horsma won in straight sets at number one, Owen won at number two, Westfall at four and Leeper at six. In the doubles, Murray had a sweep.

On Saturday, Murray lost 5-4 to Miami of Ohio. Horsma, Owen, and Purcell all won singles matches. The only doubles win for Murray came at number three where Lie and Leeper won in split sets.

Murray salvaged a win before leaving for home as the Racers defeated Bradley 6-3 Saturday.

Horsma, Owen, Purcell and Leeper all won singles matches while Horsma-Owen and Lie-Leeper won in the doubles.

The Racers are at Bowling Green Tuesday for a dual match with powerful Western Kentucky.

Griffith, Turner Head AP's All-State Team

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Darrell Griffith, whose 24-point a game scoring average wasn't enough to help Louisville Male repeat as state champions, still garnered enough votes to grab the top spot on The Associated Press High School All-State basketball team.

The first team, selected by sports writers and broadcasters across Kentucky, also included high-scoring Tim Stephens of McCreary County; Bobby Turner, Griffith's teammate at Louisville Male; Lexington Bryan Station's Anthony Jackson; and Vince Chambers of Shelby County.

Durand Macklin of Louisville Shawnee headed the second team, which also included 6-foot-11 Tom Wendt of Owensboro Apollo; Curtis Parker of Christian County; Jeff Lamp of Louisville Ballard; and Mike Deaton of Green County.

Griffith averaged 24.3 points and 13.8 rebounds a game his senior year, capping a career in which he scored 2,187 points. At least one national magazine has called Griffith the best high school player in the country and college recruiters, judging by the line at his door, must think he's something special.

It has been all but conceded for the past two seasons that Griffith and Turner would enroll at the University of Louisville, although neither has yet signed a letter of intent. Stephens, the slim sharpshooter who averaged 35.6 points this season, wasted little time after a brief state tournament appearance in signing with the University of Kentucky. Stephens made no secret of the fact that he wanted to play at Kentucky and even turned down trips to other schools.

Stephens completed his career, which included 3,200 points, with a brilliant 32-point effort in a 75-60 loss to Paducah Tilghman in a first round game of the state tournament.

Turner, somewhat overshadowed by Griffith — in conversation, it's always "Griffith and Turner" — collected 2,030 career points and averaged 24 points and 14 rebounds a game as a senior. Perhaps indicative of his ability, Turner's individual scoring high of 40 points was accomplished against Richmond Madison when Griffith was sidelined with an ankle injury.

Jackson averaged 22 points, seven rebounds and six assists a game for Bryan Station, which missed out on a trip to the state tournament by losing to Lexington Henry Clay in district play. Jackson was at his best against Henry Clay, averaging 27.8 in four games this year.

Chambers, the outside shooting member of a brother combination, led Shelby County into the state tournament and showed the crowds there that he is as good as his press clippings. He scored 28 against Owensboro Apollo, 24 against Paducah Tilghman and 18 in a semifinal loss to eventual champion Edmondson County.

Brian Taylor Gets 40 As Nets Romp Squires

By The Associated Press
Brian Taylor, the New York Nets sure-handed guard, hasn't had much time to worry about the American Basketball Association playoffs of late.

While his teammates were busy clinching second place in the ABA, Taylor has been busy recovering from a string of misfortunes. In order, Taylor has been in a serious auto accident, had a bad case of flu and been involved in a second, less-serious, auto accident.

"I still think I'm lucky to be alive," he said.

Taylor is trying to get himself in shape for the playoffs, and who better to practice against than the hapless Virginia Squires? While Nets Coach Kevin Loughery rested his other regulars, Taylor played all but 56 seconds of Sunday's 136-103 rout of the Squires and responded with a career-high 40 points.

Elsewhere in the ABA Sunday, it was Kentucky 106, St. Louis 105 in overtime and Denver 140, Indiana 134.

The Nets sank 15 of 20 field goal attempts in the first quarter to take a 38-27 lead and then Loughery gave his starters, except for Taylor, the rest of the day off. Taylor hit eight of nine shots from the field in the second period as New York built a 73-48 advantage and then coasted home. Taylor added seven assists, five rebounds and four steals to his 40 points.

It was the 31st straight loss for the Squires on the road, an ABA record.

Western Falls Twice Saturday As Does Purdue 'Breds Win String Now 15 Games, 26-5 On Year

by MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Writer

Playing for the Murray State baseball team is fun. Just ask anybody on the club. What can be more fun than winning a double header at Western Kentucky? Or what can be more fun than winning a doubleheader from Purdue, the team that broke the 'Breds' 22-game winning streak last year?

All of the fun took place this weekend. At Bowling Green Saturday, the 'Breds won a pair from Western, winning 5-2 in the opening game while in the second contest, Mike Roberts hurled four-hit ball as Murray won 4-0.

Then on Sunday, Murray went eight innings before beating Purdue 4-3 and in the nightcap, Fritz Petersen allowed just two hits as the 'Breds stretched their winning streak to 15 games by slaming Purdue 7-0.

Murray started the season losing three of its first four games. Since then, the 'Breds have been unbeatable. They've won 25 of their last 27 contests, 15 in a row, and now sport a 26-5 mark for the season.

Perhaps the most impressive thing is that in the past six games, Murray pitching has given up only five runs.

In the first contest against Western, sophomore righthander Mark Wezet went the first five innings and gave way to Terry Brown. Wezet gave up one run and five hits in gaining his third win in four decisions.

Murray scored a single run in the first then added two in the fourth as Stan Geisler doubled home both runs.

The 'Breds added two more runs in the sixth while Western scored lone tallies in the fifth and seventh frames.

Murray came up with three runs in the top of the sixth to break a scoreless deadlock. Jack Perconte opened the inning with an infield single.

After two men were out, catcher Gene Steuber walked and Robin Courtney followed with a run-scoring single, giving the 'Breds a 1-0 lead. Terry Brown and Geisler each followed with singles, accounting for the other two runs in the inning.

Murray added a final insurance run in the seventh as Steuber had an RBI single.

In the opening game against Purdue Sunday, Greg Cruse allowed three runs in the first inning then settled down to throw shutout ball for the next seven as Murray took 4-3 win in extra innings.

Cruse, a sophomore southpaw from Goreville, Ill., had nine strikeouts in the contest but gave up seven walks.

Don Walker drew a base on balls then Gene Steuber ripped a two-run double. Courtney tied it with a single, scoring Steuber.

Brown opened the Murray half of the eighth with a single and Geisler followed with a single. Marvin Kiel grounded into a fielder's choice and that left men on at first and third.

Al Luigs walked to load the bases then on a 3-2 pitch, Perconte slammed a single into rightfield and the 'Breds had the win, raising Cruse's record to 3-1 for the season.

In the second contest Sunday, Petersen raised his season mark to 2-1 with a beautiful two-hit shutout. He walked four men while fanning two.

Murray scored three runs in the first with Don Walker's two-run shot over the 340 sign in rightcenter being the big blow. In the fourth frame, Mike Cathey had a solo shot over the fence in left.

Gullett Gets Bombed As Do Cardinals By Chisox, 18-1

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

When Houston and Cincinnati open the National League season Thursday, J.R. Richard, who was to have been on the Astros' bench, will be on the mound and Don Gullett, who was to have been on the mound, will be in the Reds' bullpen.

Those two unexpected developments came about Sunday when Richard hurled six innings of one-hit ball in the Astros' 3-0 victory over the Minnesota Twins while Gullett was bombed for nine runs and as many hits in just four innings of the Reds' 10-4 shellacking by the New York Mets.

Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson promptly ruled that Gullett, ace of the Reds' staff, would be relegated to the bullpen for at least the first week of the season, with Gary Nolan inheriting the opening day assignment.

"I have never given up that many runs, not even in a spring training game," Gullett said. "I had no rhythm. Everything was wrong. I tried to throw low and the pitch was high."

Anderson, obviously upset, said Gullett was "10 days to two weeks behind schedule" and blamed the hard-throwing left-hander for being out of shape.

"If you know it takes you longer to get ready than most guys—and Don knows it takes him longer—then you've got to start early," Anderson said.

Meanwhile, Richard, another fireballer but often a wild one, was impressing Houston Manager Bill Virdon and pitching himself to the top of the Astros' staff.

"I hadn't made up my mind until today," Virdon said after making Richard his opening day choice. "I think the main thing he's learned is to control himself. I don't know if he's throwing as hard now as he used to, but he's certainly throwing more strikes."

Buddy Bradford and Bob Coluccio homered in a seven-run sixth inning and Brian Downing connected in the eighth as the Chicago White Sox ripped the St. Louis Cardinals 16-1 behind an 18-hit assault.

The Philadelphia Phillies also rapped out 18 hits in winning a 15-9 slugfest from the Detroit Tigers. Garry Maddox belted a grand slam homer, Bobby Tolan drove in four runs with a homer and double and Mike Schmidt slammed a two-run homer.

The San Diego Padres erupted for seven runs in the fourth inning and crushed the Chicago Cubs 13-3. Fred Lynn broke out of his spring slump by driving in four runs with a homer and double as the Red Sox pounded the Pittsburgh Pirates 11-5.

Baltimore ace Jim Palmer was rocked for seven runs and 14 hits in six innings as the New York Yankees whipped the Orioles 9-3. The Kansas City Royals, who pounded out 14 runs and 19 hits Saturday, added 15 more hits and trounced the Atlanta Braves 8-3.

Cleveland's Jim Kern limited Milwaukee to one hit in six innings and the Indians beat the Brewers 4-2. Von Joshua's two-run homer off Rollie Fingers enabled San Francisco to beat the Oakland A's 5-3.

Nate Colbert's two-run homer and Pepe Mangual's three-run shot powered the Montreal Expos past the Texas Rangers 6-2. Los Angeles' sore-elbowed Tommy John permitted one run and five hits in six innings as the Dodgers and California Angels battled to a 3-3 tie before rain intervened in the 11th inning.

Washington Coach K.C. Jones remembers—and he's looking for that team again.

Washington stumbled again Sunday, losing to the New Orleans Jazz 129-125 in overtime. It was the seventh defeat in the last nine games for the stumbling Bullets, who are battling Cleveland for first place in the Central Division.

In other NBA games Sunday, Buffalo edged Boston 117-114. Detroit nipped Philadelphia 101-97, Cleveland crushed Atlanta 120-92, New York routed Kansas City 115-95, Seattle routed Phoenix 117-89 and Los Angeles unended Golden State 118-111.

Jones knows the reason for his team's slump. And it's a reason he doesn't like nor can help.

"We had a heck of a guard situation," Jones said. "Phil (Chenier) couldn't buy a hoop and Dave (Bing)'s thumb is killing him."

Bing jammed his right thumb last Wednesday night and said it has hindered his play ever since. Jimmy Jones, Washington's No. 1 backcourt reserve, has a sore knee and could play just 50 seconds Sunday.

Then there's Mike Riordan, who also can't fill in at guard. He suffered a severely sprained right ankle Sunday and is expected to miss the rest of the regular season.

High Producing Jerseys In Calloway County

Three registered Jersey cows in Calloway County, Kentucky produced over 80 pounds of milk on test day in March according to Ted Howard, County Extension Agent. The high producing cows were owned by Blalock and White, Will Ed Hendon and Teddy Potts, all of Murray. "We used to think a cow was doing an extremely good job when she produced 4 to 5 gallons per day. That's equivalent to 32 to 40 lbs. These cows are producing at twice that rate," according to Howard.

Teddy Potts' herd was top in the nation for milk and fourth for fat among Jersey herds with 50 to 74 records completed in 1975. His 65 cows averaged 13,084 lbs. milk and 621 lbs. fat.

The American Jersey Cattle Club in Columbus, Ohio reports the Jersey breed average for 1975 increased 3.1 per cent over 1974 figures. In recent years the Jersey breed has made tremendous improvement in production leading all other breeds in annual increase of milk production.

Jersey Cow Big Contributor Here

By TED HOWARD
Co. Extension Agent

The Jersey cow has contributed untold value to the development of the farming program in Calloway County and the state of Kentucky. During the 20's, 30's and even into the early 40's, almost every farm had at least one Jersey cow. She was not known particularly for her quantity of milk. Her ability to produce butter was her main reason for being on the farm.

The Dairy Program has changed during the past fifteen to twenty years as there are fewer dairy farms, as well as fewer cows. The farmers who are in the Dairy Program are larger, more efficient units. Calloway County has gone from over two-hundred Grade A farms in the mid-50's to less than fifty dairy farms today. There are twenty Jersey farms producing Grade A milk in Calloway County. This number was almost fifty-eight years ago.

The Jersey cow has had trouble adjusting to the many changes that have developed during the past few years. Calloway County Jersey farmers are doing an excellent job, as they are among the best in the United States. These dairymen have developed Jersey cows that have milk records that are leading state and national DHIA and DHIR records. Last month, three Jersey cows in Calloway County milked over eighty pounds the day the DHIA tester was on their farm weighing and collecting butterfat samples. This is a very good pace for a Jersey cow when the average cow for this breed is milking around twenty-five to twenty-eight pounds of milk with peak production of forty pounds.

These three cows were sired by the Marlu Milestone Stardom bull and they are owned by Bill Ed Hendon, Blalock and White, and Teddy Potts.

Stardom's Pat Milestone Dara 2905596, born Aug. 25, 1972, gave 83.5 lbs. of milk which was the highest of the three cows. She is owned by Teddy and Sherwood Potts. B. W. Stardom Martha 2785070 gave 80.5 pounds the day the tester was there. This cow is owned by Paul Blalock and Otley White. She is not only a good producer, but also has three daughters in their herd that are outstanding milk cows. One gave 16,990 lbs. of milk and 859 lbs. of butter fat in one year.

Milestone Jester Stardom Shelia 2554345 is the grandmother of them all. She was born Oct. 9, 1963, and she produced eighty pounds for the February test. She will be thirteen years old this fall, and this is the highest daily record for any previous record. She has been a good producing cow all her life as she has 135,040 pounds of milk and nine records that average 14,166 pounds of milk and 749 pounds of butterfat. Shelia has three sons that are being used by artificial breeding establishments. She also has an excellent type classification which is the highest given on the physical make-up of the cow.

Keith Letterman's Jersey herd has been awarded the top production in both milk and butterfat for the past two years. His top cow gave seventy-eight pounds of milk the last test day. Four Jersey herds from Calloway County were in the top ten herds in the state of Kentucky last year.

Calloway County has some outstanding Holstein herds. Record producing Holsteins will be featured in the future. There are eighteen dairy herds on DHIA test which gives us the highest percent of cows on test of any county in Kentucky. Almost forty-five percent of the dairy cows in the county are on the official DHIA test compared to only fifteen percent for the state.

Livestock Production Subject For Seminar

Dr. Bernard M. Jones, vice-president of Curtiss Breeding Service, was the guest speaker at a Faculty Seminar held in the College of Environmental Science, Murray State University, and sponsored by the Department of Agriculture, according to Dr. James T. Thompson, Chairman of the Department.

Dr. Jones explained the adaptation of scientific knowledge to practical problems in livestock production. He illustrated the improvement in livestock resulting from genetic selection and explained the contribution of superior breeds and superior individuals within the breed. He made many comments concerning super ovulation and ova transplants, also the impact they have on the livestock enterprise of our nation.

Dr. Jones explained to the group the accomplishments and what it can do for the producer through hormonal control of the estrus cycle in cattle. Other comments included the recycling and uses of animal waste.

Dr. Jones graduated with a B. S. in Agriculture from Murray State University in 1956. He completed his M.S. and Ph.D. at the University of Kentucky.

Avalanche Of Soil Samples

"It's a landslide!"

"No! It's an avalanche!"

Looking around the soil testing laboratory area in the basement of the University of Kentucky's Experiment Station Building these days, it might be a bit hard for the average person to actually understand what has happened.

The lab area is overrun with soil samples that have been sent in for testing.

It's a new record—and persons working in the lab could well have some misgivings as to whether or not an "avalanche" did occur as they look around at the piles of carton of soil waiting to be tested.

Soil tests are made to determine fertilizer and chemical needs to make fields more productive—and many home owners are now also employing the tests to help bring new beauty to their lawns.

"We're not certain exactly what is responsible for all the soil samples this year," said John S. Harrison, the soil research specialist who is in charge of the lab. "The volume of samples is at least twice the 'Normal'. We're attributing most of it to the periods of exceptionally good weather we've experienced so early in the year, the government cost-sharing program on conservation practices and the general knowledge of the availability of soil tests and the economic advantage in the proper use of fertilizers and lime."

He said county Extension agents had apparently told the story well in informing the public on the value of soil tests.

Harrison said the lab is normally busy "around this time of year" but has never experienced the numbers of soil samples received this year.

Contracts with labs in other states indicate they are experiencing much the same sort of thing, Harrison noted. "I talked to the people in Maryland—and they're real busy."

In the past three years, the lab worked on a schedule of sending out soil test reports on a time interval of no more than four or five days. "Now, it's two calendar weeks," Harrison said.

It got to the point where even department secretaries were called on to do preliminary handling of soil samples prior to the actual testing procedures. A Saturday work force was recruited in an effort to catch up. Optional tests had to be postponed since the more skilled personnel that do that testing had to center all efforts in just getting the major testing done.

"We do soil tests the year around, with the largest volume being in the late winter or early spring," Harrison said. "But, I've never seen anything like this." Where does the "dirt" go after testing? There's almost enough to establish a "baby farm" if a person had a platform big enough—but all the soil is emptied into big pails, sterilized and disposed of on the University farm.

Short Course Opens Thursday

A short course on "Home Beautification And Lawn Mower Maintenance And Care" will start Tuesday, April 6, at Calloway County High School.

Classes will be held at seven p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday nights through Tuesday, April 20. The sessions will be about 1½ hours each night, and there is no charge.

New trees, pruning of shrubs, mower care, etc., will be discussed, according to the teacher, Carmon Parks, vocational agricultural teacher at Calloway High School.

Individual Retirement Accounts Today's Plan for Tomorrow's Security

WHAT IS AN INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT?

An Individual Retirement Account (IRA) is a personal tax-sheltered retirement plan. It was developed by Congress to bring to every American worker the opportunity to build a more secure future for himself and for his family.

Corporations have long been permitted to establish retirement plans for their employees. As long as a plan met certain requirements, employer contributions to the plan were fully tax deductible. Likewise, employer contributions on behalf of an employee were not currently taxable to the employee. He was taxed on his share of the plan only when he received it.

Since 1962, tax deductions for contributions to a retirement plan have also been available to self-employed persons. In that year Congress determined that these persons, too, should be allowed a tax-sheltered method of saving for retirement. The result was H. R. -10, a law which allowed the self-employed to make tax-deductible contributions to a pension or profit-sharing plan.

While corporate and H. R.-10 plans covered a substantial portion of the working population, a large number of workers still had no tax-sheltered means by which to supplement Social Security. Recognizing that Social Security alone is inadequate, especially in times of inflation, Congress has now provided for Individual Retirement Accounts for those not covered by other plans. Amounts set aside in an IRA may be placed in a trust or custodial account with a financial institution such as ours. They may also be invested in an annuity or endowment contract, or qualified retirement bonds.

We would like the opportunity to discuss with you, first hand, how such an account might benefit you.

Department Of Interior To Open Investigation Into Mine Deaths

WHITESBURG, Ky. (AP) — The Department of the Interior was to open its investigation today into the deaths of 26 men in explosions March 9 and March 11 at a coal mine at Oven Fork in Southeastern Kentucky.

Hearings today and Tuesday at the Letcher County Courthouse will be the start of "the most thorough and comprehensive investigation in the history of mine disasters," according to Interior undersecretary Kent Frizzell.

A "high level" panel headed by Robert Barrett, head of the department's Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration — will try to find out the cause of the two explosions. It will also try to learn whether the Scotia Coal Co. operator of the mine violated mine safety laws or regulations, and how similar mine disasters can be prevented in the future.

Other panel members are Harrell N. Kirkpatrick, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals, Fred Karem, a former Louisville resident who is now deputy undersecretary of the Interior Department, and George N. McPhail, inspector of mine rescue training for the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources in Canada. Frizzell said McPhail is a leading mine-rescue expert with 29 years of experience.

More than 100 miners were working in the Scotia No. 1 Black Mountain Mine on the Tuesday afternoon when the first explosion rumbled through the passageways. Most got out safely but 15 miners were trapped more than three miles from the entrance.

Nine apparently were killed by the explosion. Six erected a makeshift shield in a side passage, but suffocated before rescue teams, working at a breakneck pace from outside, could reach them.

The bodies of the 15 were brought from the mine that Wednesday. Rescue teams continued working round-the-clock to restore the mine's ventilation and repair roof damage from the explosion so inspectors could go in to investigate.

Shortly before midnight Thursday, a second explosion ripped through the same area of the mine where the first occurred. Two men managed to get to safety, but 11—including three federal mine inspectors—were found dead by rescue teams the following day.

When the men were found dead, MESA called a halt to further operations and ordered the mine sealed. "We aren't going to risk any more lives," MESA spokesman Dick Nellius said.

Daily air samples taken through holes in the main entrance and air shaft seals now indicate that methane is building up in the mine and that a small fire may be smoldering. Officials say the mine will remain sealed until the danger of explosion is past—probably another month or two.

When it is determined that the mine is safe again, the shaft will be opened, and the investigation will resume.

When Frizzell announced the Whitesburg hearings he asked "everyone with any information that might shed light into what has happened at Scotia to come forward."

"The information that we gather in this first public hearing can be of critical use to us as we press on with our investigation," he said.

Four Killed On State Highways

By The Associated Press
At least four persons were killed in weekend traffic accidents in Kentucky, bringing the 1976 death toll to 168, state police said.

The current year's total is still well below the 204 killed on Kentucky highways through April 4, 1975.

Police said that Timothy Powell, 18, of Boone County, was killed Sunday in a crash on Ky. 20 near Hebron.

On Saturday, Josephine Spatz, 86, of Louisville, died about 30 minutes after she was struck by a vehicle while crossing Eastern Parkway. The coroner's office said she suffered head and internal injuries.

Police said that Danny Howard, 18, of Ross Point, was dead on arrival at Harlan Appalachian Regional Hospital after an accident in the Clover Lick community about four miles from Cumberland.

State Police also reported that Owen I. Taylor, 52, of Centertown, was killed in a wreck on U.S. 231 about two miles north of Hartford in Ohio County.

Watergate Movie Draws Mixed Audience Reactions

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I would have liked it better if I hadn't known the ending," joked a lawyer for one of the Watergate cover-up defendants after seeing the movie about how two reporters broke the story of the scandal.

He was part of a critical audience that gathered Sunday night for the world premiere of the film "All the President's Men." Almost everybody was an expert on the subject.

If the mysterious "Deep Throat" who guided Washington Post reporters Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward along the tortuous Watergate trail was in the audience, nobody knew it.

None of the other Nixon administration principals were there, leaving the judgment about the film to the people who know Watergate next best: the reporters who covered the story, the editors who supervised them; and the lawyers who prosecuted and defended those caught up in the scandal.

The comment about the film's ending was by William Hundley, who represented former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell in the cover-up trial. Mitchell was convicted along with other Nixon aides.

"I never knew reporters were so pretty," said Pulitzer-prize winner Seymour Hersh of the New York Times. Woodward is portrayed in the film by Robert Redford; Bernstein by Dustin Hoffman.

"This movie proves all reporters are leading men and all editors are character actors," said Martin Nolan of the Boston Globe. The $25-a-ticket, invitation-only audience of 1,190 included the real-life editors of the Washington Post who dealt with the Watergate story and the actors who portrayed them.

The film got a healthy round of applause, and a party thrown afterward by Redford was jammed. But not everyone was pleased with the movie.

A Post reporter grumbled that "the real hero of Watergate, Barry Sussman, isn't even in it." Sussman, a Post editor, worked closely with Woodward and Bernstein and fought to have their stories placed in the newspaper when senior heads resisted. His role was combined with that of another editor.

Among notables in the audience were Ethel Kennedy and three of her children; Sen. Edmund S. Muskie; Eunice Kennedy Shriver; and Margaret Truman Daniel.

The film spanned the earliest days of Watergate, from the break-in at Democratic party headquarters on June 17, 1972, through the inauguration of Richard M. Nixon to his second term on the following Jan. 20. The dramatic events that followed, up to Nixon's the system's underpinning: automatic coverage unless the policyholder projects it in writing. Carroll halted the effort and thereby bought some time to assess the situation.

In his wide-ranging hour-long comments, the governor also spent much time denouncing the Louisville Courier-Journal for allegedly unfair coverage of him. He also said:

"A federal investigation is under way involving activities of employees of the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection 'in the enforcement of state reclamation laws.'"

The governor said the information leading to the probe came from another state.

He will meet with the Council on Public Higher Education, which he has been openly criticizing, to try to get members into a "stronger oversight role" on universities and colleges.

He has ordered the Finance Department to see that work on the $64 million University of Louisville teaching hospital get back on schedule. It is five weeks behind.
