Carter Ready To 'Slug It Out' With Ford In Tonight's Debate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jimmy Carter says he's ready to slug it out with President Ford in tonight's debate on foreign and defense policies, but White House aides say Ford isn't preparing for what may be the toughest questions he'll face.

The second of the three debates between the two presidential candidates is scheduled for 9:30 p.m., EDT, at the historic Palace of Fine Arts in San Francisco. The three major commercial networks and the Public Broadcasting Service will televise the encounter. There have been suggestions that Ford may be asked during tonight's debate about the effect on African nations of the racial slur that led to Monday's resignation of his agriculture secretary, Earl Butz.

And Ford may be asked about a report by the General Accounting Office, which says 41 American lives were lost in the Mayaguez incident last year because of hasty action and poor intelligence.

Ford advisers brushed aside suggestions that the Butz affair could come up in tonight's debate, but U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations William Scranton was asked in a television interview on Sunday about Butz' comments and he said they "will hurt in the United Nations."

Ford has been unavailable for questions on the Butz matter since it became public knowledge last Friday night that Butz had made an obscene racial slur about blacks. Ford's only comments about the Butz case were on Monday when he read a prepared statement in which he regretfully accepted Butz' resignation.

Mike Duval, a White House special counsel, said Ford has been given no special briefing material on responses he could make either to questions about the Butz affair or the Mayaguez incident.

Carter, who said after the first debate that he had not been aggressive enough, said of the second encounter: "I think it will be a much more freewheeling, much more aggressive exchange."

But White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford could be inhibited by the subject of tonight's debate because his words "will be interpreted by foreign leaders as reflecting American policy."

Jim Karayn, debate project director for the sponsoring League of Women Voters, said, "I think the candidates will be looser now that they've been through it once."

Almost certain to come up in tonight's debate is the report by the General Accounting Office on the 1975 Mayaguez incident. The report, issued Tuesday, is critical of the Ford administration's handling of the incident.

Forty-one Americans were killed in the operation. While the assault was underway, the Cambodians, who had seized the Mayaguez, a merchant vessel, released its crew.

The GAO, Congress' auditing arm, said a Marine assault on an island off the coast of Cambodia was ordered despite reports from U.S. pilots that the crew of the Mayaguez was not on the island.

Dyer Elected By 1st District Board

Joe Dyer, vice-chairman of the Calloway County Board of Education, was elected vice-chairman of the First Region Kentucky School Board Association at its annual meeting on Tuesday, October 5.

The organization represents 80 school board members and 16 school superintendents in the western most part of Kentucky.

Dyer has served on the Calloway County Board of Education since January 1975, at which time he was elected vice-chairman. He is Director of Food Services for Murray State University, a position he has held for the past four years.

Miss Sandra Stark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Stark, will represent Calloway County in the Dairy Princess Contest at Mayfield on October 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Stark, along with Sandra and their son, Jerry, and his wife, Melissa, own and operate Star-Lu Farms.

Sandra has shown dairy cattle since she was 10 years old with Grand Champions and Junior Champions at many state, district and county fairs. Sandra has always been active in showing and feeding calves and many jobs on the farm. She has participated in various 4-H and FFA dairy activities. One of her favorite activities is dairy judging in which she has won honors at the State Dairy Judging Contest and has represented Kentucky in out-of-state dairy national contests.

Voter Registration Drive Termed Success By Tucker

Over 900 new voters have been registered in the latest Calloway County Democratic Party registration drive according to Don Tucker, chairman of the registration committee.

Tucker termed the effort a tremendous success and although exact figures are unavailable, he believes that the goal of 1966 new registrants has been reached. The 1966 total represents a 16 percent increase in registered voters in the county.

The final count also includes voters registered through the efforts of other organizations, including the League of Women Voters, the MSU Student Government, and the Murray State Young Democrats organization.

According to Tucker, who has directed the registration effort for the last three years, the reason for the success of this year's drive is due largely to the fact that for the first time precinct workers were able to go door to door and register voters.

Additionally, Tucker feels that voter interest in this year's presidential election is another factor favoring the increase in registration. "Pollsters say there is not going to be a big voter turnout, but there is voter interest here and I believe the national pollsters are wrong," Tucker said.

Tucker also added that now that the registration effort is out of the way the party can turn its attention toward the election of Jimmy Carter, Walter Mondale, and First District Congressman Carroll Hubbard.

R. L. Cooper, standing right, administrator of the Calloway County Health Department, explained the duties of the sixty members of the Murray Woman's Club who have volunteered to help with the Swine Flu vaccination clinics for Calloway County Citizens on October 20, 21, and 22 at the Murray State University Livestock and Exposition Center on College Farm Road. Mrs. C. W. Jones of the Woman's Club is coordinator for the club volunteers with twenty persons from the club scheduled to help each day of the clinics. Also assisting at the clinics will be the Red Cross volunteers and other persons in the community. On the left seated at the desk is Mia Wilson, employee at the Health Center. Club members at the Tuesday meeting at the Health Center shown in the picture include, left to right, Mrs. Thomas Brown, Mrs. Henry McKenzie, Mrs. Ewing Swann, Mrs. C. W. Jones, and Mrs. Robbie Harrison. Each of the ten departments of the Murray Club had at least six or more persons to volunteer to help with the community project.

It's Different Now That He's the Boss

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: May I put in my two cents about married men taking their secretaries out for lunch and cocktails?

When Jack (not his real name) first met me, I was the new girl in the office, and Jack was a salesman. My two bosses (both married) kept inviting me to lunch and cocktails to "unwind" after work, but I never went because I didn't think it was right. Besides, I was going with Jack, and he used to say that girls who accepted such invitations were tramps.

Now, 20 years later, Jack doesn't see anything wrong with taking HIS secretary out for lunch!

What's your thinking on this, Abby?

STRAIGHT ARROW

DEAR STRAIGHT: As I've said, it all depends on where they lunch, the frequency of the lunches and who's feeding whom what.

DEAR ABBY: Someone wrote asking how to introduce a person with whom one has an intimate relationship without marriage, and you said, "Call him/her a 'friend.' I am appalled that you would give a sexual connotation to the word 'friend.'"

I have been going with a very fine gentleman for two years whom I've been introducing as my friend. Now I'm wondering if everyone thinks we are bed partners.

I refuse to call a paunchy, 60-year-old man my "boyfriend," but what do I call him?

Abby, please find another word to describe a live-in pal.

FRIENDLESS IN N.Y.

DEAR FRIENDLESS: Why must one be labeled according to whether or not the relationship includes sexual intimacy? (It's nobody's business.) Friendship is a large umbrella that covers platonic relationships as well as roommates. Not every friend is necessarily a lover, but I would hope that every lover is a friend.

DEAR ABBY: I have a comment or two to make about the letter from PASTOR STEVENSON. It was written in response to a prior letter from a young girl whose father had sexually abused her. PASTOR STEVENSON suggested that the girl had "tempted" her father by wearing "tight-fitting, revealing clothes."

This attitude is another variation on the theme that any woman who is raped must have been asking for it. It places the burden of guilt on the victim rather than on the attacker—where it belongs!

The pastor seemed quite sympathetic to the tempted father, but had not a single word of sympathy for the abused daughter.

The pastor just assumes that the girl dressed provocatively: One is innocent until proven guilty, pastor! No man can be forced into committing rape. He does it by choice, and the responsibility for the act belongs to the man, the perpetrator—not to the woman, his victim.

C.J.S.: SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR ABBY: You are entirely too soft when it comes to disciplining children. I may be old-fashioned, but I raised three well-behaved children by using the 3B system—Bust their Butts with a Board.

3B BELIEVER

Genealogical Society
Plans For New Book

The Calloway County Genealogical Society met Monday, September 13, at the home of Mrs. Charles R. Stubblefield, New Concord, to discuss the production and publication of its forthcoming book, "Family Records of Calloway County, Kentucky."

It was reported that only a few copies of the second edition of the society's last book remain unsold. It is called "Bible Records of Calloway County and Adjoining Counties."

Since it is wished that this new book be as complete as possible, Miss Maude Nance was asked to place an ad in the Murray Ledger & Times asking for records of any families which may have been overlooked.

It was agreed to extend the time for publication to March in order to give more time for people to send in their records and to prepare those collected for publication.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Stubblefield served a dessert course to the members: Mesdames James Byrn, John Livesay, Humphrey Key, Clifton Key, Wesley Waldrop, Carl Lockhart, Price Doyle, Miss Nance.

Natural Childbirth

Because childbirth in a hospital has too often been a de-personalizing experience, women are increasingly asking for home delivery.

Most physicians consider this a step backward, because the complications of childbirth can be unpredictable, sudden, and life-threatening. Efforts to solve this dilemma have taken several forms.

Many hospitals are taking steps to make labor rooms more homelike and are permitting husbands to remain in the delivery room during delivery. This is especially true where a nurse-midwife is a part of the obstetrical team.

Modern-day midwives, who are R.N.'s with an additional 6 to 24 months of training, are handling deliveries after the doctor examines the patient to determine that the delivery will be normal. This frees the doctor to handle complicated deliveries.

"For the patient, the chief value of a nurse-midwife is the quality of care she gives," writes Marian Hammer in "Life and Health" (June, 1976). "She is there, soothing, helping, encouraging, ready to deliver the baby when the patient is ready. Unfortunately, many doctors have been known to put in an appearance only after a delivery has been held back, or in time to cut the umbilical cord.

Another approach to making the experience of childbirth a more satisfying one is natural childbirth, which is becoming increasingly popular. One method involves the use of hypnosis, which has the serious drawback that it puts one mind under the control of another.

Less hazardous are the Grantly Dick-Read and the Lamaze methods, which eliminate fear and block pain through prenatal education which includes mental-conditioning, training in proper breathing, physiology, and physical fitness exercises.

There is also a trend toward permitting the baby to spend more time with its mother in the hospital. This along with breast-feeding contributes to the baby's physical and emotional well-being and to a close relationship between mother and child.

"ESP Through Tarot" Course Planned Here

Everyone has ESP, extra-sensory perception, says Dr. Jean Lorrach, who teaches a course called "ESP Through the Tarot" in the Life and Learning Series at Murray State University. "It is a natural ability, just like our 'normal' five senses; but some people can use it better than others, just as some people can see or hear better than others."
 Dr. Lorrach has had great success in teaching people to use their innate ability through the ancient cards known as the Tarot. "People think of these cards as magic, but they're not," says Dr. Lorrach. "They are simply a psychic focus, with many symbols to allow the user to develop his own powers of character analysis and interpretation of events and feelings. There is no magic involved here at all — only each individual's own natural abilities."
 The first time she taught the course, Dr. Lorrach says, she was not sure whether the ability could be taught. "I was astonished at the results. By the end of the course, each and every student was reading accurately — discovering things he could not have known except through ESP."
 "ESP Through the Tarot" is available once again, beginning October 14 at six p. m. in Faculty Hall 407. There will be four two-hour Thursday-evening sessions, October 14, 21, and 28, and November 11. There are no prerequisites for the course; anyone is eligible to take it. The cost is $8.00, plus about $10.00 for a set of cards and an instruction book. To register, call the Murray State University Center for Continuing Education at 762-4159 or 762-2086.

Frances Drake

FOR THURSDAY,
OCTOBER 7, 1976

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)
Curb a tendency to be overly critical. Don't look for flaws in every situation which arises. Emphasize tolerance and optimism.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 to May 21)
Job matters are likely to conflict with personal desires, but accept the situation for the present. It will pay off later.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
Strongly beneficent Mercury influences should lend fresh vigor and zest to your activities. Also, your outgoing personality should win new friends.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
Without too much trouble, you should be able to breeze through this day with fine results. Aids: Good timing in your approaches and practical execution of plans.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
Some planetary restrictions. Be tactful in discussions and DO control emotions. Some situations will call for unusual discretion.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Dissidents or others not having your best interests at heart may try to dissuade you from following carefully laid plans. Ignore them.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
Do not be swayed by your emotions. Objectivity will bring you a clearer view of all situations. A romantic involvement will call for an especially perceptive eye.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
A good period for everyday matters and, in some respect, for the unusual and extraordinary. Look for some good news in the p.m.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Stars warn against vacillating, changing plans or projects before they have been given a fair chance. Steady does it.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Maintain a calm attitude in all situations, and you can avoid a lot of frustration. Stress tact in all dealings — especially with members of the opposite sex.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Trade ideas, reach for wider horizons. They broaden as you gain more ground, knowledge. Think big, but do not step so briskly that you overlook details.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)
Influences, somewhat adverse now, suggest that you avoid antagonizing others. If necessary to assert your viewpoint during discussion, do so dispassionately.

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely sensitive, amiable, personable and artistic in your leanings. Your love of beauty is outstanding, as is your discriminating taste. Your appreciation of color and your keen sense of symmetry and proportion make you a "natural" for the art field, and your gift of words, which is truly eloquent, could bring you outstanding success in the world of literature. Traits to conquer: moodiness and tactlessness. Birthdate of James Whitcomb Riley, Amer. poet; June Allyson, screen star.

The New Flu
The newest strain of human influenza is "A New Jersey 76," the official title of the strain as designated by the Center for Disease Control of the U.S. Public Health Service. The letter "A" represents the type of influenza virus; "New Jersey" is the site of origin (Ft. Dix, N.J.) and "76" is the year of discovery. The "A New Jersey 76" designation fits the established pattern of geographic description as in "Hong Kong," "Asian," "Victoria" influenzas of the past. Though it is often referred to as "Swine Flu," pork products are not a factor in the disease. Public health officials have emphasized that their concern is with human-to-human transmission; that for the general public, hogs are not involved.

Sensing The News

By ANTHONY HARRIGAN
Executive Vice President
United States Industrial Council

TODAY'S TOPIC: PUERTO RICAN REVOLUTIONARIES HARRIGAN

Though the recent conference of Third World nations was highlighted by an attack on the United States for its role in Korea, these countries also singled out America for its allegedly "colonial" policies towards Puerto Rico.

This action by the arrogant states of the Third World is a reminder that Puerto Rican independence has an important place on the agenda of revolutionaries in many lands.

In view of this, Americans should pay more attention to the revolutionary agitation concerning Puerto Rico.

A recent staff study by the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security indicates that a main faction of the Puerto Rican independence movement, the Puerto Rican Revolutionary Workers Organization (PRRWO) demands not only Puerto Rican independence but also the overthrow of the government of the United States.

Moreover, the PRRWO and its predecessor organizations, which are affiliated with Cuba and Communist China, have used bombing, extortion, kidnapping, and assault in hopes of achieving an independent Puerto Rico and the establishment of a revolutionary regime in the United States.

The PRRWO began as a Chicago street gang, the Young Lords. Later, when the Young Lords became the Young Lords Organization (YLO), leftwing radicalism characterized the group's activities. In 1972, its leader met with senior Chinese Communist officials and adopted its current name (PRRWO). It produced a revolutionary manifesto, asserting: "We oppose capitalists... we fight anti-communism... we want a socialist society."

Under the direction of the Chinese Communists, the Puerto Rican Revolutionary Workers Organization emphasized a fight for international communism and sought to infiltrate and radicalize labor unions.

According to the Senate study, the PRRWO has been associated with a variety of leftist groups, including the Young Socialist Alliance and the Socialist Workers Party. It attended rallies with the Puerto Rican Socialist Party and the Revolutionary Union.

Some Americans may be concerned that in Puerto Rico the United States is blocking an independence movement not unlike the American movement of 1776. This is not the case. The people of Puerto Rico have indicated time and again that they want to retain their ties to the United States.

Puerto Rico, it should be remembered, is a self-governing commonwealth freely and voluntarily associated with the United States. The people elect a resident commissioner to the U. S. House of Representatives.

The 100-mile long island in the northeastern end of the Caribbean Sea was formerly an unincorporated territory of the United States. It has one of the highest standards of living in Latin America.

As for the PRRWO, it is not an organization dedicated to freedom. Puerto Rican "independence" is being used as a ploy to lead that country and the U. S. down the road to communist totalitarianism.

HEARTLINE

HEARTLINE

HEARTLINE is a service for senior citizens of all ages. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write HEARTLINE, 114 E. Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. Senior citizens will receive prompt replies, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

Heartline: My wife is 51 years old and has been hospitalized off and on for the past two years because of various disabilities. She has not been able to work at all for the last two years and there is no chance for her to work again. I have always worked and have been the main breadwinner. Is it possible for my wife to draw Social Security Disability under these conditions? B. T.

Answer: Your working has no effect at all on your wife being eligible to receive Social Security Disability. The only criteria for her to be eligible are her physical condition and her amount of work time under Social Security. You should contact your local Social Security office immediately to have your wife apply for disability benefits. Don't delay because there might be a possibility of retroactive benefits, which can only be paid for 12 months.

Heartline: I am 66 years old. I filed a claim with Medicare in May, but I have not heard anything from them yet. Is there any way you can help me on this? R. S.

Answer: Yes, Heartline can help you. We have developed methods to cut the red tape for people having problems with various government agencies. Send Heartline your name and address, copies of your bill, your Medicare claim number, and the address of your local Social Security office. Upon receipt of this information, we will contact the proper people and help to solve your problem. Remember, never send original papers, only copies.

Chart Explains Emergency Treatment

By F. J. L. Blasngame, M.D.

Do you know about first aid for accident victims? Do you know what to do in an emergency, especially if it occurs in your home?

Wouldn't it be helpful to have a first aid chart pinned up where you could review it occasionally and refer to it quickly if you had to act promptly to prevent death or serious consequences from an accident?

Because so many of us, including children, are at home for certain hours of the day, our households are the sites of half of our accidents. They result in about half the deaths and much of the disability from emergencies.

The injuries are from minor to major in their severity and include burns, cuts, near-drownings, fractures, eye, ear, nose, insect bites, abrasions, bruises and head injuries (with or without the loss of consciousness).

Illness may strike, with occurrences such as food being caught in the throat, obstructing the passage of air, an epileptic seizure, a heart attack, hemorrhage, shock, a stroke, or poisoning from an overdose of medicine.

What to do in the management of seven of the most common types of home medical emergencies is explained in the new edition of "First Aid in the Home," a reference chart produced by the Council on Family Health, in cooperation with the American Medical Association, the American Academy of Pediatrics, and the American Association of Poison Control Centers.

According to Ivan Combe, chairman of the council (which is a nonprofit organization sponsored by the manufacturers of medicines) "Too many Americans and their families lack a basic familiarity with emergency first-aid measures. Emergencies, by definition, are sudden and unexpected. Knowing what to do until the doctor arrives can help lessen the high cost of accidents and medical care in both human and economic terms.

The chart has space for recording important emergency telephone numbers and advice for quick and proper treatment. It lists tips about safe storage and the use of medicine within the home.

Q Mr. RE asks what is meant by the middle ear.

A For descriptive purposes, the ear is divided into three parts — outer, middle and inner.

The outer consists of the part that sticks out from the side of the head (pinna) and the canal that leads inward to the eardrum. The inner ear is enclosed in the skull bone and is composed of semicircular canals for equilibrium, and the nerve and hearing portion (cochlea). The middle ear is a chamber about the size of an English pea, located between the outer and inner parts of the ear. In this space are three small bones that transmit the vibrations of the eardrum to the nerve endings.

The space in the middle ear is connected to the upper throat by a small tube (Eustachian). Through it, throat infections may extend to the middle ear and cause one form of earache. The Eustachian tube also allows the air pressure to be maintained about the same on either side of the eardrum.

Q Ms. JO wants to know the number of calories in a glass of wine.

A A typical 8-ounce glass of a dry wine contains fewer calories (85 to 95) than a sweet dessert wine, like port, which contains 185 to 195 calories. Dry sherry is usually in between, with about 145 to 150 calories.

Lawsuits Filed To Recover Student Loans

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The head of the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority says lawsuits have been filed against six former students to recover payment on educational loans.

The average amount owed by the six students is $800, Paul Borden, authority executive director, said Tuesday.

"We began this program with the attitude that it was a loan program and that we had an obligation to make collections," Borden said. "Our record has been very good to date and we intend to keep it that way."

Utilities Co.

Admits Defeat

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky Utilities Co. has admitted defeat in its effort to increase rates in 10 municipalities and Berea College.

The U.S. Supreme Court rejected Monday the utility's appeal for a rate increase, and William Duncan, company president says, "The court declared us wrong, so we've got to respond in some other way and I don't know what way that would be at this time."

The company had argued before both the court and the Federal Power Commission (FPC) that the increases would have been the first in 15 years and added that three rate decreases have been approved in the same period.

However, the FPC held that contracts for the electrical service don't provide for increases and can be terminated only on three years' notice.

Supreme Court Asked To Dismiss Penalty Challenge

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Supreme Court has been asked to dismiss a challenge to the constitutionality of the state's death penalty statute.

A motion by Atty. Gen. Robert Stephens said several other appeals on the law's constitutionality are before the Supreme Court and that the matter is also likely to be reconsidered by the General Assembly this fall.

The Jefferson County commonwealth attorney's office made the appeal after Jefferson Circuit Judge George Kunzman declared the death penalty unconstitutional in the cases of Lester M. Rose Jr. and Randall Arrowood, both convicted murderers.

Not All 'Shady Ladies' Are Really Shady Ladies

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — What's in a name? Not what you might think, says a Citizens Band radio enthusiast who's disturbed that a local prostitute uses a CB to drum up business.

Mrs. Nickie Green, a member of a local CB club, says some CB buffs here are upset because they've been propositioned by truckers who've heard about a prostitute who uses the handle "Shady Lady" to solicit business over the airwaves.

Since the prostitute revealed last week in an interview that she uses a CB to solicit 10-minute, $25 interludes with truckers, other women here who use the same "handle" have been asked by drivers to meet them for a "cup of coffee."

Mrs. Green says the other women with the same handle are "good reputation" and aren't prostitutes, but they've had to endure numerous jokes and slurs about their virtue.

"It ain't funny," Mrs. Green, 22, said in an interview. "Not every shady lady is really shady."

In the interview, the young prostitute said she went on the air during the night, asking truckers to meet her at designated points for "coffee." After that, she said, they agree to meet at the nearest stopping place and then climb into the sleeping compartment of trucks.

"I know one Shady Lady who's my friend, but she's certainly not a prostitute," Mrs. Green said. "I hear on my radio what she's been getting. She's been getting asked if she serves coffee, stuff like that. Oh, is she ever getting it — from all 23 channels. She has a CB in her car and at home."

"I've heard people coming on Channel 23, saying they know Shady Lady that I know, and they know she's not a hooker, but they tease and say they want the Shady Lady hooker," Mrs. Green said. "The other night, I broke in to a conversation and the guy was asking her (the legitimate Shady Lady) to go to a bar, and she said her better half wouldn't like that. She didn't mind at first, but it's getting to the point where it ain't funny. After a point it gets where you don't think it's funny no more, asking if she serves coffee."

Mrs. Green said there are 150 members in the CB club she belongs to and that several have the "Shady Lady" handle.

"Five or six are married and have children. Only that one is the prostitute," Mrs. Green said. And the prostitute isn't a club member.

"Her friend is 'taking it quite well,'" Mrs. Green said, and doesn't plan to change her handle.

"It's a cute name. On the CB, you pick a cute name, one that you like. It doesn't really matter whether you are 'shady' or not," Mrs. Green said.

"It's a pretty common handle. It's a nickname like Sneaky Pete. That doesn't mean he sneaks up on people."

Mrs. Green said she uses her CB as a social instrument.

"Couples that don't have friends in Louisville, they tune in to a channel to meet people," she said. "They meet for real coffee breaks. We don't use it for 'tricks,' for prostitution."

Others besides prostitutes use CBs to drum up business, Mrs. Green asserted.

"It's not just for shady ladies," she said. "For example, I had an antennae I had for the past three months and my husband wouldn't help me put it up. I got on the radio and they came over and helped me put it up. If you're in the right business, you can get clients."

The Shady Lady who uses her CB to drum up business says she works from dawn-to-dusk and reports earnings as high as $500 a night. She works five days a week and takes weekends off.

State Health Officials See No Danger From Test In China

Purchase Area Hog Market

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—State health officials plan to continue testing today for radioactive fallout, but say there is no immediate public health danger from a nuclear bomb test in China last week.

There were "detectable" but "low" amounts of radioactive fallout over Kentucky Tuesday, according to Charles Hardin, director of the Radiation Control Branch of the Bureau for Health Services in the state Department for Human Resources.

Hardin said the amount of radioactivity was "about three to four times" above normal.

"We will continue sampling (the air) until we are assured there will not be any more," he said.

Hardin said the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency notified Kentucky officials that there might be higher levels of radiation in the air over the Bluegrass state as a result of the nuclear blast Sept. 26 at the Lop Nor testing site in western China.

Hardin said Kentucky's air sampling network was activated Friday. An initial sampling showed nothing unusual, he said.

However, the second sample, taken early Tuesday afternoon, showed radiation levels slightly higher than usual, he said.

Hardin said the Kentucky alert network has not been activated for "a long time"—at least two years, because both the United States and the Soviet Union no longer conduct atmospheric testing, but set off most of their nuclear blasts underground.

Weekend Deaths 'Frustrating' To State Police

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—State police say it's "frustrating" that 14 persons died in state highway traffic accidents last weekend.

"We're doing everything we can think of," said Lt. Ernest Bivens, head of safety education for the state police, "and we don't know what else to do."

Bivens said many of the fatalities appeared to be the result of careless driving.

The weekend deaths raised Kentucky's death toll through Sunday to 662, compared with 657 through the same date last year. Three more persons died Monday, according to the Traffic Records Division.

Bivens said he talked with several of the troopers who investigated the weekend's accidents to determine why there were so many fatalities. He said they indicated careless driving played a part in at least four accidents that took 11 lives.

One driver told the state trooper investigating the accident that he had turned his head to look at his wife and daughter and had inadvertently pulled in front of another car. In another case, a car rolled up and over the car in front of it. In a third case, a man told the state trooper he failed to see a stop sign and rammed an oncoming car. Bivens said the accidents happen mainly on secondary roads and state police don't have the manpower to patrol all of those.

But he also said the fact that a state policeman is sitting out by the side of the road won't stop an accident.

He said the main problem is that people are "not making driving a primary source of their attention."

He said his advice is to "know yourself, know your car, and know where you're going."

On the other hand, many accidents happen because drivers become overconfident, feeling they know the road. He noted that many accidents happen just five miles from someone's home, on familiar roads, because the driver is behaving as though he is "blindfolded."

Bivens recommended,

Received Grant

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Justice Department has awarded the state Department of Justice a $99,858 grant for a demonstration project of a juror management study in Jefferson County.

The project will emphasize the administration of an efficient juror system.

"leave yourself an out—a place to go when that guy comes over the median into your lane...let up on the accelerator when approaching an intersection—you'll only lost a few seconds." Bivens said people tend to be more cautious when driving on holiday weekends because safe driving is well publicized—but he said non-holiday weekends are potentially just as dangerous. The statistics show that December is the second-worst month of the year for automobile fatalities, he said.

National Roundup

DETROIT (AP)—A 22-day-old United Auto Workers strike against Ford Motor Co. is expected to last at least another week despite a tentative agreement which puts UAW members closer to a four-day work week. The three-year contract, agreed to late Tuesday, must be ratified by 170,000 Ford workers who struck the nation's second largest automaker in 22 states at midnight Sept. 14. Union officials say it could take a week to 10 days for ratification and end the walkout, which has shut 62 Ford assembly and manufacturing plants and brought the firm's North American production to a halt. UAW President Leonard Woodcock said no details of the settlement would be announced until after it is reviewed by the international executive board and the National Ford Council.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Fines totaling more than $17 million against two firms and two individuals for dumping the pesticide Kepone into a river "clearly signaled that polluters will be held accountable," says the nation's top environmental officer. Russell Train, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, hailed Tuesday's ruling by U.S. District Judge Robert R. Merhige as a "landmark decision." Allied Chemical Corp. was fined $13.2 million after the firm pleaded no contest to 940 separate counts of discharging Kepone and other highly toxic chemicals into the James River. Life Science Products Co., which took over Kepone production from Allied in 1974, was fined $3.8 million. But since the firm is now defunct and has no assets, there's no way the fine can be paid. Two former Allied employees who founded Life Science, William P. Moore and Virgil Hundtöft, were each fined $25,000 and placed on probation for five years.

No Predictions Being Made On Recovery Of Bodies In Mine

OVEN FORK, Ky. (AP)—The bodies of 11 men who died in the second of two coal mine explosions have lain deep inside Big Black Mountain here for nearly seven months and officials have stopped predicting when the remains will be recovered.

"It's impossible to make a prediction about when we'll reach the bodies," H. N. Kirkpatrick, head of Kentucky's Department of Mines and Minerals, said in an interview Tuesday. "We don't know what's ahead. Any time now we'll be getting closer to the section where the explosion occurred. We haven't seen what kind of damage that was caused yet."

The men were killed last March 11 in the second of two fatal explosions in Scotia Coal Co.'s No. 1 mine here. The bodies are located about three miles inside the mine and about 1,000 feet beneath the surface of the mountain.

They died while attempting to shore up the roof of the mine so that a federal investigating team could enter to probe the cause of a blast that occurred two days earlier in which 15 men perished. The bodies of those miners were recovered.

The mine was sealed with the 11 bodies still inside because officials said it was too dangerous to attempt to recover them.

A recovery operation began July 14, when the mine was unsealed, but volunteer workers have run into one delay after another.

When the mine was reopened officials said the bodies probably would be recovered by mid-September. Later they said mid-October, and now, federal, state and company officials all decline to speculate.

First, dangerous methane gas, which caused both explosions, was removed from the mine. Then volunteers were delayed by water that accumulated in low sections of the bowl shaped shaft. The water has been pumped out now, but "bad roof" is causing the men to work more slowly, Kirkpatrick said. Kirkpatrick said the workers have passed the halfway point in the recovery operation but may be delayed even more if they continue to encounter "more rock falls."

"We're approximately 7,600 feet from the bodies, that means we've gone about 11,000 feet" since the recovery operation began, Kirkpatrick said. "We are getting closer, but we do have bad roof, several rock falls, in front of us. We are taking every precaution and no one has been hurt. We feel good about that."

He said some sections of the mine could "cave in at any time" and that the six recovery squads are having to proceed with extraordinary caution. The second blast, he added, could have caused serious roof damage that conceivably could delay the operation further.

"We just have to take our time and not risk the lives of the people working in there," Kirkpatrick said. "But we are advancing. We're not setting a target date because we just have to be careful and take the first consideration the people that are working in there."

Blue Diamond Coal Co. in Knoxville, Tenn., which owns the Scotia mine, said the company is trying to avoid making predictions about when the bodies will be brought out. "There's never been a recovery operation like this before in the mining industry," he said.

Foreign Roundup

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Waves of police firing machine guns and rockets and hurling grenades stormed a university campus today to crush a demonstration by several thousand leftist students protesting the return of Thailand's former military dictator. The military-like assault came after rightists and left-wing groups exchanged small-arms fire at the Thammasat University campus. Police said at least 15 persons were killed and at least 180 were seriously wounded. Unofficial reports placed the casualty toll at 30 dead and 100 wounded.

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger begins talks with key Arab and Israeli leaders today in a rejuvenated Middle East peace effort. Kissinger's second week of consultations with foreign ministers attending the U. N. General Assembly begins with a breakfast meeting with Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon. Kissinger will then have a working lunch in his plush Waldorf-Astoria suite with Saudi Arabian Foreign Minister Prince Saud. Kissinger planned talks the rest of the day with leaders from Indonesia, Pakistan, Cyprus and the Philippines. For dinner, Kissinger invited British Foreign Secretary Anthony Crosland to his suite to watch the foreign affairs debate tonight between President Ford and Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Arab League mediator Hassan Sabri Kholi threatened today to withdraw the league's small peace-keeping force from the only crossing point between Beirut's Christian and Moslem sectors unless right-wing Christians stop shelling the area. Meanwhile, Karnal Jumblatt, top leader of the Palestinians' Moslem leftist allies, ordered a general mobilization in the leftist-held areas of Lebanon in the face of a renewed vow by Syria that its intervention forces in Lebanon will not withdraw until they have imposed a "total peace" in the civil war.

State Preparing To Take On Returning Blackbirds

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The blackbirds are returning to Kentucky, and the state is preparing to take them on in animal feedlots and their winter roosting areas, according to the state's Pest Control Director.

Coburn Gayle, director of the Division of Pest and Noxious Weed Control in the state Department of Agriculture, said Tuesday that the two-tiered attack will be under way within a month.

The division will distribute poison bait in the feedlots and prepare to spray the roosts with detergent when suitable weather arrives, he said.

When the detergent PA-14 is sprayed on roosting birds in cold, wet weather, it strips their feathers of protective oils and they die of exposure.

Farmers are being surveyed to see how many want to take part in the program of baiting large feedlots with a poison called starlicide, Gayle said.

At a recent seminar at Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green, experts argued about whether the birds cause the crop losses—farmers believe they do—and whether they are major carriers of histoplasmosis, a lung disease.

Dr. Joseph Linduska of the National Audubon Society said the birds pose a "knotty problem...and I'm afraid there's no ready solution."

Richard Plunkett, the society's vice president for science, noted that the birds are heroes in the north during the summer, when young blackbirds may consume 500 million tons of insects during June alone.

In winter, however, they fly south seeking warmer weather and a grain diet, and are a problem at feed lots, where they eat grain fed to cattle and hogs and can infect young hogs with transmissible gastro-enteritis.

Dr. Burt L. Monroe Jr., a University of Louisville ornithologist who said he's been "mucking around blackbird roosts for 18 years," said the redwing blackbirds, cowbirds, starlings and grackles that roost in Kentucky and Tennessee have nothing to do with the spread of histoplasmosis.

Monroe said the usually mild respiratory disease, to which about 65 to 90 per cent of the population of western Kentucky and Tennessee has been exposed, is carried by the windborne spores of a fungus that grows in the earth.

The experts did not deny, however, that the birds are capable of causing problems at a farmer's feedlot or devastating the winter wheat fields that sprout in the fall.

Gayle said Tuesday that he and Bob Wade, president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, have asked farm bureau officials in all Kentucky counties to supply the number of animal feedlots that have suffered bird damage.

Gayle said his division will bait the feedlots with starlicide, "and once we get the system going we may make the bait available to farmers we have trained to use it."

He said the program will concentrate "on five or six counties in southwestern Kentucky where there are 30 or 40 goodsized feedlots, and on isolated feedlots in central Kentucky and far western Kentucky."

He said he and Charles Danner, a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Department official stationed in Lexington, soon will begin surveying Kentucky roosts to decide where to spray with chemicals.

He said 20,000 to 30,000 blackbirds have been sighted in the Russellville area, where there was a large roost last year, and some 100,000 near Franklin in Simpson County.

The roosts have been concentrated in southwestern Kentucky in previous years, but Gayle said he believes there is a large roost forming this year in northern Kentucky. "We just haven't found it yet," he said.

Gayle said there have been reports of large numbers of birds in the Covington and Florence areas.

State Moose Convention Is Planned

The annual convention of the Kentucky Moose Association is slated for Oct. 8-10 at the Ramada Inn at Paducah.

Also the annual conference and convocation of the Kentucky Women of the Moose will be held in conjunction with the convention.

Scheduled to appear on the Moose program are Phillip Morse, Aurora, Ill., general governor of the Loyal Order of Moose, to represent the Supreme Lodge, and Louis J. Ferraro, Madison, Tenn., regional director of the order for the states of Kentucky, Tennessee, and Arkansas.

Mrs. Lois Walters, Sidney, Ohio, who served as grand regent of the Women of the Moose during 1974-75, will be an official visitor to the women's sessions.

James Mitchell, Cadiz, head of the KMA, will preside over the business sessions during the convention with the assistance of Romuel Toon, Louisville, secretary of the state organization.

High points of the sessions will include a question and answer period with Morse and Ferraro and the coronation of the "Queen of Sponsors" by the Women of the Moose.

Murray High Falls To Third In Grid Ratings

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The King is dead. Long live the king — again.

For the seventh time, a top-ranked team has fallen and has been replaced in The Associated Press high school football poll.

The latest to ascend is unbeaten Corbin, which moved into the State AA leadership after Murray, last week's No. 1 team, was upset by Caldwell County 7-6. Corbin, meanwhile, won its fifth game in as many starts by bouncing Bell County 35-0.

The other four top-ranked teams avoided the upset bug last weekend and each held comfortable leads in this week's rankings.

Trinity, 6-0, remained tops in Jefferson County AAAA, Bowling Green is No. 1 in State AAAA, Franklin-Simpson maintained its narrow lead over Erlanger Lloyd in State AAA, and Harrodsburg was a comfortable No. 1 in State A.

The State AA rankings underwent a considerable shakeup after Murray and No. 2 Scott County went down to defeat. Mayfield jumped two spots into second place while Murray slipped to third and Scott County, a 26-6 loser to Lexington Lafayette, was fourth. Unbeaten Boyle County remained fifth.

The State AAAA rankings remained unchanged with Henderson County, Paducah Tilghman, Ashland and Owensboro Catholic filling out the top five behind Bowling Green.

Elizabethtown, fifth last week, switched places with Danville this time around to account for the only change in State AAA. E'town blasted North Hardin 42-21 while Danville dropped its first game of the year, 31-29 to Lexington Henry Clay.

Raceland and Ft. Campbell remained 2-3 behind Harrodsburg in State A, with Heath and Owen County replacing Richmond Madison and Bellevue in the fourth and fifth spots, respectively. Heath bettered its record to 4-2 by downing Todd County Central 28-14 while Owen County, 6-0, cuffed Eminence 40-8.

Richmond Madison, No. 4 last week, was a 30-8 victim of Harrodsburg while Bellevue fell to Ludlow 14-6.

Former Wildcat Dave Roller Big Hit With Green Bay Fans

By MIKE O'BRIEN
AP Sports Writer

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Teammates call Dave Roller "The Imperial Lizard."

That's because the round-faced defensive tackle is the Green Bay Packers' resident flake, a 262 pound funseeker who enjoys practical jokes almost as much as well-sacking the other team's quarterback.

His reputation as a cut-up has been long established. And after what he did to the Detroit Lions in the Packers' 24-14 National Football League victory last Sunday, his stock as a pass rusher never has been higher.

The Packers tackled Lions' quarterback Greg Landry and his backfield mates eight times for 61 yards in losses. Roller, credited with two sacks himself and assists on two others, showed amazing speed for his size as he tore through the Detroit offensive line. His hollering, arm-waving, flamboyant style, which included a postgame victory shuffle at midfield, charged the Lambeau Field crowd to frenzy.

"Dave is a very excitable young man," Packer Coach Bart Starr said. "He's a reckless, rambunctious player. That's the way this game should be played."

Roller, whose 18 sacks for the Southern California Sun helped earn him World Football League defensive player of the year honors in 1974, put it another way.

"I'm sort of like (Packer receiver) Kenny Payne," he said. "A free spirit, free-wheeling. I get excited and emotional. I like to jump up and down and scream, and I like other guys to do it."

"When I played in the World League, everybody knew me out there," he said. "A bunch of people formed a group called 'Roller's Rooters.' They would go to our games, get drunker than hell, put up signs and just have a little fun. At the end of the year we had a little get-together and they gave me a trophy."

Lions Name Hudspeth As Head Coach

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Rick Forzano's stern discipline wasn't successful with the Detroit Lions — and his successor does not sound like he will be any easier on his athletes.

"We're gonna be demanding of our football players," said new Coach Tommy Hudspeth. "We're going to ask them to do certain things and go from there and put the chips on the table."

Execution will be vital, Hudspeth said.

Hudspeth, a 45-year-old Kansan and former college coach, was named interim coach Tuesday by Lions owner William Clay Ford. He moved up from his post as coordinator of personnel and scouting to replace Forzano, who resigned Monday.

Asked if his resignation saved the job of General Manager Russ Thomas, Forzano said: "If this helps save Russ' job then fine, but that wasn't the reason I resigned."

Forzano said even if the Lions, 1-3, had not lost to Green Bay 24-14 Sunday, he intended to resign.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Frank White is the Kansas City Royals' $4 million man.

Estimates vary, but that's roughly how much Royals owner Ewing Kauffman sank into his Baseball Academy, a project he conceived shortly after the American League granted him a franchise in 1968.

The academy opened in Sarasota, Fla., in 1970 and closed its doors four years later. Kauffman's idea was revolutionary and simple: that young men with outstanding athletic ability but little or no baseball background can become major leaguers through intensive instruction.

"The greatest problem was finding 'qualified boys,'" Kauffman said. "There is not one in 1,500 high school graduates who meets the qualifications for eyes, reaction time, speed and mental ability."

Thousands of youngsters trooped through the Academy hoping to play big league baseball. Only one, Frank White, has made it.

The smooth-fielding second baseman-shortstop, who grew up a short walk from Kansas City's old Municipal Stadium, played an important role in the Royals' drive to the Western Division championship this year.

White, who never played high school ball, was playing in the Casey Stengel League in 1970 and working in a metal shop when a Royals scout urged him to go to Sarasota.

"I was married and had one child then and I knew there was no chance of moving up in what I was doing," White recalls. "I was living a day-at-a-time, going to work, coming home."

"After I got to the Academy, nobody there thought I was a prospect either."

But in 1972 he started climbing through the minor league ranks, finally arriving in September, 1973. After lots of playing time in a utility role, this spring he pushed Cookie Rojas, the popular, aging second baseman, to the bench.

Playing before the home town fans, a local boy made good, he thought he would be embraced by the Kansas City fans as a conquering hero.

He was wrong. White's fielding was always steady, sometimes spectacular. He saved many games with seemingly impossible plays.

But his hitting failed to match even closely his fielding. As his average dipped lower and lower, finally reaching the .190s, the boos began.

"It killed me," White admits. "I couldn't understand. I never wanted to go into the stands and fight anybody. I just wanted to die."

Then, about the same time, three things happened. White, by choking up on the bat, raised his average almost 50 points through August. Cheers replaced boos.

"I knew that a lot of people weren't booing me, anyway," he says. "And I thought to hell with those who were. If they can do a better job they can take my glove today."

Metcalf To Miss Game With Eagles

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals running back Terry Metcalf is expected to miss Sunday's National Football League game against the Philadelphia Eagles.

But the amount of time the elusive Metcalf will be sidelined beyond that has yet to be determined, the Cards said Tuesday.

A story in the early editions of the Post-Dispatch said Metcalf, who suffered strained ligaments in his left knee during last week's game against the New York Giants, would be out four weeks.

Metcalf, who last season set an NFL record of 2,462 combined yards, was injured when tackled after receiving a Jim Hart pass during the first half of St. Louis' 27-21 triumph over the Giants.

PLAYER TO WATCH—A man to watch in the future at Mayfield is big defensive tackle Tommy Seavers. Here, Seaver broke through the Murray High offensive line to sack Tiger quarterback Greg Morton. The Mayfield defense never allowed the Tigers past the Cardinal 30-yard-line.

Tiger Eighth Graders Fall 28-0 To Mayfield

A powerful and speedy eighth grade team from Mayfield handed Murray Middle School its first loss of the season Tuesday night in War Memorial Stadium.

The Cardinals, who were 1-1 entering the contest with a win over Heath and a loss to Grove Junior High, smeared the eighth grade Tigers 28-0.

While Murray was not able to generate much offense against the tough Cardinals, Mayfield was able to sustain only one long march for a touchdown.

Two of the four Mayfield touchdowns came on break-away runs for long yardage and the other on an interception.

In the first period, Mayfield fumbled on its first series and Robert Santagado recovered for the Tigers who were stopped on their series.

With 2:03 left in the opening eight-minute period, big Charles Parrott broke loose down the right side for a 76-yard scoring run and Mayfield had a 6-0 lead. Parrott was stopped on the two-point conversion run.

Early in the second period, Mayfield had the ball on the Tiger two but fumbled the pigskin and Gary Sims recovered for the Tigers.

Still, Murray was not able to move the ball, though fullback Albert Ball and tailback Eddie Requarth both had several good runs for short yardage.

With Murray on the Mayfield 47-yard line and finally starting to move, Taylor Carlisle of Mayfield picked off a pass and trotted 83 yards down the right side for the second Cardinal touchdown.

Parrott easily crashed in for the conversion and Mayfield led 14-0.

The Cardinals had the ball on the Murray 10 with only 10 seconds left in the half but Scott Hill of the Tigers picked off a pass to end the Cardinal scoring threat.

The Murray defense got fired up in the third period and did an outstanding job on stopping the Mayfield offense. Several times, the Tiger linemen blew back the Mayfield offensive line to sack the quarterback.

Also in the third period, the Tigers moved the ball a little better on offense as Morton connected on a couple of passes and Santagado and Greg Schanbacher both had a couple of good runs.

Near the end of the third period, Mayfield took over at midfield and in only a few plays, were again knocking at the door.

Again, the call went to Parrott on a third and goal and he trotted in from five yards out. Parrott went up the middle on the conversion and Mayfield led 22-0.

Midway through the final period, Parrott broke loose again, this time going 45 yards for the score. On the conversion pass, the Mayfield quarterback was sacked by Eddie Requarth.

Though not picking up a lot of yards on offense, the Tigers did have good field position on a number of occasions as Tim Foster and Robin Roberts both did well on kickoff returning.

Also, Mayfield was much bigger than the Tigers and the 28-0 score was not really an indication as to the defensive game Murray played, particularly in the second half.

Murray Middle is now 2-1 on the season and will play a 4:45 p.m. game next Tuesday at South Marshall before returning home the following Tuesday for a contest with Heath, which Mayfield defeated 16-0.

Morehead's Trick Play Inspired Racers' Win

Murray State Coach Bill Furgerson credits a Morehead touchdown for his Racers' 7-6 victory over the Eagles Saturday.

"That trick play which scored their touchdown seemed to trigger our offense into doing something for the first time during the afternoon," Furgerson said, "and fired our defense up a little more."

The Racers were tricked by the Morehead quarterback, who, while apparently tying a shoe, flipped a lateral to the Eagle tailback who went down the sidelines on a 76-yard TD run.

"Our people were furious with themselves for falling for such a rinky-dink play and really set out to win," Furgerson said. "I don't think Morehead would have scored on our defense but for the play, and I'm not certain we would have scored either."

The victory gives Murray 2-3 overall and 1-1 OVC records. Quarterback Mike Dickens directed the Murray touchdown drive which began on the Racer 26-yard line minutes after the Morehead score. He ran for 9 yards and passed for 32 in the drive. One of his runs was a six-yarder on fourth-and-five for a first down. The pay-off play was an eight-yard pass from Dickens to tight end David Thomas, the second time in two weeks the combination has hit pay dirt.

Freshman tailback Tony Franklin turned in a fine performance in his first start for Murray. He had 71 yards in 19 rushes and caught a 12-yard pass during the touchdown drive. He also had a couple 15-yard runs called back because of penalties.

Defensive heroes were plentiful. Chuck Wempe had 11 tackles and 6 assists. Two of his tackles threw the Morehead quarterback for losses. Steady linebacker Al Martin had 11 tackles and 2 assists and also had a pair of tackles back of the line. Martin leads the team in tackles for the season with 54.

Defensive end Sam Franklin had his best game of the year with 9 tackles and 2 assists. Two of his tackles were also back of the line and another caused a Morehead fumble.

Bobby Craig had 8 tackles and 8 assists, Eddie McFarland 6 and 1, Bruce Martin 5 and 3, John Farris 5 and 1, and Kevin Whitfield 5 and 0. Darrell Ramsey intercepted a Morehead pass.

The Racers will be at home for the first time in a month Saturday when they play UT-Martin. Furgerson says UTM is big, tough, quick, and strong. The Racers have beaten two OVC teams, Austin Peay and Middle Tennessee, handsily, and are most certainly better than any team the Racers have played thus far. They beat Mississippi College last Saturday and are 3-2 for the season.

The game will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Dick Williams Named Manager For Montreal

MONTREAL (AP)—Dick Williams, a strict disciplinarian who guided the Boston Red Sox and Oakland A's to American League championships, now will try and inject some life into the floundering Montreal Expos.

The Expos, who never have finished higher than fourth in the National League East in their eight years of existence, wound up with the worst record in baseball this year. They signed the 47-year-old Williams to a two-year contract as manager Tuesday.

Terms of the agreement were not disclosed. "I think things are in good hands," said Expos President John McHale in making the announcement of Williams' hiring. "We have a guy in Dick who knows how to win and has an attraction in Montreal."

Williams' attraction in Montreal stems from his tenure as a player for Montreal's International League team in 1953 and 1956 and his tenure as Expos coach during the 1970 season. He also worked in Canada in 1965 and 1966, managing the Toronto Maple Leafs to International League pennants.

Williams said there wasn't a single player left on the Expos' roster from 1970 and he would have to do some homework on the National League after spending the past six years in the American League. "I'm going to have to do a little catching up," he said.

So will the Expos. They finished the 1976 season with a 55-107 record, 46 games behind the first-place Philadelphia Phillies.

Williams said he planned to stress fundamentals at the team's spring training camp next year and did not anticipate any personnel problems, particularly with petulant shortstop Tim Lincecum. Foli publicly criticized rookie Manager Karl Kuehl this year, saying he was incapable of managing in the major leagues. Foli's comments were considered one of the reasons for the Expos' dismal showing.

Kuehl was fired Sept. 3 and Charlie Fox was named interim manager. Fox, 54, spent 34 years in the New York-San Francisco Giants organization before joining the Expos as a special assignment scout this year. He was retained by the club as vice president in charge of baseball operations, with Jim Fanning shifting to vice president in charge of player development.

Williams began his major league managerial career with Boston in 1967 and led the Red Sox to the American League pennant. Boston fell to fourth place in 1968, and Williams was fired late the following year. He managed the A's from 1971-73, winning three division titles and the World Series in his last two years, then quit after a feud with owner Charles Finley.

After that, he signed to manage the New York Yankees, but Finley protested, saying Williams

Bible, Madon Selected For OVC Honors

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Bob Bible of Austin Peay and Biff Madon of Western Kentucky were named today as Ohio Valley Conference defensive players of the week.

Bible, a linebacker, earned the weekly honor when he made 16 tackles and assisted on seven others in Austin Peay's 27-13 loss to Eastern Kentucky last Saturday.

Madon, also a linebacker, had 13 tackles and 11 assists in Western's 28-6 loss to East Tennessee. He also scored one safety, forced one fumble, intercepted a pass and was graded at 87 per cent.

Others cited for outstanding defensive play in the OVC last weekend included: —Jerry Speath, Morehead, with 12 tackles and three assists.

—John Tucker, Tennessee Tech, with one interception and the breaking up of a number of pass plays.

—John Diefenbach, Middle Tennessee, who returned an intercepted pass 81 yards for a touchdown, made one tackle and broke up three passes.

—Bobby Payne, Eastern Kentucky, with four tackles, six assists, one pass deflection, a fumble recovery and one tackle that stopped an Austin Peay runner on the six-inch line.

—Jean Venable, East Tennessee, with five tackles and three assists.

—Chuck Wempe, Murray, with 11 tackles and six assists.

Schoendienst Gets Ax As Cardinals' Manager

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Another hero of yesteryear, Ken Boyer, has thrown his hat into the ring as a candidate to manage the St. Louis Cardinals.

But the 45-year-old Boyer, currently the field boss of the Cards' top farm club, concedes a successor to Red Schoendienst may be chosen from outside the National League baseball team's organization.

"I have no way of knowing what his reaction was," said Boyer after talking Tuesday with club president August A. Busch Jr., following the firing of Schoendienst.

"I think he may even have been startled that I asked," Boyer suggested, "but I just wouldn't want to live with myself this winter if they went out and hired somebody else without my having asked."

Cards General Manager Bing Devine, who informed Schoendienst of the firing, said Boyer's name is on a list of three candidates he has submitted to Busch.

"Boyer is not in any better position than any of the others," Devine said. However, he added, "He is not the heir apparent. No one else from the organization is on that list."

Boyer, the NL's Most Valuable Player in 1964, played 16 seasons in the major leagues, including 11 at third base for St. Louis.

Since retiring as a player in 1969 he has managed at three minor league levels in the Cards' chain, including the last three at Tulsa of the American Association.

"I've been in the organization since 1949 and I feel like I've got Cardinal blood in my veins," he said.

"With all the young kids they have here, I'd kind of like to grow up with them."

Busch, 77, said in a statement the decision not to rehire Schoendienst, 53, was based on "our consensus that there is a need for a change."

"There are times, regardless of one's capabilities, when a different perspective

Capitals Open Season With 6-5 Upset Win

LANDOVER, Md. (AP)—One game into the new National Hockey League season, the Washington Capitals already have tied their longest winning streak in history.

Hartland Monahan's power play goal at 12:12 of the final period, his second score of the game, gave the Caps a 6-5 victory over the Atlanta Flames Tuesday night as the NHL began its 60th season with upsets by the two worst teams of the past two years.

Launching a new franchise in Denver after two wretched seasons as the Kansas City Scouts, the Colorado Rockies upended the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2 to complete a most improbable opening night parlay.

Three games are on tonight's schedule, with Vancouver at Pittsburgh, Los Angeles at Cleveland, and the New York Rangers entertaining Minnesota. Montreal's defending Stanley Cup champions and runner-up Philadelphia both open at home on Thursday's six-game card.

is in order," the statement said. "Red Schoendienst's distinguished career, both as a player and a manager, are on the record books for all to see."

Schoendienst had managed the Cards since 1965, twice leading them to National League pennants and once to a World Series title during his 12 seasons.

"If you've got the ball players you can manage," he said, alluding to St. Louis' skid during the past season to 72-90, the club's worst record since 1955.

"In baseball you never know what's going to happen," added Schoendienst, a former Cards player. "I think I'm a pretty good man and I can take it in stride."

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Alabama's defense has been injury riddled, prompting Coach Paul Bryant to move two players to bolster the lineup for Saturday's date with Southern Mississippi.

Crow has carried 15 times for 81 yards so far this season.

Present-Day Yankees Unlike Earlier Clubs

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP)—A rock 'n' roll tune blared so loud you looked around to see who might be on the dance floor. In the dressing room, there was a whirring sound of electric hair dryers. Over in the corner two half-dressed athletes playfully tossed towels at each other.

"Just kids—really a bunch of babies," commented Pete Sheehy, the 66-year-old club house custodian and wet nurse of the 25 guys who make up the roster of the New York Yankees.

"Not like the old days at all. These kids are much younger, much looser. They don't have a nerve in their bodies. Marse Joe McCarthy, the Babe, Gehrig, Lazzeri, they seemed so much more serious."

It was a busy day for Sheehy Tuesday, packing all the gear for the team's departure for Kansas City where the best-of-five playoff series against the Royals opens Saturday.

"The playoffs—never had any playoffs back then," Sheehy mumbled, half to himself. "Sudden death. What a big difference that makes. To become champs, you don't have to win just one series, you have to win two."

"Yeah," piped up Yogi Berra, dressing over in the corner. "The whole season doesn't mean a damn thing unless we win this one."

"It's like winning a marathon and then running a 100-yard dash to see if it was for real," observed another.

"The Yankees really haven't played a big game yet," added pitcher Ken Holtzman, who wears three World Series rings from his experience with the Oakland A's. "You can't rate a team until it's faced a playoff or a World Series test. And this one hasn't."

"At Oakland, remember, we won three playoffs and three World Series all in a row (1972-73-74). It's like winning six series. It took a lot of character—individual character—to pull off a string like that."

Sheehy insisted that "character" is the best description of the 1976 Yankees, a team which won 97 games and finished 10½ ahead of Baltimore in the American League's Eastern Division.

"We don't have the big guns of some of those teams that won for McCarthy and Casey Stengel," Sheehy said. "But this team has character and pride—as much as I have ever seen. They laugh and kid a lot but they play serious baseball."

Sheehy was 16 years old when Fred Logan gave him a job in the Yankee club house in 1926. He's been around ever since, supervising the laundry, keeping towels on the racks, packing and unpacking for 26 teams that gained the World Series, 19 winning it.

"Listen to those radios," he suggested. "Always some music in the air. Hair dryers. Sweet smelling perfume. A different breed of men— younger but very smart and all very dedicated."

Loretta Finally Makes It To Nashville, Tenn.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Loretta has finally made it to Nashville.

Mary Kay Place, who plays Loretta Haggard on the "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" comedy-soap opera on television, was in Nashville last week for the first time.

Accompanied by Graham Jarvis, who plays her husband Charlie on the show, Miss Place sang on the Grand Ole Opry, was given a tour of the city and met several celebrities.

On the show, the dream-deluded Loretta and her ambitious husband have been trying to travel to Nashville so she can become a big country music star.

In real life, she's already recorded a country album and now may boast that she's sung on the Grand Ole Opry, visited the Country Music Hall of Fame and had her picture taken in front of a wax figure of Hank Williams Jr.

She bought a book showing the homes of the stars, sang briefly for a man drinking beer at the famed Tootsie's Orchid Lounge and was complimented by Minnie Pearl.

"She is Southern, isn't she?" Miss Pearl said after meeting Loretta and discovering that Loretta really does have a Southern accent.

"This is the closest I'll ever get to the 'Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman' show," Miss Pearl said. "Minnie Pearl would be a little lost in that atmosphere."

Miss Place's album is entitled "Tonight! At The Capri Lounge." Dolly Parton, Emmylou Harris, Anne Murray and Herb Pederson are supporting vocalists on the album.

Though she has been singing since her days at the University of Tulsa, she is of course best known now as an actress. But she has written scripts for episodes of "Phyllis," "Paper Moon," "Maude," "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" and "M-A-S-H."

One of her first singing parts came when she sang "If Communism Comes Knocking At Your Door, Don't Answer It," on another television show: "All In The Family."

After singing on "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman," record companies began trying to sign her.

"I knew why people were after me — because I was so well-known from the show," she said. "I didn't want to cash in on my television exposure. I didn't want to do a novelty album."

She finally accepted an offer to record with the understanding the album would be more than a collection of badly-sung country songs.

The album includes original material, Miss Parton's hit "All I Could Do" and the sacred song, "Have A Little Talk With Jesus."

Elimination Of Minimum To Help State

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Elimination of the required $20 million minimum balance at the state's general depository should allow the state to earn an additional $250,000 on its investments by the end of the year, according to State Treasurer Frances Jones Mills.

Farmers Bank and Trust Co., the general depository for the state's funds, eliminated the minimum balance, making way for the savings.

Mrs. Mills said Monday that more than $2.5 million has been earned in interest from investment of general depository funds through Sept. 30 this year.

Dr. Ray Ware, a Treasurer's Office consultant, said the minimum balance was removed Friday by mutual agreement of the state and the bank.

It is the third change in the compensating balance required by the bank, which started out at $30 million in January, 1974, and was cut to $25 million six months later. At the end of the first year the minimum balance was reduced to $20 million.

Taylorsville Lake Closes Harold G. Hume's Business

VAN BUREN, Ky. (AP) — Harold G. Hume was restless Saturday as he watched the contents of his 16-year business being sold at auction to make way for a 3,000-acre lake.

"I'm pretty wore out," Hume said, between occasional suggestions to the auctioneer on the value of items. Hume tugged at the brim of his derby hat and never smiled as he watched Bill Willard and the Willard Auction Service selling straight razors, a violin, hog box with gas heating unit, sidesaddles and hundreds of other items that had been the stock of his trade here.

"It's been three weeks packing and getting prepared for it," Hume said. "You always take a beatin' on a sale like this. Your groceries won't bring what they should, but you can't blame people for it. It's just a sad incident. The (Army) Corps of Engineers run us out and we have to sell out," he added.

Ground is scheduled to be broken early next year for the Taylorsville Lake project, which will be formed by a dam 3 1/2 miles southeast of Taylorsville that will back up 18 miles of the Salt River. When the water eventually begins to fill the hollows and branches of this corner of Spencer, Anderson and Nelson counties — Van Buren will be no more.

The small community already looks like a ghost town with empty stores and houses. Some have no windows and doors, yet in the few homes still occupied, the people remain and await the final order to move.

"It has put me in the shape that I can't go back into business," Hume said. "I'm not relocating. I won't be financially able, so I'm going to retire from the grocery business."

Hume said he planned "to travel a while from now on out," with his wife, two daughters and four sons, because "there's no place around here where we can relocate immediately."

"They was happy here on this river," Hume added, "but they're all messed up now."

Hume said the lake "is not necessary and I'll never mess with it."

"Naturally, when people are hurt as bad as we've been hurt, you don't even want to see it, so I'll never be around the lake when it comes," Hume added.

"I think it's about a good a sale as I've ever seen," Hume's first cousin Joe Simpson of Butler, Ky., said as he nodded toward the crowd of about 500 huddled in front of Hume's Grocery.

"He's been accumulating these goods for a long time," Simpson said. "He kept things just like I do. I don't have a store, but I've got about as much stuff and I don't need it," he added.

"I've got five buildings full on the farm and the car has to sit outside the garage in the rain," Simpson added, admitting that a pack rat syndrome apparently runs in the family.

The auctioneer's chant continued and the store's cash register and show cases were sold. Then the crowd moved into the side yards where groceries were auctioned on one side and furniture on the other.

Hume moved from one auction to the other, never smiling.

Cycles Damage Desert

Off-road motorcycle races are badly damaging the Mojave Desert, California Geology reports. The 150-mile Barstow to Las Vegas race, with 3,000 participants, has been held each of the last eight years. The course varies in location each time.

The races, the magazine claims, have destroyed desert pavement, mature vegetation and other natural barriers to erosion that required centuries to form. Major losses of animal and plant life have occurred, and some archaeological sites have been damaged.

The cover of "Kentucky Hospitality: A 200-Year Tradition," a 320-page cookbook available Oct. 1 through members of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, and after Nov. 15 through bookstores as well.

New Cookbook Published By State Women's Clubs

More than 500 recipes—including broiled bear paws, sassafras tea, hoe cakes and burgoo out of the pioneer past, together with recipes for such present Kentucky culinary delights as "Hot Brown," brown sugar crunch and Hawaiian-ambrosia salad, and 10 delightful essays tracing the Commonwealth's hospitable ways with food—make up "Kentucky Hospitality: a 200-Year Tradition," due for publication Oct. 1.

It took three years to produce the 320-page hard-cover volume, said Mrs. Ralph Cooper, the Lexingtonian who took on the chore of editing the new book as a project of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs (KFWC).

"It's remarkable the book is out so soon, involving as it did some 12,000 members of our 260 clubs and thousands of recipes, hundreds of conferences and telephone calls," she said.

Gov. and Mrs. Julian Carroll marked the book's publication with a reception Sept. 29 honoring representatives of KFWC, University Press of Kentucky, the state Bicentennial Commission, historical societies, the media and the booksellers.

"Kentucky Hospitality" will be available through local women's clubs, and after Nov. 15 it will also be on sale at bookstores. The price is $7.95 and profits from its sale will go toward the philanthropic projects of the KFWC.

Carter Scheduled To Speak At Eastern U.

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP) — U.S. Rep. Tim Lee Carter, R-Ky., is scheduled to speak Thursday at a joint meeting of the Scabard and Blade and the College Republicans at Eastern Kentucky University.

District Judgeship For Every County Not Recommended By N. C.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Officials of North Carolina's reformed court system have recommended against the establishment of a district judgeship in every Kentucky county.

They said it wasn't necessary to have a district judge in each county because some rural counties would not have enough cases to justify a full time judge, Rep. Charles Wible, D-Owensboro, said Thursday.

Wible, vice chairman of the special legislative committee on the implementation of Kentucky's Judicial Article, and 16 others visited North Carolina this week to observe how that state's reformed court system works.

Wible said in a telephone interview that the two-day trip was "definitely worthwhile."

"We were able to see firsthand how judicial implementation has taken place, what progress they have made in their judicial reform, and what shortcomings they have encountered," he said.

Kentuckians approved a constitutional amendment last November that reforms the commonwealth's judicial system, and the General Assembly must enact legislation to fully implement it by Jan. 1, 1978.

Gov. Julian Carroll has said he will call a special session of the legislature later this year for the primary purpose of implementing the new court system.

Channelization Project Blocked

HICKMAN, Ky. (AP) — The Western Kentucky Wetlands Preservation Committee has temporarily blocked Army Corps of Engineers plans for a 37-mile channelization project along Western Kentucky's Obion Creek.

When the corps offered to hold a public meeting on dredging operations for the project, the environmentalist group took them up on it and has effectively blocked the corps from accepting bids on the project at least until next year.

Dr. Michael G. Miller, a Murray State University English professor who heads the committee, said the corps probably will be able to go through with its plan eventually.

Miller said the committee hopes to permanently stop the project because of its "unworkability" and the "destruction of wildlife."

Wible and Gary Luhr, a Legislative Research Commission staff member who accompanied the group of legislators and county officials and their representatives, said North Carolina officials appeared amazed that Kentucky is attempting to implement its reform so quickly.

Juror Driven To Court By Sheriff

SCOTTSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Annetta Steenbergen and her husband, Robert, get along just fine on the western Kentucky farm they operate, despite a gentleman caller who takes her for a ride into town each day.

Her "gentleman caller" is Allen County Sheriff Bill Minix. The "ride" is a trip to the Allen County Courthouse, where Mrs. Steenbergen is serving jury duty in Allen Circuit Court.

Mrs. Steenbergen, who says no one has ever had to send the sheriff after her before, does not have a driver's license.

And since her husband is too busy making molasses this time of year, Circuit Judge Frank R. Goad enlisted Sheriff Minix's help — and patrol car.

The court session began that he wasn't going to accept any excuses for jury duty, except sickness and poor hearing.

So when Mrs. Steenbergen, 45, told the judge she couldn't drive on the highway because of a phobia, Goad sent the sheriff after her.

Although she's handy with a tractor, Mrs. Steenbergen says she's afraid to drive on highways and so never got a driver's license.

"Always before, my husband or somebody could drive me anywhere I needed to go. Now, though, the cane is 'just right' and Robert has to stay with making the molasses," she said.

In any event, Mrs. Steenbergen's visits from the sheriff will be over soon. The current court term ends in two weeks.

but it took three more years to draft legislation to implement it, and five years after that to actually put it into effect, Wible said.

The trip left the Kentucky delegation satisfied that the state is heading in the right direction—at least on two counts according to Wible. The North Carolina officials said one shortcoming of their system is that not all judges are required to be attorneys. In addition, the judges run in partisan elections.

Under Kentucky's judicial article, judges run in non-partisan elections and are required at all levels to be attorneys.

However, the North Carolina experience shed little light on one of the most controversial questions facing Kentucky legislators, how to return fines and forfeitures generated by the court system to the local units of government.

North Carolina didn't have to solve that problem, since the fines and forfeitures collected there have traditionally gone to local school boards.

Wible said the "Kentucky delegation came away with the impression that under the reformed system, justice is administered more quickly and the quality of justice is much more uniform."
