Area Voters To Decide Several Races Tuesday

Tuesday is election day in Calloway County, and area residents will help decide a number of races, both local and national.

For president and vice president of the United States, in addition to the Ford-Dole and Carter-Mondale tickets, there are seven other tickets on the ballot nationwide.

Thomas Anderson and Rufus Shackelford are running on the American Party platform. Gus Hall and Jarvis Tyner are the Communist Party candidates. Lester Maddox and William Dyke are the American Independent candidates. Lyndon LaRouche, Jr. and Wayne Evans are running as U. S. Labor Party candidates. Peter Camejo and Willie Mae Reid are Socialist Workers Party candidates. Roger L. MacBride and David Bergland are Libertarian candidates, and Eugene McCarthy and Rollie Bartlett are Independent candidates.

Bob Bersky, a Republican, will challenge Carroll Hubbard, Jr. for Hubbard's seat in congress from this district.

Roy N. Vance is unopposed for the position as Judge of the Court of Appeals, First Division, First District. Warren B. Miller and J. William Howerton will vie for Judge of the Court of Appeals, First District, Second Division.

In the county school board races, only one district is contested. Billy Joe Kings and Billy Joe Stubblefield will run for the school board seat in the second district. Unopposed are Lubie Parrish in District Four and Ferrell Miller in District Five.

Local races include a race for one seat on the Murray City Council, from Ward A, which is being sought by Billy J. Balentine and Ruby Hale. Melissa Easley and Maurice Ryan are unopposed in their race for the Murray School Board.

Halloween To Be Observed On Sunday In Local Area

City and county officials have decided against urging observation of Halloween on Saturday this year, as some other area cities have done.

Local authorities said today that children are urged to observe Halloween on Sunday, Oct. 31, as usual.

Mayor John Ed Scott, City Police Chief Brent Manning, and County Sheriff Maurice Wilson did urge, however, that youngsters complete their "trick-or-treating" as early as possible. City and county law enforcement departments will have extra patrols out Sunday night to curb the usual vandalism associated with the annual event.

Although preventing vandalism is a prime area of concern for local officials on Halloween, the safety of the youngsters participating in trick-or-treat activities is still the main goal.

Here is a list of Halloween-safety suggestions compiled from a number of local official sources:

—Halloween motorists should use extra caution to avoid accidents with young trick-or-treaters walking along streets or driveways. Special caution should be used toward the possibility of children walking from between parked cars.

—Drivers should turn on their headlights earlier than usual in order to help see and be seen by children.

—Parents of trick-or-treaters should encourage their children to dress in light-colored costumes or add reflective tape for added visibility to motorists.

—Children should be urged to complete their rounds by dark or carry flashlights.

—Eyeholes in costume masks should be enlarged to provide better visibility, or make-up may be used instead of masks.

—Costumes should be made or altered short enough to prevent children from tripping. They also should be made of flame-resistant materials if possible.

—Young trick-or-treaters should be accompanied by an older sister or brother or a parent.

—Children should be cautioned against accepting rides from or entering the homes of strangers.

—Parents should inspect the proceeds of their children's outings and discard unwrapped candies and fruit.

—Homeowners should clear their yards of debris and keep the lots well-lit.

Predictions By Hoy Highlight Conference

Predictions of future happenings by internationally known psychic David Hoy highlighted an evening of entertainment last night as the state Fall Travel Conference got underway at Kenlake State Park.

Representatives of the tourism-travel and hospitality industry began converging on the state resort park Tuesday afternoon for the annual two-day conference, which concludes today.

Among other things, Hoy predicted to the tourism industry representatives that Jimmy Carter will win the Presidential election next Tuesday. Hoy said the popular vote in the election will be extremely close and the outcome will be decided in the electoral college.

Other Hoy predictions were: FOREIGN TRADE—By February 1977 the U. S. will be negotiating a trade program with Cuba. This will be the preliminary to an ultimate Western Hemisphere trade and defense alliance, Hoy predicted, with Canada and Cuba taking major roles. Hoy said the alliance would take ten years to come to fruition.

Hoy said that the alliance between the western hemisphere nations would be brought about by the ultimate moving of France and Italy into the Communist sphere and Great Britain and West Germany moving toward their unique brand of socialism.

EARTHQUAKES — Hoy predicted that two earthquakes would occur in California before the end of 1976 and two earthquakes are predicted for summer 1977 in the local region. Hoy said that these tremors (in the local region) will not be as devastating as the quake that resulted in the formation of Reelfoot Lake, but that the quakes will be noticeable tremors. He did not predict the intensity of the earthquakes in California.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Hoy predicted that there will be an "unusual happening" in the White House during the year 1976 but could offer no further details.

The conference continued today with discussions scheduled on travel shows, media contacts, recreation development, legislative activities and group travel.

The conference is sponsored by the Kentucky Hotel and Motel Association, Kentucky's Western Waterland, Kentucky Lake Vacationland, the Paducah Tourist Commission and the Kentucky Department of Public Information.

BURGLARY—Murray City Police reported a burglary last night at Rose's Department Store in the Central Center here. Entry was gained through an air-conditioning unit in the roof, according to police. A complete inventory of missing items was not available this morning, but police said a number of firearms and some sleeping bags were taken.

Holmes Applies For MSU Post Murder-Suicide Attempted Today

Charles J. Holmes, former commissioner of the Kentucky Bureau of Corrections, is seeking employment at Murray State University.

Holmes and university officials said Tuesday that he has applied for the directorship of the school's Division of Criminology, created last summer by the board of regents.

Dr. Constantine Curris, MSU president, said Holmes' application "will be treated like any other. There is no foregone conclusion that he will get the job."

Dr. Andrew F. Sikula, chairman of a special committee appointed to screen applications for the post, said about a dozen persons have applied.

Sikula said the opening has been advertised in several professional publications. That, he said, has resulted in applications being received from across the nation.

Holmes was appointed corrections commissioner in 1972 by former Gov. and now U. S. Sen. Wendell Ford.

Holmes was removed from the position in May by Gov. Julian M. Carroll after a special investigating committee concluded that problems within the state's prison system were caused by mismanagement by corrections officials.

Asked about Holmes' firing, Curris said "it should not have any effect on the processing of his application and possible recommendation for appointment."

(See Holmes, Page 12)

One person is dead and another is critically injured today after an apparent murder-suicide attempt this morning, according to Murray City Police.

Rudell Bogard, 51, of Murray, was pronounced dead at the scene this morning by Deputy Coroner Jerry Gorrell. His wife, Norma Jean Bogard, was in critical condition at Lourdes Hospital in Paducah at noon today.

Local law enforcement officials said Mrs. Bogard apparently shot her husband, and then shot herself. They were at their home at 17th and Miller Streets at the time. Both victims were shot once in the head, apparently with a .22 calibre automatic pistol, which was found in Mrs. Bogard's lap by officers.

Bogard is survived by, in addition to the widow, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Bogard, Route Three; a daughter, Phyllis McCuiston, and two sons Phillip and Greg; four sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Sheppard, Mrs. June Cunningham, Mrs. Wilma Hicks, and Mrs. Estelle Johnston; three brothers, Paul, Tommy, and Ralph Bogard; four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete at this time, with the Max Churchill Funeral Home in charge.

Needline Group To Meet Monday

The Murray-Calloway County Needline Association will hold an informational meeting on Monday, November 1, at 7:00 p. m. at the Calloway County Public Library.

"Tell Me Where To Turn" will be the title of the film to be shown, according to Rev. Robert Brockhoff, chairman of the Needline board, and Mrs. Joe Pat Ward, Needline director, who will also speak at the meeting.

Questions will be welcomed from the public, officials said. The purpose of the meeting will be for Needline contributors and the general public to become better informed as to the aspirations, activities, and attainments of this organization, officials added.

Pre-Dental Club Begins Project

The 11 members of the Pre-Dental Club at Murray State University have taken as a club project the task of instructing students at two of Calloway County's elementary schools in the proper care of their teeth.

The semester-long project was launched last week at the North and East Elementary Schools with students in the second grades involved. The project is being coordinated by Mrs. Lucille Ross of the Calloway County Health Department. Dr. Vaughn Vandergrift, an associate professor in the Department of Chemistry and Geology at Murray State, is the club advisor.

Working with the North Elementary students are: Mike Konrad, senior, Calvert City; Sheila Ellington, sophomore, Paducah; Dan Luther, graduate student, Murray; and Amanda Tucker, sophomore, Mooresville, Ind.

Working with the East Elementary students are: Tim Foster, junior, Hopkinsville; Paul Mason, junior, Iliopolis, Ill.; Debbie Spiceland, junior, Dover, Tenn.; and Lee Stewart, sophomore, Murray.

Also, John Brown, senior, Morganfield; Bob Engle, graduate student, Fulton; and David Cassity, freshman, Benton.

Once each week the Murray State students go to the schools and use films as well as demonstrations to teach the youngsters the causes of tooth decay, bacteria activity among the teeth and preventive measures.

Miss Melisa Byers Becomes Bride Of Mr. Stark In Church Ceremony

A late summer wedding united Jerry Stark and Melisa Byers in marriage. The setting for the candle light ceremony was Union Hill Church of Christ.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gus Byers of Hardin. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Stark of Murray.

The music was presented by an acapella group from Seventh and Poplar Church of Christ, Murray.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Brother William McCormick of Sparta, Tenn., before an arch adorned with rainbow colors of daisies and entwined with baby's breath. Surrounding the arch, to keep in theme of a rainbow accent, were pots of daisies, gladioli and greenery. Two special candelabra and two gold tree candelabra on each side finished the arrangement. The windows were flanked with daisies and accented with small hurricane lamps. Family pews were marked by hand bouquets of gladioli entwined with yellow satin bows.

Bride's Dress

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Gary Byers and given in marriage by her parents. She wore a formal gown of chantilly lace. The square neckline was accented with scallops of lace and tiny seed pearls. The deep-cuffed shepherdess sleeves dipped to a point over the wrist. The fitted lace bodice was complimented with a gathered skirt, with layers of scalloped chantilly lace falling to the floor to form a chapel length train. To complete a perfect occasion the bride chose a single strand of white pearls and a diamond pendant given her by the groom.

The three tier veil of silk illusion was encircled with matching lace. The headpiece was accented with a lace cap edged with seed pearls. The bridal bouquet consisted of a heart shaped cascade of white daisies, with yellow centers encircled with yellow roses and lace, centered with a yellow baby orchid. Long white streamers tied in love knots fell from the cascade. She wore the traditional something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue and a sixpence in her shoe.

The bride chose her sister-in-law, Mrs. Faye Byers of Memphis, Tenn., as matron of honor. She was attired in a formal gown of pale yellow chiffon. The flowing gown gathered at an empire waist line with straps to accent the shoulders. Over the gown draped a sheer elbow length chiffon cape with a boat neckline. The gown was completed with a matching wide brimmed picture hat.

Her bridesmaids were Miss Sandra Stark, sister of the groom, Miss Cheryl Smith, Mrs. Kathy Puckett, and Mrs. Linda Bonner. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Cindy Byers, niece of the bride.

They all wore identical gowns styled like the matron of honor in corresponding rainbow colors. The gowns were designed by the bride and the seamstress was Mrs. Donna Hunter of Benton. The attendants each carried a nose-gay trimmed in lace and filled with rainbow colored daisies.

Miss Angie Byers, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a gown designed similar to the matron of honor. Jamie Puckett served as ringbearer. She carried a lace basket filled with rose petals and he carried the traditional white pillow.

The guest register was kept by Miss Beth Werner, cousin of the bride. Miss Rhonda and Robin Mathis distributed scrolls and rice bags at the wedding and reception.

The groom chose Danny Chadwick of Murray as best man. Groomsmen were Joe Hal Stark, uncle of the groom, Larry Lawrence, David Beane, and Wayne Woods, cousin of the groom. Serving as ushers and lighting the candles were Larry Tucker and Greg McClure. They were attired in yellow tuxedos trimmed in black velvet with shirts colored to match their attendant.

For her daughter's wedding the bride's mother chose a floor-length gown of mint-green knit and organza. The groom's mother was attired in a pink floor-length gown of oiana nylon. Both mothers wore a baby orchid.

Grandparents attending the wedding were Mrs. Tennie Byers, paternal grandmother of the bride and Ocus Carraway, maternal grandfather of the bride. Mrs. J. B. Stark, paternal grandmother of the groom, was unable to attend due to illness. The grandmothers were presented white carnation corsages.

Reception

The setting for the reception, following the ceremony, was at the Trevathan room in Benton.

The bride's table was covered with yellow organza, overlaid by layers of white lace to form a skirt around the table. The center floral arrangement was made of rainbow colored daisies, surrounded by two silver candle holders with crystal ornaments. The three tiered wedding cake was decorated in mint-green and yellow daisies accented by a multi-tiered flowing fountain at the bottom.

The groom's table was centered with a round chocolate cake set off by a rolling pin to decorate the top. To finish the bride's table were silver and crystal appointments with a silver punch bowl of festive dry ice and punch.

The reception was catered by Mrs. W. Lowe of Paducah. Serving at the reception were Mrs. Janice Wetmore, Mrs. Patsy Oliver, and Mrs. Cheryl Doores.

The bride chose a three piece blue suit for her going away outfit. She wore the yellow orchid from her bridal bouquet.

After a wedding trip to the

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Stark

Great Smoky Mountains, the couple now resides on Murray Route Two where Mr. Stark is self-employed as a farmer. Mrs. Stark is a speech therapist at Calvert City Elementary School.

Rehearsal Dinner

The groom's parents were hosts to a rehearsal buffet at the Colonial House Smorgasbord in Murray. The bridal couple chose this time to present their attendants with gifts.

Other pre-nuptial events included a tea shower given by Mrs. Kathy Puckett, Mrs. Linda Bonner, Miss Cheryl Smith, Mrs. Patsy Oliver, and Mrs. June Pierce; a bridal shower given by Mrs. Kenton White, Mrs. Otis Woods, Mrs. Frank Pool, Mrs. Gerry Requarth, Mrs. Douglas Tucker, Mrs. James Tucker, Mrs. Bill Stubblefield, and Miss Kathy Stubblefield.

Two miscellaneous showers were given by the churches the couple attends—The Kirksey Church of Christ at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Smith and the Union Hill Church of Christ given by Mrs.

James Carroll, Mrs. John Elkins, Mrs. Edward Burken, Mrs. Cleo Duncan, Mrs. James Gillihan and Mrs. J. Washburn. A personal shower was given by Miss Cheryl Smith and Mrs. Linda Bonner at the home of Miss Smith.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included Miss Beth Werner, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Paschal, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kerrigan and Pam and Paul John, all of Nashville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shackelford, of Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hal Stark of Buchanan, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Woods and Pamalee, of Jackson, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Oakley, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Doores and Ingra, of Wingo; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Byers, Cindy, Michael, and Angie, Miss Pam Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Raynor, all of Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. William McCormick, Sparta, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Oather Asher and Melody, Herrell Byers, Mrs. Nelda Burken, and Mrs. Zona Byers, all of Paducah.

South Pleasant Grove United ### Methodist Church Women Meet

The general meeting of the South Pleasant Grove United Methodist Church Women was held Wednesday, October 4, at seven p. m. at the church with nineteen members present.

Mrs. Estelle Gooch and Mrs. Marilyn Erwin were in charge of the pledge service entitled "Must I Give."

Scripture from John 21:15-17 and the purpose were read by Mrs. Gooch. Each member was given a penny. A dialogue was presented by the two leaders with Mrs. Lurene Cooper singing "Magic Penny," accompanied by Mrs. Olivene Erwin, pianist.

Each member exchanged her penny as a token of her willingness to pledge and the receiving of a penny as a symbol of the joy one receives in being a part of meeting the needs of others, Mrs. Gooch said.

Pledge cards were signed as the group sang "Magic Penny," and the closing prayer was by Mrs. Erwin. Mrs. Mavis McCamish presided at the business session with Mrs. Clovis Brown, secretary, and Mrs. Gooch and Mrs. Erwin, treasurers, giving reports. The slate of officers was read by Mrs. Justine Story and they were elected.

Announcement was made of the annual conference at Lambuth College, Jackson, Tenn., October 30, Officers Training Day at two p. m. on November 14 at Mason's Chapel, and Church Women United at Kirksey on November 5 at 7:30 p. m.

The group voted to send a gift to missions in honor of Mrs. Murla Brandon. Mrs. Justine Story led the closing prayer.

Refreshments of homemade pie, coffee, and Cokes were served by the Blankenship Unit.

Before you preheat the oven, make sure the oven racks are in the proper place. For example, for yeast-bread loaves and pies you may want to place the rack below the center of the oven.

Pumpkins were aglow amid spiders and ghosts as music of howls and gory sounds vibrated from the creaking door as each person, costumed for the evening, entered. Games were played followed by a potluck dinner. Attending, pictured left to right, were Edna Vaughn, Sue Brandon, Kathy Lichtenegger, Joretta Randolph, Marsha Horton, Tricia Nesbitt, and Linda Rogers. Husbands present were John Randolph, Tommy Brandon, James Lichtenegger, John Paul Nesbitt, and Andy Rogers.

Murray High FHA Has Installation Service

The Murray High School Chapter of the Future Home-Makers of America held its formal initiation ceremony for forty-three new members on Tuesday, October 5, at 6:30 p.m. in the school library. Teresa Cunningham, president, presided.

Eight purposes of the organization were given and a candle was lit for each purpose. Program leaders were Julie Sams and Julie Billington, co-chairmen, Karen Brandon, Lee Bryan, Katherine Dick, Dana English, Gerilyn Garland, Valerie King, Martha Pitman, and Beth Taylor.

A humorous skit was given by Phillip Zacheretti on "Bachelor Views of Housekeeping;" a skit was by Martha Pitman and Beth Taylor on "Beauty Tips;" Mary Morris gave her interpretation of Lily Tomlin's "Edith Ann" character; and Dana English read a poem for the devotion.

The meeting was closed with all members repeating the FHA Creed. Refreshments were served in the cafeteria by the program committee. The table was overlaid with a yellow cloth and centered with an arrangement of fall flowers. Guests were three girls from the Methods Class at Murray State University. Advisors present were Mrs. Dortha Bailey, Mrs. Sally Crass, and Mrs. Lucy Lilly.

Local Scene

League, Women Voters Plan Forums At Meet

The League of Women Voters met on October 11. Louise Sickel, president, announced that the Murray chapter had been asked to co-sponsor (with the MSU Political Science Department) the UCM luncheons for October 20, 27, and November 3.

These forums are for the purpose of allowing Republican - Bert Folsom (October 20) and Democrat - Gil Mathis (October 27) Proponents to present their party's viewpoints on issues in the national election. The November 3 forum will be chaired by Larry Kjos to pull it all together.

The speaker was Mrs. Bunny Davey, vice president in charge of programs for the State of Kentucky League. Mrs. Davey stressed the importance of the "Know Your Community Survey" which is currently being conducted here in Murray and Calloway County.

Programs for the league are on three levels: national, date and local. The biggest of these on all levels at the present time is "Land Use." She suggested that the local league might concern itself with this since it includes strip mining, severance tax, water and air pollution. Mrs. Davey brought with her a number of copies of a newsletter with reports on the candidates for state offices and their stands on issues.

These have been distributed through service organizations and made available at the public library. A report from voter services informed the members that the league had assisted at least seventy-five persons to register to vote.

Charlotte Sturm, observing at the planning commission, reported zoning problems in the fringe areas of the city.

The Calloway County High School Junior Beta Club made plans for the fall financial project at the meeting held at the school with Susan Byars, president, presiding.

Chocolate and peanut butter candy bars, and pecan logs will be sold by members of the club during November. Persons may contact members for the candy.

As a service project the club voted to clean the school trophy case with clean up days held on October 18, 19, and 20. The District Beta meeting on October 7 at Marshall County High School was discussed.

Tim Feltner, vice-president, led in the pledge to the American flag, Timmy Graham gave the devotion, and Amanda Dunn, secretary, Tammi Crouse, treasurer, and Laura Fones, reporter, gave reports.

Luncheon Planned By Chapter M Of PEO

Chapter M of P. E. O. members and their husbands will have a potluck luncheon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Sparks on Sunday, October 31, at 1:30 p.m.

This will be held Sunday instead of the special event planned and announced for Monday, November 1, at the home of Mrs. A. W. Simmons, Jr.

Buell W. Edmonds: An Influential Leader

Buell W. Edmonds, one of the most influential farm leaders of the Purchase Area, died Saturday at the local hospital.

The Calloway County man was manager of the Valley Counties of Kentucky, an organization of the Tennessee Valley Authority which was started about 1943 composed of all counties of Western Kentucky in which all waters flowed into the Tennessee River.

This organization was organized to include cooperatives of the area to promote cover crops and other programs of the TVA area. Valley Counties is also aided by associated cooperatives in Alabama.

Mr. Edmonds was asked by the TVA to head this project while he was with the old ASC Committee in Frankfort.

While in Frankfort as a member of the committee, Mr. Edmonds was instrumental in helping many local farmers with farm and home loans to improve their farming programs in this area.

Mr. Edmonds worked in his quiet unassuming manner to achieve the goals for his fellow man and was an asset to the community in other civic, church, school, and family functions.

In the death of Mr. Edmonds, Calloway County has lost another of its most influential and helpful leaders. We extend sympathy to his wife, daughter, grandchildren, and great grandchildren.

Isn't It The Truth

There is one important difference between skunk and man that has nothing to do with the difference in species. It is the manner in which he achieves isolation. When man wants to be alone he has to work at it — he puts out the light, pulls down the curtains and pulls the covers over his head. When a skunk wants to be alone he merely stands still and sniffs.

Funny Funny World

J. Paul Getty neither perpetrated or appreciated practical jokes. But one time, bored with the duck hunting stories of an associate, he procured two ducks and set them in a half filled bathtub of his houseguest's bathroom. When the hunter discovered the ducks, he rushed downstairs to report the phenomenon to his host. "They must have flown in through the open window," Getty replied calmly. "That's what I figured," said the guest, "but how the devil did they manage to turn on the water?"

TODAY'S TOPIC: A PROPAGANDA EVENT

One of the oldest tactics of the Left is to take a tragic event and turn it into a propaganda showpiece.

This tactic was employed in late September following the murder in Washington, D. C., of Orlando Letelier, foreign minister in the Allende regime in Chile in the early 1970s, and of Ronni Moffitt, a young woman on the staff of the Institute of Policy Studies which the Washington Post described as a "leftist think tank."

The bombing of the automobile in which Mr. Letelier and Mrs. Moffitt were riding was a brutal and shocking crime. This crime should be the subject of the most complete investigation by District of Columbia police.

The services for these two individuals, however, were transformed into a political opportunity for the Left. The Post reported that hundreds of mourners came from other cities to join what "some in the crowd described as a Washington-based coalition of leftist-oriented people from South American countries."

The memorial turned into a march reminiscent of radical Vietnams protests of the 1960s. Joan Baez, the songbird of Vietnam protesters, sang at the funeral. "Comrade Orlando, your death will be avenged," the marchers chanted.

It is interesting to note the American political types in attendance. Ex-Sen. Eugene McCarthy was on hand. Sen. George McGovern denounced "the grisly gang now dictating events in Chile." One wonders how many Americans will remember Sen. McGovern's chummy visit to Dictator Fidel Castro in Communist Cuba.

Spokesmen for Marxist regimes turned out for the march. Taking part, for instance, was Ambassador Jose Carlos Lobo of the People's Republic of Mozambique. He said he was there "to show solidarity with the people of Chile." Mozambique is a one-party revolutionary state that sponsors terrorist attacks against its neighbors.

The message of the march was perfectly clear. Signs carried by marchers read: "All corporate interests out of Chile."

In short, the march had the purpose of attacking the anti-communist government in power in Chile and of condemning the U.S. diplomatic and economic ties with Chile.

Ever since "comrade president" Salvador Allende was overthrown on Sept. 11, 1973, Chile has been the target of a global propaganda offensive. Why? Because Chile is a country that managed to escape communist domination. To hard core leftists, that is an unthinkable historical development.

Commentators who couldn't bring themselves to mention the 20 to 60 million people Mao Tse-tung's regime murdered were, nevertheless, brought to a fever of indignation by "the death of democracy" in Chile, as they put it.

Orlando Letelier, who was murdered in Washington, was a participant with Salvador Allende in the real conspiracy against democracy in Chile. He was foreign minister of Chile at a time when Allende was importing weapons from Cuba and allowing Cubans and Russians to infiltrate Chile.

It is time to recall what happened in Chile. One of the most accurate accounts was given by Robert Moss, special correspondent of The Economist (London), in the March, 1974, issue of Encounter.

Mr. Moss said in that article that "Allende was no more a man of peace and non-violence than his friend Fidel Castro." Chile, under Allende, Mr. Moss wrote, "had ceased to be a viable democracy." He noted that "the 1,400 Russians in Chile were not exclusively concerned with importing tractors. The Cubans did not confine themselves to supplying guns and instructors to guerrilla Left."

The people who organized the recent Washington march are engaged in what Mr. Moss has described as weaving "a fashionable mythology" around Allende. The Institute of Policy Studies and other radical groups are attempting to present the Allende era as a period of democracy.

It is well to recall Mr. Moss' statement that "The men now painted as martyrs for democracy are the same men that smuggled in machine guns camouflaged as mango ice-cream, and meant to use them."

HEARTLINE

HEARTLINE

HEARTLINE is a service for senior citizens of all ages. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write HEARTLINE, 114 E. Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. Senior citizens will receive prompt replies, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

Heartline: I recently heard from a neighbor that you now have a Pen Pal Club. She has found many friends through her membership in your club. I would be interested in joining. Can you tell me how to join? C. R. S.

Answer: For complete information about Heartline's Pen Pal Club, write to Heartline's American 60 Club, 114 E. Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381.

Heartline: When I retired, I was awarded a 100 per cent service-connected disability rating by the VA. I was single. About two years ago, I married. Shouldn't there be some extra money if a veteran has a wife? B. K.

Answer: Yes. An additional amount of compensation may be payable for a wife, husband, child and a dependent parent when a veteran is entitled to compensation based on disability evaluated as 50 per cent or more disabling. The veteran is responsible for notifying the Veterans Administration of any change in dependency status.

Heartline: I recently moved to a new state and my monthly Supplemental Security Income check is less. Shouldn't I get the same amount as before I moved? F. K.

Answer: Not necessarily. Each state has the choice of supplementing the federal payment and deciding how much the supplement will be. The state to which you moved has either chosen not to supplement the federal benefit or to set the amount of the supplement at a rate lower than the state from which you moved.

Eighty-five women of the Calloway County Homemakers Clubs were present for the Officers Training Day on October 23, according to Barletta Wraether, home agent. Mrs. Richard Armstrong is president and Mrs. Leon Adams is secretary.

The Calloway County Bow Hunters Club will have a field and novelty shoot on Sunday at the field course on the Concord Road.

Tommy McNeely hit for 38 points for Lynn Grove High School, but still lost 88 to 85 to Milburn in basketball.

Births reported include a boy to Mr. and Mrs. Chad Stewart on October 23, and a girl, Trenia Dian, to Mr. and Mrs. William Ted Atkins on October 15.

Miss Janet Elaine Casper and Lt. Donald Ray Williams were married October 6 at Petersburg, Va.

Let's Stay Well

Nose And Throat Examination

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

An instrument for the direct viewing of the nose, upper pharynx behind the nose (nasopharynx), the throat and the voice box (larynx) is coming into greater use.

The instrument is small (about 10-inches long and approximately one-third of an inch in diameter) but has a long name — nasopharyngolaryngoscope. Even though it is flexible and bends in different directions, light passes through the fibers for illuminations. The lens on the tip allows the observer to view the area to be explored.

With a small amount of local anesthetic in the nose, the tip of the scope can be introduced in one nostril and various parts of that side of the nose viewed directly, including the opening of certain of the sinuses.

As the scope is inserted deeper, the upper pharynx comes in sight so that the adenoid area, the opening of the Eustachian tubes, which lead to the ears, and the remainder of the mucous membrane of the nasopharynx can be inspected for color, inflammation, growths or other abnormalities.

In addition, the back of the soft palate, uvula, the epiglottis and voice box can be reviewed by direct vision in a deliberate and systematic fashion and without discomfort to the patient.

In more serious cases in which tissue has to be removed for biopsy and microscopic examination, such as in cases in which cancer must be ruled out, the scope can be in one nostril and the biopsy forceps in the other with the biopsy taken under direct vision, being more certain that a representative piece of tissue is obtained for study.

Traditionally, for about 100 years, physicians have used an angled mirror to make a rather hurried examination of these areas of the pharynx and voice box. The patient has to cooperate and occasionally experiences considerable discomfort, especially if he has a sensitive gag reflex.

The flexible scope can be used in a newborn baby or in any aged, unconscious patient at the bedside. The examination is more adequate and less disturbing.

Q Mr. S.H. wants to know if it is true that the loss of a night's sleep is a good way to break up a case of the blues.

A: It is all not quite that simple. It is true that researchers at the National Institute of Mental Health recently reported in the American Medical Association's Archives of General Psychiatry that deprivation of sleep helped for a short time to relieve depressed moods for some obscure reason.

It has been known that depressed persons are often troubled with insomnia, and it may be nature's way of bringing relief to a depression. Sleep loss should not be used in such cases except under the care of a physician.

Q Mrs. B.A. asks if a severe burn to a pregnant woman will cause any deformity to her baby.

A: Severe burns represent one of the most stressing forms of trauma to which a person may be subjected. This applies especially to a pregnant woman, but her chances of survival are about the same as the chances of a nonpregnant person. If she survives, the baby usually survives.

If the burn is going to be fatal, the pregnancy usually terminates spontaneously prior to the death of the mother. The burn does not have any tendency to produce deformity in a baby.

Hallenbach Takes Case to Higher Court

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jefferson County Judge Todd Hollenbach, who claims a federal judge went too far in ordering massive busing to integrate Louisville-area schools, has taken his case to a higher court.

Jefferson County Atty. J. Bruce Miller filed an appeal on Hollenbach's behalf Tuesday with the 6th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, contending U. S. District Court Judge James F. Gordon misunderstood instructions from the appellate panel.

Gordon, at the direction of the 6th Circuit, ordered Louisville-area schools desegregated in July 1975. His plan required more than 22,000 pupils to be bused and instituted a system of racial quotas in all schools.

The plan has been upheld by the 6th Circuit, but the latest appeal asks that Gordon be ordered to hold a hearing on an "alternate desegregation plan" drawn up by Dr. James Coleman, a University of Chicago sociologist who was an early proponent of busing to achieve racial balance in schools.

Coleman's alternate plan, which basically would create a voluntary busing program, was rejected by Gordon last summer, and that ruling is what is being appealed.

"Judge Gordon, we think, misunderstood what the 6th Circuit told him," Miller said. "The 6th Circuit did not require that every school had to be racially balanced. Judge Gordon thinks that's what was required. We can show cases where the 6th Circuit has not required racial ratios."

Coleman, according to Miller, has changed his mind about the usefulness of busing as a tool to end segregation.

"His research now shows that it is totally counterproductive," Miller said. "In his judgement, it is not only not the answer, it is destroying the public school system. It is causing a resegregation, people leaving the school system."

The plan, although drawn up mostly by Coleman, was submitted by Hollenbach, the county's chief executive officer, Miller noted.

Gordon, in throwing out the alternate plan, said the appeals court had ordered him to "destroy all vestiges of state-imposed segregation" and that Hollenbach's proposal did not meet the requirements for desegregating local schools.

Hollenbach's brief filed Tuesday contends that under Gordon's order, "what is being provided is an inferior educational opportunity for blacks and whites alike."

Hollenbach's brief argues that Gordon was required by the higher court to eliminate all vestiges of state-imposed segregation. Hollenbach said in the brief that his plan would do just that.

"We feel if we prevail, then the vast numbers of children being bused for desegregation can be substantially reduced," Miller said.

Gilbertsville Residents Assessed For City Debts

GILBERTSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The adage about the inevitability of death and taxes has assumed a special significance for this tiny resort hamlet in western Kentucky.

Despite the death of Gilbertsville, about 100 of the town's citizens have just been hit with a one-time, 200 per cent increase in the city property tax.

Gilbertsville died last June 14 when a Marshall County Circuit Court judge agreed to abide by a referendum vote that abolished the town's 23-year-old charter.

Ironically, one of the arguments against the old charter was that it authorized taxation. The latest tax, to the surprise of no one, has not won rave reviews.

"I think the reaction has been most vigorous," said Roger W. Perry, former city attorney.

George Long, the city receiver, added: "I've had about a half dozen calls that have been rather bitter."

"It looks to me like an unjust thing because it's a tax put on us after the charter was dissolved," said Hubert DeBoe, one of the original leaders of the drive to dissolve the charter. "I don't see why the people have to pay anything."

Long, a Benton attorney, is the apparent villain. He was appointed city receiver upon the dissolution of Gilbertsville's charter.

Perry, the author of the judgement under which Long was appointed, said the receiver is trustee for the city until all outstanding debts are repaid. Although a city can be dissolved by court order, it "cannot wind up (under Kentucky law) without first paying off its debts," Perry said.

The town of 300 owes about $4,200. Two banks, among other lenders, are due $650, and about $760 in attorneys' fees — not including his own — still are outstanding, Long said.

Long said he began raising the funds by selling off the city's outstanding assets, including typewriters, walkie-talkies and the town's only police car.

But the sale didn't bring much, Long said.

Long then set about collecting delinquent taxes. Some taxpayers have paid up, but others have ignored mailed notices and now face suits filed by Long.

Finally, drained of alternatives, Long said he raised the property tax from 20 cents to 60 cents per $100 valuation.

One motel alone must pay $300 under the increase, but Long said the average property owner will have to pay from $50 to $60.

"The city was a legal entity, and they made transactions with people in good faith," Long said. "Whether the residents like it or not, I don't think it would be right for the businessmen to get stuck with those debts."

One person, however, probably won't ever be fully repaid — Long himself.

He said his fee has not been established, but that "it's going to be considerably more than I ever get. I've already put in 70 hours on this thing and there's no way I'll ever get adequately compensated."

The Gatling gun, the first machine gun, was developed by Richard Gatling in 1861.

Yeager Participates In Marine Operation

Marine Corporal Robert D. Yeager, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Finley of Route 6, Murray, participated in exercise "Bonded Item" in the North Sea.

He is serving as a member of Regimental Landing Team-8, which is a component of the 4th Marine Amphibious Brigade.

He was one of 11,000 Marines, soldiers, and Navy Corpsmen, from the U. S., Denmark and the Federal Republic of Germany, who recently took part in the coordinated amphibious, land and air exercise.

The primary objective of the exercise was to evaluate and enhance the Allied capabilities for amphibious support for Northern Western Europe.

Participating units evaluated increased standardization of doctrines, equipment—and armaments among NATO forces, plus command and control procedures for coordinated action by NATO sea, land and air forces.

"Bonded Item" was conducted jointly by the commanders of the Atlantic Striking Fleet and Allied Baltic Approaches Forces. It is one of a series of operations, conducted each fall from Norway to Turkey, designed to provide unified and coordinated training of national and NATO forces within the Allied Europe Command.

He joined the Marine Corps in November 1971.

He's making us proud again.

A bitter, depressed, vulnerable America has become a confident, strong, proud America.

Inflation has been cut in half.

Prosperity has returned.

Our jobs are secure.

We are at peace.

The world respects us again.

We trust our own government again.

President Ford has started something great.

Now he needs your support to finish a job well begun.

He wants to beat inflation.

He wants to balance the budget.

He wants to return control of our children's education to parents and local school authorities.

He wants to insure jobs for every worker.

He wants to keep prosperity surging.

He wants to keep America strong—and at peace.

He wants to continue to stand for the people against a free-spending Congress.

He wants to build a fairer tax structure.

He wants to build a new dimension of freedom that will allow all Americans to share equally in all the advantages of a free society.

He took on the toughest job in the world—at the toughest time in our history.

He proved that he's tough enough to get the job done.

He asked for your prayers in one of our darkest hours.

He asks for your support in one of our brightest hours.

Turnout Light In State For First Swine Flu Clinics

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The turnout was light during the first week of swine flu clinics in Kentucky, and the state may schedule makeup clinics in some areas, a state health official has said.

Health departments in nearly 30 counties held mass-immunization clinics during the first week Oct. 16-23, said Dr. Mitchell Singal, a Bureau for Health Services physician who is working on the program.

Singal said the count was not in from all counties Tuesday, but preliminary figures indicated about 90,000 Kentuckians were immunized in the first seven days.

He said the bureau had not yet compared its county-by-county figures with the numbers officials hoped would be vaccinated in each county.

But overall, he said, the turnout was "lower than expected."

Kentucky ordered 2.2 million doses of swine flu vaccine and officials hoped that many people would get the shots in the communitywide county health department clinics, which started Oct. 16 and continue through Nov. 18.

If the response remains slow, Singal said, "we may schedule some makeup clinics in some areas after that."

Singal said the low turnout for the early mass clinics could create problems.

"Once the mass clinics are over, if there's a big demand, it's going to be hard for the county health departments to accommodate the load," he said. "If people don't get the shots at all, they're going to be susceptible to the swine flu."

He said no cases of swine flu had been reported so far this fall in Kentucky, or in any other state.

Influenza is most frequent in Kentucky in January, he said, noting that it takes several weeks after a flu shot for the recipient's immunity to build.

Counties that held clinics during the first week include Ballard, Bath, Breahitt, Calloway, Carlisle, Floyd, Fulton, Graves, Grayson, Hickman, Jefferson, Johnson, Knott, Lee, Livingston, Lyon, McCracken, Madison, Magoffin, Marshall, Martin, Meniffee, Morgan, Pike, Scott, Trigg and Woodford.

Counties that have held or are scheduled to hold clinics this week include Boyd, Boyle, Bracken, Campbell, Carter, Christian, Clark, Daviess, Elliott, Fayette, Fleming, Garrard, Greenup, Harrison, Kenton, Lawrence, Lewis, Mason, Montgomery, Nicholas, Owen and Rowan.

Local arrangements are being handled by the county health departments.

Baseball Owners Want Series To Start Earlier

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
NEW YORK, (AP) — An earlier World Series to avoid the late October cold and a return to Sunday afternoon play will be the target of baseball directors who bring the matter up for review at the annual meetings in December.

Also there is likely to be a move on the part of owners to take a stronger role in the conduct of the post-season classic. The series is now the strict province of the commissioner.

This was the finding of an Associated Press survey following the soundly criticized 1976 championship, won by the Cincinnati Reds in four straight games over the New York Yankees.

The games, both in Cincinnati and in New York, were played in bitter, near freezing temperature and there was strong criticism of the shift of the second game from Sunday afternoon to Sunday night.

Although baseball received a $750,000 bonus from NBC-TV for moving the game into prime time, some critics considered the move an injustice to both the players and fans because of the unseasonably bad weather. Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said the change was made as an experiment to allow more fans to see the game.

The AP contacted the game's directors for opinion on three points: 1. Were they unhappy with the series? 2. What measures should be taken to improve the classic? 3. Do they feel that television has too great an impact on the scheduling?

The consensus, with mild variations, was largely as follows:

—The season is too long and should be condensed to allow for an earlier start of the World Series, preferably without jeopardizing the 162-game schedule.

—Weekday games may be played at night but the Saturday and Sunday games should be reserved for the afternoon, disregarding the conflict with pro football.

—Television wields a tremendous influence but this is unavoidable because of the medium's large financial input.

The World Series format, its future course in an age of economic pressures, will be the subject of close scrutiny at the meeting of the game's hierarchy in Los Angeles Dec. 5-11.

"The season starts too early, ends too late and there are too many games in between," said Bill Veeck, president of the Chicago White Sox. "If you are going to play at night, the earlier you start the better considering the weather."

"As for TV, I think if you take a considerable amount of money from someone, you should be as helpful as you can but the people you have to please most are your fans."

George Steinbrenner III, owner of the New York Yankees, said it was ridiculous to wait five days after the end of the season to start the playoffs just to satisfy or meet TV's weekend desires.

"If there is extra time it should be between the playoffs and the World Series. Our team went into the series emotionally drained. I think the owners will want to get more involved and the commissioner will welcome it."

Steinbrenner said he personally was opposed to the Sunday night game but could not hold Kuhn responsible. "The owners voted for it," he said.

The Commissioner has announced that the Sunday night game was experimental and will be up for review as will the long five-day break after the regular season. The Sunday night game attracted 20 million more viewers than the year before when it was played in the afternoon.

"I think the Sunday night game was a hell of an idea," said Charles O. Finley, owner of the Oakland A's. "It gave fans a chance to see pro football in the afternoon and baseball at night."

"But it was stupid to start the World Series the middle of October. It should start two weeks earlier, one week at the most. The season stretches out too long. I favor night games. After all, I was the one who suggested them."

Bob Howsam, president of the champion Cincinnati Reds, agreed that the five-day break between the season's end and the playoffs was too long and urged that the schedule be condensed, eliminating the open date to allow an earlier World Series start.

"TV has a definite place in our sport but the tail cannot wag the dog," Howsam insisted. "Baseball must chart its own destiny."

Bing Devine, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, commented, "I would like to see all baseball games played in the daytime and on regular turf, just as they do at Wrigley Field," he said. "But it's all academic. All the sports seasons are too long and all overlap. It's nobody's fault. It's just the nature of the beast. TV fits in the picture. Economics dictates our action. It's a top level problem."

Dan Galbreath, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, said he favored an earlier Series start but no reduction in games which are necessary to meet financial demands. "There is no question of TV's importance to our game," he added.

Ewing Kauffman, owner of the Kansas City Royals, said he favored night games on weekdays for exposure to added millions of fans but preferred afternoon play on Saturday and Sunday.

"We are almost forced to continue the 162-game schedule because of inflation and the increase in player compensation," he said. "TV revenue is an important factor in our operation."

Several commented that the bad weather was largely happenstance and would not necessarily be expected in future World Series.

"I would hate to see the season start earlier because in April the weather in Cleveland is horrible," said Ted Bonda, president of the Indians. "As for TV, as a fan I personally resent its demands sometimes but, as a practical businessman, I have to go along with it."

Ted Turner, owner of the Atlanta Braves, said, "I think we just got a bad break on the weather. The middle of October is usually Indian Summer. I hardly see how we could start the playoffs and World Series much earlier."

Rangers Turn On Power To Storm Past Bruins

By The Associated Press
The New York Rangers turned on the power and burned up the Cleveland Barons.

"They're the best power play team in hockey," said Cleveland Coach Jack Evans after watching the Rangers beat the Barons 5-2 Tuesday night in a National Hockey League game.

Three of New York's goals came on power plays.

"We compounded one of them by being two men short," noted Evans. "We talked earlier about not taking bad penalties — and then we went out and took them."

Rookie Don Murdoch scored two goals for the Rangers, one when the Barons had two players in the penalty box. He now has 11 goals for the young season.

"He is a great talent," said New York Coach John Ferguson of Murdoch. "He has a great knack for scoring goals, and he doesn't hesitate. Eleven goals for a rookie — that's really unheard of!"

In the other NHL games, the St. Louis Blues whipped the Vancouver Canucks 5-2 and the Los Angeles Kings nipped the Detroit Red Wings 3-2.

Pat Hickey added two goals for New York as the Rangers won their fourth road game in five and ended a three-game unbeaten string for the Barons.

New York's Phil Esposito had two assists, raising his career total to 701 and making him the seventh NHL player to join the 700-assist club.

Blues 5, Canucks 2
Red Berenson scored two goals and had one assist and linemate Ted Irvine chipped in with a goal and two assists as St. Louis rolled past Vancouver.

Garry Unger's power play goal with 2:36 remaining in the second period broke a 2-2 tie, and the Blues went on to record their fourth straight home victory.

Five Teams Deadlocked For Lead In Big Eight

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "No matter who wins what game, it won't be decided until the last game of the conference schedule."

Missouri's Al Onofrio was talking about the Big Eight, but he could have been referring to almost any conference.

The Big Eight, for example, shows a startling five-way deadlock among Nebraska, Missouri, Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Colorado — all ranked in the Top Twenty — with Kansas and Iowa State just one game out.

Kansas State is in last place with a 1-6 over-all mark and the powerful Big Eight, which used to be Oklahoma and the Seven Dwarfs, is now more like K-State and the Seven Giants.

The Big Ten and Pac-8 have two teams sharing the lead while the Southwest Conference and Ivy League are blessed with three-way ties. The Southeastern Conference finds four elubs within one-half game of each other while five of the eight Western Athletic Conference teams have one loss or less.

Only the Atlantic Coast Conference, where Maryland appears to be a shoe-in, isn't really up for grabs.

The close races make forecasting a hazardous chore at best, despite last week's score of 52 right and 18 wrong for a 74.3 percentage. The crystal ball did come through with three Upset Specials — Missouri over Nebraska, Oklahoma State over Oklahoma and Iowa over Minnesota. For the season, the scoreboard reads 337 right, 134 wrong and 10 ties for .715.

Having been so successful in the Big Eight last weekend, let's go back there for openers this week.

Missouri at Oklahoma State: The Missouri Tigers have invaded such snakepits as Los Angeles, Columbus and Lincoln and come away with victories, so why should they be leery of Stillwater, Okla.? Because the Cowboys of O-State kayaked Oklahoma last week, that's why ... Missouri 28-17.

Oklahoma at Colorado: Barry Switzer says crippled Oklahoma is "in the worst shape" of any of the five teams tied for the Big Eight lead. The Sooners may get Mike Vaughan, the man-mountain tackle, back for this one ... Oklahoma 24-17.

Nebraska at Kansas: Nebraska "would have liked a chance to win the national championship, although I'm not sure we ever set that as our goal," says Tom Osborne, whose Cornhuskers were the preseason choice ... Nebraska 31-14.

Kansas State at Iowa State: K-State's last three opponents were Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas. Its next three foes are Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Colorado. This week, it's ... Iowa State 24-14.

Texas at Texas Tech: The rumors are getting stronger than ever that Tech's Steve Sloan will succeed Bear Bryant at Alabama. Right now, Sloan would like to succeed Texas' Darrell Royal, Arkansas' Frank Broyles and Texas A&M's Emory Bellard, who tied for SWC honors last year. Just a hunch ... Texas 22-21.

Mississippi State at Alabama: Another case of the master (Bear Bryant) vs. the pupil (Bob Tyler) and the Bear hardly ever loses one of those ... Alabama 20-13.

Syracuse at Pitt: Can Syracuse stop Tony Dorsett? No one else has ... Pitt 31-10.

UCLA at Washington: UCLA's Terry Donahue expects a tough game with the Huskies. But they made the mistake of handing UCLA its only Pac-8 loss a year ago and that almost cost the Bruins a trip to the Rose Bowl. Revenge is sweet ... UCLA 28-14.

California at Southern California: Ricky Bell should be okay for this one and he needs to take a few Heisman headlines away from Tony Dorsett ... Southern Cal 30-13.

Kentucky at Maryland: Kentucky has already knocked off one old grad this year, LSU's Charlie McClendon. Maryland's Jerry Claiborne is another ex-Wildcat, and he doesn't intend to pay the same price ... Maryland 21-7.

Cincinnati at Georgia: The Cincinnati Bearcats are unbeaten and untied — with one loss. Their on-field record is 5-1, but it's 6-0 if you count the game Southwest Louisiana had to forfeit. Too bad their next two games are on the road against Maryland and ... Georgia 35-14.

Minnesota at Michigan: Minnesota may have been looking ahead while losing to Iowa last week, but looking ahead in vain ... Michigan 28-14.

Ohio State at Indiana: The Hoosiers were ecstatic last year because they only lost to the Buckeyes 24-14 and actually made them throw a pass for their final touchdown. It remains to be seen how the Bucks will perform without injured quarterback Rod Gerald, so a far-out choice as the Upset Special of the Week ... Indiana 22-21.

Other games: South — Florida 24, Auburn 28; The Citadel 18, Appalachian State 14; Georgia Tech 24, Duke 14; East Carolina 30, Western Carolina 28-17.

Northern Michigan Retains Top Spot

SHAWNEE MISSION, Kan. (AP) — Northern Michigan, the defending National Collegiate Athletic Association Division II football champions, strengthened its hold on the top spot in the 1976 NCAA Division II standings.

The 8-0 Wildcats recorded their 16th consecutive victory last week when they defeated Division I rival Central Michigan. Northern Michigan was a unanimous choice atop the polls for the fifth straight week.

Alcorn State, which upset second-ranked Southern University last week, moved into the runnerup spot with a 5-1 record. Akron, 6-0, moved up to No. 3 while Southern dropped into a fourth place tie with Montana State, both at 6-1.

In Division III, St. John's, Minn., took over the top ranking when C.W. Post, which had been No. 1 for five weeks, was upended by Ithaca on Saturday. St. John's, 5-0-1, received a maximum of 60 points. Post dropped to fourth behind Albion and Carroll.

GENERAL

NEW YORK — The director of the United States Olympic Committee, Col. Don Miller, announced that the USOC plans to spend an unprecedented $10 million in sports development for the 1980 Moscow Olympics.

Bowling Green, 10-0, maintained its lead in State AAAA after whipping Warren East 32-8. Henderson County, with three first place votes, was a strong second followed by Owensboro Catholic and Lafayette.

Chicago saw a 16-point halftime bulge cut to one but hung on to win as John Laskowski hit a long jumper and Artis Gilmore added a stuff shot in the final two minutes. It was the fourth straight loss for winless Milwaukee.

Hawks 122, Spurs 114

John Drew poured in 33 points and second-year forward Joe Meriweather, celebrating his 23rd birthday, added 16 points and a career-high 15 rebounds for the Hawks.

Pacers 120, Sonics 90

The Pacers, one of four teams absorbed from the American Basketball Association, took advantage of 29 Seattle turnovers and routed the Sonics for their first victory in the NBA after three losses.

Kings 117, Lakers 115

Kansas City's Ron Boone scored 33 points, including 24 in the second half and six in overtime, offsetting a 31-point effort by the Lakers' Cazzie Russell.

Blazers 110, Warriors 96

Portland reeled off the final 10 points of the third quarter, six by reserve forward Corky Calhoun, in opening an 85-70 lead and the Warriors never threatened. Phil Smith topped the Warriors with 27 points while Bill Walton led Portland with 21.

Owensboro Catholic Up In State Grid Ratings

By MIKE CLARK

AP Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —

Owensboro Catholic won't win a state championship this year, or even a region or district title. But there are other ways to measure success, including a glossy record and a lofty standing in the polls.

Catholic currently stands 7-1 and is ranked third in the latest Associated Press high school football poll. But Coach Jim Wilson's squad will pack away their equipment and winning record at the end of the regular season because Henderson County, State AAAA's second-ranked team, has already clinched the title in the Second District of the 1st Region.

But Wilson noted that "we're not just playing for the sake of playing. Last week, we beat Daviess County (28-6) for the city championship, and that gives you a little incentive. And, of course, when you go out of town, especially to another area of the state, you want to represent your school and your area well."

Wilson's team will get that chance Friday when the Aces visit fourth-rated Lafayette, also up after a 27-0 blanking of Owensboro Apollo.

"This game this week is a good chance for us to get a little statewide recognition," Wilson added. "We like to have people hear about Owensboro Catholic."

Catholic has earned plaudits throughout Wilson's first year at the helm, especially after holding powerful Henderson County to a 28-20 decision last month.

Bowling Green, 10-0, maintained its lead in State AAAA after whipping Warren East 32-8. Henderson County, with three first place votes, was a strong second followed by Owensboro Catholic and Lafayette.

Paducah Tilghman, 6-2, rejoined the top five in place of Ashland, last week's No. 3 team but a 35-6 victim of Portsmouth, Ohio, in its last outing.

Trinity remained atop the Jefferson County ratings, Erlanger Lloyd was a comfortable leader in State AAA, Corbin held the No. 1 position in State AA and Harrodsburg was a unanimous choice in State A.

Joining Tilghman as new members this week were Shelby County in State AAA and Frankfort in State A. Those two replaced Glasgow and Heath, respectively.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Here are the voting breakdowns in the five classifications of The Associated Press high school football poll:

Jeff. Co. AAAA
1. Trinity (9-0) (4) 49

CRUISING CALVIN—Kevin Calvin cruises down the right sideline for 73 yards and an apparent touchdown, only to have it called back because of a penalty. Calvin scored a touchdown in the game as his Browns won 12-6 over the Steelers.

Colts, Browns Capture Wins In Little League

The Browns took over sole possession of first place in the Little League football standings by winning over the Steelers Tuesday night.

Both teams came into the contest with 3-1 marks and the contest was not decided until the final seconds when the Steelers were stopped by the clock and the Browns posted a 12-6 victory.

In the other contest, a much-improved Bears' team fell 13-7 to the Colts.

The Browns now sport a 4-1 season mark while the Colts and Steelers are 3-2 and the Bears are 0-5.

The Steelers got on the board in the opening minutes of the contest as Tommy Workman carried in from four yards out. The conversion pass was intercepted in the endzone by Kevin Calvin of the Browns.

After running one play, the Browns gave the ball right back to the Steelers on a fumble, with Mike Young recovering for the Steelers. However, the Steelers were unable to move the ball and were forced to punt to the Browns.

On a first and 10 from his own 27, Kevin Calvin broke loose for a 73-yard jaunt down the right sideline but the apparent Browns' touchdown was called back because of a motion penalty.

For the remainder of the first half, it was a defensive struggle with neither team having any major scoring threats.

The Steelers got their second fumble recovery with 4:25 left in the third period when Darren Hooper pounced on a loose ball at his own 29 but the Steelers were unable to move past midfield because after only two plays, they fumbled and Calvin recovered for the Browns.

With 3:01 left in the third period, Calvin broke away for a 32-yard touchdown run, making a super cut to his right to avoid a would-be tackler. Calvin was stopped on the conversion and the game was tied at 6-6.

Behind the running of Calvin, David Dickson and Craig Crawford, the Browns began their final scoring march midway through the final quarter.

The drive was capped with 3:16 left when Crawford plunged in from two yards out. The conversion failed and the Browns held a 12-6 lead.

The Steelers thought they had tied it with just 16 seconds left in the game but a 25-yard touchdown run by Todd Rutherford was called back because of a motion penalty.

On a second and 15 play from the Browns' 30, the Steelers came up with a big play. Todd Rutherford handed the ball off to Ronnie Pace then Pace optioned the ball downfield to Tommy Workman who made a fine catch at the five-yard line, stopping the clock with only five seconds left.

Just 15 feet away from tying the game, the Steelers went to Workman on the call. Workman cut to the left side but found no place to go and he was brought down at the four by Mark Bogges and Robert Billington, ending the game and leaving the Browns with the exciting victory.

The Steelers played the game without one of their top players, Chris Fazi, who plays as an offensive and defensive end. The coaching staff of the Steelers recognized the entire team for its well-played game.

The Bears jumped out in front in the first contest played Tuesday evening.

With 5:46 left in the second period, quarterback Timmy Brown connected with Jimmy West for a 34-yard scoring play to boost the Bears to a 6-0 lead over the Colts. On the conversion, David McMillen scored on a reverse to the left side.

The Colts tied it with only 15 seconds left in the first half when quarterback Percy Abell hit Walter Payne on an 11-yard scoring play. David McCuiston added the conversion run to make it a 7-7 contest.

At the 6:43 mark of the third period, David Denham recovered a fumble for the Bears at the Colts' 37. But on the second play, Walter Payne picked off a pass and ran 66 yards on the interception return for a touchdown.

The conversion run failed and with 5:31 left in the third period, the Colts held a 13-7 lead.

The Bears had one more scoring threat and it came in the final minutes of the third period when Stacy Smith recovered a fumbled punt on the Colts' 31. But the Bears were unable to generate any deep penetration and had to give up the ball to the Colts.

In the last period, it was a tough defensive battle with neither team having any major scoring threats.

Action in Little League football will come to an end next Monday. In the 5 p.m. contest, the Steelers will clash with the Colts. In the second game, the Browns will face the Bears.

IN A HURRY—Tim Brown of the Bears is in a hurry to get rid of this pass as Brad Cain (65) rushes the pass. Watching the action are Greg Turner (25) of the Bears and Scott Turner (60) of the Colts.

Ross Browner Of Irish Named Lineman Of Week

By STEVE HERMAN

AP Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) —

Defensive end Ross Browner, who set Notre Dame records for recovered fumbles and tackles for losses in last week's 13-6 victory over South Carolina, was named national college Lineman of the Week today by The Associated Press.

Browner, a 6-foot-3, 248-pound junior from Warren, Ohio, made 11 tackles against the Gamecocks, including five for losses of 33 yards. He also broke up one pass and recovered one fumble, his ninth in three years.

"He really hasn't played a bad game yet," said Irish Coach Dan Devine.

Browner, eldest of three brothers playing for Notre Dame, has sacked opponents 48 times for losses of 309 yards including 17 for 127 yards this season. The former career record was set by Walt Patulski with 40 sacks for 264 yards in losses.

Browner's nine career fumble recoveries broke the former record of eight set by Jim Stock from 1972-75.

"While it's a great thrill to be lineman of the week, it's a reflection on the way our whole team has played since our opening game," Browner said.

The 11th-ranked Irish were stung by Pittsburgh in their opener, but they have responded with five straight victories without allowing a touchdown.

"When a team goes 20 straight quarters without giving up a touchdown, there just can't be any individual stars," said Browner, whose off-the-field modesty and mild manner are in marked contrast with his intense and aggressive style of play.

Devine said the 22-year-old Browner plays "as well as anyone I've ever coached."

"He even plays on our specialty teams, and last year we even groomed him to play offensive tight end just in case we ever needed the help."

The Irish didn't need Browner on offense last year, en route to an 8-3 season, but Devine said his defensive standout provides great leadership for the entire team.

Rain, Sleep Helped Survivor Of Ordeal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bruce Collins says three rainstorms and his fondness for sleep helped him survive a 28-day shipwreck ordeal that killed two companions adrift with him in a raft.

But his parents say self-confidence and optimism saved the tall, gaunt but rosy-cheeked young sailor who arrived here Tuesday aboard a Coast Guard cutter that plucked him from the Pacific Ocean on Sunday about 800 miles west of here.

"I just got into it — slept a lot," Collins said after he was rushed by ambulance to the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital. "I slept as much as I could. I just felt fine. I'm a recreational sleeper."

Collins told his parents that emergency water supplies ran out 13 days after he, Jim Ahola and Camilla Arthur took to a small life raft when their 42-foot yacht Spirit sank during a storm on Sept. 27. Two other survivors were rescued from a separate life raft six days before Collins was found.

"We were able to catch rain water from the canopy on the raft," he said. "Probably after the water ran out, we got maybe three good rainstorms. That would be a lot of water each time."

The 23-year-old business student-turned-adventurer refused to say how Ahola, 25, and Miss Arthur, 20, died. He said he first wanted to give their families the courtesy of personally telling them.

His mother, Kathryn Collins of Walnut Creek, Calif., said she asked her son whether he had given up hope during his days and nights alone on the high seas. "He said, 'Heck no. I was going to drift to California,'" she said. "He's always been strong and optimistic."

Though Collins was malnourished, dehydrated and infected with sores when rescued, his condition improved as he was fed soup and other liquids during the voyage here.

In fact, Collins arrived in such good condition that he wanted to try a hamburger as his first bit of solid food, his doctor said. His only serious problem was sores on his arms and legs caused by heat and lack of hygiene on the raft.

Collins, a veteran of about six years of intensive sailing, had at least temporarily given up a career with an accounting firm to sail around the Pacific and gain experience to become a master mariner.

Mrs. Collins, her banker husband, Kenneth, their daughter, Mary, and a friend of young Collins were allowed to see him aboard ship and visited him at the hospital.

Relatives said Ahola was an outdoorsman who had done some photography. Miss Arthur was his girl friend.

Collins told his rescuers that Ahola died Oct. 19, and Miss Arthur died two days later.

The other crew members were Miss Arthur's friend, Nancy Perry, 21, and Dorel Miller, 28, whom Jackson met on an earlier cruise around the Hawaiian islands. It was the rescue of Miller and Miss Perry on Oct. 18 by a freighter that touched off the week-long search for the other life raft.

Funerals

Mrs. Pollard Dies At Hospital; Was Former Murrayan

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. R. M. (Susie) Pollard who died Thursday, October 21, at a hospital in Valdosta, Ga., where she had resided since the death of her husband several years ago.

Mrs. Pollard and her husband resided in Murray from 1924 to 1949 and operated a laundry here. After his retirement and until his death they resided in their former home at Harrodsburg. The Pollard home while in Murray was at North 13th Street and Olive Boulevard.

Survivors include one daughter, Miss Lucille Pollard, Valdosta, Ga., and two sons, Bill Pollard of Washington and Robert Pollard of Harrodsburg.

Funeral and burial services were held Saturday in Harrodsburg.

Final Rites Held For Melvin Miller

The funeral for Melvin Miller of Murray Route Six was held Monday at two p. m. at the chapel of the Max Churchill Funeral Home with Rev. James T. Garland and Rev. Gary W. Mohler officiating. The music and song service was by the Sugar Creek Quartet.

Palbearers were Wilson Garland, Bert Garland, J. C. Barnett, Jake Barnett, Toy Barnett, and Ronnie Miller. Burial was in the Barnett Cemetery.

Mr. Miller, age 75, died Saturday at 12:55 p. m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. He was a retired farmer and commercial fisherman.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Ina Barnett Miller, to whom he had been married for 52 years; one son, Volin Miller, Hazel Park, Mich.; one brother, Noah (Joe) Miller, Murray; two grandchildren, Teresa and David Miller, Hazel Park, Mich.

Women State Troopers To Be Assigned Same Duties As Men

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Women state troopers, when Kentucky gets some, will be trained and assigned to duties the same as the men, according to State Police Commissioner Truett Ricks.

There will be at least one woman in the State Police Academy class that starts next July, Ricks told a gathering of troopers and reporters Tuesday.

"We will probably have females in the next two or three classes," he said.

Ricks held the meeting at the Holiday Inn, and the parking lot contained enough state police cruisers to make a lawbreaker flee—about 30 of them.

They belonged to troopers of the Frankfort post, which covers Franklin, Fayette, Anderson, Scott, Shelby, Spencer and Woodford counties in central Kentucky.

Ricks is visiting all 16 state police posts this month to keep lines of communications open for all personnel in the bureau.

"We believe our personnel need to be reassured from time to time that we in headquarters have them in mind on a daily basis," Ricks said.

Stops Thursday at the Columbia and Elizabethtown posts will complete the tour. Ricks has been accompanied much of the way, as he was Tuesday, by state Justice Secretary John L. Smith and numerous high-ranking state police officials.

Ricks told the group that any women troopers assigned in Kentucky will be no softies.

At the academy, he said,

"we expect where possible to treat the females just like the males are treated at the present time."

"They will require separate sleeping quarters and bathroom facilities at the academy," he added; but that will be the extent of the special treatment.

He said the women also will receive similar assignments on leaving the academy.

"We have discussed it and read all the literature available on what other state police departments are doing," he said, "and we anticipate that we will assign them out of the academy the way we do their male counterparts."

Ricks touched on many topics, including:

—Driver's license retesting. He said he favors the state police proposal that, beginning in 1978, all drivers be given eye exams and written tests every four years, but doesn't believe the legislature is likely to fund the program. "It's one of the most con-

Gospel Singing To Be, Calvary Temple

A gospel singing will be held at Calvary Temple First Pentecostal Church of God on Thursday, October 28, at 7:30 p. m.

Singers to be featured will be the Harrisons from Bakersfield, Calif.

The public is invited to attend, according to the church pastor, W. R. (Bill) Pryor, and the youth leader, Rick Clendenen.

Soybean Prices Could Go To $8

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Soybean prices could go as high as $8 per bushel this year, state agriculture authorities say.

Continued freezing weather could cause more drastically reduced soybean yields in Kentucky and neighboring states, thereby driving up the price of the crop, state Agriculture Commissioner Tom Harris said Tuesday.

A state survey of damage resulting from last week's freezing temperatures indicated from 15 to 25 per cent of Kentucky's late soybean crop was wiped out, Harris said.

At November future's prices of about $6.25 per bushel that could mean a loss of from $25 million to $40 million.

Harris said if prices are pushed higher the losses to farmers will be even greater.

Another freeze was forecast Tuesday night, and some county agents reportedly feared more damage would be done. However, others said more freezing weather wouldn't make any difference since the damage has already been done.

The losses have been mainly in fields of late-blooming, double-cropped beans planted after the harvest of another crop.

Harris said some frost-related damage is always expected at this time of year.

The damage appeared to vary depending on whether a farm is in a protected area, he said.

In Daviess County, for example, the agent reported across-the-board damage ranging from 15 to 20 per cent, but damage at some individual farms as high as 40 per cent.

And in Henderson County, one of the largest soybean producing counties, damage estimates ranged from 25 to 80 per cent of the crop, Harris said.

He said estimates by county agents often tend to be conservative.

roversal proposals. Older drivers think you're trying to get them off the road," he said.

—Use of citizens band radios to relay warnings that police are checking speeds on highways. "We'll be using some unmarked cars in the future in the traffic program, and that may help to some extent," Ricks said. But even when an unmarked car is used, he said, "trucks will spot it and pass the word along."

—Size of the force. The Bureau of State Police currently employs about 976 men. Ricks said the General Assembly has authorized the addition of 50 persons in the next fiscal year and the bureau probably will ask the 1978 legislature to authorize an additional 100 to 150.

Lutherans To Hold Zone Meet Here

The Fall Rally of the Middle Tennessee Zone of the Mid-South District Lutheran Women's Missionary League will be held on Thursday, October 28, at 9:30 a. m. at Immanuel Lutheran Church.

About 75 delegates and guests from fifteen Lutheran congregations nearby in Kentucky and Tennessee are expected to attend. The meeting will be chaired by Mrs. Ruth Auen of Paducah, Zone President.

The main speaker for the Rally will be Rev. Ronald Halamka of Cleveland, Tenn. Prior to becoming pastor of the Lutheran congregation there, he had served as a missionary to Taiwan. His topic will be "Missions, 1776-1976."

Special arrangements for the Rally are being made by the members of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League of Immanuel congregation. Mrs. Kathleen Sprunger is president of the local society.

Missing Baby Goat Is Returned To Zoo

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — You really couldn't say that baby Lance was kidnapped, because no ransom was asked, yet $7.00 was invested in the return of the "kid."

Lance, a baby dwarf goat that was stolen from the Louisville Zoo Sunday, has been returned by two young Arkansas men who bought him from some small boys for $7.00.

"He looks sleepy," Colleen McKinley, a spokesman for the zoo said after the return of "Lance," a dark gray and white, male Cameron goat, "and his keeper says he's grounded now for a couple of months."

It was nearing his bottle-feeding time Sunday when Lance, who had been shy and afraid of people since his birth less than two weeks ago, walked up to the fence in the small-animal area of the zoo, Miss McKinley said, "and that's when he was taken." She said someone apparently slipped Lance under their coat.

Portraits On Display At Library

On display at the Calloway County Public Library through Nov. 12 are the two warbler wildlife portraits by West Virginia artist Don Whitlatch which are being sold through Murray State University.

Proceeds from the sale of the prints, which are being sold only in sets, will go toward the maintenance and upkeep of the university's 300-acre Murphy Pond Sanctuary in Hickman County.

One of the works pictures a pair of olive and yellow Kentucky warblers with their black masks and yellow spectacles in a chestnut oak tree at Murphy Pond, one of the nation's few wildlife preserves.

The other pictures a pair of Canada warblers, smoke-gray and yellow with spectacles and dapper black necklaces, in a sassafras tree near Lake Barkley.

The pictures, printed in living color on fine rag paper, are 11 1/4 by 14 1/4 inches in size and are being sold for $40 per set for the prints. They also may be ordered framed in a green and gold frame with double green mats for an additional $61.

One of the country's most rapidly emerging wildlife artists, Whitlatch has made available to Murray State a quantity of the prints from a limited edition because of his concern for the preservation of the nation's wildlife sanctuaries.

The library's hours are from nine a. m. until eight p. m. Mondays through Thursdays, and from nine a. m. until five p. m. on Fridays and Saturdays.

Murray School Board To Meet

The Murray Independent School Board will discuss several items of business at its regularly scheduled meeting Thursday evening in the Board Office Building.

The board members will meet at 7:25 p. m., five minutes earlier than usual, for a photo session. Following the photo session the board will:

- Hear a report on the state and federal guidelines for special education from Mrs. Betty Wagar;
- Hear a report on internal accounts for the month of September;
- Discuss continuation in the direct affiliate program;
- Discuss plans for heating and rewiring of Murray Middle School; and
- Hear the superintendent's report which will deal with special problems and the vocational education program.

Agricultural Classes Set, Vocational School

Agricultural up-date classes for Calloway County farmers will begin on November 1 and 2, at the Murray-Calloway County Vocational Education Center.

The Calloway County Young-Adult Farmer Class will start Monday evening, November 1 at 7:30 p. m. with the Kirksey Adult Farmer Class getting under way on Tuesday, November 2 at 7:00 p. m. The classes will meet once each week for ten weeks at the Murray Vocational Center located on the Murray High School campus.

The classes are designed to help meet the needs of those in production agriculture. The classes will focus attention on what is new in crop production, specifically in the area of soybeans, corn, and small grains. A special session on farm owner's insurance is planned for the class members and their wives. Other sessions will deal with the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) regulations for farmers, farm workers, equipment and machinery. Instruction for the application of a spray applicators license will be provided. A license will be required after October 1, 1977 to purchase restricted pesticides. Many other current interest topics will be discussed.

All farmers and interested persons are invited to attend the classes which will be conducted by Jamie Potts, Teacher of Agriculture for the Adult Farmer program.

Officers of the Young-Adult Class are: Keith Letterman, President; Jerry Stark, Vice-President; and Danny Cunningham, Secretary. Kirksey Class Officers are: Clinton Burchett, President; Max Gore, Vice-President; and Charles Tucker, Secretary.

At the conclusion of these classes in mid-January, 1977 the New Concord and Lynn Grove Adult classes will begin.

Council Faces Short Agenda

Only two items of new business are listed on the agenda for the regular meeting of the Murray Common Council Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at City Hall.

The council will consider on the first reading an ordinance designating Cherry Street as a one-way street. Also on the agenda is consideration of a recommendation that the recent sewer system survey be approved.

Holmes...

"His application is going to be processed like all others," Curris said. "I'm sure his references will be checked."

Curris said he has made some inquiries about Holmes "and I've heard nothing but favorable comments about his effectiveness as a professional."

"We're going to select the best qualified person who meets the needs of the program," he said.

Carroll said a month ago that Holmes "had problems with administrative duties."

Steve Young Called The 'Bob Dylan Of Country Music World'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country music headliner Waylon Jennings calls Steve Young his favorite singer, "the only one on the scene who has the possibility of being universal."

Jennings, one of the leaders of the progressive or "outlaw" movement in country music, says Young will be.

"The Bob Dylan of country music. He's not country, not pop, not folk. He has no earthly idea how great he is. I believe in that dude. If he gets any better, I'll kill him."

Young, a rising "outlaw" himself, is working on his second album for RCA after more than a decade of trying to get record executives to accept his style of music.

"In the last two or three years, Nashville has opened up because of the success of Waylon and Willie (Nelson)," Young said. "I used to be unable to get my foot in the door; people wouldn't listen to what I was doing. "Times have changed to where I can do my own thing. Maybe me and the times have come together."

The "outlaw" movement, which both Jennings and his disciple, Young, represent, has its greatest appeal among young country music fans and sounds more like rock than traditional country music. The same sort of appeal has been generated by some of the newer jazz groups — Herbie Hancock's various ensembles and The Weather Report, for examples. These groups perform within a basic jazz framework, but employ rock, Latin and even country techniques as well.

The "outlaw" sound as exhibited by Young is a combination of country, blues, folk and rock, making it hard to pigeon-hole in any category.

In his 10-year career, Young has played folk and blues besides progressive country. Songs he has written have been recorded by Jennings, Joan Baez, Rita Coolidge and Ian Matthews.

As Jennings notes, Young is a distinctive singer. His voice ranges from a clear falsetto to a bluesy growl.

"My music has to do with the South," said Young, 34, a native of Newnan, Ga. "It's a reflection of my childhood. It's a combination of folk, blues and country."

His songs are reminiscent of Tom T. Hall's, with references to stained glass windows, bus trips and revivals.

"When I sing, I like to have that edge — that soul — that Hank Williams had," he said. "I don't mean blabbering on, but really saying something."

"I don't want to lose that essence of what soul is. I hear a lot of artists I like, but then I don't like their next song."

"Hank Williams was in touch with his soul, and Lefty Frizzell was good. After them, we got into homogenized, processed country music."

But he sees market improvement in some of today's writing.

"Some of it is better than it used to be," he said. "The times are more out front, and we are lyrically more honest — more complex. But of course, so is life."

"Modern writers deal with more immediate things, but some old songs really knock me out, like 'Dark As A Dungeon' by Merle Travis. I guess a good song is a timeless thing."

He and Jennings have discussed teaming up.

"I am going to do more shows with Waylon," Young said. "But the word 'outlaw' has been used a lot, and I don't want to be put in one category."

Young, whose first RCA album was "Renegade Picker," has been compared to Nelson. Both worked for years before gaining recognition, both are gifted writers as well as musicians and both have expressed disillusion with the Nashville recording scene. Nelson went to Austin, Tex., to record, and Young headed for Los Angeles, although he returned.

"I can see similarities," Young said. "But he has been through a lot more than I have."

"He's confident success won't change him. "A lot of people lose their soul when they have success. Someone said the trouble with most successful artists is that they forgot to leave one foot in the street. I couldn't agree more."

'Scottsboro Boy' Pardoned After 45 Years Of Proclaiming Innocence

NEW YORK (AP) — The only known surviving Scottsboro Boy — pardoned after 45 years of proclaiming his innocence — says he hopes his story teaches people that "a man should never give up hope. Even if it kills you, stand up for your rights."

And Clarence Norris, 64, who has lived here as a fugitive for 30 years, said he plans to visit Alabama, where until Monday he would have faced arrest as a parole violator.

"I'll go to any state because I'm free," said Norris, whose 1930s trials with eight other black youths on charges of raping two white women became a symbol of Southern racial injustice. "I was born and raised in the South. It's one of the most beautiful places in the world."

Norris, a warehouseman, held an emotional news conference at NAACP headquarters here after learning that the state of Alabama had granted him a full pardon, which in effect acknowledges his innocence of the original charges.

He said he felt "no bitterness against the people who did me wrong. I'm just glad to be free. They had said that I was a nobody, a dog, but I stood up and I said the truth."

In 1931, Norris and the other youths were arrested in northern Alabama and tried in Scottsboro on charges of raping the women on a freight train. The defendants were convicted in a series of trials, and most of them were sentenced to death, but their sentences were commuted to life imprisonment.

Norris spent five years on death row, more years behind bars, and in 1946 he fled the state while on parole. Of the other defendants, some are known to be dead, and others have dropped out of sight.

First, the Alabama Pardon Parole Board and then Gov. George C. Wallace signed a pardon. By law, the board could pardon him only if it felt there was proof of his innocence.

Nathaniel R. Jones, general counsel for the NAACP, said the pardon "does more for the administration of justice than it actually does for Mr. Norris."

He said that while "no act of Alabama can restore to Mr. Norris that of which he was robbed, nor expunge from his memory the long nightmare to which he was subjected, this act of compassion by Gov. Wallace and the Alabama Board of Pardons and Parole is nevertheless praiseworthy."

Survey Shows Growth In Valley Forest Industry

In the past five years, Tennessee Valley forest product industries have increased their product value by 44 per cent and their total investment by $441 million, according to a new TVA study of forest resources and industries.

The survey, covering all of the 125 counties of the Tennessee River watershed, is done at five-year intervals by forestry economists in the agency's Division of Forestry, Fisheries, and Wildlife Development.

Foresters report that the 977 forest products businesses in the Valley represented a total investment of nearly $1.2 billion at the end of 1975, up some 50 per cent from the 1970 figure. The value of their products reached a record $1.4 billion for the year and they paid $318 million in wages and salaries, a 31 per cent increase since the last survey.

However, total industry employment was down from 45,800 in 1970 to 43,800 in 1975. Economists attribute the decline to the economic recession and particularly a cutback in production by the mobile and prefabricated housing industries.

The survey showed that industrial wood use rose from 329 to 376 million cubic feet, a 14 per cent increase. Despite this growing use of wood, the TVA report shows the amount of wood in Valley forests increased 17 per cent during the five-year period.

Some 50 new forest products businesses have opened in the Valley since 1970. Pulp and paper plants led the list of expansions with $291 million in investments, but a substantial portion of this investment was for pollution control equipment to meet state and Federal regulations.

The survey also showed that pulp, paper, and paperboard production in the Valley increased from 5,768 tons to 6,500 tons per day, primarily because of the addition of two large mills at Stevenson and Courtland, Alabama.

Copies of the survey will be available in late November from TVA's Division of Forestry, Fisheries, and Wildlife Development offices in Norris, Tennessee.

Sunday Is The Day To Change Clocks Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's almost time again for that once-a-year ritual of falling back to keep up with what Uncle Sam is doing to your time.

Come 2 a.m. this Sunday, most Americans will set their clocks back one hour to signal the end of Daylight Saving Time. The exceptions are residents of Arizona, Hawaii and parts of Indiana, who are on standard time all year.

The nation's clocks will be controlled again by the 1966 Uniform Time Act, which decrees six months of daylight time — from the last Sunday in April, when clocks spring ahead, until the last Sunday in October, when clocks fall back.

That relatively simple system prevailed until late 1973, when Congress, shaken by the cutoff of much of the nation's imported oil, scurried about in search of energy-saving measures.

Given evidence that longer periods of DST could mean less fuel would be required for heating and lighting, the federal government ordered year-round DST, beginning in January 1974.

It didn't take Congress long to figure out that some things including tradition — are more important than energy conservation. The letters started coming in from farmers and parents of school children.

Farmers complained it does no good to get up at 6 a.m. daylight time to work the fields because the sun hasn't had time to burn off the dew.

Parents didn't like the idea of their young children standing in the early-morning darkness waiting for school buses.

So, year-round DST lasted for only 10 months in 1974. Congress then voted for eight months of DST in 1975. With the law scheduled to revert to six months of daylight time this year, the Senate earlier this year passed a bill setting seven months of DST in 1976 and 1977, but the measure was killed in a House committee. The result is six months of DST, and six months of regular time.

In killing the bill, opponents apparently rejected a U.S. Department of Transportation study showing that longer periods of DST could not only save the nation fuel but reduce traffic accidents and street crime as well.

Nine Daily Papers In State Take Election Stand

By GEORGE W. HACKETT
Associated Press Writer

Only nine of the 26 daily newspapers in Kentucky have taken a stand on the presidential race this year, and five of them swing support to Jimmy Carter.

President Ford won endorsements from The Lexington Leader, The Bowling Green Daily News, The Hopkinsville New Era and The Mayfield Messenger.

Backing Carter in the Nov. 2 election are: The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times, The Lexington Herald, The Paducah Sun-Democrat, The Henderson Gleaner-Journal, and The Winchester Sun.

The Associated Press poll Monday also shows that 15 of the 17 other dailies will remain silent, a tradition they have followed in past presidential elections.

The Owensboro Messenger-Inquirer and The Murray Ledger & Times said they would not pick a candidate this year.

The Danville Advocate-Messenger doesn't make endorsements and general manager Enos Swain explained why: "We don't believe in them. People don't want newspapers to tell them how to vote, so we don't."

The Courier-Journal and Times said they picked Carter because he "offers needed vision and leadership," adding that the former Georgia governor is "a fiscal conservative but a social liberal."

The newspapers said the President has restored honesty and decency to the White House but has defaulted his position of leadership.

The Sun-Democrat commented editorially that "after the past eight years, the country today needs youthful energy and innovation, imagination and, yes, dreams. It has had too much of inflation and unemployment, too much government favoritism of the biggest economic interests at the expense of the small; too much blindness to human needs and awareness of private influence."

The Sun-Democrat said that if Carter failed as president, "we are confident that it won't be for lack of trying. The alternative to him is four more years of government by veto and the continuing joblessness, inflation and stagnation that Gerald Ford somehow perceives as a 'turn-around' he has given to his countrymen."

The Winchester Sun said President Ford has demonstrated that "he can function reasonably well. The United States didn't get to be the great nation it is today because its citizens were content to do a job reasonably well."

The Sun said Carter "offers a refreshing change from the mundane government-as-usual theory."

The Mayfield Messenger, on the other hand, said Carter has agreed to a platform "that is a blueprint for liberal socialism. He (Carter) has a vice presidential candidate who is an extreme liberal, who could end up as president."

The Messenger also said "we need more balance in our government than to encourage a situation that puts one party in control of governorships, the legislature, the House and Senate, and the presidency."

"Carter's spending proposals would require additional thousands of dollars for every family in taxes," the editorial stated.

The Bowling Green Daily News said the voters have a choice between Carter, "representing the liberal persuasion, and President Gerald Ford, the Republican nominee whose views on campaign issues are more conservative and more representative of the attitudes of most Kentuckians."

The Daily News said compulsory unionism represents another issue on which voters have a clear choice.

"The Democratic platform advocated repeal of Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, which permits states to enact right to work laws. Governor Carter says "I think Section 14(b) should be repealed...and if Congress passes such legislation, I'd be glad to sign it," the editorial said.

John Hager, editor of The Owensboro Messenger-Inquirer, said it is "our intention to avoid making any formal political endorsements. A few days prior to the election, we will attempt to clarify the issues and evaluate the candidates with respect to them."

Hager said his newspaper believes "it is more important to take stands on issues in a campaign than it is to formally endorse, though in doing so, we realize this may be tantamount to an endorsement of a candidate."

Walt Apperson, editor of The Murray Ledger & Times, said "we have not decided at this time which candidate we can endorse so we may not give endorsements to either of them. We feel both are soft on so many important issues."

The News-Enterprise, Elizabethtown, said it normally doesn't endorse a candidate unless "we feel the candidates are so far apart that it would be a public service to pick one or the other."

Editor Gerald Lush said that President Ford and Carter "aren't that far apart in the job they would do for this country."

Alls Receives Grant For Conference

Willard Alls, pharmacist at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital, recently received a grant from the Schering Pharmaceutical Corporation to participate in a hospital pharmacy conference in Kansas City, Missouri.

The conference, sponsored by the Schering Corporation in cooperation with the University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Pharmacy, was entitled "Considerations in Pediatric Therapy."

The Murray hospital pharmacist was the only representative from the state of Kentucky receiving this grant. There were approximately 140 hospital pharmacists and pediatricians who were recipients of the grant participating in the conference.

The conference was conducted at the Alameda Plaza Hotel in Kansas City October 13 and covered a wide variety of considerations in pediatric medications ranging from newer antibiotics available to toxicology of drugs.

The Kentucky Department of Transportation has announced the publication of the state's 1976-77 airport directory. The directory lists the location, navigational data and services provided at all of Kentucky's 62 public airports. The booklet is available upon request from the Kentucky Division of Aeronautics and Airport Zoning, 419 St. Ann St., Frankfort, Ky. 40601, (502) 564-4480.

Waiting Is Hardest Part For Parents Of Missing Child

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — For Robert and Hope Gibson, the hardest part is waiting.

Their 16-year-old daughter, Trenny, has been missing in the Great Smoky Mountain National Park near Gatlinburg, Tenn., since Oct. 8, when she went on a field trip with members of her high school class.

"The hardest part is waiting...waiting without knowing where my daughter is," said Gibson, a personnel director for a Knoxville corporation.

Since the girl's disappearance, searchers have combed a 10-mile radius of the Clingman's Dome area of the park in North Carolina, but have not found any trace of her.

At one point 200 persons were in the park looking for the girl, but now that number has been reduced to 10 persons, park officials said Monday.

The FBI has been questioning Trenny's friends, but agents have not said if they have been able to find any clue to her whereabouts.

Gibson discounts theories that his daughter left the park with someone voluntarily.

"I told the chief ranger if he could get Trenny to tell me she just took off, then I'd believe his theory," Gibson said. "I know my daughter and she wouldn't leave except against her will."

Officials say the girl was last seen walking down a path near the dome area, which is covered with heavy undergrowth and brush.

Gibson said he has several reasons to believe his daughter would not have left the park voluntarily, including the fact she left about $200 in cash at home and another $1,000 in her savings account.

He said his daughter injured her foot about three weeks before the trip and left at home the medication she had been taking for the injury.

"The only thing we can do now is trust in the Lord and the FBI," Gibson said.

Labor Support Gives Carter A Chance To Carry Michigan Votes

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — The favorite son is favored, but the support of organized labor has given Jimmy Carter a shot at carrying President Ford's home state of Michigan and its 21 electoral votes.

The latest poll shows the Democratic candidate trailing Ford by three percentage points, a sharp change from four years ago when the state AFL-CIO stood on the sidelines as Richard M. Nixon rolled up the second largest percentage vote of any Michigan presidential contest in 40 years.

The neutrality of organized labor, dictated by AFL-CIO headquarters in Washington, hurt Democratic chances badly in a state which 1.2 million union members call home. This election year, the unions are behind Carter fully and formally.

At the same time, lack of money may be hampering the GOP cause.

Peter Fletcher, the state's Republican national committeeman who heads Ford's Michigan campaign, says only two staffers are on the payroll full time. In 1972, Nixon's campaign had more than 30 fulltime employees in Michigan and Carter has nearly 50 this time.

Ford's campaign relies on volunteers plus "a very distinct flavor of the homestate identification," Fletcher reports. He predicts flatly, "We're going to win."

That homestate flavor for Ford is being provided most visibly by the stumping efforts of GOP Gov. William Milliken and U.S. Sen. Robert Griffin.

Their efforts and personal popularity draw much of the credit for Ford's nearly 2-1 margin over Ronald Reagan in Michigan's May presidential primary.

Top aides to Milliken and Griffin joined Fletcher and state GOP Chairman William McLaughlin took control of Ford's flagging Michigan campaign just nine days before the primary and carried it to victory.

Now only Fletcher and McLaughlin are fully involved in the campaign.

State Democratic leaders appear almost as confident of victory as their Republican counterparts.

"We really feel we have a good chance. We have a real shot at it," contends Don O'Brien, who is running Carter's state campaign. But when asked to predict a victory margin, O'Brien replies, "I'm not that crazy."

Title Question By Indians In Maine Dry Up Markets For Bonds

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — Maine's chief financial officer says he expects that "a calming effect" will result from federal reassurances on the soundness of Maine bonds despite Indian claims to 60 per cent of the land in the state.

The land claims by the Passamaquoddy and Penobscot tribes have put into question title to 12.5 million acres of land, drying up markets for municipal bonds and threatening to reduce sources of mortgage loans for homes, farms and businesses.

But Treasurer Rodney Scribner said that expressions of confidence received from federal monetary agencies Monday should make private financial institutions "feel more comfortable" about buying Maine securities.

Scribner said that while the federal support may not result in an immediate resumption of state attempts to sell bonds for Maine communities, it would "push us in that direction sooner than otherwise expected."

Gov. James B. Longley said he had been informed by the U.S. Treasury Department that federal agencies do not

A poll released Sunday by the Detroit News showed Ford leading Carter 45 to 42 per cent with 11 per cent undecided and 2 per cent saying they planned to vote for independent candidate Eugene J. McCarthy.

That three-point lead fell within the survey's four-point margin of error and marked a further slippage for Ford, who had been leading Carter 47 to 42 per cent in an earlier Detroit News poll.

The latest poll, conducted by Market Opinion Research and consisting of interviews with 700 persons, was conducted just before the final televised debate between the two men.

One thing both sides agree on is the race's key issue — unemployment. Michigan still had 8.9 per cent of its workers jobless in the last figures before the election. That was 1.1 per cent above the national average.

Still, the figures were a dramatic improvement over 1975 when unemployment averaged 15.5 per cent statewide and often was 50 per cent higher than the national statistics.

"It's the main issue, no doubt about it," McLaughlin says. "But as long as it keeps coming down, it shouldn't hurt us. I haven't seen it being counter-productive so far."

"You can't have unemployment as high as we've had for as long without having workers feeling threatened," counters Darrell Tennis, a staff representative for the state AFL-CIO.

But Tennis also notes his organization cannot guarantee the turnout or voting patterns of the 500,000 families it represents.

"It's a sizable bloc but it's not monolithic. It's not a question of pushing a button and turning out the vote. That may have been true once, but it was before I was born."

Historically, Michigan offers little solace to either party. In 13 presidential elections stretching back to 1924, Michigan has gone for the GOP nominee seven times and the Democratic choice six.

Part of the reason for that volatility may be Michigan's ethnic and racial mixture. Nineteen per cent of the just over nine million residents are foreign born or have at least one parent who was born outside the United States. Michigan also has nearly one million blacks and 120,000 Spanish speaking residents.

Without any registration by political party, crossover voting can be a factor in state elections.

Some Democrats in Ford's home town of Grand Rapids admitted voting for him during this year's May GOP primary. "Many Democrats feared Reagan and crossed to vote for Ford," says Robert Kleiner, the 5th District Democratic chairman.

Kleiner predicts no such crossovers for Ford in November, declaring the President "will not carry the City of Grand Rapids" and will lose Michigan to Carter.

"That's absurd," retorts Robert Eleveid, Kleiner's GOP counterpart. "After all, this guy has worked for this district for 25 years (as a congressman). On the last time he's ever going to run for election, I don't think the people are going to turn their back on him."

Lapmates Provide This Teacher With World Record

GARDEN GROVE, Calif. (AP) — Fifth-grade teacher John Gardner gets notes from parents saying it's all right for their children to sit on his lap.

When the Garden Grove City Council gave him an award for good citizenship recently, one of the councilmen's wives sat on Gardner's lap during the ceremony.

And in his spare time, Gardner said he hangs around amusement parks, flea markets and tourist traps offering his lap to strangers.

Gardner, 39, has been trying for about two years to establish one or more world records related to his favorite hobby. He claims to hold the record for having the most girls sit on his lap — more than 3,000 — and also for longest period of time with someone on his lap — 24 straight hours.

"It's easy to claim these records," Gardner admits, "since I've never heard of anyone else attempting them."

He said officials from the Guinness Book of World Records tell him they are pondering his accomplishments, but can't guarantee him publication because they have no category for laps.

Gardner said his policy is not to refuse any female who wants to sit on his lap. But he said he has had to restrain a couple of partners who made advances to him.

"I just try to divert their attention and act like a gentleman," he said. "I want to keep this G-rated because of my position as a teacher."

Gardner said he discusses

Contracts Awarded For Highway Construction

FRANKFORT, KY., — During the first six months of this year, the Kentucky Bureau of Highways awarded contracts totalling $76.8 million for road construction and improvement projects.

Slightly over $54.5 million was expended on 26 miles of interstate and other primary road projects within the federal aid system. The federal government's share of those costs amounted to approximately $46.6 million.

The remaining contracts — costing about $22.3 million — were awarded to improve another 365 miles of roads that do not qualify for federal aid.

Quoting from a report recently prepared by the US Department of Transportation, State Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts said that only six other states, nationwide, put more miles of federal and non-federal-aid roads under contract for construction or improvement during the first half of this year.

They were: North Carolina (1,088), Mississippi (843), Iowa (675), North Dakota (439), Indiana (421) and Minnesota (350).

Two More Series Killed By Ratings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Low ratings have done in two more television series. ABC says Bill Cosby's Sunday variety show will have its last broadcast this Sunday, and CBS says "Spencer's Pilots" will have its last regular Friday broadcast on Nov. 5.

No regular weekly replacement shows have been chosen yet for the two programs, ABC and CBS said Monday in making public the cancellations.

It brought to four the number of series axed by the networks thus far during the 1976-77 season, now in its sixth week.

The other dropped shows, both on CBS, are the new "Ball Four" series and "Doc," which was in its second season when canceled. NBC hasn't yet announced any cancellations.

By VICTORIA GRAHAM

Associated Press Writer

A Secret Service agent speaks softly into a walkie-talkie from a bowling alley in Edwardsville, Ill.: "Rainbow approaching."

From a plush Ft. Worth country club: "Rainbow heading this way."

From a blustery Milwaukee airport: "Rainbow touching down."

In walks a smiling, nodding Rainbow — the Secret Service code name for Elizabeth Hanford Dole, campaigning for her husband, Bob, the man the Secret Service calls Ramrod.

Whoever dubbed them knew the Republican vice presidential candidate's reputation for sharp words and a hard-driving style and something of his bride's freshness and flair.

It is Elizabeth Dole's first campaign, and the cynics say they can tell — she really seems to enjoy it.

They make an effective team: She has the warm, personal touch, and he has the stronger stuff. One is left thinking that the man with the tough-guy image must be a nice guy after all to have such a nice wife beside him.

Unlike many political wives, Elizabeth "Liddy" Dole has more than a nice-wife, ornamental role. She is a lawyer, a consumer affairs expert, a Federal Trade commissioner on leave for the campaign.

She took an active part in planning the campaign and stumps the country on her own, joining her husband occasionally, and joking that she waves to him in airports.

The other day, she picked up the phone, called Dole's chief speech writer and suggested themes that might be worked into the last days of the campaign.

"I may not have years' experience in politics," says

Mrs. Dole, 40, with a North Carolina drawl, "but I think you can succeed if you have common sense and understand people."

"Maybe it's because this is my first campaign, but I really enjoy campaigning and I don't get tired."

Describing her campaign as well as her career, she says, "I believe in giving everything my all, my best effort."

And so, although her aides are dragging and she has a sore throat, Elizabeth Dole is exuberant about pressing the flesh, making impromptu speeches, giving pep talks at phone banks and posing with an elephant or an old lady playing the kazoo.

An unprogrammed campaigner, she speaks without text and often foregoes meals at lunch and dinner so she can wander around and talk with the audience.

"Something about all these people buoys me up," she says. "It's a challenge and a total contrast to a rather academic existence of law books and briefs. It's a little like leaving an ivory tower."

Married just 10 months, Mrs. Dole is saving her honeymoon — and her career — until the election's over.

"Win or lose, I intend to return to the commission," says Mrs. Dole, a political independent.

"I believe the vice president can have a working wife, too."

If the Republicans win and if she returns to the FTC, Elizabeth Dole probably will be the nation's first vice presidential wife with a full-time career.

She has lived in Washington for 10 years, working in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and serving as deputy director for the Office of Consumer Affairs. Before entering government, she defended indigent criminals.

She sees the FTC as an opportunity to defend the "vulnerable," the elderly, the very young, the disadvantaged, the handicapped.

No, she doesn't feel the campaign is an intrusion or a sacrifice. No, she doesn't feel she's just "the candidate's wife."

She admittedly looks forward to a nice, warm beach, somewhere at the end of the trail, and to quiet times at home with her husband.

But she adds: "This is the highest point in my husband's career, and I'm glad to be able to share it with him. We share everything."

"We're both very strong, very independent people. Our careers mesh very well, and my husband is my strongest supporter."

A Phi Beta Kappa and Harvard Law School graduate, Mrs. Dole seems to have assumed one of the most substantive roles of all the candidates' wives.

Yet, there remains much of the wifely approach, the pep talk to supporters, and little of the hard-hitting, nitty-gritty campaigning.

She admits it's true — not because she can't discuss issues, not because she doesn't feel she should — but because of her leave of absence from the commission.

"I try to keep more on philosophy and principles," she says. "I wouldn't want a respondent to move to disqualify me in a case before the FTC because of something I said during the campaign."

"I don't even know what's pending," adds Mrs. Dole, who has received some criticism for not resigning.

She notes that a Library of Congress study showed that no laws are violated by her leave, which was approved by the commission chairman, the ranking minority member and President Ford.

"I think a lot of women were watching to see what I would do," she says, noting she received many telephone calls and letters from people who urged her not to give up her career.

Although her lower-key campaign role is dictated by her own career, Mrs. Dole admits: "It inhibits me. It's somewhat of a frustration because I would like to feel free to discuss anything."

Within those self-imposed limitations, she carries the message, "You have a clear choice this year: between a moderate-to-conservative Republican ticket and a very liberal Democratic ticket."

She emphasizes that Republicans stand for strong national defense and cuts in federal spending. She uses the domestic analogy, "A family cannot spend more than it takes in."

Teacher's Pay Can Be Held For Reports

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Local boards of education can withhold a teacher's paycheck until all required reports are turned in according to an opinion from the Attorney General's office.

The opinion was written Sept. 29 by Robert L. Chenoweth, assistant attorney general, in answer to a letter from Ken Campbell, who is on the Kentucky Education Association's staff.

Campbell had asked whether a board could legally withhold payment of the last school month's salary to a teacher until the teacher accurately completes all required records and turns them in.

Chenoweth responded that the board could legally withhold the pay until a teacher completed the reports to the board's satisfaction.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR THURSDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1976

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

You may be tempted to dodge obligations, to take off on tangents. DON'T! This is a day in which you can only achieve by stick-to-itiveness.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 to May 21)

This could be a day of great personal achievement. Make plans for attaining cherished objectives, but don't expect the unreasonable.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Care needed in scientific and technical matters. If you step knowingly, however, you can net fine gains.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 22)

Mixed influences stimulate your ambition and enterprise; also bring tendencies toward stubbornness and chance-taking. Avoid! Conduct all negotiations diplomatically.

LEO
(July 23 to Aug. 23)

You may be the recipient of some "inside information" regarding a business deal. If your source is reliable, act promptly.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

This is a day for giving things a REAL try. Just be sure you are headed in the right direction. Discuss goals with family, associates.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Willingness to listen even though you "know the answers" will pay off in unexpected but delightful ways. You can attain new friends, prestige.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

There's a tendency now to take off on tangents or useless ventures if you don't keep your mind on immediate objectives. Let moderation be your keyword.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

There will be more to this day than is obvious at first, so dig deep for hidden treasures, and have faith that you will succeed. Don't overshoot safe marks, however.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Some persons may act in a manner not fully anticipated. Do not let this throw you off balance or offset your innate tolerance and understanding.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Some planetary restrictions. Be cautious in making investments, and DO control emotions. Some situations will call for unusual tact.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

A suggestion to which you have not given much previous thought could, quite unexpectedly, open new doors to progress. Pull it out of your files.

YOU BORN TODAY have an extremely engaging personality, are highly imaginative and have an adventurous approach to life. Unlike most other natives of Scorpio, you are not particularly attracted to business, nor would you reach such high plateaus of success along those lines as you would in others. For instance, you would make an outstanding lawyer; could also succeed in public life as a statesman or diplomat. The theater, medicine, lecturing and exploration are also excellent outlets for your talents. Less aggressive than most of your counterparts, you are more dependent upon love and cooperation than they — which you return in full! Birthdate of: James Cook, naval captain, explorer; Elsa Lanchester, screen star.

Dear Abby

Have Patience with Mourning Mother

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young married woman. My father died last year, and my mother who was devoted to him is still grieving.

They would have been married 33 years last Sunday had my father lived. On the date of their anniversary, I invited my mother to my home for dinner. I purposely didn't make a party of it, and carefully avoided wishing her a happy anniversary. (I knew it was anything but happy, and figured the last thing she needed was another reminder of what day it was.)

Well, a few days later, my mother told me that she was very "hurt" that I didn't even wish her a happy anniversary. Abby, no amount of wishing could have made that day happy.

Under the circumstances, do you think I was wrong? MEANT WELL

DEAR MEANT: No. Such a wish would have had a hollow and futile ring. Your mother was probably "hurt" because she's still hurting from her loss and not because you didn't wish her a happy anniversary.

You were thoughtful to have made sure your mother wasn't alone on that date. Don't be critical of her. She's obviously still mourning and deeply sensitive.

DEAR ABBY: I belong to a senior citizens' group. I'm a widow, over 65, and that is as far as I care to go when people get on the subject of age.

Abby, nearly everyone in our group tells their age, which makes me feel self-conscious because I have never told anyone my age and I don't intend to. I would never lie to my doctor, or falsify my age on a legal document, but I can't see what's to be gained by telling it to others.

Is there any harm in keeping my age a secret? When casual acquaintances ask me how old I am, I always say, "That's a subject I don't care to discuss." I know this sounds abrupt and unfriendly, but that's the way I feel.

Please tell me how to handle this question about age without seeming unkind or unfriendly. AGELESS

DEAR AGELESS: Simply say, "I'm not telling." And if you say it with a smile and a twinkle in your eye, you won't be thought abrupt or unfriendly.

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the employer who will hire a married man in preference to a single man if both are equally qualified for the same position interested me.

I find this deplorable. Single people are taxed more, which is unfair considering most single people are not adding to the population problem.

I am 29, male and single. I enjoy traveling, going to the theater with other singles who pay their own way and going out to dinner with no cranky kids around.

My brother is 25 and on his second marriage. He has five kids, is up to his neck in bills and spends his vacations staying home and babysitting.

I have missed only three days of work in the last 10 years. I am always on time and work a full day for a day's pay.

So, Abby, please pass this on to that employer. My boss must appreciate the fact that I'm responsible, though single, or I wouldn't have kept my job this long.

SINGLE AND LOVING IT

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Workmen's Compensation Ins. Alternatives Sought By Committee

FRANKFORT, Ky. — After hearing testimony on workmen's compensation at an Oct. 13 meeting, the Interim Joint Labor and Industry Committee has decided to request that its staff draft legislation giving employers alternatives in obtaining workmen's compensation insurance.

Workmen's compensation rates increased an average 32.5 per cent July 1, following two recent state Supreme Court decisions expanding benefits an injured worker may receive.

Alternatives the Legislative Research Commission has been directed to investigate include:

—Raising the current average weekly wage paid injured workers from 55 per cent to the 66 two-thirds per cent used by most states.

—Making the state's Special Fund more equitable. Regulated by the state Department of Labor, the fund is made up of assessments on self insurers and insurance companies writing workmen's compensation coverage.

—Studying the effect of the "Apache" case which held that the minimum weekly benefits for the permanently disabled applied equally to the temporarily or partially disabled.

—Looking into the possibility of smaller companies forming a self-insurance pool.

Paul Schindler, of Underwriters Safety and Claims in Louisville, advocated self-insurance as a means of reducing costs for employers. Schindler said the method also encourages safer operating techniques. Underwriters acts as an agent and brokerage firm for self-insured employers.

Schindler explained that only the larger employers could presently afford a self-insurance program. Self-insurers must be okayed by the Department of Labor.

James Carigan appeared before the committee on behalf of the Department of Insurance. Carigan presented statistics which he said indicated companies writing workmen's compensation were losing money.

Sen. John Lackey, D-Richmond, the committee chairman, expressed reservations about the source of much of the department's information, the National Council on Compensation Insurance. The New York council collects statistics from insurance companies before producing rates designed to guarantee payments on policies as well as fair profits to the companies.

Noting that the council's proposed rates for Kentucky had "gone down substantially" after being refused twice by the department, Lackey said, "I hope you are skeptical."

Some 28 states rely on the council for rate-making information, Carigan noted.

State Insurance Commissioner Harold McGuffey said the department's assigned risk pool has exceeded its entire 1975 assignments in the past three months. "Workmen's compensation is not the only market under scrutiny; there are others," he warned.

In a later interview McGuffey explained that the workmen's compensation problem was not brought about by the courts but by the legislation allowing the rulings. He added that he would like to see a solution developed soon.

Guidelines Broadened For MSU LEEP Program

Broadening of guidelines and supplemental funding of $13,800 for the Law Enforcement Education Program (LEEP) at Murray State University have opened the way for more people involved in criminal justice work to receive financial aid.

Johnny McDougal, director of student financial aid at Murray State, said both previous grant recipients and new applicants who are employed full-time in state or local criminal justice work will be eligible for assistance next spring.

The supplemental funding by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration of the U. S. Department of Justice raises the total of LEEP money already awarded to Murray State for 1976-77 to $25,000.

Under the terms of the initial LEEP award of $11,200 in August, only previous recipients were eligible for the grants to pay tuition fees. However, that restriction was lifted when the supplement was announced.

McDougal said $3,750 of the total amount awarded is earmarked for LEEP loans to full-time students whose major field of study is criminology and corrections and who have demonstrated a sincere interest in pursuing a criminal justice career upon graduation.

LEEP loans are repayable at seven per cent interest after a student completes a degree. Loan cancellation provisions of 25 per cent a year are available if the borrower is employed by a state or local criminal justice agency.

A total of 30 students at Murray State received LEEP grants last year, and about 25 are getting assistance this fall.

McDougal urged anyone who qualified and who is interested in LEEP to call, write, or visit the Student Financial Aid Office, Basement, Sparks Hall, Murray State University, Murray, Ky., 42071, (502 762-2546).

Boyd Participates In 'Bonded Item' Exercise

Marine Sergeant Ronnie L. Boyd, son of Mrs. Dorothy M. Boyd of Route 5, Murray, participated in exercise "Bonded Item" in the North Sea.

He is serving as a member of Marine Air Control Group 28, which is a component of the 4th Marine Amphibious Brigade.

He was one of 11,000 Marines, soldiers, and Navy Corpsmen, from the U. S., Denmark and the Federal Republic of Germany, who recently took part in the coordinated amphibious, land and air exercise.

The primary objective of the exercise was to evaluate and enhance the Allied capabilities for amphibious support for Northern Western Europe.

Participating units evaluated increased standardization of doctrines, equipment and armaments among NATO forces, plus command and control procedures for coordinated action by NATO sea, land and air forces.

"Bonded Item" was conducted jointly by the commanders of the Atlantic Striking Fleet and Allied Baltic Approaches Forces. It is one of a series of operations, conducted each fall from Norway to Turkey, designed to provide unified and coordinated training of national and NATO forces within the Allied Europe Command.

A former student of Calloway County High School, he joined the Marine Corps in April 1969.

FFA Contest Now Underway In Kentucky

The 1976 Future Farmers of America Contest, sponsored by The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times, is underway throughout Kentucky, and $1,500 in U. S. Savings Bonds await the top winners.

The annual contest, designed to recognize outstanding achievement by Kentucky FFA members, is a public service of the two Louisville daily newspapers and is conducted in cooperation with the Kentucky Department of Education's Division of Vocational Agriculture.

The FFA member named state champion in the contest will receive a $500 U. S. Savings Bond. Ten regional runners-up will each receive a $100 savings bond.

The 11 winners, their parents and FFA advisors will be guests of honor of the newspapers' annual Farm Awards Luncheon in Louisville next March. The winners will receive their awards at the luncheon.

Each FFA chapter in Kentucky is to choose its top member. Each chapter winner will receive a personalized plaque symbolic of his achievement. Chapters with 100 per cent member participation will receive special recognition certificates.

The deadline for entering the competition is November 1. FFA members may obtain contest brochures and entry forms from the vocational agriculture teachers all of whom in Kentucky have been sent the materials.

Released From Jail Weekly

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — Guy W. Dethridge Jr. will be released from jail two hours every Friday to attend Fiscal Court meetings.

The magistrate was given a two month term this week after refusing to testify in a theft case in Warren Circuit Court. Dethridge said he had received four death threats during the year but none from the defendant in the case where he was called as a witness.

Circuit Judge J. David Francis said Dethridge could be freed for fiscal court sessions.

Commission To Meet

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Commission on Corrections and Community Services will meet Oct. 29 at the Kentucky State Penitentiary in Eddyville.

Ten inmates have been invited to give the commission their views on problems within the prison. The prison superintendent will not be present, the commission said.

Pedigo Named Director LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Lt. Col. Bobbie Pedigo, a Bowling Green native, has been named director of the Army ROTC unit at the University of Kentucky.

Lions Escape From Zoo, Trap Owner, And Kill Other Animals

RINGGOLD, Ga. (AP) — Seven 400-pound lions escaped from a private zoo, trapped their owner in her house, and attacked and killed several other animals in the menagerie, authorities said. Officers shot and killed four of the lions Monday night, and one was recaptured. More than a dozen armed officers were back at the enclosed 35-acre zoo today, searching for the two other lions. About 30 city, state and county officers took part in the search Monday night. The private zoo is about seven miles north of Ringgold near the Georgia-Tennessee line.

Linda Keown, who runs the zoo with her husband, Vernon, said she watched from her window as the lions attacked peacocks, wolves, German shepherd-wolf crosses and a cougar. "We had two pet wolves chained out to a tree. They just practically chewed them up," Mrs. Keown said. "Now we're wiped out." Neighbors were warned to remain indoors, but that was just a precaution, a deputy said. "I'm not going to tell you it is impossible for them to get out of that (barbed-wire) fence. Unlikely yes. Impossible no," he said. Mrs. Keown said she believed youthful vandals had taken the hinges off the gate to the lions' cage. She said she discovered them free when she returned home from her bookkeeping job late Monday.

She pulled her car right up to the front door, grabbed her 6-year-old son, Matt, and dashed inside to phone police, she said. When officers with high-powered rifles arrived, she gave them permission to destroy the animals, she said, because had they merely been tranquilized, they would have had time to run. Mrs. Keown, 25, and her husband, a 41-year-old builder, owned the zoo because "it was our hobby," she said. They raised some animals to sell, she said.

Merchant Ship Pilot Says Ferry Had Time To Avoid Crash

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A commuter ferry had "plenty of time" to avoid a Norwegian tanker which rammed it, sending an estimated 100 passengers to their deaths in the Mississippi River, the pilot of the merchant ship told a Coast Guard board. But the ferry failed to turn away, and forced a collision which was "no different than a Volkswagen running out in front of a train," pilot Nicholas J. Colombo said Monday. Divers working around the clock have recovered the bodies of 84 of the passengers who were aboard the commuter ferry George Prince when it capsized last Wednesday. Eighteen persons survived the sinking. Gov. Edwin Edwards said the search would continue as long as there was a possibility of finding more victims. He also asked for the formation of a task force of marine law experts to look into the disaster and its legal problems. The state and the Norwegian owners of the tanker Frosta both went into federal court Monday asking that they be relieved of any liability for the collision. Colombo said at the hearing that he attempted to make radio contact with the ferry as soon as he spotted it, then sounded an emergency signal with the Frosta's whistle. He said the ferry appeared to turn upriver for an instant then come back on a course that would bring it beneath the Frosta's bow. He said he again sounded the ship's whistle and ordered the engines into reverse. But he said it takes more than a mile to stop a ship the size of a tanker — "You just don't stop a vessel that size like you're driving an automobile."

Dear Consumer 'Deposit Required; Return for Refund'

By Virginia Knauer
Special Assistant to the President and Director
Office of Consumer Affairs
Department of Health, Education and Welfare

Our national parks and other Federal facilities, such as military bases and office buildings, should be a lot easier to take care of when the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) puts its new soft drink and beer container regulations into effect. These regulations will require a five-cent deposit on all bottled and canned beverages sold on Federal property. These bottles and cans will be specially marked for deposit and return. Then, when the containers are returned to designated places you will get a refund. And the container can either be refilled or recycled.

Late last year, EPA asked for comments on its proposed beverage container guidelines "to provide an opportunity for positive leadership by the Federal Government in helping to reduce the growing problem of waste in our society." EPA believed that a mandatory deposit on beverage containers would help save energy and resources, reduce litter, save tax money and provide lower prices to the consumer. Last summer, before the guidelines were adopted, the Yosemite National Park concessionaire conducted a test program requiring deposits on containers. The voluntary test, which lasted 14 weeks, was monitored by EPA. It was so successful that the program is being continued (still on a voluntary basis). Reports indicate that 70 percent of all containers sold at the park are being returned and that about one ton of aluminum is now recycled every week. In addition, the states of Oregon and Vermont have regulations similar to EPA's — only their regulations apply to all containers, not just those sold on Federal facilities. In Oregon, for example, which has had a mandatory bottle deposit law since 1972, polls showed that:

- 91 percent of the public approved and 5 percent disapproved of the law.
- 90 percent returned all containers.
- 80 percent found no inconvenience.
- 80 percent were willing to pay "slightly" more for beverages to reduce littering.

Only time will tell if the Federal regulations will work. EPA expects to conduct other tests while the Federal facilities work out schedules for complying with the regulations, so it will be some time before we see any results.

In the meantime, if you have any questions about EPA's guidelines, you may wish to write to the Deputy Assistant Administrator for Solid Waste Management Programs, Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D.C. 20460.

Someroski To Present Lecture At Murray State Thursday

Mel Someroski, professor of art at Kent State University, will present a lecture on weaving and enameling at Murray State University on Thursday, Oct. 28.

To begin at 7:30 p. m. in Room 432 of the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center, the program is open to the public at no admission charge. The visiting artist will also lecture at the Paducah Art Guild at 7:30 p. m. on Saturday, Oct. 30.

His presentation is one of a series of guest artist appearances scheduled during the year at Murray State and in the surrounding area. The program is made possible by grants from the Kentucky Arts Commission and the National Endowment for the Arts in conjunction with the Department of Art at Murray State.

Someroski, well known as a lecturer and juror of art exhibitions, has been at Kent State since 1956 when he was first employed as a graduate teaching assistant. He has won numerous honors and awards, and his work is included in many collections across the United States and abroad.

Someroski was elected as one of 10 American delegates to the World Crafts Council meeting in Mexico earlier this year. He also serves on the advisory committee to the International Department of the American Crafts Council in New York City.

He is a co-director with Connie May of "Fibre: Activities for Public Places," a mixed-media movement group formed in 1975. Someroski, who has had articles printed in several publications, has also participated in several international shows.

He has worked as a guest artist at the School of the Chicago Art Institute, the Penland School of Crafts, Penland, N. C., and Salve Regina College, Newport, R. I., and on leave from Kent State to the Government College of Arts and Crafts, Colombo, Sri Lanka (Ceylon), and the Paldun Thondup Cottage Industries Institute, Gangtok, Sikkim.

Today's millionaire has no more purchasing power than a person with $426,000 in 1948.

About 1,500 people lost their lives last year in boating accidents, according to official estimates.

The 7,000 nuclear warheads the United States has stored at scattered bases are securely guarded, the Pentagon claims.

Candice Mossler Dies Tuesday

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Candice Mossler, the flamboyant blonde acquitted in 1965 of murdering her wealthy husband in a love triangle, died in her sleep Tuesday, police said. Officials of the Fontainebleau Hotel said a secretary found Mrs. Mossler dead in her room. No cause of death was immediately established. Police said there was no indication of foul play. Birth records show she was 62, but she maintained she was seven years younger.

A hotel spokesman, Harold Gardner, said Mrs. Mossler was in good health when she arrived from Dallas on Monday night. Officials said she was in Miami for the monthly board meeting of the Central National Bank, one of three banks she controlled.

In 1965, Mrs. Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, were acquitted of murder in the death of Jacques Mossler, who was found beaten in his Key Biscayne apartment.

During a sensational trial, testimony showed Mossler died June 30, 1964 of 39 stab wounds and a blow to the head. Neighbors said they heard him screaming, "Don't, don't do that to me."

Prosecutors charged Mossler was murdered by his wife and Powers because of hatred, love and money. The defense, however, pictured Mossler as a ruthless businessman and sexual deviate with thousands of enemies who could have killed him.

Protestors Arrested In Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Twenty-two young protesters were arrested here during a one-day antibusing school boycott that included two attempted fire-bombings of integrated schools, authorities said.

The arrests occurred when about 100 persons tried to stage a demonstration Monday against busing at South Boston High School. Most of those arrested were charged with disorderly conduct.

Police said six bottles of gasoline and motor oil and three flares were thrown through a classroom window at the rear of the school, but they failed to ignite. "By rights, it should have gone off," said Patrolman Bill Charbonnier, who discovered the broken window before dawn.

The city school information center said only 159 black pupils and 39 white students showed up for Monday classes at the school. Official figures indicate that 835 white students and 534 black pupils are registered at the school, but daily attendance has averaged about 400 whites and 200 blacks.

Black pupils who traveled to and from the school by bus Monday were subjected to racial epithets and jeers from scattered groups of white youths.
