Lack Of Interest Plagues Rodeo Team, Advisor Says

By DAVID GOODWINE

If a tree falls in the forest and no one is there to hear it, does it make a sound? If the rodeo team at Murray State University wins in competition and no one cares, has it really accomplished anything?

Although the two questions may seem parallel, the first is a semantical one that has been debated down through the ages, while the second is one of more recent vintage that has members of that team talking to themselves.

The team sponsored by the Rodeo Club on campus has already distinguished itself as up and coming by recently winning the women's division and placing second in the men's division of the annual National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA) regional competition in Hammond, La.

By placing first and second in its first NIRA competition, the Murray State Rodeo Team has accomplished in less than two years what other regional teams have failed to do in nine or 10.

Alf Caldwell, a rugged ex-football player and former team member who has become the team's adviser, is fiercely proud of the team and is quick to point out that its high degree of success in such a short period of time is well worthy of attention.

But Caldwell, who, still holds the football record at Murray State for most tackles in a single season, finds his enthusiasm for the sport and the team clouded by a problem he finds tough to tackle.

"Our biggest problem 'isn't the competition, it's lack of interest," he lamented. "Most people don't know there's a rodeo team or club on cam-

Much of the team's success this year can be traced directly to recruiting efforts by Caldwell during the summer.

"We talked to many professional cowboys across the country and asked if they would like to attend Murray State on partial scholarships while representing the school in NIRA competition," he explained. "Several were eager to go to college and accepted the offer—and these new people have helped the team greatly."

The NIRA, a sub-unit of the International Rodeo Association, is an

Fourth Arrested In Cablevision Case

A fourth person has been charged with theft of services in connection with allegedly illegally obtaining Cablevision service here, according to police

Police identified the subject as Kirk Vanderaa, 402 Sycamore. He was released Friday on a $50 bond. The offense is a Class A misdemeanor and carries a maximum penalty of $500 fine and one year in jail.

Police said more arrests are pending in connection with similar offenses.

organization devoted to the advancement of rodeo as a sport at the college level. Each year it sponsors rodeos for its members in different regions of the country. Kentucky is in the Ozark Region, along with Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Illinois, Arkansas, and Southern Missouri.

Teams and individuals who accumulate the greatest number of points in five rodeos of regional competition win the right to compete against the best from other regions for the NIRA national championship in Bozeman, Mont., each June.

Shortly after the West Kentucky Livestock and Exposition Center was opened last spring, the first intercollegiate rodeo event was held on the campus. Another is scheduled Nov. 12-13-14.

Caldwell said the new center is ideal for rodeo competition. That facility, the team, gives him cause to believe that Murray State has the potential to develop into one of the top teams in the country—if interest can be enhanced. "Rodeo is a rough-and-tumble sport that requires a great amount of skill and long hours of hard and dirty work," Caldwell observed. "To compete is actually an accomplishment. But to win—believe me, that definitely takes something extra. Part of that something extra is the encouragement and appreciation from those around you, and that's why we need support if we are to continue to improve as a team."

Mason, vice-president of the Rodeo Club, gives a participant's-eye view that bears out Caldwell's analysis.

"When you're down there in that arena and look up at all those empty seats, it makes you feel just as empty."

Carroll Announces Choice Of Subjects For Session

FRANKFORT, Ky-(AP) — About a dozen subjects are tentatively on the agenda for the special session of the General Assembly, and about eight more are being considered for inclusion in Gov. Julian Carroll's call.

Cabinet Secretary Jackson White told the Legislative Research Committee Friday that the governor wants the session to convene Nov. 29, provided the interim committees have finished their work.

He read the legislative leadership a list of the subjects that the governor intends to include in his call and other topics currently under consideration.

Meanwhile, Carroll seemed confident Friday that even with a lengthy agenda, the legislature could complete its work before Christmas.

The precondition is that the interim committees finish their work so that they are ready to report out bills the day the special session convenes,"

He said that technique would actually give legislators as much time to complete their work as they would have during a regular session.

The subjects Carroll now intends to include in his call are:

 Implementation of the balance of the judicial article and appropriations for the court system.

 Legislation to establish a miner certification program and the employment of mine safety analysts in Kentucky's underground coal mines.
 Legislation to bring Kentucky's death penalty into conformity with recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions. —

Legislation establishing sewer districts in Jefferson County.

Two amendments of legislation enacted by the 1976 regular session to correct technical mistakes.

One amendment is to reinstate laws pertaining to private police that were accidentally repealed when the legislature thought new laws had been passed to replace them.

The other is to specify electric

The other is to specify electric utilities in a law requiring municipal utilities to equalize rates for city and rural customers to prevent the law from being applied to water companies.

—The appropriation of just under $1,00,000 to the council on agriculture.

—The appropriation of "necessary funds" to the energy trust fund.

—The clarification of a statute exempting coal mining and processing machinery from the state sales tax.

Amendment of the state law on corporate income taxes.

—Legislation to increase the mileage allowance for sheriffs.

—Appropriation of funds to continue the program of assistant commonwealth attorneys, omitted from the last budget by oversight.

Other subjects being considered include no-fault insurance, a modification of the inheritance tax and a bill requiring that a certified health maintenance organization plan be offered to state and local government employes in lieu of standard medical benefit programs.

White said medical malpractice insurance would not be considered during the session.

Judging of floats will be divided into two divisions. In the commercial division, trophies will be awarded to first, second and third places. In division two, clubs, schools and churches will receive cash prizes as follows: first, $75; second, $50; and third, $25.

Any person, club, school or organization who would like to enter a float, club sweetheart, or king and queen in the parade is asked to contact either Ed Chrisman at 753-4423 or 762-6911 or Harry Sparks at 436-4372.

Percy L. Finks Retires As Cooperative Manager

MAYFIELD, KY. — Percy L. Finks retired November 1 as general manager of the West Kentucky Rural Telephone Cooperative, a position he has held for the past 15 years.

Glen B. Sears of Lowes, an employee of the cooperative since 1955 and plant superintendent since 1966, has been named to succeed Finks.

Finks was honored last week by the cooperative's employees at a dinner, at which time he was presented with a plaque of appreciation and a wrist watch.

The retiring general manager expressed his thanks to the cooperative's Board of Trustees and employees for their cooperation which, he said, has resulted in much growth and progress.

When Finks became general

When Finks became general manager of the cooperative in 1961, West Kentucky RTC had 16 exchanges and 5,308 telephones. Today it has 18 exchanges and 15,391 telephones.

A program to upgrade all exchanges to one-party service began in 1974, and work on five exchanges has been completed.

The cooperative occupied its new headquarters building here on North 8th Street in 1965, three years after purchasing a large warehouse on Cuba Road.

Finks, a native of Culpeper, Va., has been very active in civic affairs. He is a member and former deacon of the First Baptist Church, Mayfield Lions Club and Mayfield-Graves County Chamber of Commerce. He is also a member of several state and national telephone organizations.

The cooperative's new general manager is a graduate of Lowes High School and Paducah Junior College. He served with the U. S. Marine Corps from $1952-1954$, and joined the cooperative soon after his discharge.

Stanley Jones, Cunningham, is president of the sprawling cooperative, which serves Graves, Carlisle, Marshall and Calloway counties in Kentucky, in addition to Henry and Weakley counties in Tennessee. Jones succeeded L. W. Murdock, Bell City, as president in July of this year. Murdock remains on the Board of Trustees.

. West Kentucky RTC was organized in the early 1950s by the late W. L. Parr, who served as general manager until his death in 1961.

The Murray State University Faculty Brass Trio will present a concert on Tuesday, Nov. 9 at 8:15 p.m. in the Farrell Recital Hall on the second floor of the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center. The program will Jealure works of Robert Sanders, Vaclave Nelhybel, and Arthur Meulemans. The trio is one of Murray State's outstanding performing ensembles. The group is gaining national recognition and has played in New Orleans, Washington. D. C., Louisville, Cincinnati, Owensboro, and Huntsville. Members of the trio are frequent guest clinicians, artists and adjudicators at school festivals and visit scores of high schools annually. The members of the group are Robert Scribner, trumpet, David Elliott, horn and Raymond Conklin, trombone. There is no charge for the recital and the public is invited.

Rise In Unemployment Rate May Prompt Call For Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment is back up to 7.9 cent, the latest indication of a stalled economy that could, if the trend continues, prompt President-elect Jimmy Carter to call for a tax cut in January.

The Labor Department- reported Friday that 7.6 million Americans were out of work and actively looking for jobs in October. The jobless rate was up from 7.8 per cent in September.

It was the second major piece of unwelcome economic news this week. On Thursday, the government said that wholesale prices rose in October more than expected.

Carter, who must decide if the benefits of a tax cut outweigh a likely accompanying boost in inflation, said Thursday he was considering asking

Fish Kill May Cost City More

The state intends to bill the City of Murray several thousand dollars for allegedly causing a fish kill on the east fork of Clarks River in Calloway County.

State investigators have attributed the fish kill in late September in Calloway County to a malfunction in the Murray sewage disposal system.

The state already has billed the city $3,540 for the cost of the fish killed and David Bell, a biologist with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, said Friday that Murray also will be charged for the cost of the investigation and for restocking the stream.

Sunny and Cool

Mostly sunny and cool Saturday with highs in the low to mid 50s. Partly cloudy and cold Saturday night. Lows in the mid to upper 20s. Partly cloudy Sunday morning. Mostly sunny and colder Sunday afternoon. Highs in the mid to upper 40s. Outlook for Monday.

Congress to approve a tax cut counter sluggishness in the economy

"The size of the (tax)-reduction will still have to be determined, as would the need for it," he said then. There was no comment from Carter headquarters in Plains, Ga., following the announcement of the latest unemployment figures.

Carter's top economic adviser. Lawrence R. Klein of the University of Pennsylvania, has recommended a $10 billion to $15 billion tax cut to stimulate the economy.

Commissioner of Labor Statistics Julius Shiskin told a congressional committee Friday that he agreed with Carter that economists will be in a better position to assess the economy early next year than they are today

At the White House, Press Secretar Ron Nessen said that President Fistill intends to ask Congress for a sibillion tax cut, proposed during a campaign, even though he leaves of Jan. 20. Ford has said the reduction would help middle-income Americand provide incentive for busing plants to expand and create new jobs.

Nessen, indicating that the administration's prediction of 7 per cent unemployment by the end of the year may have been too hopeful, said the latest jobless figures suggest the pause seems to be lasting longer than we anticipated."

Shiskin told the Joint Economic Committee of Congress that the employment picture has been "essentially (at) a standstill since July" and there were "indications of more sluggishness ahead."

The committee chairman, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said the labor market showed no net improvement since the beginning of 1976.

A more optimistic approach was taken by William C. Freund, chief economist of the New York Stock Exchange, who said in Syracuse that he believes the economic growth rate will increase to 5½ per cent next year. He predicted a tax cut and increased government spending "to give the economy a shot in the arm."

Mason Selected Sound Director For Campus Lights

Robert Mason of Murray, a sophomore at Murray State University, has been selected as sound director for the 40th annual "Campus Lights," a traditional student musical production on the campus.

Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neale B. Mason, is a part of the committees and production crews that have already begun work for the variety type show that is set for a Feb. 10-11-12, 1977 presentation.

Other activities the radio-tv major is involved in include Alpha Epsilon Rho, MSU Orchestra, and WKMS-FM radio. Work begins each spring on "Campus Lights," a student written, performed, and directed effort, for production the following February.

Widely acclaimed as one of the best shows of its type on the nation's campuses, "Campus Lights" was first held in 1938 and has been continued ever since as a fund_raising effort for a scholarship for incoming freshmen at Murray State.

Richard W. Farrell, chairman of the Department of Music at Murray State, is the faculty adviser for the show, which is sponsored by local chapters of two professional music fraternities — Sigma Alpha Iota for women and Phi Mu Alpha for men.

Popcorn and lemonade was served all during the evening. Eugune Kirk and his band furnished the music for the evening. We want to thank them for entertaining us and I'm sure they could tell by the enthusiasm of the crowd, how much their music was appreciated. Thanks gentlemen for helping us to make our party such a success and we're ooking forward to hearing you play at Fern Terrace again.

We want to welcome the following people into our family: Rubel Lockhart, Thelma Timaeus, Mabel Duncan, Clara Rogers, Jim Williams, Anne Wilson & Clarence Vinson.

MORE ABOUT CEMETERIES

I received an explanation for the tombstones in Asbury cemetery which I discussed in last week's column. Iris Crawford informed me that the Asbury cemetery was on his family's property; at one time, many years ago, the four acres which comprise the cemetery grounds was given to the Baptist circuit by Porter Bazzell for a church and burying ground. A church stood on the grounds up until about 20 years ago, after which the cemetery was put under the guidance of a cemetery board of directors. But some time during the 1930's Logan Wrather, at that time an old man, set up provisions in the family barn for casting concrete. He cast the large vault in which his brother was put, and the one in which he himself now lies. In addition, he made the combstones to which I referred, putting on them all the family history which he could remember, as a way of preserving it for the future.

Wrather also set many of the cedar trees which make the cemetery so charming. Mention of the cedar trees prompted me to ask Iris a question which has been put to me several times, that I hadn't been able to answer. It is, why are cedar trees almost always found in cemeteries? One person said that it was because they are evergreen and so act as a fitting symbol for everlasting life. However, Iris said that he believed it was because very little will grow under a cedar tree, making cemetery upkeep much easier. This is a much more practical answer.

Now I am going to ask for help in finding some cemeteries which continue to elude me. Starting in the south of the county, along the state line, is, somewhere, the Tucker or Stubblefield cemetery, the Ferguson-Lax cemetery, the Culpepper cemetery, the old Bucy cemetery which is just east of where the state line crosses highway 121. Then, in the north-central part of the county, the Clark cemetery outside Almo Heights, the Robertson cemetery near Penny, and the two Minter cemeteries north of Coldwater. In the south central section, I cannot find the England cemetery, since the new roads have changed the way the map shows them; nor can I find the Rose cemetery, which is somewhere nearby. And the Guthrie cemetery on the South Pleasant Grove road continues to stay

Anyone who knows the exact location of these cemeteries and could pinpoint them on a map, or describe their location with landmarks to go by, if you would let me know, either by phone or a note, and it would be greatly appreciated. And, as I said before, I really would like to find any and all old cemeteries which have been generally forgotten. These are the ones which need to be recorded for future generations; if there are no tombstones on the graves, and anyone knows who is buried there, preferably with the dates of birth and death, this also ean be recorded. These records should be compiled now, while there are still people who remember the facts, because in future years, many ancestors' resting places will be forgotten forever, unless this is done now. For it was early that overcast day that he took a 186-pound, 8-point white-tailed buck with bow and arrow from the southern portion of Land public outdoor recreation area in western Kentucky and Tennessee.

Mellett is just one of more than some 10,000 bowhunters who will hunt for deer at Land Between The Lakes during the split bow season. But Mellett's accomplishment is different.

Tom Mellett lost both of his legs when he was run over by a tholley car when he was 9 years old. Fortunately, he can walk on his artificial limbs without the aid of crutches.

Mellett was sitting on a stump, smoking a cigarette, when the buck came trotting toward him. According to Mellett, the deer apparently sensed him as it tried to walk around the hunter. He was still sitting on the stump when he Between The Lakes, TVA's connected on a flank shot while the deer was moving.

Despite his infirmity, Mellett and his two hunting companions, Paul Watson and Joe Scheffer, both of Ashland City, trailed the buck for over five miles in the process.

Mellett has been deer hunting for four years. His accomplishments have not gone unrecognized. A Nashville paper featured him in an mination to get back into the woods and overcome his handicap.

His colleagues have nothing but praise for him. "If you don't watch him he'll be the first out of camp every morning," Paul Watson remarked.

Is Mellett retiring from for hunting now that he's bagged conservationists is on the paying tribute to DU with the his trophy? According to Mellett, "not by a long shot."

The 5-9 Laker guard hit a free throw after the final buzzer had sounded to lift Calloway County to a 25-24 victory over St. Mary in the Carlisle County Basketball Jamboree Saturday

The Laker girls weren't quite so fortunate as they fell 24-22 to Lowes

In other contests, the Carlisle County girls won 38-28 over the St. Mary girls while in the other boys' contest, a tough Lowes team drubbed Carlisle County 42-32.

The Laker boys got off to a 2-0 lead on the opening tip as senior Mike Wells drove the length of the floor for the first basket of the contest.

is tears. Pride ran down the face of John Hina Friday night, life, death and tears. His Murray High Tigers had host Todd County 35-0 to finish one of the best seasons in the history of Tiger football. It was life, fun yet sad. It was death, the end of a season that was something like a snowfall in late April; it shouldn't have been the end of the season. It was tears. Hina stood with one foot on the bleachers in the gymnasium at Todd County High School, out of sight of his rejoicing leam. The kids were really ready to play ball. They wanted to do the best they possibly could do," Hina saids

Pride grabbed John Hina. His eyes glittered with tears and his voice cracked. He couldn't quite finish what he was trying to say. He stopped for a minute, then he continued:

"We beat a good club. We really wanted them; there have been a lot of bad things said about us in regards to last year's game with Todd County," Hina added.

We're very proud of our kids and our community should be too," he added.

The community was there. A large throng of Tiger supporters turned out for the game, played in sub-freezing weather. And the crowd, like the team, knew it was almost hopeless to hope.

For Murray High to win the District title and go on to postseason playoff competition, Webster County would have had to defeated Caldwell County. They didn't.

But the Tigers had too darned much pride to be 'down.

Like Hina said, they came to play. On the first play of the game, that was evident. Senior cornerback Lindsey Hudspeth picked off a pass on the Todd County 32 and returned it 30 yards.

And with just 11:05 left in the first period, senior fullback Darrell Foster bulled in from two yards out, getting his first TD of the season. Greg Eyrich hit the first of five extra points and the Tigers led 7-0.

With 7:29 left in the first period, Hudspeth went 75 yards down the right side for a touchdown and after Eyrich booted the ball out of the endzone, it was a 14-0 Tiger

With just 2:12 left in the half, Hudspeth tore off tackle then took advantage of a block from Danny Richerson and went 56 yards for the score, making it a 21-0 contest at halftime.

One of the saddest parts about the game came just after the third Tiger touchdown. Snardon attempted an option pass that was intercepted by safety Jeff Oakley of the Tigers.

Pride is an emotion that is from the Tiger 16, senior senior Eddie Rollins hauled in a 38-yard scoring pass from quarterback Roger Grogan to make it 35-0.

In the second half, Todd County managed just six yards on the ground. They had no success in the air as the Tiger secondary had its best game of the season. Jeff Oakley picked off two passes while Hudspeth had one and linebacker Andy Ryan also grabbed off an interception.

Murray finished with 310 yards on the ground, 215 coming from Hudspeth. Hudspeth had 176 yards on eight carries in the first half. In the second half, he carried the ball just five times.

On the wall inside the gym at Todd County, there were messages written from several of the Rebel football players.

Snardon's was one of the most interesting, "Thanks to a great offensive line. I wouldn't have been where I am today without them.'

It was sad and it was pride. And it was tears, for both Murray High and Todd County.
