How do I find a journal article?

You have two ways of finding a journal article.

1. If you need to find a specific journal article, such as one that is on a reading list

McCormack, B. (2017) 'Compliance Versus Innovation in Evidence-Based Nursing', Worldviews on Evidence-Based Nursing, 14(3), pp.173-174.

- Scroll down the Library homepage to the search box and select

LibrarySearch

- Search for the journal article title, in this case 'Compliance Versus Innovation in Evidence-Based Nursing'

2. If you want to find journal articles on a topic, you will need to search a Library database. Databases index thousands of journal articles.

We've put the useful ones for health care onto one web page for you to access easily.

To get there, scroll down the Library homepage until you get to
