Glatfelter Chosen To Head Men's Council

Receives Clear Majority In First Balloting Thursday

Fred Glatfelter '39, is president of the 1938-39 Men's Student Council of Ursinus College. He succeeds John Tomlinson '38.

In the Council presidential election, held Thursday, Glatfelter obtained a clear majority in the first balloting and was given the office by a substantial margin of the total number of ballots cast by the men of all four classes.

Allen Dunn '39, was automatically made vice-president, having received the second highest number of votes.

Glatfelter was junior class president this year, and becomes president of the men's governing body after serving two years as class representative to the Council. He is vice-president of Sigma Rho Lambda fraternity, and is now in the Business Administration Group. He lives in York, Pa.

Besides Glatfelter and Dunn, Robley Ehret, Eugene Hile, and Raymond Gurzynski were elected Tuesday as senior representatives to the Council by the men of their class.

Junior representatives elected at that time were: Harry Atkinson, David Hartman, Hugh McLaughlin, and Charles Steinmetz. David Jacobs and Frank Wood were chosen sophomore representatives.

Every man who had held office on this year's council was returned. The new members, those entering because of the increased representation given to their classes, are Gurzynski, Atkinson, Steinmetz and Wood.

All Council members, new and old, will dine tonight, at 6 o'clock, at the second annual banquet of the organization, at Franklin House, Jeffersonville.

URSINUS GAINS VICTORY OVER PENN ON RADIO

Another victory over Penn. That was the decision of the judges after three members of the International Relations Club had engaged in a tilt of questions on international affairs with a like number of representatives from the University of Pennsylvania last Saturday night over radio station KYW.

The unanimous decision of the two judges gave the nod to Ruth Shoemaker '39, William Irwin '38, and Paul Guest '38, over the Penn contestants. The program, organized by program director, Bessie D. Howard, is sponsored every week by the League of Nations Association of Pennsylvania. A prize of ten dollars went to the winners.

McCLURE, POLING SPEAK AT TWO SUNDAY VESPERS

"The Sliding Values in Human Life" was the topic chosen by Dr. Norman E. McClure, president of Ursinus, when he spoke at Vespers in Bomberger on Sunday, May 8. After quoting the views of others as to what makes for lasting happiness, Dr. McClure concluded that "Work, play, love, and worship are the things which men live by."

At a special Mother's Day Vesper Service last evening, Jane Poling '39, president of the Y.W.C.A., spoke of the responsibilities of the student to his family and urged that students retain parental confidence while they are away at school.

EDITOR DITZEL SAYS:

ACTIVITIES COUNCIL

A meeting of the Council on Student Activities will be held Wednesday, May 18, in room 5, Bomberger. All organizations which have not reorganized must do so before this date, and they must send both old and new representatives to this meeting. Election of Council officers will be held.

Stoudt, Plunkett Star In Mother's Day Play; Pageant, Dinner Other Saturday Activities

By Dr. Calvin D. Yost, Jr.

Large Audience Sees Second Performance of "First Lady"

Political fortunes were made and unmade over Washington teacups and theatrical reputations were made over the Ursinus footlights when the Curtain Club presented "First Lady" to a large audience of students, parents, and visitors in the Thompson-Gay Gymnasium on Saturday evening.

Produced as the Zwing Anniversary Play, and first seen last week at the Open-House week-end, "First Lady" was an ambitious undertaking for the Curtain Club, equaling in its difficulties of production "Night Over Taos", given here last autumn. The presentation was certainly a success, limited only by the difficulty of hearing the first few lines and the slowness of the audience in appreciating many of the clever lines in the play.

Though not so much a "solo" play as "Night Over Taos", "First Lady" must stand or fall by the performance of the actress in the title role. The Ursinus production did not fall, for Mary Helen Stoudt '39, carried away all the honors of the evening as Lucy Chase Wayne, the President-maker. Miss Stoudt had the greatest opportunities of the play, and by her sensitive acting and beautiful enunciation she made full use of them.

Inevitably secondary, but essential both in plot and the success of the play, was the able presentation by Alice Plunkett '38, of Irene Hibbard, Lucy Wayne's bitter rival. And scarcely less important, and equally able, were Edna Hesketh '40, as Sophy Prescott, Lucy's able but harassed secretary, James Baird '38, as the handsome Senator Keane, Elizabeth Ware '38, as little Emmy Paige who though unable to understand Congress equalled the record of the Royal Northwest Mounted, and Kenneth Seagrave '39, as the Supreme Court Justice with a stomach.

Other actors who distinguished themselves in their particular "bits" and deserve special notice were Marthella Anderson '40, as Belle Hardwick, a Washington warhorse, John Rauhauser '41, as Tom Hard-

Brandt Shines As Lovely Queen From Story-Book

Undaunted by showers more typical of April than of May, the Ursinus co-eds presented on Saturday in the gymnasium "Pagette", a wonderland in Maytime, which brought the beloved friends of Alice in Wonderland from her story-book to greet the Queen of the May.

From the entrance of the lovely queen, Muriel Brandt '38, and her attractive court; through the merriment of Old King Cole, with his performers; on to the colorful scene of the Boy Blues; and finally to the picturesque crowning of the queen by Alice, Marylouise Long '39, the pageant cleverly intermingled beauty with gaiety.

Although at best, mere details of a carefully composed ensemble, certain portions of "Pagette" were in themselves interesting. The Three Little Pigs, in the expression of their masks, did much to make a large, appreciative audience forget the inconvenience caused by the weather.

Mary Alice Lord '41, as King Cole, and Mary Catherine Diefenderfer '39, his graceful dancing performer, also enacted their parts well; while two real lambs were more than enough for a small page of the king's court, Grace Lees '39, to keep in tow.

Mildred Sattazahn '39, was author and assistant director of "Pagette," which was directed by Mrs. Franklin I. Sheeder, instructor in pageantry, Miss Sara Ouder Kirk, instructor in physical education, and Dr. William F. Philip, assistant professor of music.

The gymnasium was used only after a steady rain had made it impossible to use the football field.

Luncheon And Banquet A Part Of May Day

The co-eds entertained their mothers Saturday with a display of their domestic abilities as well as their histrionic talent, as each girls' dormitory served luncheon before the pageant. Salads and tea and flower-decorated tables marked each party.

Y'S INVITE STUDENTS, PROFS TO SPRING DOGGIE ROAST

The annual spring "doggie roast", sponsored by the Y.M.-Y.W.C.A. organizations will be held this Wednesday, May 18, in the Sixth Avenue woods, beginning at 5:30 p. m.

All students and faculty members are invited to attend the gala feature, which has become one of the most popular of spring social events.

110 COUPLES DANCE FRIDAY AT MAY SPORTS HOP

Last Friday evening one hundred and ten couples danced to the music of Len Mayfair and his orchestra at the annual spring dance sponsored by the Student Councils, the May Sports Hop. The orchestra was well received by the largest crowd ever to attend the May dance.

The theme of the decorations was the honoring of the senior men and women who have completed their participation in Ursinus' varsity athletics. Large placards containing individual names, occupied prominent places, while bright streamers overhead added to the gaiety of the evening.

Two honorary degrees will be conferred at the sixty-eighth annual Commencement of the College on June 6, one of which will be received by a graduate of Ursinus.

The degree of Doctor of Divinity will be conferred upon the Rev. Oliver K. Maurer '21. He has been pastor of St. John's Reformed Church, Red Lion, Pa., since 1928, and is chairman of the General Synod's Special Committee on Stewardship, and of the York County Ministerial Association.

Loan Fund Established By Varsity Club

$500 Given As Initial Gift For Senior Aid

Announcement was made last week of the establishment of a Varsity Club Loan Fund for the purpose of providing loans to members of the Varsity Club during the last semester of their senior year.

An initial gift of $500 to the fund was made from the Varsity Club's treasury. Additions will be made from time to time. President Norman E. McClure will be custodian of the fund.

The Varsity Club's initial gift of $500 to establish the Varsity Club Loan Fund is especially welcome. I wish to thank all the members of the Varsity Club, past and present, for their generous and far-sighted action, and to venture the prediction that this fund will grow rapidly and will help an ever-increasing number of students. President Norman E. McClure.

Loans will be made to club members chosen by the Director of Athletics, a faculty member of the Athletic Council, and the president of the Varsity Club. They will be available next February.

Plans for this fund have been contemplated ever since the club was organized in 1931. It represents the interest of all members of recent years.

Job-Getting This Year

In spite of the fact that the graduates in the class of 1938 were so confident a year ago that the employment market would not collapse again, their employment prospects this spring are less favorable than those of the 1937 graduates.

According to Mr. Eugene Michael's survey of last year's graduating class, approximately thirty percent of Ursinus graduates enter the teaching profession after Commencement; approximately thirty-five percent enter the world of business; and the remainder do graduate work.

The business outlook has violently changed in the past year. Jobs are scarce. But two hopes are still strong. One is that business concerns which heretofore had conducted training schools for college graduates, but have discontinued them this year because of the tightness of present business conditions, will, within the coming few weeks, make a quick grab for employees. The other is that this recession is dying, that the good time is coming, and that the business positions already secured by this year's graduates are almost as great in number as those secured this same time last year.

The dearth in teaching positions is likewise very real. The main reason is the passage in the Pennsylvania Legislature in April, 1937, of the teacher's tenure act which makes it impossible for a teacher already in the profession to be discharged without sixty days notice, even for incompetency, and likewise for any teacher to resign without sixty days notice. It is felt that more teachers will be placed in July and August this year, instead of in May and June as in former years, because of this act.

At the moment, however, the situation is not favorable. Seniors who already have positions waiting for them are fortunate.

That Collective Security

Just what does this "collective security," about which we are hearing so much, mean? Advocated by those who have steadily been urging that the United States enter the league of nations, it has been taken up by a multitude of people, many pacifists among them, who have been swept from their intellectual moorings by the horrors across the seas.

They have come to believe that the dictators can only be stopped if this country allies itself again with England and France and once more sends an army to Europe, "Not to make the world safe for democracy but to save what is left of democracy 'over there.'" They even go so far as to say that if it will only let Hitler and Mussolini know that it will fight with France and England again they will never dare to attack the two great European democracies, and "that it is nothing less than criminal that the United States does not notify the dictators at once of its readiness, and insist that if it does not go to the rescue of its former allies the world is lost and America will be conquered after France and England become provinces of Germany."

Well, now let us analyze all this, not merely from the point of view of our emotions, or in a sudden attack of the jitters, but in calmness and with the desire to find out just what this involves.

Obviously, if the United States is going to enter into a defensive and offensive alliance with France and England it shall be part and parcel of Europe's power politics. What that will mean is plain. Although some people may be certain that just notifying the world that the United States will stand by its allies will forever prevent any war, we feel with those allies that the dictators may not be of that opinion. The collective security people are certain also that if the United States joins England and France it shall be sure to win. Victory will again perch upon its banners. Can anybody be sure of this? Hitler's army, in our judgment, will be a far better fighting organization than that of the Kaiser.

True, the economic situation of Germany is not nearly as favorable as in 1914, but who can say that Goering is not right in declaring that the war would be a short one, decided by the massing of thousands of airplanes over the enemy's chief cities? Could America get there in time? Can England be certain that it can outwit the dictators and destroy Berlin and Rome before Paris and London are laid waste? Plainly anybody's guess is as good as ours. But we submit that if the United States ties itself up with the allies it will be part and parcel of all the maneuvering and secret diplomacy, all the threatenings and bargainings, which are now going on in Europe and which are subject to change overnight. In other words if we enter into any such pact we put our fate into the hands of the British government and that of France.

Right now the dictators are out-smarting and out-maneuvering England and France. They have Spain nearly in their hands. Hitler can take Hungary; the German part of Czechoslovakia will next be his.

GAFF from the GRIZZLY

The seniors. A mighty class are they, but will they be mice or men? Ah, we'll reach into the future and see. The year is 1968.

It is June, and the exclusive Irwin's School for Girls is calm and peaceful. Miss Albert, the Dean, leisurely strolls through the campus only to find Grove Jr. and Betsy, the twins in an argument. Althouse, physical education instructor, rides swiftly into the picture. (He's developed a Charley-horse.)

A terrific noise from the direction of the Science Building is heard. Pieces of wood and brick fly through the air. The Dean rushes to the phone and dials Dr. Krick, only to find that he is attending the new play that has just opened, starring Miss Stoult, who has risen from Reggie's best to Stardom. She calls the hospital and it promises to send Dr. Nachod and Dr. Reed out to the school.

Editor Groff, of the local newspaper, hears of the disaster, and dials 612 to get his star reporter, Weikel, to cover the story. Weikel quickly grabs a hat (if you can imagine Weikel quickly grabbing a hat) and tears to the scene of the disaster.

On his way to the school he passes the new revue starring Plunkett and Kriger, famous dance team, with Klein and Wozniak as alternates. At the corner he is halted by a large crowd listening to a fellow on a soap box. It's Kindt preaching. (Yes, he left the library long enough to preach.)

Yahraes is sweeping the street, just as he swept Ursinus with his Lanterns, but he's doing O. Kay. After pushing thru the jam, Weikel arrives at the school. They're just carrying Professors Hayashi and DeWire out of the remains.

Weikel questions them. It seems that they, along with Burton, were trying to invent a machine that would keep away aggressive females. Everything was going all right until Burton started to fool with the thing. They couldn't tell what happened after that. Just as the last person is carried from the wreckage, Mayor Guest, a flourishing capitalist, arrives. So people start to leave and the excitement dies down.

Miss Wingate, French professor, Lecrone, dance instructor, and Russo, professor of "Boswellian economics", walk across the campus together. Professor Wingate has just received letters from a Miss Boyer, who has been elected president of the W.C.T.U., and from Miss Ware, who has become director of an Old Maid's Home.

They part and the school settles down for another "ho-hum" weekend.

The first thing a freshman learns: Glenwood Memorial. The last thing a senior forgets: South hall's side porch.

Freshman: sleeps in his dormitory.
 Senior: sleeps in Bomberger.

Just to remind the seniors—as a parting shot:

1. The grandstand is also used for spectators at football games.
2. The library is open to the students from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m.
3. Daily chapel is compulsory.
4. Muriel goes with "Sieb"; and "Ginnie" goes with "Whip".

Rumania is Fascist now. He is already planning to take back Schleswig-Holstein and has as good as annexed Danzig. Mussolini has cut the British life-line to India—all this, we feel, because of the present incapacity of English and French statesmanship. Are Americans to underwrite their losses and save them from the morass into which they are now sunk up to their necks?

Well, we want to be counted out. We feel, with many others, that the most precious thing in the world today is the American democracy; and that the "greatest service that we can render to humanity is to keep it intact and not risk its continuance by staking its existence upon cards to be played by others." And this we surely know: If the United States goes into another war with a debt of thirty-eight billions hanging over it, it will be bankrupt. If the United States goes into another war, its democracy will wither and die the day it enters.

Things and Stuff

By William Wimer

In an attempt to find something about that bally old English, and new Ursinus, game of cricket, the Inquisitors consulted several tomes, such as The New English Dictionary (vol. ii, pt. ii), and what do you think we found? Briefly this: cricket is an open air game played with ball, bats, and wickets, the last being stuck vertically in the ground at the center of the bowling creases—lines each six feet, eight inches in length and twenty-two yards apart, behind which the ball must be bowled.

It is played by two sides of eleven players each; the batsman whose position is fixed by the popping crease—a line four feet from either bowling crease, defends his wicket against the ball which is bowled, usually six times, by a player of the opposing side, the other players of the side being stationed about in the field in order to catch or stop the ball, thereby forcing the batsman out. That's cricket—in form; but there's more of it in history.

The first written reference to the game is found in an extract from the wardrobe accounts of the 28th year of Edward the First's reign. It was played by boys in the school of Guildford about 1550. Sir William Deighan (born 1605) refers in some royalist propaganda to Oliver Cromwell's indulgence during his youth in "cricket and football", thus acquiring the name of "royster".

St. Albus seems to have had a cricket club in 1666, and the first record of a match between two such clubs is to be found in The Post-Boy of March 1700. From that day to this, cricket has developed and has entered into the field of school, university, national, and international sport.

A few outstanding cricket achievements in first class cricket up to 1929 are perhaps interesting and enlightening. In 1927, W. H. Ponsford, of Melbourne, in the Victoria vs. Queensland game, set the record for a single inning, that period of time during which all but one of the batsmen are put out and the remaining batsman is declared not out, with a score of 437 runs (a run being scored by the batsman crossing between the wickets when the ball is hit to a safe distance, or when the ball is missed by the wicket keeper or by a fielder).

The highest recorded individual score in any match is A. E. J. Collins' 628 in a junior house match at Clinton, in 1899. His innings of 6 hours, 50 minutes were spread over five afternoons.

This is cricket. But if you really want to know what it's all about, come out to the hockey field behind the boiler house and see the match with Haverford for the "national championship" Wednesday.

PRESENTING THE 'SINUS SENIOR - A PREVIEW OF THE 1938 RUBY QUESTIONNAIRE

By Mark Alspach

Beware, Mr. Roosevelt—uneasy is the head that wears a crown! If the judgment of the Ursinus seniors is any criterion of public opinion, Dr. James L. Boswell will be our next president, because the results of the 1938 Ruby questionnaire give that economics professor a 4-1 margin over Roosevelt for the position of chief executive in 1940. The Kentucky Independents, Dr. Boswell's party, likewise show surprising strength as far as party affiliations are concerned.

Dr. J. Lynn Barnard and Dr. Philip B. Willauer hold their own as favorite professors, and the foundation courses of the History-Social Science group, political science 1-2 and history 1-2, remain the popular choices as favorite courses. Introduction to science attains the doubtful distinction of being adjudged the worst course. French 3-4, nemesis of numerous sophomores and juniors, is rated the hardest course, and music 1-2 the easiest.

Valedictorian is the most cherished honor that Ursinus can be-

WORKS OF CONTEMPORARY PHILADELPHIA PAINTERS DISPLAYED IN EXHIBIT

Displaying the works of the finest contemporary Philadelphia painters, the art exhibit in the Science Building library, sponsored by the Collegeville Community Women's Club, and arranged by Mrs. John W. Mauchly and Grace Shuss '40, will again be open in the afternoons and evenings this week.

The painters whose works are represented in the exhibit are: Julius Block, Raphael Sabatini, John Kucera, Albert Serwazi, Grace Gemberling, Emlen Etting, Hobson Pittman, Virginia McCall, Biagio Pinto, and Karl Lindborg.

An enigma to everyone is Raphael Sabatini's "Abstraction", different from most surrealist pictures in its delicate color, which blends a deep pink and a pale gray.

Carl Lindborg's "Player" is appealing in its representation of a typical American boy. "New Still Life," by Virginia McCall, is unusual with its vibrant and silvery quality.

"Magnolias" is quite characteristic of Grace Gemberling's rich and luminous style of painting.

Another of the pictures worthy of note is Emlen Etting's "Forgotten Statues," which is unique in that it places headless, cold statues against a rosy background.

Albert Serwazi's "Black Cat" is charming with its easeful black cat surrounded by warm tones. "Praying Negro," by Julius Block, is expressive because of its emotional, colored figure and its simplicity. Anna Ingersoll's "Beeches" creates a sensation of coolness and mystery.

This exhibit was open every day last week. It began Thursday, May 5. It was especially interesting to the Ursinus' Open House guests on Saturday, May 7.

Engineer Bob Sharpe, of the 20th Century Limited, gives his slant on the question asked by Russell Thompson: "Are all cigarettes alike?"

"I've always thought that cigarettes were more or less alike, Mr. Sharpe. What's your slant on that point?"

"All cigarettes alike? Not on your life, Mr. Thompson. There's a long list of differences in Camels—extra-mildness—natural taste—the greater pleasure I get—the fact that Camels don't give me jittery nerves. I've been smoking Camels over 20 years. Trackmen Poor Fifth In Lancaster Meet

By Harold Chern

Eshbach Cops Another First In Broad Jump

Glenn Eshbach and Frank Roncace proved themselves to be the backbone of the Ursinus track team when they hung up eleven points between them as the Bears wound up a poor fifth in the Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate Conference track and field meet at Lancaster, May 7.

The meet, which saw three conference records bettered, ended with Franklin and Marshall sitting on top of the heap with a total of 61 points. In second place, 17 points behind the leaders, were the Gettysburg Bullets, while Drexel, last years champs, could only score 25 points, and slipped back into third. Muhlenberg's total of 13 points gave it fourth, and left the Bears in undisputed possession of the cellar with an 11 point total.

In totalling the Bears 11 points, Eshbach hung up a win in the broad jump, and placed fourth in the javelin for six points, while Roncace garnered five points by taking second in the 100, and third in the 220.

Cohen, javelin thrower of the new champions, tossed the spear 174 feet, 4 inches, and was one of the three record breakers. The other two who set new marks were Silver, of Drexel, in the pole vault, and Deardirff, Bullet discus thrower, who tossed the platter 128 feet 4 3/4 inches.

Bear Star Garners Second In Middle Atlantics

Eshbach added further laurels to his already growing fame when he took second place in the broad jump at the Middle Atlantic track and field meet, held at Gettysburg, Saturday.

Eshbach, who last week was crowned Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate Conference champion in the same event, got off to a leap of 21 ft., 7 1/2 in. He was barely nosed out of a first place by Majeski, of Alfred, who won with a 21 ft. 9 1/2 in. jump.

RECORDS BROKEN AS SCHOOL TRACKMEN MEET HERE

Nine records fell last Saturday in Ursinus' third annual District 1 track interscholastics, as 440 contestants from twenty-nine suburban high schools vied for honors.

After some controversy about the interpretation of scoring rules, Norristown was awarded the Class A field honors, while Ridley Park nosed out Ambler to defend its Class B title.

Record breakers were: Beatty, of Ridley Park, in the javelin; Jackson, of Norristown, in the high jump; Wasser, of Norristown, in the pole vault; Martin, of Norristown, in the discus; Meall, of Collingdale, in the mile; Polischuk, of Ridley Park, in the shot put; Daltner, of Springfield, in the half mile; Springfield High, in the Class B mile relay; and Lower Merion, in the 880 relay.

The carnival was held under the auspices of the Ursinus Athletic Association, and was directed by "Jing" Johnson.

Bears Trim Albright, Gettysburg In League Tilts

Nine Gains Third Straight Win Behind Zoll at Reading

By Morris Yoder

"Jing" Johnson's batsmen turned in their third straight win and second consecutive league victory last Tuesday, defeating Albright 7-4, at Reading.

Thompson started off with a double in the first inning but was out when he tried to stretch it into a triple. Moyer and Power walked, and Atkinson reached first on DeLorenzo's error, scoring Moyer. Wise went down on a fly to left field and Power scored.

Albright retaliated with doubles by Bonner and Muller, the former scoring on the second hit. The next three Lions fled out.

In the sixth inning, both teams scored one run, the Bears on a hit by Atkinson, a sacrifice by Power, and an error; and the Lions on hits by Muller and Comba.

The Bears scored heavily in the eighth, three hits and Lion errors accounting for four runs.

In the ninth inning, the Lions rallied to score two runs on hits by Riffle and Smoot and DeLorenzo's base on balls.

Three double plays featured the game, the first by the Lions in the second inning, from Smoot to Halbfoster to Smoot, and again in the seventh, DeLorenzo to Halbfoster to Smoot. The Bears made theirs in the ninth to stop the Lion rally, Harris to Power to Wise.

Swift, Power, Wise Big Guns In Battlefielder's Defeat

By Carlton Davis

The Bears extended their winning streak to four straight victories when they defeated Gettysburg by a 7-6 score Friday afternoon. This was the third consecutive conference win for the Grizzlies, and keeps them in the running for the league title.

Fred Swift, sophomore ace, did the hurling all the way for the Bears, and Jim Craig pitched for the Bullets. Swift kept the ten hits made by the Battlefield lads well scattered, struck out ten men, and did not issue a pass.

'Sinus was off to a flying start in the first inning when Craig was nicked for two runs. After Thompson had grounded out, Moyer was safe on a bunt, and stole second. Power was safe when Snyder threw wide to first, and Moyer scampared to third on the play. Atkinson flied to deep center, and Moyer scored after the catch. Wise then singled thru short to score Power.

Gettysburg scored its first tally in the second inning when Bender's drive was carried over Eavanson's head by the wind. Snyder singled to score Bender from third.

The Bears racked up three more runs in the third frame. After Thompson had singled, Power tripled to deep left-center to send Thompson across the plate. Atkinson got a walk, and Power scored when Wise got his second hit of the day. Eavanson flied to deep left to score Atkinson and make the count 5 to 1 in favor of Ursinus.

Johnson's cohorts pushed another marker across in the fourth inning by virtue of a delayed steal. After Moyer and Power had singled, Power stole second, and Moyer scored when the G-burg lads tried to tag Power. The seventh and final Bear run came in the fifth inning when sacrifices by Eavanson and Harris scored Wise.

Gettysburg threatened in the sixth inning when it scored four runs. Daugherty reached first when Moyer threw wide, and singles by Yevak and Bender scored him. Bratton smacked one of Swift's pitches to deep center for a home run, and followed Bender and Yevak across the plate.

The Bullets got their final run in the ninth when Weems singled to score Mizell, who had previously doubled. The next two batters grounded out to Power to end the game.

PEG CLAFLIN INSTALLED AS NEW W.A.A. HEAD

Last Wednesday evening, the Women's Athletic Association held its second annual dinner in the upper dining room, Freeland hall.

Coach Eleanor Snell presented awards earned this year in hockey, basketball, and hiking. Also at this time, Margaret Clafin '39, new W.A.A. president, was installed. She succeeds Edna Meyers '38.

Ruth Shoemaker, who received the coveted W.A.A. blazer, and Margaret Clafin, who received a medal, are the two junior girls chosen this year as outstanding in sports and campus life. Miss Shoemaker has earned varsity letters in the three major girls' sports for three years each.

THIS IS THE MAN - VOTE FOR HIM

John Porambo

The Philadelphia Inquirer has started the wheels turning for the second annual College All-Star vs. Philadelphia Eagles football game, to be held at the Temple University Stadium, August 24th.

Following last year's program, the All-Star aggregation is to be selected by popular vote, and will be composed of a group of eastern grid stars who will have completed their collegiate athletic careers by June.

The team will be made up of twelve backs, five ends, five tackles, five guards, and three centers. A group of players has already been nominated and those receiving the highest vote will compose the team.

For the second time an Ursinus pigskinner has been nominated and placed on the ballot. Last year Fats Costello was the Bear nominee, and this year the honor falls to Captain Johnny Porambo.

As you probably recall, Fats was given great support and voted to a position on the first All-Star team. Now let's get behind Porambo and for the second year in a row put a Grizzly griddler on the All-Star club.

Johnny wound up his last season of college football with a bang, and was outstanding as the aggressive, hard working center of a strong Bear line. His fine play and leadership was an inspiration to the team at all times, and he is sure to sparkle even in the brightest competition.

The balloting to choose the team will be conducted through the columns of the Philadelphia Inquirer, starting May 22. Votes may be cast by letter, post card, telegram, or petition.

Get out your post cards and petitions, Ursinus fans, and cast your ballot for Johnny Porambo — a great player and a credit to the College. He deserves your support 100 percent!

Power Leads Batsmen

Bill Power, hustling second sacker of "Jing" Johnson's baseball nine, shows the way to the varsity clubbers with a .400 average at the end of last week. By getting 3 for 4 against Gettysburg Power forged ahead of Harry Atkinson who dropped to .368 from the .400 class. Ed Thompson also sports a .400 average but hasn't appeared at the plate as often as the rest of the leaders.

Howie Wise scooted up the ladder to .394 with a similar field day against G-burg to place second. Atkinson was blanked by the Bullets to drop to .368, while Moyer went up to .343 by hitting safely twice on Friday.

LAUCKS CONDUCTS CURRENT EVENTS QUIZ OF I.R.C.

As a conclusion to a successful year, the International Relations Club held its final meeting at Shreiner Hall on Tuesday, May 10, at 8 o'clock.

The program was in charge of Samuel Laucks '39, who conducted the Time Magazine current events quiz. The new members who were accepted Monday, May 9, are: Dorothy Hutt '39, Geraldine Long '39, William Power '39, Elliot Towsey '39, Nicholas Barry '41, Joseph DuBuque '41, Robert Peck '41, and Harry Showalter '41.

CURTAIN CLUBBERS DINE AND DANCE IN NORRISTOWN

At the Curtain Club banquet in Norristown's Hotel Hamilton last Monday evening, Mary Helen Stoudt '39, was elected president to succeed Paul Craigie '38.

Other successful nominees in the election were: Kenneth Seagrave '39, vice-president; Frances Thierolf '40, secretary; and Allen Dunn '39, treasurer and business manager. During the business meeting it was decided to make the banquet an annual one to which Curtain Club alumni will be invited.

POWER ELECTED PRESIDENT OF PRE-LEGAL SOCIETY

William Power '39, was elected president of the newly-formed Ursinus Pre-Legal Society at a special meeting held Monday afternoon, May 9. Miss Roberta Byron '39, was elected vice-president, and Mark Alspach '40, was elected secretary-treasurer.

In the evening, Dr. J. G. Hervey, Associate Dean of Temple Law School, was guest speaker at the regular meeting, held in the reception room of Freeland hall. Dr. Hervey has been teaching law for the past eight years and is well known in his field.

Dinner

In the evening, all students with their mothers attended the annual Mother's Day banquet in the upper dining room.

Mr. Donald L. Helfferich, vice-president of Ursinus, acted as toastmaster. Brief after-dinner speeches were given by Dr. Elizabeth B. White, Dean of Women; Dean Whorton A. Kline; and May Queen Muriel Brandt '38, and her mother. Dr. Norman E. McClure welcomed all the mothers to Ursinus and praised May Day as an opportunity to strengthen a tie between the College, the students, and mothers.

Play

wick, her senatorial husband, Ruth Grauert '39, for her imposing facade as Mrs. Creevey of the Peace, Purity, and Patriotism League, and Mary Alice Lord '41, as a sight-seer. Paul Craigie '38, closing an active career on the Ursinus stage, did about all that could be done with the part of Stephen Wayne, a surprisingly small role.

It is perhaps ungrateful to lump together all the other actors in the large cast, but space demands that Anne Colsher '38, as Mrs. Ives, Fred Ditzel '38, as Mrs. Ellsworth T. Ganning, Ann Robinson '41, as Ann Forrester, and John Musser '41, as George Mason be mentioned en masse. Other minor roles were carried by Arthur Martin '38, Nadine Sturges '41, Raymond Hess '40, Charles Blum '41, Mary Hyde '41, Raymond Harbaugh '39, Theodora Watson '41, Robert Peck '41, Harry Showalter '41, and Stanley Weikel '38.

The honors of this presentation of "First Lady" go to the actors, but the credit must in large measure be given to Dr. and Mrs. Reginald S. Sibbald for painstaking and unremitting efforts to make the Curtain Club production as professional as an amateur cast can do it.
