About This Edition

The award winning Freeman Honors, is the bi-annual newsletter of the Thomas F. Freeman Honors College at Texas Southern University. It connects the students, faculty and office personnel of the College with its many benefactors and partners in education within the University.

The College anticipates that this connection will reflect and cultivate the relationships in a family whose members are dedicated to maximizing the preparation of College students for service as citizens and as leaders in a global society.

Retirement of the Dr. Thomas F. Freeman Papers and Books

The Honors College celebrated the official retirement of the Freeman Papers and Books on June 27, 2019, which also marked the 100th birthday of its Founding Dean, Dr. Thomas F. Freeman.

The event was held in the Exhibit Room of the Robert J. Terry Library .

Dean's Message

Dr. Dianne Jemison Pollard

The Fall 2019 semester began with Alumna Dr. Cherry Gooden speaking at the Fall Dinner and ended with the Honors Graduation Ceremony. Senior Freeman Scholars were presented with the newly designed stoles fashioned with a gold medallion that states "Honors College" attached. In between those two landmark events were a host of trips, awards, accomplishments, research and honors classes that all align with our mission to provide challenging courses, enhancement experiences, intellectual engagement and research opportunities.

Please enjoy this edition of the award winning Freeman Honors. (The Freeman Honors newsletter received recognition from the National Collegiate Honors Council in 2018).

Fall 2019 Retreat

The Honors College welcomed the Freeman Scholars to a new school year with the annual Fall Retreat held in the C.S. Lane building on Saturday, September 7, 2019. Mr. Shandon Neal kicked off the retreat with an interactive ice breaker that promoted team building and collaboration among the new and returning members of the College.

After the icebreaker, the scholars were divided according to their classes into breakout sessions facilitated by Dean Jemison Pollard, Dr. Hector Miranda, Ms. Renuka Nair and Mr. Shandon Neal. During the breakout sessions freshman scholars discussed their majors and why they selected their major with the Dean, sophomores discussed campus organizations and time management with Mr. Neal, the juniors discussed research topics for their course augmentation proposals, and the seniors received an in-depth look into the senior thesis with Dr. Miranda and were assigned their faculty fellow mentors.

Honors College faculty members, Dr. Michon Benson (Department of English) and Dr. James Herbst (Department of History) briefly addressed the scholars and spoke about tips for a successful academic year. After lunch was served, the scholars received the Fall 2019 calendar with all required activities.

The Honors Fall Retreat is a required event for Freeman Scholars.

The Annual Honors Fall Dinner

The three boulders to move out of the way for success in college and life were addressed by the Key-note Speaker, Dr. Cherry Ross Gooden, at the annual Fall Dinner on September 17, 2019. Dr. Gooden walked around the Tiger Room in the Sterling student Life Center speaking to the Freeman Scholars who had all eyes on her. The boulders to recognize are procrastination, time management and distractions. Dr. Gooden is a retired professor and former chair of the Curriculum and Instruction Department in the College of Education. Also, she served as the director of GUAC (General University Academic Center).

As the Freeman Scholars were all dressed up for the occasion, they witnessed several Junior scholars receiving Gray Honors College Blazers as recognition of completing two years of honors requirements.

Senior scholars who completed all requirements through their Junior year received a “Scholar” lapel pin. The senior Freeman Scholars who earned their senior pin are: Vivian Adeoye, Janik Alexander-Smith, Henry Bautista, Julian Black, Vincent Fisher, Ana Gonzalez, Giraude Griffin, Tylar Larkins, Chinedu Maduekwe, Ashlynn McCall, Olajumoke Omosobi, Eniola Otukoya, Leslie Pineda, Kiya Reeves, Mariela Rodriguez, Godswill Sam, Kei Takahashi, Gabriella Tavera, Raissa Teta, and Christina Vital.

The climax of the evening was the Induction Ceremony for eleven (11) new continuing scholars and four (4) transfer scholars. Dean Jemison Pollard administered the oath. The Freshmen class will be inducted in February 2020 after successfully completing one semester of college level work.

Participants on the program included: Ms. Eniola Otukoya (senior, Biology), Ms. Ana Gonzalez (senior, Interdisciplinary Studies), Mr. Shandon Neal, Dr. Hector Miranda, and Ms. Renuka Nair.

Musical selections were played by Freeman Scholars, Mark Ddamulira and Daniel Kuddabujja.

The Fall Dinner serves as the first official event on the Fall 2019 calendar after the Honors College Retreat.

Fredrick Douglass Lecture Series

The Frederick Douglass Lecture Series is a required attendance event for the Honors College Freeman Scholars. Two lectures are presented each semester and each has a community and/or global focus.

Dr. George Kieh—October 1, 2019

Dr. George Kieh Jr., Dean of the Barbara Jordan Mickey Leland School of Public Affairs, shared his thoughts on the current political climate in the U.S. with his lecture titled “Citizen Engagement and Democracy within the United States.”

His objective for the lecture was to point out key issues regarding citizen engagement. Dr. Kieh talked about the lack of citizen participation and inclusion. He is an advocate for the involvement of citizens in the implementation and creative process of government policy, stating there should be more inclusion. Dr. Kieh noted that the nature of the government determines how much a citizen can engage. The democratic government in the United States, he said, makes it easier for citizens to engage in comparison to in countries with a dictatorship or a totalitarian government. According to Dr. Kieh, “an engaged citizen should find the area in which their life experiences and skills could be useful.” He emphasized that citizen engagement is a group effort, and that we can all contribute some way and somehow. Dr. Kieh’s rhetoric is very encouraging. His call to action inspired the Freeman Scholars to be engaged citizens, appreciate their civil liberties and use their right to vote as citizens.

Frederick Douglass Lecture featuring Dr. George Kieh

Ms. Desmonae McCloud (Sophomore, Finance), delivered the invocation, Ms. Alexis Shavers (Senior, Biology/Pre-Medicine) delivered the occasion, Ms. LaTeryka Hudson (Junior, Administration of Justice) introduced the speaker.

Dr. Jesus Esparza—November 12, 2019

Frederick Douglass Lecture featuring Dr. Jesus Jesse Esparza

Dr. Jesus Jesse Esparza, Assistant Professor of History, spoke to the Freeman Scholars about the life of the average Hispanic living in the 1800s to present day America. His lecture, titled “Foreigners on Their Own Land: American Nativism and the Politics of Citizenship,” fully engaged the scholars with a timeline that showcased the difficulties of being a Hispanic in the land of the free.

Dr. Esparza shared thoughts about the recent trials that Hispanics face, many of which involved mistreatment by government officials. Scholars were informed about the current state of the U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement Agency (I.C.E.) tactics such as separating families, holding immigrants in private facilities, restricting their access to lawyers and/or family members, and committing brutalities such as rape. Dr. Esparza also highlighted the fact that countless Latinos and Latinas who have served this country in the military, were deported after their service. He touched upon the Obama Administration’s Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) policy which was responsible for the creation of I.C.E. However, Dr. Esparza assured us that there are ways to help. As humans, we must feel a sense of responsibility to help our brothers and sisters to defend themselves against injustice. He encouraged the scholars to know their rights and shed light on injustice, so that we can advance along a path of justice and equality for all with no limitations to race or background.

Ms. Renuka Nair, delivered the invocation, Mr. Brian Martinez (Freshman, Accounting) delivered the occasion, Ms. Deja Rollins (Freshman, Political Science) introduced the speaker, and Dean Jemison Pollard, delivered the closing remarks.

The United Nations Association Houston hosted their annual gala on United Nations Day, October 24, 2019.

It was a grand event filled with vibrant colors, bright smiles, and delectable food. Freeman Scholars Alexis Shavers (Senior, Biology, Honors Ambassadors-President), Janai Minga (Junior, Pre-Pharmacy, Miss Honors College), Clinton Emeh (Junior, Biology, Mister Honors College), Noralis Rodriguez-Santiago (Freshman, Biology, highest incoming GPA) and Shaun Stevenson (Freshman, Biology, highest participation in community service), represented TSU and the Honors College, and were thrilled to attend such a prestigious event with Dean Jemison Pollard. The gala was held at the Houston Junior League, which was aptly decorated with flags from all around the world. Honors College scholars, along with the dean, shared a table with international students from Prairie View A&M University and former mayor of Prairie View, the Honorable Frank Jackson. Both groups were honored to be the only Historically Black Colleges and Universities represented at this high profile international event. The program was beautiful and included speakers that captivated the audience. The Honors College scholars are grateful to have had the opportunity to attend.

Special thanks to the Honorable Teta Banks, President of the United Nations Association-USA and member of the Honors College Advisory Board, for generously sponsoring the scholars' tickets to the event through the Texas Spring Cypress Links, Inc. organization.

The Scholars-in-Training Program: A partnership between HISD and the Thomas F. Freeman Honors College

Maya Angelou once said, "When you learn, teach. When you get, give." During the Fall 2019 semester, the Honors College extended its Scholars in Training program to provide mentorship to Houston Independent School District including charter schools. The Scholars-in-Training program consists of Freeman Scholars assisting high school juniors and senior scholars with their college entrance exams, which include the ACT and SAT. The goal of the program is to assist inner city high school scholars boost their standardized test scores. The Freeman Scholars who signed up and were trained for the program in Fall 2019 are: Shaun Stevenson, Janai Minga, Devon Wrighting, Jamel Joliviet, and Daniel Avila. Young Women's College Preparatory School, a Houston area charter school, identified over 30 high school scholars in need of help with raising their standardized test scores and who have signed up to participate. The Honors College would like to thank the Freeman Scholars for volunteering their time for the Scholars-in-Training program.

The Scholars-in-Training program is facilitated by the Honors College graduate research assistant Sarah Sejoro, and will be conducted each fall and spring semester.

Honors Research and Recruitment Trip to New Orleans

Dean Jemison Pollard (second from left) and Freeman Scholars, with Prof. Carolyn Duell Wistrand (fourth from right) and students from Dillard University

Twenty-two Freeman scholars from the Thomas F. Freeman Honors College, along with Dean Jemison Pollard and Mr. Shandon Neal, program coordinator, visited New Orleans on their fall semester Research and Recruitment Trip, in November 2019. While there, they shared research with students from Dillard University. Research presentations included: Impact of Genetic Counseling in Medicine (Vivian Adeoye, senior), AMPs and their Impact on the Gut Microbiota (Eniola Otukoya, senior), and MYB Family: Differentiation within Members of the MYB's in Breast Cancer Cells and Patient Samples (Gabriella Tavera, senior).

While in New Orleans they visited Xavier University and toured the art exhibit, The Spirit of Art in the African Diaspora, in the Gallery. The scholars met with students in Xavier's honors program, the Exponentials, and their director, Dr. Ja'Wanda Grant.

The recruitment phase of the trip took them to Warren Easton High School and St. Augustine High School. The Freeman scholars, who wore their Honors blazers, spoke of the benefits of being a part of the Honors College to juniors and seniors who had a 3.5 or higher GPA. Presently, there are two freshmen Freeman scholars from St. Augustine, which is a prestigious all-male school.

The Freeman scholars were treated to lunch at the historic Dooky Chase's Restaurant and had a chance to meet the daughter and son of the owners who are now deceased. Mrs. Stella Chase Reese and Edgar "Dooky" Chase, III spoke to the scholars about how the restaurant was a safe haven for the Freedom Riders in the '60s and was one of the few restaurants that was opened to African Americans in the 40s and 50s and was listed in the Green Book. Each scholar had a chance to take a photo with the Chases. Before leaving the city, the Freeman scholars were treated to a luncheon cruise on the Steamboat Natchez.

While in New Orleans, Dean Jemison Pollard also attended several of the sessions at the 54th National Collegiate Honors Council (NCHC) Annual Conference. She served as an adjudicator for the NCHC National Newsletter Competition for 2019. (The "Freeman Honors" newsletter won second place in 2018 for the Best Faculty/Student Newsletter.)

Honors College Recruitment in the Houston Area

Community College Honors Program Day

As part of the University enrollment drive, the Honors College hosted several Houston area community colleges that have an Honors program, in Fall 2019. Honors program directors and prospective transfer students were invited to a special presentation by the Honors College, highlighting the benefits of continuing an honors undergraduate education. Dean Jemison Pollard along with the Honors staff and Freeman Scholar Daniel Avila, addressed the community college honors program directors from Houston Community College, Lone Star College and San Jacinto College, showcasing the honors curriculum, the research and the various enrichment opportunities afforded by the Thomas F. Freeman Honors College. The event ended with a lunch for the invited guests and students.

The Honors College organized outreach activities catered towards Houston area charter schools in the Fall 2019 semester. The outreach was a success as we were able to connect with some exemplary schools, including the Young Women’s College Preparatory Academy (YWCPA). The Honors staff and Freeman Scholars met with Ms. Nicole Gonzales, college readiness staff at YWCPA, to share information about the invaluable benefits afforded to Freeman Scholars, including a challenging Honors curriculum, as well as research and travel opportunities. YWCPA has multiple locations all around the state of Texas. The Thomas F. Freeman Honors College goal is to promote academic success, attract some of the best students, and promote Texas Southern University and the Honors College all over Texas and the United States.

Fall 2019 Undergraduate Research and Internships Symposium

On November 18 through 20, 2019, the Honors College hosted its semi-annual Undergraduate Research and Internships Symposium, showcasing the interdisciplinary research and internship activities of 30 junior Honors scholars. Celebrating scholarly research and internship experiences, the symposium serves as a forum for junior level scholars to present their work that is completed in the course augmentation proposals (CAPs). The presentation topics and content are based on the scholars' chosen fields of study. Participants were given 10-15 minutes to present their topics.

Below are three presentations from the Fall 2019 Symposium.

KIARA CHATMAN: “Marketing Tendencies and their impact on Consumer Behavior”
(MKTG 306, Dept of Marketing, Professor: Dr. Claudius Claiborne)

In the field of marketing, reports of offensive language and/or depictions in advertisements and even products, are not uncommon. These problems usually occur due to a lack of cultural sensitivity. Cultural sensitivity is a set of skills that enable us to learn about and understand people who are different from ourselves, thereby becoming better able to serve them within their own communities. This research project details the detriment that cultural insensitivity can cause and provides possible solutions to overcoming this phenomenon. Solutions include, a list of common signs of cultural insensitivity and mistakes to watch out for, along with guidelines for hiring a culturally diverse team specifically designed to meet cultural sensitivity standards.

SNEHA THOMAS: “Mental Disorders and Their Effects on Brain Structure and Function”
(PHARM 426, Dept. of Pharmaceutical & Environmental Health Sciences, Professor: Dr. Ya Fatou Mbye)

Mental disorders alter a person's thinking, feeling, and behavior. This research focused on major depressive disorder and schizophrenia. Major Depressive Disorder (MDD) is a mood disorder that causes individuals to constantly feel sad and lose interest in day to day tasks. Schizophrenia causes an increase in symptoms of hallucinations, delusions, and reduced feelings. In addition, this disease decreases the size of the brain's hippocampus, frontal lobe, and occipital lobe. Although there is no cure to these diseases, there are pharmacological and behavioral treatments used to alleviate the symptoms. Overall, mental disorders come in many forms, can affect any race, age, or gender, and have the capability to cause severe changes to the brain.

MARIELA RODRIGUEZ: “The Re-emergence of the Measles Virus in 2019”
(BIOL 347, Dept. of Biology, Professor: Dr. Jason Rosenzweig)

Measles, a highly infectious endemic disease, was once eradicated in the early 2000s. However, it has reemerged in recent years due to unvaccinated individuals serving as reservoirs for this virus to continually be present. In 1998, an article published in the prestigious medical journal, The Lancet, British doctor Andrew Wakefield, falsely linked the MMR (measles, mumps and rubella) vaccine to autism. Evidence from this research found people were misinformed about potential side effects of the vaccination. Anti-vaccination groups continue to sway parents against vaccinating their children, thus putting the general population at risk and diminishing herd immunity, causing a public health crisis. In 2019 cases of measles increased three-fold due to religious beliefs and social pressure. In 2014, data deduced over 13,592 personal belief exceptions were submitted to schools opting out of recommended vaccinations coinciding with the measles outbreak in Disneyland. In Texas alone, the exemptions grew from 2,300 in 2013 to 64,000 just in 2016. The most recent outbreak in New York has led to stronger vaccination policies and possible fines and/or jail time for parents who fail to vaccinate their children, citing child negligence.

On Tuesday December 3, 2019, the Thomas F. Freeman Honors College celebrated its Fall 2019 graduates, who had successfully completed Honors curriculum requirements, including the senior thesis, at a luncheon with family and friends of the graduates. Dean Jemison Pollard presided over the Honors Graduation Recognition Ceremony/Luncheon held in the Library Learning Center, the new home of the Honors College. Honors Faculty Fellow and Assistant Professor and Coordinator of Music Education, Dr. Tanya Allen, delivered inspirational thoughts with those present. She offered invaluable advice to the graduates as they prepare to embark upon their next chapter in life as Honors alumni and global citizens. December 2019 Class Salutatorian and Freeman Scholar, Ashlynn McCall, shared thoughts about her journey through TSU and the Honors College. She reflected upon what motivated her to stay focused on her goals and always aim to succeed regardless of distractions and minor failures.

The luncheon and ceremony concluded with Dean Jemison Pollard leading the graduation pledge. The graduates pledged to continue to uphold the core values of the Honors College (Honesty, Integrity, Community, Creativity, and Excellence). Each graduate was honored with the newly designed Honors College stole, a certificate of completion, as well as TSU Alumni memorabilia as tokens of appreciation.

The December 2019 graduates are: Dorian Fernandez (Biology), Tylar Larkins (Biology), Chinedu Maduekwe (Maritime Transportation Management Security), Ashlynn McCall (Biology), Olajumoke Omosobi (Aviation Science Management), Eniola Otukoya (Biology), Godswill Sam (Political Science), Kayla Smith (Business Management), Ashley Stoneham (Administration of Justice), Kei Takahashi (Art), and Christina Vital (Health Studies).

Congratulations to our graduates as they embark upon the next chapter in their lives.

“2020”

By: Alexis Lowe
(Senior, Political Science)

A new year, a new decade.

A time of reflection, a time of new commitments.

A new year, a new decade.

A time of self improvement, a time of new dedications.

A new year, a new decade.

A time of determination, a time of new accomplishments.

A new year, a new decade.

Time to focus. Time to finish.

The end of the road is near, and the new beginning you fear.

A new year, a new decade.

Time to reach the goals you have long yearned for.

Time to cross the stage. Time to say you did it.

Freeman Scholars Wins Literary Award

Ms. Judnie Michel, Freshman, Pre-Pharmacy major, was the Fall 2019 recipient of the Clarence and Flora Ware Memorial Writing Award presented by TSU’s English Department. According to Prof. Tiffany Ware, Director of the TSU Writing Lab, Judnie’s paper titled “Middle Child vs. STOOPID” reflected the mission of the writing lab and the award’s namesake--- Ms. Ware’s parents. Ms. Ware, along with Judnie’s Honors ENG 131 professor, Dr. Iris Lancaster, and Chair of the English Department, Dr. Michael Sollars, presented Judnie with a $75.00 Visa gift card and a Kindle device.

Congratulations, Judnie!

Freeman Scholars Angela Smith (second from left) and Chinedu Maduekwe (right) with fellow team members

On October 4th, 2019, Phillips 66 hosted their annual Case Competition in Houston. Phillips 66 is passionate about showcasing the talent developed at local HBCU’s and creating more career opportunities for HBCU students. During the competition, students solve a real-world business scenario, present their recommendations in front of a panel of company recruiters and management, and compete for a chance to win $1,000 in cash prizes. This year, Texas Southern University competed against students from and Prairie View A&M University. The competing teams were given two hours to complete the solution and 10 minutes to present to the judges. The 2019 winning team was comprised of five students from Texas Southern University, including Freeman Scholars Precious Oguonu, Angela Smith and Chinedu Maduekwe.

Congratulations to all participants!

Dean Jemison Pollard Selected to Judge the National Best University Newsletter Competition at NCHC

Each year the National Collegiate Honors Council (NCHC) holds the Newsletter Contest. In the 2018-2019 academic year, the Spring 2018 edition of Freeman Honors won 2nd place for the Faculty/Student-Electronic category, out of 27 entries.

This year, as the dean of a winning newsletter, Dean Jemison Pollard was selected to judge the entries for the 2019-2020. She received over thirty (30) newsletters in August 2019 from around the country. Her assignment was to go through each newsletter, Faculty/Student Printed Publication and Student Printed Publication, both electronic and hard copy, and rank them according to the following: Stated purpose is reflected in form and content; form and content is relevant to target audience; content is well written, interesting, and informative; appearance of newsletter (layout, color, type) is compelling; newsletter reflects creativity; and publication has a consistent and tangible “feel” or voice. Also, she was asked to give feedback on strengths and weaknesses.

Call to Alumni: Make Contact with the Honors College

We are continually updating our database of alumni of honors units at Texas Southern University. The database includes information on those past students who have been in the Honors College, Frederick Douglass Honors Program, and other honors activities or units that may have preceded them. If you are one of these alumni, please provide the information to the Honors College by contacting Mr. Shandon Neal, at Shandon.Neal@tsu.edu or 713.313.1180 or Mr. Chizara Nwakanma at 713.313.6725.

Christmas and Holiday Cheer – Honors Style

The annual Honors College Christmas party on Wednesday, December 4, 2019, once again brought together the Freeman Scholars and Honors staff to ring in the holiday season with fun, music and games. After an impromptu game of musical chairs, Mr. Shandon Neal tickled the scholars' funny bone with his ever popular Honors style BINGO. Scholars were challenged to trivia and questions about the college and the university. Trivia items included recap of required Honors curriculum terms and standards, past Frederick Douglass lectures and some fun interactive moments that have occurred since our Fall retreat in September.

There were gifts, refreshments and music. Everyone had a great time before leaving for the winter holidays.
