

Hampstead Aug 9th/63

Brother Searles

It is two or three weeks since I received your letter. Soon after receiving it I saw an account of the desperate assault on Fort Magner in one of the daily papers and in the list of wounded was Capt. S. H. Harris, which I supposed was Joseph, but was not sure, so I concluded not to write to you untill I heard something definite in regard to him. We feared he was more seriously wounded than you represent, but we feel a good deal of anxiety about him for I have seen several that received such wounds in the thigh and
you represent, but we feel a good deal of anxiety about him for I

Transcription:

Hampstead Aug 9th/63

Brother Leander

It is

two or three weeks since I received your letter. Soon after receiving it, I saw an account of the desperate assault on Fort Wagner in one of the daily papers and in the list of wounded was Corp^l J. H. Harris, which I supposed was Joseph but was not sure so I concluded not to write to you until I heard something definite in regard to him. We feared he was more seriously wounded than you represent, but we feel a good deal of anxiety about him for I have seen several that received flesh wounds in the thigh and they proved to be very serious affairs and have heard of some that proved fatal, and aside from that hundreds of poor soldiers are left to die for want of care and proper medical attendance. The hot weather also is unfavorable. It is quite fortunate that you are able to see him often. I want you to write me all the particulars about his wound, and if he is well cared for and in good spirits. Was he wounded before reaching the fort. How is Capt Thomas I should like very much to receive a letter from Joseph if he is able to write.

I sent you some papers soon after I received your letter which if you received will give you a pretty good idea of the progress of the draft. They also contain a very full account of the great riot in N.Y. and the glorious victories of the fourth of July. I
of the progress of the draft. They also
contain a very full account of the

Transcription:

and have heard of some that proved fatal, and aside from that hundreds of poor soldiers are left to die for want of care and proper medical attendance. The hot weather also is unfavorable. It is quite fortunate that you are able to see him often. I want you to write me all the particulars about his wound, and if he is well cared for and in good spirits. Was he wounded before reaching the fort. How is Capt [Houde] I should like very much to receive a letter from Joseph if he is able to write. I sent you some papers soon after I received your letter which if you received will give you a pretty good idea of the progress of the draft they also contain a very full account of the great riot in N.Y and the glorious victories of the fourth of July. I sent Joseph two Haverhill papers which I think you would like to read, one of them contains a long letter and some poetry from N. C. Parker a Lieut in the 1st S. C. Regt. formerly a sergeant in the Mass Cavalry stationed at Fort Royal he went from Haverhill and kept a restorer and periodical shop on Water Street, I think it quite likely you know him. In regard to the Draft it will commence in this State tomorrow and will be put through without delay, it would have been finished before this had it not been for the decision of the Provost Marshall Gen on certain points that were objectionable the principal one was that towns that had furnished their full quota of men fared no better under the draft than those that furnished none principal one was that towns that which I think you would like to read, one of them contains a long letter and some poetry from N.G. Parker a Lieut in the 1st S.C. Reg^t. formerly a Sargent in the Mass Cavalry stationed at Port Royal he went from Haverhill and kept a restorator am periodical depot on water street, I think it quite likely you know him. In regard to the Draft it will commence in this State tomorrow and will be put through without delay, it would have been finished before this had it not been for the decision for the Provost Marshall Gen on certain points that were objectionable the principal one was that towns that had furnished their full quota of men fared no better under the draft than those that furnished none which was unjust Gov Gilmore went to Washington and had the matter righted. We have a real live working Gov, just the man for the times, he has placed a sufficient force in Concord and Port-mouth to enforce the draft. I think the draft will be more productive of money than men in this section.

Transcription:

July has been a very wet month the brooks are spring full, three weeks of rain after the fourth was not very favorable for haying. I carted in my first load ^{of hay} the 3^d day of August The past week has been good hay weather The 15th Reg^t arrived yesterday were two weeks on the road and are pretty well worn out. I will give the particulars in my next which will be soon if nothing prevents. Avander Corson has enlisted in the heavy artillery for at least 90 days. I will give the particulars
in my next which will be soon
if nothing prevents. Avander Corson

Transcription:

went to Washington and had the matter righted. We have a real live working Gov, just the man for the times, he has placed a sufficient force in Concord and Portsmouth to enforce the draft. I think the draft will be more productive of money than men in this section July has been a very wet month the brooks are spring full, three weeks of rain after the fourth was not very favorable for haying, I carted in my first load ^{of hay} the 3^d day of August The past week has been good day weather The 15th Reg^t arrived yesterday were two weeks on the road and are pretty well worn out. I will give the particulars in my next which will be soon if nothing prevents, Avender Corson has enlisted in the heavy, artillery for the defense of Portsmouth harbor rather than stand a draft. W^m C. Little