PRICE, 5 CENTS

The passing of Dr. Omwake brings to hundreds of Ursinus men and women a sense of personal loss. His former students remember the kindly, unassuming, helpful teacher; the Directors and Faculty remember his wisdom and patience and optimism as an executive; all who love Ursinus remember with profound gratitude his long years of unselfish devotion to our College. Fraternity Bids To Be Extended Tomorrow; Today Marks Beginning of Sorority Rushing

Nearly Fifty Freshmen To Join Each Sorority To Hold Formal Fraternities; Sign Bids In Rec Hall

OPEN HOUSE HELD TONIGHT

By tomorrow noon very nearly fifty men out of the freshman class will belong to the five campus fraternities, and the rushing uproar will subside until Easter, when bidding may again be resumed under Interfraternity Council ruling.

Tonight each fraternity will hold Open House in one of the men's dormitories. Each freshman who was invited to any of the formal frat parties this week is privileged to attend these final look-em-over soires of the fraternities which previously invited him.

After 10:30 tonight the non-communication period will be enforced by a tour of inspection of the Interfraternity Council.

The Council will then compile a list of the names of all freshmen offered fraternity bids, and this list will be posted on the outside bulletin board tomorrow morning after breakfast. All those freshman named will go to the recreation room beneath the library to receive their bids.

All bids received must be immediately accepted or rejected.

The Interfraternity Council is composed of ten men, two from each fraternity: Frank Tworzydlo, president, Kenneth Lecrone, secretary-treasurer, Elmer Gaumer Paul Guest, Herbert Griffiths, Justus Bodley, Raymond Costello, Angelo Vaccaro, Clayton Worster, and Alex Lewis.

The two offices in the Council are rotated each year among the five represented groups, belonging this year to Demas.

CURTAIN CLUB TO PRESENT "GHOST TRAIN" ON ROAD TRIP

Three-Act Mystery To Be Given In Spring City, Norristown

The Ursinus Curtain Club will go on its long-proposed "road tour" on the next two week-ends. On Saturday, February 13, the Curtain Club will present "The Ghost Train" at Spring City, Pennsylvania.

The following Friday, February 19, the same play, a three-act mystery, will be given in Norristown at the Stuart Junior High School, under the auspices of the Norristown Senior High School.

Other localities have been contacted, but to date no other definite appearances have been scheduled.

The cast that will present "The Ghost Train" on both these occasions consists of Curtain Club players. Each of the four female roles has two actresses handling the part, so that, if demands for the production are heavy, the parts may be alternated.

The cast is as follows: Elsie Winthrop, Alice Plunkett '38, and Flora Bronson '39; Peggy Murdock, Elizabeth Ware '38, and Anne Colsher '38; Miss Bourne, Marthella Anderson '40, and Ruth Grauert '39; Julia Price, Mary Helen Stoudt '39, and Rita Miller '40; Richard Winthrop, Robert Gross '39; Saul Hodgkin, William Wimer '39; Charles Murdock, James Baird '38; Herbert Price, Keith Thompson '40; John Sterling, Eli Brody '38; Jackson, Arthur Martin '38; Teddy Deakin, Paul Craigie '38.

MANY FAVORED MEN TO DANCE TO GEORGE CRAIG'S STRAINS

The Lorelei Committee anticipates a heavy attendance at the Lorelei dance this Friday evening.

The orchestra is George Craig's instead of George Craigie's, as printed last week.

Poley Wins May Pageant Choice

Ursinus Circle Picks Pageant Of Roman Mythology For May Day

GEBHART WINS SECOND PLACE

Audrey Poley '38, has been announced the winner of the May Day Pageant contest by a committee of three judges from the Ursinus Circle, the organization which for the past several years has sponsored a contest among all women students for the selection of a pageant to be produced on Ursinus May Day.

The Ursinus Circle is composed of women directly connected with the College, as the wives of professors, faculty members, preceptresses, and others connected with the administration. The three judges were Mrs. George W. Hartzell, Mrs. William U. Helferich, and Dr. Elizabeth B. White.

Miss Poley's pageant was selected from among nine entered in competition. Its title is "Floralia", and it deals with that portion of Roman mythology surrounding the deity Flora, goddess of fertility. The prize awarded to Miss Poley is fifteen dollars. She will also have the privilege of guiding its production.

Second prize, with honorable mention, has been awarded by the judges to Mildred Gebhart '39, whose pageant is called "A Magic Carpet of Melody."

Mrs. Franklin I. Sheeder, who is director of the perennial May Day Pageant, will very shortly begin work upon its production. Assisting her will be Miss Sara Mary Ouderkerk, director of the dance routines, and Dr. W. F. Philip, who will have charge of the music.

May Queen Election in March

Election of the May Queen, who is the central figure in the pageant and will have the role of the goddess Flora, will probably take place in the latter part of March, under the supervision of the Women's Student Government Association. Only co-eds may vote. The various other attendants, who usually number two from each class, and are the most important honorary parts other than that of the May Queen, will be elected by the class women shortly afterward.

HEDGEROW TO PRESENT THREE PRODUCTIONS IN TWO NIGHTS

"Getting Married" Changed From February 3 to March 9

Because of the death of Dr. George L. Omwake, the performance by the Hedgerow Players of Bernard Shaw's "Getting Married", scheduled for Wednesday evening, February 3, was postponed. It is to be presented on Tuesday evening, March 9.

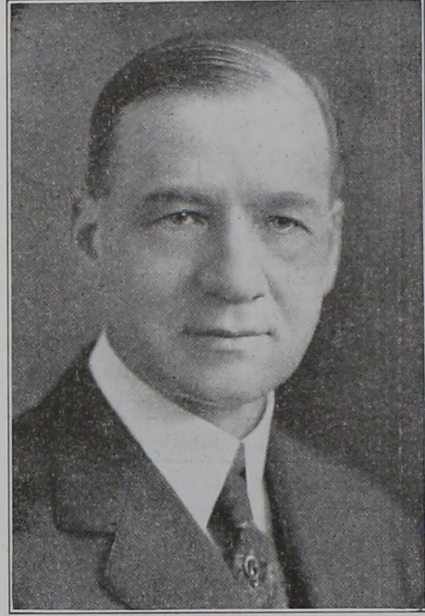

It will be followed on the next evening, March 10, by two other plays acted by the Hedgerow Players. The first of these is Eugene O'Neil's "Emperor Jones", and the second is the one-act play "Aria da Capo" by Edna Saint-Vincent Millay.

Dr. Reginald Sibbald, sponsor for the Curtain Club, which is presenting the Hedgerow Players, has announced that, because the performances will be given on two successive nights, there will be a reduction in price for those who wish to see both performances. Seats for both nights in sixty cent section may be had for one dollar, and in the ninety cent section for $1.50.

Ursinus Campus Is Sorrowed By Death Of President Emeritus George Leslie Omwake

Funeral Rites Held In Trinity Reformed Church; Address By Dr. Lentz

MANY DISTINGUISHED ATTEND WAS VERY ACTIVE IN CHURCH

DR. GEORGE L. OMWAKE

George Leslie Omwake, LL. D., president emeritus of Ursinus College passed away at his home in Collegeville early Wednesday morning, February 3. He was sixty-five years of age. Death was the result of a heart ailment with which he had been afflicted for many years. He was seriously stricken in the Spring of 1935.

Dr. Omwake was widely known as an educator and served for twenty-four years as president of Ursinus College. He was also active as a lay leader in the Reformed Church in the United States and held many responsible appointments in this denomination. Because of illness he was compelled to resign all his activities on June 30, 1936.

He is survived by his wife, Sophie Casselberry, a son, Stanley, and a daughter, (Continued on Page 6)

BEAR WRESTLERS LOSE CLOSE TOURNEY WITH TEMPLE, 20-18

Captain Reynolds Pins His Second Consecutive Opponent

The Ursinus wrestling team came very close to a victory when it tangled with the Temple matmen in Philadelphia this past Saturday. Winning four matches and losing four, Coach Steven's proteges were nosed out by the score of 20-18 because only three of the four matches won were pins.

Captain Frank Reynolds, 126 pounder, came through with his second pin in two tries. The other two Ursinus pin-wins were turned in by Tay Hayashi, 118, and Johnny Knoll, heavyweight. George Meklos, 155, won his match with a time advantage.

The four Temple wins were no half-way measures, all four going to the Owls via the five point route. These four were lost by Paul Guest, 135, Herb Althouse, 145, who was forced to default due to a rib injury, Bob Landis, 165, and Heck Balsis, 175, who also had to forfeit because of an injury.

CO-ED SEXTET SWAMPS BRYN MAWR IN FIRST COURT MEET

With a smashing 42-15 score the Ursinus co-eds defeated Bryn Mawr on Saturday in their first basketball game of the season, at Bryn Mawr.

The U-lassies looked good, showing plenty of pep and agility. With the aid of her teammates, Bunny Harshaw dropped in 14 field goals to lead the scoring. Other varsity players were Erdman, Von Kleeck, Fenton, Meyers, and Shoemaker.

The girls' Jayvee team lost to the Bryn Mawr seconds, 29-14. Peg Kerstetter led with eight points.

Dr. Omwake Served Ursinus As Professor, President From 1901 to 1936

Dr. Omwake was born near Greencastle, Pennsylvania, on July 13, 1871. After preparing at the Shippensburg State Normal School and the Mercersburg Academy, he entered Ursinus College and was graduated in the class of 1898. After pursuing graduate and professional studies at Yale University, he joined the Ursinus Faculty in 1901 as lecturer in Education, later becoming full professor. In 1903 he was elected Dean and in 1909, Vice-President, in which positions he was charged with the greater part of the administrative responsibility of the College.

Upon the resignation of President Keigwin in 1912, he was elected to the presidency, and filled the office continuously until 1936, when he was elected president emeritus and life member of the Board of Directors. Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Pedagogy in 1910, and Doctor of Laws in 1923, in which year the latter degree was also conferred upon him by Lafayette College. When the Alumni Plaque, to recognize and commemorate the achievements of the outstanding alumni of the school was established at the Mercersburg Academy in 1932, Dr. Omwake was chosen as the first recipient of the honor. He served as secretary of the Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania for twenty years, was secretary of the Committee of Fifteen of the Liberal Arts College Movement, was a trustee of the Pennsylvania State Education, chairman of the Scholarship Department of the Presser Foundation, and a member of the National Conference of Church-related Colleges.

Honored Mrs. Roosevelt

During the World War he served as assistant director of the Committee on Public Safety of Pennsylvania, and was responsible for the organization of the Student Army Training Corps in the colleges of the State. He was deeply interested in historical and genealogical matters for many years, and was a member of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, the Pennsylvania Society of Sons of the Revolution, and the Huguenot Society of Pennsylvania, serving as president of the latter body in 1932 and 1933. In this capacity he had the privilege of conferring the Huguenot Cross upon Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, the mother of the President of the United States.

A TRIBUTE

During the past quarter century Ursinus experienced a growth unprecedented in its existence. This phenomenal advance was due in great measure to the leadership of Dr. George Leslie Omwake, President of the College from 1912 until 1936.

His death during the past week has removed the greatest single personage in the history of Ursinus. At the same time Dr. Omwake was taken from the scene of his greatest interests; the scene which will ever constitute his chief memorial—Ursinus.

SHOULD FRATERNITIES BE ABOLISHED?

About fourteen years ago the first fraternity was organized at Ursinus. Since then there have been four more of them, and a number of sororities. There is still question in the minds of many, however, whether or not fraternities and sororities have a place on the Ursinus campus.

Elsewhere in this issue there is a Personal Paragraphs column in which five students answer the question: Do you think fraternities and sororities should be abolished at Ursinus? Two out of five have answered yes.

The first fraternity on this campus, which was Demas, was organized not as a usual fraternity, but as a non-perpetuating group that had as its aim the continued friendship of its immediate members after graduation. There were to be no new Demas members. That, however, was soon changed, because Ursinus students wanted to be regular college boys.

When the first fraternity was organized on campuses generally, it had its conception in the idea of an "eating-club." It was a sound economic idea of students in large universities banding together so that they could live more cheaply than boarding alone. As such the idea took hold, and spread, so that it became not only an economic proposition, but also a social one. In a large university, no one knows everyone else; friendships are made only with those whom one is associated with. To the man in the large university without school dormitories, the fraternity is almost a necessity, certainly an advantage.

Here at Ursinus the case is different. There are no fraternity houses because we do not need them; we live in school dormitories. It is a small school, and hence every man knows everyone else on campus. There is not one condition obtaining on the Ursinus campus that can validly give fraternities here the raison d'être for which they should exist. In fact, the very conditions under which we live defeat the benefit that a fraternity should have. Unless a man lives in the same dorm with his fraternity brothers, his closest friends will not be his brothers, but the men he lives with. It cannot be otherwise: friendship is a product of association. Without fraternity houses, there should be no fraternities.

If they do not serve a legitimate purpose they are not worth even the little hard feeling and disappointment they cause among the three hundred men on the campus, who are all friends anyway, whether we have fraternities or not.

This condition is probably rather generally realized, but nothing will be done about it, because there is no one to take the initiative. No one man can do it. It must wait for a time when a large enough number will sufficiently overcome the egotistic pleasure that is to be found in belonging to an exclusive organization.

GRIZZLY GLEANINGS

(Lines written upon learning that Freeland Hall is leaning toward the Science Building at an angle of 13 minutes as proven by measurements taken by Messrs. Hayashi and Dewire, Building Inspectors.)

In the springtime, when one gazes thru the Eger Gateway from the main highway, one may see, thru a mass of green and waving foliage, the white-columned portico of Freeland Hall. Brightened by an overhead sun, while the rest of the walk leading to it is thrown into a comfortable shade, Freeland invariably looks like some fairy castle, or maybe like a memorial to the man who ate the first oyster.

But just how long is this picture going to thrill the hearts of prodigal Ursinusites coming home to roost? For the walls of Freeland are not everlasting, the material of which it is made not eternal. Freeland is falling.

This awful, portentous discovery was made by two students who learned their mathematics in Ursinus, as part of an independently conducted research. To your reporter, this snooping and finding out things about one's own Alma Mater by use of knowledge gleaned from the school has all the earmarks of ingratitude (page Mr. Sheeder), something like asking a girl if she has halitosis after she has offered a kiss.

Now that the problem is clear, the question is, what is to be the remedy? For remedy there certainly must be if we do not wish to find the inmates of second and third floor, right, of Freeland deposited some day on the campus on the leeward side of the Dog House.

Mathematically, the chances of such a crash occurring in any stipulated short interval are very small, even smaller than the chance an Ursinusite has against the mechanical, electrical pick-pocket down at the College Drug, Inc. Nevertheless, the possibility is there, and two suggestions have been offered to prevent the Freeland boys from rolling on their collective necks.

Of these, everyone will recognize the first as the non-inspired idea that he himself had, namely the tearing down of the venerable, hoary old building and the erection of a new, modern, streamlined combination Men's Sanatorium, Sleeper, Solarium and Siesta Spot.

GAFF from the GRIZZLY

Tay ("You're So Darn Chowmein") Hayashi, diminutive Stine Hall social lion, has a diminutive camera (same every day) and many diminutive co-ed flames (not the same every night). Prize shot of diminutive camera is probably the one of Misses Anderson and Kerstetter up a tree. Prize shot of diminutive social lion is—probably a shot in the dark.

"It must have been in the cards," says Vaccaro, the week's champion loser in pinochle. Congratulations, champ.

Rushing week is the time of year when a frat's funds go up in smokes.

Cleverest demonstration of strength during the week by a frat was probably the mass movement of fifteen Blank Brothers to a Parsonage room, where they heard a rival frat had sent an apple-polishing delegate. (The only thing Ward could do was blush and retreat before the thundering herd of rival rushers.)

Appropriate tune to be yodeled after tonight's Open House parties: "After the Bull is Over."

We have been slipping up on Dee Snyder. Gaff promises to give her more attention in the future, since she's been getting it everywhere else, notably in the library when she reads a newspaper.

F. and M. "had something there" on Friday night, as did spectators

The second suggestion, however, is worthy of eulogy, the product of necessity and imaginative, inspired inventive genius. The idea has all the merits of practicality and inexpensiveness, and it has the additional virtue of showing the applicability of knowledge gained from the educational system of Ursinus College.

The idea is simply this: put up flying buttresses against the ailing side of old Freeland, paint them in school colors, and make appropriate arrangements for the use of the shady, intimate cloisters thus formed. Besides repairing Freeland, this idea would help solve the Ho-Hum week-end problem.

Alspach and Heyen. We refer to their cute "ringers".

Kaintuck Laughlin, Ticket-Taker Extraordinaire, spotted in the grandstand a Collegeville High lass who was what many local co-eds would like to be and aren't. He tried his Maryland wiles on her. But she withdrew from his arden- cies about half-time, and we're pleased to report that this acme of feminine pulchritude is still on the market, as it were.

Conshohocky's Bonkoski, jovial day student, remained on campus to sample night life recently. Apparently under a delusion that campusites sometimes invest in dime drinks, he belloyed to the clerk, "One short coke, please."

Yeah, South, we knew they were from the same home town. Still—not to hand Gene the outside track or anything—we wish to remark that love is love everywhere.

Most nonchalantly faithful lady on the campus is possibly Ann Colsher, who manages to "go steady" with a different fellow every year without ever getting that married look on her face.

Much more than trying to show off, Gene Hile was sending out the call of an aching heart when he rendered impromptu trumpet solos from the band platform at Friday's game. Featured was "I Wish I had Someone to Love Me", and here goes what was back of that rendition.

You see, Gene was thinking of Adelaide Spangler, the girl who asked him to go to the Lorelei. (Did we hear titters from 612—or was that noise merely a few loud guffaws from Derr?)

Ginny Beck should be ashamed of herself, tch, tch, tch—deluding poor Gene—and all the time Adelaide was trying to get contacted with Gene—and now that Gene is disillusioned, it is terrible to find out that Adelaide is a fictitious personage, and it was only Ginny Beck and Paul Guest all the time.

THE PROFESSOR SPEAKS

By Dr. Calvin D. Yost, Jr.
Instructor in English

In a recent issue of this paper there appeared a pseudonymous letter which expressed some interesting though scarcely novel views. The writer of it asked, in effect, what was wrong with the editorial policy of the Weekly. Why had it gone soft? Why does it not present burning issues? Why does it not stand for something?

In regard to the obvious question as to what the Weekly should stand for, the writer of this letter was delightfully vague. In fact he made no suggestions of any sort. Apparently, he would be quite satisfied if an intensive campaign should be undertaken to advocate that final examinations be abolished or that Bomberger Hall be painted red, old gold, and black. Anything would do, as long as it was treated in the fine old "knock 'em down and drag 'em out" tradition.

All this was very interesting, but even more interesting, at least to the present writer, was the suggestion that perhaps the efforts of the editorial staff were nullified by that grim and awful ogre, censorship. The writer of this letter honestly and candidly stated that he did not know if this were the case or not and that without proof he would not believe it to be so. For this statement he deserves much credit: nevertheless, clear-minded as it is, this statement raises a question which seems to linger continually in the undergraduate mind and upon which those immediately concerned seldom have an opportunity to speak.

If the Weekly is under a constant and vigilant censorship, as many people have assumed in the past and presumably still do assume, that censorship has not prevented the pages of this paper in other years from being marred by the presence of ignorance and bad taste. It has not prevented the appearance in other years of statements that might easily have come within the laws of slander. It has permitted, if it exists, the publication in other years of feebly thought out and awkwardly expressed opinions on subjects about which editorial writers knew little or nothing. If this be censorship, make the most of it.

It seems very strange to one who has an ultimate and lasting faith in the human mind that people who believe themselves to be modern, clear-sighted, and intelligent (and who does not?), should be so lost in ancient errors and outworn notions. Is a newspaper to be considered free only when it is lambasting something as heartily as the laws of libel will allow? Are there people still existing who do not know that an excess of liberty is fully as dangerous as any other excess? Are we to accept or reject public statements merely because we feel that they are or are not free and unbiased?

This immature and unfortunate state of mind extends far beyond the comparatively narrow confines of our college campuses. It is national and international in its scope, and it is the meat upon which propagandists and other exploiters of the public feed. If college students, who presumably represent an intelligent part of the general population, will assume that a publication is censored without making the slightest effort to discover whether that supposition is true, what is to be expected from the masses? The answer is not an encouraging one.

The writer of these words does not hope to scotch, even temporarily, the rumors which occasioned this comment. Prejudice does not die so easily. But he does deny that censorship has been exercised over the Weekly in past years or during the present year.

Joint Y's To Hold Discussion On Race Prejudice In Panel

The Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations at Ursinus have outlined for themselves an ambitious schedule of activities for the coming semester. In the near future there are to be on campus a panel discussion, song concert, play, and several speakers.

On Wednesday, Feb. 17, there will be a joint meeting of the two Y's, at which a panel discussion will be held on the subject, "Racial Barriers—Are They Insurmountable?" The panel will consist of three Negroes and three Caucasians.

February 24 is the tentative date set for a musical to be given by Dr. Philip's Glee Club.

On March 10, the two organizations together propose to present an Easter play.

On April 7, 14, and 21 there will be a series of three talks given by visiting speakers on the subjects of capitalism, socialism and communism.

These meetings will be open to everyone. Outside of these there will be several trips away from Collegeville.

April 2, 3, and 4 are the tentative dates set for a Y group to go to New York City on a week-end trip

ROBERTA BYRON TO CONJURE FOR WOMEN'S CLUB BENEFIT

The request of the Hall Chemical Society to have its meeting nights changed from the first and third Tuesday of each month to the first and third Monday was granted at the meeting of the Council on Student Activities held Tuesday evening, February 2.

At the same time April 24 was reserved for a performance in magic by Roberta Byron '39, widely known in professional circles, for the benefit of the Women's Club in their drive to finance the purchase of "612" as a dormitory for women.

to study social conditions in settlement houses, missions, et cetera. The cost to students will be approximately five dollars each.

On February 26, 27, and 28, there will be a Student Christian Movement Conference at Pocohanna Lodge in Sutherland, Pocono Mountains. The Y. M. and Y. W. will each send three delegates, which have as yet not been selected.

Though not quite so definite as the above meetings, the Y's also hope to have Dr. Daniel A. Poling speak in chapel at some future date during this semester.

Co-Eds To Settle Labor Strike In Debating Club Mock Parley

A mock conference between labor representatives and the General Motors spokesman, with Secretary Frances Perkins, to settle the General Motors strike, will be held during the Women's Debating Club meeting on Monday evening, February 8, at Clamer Hall at 8:00 p. m. The club will be the guests of its Glenwood Hall and Clamer Hall members.

Sally Ennis has charge of this program, in which Florence Roberts '37, will impersonate Mr. Alfred Sloan; Jennie Palilonis '38, Miss Francis Perkins; Adelaide Wentzel '39, the head of the non-union-labor; Katherine G. Williams '39, Mr. Lewis.

With the trip extending from Wednesday, February 10 to Saturday, Feb. 13, to Bucknell University, Penn State, and Susquehanna University, the varsity season for the women debaters really starts. The team, composed of Sally Ennis '37, Mildred Olp '37, and Dorothy Witmer '37, will debate the affirmative of "Resolved: that Congress should be empowered to fix minimum wages and maximum hours for industry."

NOTICE—PRE-MEDS

The James M. Anders Pre-medical Society will hold a short business meeting at 12:30 on Tuesday, February 9, in Room 108 of the Science Building.

I. R. C. TO DISCUSS GERMANY

The first meeting of the International Relations Club in the second semester will be held at Schreiner tomorrow, Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, and will feature talks by Paul Guest '38, and Roberta Byron '39. The general subject of these talks and the following open discussion is slated as "Internal Conditions in Germany."

The discussion at this meeting will be more or less in the nature of a sequel to Sunday's Forum, which was on the same general topic of Nazi Germany, and was led by a German native, Mrs. Margarete Kaiser.

In March the team will make their second long trip, debating negatively the above question at Western Maryland, Shippensburg, and Gettysburg.

F. & M. Hands Bears Seventh Defeat, 37-26

Freshmen Come Through to Win Over Curtis High School In Preliminary

SCHIRMER IS FRESHMAN HERO

Failing for the seventh time in seven starts to land in the winning column the Ursinus Bears fell easy prey to the Franklin and Marshall Diplomats this past Friday night by being on the losing end of a 37 to 26 decision. The game was played on the home floor in the Thompson-Gay gym before a capacity crowd.

Gaumer Scores for Varsity
Landers took the lid off the basket in the main tilt to put F. and M. in the lead but Gaumer soon retaliated for the Bears to knot the score at two all. The smooth passing and shooting attack of the Diplomats got under way and was responsible for a twenty-three to five score at half-time in favor of the Blue and White.

Bears Outscored in Second Half
Even though the Bears outscored their opponents twenty-one to fourteen in the second canto they were unable to overcome the safe margin of eighteen points previously tallied up by the league leaders.

Jus Bodley, Bear ace, was superb even in defeat, gathering no less than ten points to lead the night's scoring while Landers collected four goals and a charity toss for nine points for the Blue and White.

Cubs Win Close One
In a well played preliminary game the Bear Cubs defeated Curtis High School of Staten Island, twenty-eight to twenty-five. Keehn and Schirmer were the high scorers for the Cub five, garnering ten and nine points respectively, while the floor work of Thompson was noticeable. Hood was responsible for ten points in the second half to set the pace for the visitors.

In the last few minutes of play, the Curtis High School quint threw a scare into Kellett's passers by pulling ahead 25 to 24. They were able to do this because of the rather noticeable way in which the Freshman took it too easy during the entire second half. It was Shorty Schirmer, however, who came through, with two timely buckets to save the day for the home boys.

Snyder Leads In Scoring As Brodbeck Captures First Half

The first half of the Inter-Dorm Basketball League has come to an end with Brodbeck in top position. The leaders have completed an undefeated season, winning five out of five.

The final game was played on Thursday night between Brodbeck and Derr, when the latter was trounced to the score of 20-6 in a short game. This struggle was the deciding point in the winning of the first half, as the lead would have been tied had Brodbeck lost. In individual scoring the Freeland Parsons are the favorites. Two freshmen, "Ken" Snyder and "Sparky" Meade lead the pack, and Wildonger and Tomlinson come soon after for Brodbeck.

Among the teams, Brodbeck, without a doubt looks best in both offensive and defensive work. They scored a total of 185 points and the nearest was Freeland with 155 points.

The second half of the league will start immediately and interest is already running high. The second half schedule is on this page.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

It has been said that the members of the past season's soccer team are doing some pretty hard snickering up their sleeves due to the recent trend of things in the basketball world.

Friday night's game was responsible for putting F. and M. higher in the league standing and the Bears still lower in the cellar. Watch out, you Chinamen.

Wrestling Flash — Ex-grappler Leorne got one of the big boys to lie down while he got on top and had a picture snapped. He intends to send this photo to York to try to impress his little one that he is more man than mouse. However, the next night "Limpy" Heiges pinned him three times out of three. Sorry we haven't a picture of that for the girl friend.

While the gridders were giving their two-bits worth on the grid-iron this past fall, our fair young drum-major, Jack Sampson, was impressing the feminine beasts with his snappy uniform. Recently one of the fair co-eds was inquiring via telephone for a Lorelei date — she didn't know his name but she said she wanted the drum-major.

Freddie "Chippy" Glatfelter called Gustarius V. Johnson a degenerate—Gus retaliated and gained the one round decision by the resignation of fourth assistant freshmen basketball manager Glatfelter.

Theme song of the Grizzly Courtmen—"Lost."

It used to be around here that a fellow was judged by the manner in which he excelled in sports—to-day he is judged by the number of bids he gets to the Lorelei.

We have heard some crazy ones in our day but when "Put Put" Murray races "Chug Chug" Fenimore around the track in the snow—that's about the limit. After the race "Chug Chug" declared that he would stick to tennis.

Villanova, Swarthmore Defeat Bear Courtmen

Wildcats Overwhelm Grizzlies; Swarthmore Wins In Extra Period

BODLEY AND COSTELLO LEAD

The Bear basketeers lost their fifth game of the season to Villanova on Tuesday night by the score of 39-14. The game was played at Villanova.

Ursinus got off to a flying start and threw a scare into the Wildcats, rolling up an 8-3 lead before the game was many minutes old, but Villanova rallied and held a 13-9 advantage at halftime. The Bears fell hopelessly behind in the second half, and Villanova triumphed with its lead mounting every minute.

Jus Bodley was Ursinus' chief scoring threat, caging two field goals and three free throws for seven points. Dubino and Montgomery paced their Villanova teammates with nine markers apiece.

Swarthmore added a non-league defeat to the Bears' record on Wednesday night by triumphing 32-24 in a tight extra-period tussle that was played in the Swarthmore field cage.

Ursinus was ahead at half-time by the low score of 8-5. The second half found the Garnet ahead by two points until Power dropped a long shot just as the gun sounded to tie the score at 21-21. Swarthmore went ahead in the extra period and scored eleven points to the Bears' three to emerge victorious.

Co-captain Fats Costello sank three field goals and one foul to lead the Ursinus attack. Hallowell, Reller and Smith were hot on the offense for Swarthmore, scoring twenty-five of their team's total of thirty-two points.

And now jumping to another rival's coach, Clarence Munn resigned his job at Albright to become assistant line coach at Syracuse. "Hunk" Anderson was immediately suggested as his successor. "Hunk" will be remembered as coach at Notre Dame. Munn did a sweet job at Albright and leaves Dick Riffle for the most promising candidate on next year's squad.

KELLETT'S COURTMEN LOSE TO VILLANOVA IN OVERTIME

Yearlings Come Back To Trounce Perkiomen on Following Night

Splitting even with a weak Perkiomen team and a fast-stepping Villanova frosh five, Coach Don Kellett's Ursinus Cubs were unable to raise their stock very much in two games played last Tuesday and Wednesday evening on foreign courts. The first contest with Villanova was dropped by the locals 35-28, but they came back strong to trounce Perkiomen 31-19.

Bobby Keehn led the Bear scoring against Perkiomen with five field goals and seven fouls. Kellett started his second team consisting of Williams, Hartman, Johnstone, Dawson and Hearey, which rolled up a 6-4 lead. This combination was replaced by the usual starting line-up of Chern, H. Wise, Schirmer, J. Wise, and Keehn, respectively, at the start of the second quarter, which ran the score to 15-8 at half-time. Moyer and Thompson also saw service in the second quarter replacing Keehn and J. Wise.

Ursinus rounded out the game by outscoring the prep boys in the second half 16-11. All of the team of 12 men played during the last two quarters. The Ursinus victory was due largely to the fact that the boys made 11 out of 19 fouls. Their floor work was sloppy but Perkiomen was so weak that it couldn't even match the Bears on the open court.

Last Tuesday evening the Villanova freshmen by a second-half rally were able to beat Kellett's charges 35-28 in a game featured by fast passes and clean court shots. The Ursinus regulars, aided by Thompson and Moyer, held a 15-13 lead at the end of the first half.

However the enemy came back strong in the third and fourth quarters to snatch the contest. Chern led the locals' scoring with seven counters. Other men who scored, with their respective scores, are as follows: H. Wise, six; Schirmer, six; J. Wise, five; and Keehn, four.

Interviewer: Lee Lurty '40. Question: Do you think fraternities and sororities should be abolished on the Ursinus campus?

Kenneth Clouse '38—No. The fraternities do give us a few good times during our college career, but beyond this I do not think they have much effect on student life.

Katherine Williams '39—No. Since the sorority feeling on this campus is not intense to the point of excluding non-members from friendships with sorority girls and eliminating inter-sorority friendships, I do not believe they are as socially discouraging as they may be elsewhere.

Muriel Brandt '38—No. I do not believe that sororities should be abolished from the Ursinus campus because I think the sorority may be regarded as one of the strongest means in making friendships that are valued throughout life; and it also serves as a tie between the college and the individual after commencement.

Alfred Gemmell '39—Yes. I do not believe that fraternities and sororities should exist at Ursinus, for they do not serve any real purpose. In a college having such a small student body as this, there is a great need for one hundred percent cooperation in order to make college projects successful.

G. L. Omwake

(Continued from page 1) entering upon educational work, never became an ordained clergyman. As a layman, however, his contribution to the advancement of the cause of practical Christianity has been a large one.

His zeal for unity was carried beyond the bounds of his own denomination by joining in the effort to promote comity among all Christian bodies. For over a decade Dr. Omwake had represented his Church in the World Alliance of Reformed and Presbyterian Churches.

Fraternities, on the other hand, have a tendency to break up the student body into small groups with conflicting interests.

Catherine Sauder '37—Yes. I feel that sororities and fraternities should serve a definite purpose in the life of the individual. In a small college such as Ursinus the provision of living quarters for students is not served by such organizations but rather the chief aim is a social one.

Funeral

The funeral services were held on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Trinity Reformed Church, Collegeville, of which he was a member. There were no services at the Omwake residence. The body lay in state in the church after one o'clock. Interment was in Trinity cemetery.

At the church service, Rev. John Lentz, pastor of Trinity Reformed Church and also of the College, officiated, delivering the short funeral address. The Scripture was read by Rev. Franklin I. Sheeder, and the prayer was given by Rev. Calvin D. Yost. Rev. Whorten A. Kline was prevented from participating in the service because of illness.

The Directors of the College and members of the faculty and of the administration were honorary pallbearers at the funeral. Active pallbearers were six men from Ursinus faculty: Russell C. Johnson, J. Harold Brownback, Dr. Marcus C. Old, Maurice O. Bone, William S. Pettit, and Dr. Calvin D. Yost, Jr.

The services were attended by a great many alumni of the College, former members of the faculty, and ministers and officials of the Evangelical and Reformed church. Noteworthy among these distinguished personages were the Rev. A. Edwin Keigwin, former president of the College from 1907 to 1912 and now pastor of the West End Presbyterian Church in New York City, and Dr. George Handy Wailes, professor of Greek and the English Bible at Ursinus from 1908 to 1921.
