Girls Take the Lead

We asked some of the teen Girl Scouts who served as volunteer directors of SMILE Camp to tell us why they took on leadership roles, and what they have learned. Here is what they told us:

“When I was little I would take my older brother to Smile Camp, and I always said that being a counselor at Smile Camp is what I wanted to do. Once I had completed three years as a counselor I just decided the next step was Director, and have been a Director for two years... I plan on becoming a physical therapist, and am attending the University of Florida this summer and majoring in pre-physical therapy. Leadership means being a role model to others and being their friend at the same time.”

*-Cristin Harerow, 18, Jacksonville
Smile Camp Waterfront Director*

“I chose to be a Director for Smile Camp because it gave me an opportunity to directly affect people’s lives in a positive way.

I learned that as a leader you are also: a friend, a helper, a shoulder to cry on, an ear to listen, and the biggest one, an encourager.

When you’re in a leadership role, people look to you for support, and when they falter you have to be right there to catch them. Lead by example.”

*-Ashley Martin, 19, Green Cove Springs
Smile Camp Arts & Crafts Director*

“I’ve been with Smile Camp for six years. I knew that by becoming a leader for this event I could help ensure that Smile Camp would be a success.

I was in charge of over 100 people and it could be stressful at times, but a good leader looks to the positive side of things and recognizes everyone’s strengths. Ten years from now I hope to be a doctor with my own private practice. Leadership is a gift. To be a great leader is a rewarding thing.”

*-Sandy Petry, 18, Orange Park
Smile Camp Head Director*

“I wanted to be a director because I like leadership, and I like working with all of the kids instead of just one. I have learned so much like we should stop paying attention to what we don’t have and appreciate what we do have and that it really is imperative to smile. My involvement, not only as a volunteer but with children, especially children with special needs, I will continue that.”

*-Asblyn Kendrick, 17, Jacksonville
Smile Camp PR Director*

Girls Speak Up: Why I Volunteer

Amy Cutrer
16, Senior Girl Scout

"An instant self-esteem booster and a wonderful hobby, volunteering is something that everyone should be involved in."

Emma Bevers
16, Senior Girl Scout

"For the past couple of years, my troop and I have been Program Aides at Girl Scout day camps. We also participate in beach clean-ups and donations to children's homes. I have donated canned food, helped at the local Blood Bank's blood drive, and still have many more projects that I can't wait to be a part of. Volunteering has always made me thankful for what I have—and the smiles on people's faces only adds to it."

Kelcie Lloyd
16, Senior Girl Scout

"I contribute to the world around me. I have had a great time volunteering as a program aide for songs and games at day camps. The younger girls give you the greatest amount of respect; working with them is very rewarding because you get to be a role model. My troop and I also like to work with food drives [and other events] for both humans and animals. Volunteering gives me a sense of fulfillment and is one of the most enjoyable things I do."

Laura Lee Pack
12, Cadette Girl Scout

"Volunteering makes me feel good inside because I feel like I have really helped somebody who needed it."

Volunteerism Rocks My Socks!

Suzanne Exposito
Senior Girl Scout, Jacksonville

My mother had me join a Girl Scout troop as a Cadette, an apathetic 8th grader with no real Girl Scout experience aside from my miserable few months as a Brownie. I had initially made the assumption that most of our time would be spent doing arts and crafts and s'mores—yet after a couple of months in Girl Scouts, I found myself spending weekends reading to Brownies and devoting myself to organizing special events.

As I got older, my projects grew not only in proportion but also in success. It started with organizing a troop mini-orchestra to entertain girls at the craft sale. Months later we prepared dinner at the Ronald McDonald House, and also became planning [and cleaning] committee of the service unit craft sales.

Eventually, we received our Silver Award in 2004. After two years, three craft sales, and many weeks spent volunteering at Kateri, I now feel that I'm finally ready to take on the biggest volunteer project known to Girl Scouts—the Gold Award.

Throughout my few years as a Girl Scout, I've been able to say that I've made a difference in my community—and really, this is exactly what anybody else would say about the Gold Award. Any opportunity to lend the public a good hand makes a difference, whether it means the smile on one's face or the smiles on the faces of a whole community. For all I know, I could've made a difference to any younger scout by simply being there for them as I have during my C.I.T. training. I could've been their role model, or even motivated them to volunteer, too. I feel great when a Brownie remembers me from a Geography lesson, or a campout from months ago—not because of the movie star-like recognition, but because I feel that I might've changed the way the girl may utilize her role as a Girl Scout for now and even for the future.

In doing any volunteer project, especially with children, one could even be the driving force behind a child's generosity when they get older. To think I could make such an impact on someone else helps me develop as a more responsible person, and also helps increase the confidence and trust I need in myself to become more independent. And now that my graduation year is coming up, I feel I can take on nearly anything that comes at me. (College visits, scholarship applications, entry essays? No problem!) Because I have played mentor to dozens of children, and even because I have swept dozens of foreign floors, I feel like a bigger person because of it—and the self-assurance I've earned through volunteering is enough to keep me going through the tough stuff throughout the rest of my life.

Volunteer Opportunities for Adults

We need your help to provide opportunities for girls to learn. No matter what your experience, your age, or the amount of time you have to give, you can make a difference in the lives of girls in your community. The energy you share will instill in girls confidence that will last a lifetime.

Here are some of the many ways you can volunteer with Girl Scouts:

Work With Girls

- ◆ Be a mentor - guiding girls to explore their interests and learn about possible careers.
- ◆ Work as a troop/group leader directly with girls, leading meetings and coordinating activities.
- ◆ Teach a workshop and help girls learn a skill that you're passionate about.

Reach Out to the Community

- ◆ Speak about Girl Scouts to community groups or college community service centers.
- ◆ Suggest a service project that girls can do to help their community.
- ◆ Become a communications liaison and help get publicity for troops or groups.
- ◆ Be a translator and assist with outreach to non-English speaking communities.

Share Your Skills

- ◆ Design a troop or group's Web site, or offer to teach girls how to create their own.
- ◆ Provide administrative assistance and supervision in registering participants for events.
- ◆ Offer secretarial services and assist with troop record keeping and other paperwork.
- ◆ Indulge your love of history while organizing the council's historic archives.

Flex Your Leadership Muscle

- ◆ Organize and direct events to educate and recruit potential members.
- ◆ Lead workshops and seminars for Girl Scout volunteers.

Call 800-347-2688 or go to www.girlscouts-gateway.org today, and let us help you match your skills and talents with the volunteer opportunity that is right for you. ❖

Blue Cross Blue Shield of Florida Supports Volunteer Training

Blue Cross Blue Shield of Florida has awarded Girl Scouts of Gateway Council a $50,000 grant to support adult volunteer training in 2006.

Among the activities and material these funds help provide are:

- CPR training materials including infant and adult mannequins, videos and visual aids
- Lifeguard Instructor certification course
- American Canoe Association and US Sailing training

Effectively training adult volunteers ensures that every girl has a safe and positive experience. Through participation in outdoor activities, girls develop new skills, gain self-confidence, learn to care for themselves and their belongings, learn new ways to respect and care for the environment, and gain leadership skills.

On behalf of Girl Scouts of Gateway Council and all the girls we serve, sincere thanks to Blue Cross Blue Shield of Florida for their continued support. ❖

Kudos To:

Melvarose Scippio of Columbia County - who has received the NAACP Volunteer Award. Miss Rose is a lifetime member of Girl Scouts and has been instrumental in keeping troops in her community together.

Bambi Hobgood co-leader of Cadette Troop 853 and a student of Respiratory Care at FCCJ in Jacksonville, who was recognized by "Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges" for volunteering with Girl Scouts and keeping a high GPA.

Courage, Confidence, Character and

Connections

Honoring our Girl Scout Heritage

Troops in the St. Stephen Cluster of the Norweaster Service Unit in Jacksonville hosted a celebration of the life of long-time Girl Scout volunteer, Woman of Distinction and former Gateway Council board member, Mrs. Jesse Elizabeth Meuse. Mrs. Meuse was instrumental in forming and maintaining Girl Scout troops in her community.

Many of the women who were mentored by Mrs. Meuse were invited to share their memories. Girls and adults from all parts of the Norweaster Service Unit participated in the event. Mrs. Meuse's children and members of their family were also in attendance.

Special kudos go to St. Stephen Cluster Program Coordinator Mrs. Selma Rutledge for her tireless work on the event. ❖

Kudos For Kapers

Thanks to the Girl Scouts and family members who volunteered their time, tools, and talents during Kapers Weekends at Kateri and North Fork Ranch!

At this annually scheduled event, volunteers cut down dead trees, replaced old tents, pressure washed buildings and walkways, cleaned units, moved furniture, stocked supplies, dusted fans, replaced light bulbs and painted, all to get our beautiful camps ready for summer.

Following the workday, families enjoyed the beautiful weather, spending the rest of the weekend sailing, canoeing, water skiing, swimming, hiking, and more. A special shout out to hard working event coordinators Barbara Swank and Laurie Denman at Kateri, Kathi Sharp and Donna Hernandez at North Fork Ranch. Job well done! ❖

2006 Cookie Celebration

Congratulations and thanks to everyone who participated in the 2006 Cookie Sale Program.

Over 327 girls qualified to attend the 500+ Sellers Cookie Celebration at the Clay County Fairgrounds.

Girls enjoyed a show presented by Mad Science and other hands-on science activities, plus they got a sneak preview of the theme for the 2007 Cookie Sale Program. ❖

PR Stars

It's Your Turn to Shine!

Several Cadette and Senior Girl Scouts completed the PR Stars workshop earlier this summer. The girls visited professionals in television, radio and print media, where they learned about careers in the media industry and public relations.

Skills addressed included television and radio interviews, writing for the news, and photo-journalism. Their experience will help them in future opportunities to represent Girl Scouts of Gateway Council in the media.

Thanks to Darlene Waterous at CBS 47 and Fox 30, Dee Davenport of WROO Rooster Country 93.3 and Joseph Lorentzson of the Clay County Leader for their help in facilitating this program.

If you are interested in becoming a PR Star, contact Tia R. Ford by email at tford@girlscouts-gateway.org or by phone at (904) 388-4653 ext. 1162. ❖

Celebrating A Lifetime of Leadership In Girl Scouting

Mrs. Natalie "Nat" William S. Taylor, Jr.

A highlight of the 2006 Annual Meeting of the Girl Scouts of Gateway Council was witnessing "Nat" Taylor receive the tenure pin recognizing her 70 years in Girl Scouting.

Formerly of Ponte Vedra, now in retirement in Gainesville, "Nat" was instrumental in advancing the Girl Scout movement throughout her life – serving as a troop organizer, consultant, trainer, council vice president, Gateway Council president, and chair of the board of directors. ❖

This Spring the awesome Gainesville Chrome Divas - joined by the Jax Beach and Ocala Diva chapters and the Enforcers (a motorcycle club of law enforcement riders) organized a Hunny Bunny Poker Run to benefit Girl Scouts. The Divas raised $825 to be used for financial assistance to send girls to resident camp.

Brownie Troop 111 hosted a yard and bake sale to support the Chets Creek Elementary School Media Center. Proceeds of this event were used to purchase books about extraordinary women in history. These books were then presented to the school during a special event, "Her Story Tea."

Twin Hills Service Unit raised $235 for the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund during their 2006 World Thinking Day celebration. Hosted by Cadette Troop 853, the theme for the day's festivities was "TV Around The World."

USO Greeting Cards Service Project

Join this council-wide effort to show our support and appreciation to the troops who serve our country. Girl Scout troops are encouraged to make holiday greeting cards for troops stationed abroad. SHARE

Show Her A Real Experience

Why Girl Scouts SHARE

The reasons parents, leaders, volunteers and families make financial contributions to SHARE (Show Her A Real Experience) are as varied as the girls in Gateway Council.

Volunteers and leaders donate because they understand the necessity and value of the Council's commitment to provide quality staff, training, training materials and facilities to meet the needs of today's girls.

Girl Scout families give because they witness first-hand the life-changing experiences Girl Scouting provides for their daughters.

Girl Scouts of Gateway Council strives to make Girl Scouting available to any and all girls who wish to participate. Your contribution to the SHARE campaign ensures the delivery of a quality Girl Scout program for all girls.

Matching gift programs are part of many corporate giving initiatives, and an easy way to double or triple your contribution to Girl Scouts of Gateway Council. Find out if your company participates in a corporate matching program by contacting the payroll or human resources department.

To make a gift to SHARE, you can either mail your check to Gateway Council's Jacksonville Service Center or donate online at www.girlscouts-gateway.org
