Vernon Planing Mill Destroyed By Flames

Loss Estimated Around $75,000

By IVY HAYDEN
(Courier Staff Writer)

VERNON — Fire completely levelled a $75,000 planing mill at Hoover's sawmill last night. The plant, according to Art Hoover, was "partly insured."

A night watchman discovered the flames shortly after he checked in at 11:50. An hour later, the planing plant was "a ball of fire," visible for 20 miles, Mr. Hoover said. No one, other than the watchman, was on the job at the time.

However, about 20 of the 50 employees rushed to the mill, and were joined by six men and a portable unit from Vernon fire department. The mill is located about 15 miles northwest of Vernon by road on the shore of Okanagan Lake.

By 3:30 a.m. the blaze was brought under control. Three men remained at the scene of the fire until relieved by the 7 a.m. shift. No one will be laid off as a result of the fire, Mr. Hoover indicated. Men involved in planing operations will aid construction of a new plant. Although other operations will continue as usual, Mr. Hoover predicted it would be six weeks before replacements could be organized for the razed units.

The fire, which came at the opening of the peak production season, destroyed a plant which was modernized only two years ago. One $500 unit was installed last week. It was feared a light wind might push the flames to nearby lumber piles. However, no damage was done to adjacent lumber or buildings. Mr. Hoover told The Daily Courier he had "no idea" of how the fire started.

Bomarc Anti-Aircraft Missile Successful

Britain Scraps Missiles

LONDON (CP) — Britain is abandoning her program to build fixed-site rockets, capable of delivering nuclear weapons to an aggressor's soil. Defence Minister Harold Watkinson told the House of Commons today the military is discontinuing development of the Blue Streak, a 2,500-mile-range missile which so far has cost $25,000,000 ($173,000,000). Watkinson said the money thus far invested in Blue Streak will not be wasted "if it is decided to go ahead with (it) as a launcher for a space satellite."

It thus appeared possible that Britain might still try to stay in the world space race. Watkinson made clear that Britain's strategic bomber force will remain effective for several years as the vehicle for possible delivery of nuclear weapons.

COSTLY MISSILES
The complete cost of the original missile program of Prime Minister Macmillan's government would have been between $500,000,000 and £600,000,000, he said. The government felt that only the United States and Russia have the economic and military resources for an independent rocket program.

SPACE MESSENGER

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States launched a navigation aid satellite into successful orbit today. The space messenger, a device with highly important military possibilities, was fired from this missile testing centre at 7:03 a.m. EST. Then in Washington the navy announced that a tracking station at Las Cruces, N.M., had reported the transit satellite passed over that point at 8:36 a.m. EST in its swing around the earth.

Fidel Castro Leads Search

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro has taken personal command of the search for insurgents operating in eastern Cuba's mountains, officials at Santiago said today.

Six-Mile Fish Zone Approved In Principle

GENEVA (CP) — The main committee of the world maritime conference today approved a Canadian-American proposal for extending the world's territorial waters to six miles from the present three-mile limit. The proposal would give coastal states exclusive fishing rights up to 12 miles offshore, after 1970.

The vote was far short of the two-thirds majority necessary for adoption at a subsequent plenary session. The committee approved the proposal 43 to 33, with 12 abstentions. The vote automatically places the proposal before a plenary session, but its chances of obtaining a two-thirds majority there appeared slim.

Woman's Alarm Saves People From Twister

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Three persons died and 32 were injured as a tornado caught most residents of a west Texas village in church Tuesday night and all but swept the place off the map. But for a woman's warning cry seconds before the twister struck, the toll probably would have been much greater in the crossroads community of Sunnyside.

Mrs. C. M. Rogers, wife of Sunnyside's Baptist pastor, spotted the dark and threatening cloud and sounded an alarm. Nearly 40 men at a meeting in her husband's church scrambled for two storm cellars close by. Most of them made it. Several were too late. Sunnyside residents emerged to find the farming community shattered. The writhing storm levelled their church, store, grain elevator, cotton bin and four or five homes. All the half-dozen other houses lost their roofs.

BRITONS WALK ALL OVER U.S.!

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — These Britons! They're walking all over the United States. Two snappy - striding sergeants started it Tuesday, on a 3,032-mile hike from San Francisco to New York. Today Dr. Barbara Moore, 56, the Russian-born wife of a British sculptor, follows them down the pike. "and I'll pass them, too," she says. The reporters and photographers who met Mrs. Moore at San Francisco Airport Tuesday night had few doubts that the sturdy vegetarian would do it. She was indignant that there was no one but reporters and photographers to meet her. She said the Hotel Corporation of America promised to furnish a truck to accompany her on the transcontinental hike. "I need the truck to carry my juices and my extra shoes," Dr. Moore said, "and I don't even know where I'm to spend the night." She was standing next to five cases of juices — fruit, beet, carrot and tomato. A young woman reporter, Nan Riley of the San Francisco Examiner, invited Dr. Moore to spend the night at her apartment. "Thank you, young lady. That's very nice," said Dr. Moore in a thick Russian accent. She accepted. The Britons were tougher to talk to. Reporters had to jog alongside them as they strode at 75 paces to the minute toward Cordelia, Calif., where they spent the night. RAF Flight Sgt. Patrick Maloney and army Staff Sgt. Merwyn Evans wore khaki field uniforms and berets as they swung through the California countryside. They said they hoped to reach New York within 70 days. The record for the stroll, set 34 years ago, is 70 days, 10 hours and 10 minutes. And how long will it take Dr. Moore? "I'm not certain," she said, "but it'll be faster than those two sergeants."

Mackenzie "a Jellyfish" Charges Kootenay MP

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker told the Commons today that President Norman MacKenzie of the University of British Columbia agreed in February to "go along with" the decision of the Immigration department in the Rebrin case "without any question."

"He's a jellyfish," said H. W. Herdridge (CCF—Kootenay West). Irene Rebrin, Russian-language lecturer at the university, has been ordered deported on security grounds.

Mr. Diefenbaker said an Immigration department representative—he did not identify the official—called on Dr. MacKenzie in February in regard to the case. Mr. Herdridge had asked whether the government would review the case at the request of the university's Faculty Association.

CASE CAREFULLY EXAMINED
Mr. Diefenbaker said the government is "most concerned" to see that no injustice is done. The case had been carefully examined and the government was satisfied the deportation order should not be interfered with.

The government's responsibility for the national interest was paramount, he said. Harold Winch (CCF—Vancouver East) asked whether Miss Rebrin has been informed of the substance of the charges against her.

Mr. Diefenbaker did not reply directly. He said he could go no further than to say that a question of security had arisen and a review of the case was made.

J. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonaville-Twillingate) asked whether some country is ready to receive Miss Rebrin when she is deported.

"Russia," shouted an unidentified Progressive Conservative.

South African Church Urged To Take Stand

By BEGHAN MAYNES
CAPE TOWN (Reuters) — The Dutch Reformed Church today faced demands that it take a stand against segregation as the South African government mapped plans to make the country less dependent on Negro labor.

Meanwhile, Norman Phillips, foreign editor of the Toronto Star who was freed Tuesday after having been jailed since last Saturday when a cable office employee sent his story to government officials instead of filing it, was preparing to leave the country.

CHURCH QUARREL
Leaders of the Dutch Reformed Church, to which many African members of the government belong, are considering criticisms by Most Rev. Joost de Blank, Anglican archbishop of Capetown, who said Monday that unless the Dutch Reformed Church repudiates compulsory racial segregation, other Christian churches should refuse to be associated with it in any council or federation.

Sit-Downers Broken Up By Bomb Threat

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A new manoeuvre — The anonymous sit-down demonstration against segregated lunch counters in a Nashville, Tenn., department store Tuesday.

Police and firemen, acting quickly after claiming to have received a telephone tip that a bomb was in the building, cleared customers and demonstrators from McLehlan's, a variety store. No bomb was found.

The sitdown touched off scattered racial incidents which resulted in the arrest of two white persons and five Negroes.

Locomotive Union Not Separating

MONTREAL (CP) — A move within the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (I.L.F.E.) to form a separate Canadian union is petering out, W. E. Gamble, Canadian director of the union, said Tuesday night.

He said rebel firemen in Ontario and the Western provinces rescinded resolutions to break away.

French Tycoon Offers $98,000 Ransom Money

PARIS (Reuters) — The distraught son of a French automobile tycoon offered to pay the 50,000,000 francs (about $98,000) demanded for the return of his kidnapped four-year-old child to anyone who could help find the boy.

Roland Peugeot, son of Jean Pierre Peugeot, head of the vast French Peugeot car-making firm, made the offer after two telephone ransom demands Tuesday night and early today.

Peugeot's son Eric was snatched from the playground of a golf course near here Tuesday as he played with his brother, 7, and a girl playmate.

A slim, young man leaped a fence and row of bushes separating the playground from the golf course at St. Cloud, snatched up young Eric, and leaped with him back over the bushes and fence.

The child's playmates and a gardener said the man drove off with the boy in a black car driven by a second man. The family did not notify the police of the kidnapping until three hours after Eric disappeared because the kidnapper left a note in the sand pile in the playground threatening to kill the youngster if police were told.

Red River Level Raises

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Red River today rose to within a few inches of the stage where first flooding usually occurs. The level at 12:45 p. m. CST was 17.8 feet above average ice level. About one-third of an inch of rain fell on southern Manitoba during the morning and the Red rose 2.8 feet between 9:30 a. m. and 12:45 p. m.

At 18 feet some low-lying areas usually are flooded and sewers begin backing up.

Union Workers Ignore Orders From Officials

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Approximately half the city's 30 major transport companies were tied up today following a wildcat strike which spread after Teamster union members at Smith Transport Limited ignored orders from union officials to return to work.

Drivers for Smith Transport did not report for work after a union steward was fired Tuesday for refusing to accept a run. Drivers for other companies stayed away from their jobs Tuesday and today to show their sympathy for the Smith drivers. "The men have been ordered back to work," a union spokesman said.

TREE FALLS OVER POWER LINE

An alert Daily Courier cameraman, Doug Dawbry noticed this tree leaning precariously over the city power line in the vicinity of the Kelowna General Hospital this morning, and snapped this picture before notifying city public works department. Crews were immediately dispatched to the scene and the tree was removed. Little damage was reported from last night's gale-force winds. (Courier staff photo)

Will Stevenson Run For U.S. Presidency?

By ARTHUR EDSON

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson still won't say yes, and he won't say no — at least not so positively — to this simple question: . . . . .

Are you or aren't you interested in having the Democrats nominate you for president again this July? Stevenson has been back in the United States for only three days after nine weeks in South America. Already he has held half a dozen press conferences and has been buttonholed by a score of reporters anxious for the story behind the story.

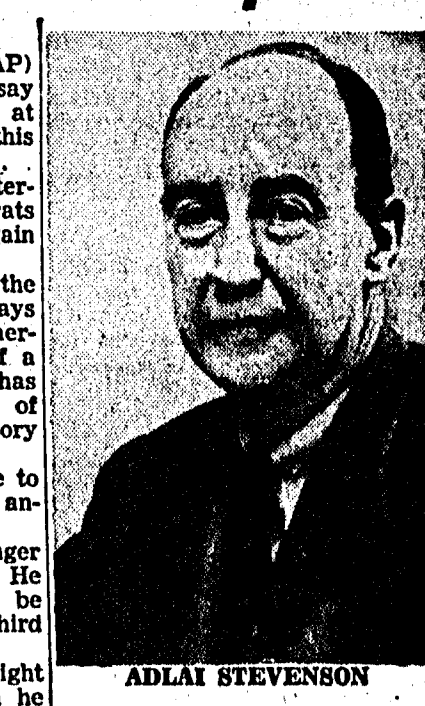

In all these that have come to light he consistently has answered: "He doesn't plan to lift a finger to gain the nomination. He neither seeks nor expects to be his party's choice for the third straight time."

But in a speech Tuesday night at the University of Virginia he lambasted the Republican administration as enthusiastically as he ever did while running in 1952 and 1956.

As one reporter put it: "If this isn't the speech of a candidate, what is it?"

But if Stevenson expects no political miracles, he also acts like a man who would like to be ready in case one should come along.

Repeatedly he stressed this note: That the U.S. is losing out to the Communists of Russia and China, and that the Eisenhower administration is responding with slogans rather than action.

INQUEST INTO ROAD MISHAP HINGES ON GIRL'S CONDITION

Inquest into the death Wednesday of highway accident victim Wayne Adams, 16, will be resumed when other occupants of the ill-fated truck are well enough to give evidence.

Three of the five youngsters riding in the truck that overturned on the KLO Road April 2 are still in hospital. City coroner Dr. A. S. Underhill says he will reconvene the jury on release of the three from hospital.

Doctors won't venture a guess as to the release date. Condition of Darlene Shinnon, 14, improved over the weekend from "serious" to "fair... as well as can be expected." Patricia Vipond, 16, and Daryl Gibbs, 16, are both in satisfactory condition. Driver of the truck, 16-year-old Daniel Zdralez, was released Thursday.

Equality Reachable For Retarded Kids

Kelowna may pioneer in the B.C. Interior a way of training retarded children to become useful members of the adult working force.

The road to this goal — a trades workshop — was outlined Tuesday by Dr. Ann Dawe, educational consultant.

Dr. Dawe was speaking at a meeting in the Sunnyvale Centre held to form a workshop committee of the Kelowna and District Society for Retarded Children.

The first of its kind in the interior, the "Sunnyvale sheltered workshop" would provide facilities teaching useful trades to qualified children for jobs in industry and other fields.

Through doing this the retarded child would be able to earn his own living and become more independent, Dr. Dawe said. She suggested that before any child entered the proposed workshop it would be necessary for the parents to fill in a form defining the capabilities and moods of the child. Then it would be up to the committee to provide the pupil with the work most suitable.

"What is most important is that we do not want it to degenerate into a charity project." "Our children will be taught to do a job as effectively and efficiently as other children, although they may be a little slower."

Dr. Dawe said once the workshop is formed there is every possibility pupils from outside Kelowna would want to come in for training.

She said the proposed workshop will be another first for Kelowna and it is up to the people of the area to make it a success.

A meeting will be held April 21 in the Sunnyvale Centre to elect an executive.

Ed Boyd has been awarded a certificate of merit by the Santa Ana, Cal., headquarters of North American Toastmaster clubs.

Presented to him here Monday by Kelowna branch president Bruce McMillan, the certificate honors Boyd as the first member of the local club to complete his 12 speech assignments.

In the club's regular speaking competitions, Tom Capozzi handed out the following topics: Don Wort—future of senior hockey; Art Drake — weather forecasts; Bruce McMillan — boundary extension; Keith Freer — personal finance; Eyan Williams, prosecution or prevention; Bill Scott—highway speeds; R. J. Bennett — employment; Ed Boyd reciprocity; Dick Hartwick—gas and tolls; Don MacGillivray — tolls; John Ladd — legalized gambling; Ted Cameron—pulp mill; R. J. Bennett acted as table topic critic.

Bill Scott, as toastmaster of the evening, introduced the formal speakers, Ted Cameron and Art Drake. Both shared the "best speaker" silver cup for their performances. Drake lauded Kelowna while Cameron gave a timber talk entitled "Rolling Warehouses."

John Ladd spoke on his Sun Valley holiday; and Dick Hartwick gave a resume of Kelowna Toastmasters' attendance at a recent meet with their Vernon counterparts. Keith Fraser and Andy McCallum were guests.

GENERAL APPROVAL ONLY

No Active Support For CCF From Okanagan Labor Council

The CCF affiliation with organized labor does not ensure the party the organized political support of unions in the South Okanagan provincial constituency.

"So far nothing has been done by us to take an active part in the CCF campaign," The Courier was told by H. G. Buchanan, president of the 5,000-member Kelowna - Pentiction - Vernon Labor Council. "And I don't know whether anything will be done in the future."

He said the only support the council has extended the CCF in the past was a motion passed some time ago urging members to support the CCF "until a party more favorable to labor comes along."

In other parts of British Columbia, the B.C. Federation of Labor has put on a determined drive to give the CCF a stronger representation in the legislature.

Federation secretary Pat O'Neal, using to provincial advantage the controversial affiliation of the Canadian Labor Congress with the CCF, has sparked a campaign to get every union member on the voters' list.

He has accused the provincial government of robbing people of their voting right by calling elections on so short a notice that many eligible voters cannot be placed on the list.

Kelowna has not yet been reached by the registration drive, reportedly because the government ran out of registration cards, Buchanan said.

Slogans Have Played Part In Presidential Elections

As early as 1840, when a political party promised the voter "Two Dollars a Day and Roast Beef," the slogan was as much a part of presidential election campaigns as the handshake and the stump.

It's a fitting arena for the slogan, which was once the battle cry of the Scots. The word comes from "slough," meaning "army," and "gairm," or "call."

The voters of 1840 took up the battle for two dollars, conceding that "Van, Van (Martin Van Buren) is a Used-up Man." They gave their votes to "Tippecanoe and Tyler Too"—William Henry Harrison, the hero of the Indian battle of Tippecanoe, and his running mate, John Tyler.

In 1864, when Lincoln was running for a second term, the Union was warned: "Don't Swap Horses in the Middle of the Stream." The cry was to echo 80 years later, when Franklin D. Roosevelt won a fourth term in the dark years of World War II.

Horace Greeley thundered; "Turn the Rascals Out" in 1872, but Grant held the presidency for another term.

The country wasn't ready for "The Plumed Knight," as James G. Blaine was called, in 1876, and the election went to Rutherford B. Hayes.

Blaine was back in 1884. But he had the misfortune of being labeled an opponent of "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion". The Catholics turned against him and helped elect Grover Cleveland.

William McKinley promised "The Full Dinner Pail" in 1900, setting a precedent for Hoover's later pledge of "A Chicken in Every Pot, a Car in Every Garage."

In 1916 the country re-elected Woodrow Wilson with the explanation, "He Kept Us Out of War."

Five months later the U.S. was in the war. When the next election rolled around, the voter wanted "Normalcy" and Warren G. Harding.

In 1924 the electorate decided to "Keep Cool with Coolidge". By 1932 they were ready for a "New Deal", and the "Forgotten Man" gave his vote to FDR.

More recently some people thought "We Need Adlai Badly", but the elections of 1952 and 1956 proved that more people "like Ike".

What will the slogans be this year?

Maybe we'll hear, "I'll Stick With Dick" . . . or "My Cup of Tea is Kennedy" . . . or "What's Good for the Country is Hubert Humphrey."

Vanguard: End Of An Era

Occasionally in the history of mankind there draws to a close some striking chapter that requires special, even nostalgic recognition. It is impossible to deny such a tribute to the last British battleship, HMS Vanguard, which is to be scrapped within the next twelve months.

The first of the modern, heavily armored and powerful battleships made its appearance in the year 1906. At that time it was an innovation so revolutionary that almost at a stroke it rendered all previous capital ships virtually obsolete. The name of this first battleship was HMS Dreadnought, a name that made history.

After the second world war, most of the battleships that remained in existence began to disappear from sight. The German and the Japanese navies had vanished. The British and American fleets put some of their battleships in "mothballs", used a few for training and scrapped others.

The Vanguard was the last to be built. This writer, a guest of the British government at the time, well remembers touring her in 1944 as she was being constructed in John Brown's shipyard on the Clyde. Now she is to be scrapped and her death becomes symbolic of the passing of one of the greatest eras in the naval history of the nation that brought the first battleship, the Dreadnought, into being.

High School Students Play Business Executives' Role

By STAN ADLAM
Canadian Press Staff Writer

More than 1,000 Canadian high school students will get first-hand experience as business executives next fall by running about 62 business enterprises.

They'll be out to make a profit—in experience if not in cash—on sale of items ranging from hamburger presses to dog repellents.

The venture is Junior Achievement Incorporated, started 14 years ago in the United States and now grown to 75,000 teen-age participants and 14,000 sponsoring groups in the U.S. and Canada.

Students in four Canadian cities—Vancouver, New Westminster, B.C., Calgary and Windsor, Ont.—will choose their own type of business under supervision of an adult advisory committee, and handle their own promotion, advertising and sales. Students in many other communities are interested in forming similar plans.

TYPICAL OPERATION

Each sponsoring firm sends three advisers for each miniature company they agree to establish. The advisers themselves are given training, individually and collectively, by an executive director of Junior Achievement and then are assigned to supervisory posts in production, sales and business aspects of the enterprise.

The student enterprises are financed at the outset by donations of businessmen in the area, but after that the students buy a free hand. The companies are organized by the issuing of stock, selling at 50 cents a share, with a limit of five shares to a customer.

An executive board of students is appointed by the advisers, and most of them become involved in every phase of the company's operation, from making the product to selling it.

Students work at their business one night a week, from October to mid-May, when it is liquidated and profits, if any, are turned over to stockholders.

THRIVING GROUP

The Vancouver Junior Achievement organization, first to be established in Canada, was instituted mainly by Rubin Baker, president of Standard Oil of British Columbia. It now has 21 companies manned by 320 students. All but one of these firms manufacture items ranging from hamburger presses and telephone pads to seat slats and feed boxes. The exception is a Bank of Progress which provides loans for the other businesses.

Student interest has become so great that last year 180 applicants for participation in Vancouver Student Achievement firms were turned down because there were not enough sponsoring companies.

New Westminster, whose organization was founded in 1958, now has six companies in operation with about 100 students involved and is expanding. Chief items of manufacture include master figurines and planters.

GOOD SUPPORT

In Windsor, whose Junior Achievement association was founded in 1956 by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and about 60 businessmen, a campaign raised $20,000 from business and private donors within a few months.

Headquarters for the organization was found in a city-owned building and the city also helped out through a cut-rate rent. The venture began with 17 miniature companies and has grown to 20. This year 550 students applied but 150 were rejected because of lack of accommodation.

Last year, 17 of the 19 Windsor firms turned in a profit, one broke even and one went bankrupt. Best record for the year was turned in by a Chrysler Corporation of Canada group which found a customer for its 80 per cent of the companies desk sets in Ford of Canada, which bought 100 of them for presentation to long-service employees. The year's only financial disaster occurred when the public showed complete disinterest in wooden knife-holders. Products in Windsor range from hot dog skewers to dog repellents—a gelatin preparation designed to keep dogs away from shrubs.

In Calgary, latest of the four cities to join, about 200 businessmen and executives have agreed to donate $19,500 to establish 15 firms this fall.

Light manufacturing, of such items as lamps, coasters and lawn furniture, is planned. Accounting, banking and publishing firms are also being considered. One group of girls is thinking of setting up a modelling agency.

Other Canadian cities where establishment of Junior Achievement groups is being considered include Montreal and four Ontario centres—Toronto, Brantford, Guelph and St. Catharines.

Experience in centres where the student groups have been organized has shown that about 80 per cent of the companies show a profit, 10 per cent break even, and 10 per cent show a loss.

JAMES NESBITT ABROAD

ABOARD RMS HIMALAYA, bound for Hong Kong—Dr. Sidney C. Ellis, eminent Canadian Geologist and Arctic explorer, is marking his 82nd birthday this year by sailing aboard this Orient and Pacific Lines' vessel for his first look-see at the storied lands across the Pacific.

Mrs. Ellis is with him, and they'll go as far as Singapore before flying home to Canada in July.

They live in Ottawa, but winter in Victoria.

"I told the doctor I want another three years—I've got a lot to do," said the rugged-looking Dr. Ellis, who could pass for a well-preserved 65. "May write something on the Orient . . ."

Dr. Ellis has recorded many of his far North adventures in "Northland Trails" which he illustrated himself. His memoirs are one of the treasures of the Archives of Canada in Ottawa.

In Alberta, Dr. Ellis is known as "the father of the tar sand industry."

It's rough on the fingers, but exciting, satisfying for the taste buds—the New Zealand butter served aboard this vessel.

Here's a rhetorical question that may irritate the B.C. butter combine: why is our butter so pale and anemic, so tasteless, compared with N.Z. butter. Why, too, should we be unable to buy N.Z. butter in Canada, as in the good old days?

Glenn Oliphant, young interior decorator of Victoria, is a passionate band to attend opening of Sanderson Fabrics' fashionable new salon in Berner Street. He'll fly home in September. Native of Calgary, it's his second trip to Europe; last time, two years ago, he came home via Panama, only passenger on a British tramp freighter.

This is a ship of the famed Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, for years a British lifeline from England to the Far East.

On the Pacific Ocean, linking Canada and the United States, with Hawaii, Australia, Japan and Hong Kong, the P and O and the Orient Line combine to form the Orient and Pacific Lines.

The P and O, with that old-world graciousness, has given in to our undisciplined North American and has, on the Pacific Ocean, relaxed one of its longest-standing rules—no smoking in the dining salon.

However, tradition is maintained by preserving the custom on the Hong Kong-London leg of the voyage. On this ship it's considered impolite, and so it is, to blow smoke in your neighbor's face at the breakfast table.

After luncheon and dinner, coffee is served, demitasse, in the lounges, which makes us think we're all guests in some magnificent English country home, with waiters giving the kind of service an English gentleman expects in an exclusive London club.

James Denny of Vancouver, brother of Sir Maurice Denny, who invented the stabilizer for ocean liners, and Mrs. Denny, are aboard this ship en route to London. The stabilizer is, indeed, most marvelous invention. It has taken away what to many people was the horror of ocean travel. Sir Maurice Denny is head of the great Dunbarton shipping firm of Denny Brothers.

Wisconsin Primary Casts Confusion On U. S. Election

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)—The much-publicized Wisconsin primary may have cast more confusion than clarity on the U.S. presidential election fight.

Despite the Wisconsin vote victory for Senator John F. Kennedy, his score—in the eyes of many observers and politicians—wasn't decisive enough to create a sure-fire Democratic bandwagon that could lead him to a convention nomination victory.

Kennedy, handsome Massachusetts legislator, is a Roman Catholic. In the first two 1960 primaries—New Hampshire and Wisconsin—Kennedy encountered more Protestants than Catholics but the Catholic populations in these two states are higher than the national average.

WEST VIRGINIA NEXT

Kennedy may be able to provide a more convincing demonstration of his vote-getting ability in the West Virginia May 10 primary, for in West Virginia Catholics total only about five per cent of the population compared with about 30 per cent in Wisconsin and about 40 per cent in New Hampshire.

In presidential primaries, U.S. voters elect the delegates who will represent them in the party presidential nominating conventions to be held this summer. By pledging their delegate votes to one candidate or another, they indicate their preference for their party's candidate in the presidential elections this fall.

This demonstration of vote-getting ability is crucial. The last time the Democrats took a chance on a Catholic was in 1928 when Al Smith was swamped by Republican Herbert Hoover. Neither party has been led by a Catholic since then.

Vice-President Richard Nixon, as heir-apparent to President Eisenhower, has no visible opposition in his own party and therefore doesn't have to put up much of a fight before the Republican nominating convention July 25 next.

Kennedy's major opponent for the Democratic nomination is Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, an energetic scrapper but still a lightweight as presidential timber. Wisconsin borders on Minnesota and therefore Humphrey expected some support in the April 5 Wisconsin primary.

HUMPHREY HAPPY

He got 10 1/2 per cent, compared with 20 1/2 for Kennedy, of the total 31 delegate votes Wisconsin will cast at the Democratic nominating convention at Los Angeles. Humphrey also got 44 per cent of the total Democratic primary vote, compared with 56 for Kennedy. All in all, Humphrey was pleased. He got more than the advance poll-takers that pundits had predicted he would get.

SCENE IN PASSING

BY "WAYFARER"

The recently concluded basketball championship series, in one respect at least, served to point up the true spirit of amateur sport. The coach of the visiting Toronto team remarked after the first game, "Even if we lose two straight and miss the championship, we will still play the third game of the series. It doesn't seem silly to come this far and not play three games." Contrast this approach to some of our other "amateur" sports that are heaped in by guarantees, gate receipts, and of course—salaries.

At this juncture we have no way of knowing whether the city of Kelowna will soon have enlarged boundaries or not, but if such does become the case, we hope one of the first decisions made by council will be to change the name of "Swamp Road". A road by any other name would sound sweeter!

The provincial department of recreation is the authority for the statement that the U.S. travel dollars spent in B.C. have steadily declined in number. Ten years ago Canada received 40 per cent of the American foreign travel dollar, today it is only 20 per cent. The fact that the department does not suggest any reason for the decline is not surprising, for it is undoubtedly attributable to the combination of the discounted U.S. dollar and the five per cent provincial sales tax. There are so many other places the travelling American can go, where there is no sales tax and where his national dollar is at a premium rather than a discount.

For those who hoped for pleasanter things, such as tax reductions, there is scant comfort in learning that the recent hold-the-line federal budget includes tariff reductions on, among other things, octopus, cuttlefish, pretzels and wigs!

The locale of the Geneva talks serves to remind us that after World War One there was a great fear of war. Since World War Two this fear of war itself has been replaced by a fear of being replaced by a fear of being most able to wage war quickly and effectively, should they decide to do so. As President Eisenhower said a short while ago, "In nearly every generation the fields of earth have been stained with blood. Now war would not yield blood—only a great emptiness."

It is no longer war in itself, but the power to invoke it that has become the yardstick of world domination—for good or for evil. A devastated world, however would be of little value, either military or economic—a fact that is probably the greatest deterrent to latent ambitions of conquest and domination.

OTTAWA REPORT

"Salute To The Seaway"

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

The Saint Lawrence Seaway received the supreme accolade from Broadway. A march, entitled "Salute to the Seaway", has been composed by Richard Rogers. Broadway's most successful composer, who tuned the record-breaking "Oklahoma".

The shippers and ship-owners also salute the Seaway this year? Informed expectations here are that 1960 will see the long-term pattern of economic freight shipment begin to emerge, as our waterways are used increasingly to carry our commerce.

Last year, in its first season, the seaway carried a volume of cargo 73 per cent higher than that shipped along that same stretch between Prescott and Montreal in the previous year. There were 7-30 ship transits along the Seaway, compared with only 1,127 in 1959 along the shallow canal which the Seaway replaced.

SEAWAY SIGHTSEERS

Of these transits, 2,142 were made by ocean-going vessels. And of the total, 5,222 were made by ships flying the Canadian flag, which dominated the Seaway in its first year.

Despite this huge number of ships sailing the Seaway, which at times caused hold-ups of as long as 40 hours at some locks, the volume of cargo carried fell nearly ten per cent below the expected 25 million tons.

Why did a 603 per cent increase in ship transits yield only a 73 per cent increase in cargo over the previous year? That was only one of the paradoxes of the Seaway's "Year of Excitement". It stemmed solely from the number of ships which Seaway men call "sightseers" and "prospectors".

No less than 1,448 transits, or more than the total transits in the previous year, were of this type. They included a number of rusty old tramps, who painted themselves up and came prospecting, in ballast and seeking chance cargoes— "Just as prospectors roamed our Northland in search for gold in the old days," commented one lake skipper.

NAVY COMES TO PORT

They also included 14 naval vessels flying the flags of eight NATO nations, which cruised up to Toronto during the Canadian National Exhibition.

lected to visit Chicago during the Spring traffic jam on the Seaway. They also, of course, included the Royal yacht "Britannia", which carried the Queen as far as the Lakehead, paying full tolls like every other user of the Seaway, which in her case amounted to $33.14.

This year the sightseers and the prospectors will not be evident; but workhorses are expected in greater numbers, including ships flying the Japanese flag.

Everything points to an impressive increase in economic activity arising from the Seaway in the years ahead, Transport Minister George Hees believes. Transport always has been the key to Canadian development, and the Seaway will generate increased population and increased production.

"We can look forward with confidence to the Seaway enhancing our ability to compete, not only in domestic markets but also in the highly competitive world markets," he said.

Old Spuds To Become Hygienic To Regain Loss Of Popularity

OTTAWA (CP)—The homely old potato has lost some of its popularity in recent years, says the Canadian Association of Consumers.

Concerned about the decline of the spud, it takes Canadians to task for eating fewer potatoes than their parents did.

"What other vegetable possesses such versatility?" the CAC asks in its monthly bulletin. It notes that you can bake them, boil them, mash, hash, brown or scallop them; that they are good-tasting, nutritious and relatively inexpensive.

It also scolds consumers for laxity in making certain that the potato is up to grade standards.

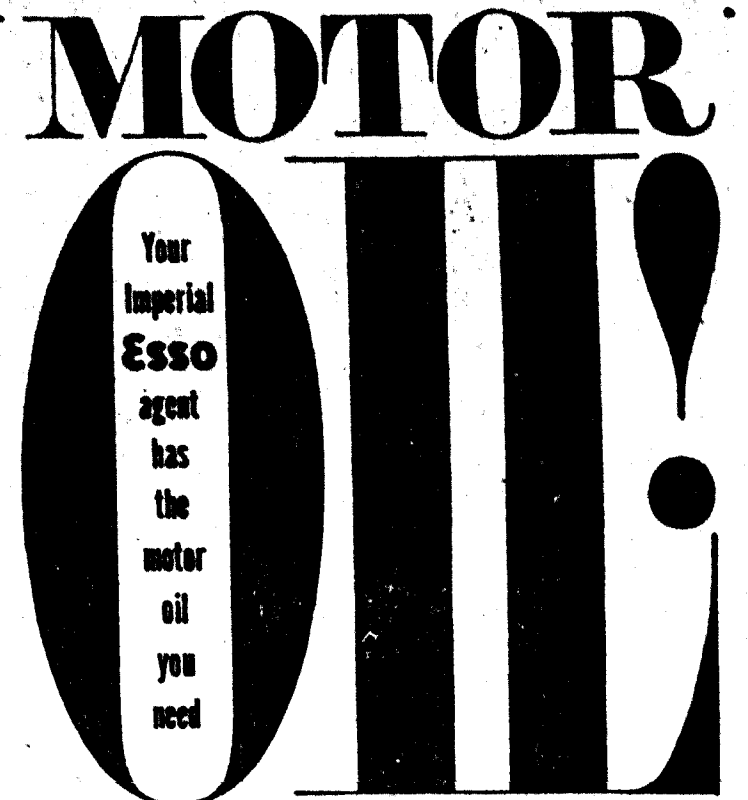

"What to do with the occasional big potato which is mostly skin, a thin layer of potato and a great black hole in the centre?"

"If the bag containing the potatoes was marked Grade 1, which most are, return the unsatisfactory potatoes to your dealer and ask for replacement with sound ones.

"The consumer can play an important part in seeing that foods live up to grade."

The CAC says it feels poor grading has contributed to the drop in popularity and suggests:

1. Uniform grading across Canada, similar to that used in egg-grading, based on federal-provincial agreement and co-operation.
2. Better inspection to ensure that potatoes are free from disease, blemishes, bruises and most of the dirt though not necessarily by washing.
3. Labelling to indicate whether they are for baking or general-purpose use.

REMOTE CONTROL TELEVISION IS LAZY MAN'S DELIGHT

By HAL McCLURE
NEW YORK (AP)—Remote control television is a lazy man's delight.

Without stirring from his easy chair, he pushes a button and the TV set across the room changes channels. Another jab lowers the sound or shuts off the set.

But gremlins—those invisible lumps that sometimes heckle scientific marvels—have been causing some mischief.

PHONE INTERFERENCE
For example, a housewife in the U.S. Midwest summoned a telephone repairman and told him:

"Whenever the phone rings our remote TV shuts off. My husband wants you to fix it so that when the bell rings the set won't shut off—just lower its volume."

Amazingly, the repairman did just that after experimenting several hours with various pitched bell-rings.

Edward McBride came up against a wild TV set while flat on his back in a Long Island hospital. One day McBride decided to freshen his hospital room with a can of air deodorant, but when he squeezed the button on the can, his remote TV set changed channels.

The can apparently emitted a high frequency squeak that not only worked on his receiver, but on 10 others in the hospital.

TV MENAGERIE
One TV repairman recalls such sets sometimes have operated "on the remotest and craziest of sounds." The models would be off and running if they received signals from:

Chirping canaries, barking dogs, crying babies, wailing sirens, low flying planes or ringing doorbells.

One man, whose remote hand unit broke down, was able to work his TV by simply banging his car keys together.

Remote TV sets operate on ultra high frequency signals above the range of the human ear. These signals generally can be transmitted mechanically with a modified tuning fork or electrically from a tiny battery. A microphone-type device in the set picks up the signals and translates them into specific operations.

CLC CLAIMS: Majority Unions Approve Formation Of New Party

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian Labour Congress backing for a new left-wing political party is opposed by only one or two resolutions submitted for the CLC convention in Montreal this month, it was learned Tuesday.

Informants said other resolutions from union locals across the country approve the stand of the 1,150,000-member CLC so far or urge it to move faster and farther in co-operating with the CCF.

However, it is understood that additional anti-party views will be expressed at the convention session set aside April 27 for new party business. These are foreseen from elements including the building trades and some rail brotherhoods.

Frank Hall of Montreal, a Congress vice-president and influential leader of the railway non-operating unions' negotiating team, is expected to blast any move that would tie the CLC to a political party.

This question tops the agenda of the convention. About 2,000 delegates may attend, but there is some speculation that questions of union jurisdiction may create far more fire than political issues.

These questions involve the Seafarers' International Union and the Teamsters—the one suspended from the CLC for raiding and the other found guilty of raiding and apparently unrepentant.

The CLC convention starting April 25 is the first of three hurdles the new party must clear. The next is the CCF convention in Regina this summer and the third the actual founding convention slated for Ottawa in the spring or summer of 1967.

In line with a set of objectives from the 1958 CLC convention, the executive council of the congress has prepared a specific recommendation about supporting the new party. This along with other political resolutions will be handed to the convention political committee and then returned for convention debate.

Melbourne Devises Plan To Stop Big Disasters

By HAROLD TILLEY
Canadian Press Correspondent
MELBOURNE (CP)—This second largest city in Australia has devised a plan for action to minimize the death toll and bring swift relief to the suffering should it be struck by a major disaster.

All civilian service organizations will play a part.

Melbourne, with a population of about 1,678,000, reads almost weekly of major disasters in other Australian cities, rarely experiences such an occurrence.

For organization purposes, the experts who devised Melbourne's plan have decided that a major disaster would be one in which there were 50 or more casualties.

Advice would be ridged to particular hospitals to prepare for a given number of patients with specific injuries, thus enabling preparation of beds in the right places and action for blood transfusions and other emergency treatment.

Other police work will include protection of life and property, controls of crowds and prevention of looting.

GROUPS INVOLVED
Fire brigades, ambulances, staffs of leading hospitals and officers of the hospitals and charities commission will figure in the operative plan. Also involved are railways, tramways, the gas and fuel corporation, electricity commission, civil aviation department, harbor trust and Red Cross.

All made recommendations for inclusion in the master plan.

The chairman of the committee of experts, Dr. P. N. O'Donnell, medical superintendent of Royal Melbourne Hospital, said Melbourne has been extremely fortunate in having had so few major accidents.

"But a big city must be prepared. Without a plan of action chaos and confusion could result and treatment of victims delayed unnecessarily."

Small-scale action plans to fit needs of localities outside the metropolitan area are being modelled on the master plan.

One of these was put into operation recently when a diesel train struck a loaded school bus at a level crossing, killing five child-

Drugs Peddled To Homes, Says Toronto Woman

TORONTO (CP)—Controllor Jean Newman disclosed Tuesday that drug addicts in Metropolitan Toronto now have their drugs delivered to their homes.

"All an addict has to do, no matter what area of the city he's in, is pick up the phone and ask for some cans," Mrs. Newman said. "Then five minutes later he goes down to the street in front of his home and gets drugs from the pusher."

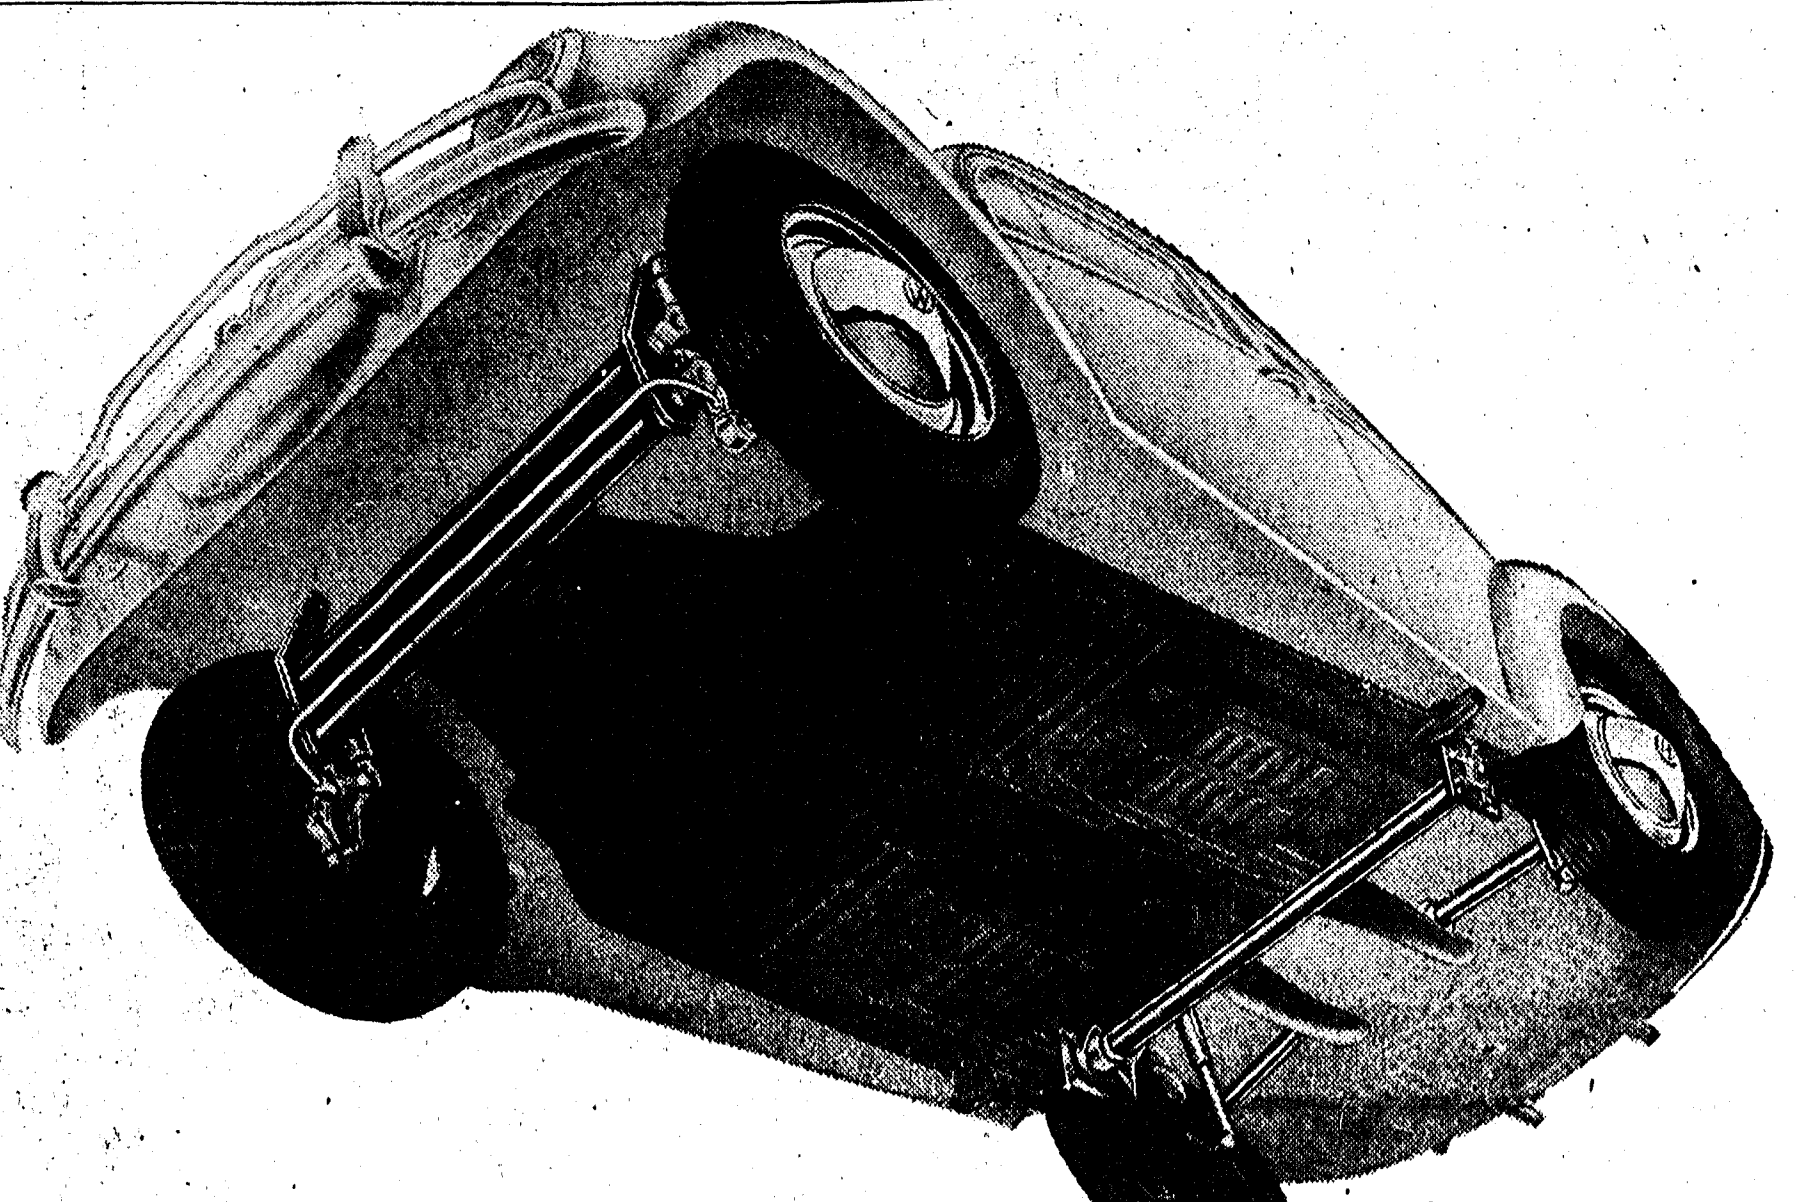

Mrs. Newman, who has been waging a fight to clean up prostitution in Toronto, said she discovered the home delivery service for addicts through letters she received about prostitution in the city.

She said the pusher charges $6 for a heroin capsule plus $1 for the "extra work and risk involved" in going near the addict's house instead of to a "contact place."

Volkswagen rides like a big car—with springs you can't even see! Sealed in tubes, they're protected from rust, dust and dirt. These torsion bars give independent springing to each of the four wheels—unlike any other family car. You get the same remarkable riding comfort front seat or back.

Volkswagen wheels are different, too. They are larger than normal with larger tires for a softer, more comfortable ride. And oversize brakes give you maximum safety.

Volkswagen's unique suspension, large wheels, luxurious contoured seats—these are the important things when it

That Volkswagen's famous engine is different, is a well known fact. It's in the rear, of course. It's air-cooled. In fact, it has set a new trend in motor design. You get up to 40 miles per gallon and can drive at top speed all day long—if you wish.

All this makes Volkswagen different. When you drive it you'll find—

Women Hear About Health Unit's Work

Guest speaker at the Kelowna Council of Women meeting held last week in the Health Unit Annex, was Miss Hazel Whittington, supervisor of nurses of the South Okanagan Health Unit.

Miss Whittington spoke on "The Work of our Health Centre." She told the members of the history of Public Health in B.C. She said the University of British Columbia was the first in Canada to offer a course in public health. Two members of the first graduating class came to the Okanagan in 1922. Ten years later Kelowna formed the second health unit in B.C.

Miss Whittington then outlined the work of the health unit at the present time, which, she said, was a more widely generalized program than ever before. Families of school children as well as the children themselves become part of the nurse's responsibility. Particularly important is the pre-natal and post-natal care offered to mothers. She also said fathers take a greater interest than formerly and often attend the pre-natal classes with their wives.

Other important branches of the Health Unit's work, the speaker said, include: the child guidance program, including the

Easter: Bride Honored By Many At Shower

Many beautiful gifts were received by bride-elect Ellen Burke at a recent shower held in her honor at the South Kelowna Community Hall.

More than 45 relatives and friends gathered to fête next week's bride. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. J. R. Hardy, Mrs. A. Lube, Mrs. N. R. Seddon and Mrs. P. L. Marmchur.

The bride-to-be, her mother, Mrs. O. Burke and the groom's mother Mrs. Bucsis were presented with corsages of violets and daisies made by Mrs. Seddon and Mrs. Marmchur.

A table and chair decorated in pink, blue and white awaited the bride-elect. The table was heaped with gifts. As Miss Burke sat in the place of honor friends burst a confetti-filled balloon over her head. Following this gay start mother, sister and bride-elect unwrapped the many presents.

Refreshments were served. The bride's table was graced with a silver tea service, and the hostesses poured tea for the guests.

Miss Burke is to marry Harold Lynn Bucsis on Easter Monday at the Church of Immaculate Conception.

Silver Wedding Joyous Occasion - Says Danish Sunrise Serenader

By JOHN CHADWICK

COPENHAGEN (Reuters) — A top-hatted street trumpeter is probably Denmark's best authority on happy marriage.

Twinkle-eyed Kaj Westerlund, 60, one of Copenhagen's best-loved characters, is the man who in accordance with an old custom here comes along to play an early morning serenade to couples celebrating their silver wedding day.

This sprightly street musician recently announced that he had joined in the celebrations of 8,000 Copenhagen couples reaching the 25-years-married mark.

TRADITION LIVES ON

Westerlund, who has been playing his Sunrise Serenade now for 42 years, is one of the veterans of Copenhagen's many colorful street singers and musicians, a tradition that shows no sign of dying out.

Christmas and holiday periods are the busiest times for the Courtyard Singers, as they are called here. These bandsmen go from one block to another, playing a 15-minute program in the little cobbled courtyards which are a picturesque feature of this old city.

The silver wedding anniversary is traditionally a big day in Denmark. Early in the morning, relatives tread softly to the front door of the couple being honored, pin a large, hand-painted greeting sign over the porch and place flowers around it.

Then, at sunrise, the couple are awakened by the strains of the brass bandsmen in the front garden, playing the old Danish melody It's Nice to Go Together. Westerlund is the leader of Copenhagen's best-known band at these early morning recitals, arranged by the relatives. Trumpet, trombone, clarinet and other instruments often manage to rouse the whole street as they work through their half-hour program, ending with the Wedding March.

The couple then invite the bandsmen into the house for coffee, beer and cakes. There the merriment continues, with the Bridal Waltz and other melodies shattering the neighborhood peace.

But neighbors do not mind. They come along themselves later to join in the fun.

WELFARE BOOSTER
OTTAWA (CP) — Staff-hungry welfare agencies may get some recruiting help from a film now in the Canadian Welfare Council's rental library. The 30-minute film describes a New York City summer work project in social agencies by university students.

John Henry Newman, the English cardinal who died in 1890, wrote many fine works besides his famous autobiography.

IN ORBIT

By DOROTHY GELLATLY

Easter won't again occur on April 17 until we have entered the 21st century—provided, of course, there is a 21st century, and that our present calendar still is in use 40 years from now. I discovered this interesting fact from reading an old day-by-day calendar compiled by Andrew Thomas, M.A., FRSC, that gives days and dates for some 250 years; from 1753 to 2000, to be exact. So—anyone wanting to know the day of the week on which his, or her, birthday fell—just ask Mr. Thompson. The same goes for any date up to the year 2000, unless calendar changes advocated for years go into effect before that time. If—and when—those changes come, I wonder if there will be another "Year of Confusion" such as occurred in 45 B.C.

GYPPED 11 DAYS

Not that there haven't been other "confused" years. Take 1752, for instance, when England at last adopted Pope Gregory's 1582 calendar reform. By 1752 the Julian calendar was in error 11 days, yet, when England did make the change, many people felt they'd been gypped 11 days of their lives, and the cry, "Give us back our fortnight," became a popular slogan.

Even George Washington was confused. According to the calendar in use at the time of his birth Washington was born February 11th, 1732—not February 22. Moreover, he continued to celebrate his birthday on February 11, and in signing documents gave that day as well as February 22. Probably few of his countrymen who now celebrate February 22, realize that Washington himself marked his birthday on February 11.

How did it all happen? Well, Mr. Thompson tells us that Julius Caesar instituted our present calendar in 46 B.C. Prior to that there were 355 days in each year, with an occasional extra month of 22 or 23 days in February.

And that's where trouble crept in. Allowed to use their own discretion as to the insertion of this extra month, the politicians worked overtime.

It was desired to lengthen or shorten the time of office of a consul, or arrange the time of an election to suit a political party, there was a whole month with which to manipulate. And apparently they "manipulated", and Mr. Caesar at last decided to do something about it.

Tired of their abuses, he enlisted the aid of astronomer Sosigenes to put an end to their corruption. So it was that Messrs. Caesar and Sosigenes established the Julian calendar—with Caesar doing a bit of manipulating himself by naming the former month of Quintillus after himself—whence the name "July".

YEAR OF CONFUSION
Put into effect January 1st, 45 B.C., the previous year was lengthened to 445 days to include the extra days until the new regime went into effect. This made the year 46 B.C., the longest year in history, becoming known as the "Year of Confusion". Up to 45 B.C., the new year began in March.

Perhaps Caesar and Sosigenes were a bit too clever for the common herd, as regulations still were misunderstood, with the result that an extra day crept into February every third year. Then, in 8 B.C., Augustus Caesar corrected this error, and not to be outdone by Julius, named August after himself. . . . Indeed, he is credited by some with stealing a day from February to tack on to his then-30-day month.

For the next 15 centuries the Julian calendar remained unaltered, by which time the fundamental error that the year was 354 days long, really became serious. This error of 10 minutes and 14 seconds amounted to one whole day in 128 years; which meant, in the course of centuries, that the seasons, determined by the relative positions of sun and earth would change in regard to the calendar. Eventually, we might have been celebrating Easter in autumn and Christmas in midsummer!

LEAP YEAR
St. Pope Gregory XIII, in order to restore the vernal or spring equinox to its original place, decreed that in 1582 the day following March 11 should be reckoned March 21st. Further to keep the record straight, he established our Leap Year as it is known today. That Pope Gregory had something is proved by the fact that the margin of error in our present calendar will be less than a day in 20,000 years!

In spite of this putting-to-rights of the calendar, Gregory's reform was not popular, especially in non-Roman Catholic countries. Indeed, England did not put it into practice until 1752, when the error had grown to 11 days—which gave rise to the feeling of many that their lives had been shortened by those 11 days.

Mr. Thompson's explanations ends with: "Although numerous attempts have been made to 'reform the calendar' in recent years, usually on the basis of 13 months of 28 days, nevertheless it appears probable that the calendar will continue indefinitely in almost the same pattern Julius Caesar drew up two thousand years ago."

National League Off On Hot Pennant Race

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

The National League's off on another pennant chase with Los Angeles, Milwaukee and San Francisco jammed together at the top.

The world champion Dodgers, drawing a record crowd at the Coliseum, defeated Chicago Cubs 2-1 in 11 innings Tuesday night.

The Braves clipped Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3. And the Giants defeated St. Louis Cardinals 3-1 for a debut in their $15,000,000 Candlestick Park.

In the other afternoon game, Cincinnati's Reds whipped Philadelphia Phillies 9-4.

The four teams drew 79,782 fans, an opening day record for the NL. The American League, still playing exhibition games, opens Monday.

ESBEGIAN WINS IT
Chuck Esganian broke it up for Los Angeles with a two-out, pinch-hit home run in the 11th off reliever Don Elston. He was batting for Don Drysdale, who blanked the Cubs on three singles over the last eight innings and got a jump toward another strikeout crown. He struck out 14.

The Cubs got four of their seven hits and both runs in the third. Don Zimmer opened it with a home run.

The Dodgers tied it on a pair of walks and a two-out double by Wally Moon in the fifth against starter Bob Anderson, who fanned nine in his eight frames.

The game drew 67,550, a NL record for a night game. The old high was 67,037, set at the Coliseum last August 8 for a game with the Braves.

FACE'S DOWNFALL
Joe Adcock's two-run homer in the eighth broke up a 2-2 game for the Braves before 39,888 at Milwaukee's County Stadium.

The shot followed single by Hank Aaron and came off Roy Face, the little right-hander who ran up a two-season streak of 22 victories by winning his first 17 last season.

Oddly, the Braves were the only club Face didn't beat in that run. Fact is, he's dropped seven in a row to Milwaukee, going back to 1956.

Warren Spahn hit his 21th home run, career high for pitchers in the NL, but gave away after blanking the Pirates on four hits for seven frames.

Don McMahon came on in the eighth and won it, but needed help from Lew Burdette in the ninth.

Sad Sam Jones gave up only three hits—all by ex-Giants—while beating the Cards for the fifth straight time since they traded him to the Giants 13 months ago. Bill White singled twice, in the first and the ninth, and Leon Wagner junked the shutout with a home run in the fifth.

Orlando Cepeda drove in the Giants' runs, tripling home a pair of unearned markers in the first—after an error by ex-Giant Daryl Spencer at short—and singling home Willie Mays in the third. Larry Jackson lost it before a full house of 42,289.

The Phillies and Robin Roberts blew a 4-0 lead at Cincinnati, where 30,075 saw Roy McMillan's two-on homer cap a five-run second. Rookie Tony Gonzalez hit a two-run homer for the Reds, also off Roberts, while lefty Jim O'Toole won it with six innings of two-hit, shutout relief.

The American League, still playing exhibition games, opens next Monday with Boston at Washington in the league's traditional first game.

Kansas City beat Baltimore 3-0 Tuesday; Boston beat Detroit 3-0 behind a joint one-hitter by Tom Sturdivant and Al Worthington; Cleveland smacked New York 7-4 and the Chicago White Sox blanked Washington 5-0 as Frank Baumann and Ray Moore combined for a three-hitter.

SCORING ACE
Wayne Connelly, a 20-year-old scoring wizard, formerly of the Peterborough "Tees" and now pro with the Montreal Royals of the Eastern Professional Hockey League, has been named the 16th winner of the Red Tilson trophy awarded annually to the player regarded as the most valuable and gentlemanly in the Junior A OHA league.

Habs Take Three Game Lead Stanley Cup Playoffs

Ben BEN WARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Montreal Canadiens, playing what coach Toe Blake called their best game of the playoffs, outclashed Toronto Maple Leafs 5-2 Tuesday night for a 3-0 stranglehold on the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final.

A scoring explosion by Canadiens' almost-forgotten third line of Phil Goyette, Andre Pronovost and Claude Provost and the solid work of goalie Jacques Plante behind a stone-wall defence stymied Leafs.

Goyette, with two goals, was a standout on offense. Don Marshall and the dynamic Richard brothers — Maurice and Henri-got the other Montreal goals. Johnny Wilson and Bert Olmstead handled Toronto's scoring.

HAD ONE GOAL PERIOD
The crowd of 13,307 had little to cheer about after Leafs' opening burst of the first period died out under fierce Montreal forechecking and some of the finest defensive work of the series by Doug Harvey, Albert Langlois, Tom Johnson and Jean-Guy Talbot.

Even Punch Imlach, Toronto's optimistic coach, agreed with Blake. Leafs "have no alibis about that one," he said.

Plant — who Imlach said was "marvellous" — got the Montreal players' vote as "man of the night" but shared the glory with Maurice (Rocket) Richard, whose shooting gave Bower trouble throughout.

The 38-year-old Rocket, defying an attempt by the years to slow him down, skated like a rookie. His goal, the first he has scored in seven playoff games this year, drew an appreciative shout from the Toronto fans.

"That was the Rocket's best game in the two series," Blake beamed. "I was tickled to see him get one."

Marshall got the only goal of the first period. The fourth-line centre took a pass from Billy Hicke at the Toronto blue line and roared in on goaltender Johnny Bower with only defence-man Bob Baun to beat. Bower went after the shot, screened by Baun, too late.

Provost's fine pass put Goyette right on top of Bower and a quick flip lifted the puck over the netminder's stick at 20 seconds of the second period.

Leafs lost an opportunity when Plante came through with a sensational stop on Ron Stewart when the Toronto forward appeared to have him caught cold. Henri Richard took the wind out of Leafs' pressure drive late in the second period. He stole the puck from defenceman Tim Horton on the side boards, tore across the blue line fending off two other Leafs and fired a sizzler into the corner.

From then on Montreal's defence just about had the door locked. Leafs began tiring under the strain of trying to get a play clicking over the Montreal blue line and time and again Canadiens stole the puck in the corners.

Wilson made it 3-1 when Carl Brewer's 35-foot drive bounced off Plante's chest, struck Wilson and bounded off him into the net. During the play Brewer went in at Plante and Henri Richard chased him. Richard and Baun collided, began swinging and drew five-minute major penalties.

Goyette got his second goal in the final period after winning the draw in a faceoff with Baun to the right of Bower. He stick-handled 10 feet and fired a hard one from directly in front of the Leafs goal at 8:57.

Richard's goal ended any last hopes Leafs had. He circled the net, picked up a rebound of Bower's shot and sent a high drive into the corner. Bower had no chance.

Olmstead flipped the puck over

Plante's sprawled body to flinch off a goalmouth scramble at 19:47.

Meikle Teddy Bears Are Still Canadian Champs
The dispute over the Canadian Senior B Women's basketball championship, played in Kel-ona last weekend, is settled. Ruth Wilson, second vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association, has confirmed the series "definitely a dominion championship".

Yesterday it was reported that an eastern official had tabbed the series as "only an exhibition".

"That's ridiculous, there was no mention of an exhibition when the series was being arranged", said Ruth Wilson.

She said the fact Eastern Canada fouled up its playoff dates is no fault of the West's.

The upcoming series between Toronto Shamrocks and St. Lambert Quebec, is for the eastern Canadian title only, she said.

"But Kelowna's Meikle Teddy Bears have definitely won the Canadian Senior B crown."

"It's unfortunate this controversy had to arise and taint the fine showing of the Kelowna team."

She said the fact that the CAHA forwarded championship crests for the winners, financial forms and official final score-sheets, shows they knew it was a Canadian Championship.

Coach Dorothy Bray of the Toronto Shamrocks, who was stopping over in Jasper on her way back from the series, said her club was of the understanding the series was for the Canadian title.

She also said she knew the St. Lambert series is for the Eastern title.

"It's too far to come just for an exhibition series" she asserted.

CANUCKS TIGHTEN UP
But they had trouble penetrating the Canuck defence and when they managed to break through, all-star netminder Hank Bassen proved as big a stumbling block.

Colin Kilburn got Canucks' other goal at 1:36 of the opening period and Art Jones, shifty Cougar centre, scored for Victoria midway through the second period.

Ray Cyr, who now tops the playoff scorers with four goals and nine assists, and Dave Duke set up Kilburn by digging the puck out from behind the Victoria net. Kilburn rammed it into the goal off netminder Marcel Pelletier's arm during a scramble.

Jones got the Cougar goal by steering a shot by Paul Masnick into the open corner from 15 feet out before Bassen could move into position.

The tie held until Belsle's victory dash from centre at 9:26 of the third.

wide-open passing and some solid body contact.

Only two penalties were called one to either side, but neither figured in the scoring.

Cougars, who surprised most hockey followers by taking the first two games of the series, looked sharper than in last Saturday night's game in Victoria when they were laced 6-2 by Vancouver.

and gave the favored Vancouver team a 3-2 lead in games with the sixth tonight in Victoria and the seventh here Friday.

SECOND WINNER
Belsle scored the winner in Vancouver's 3-2 victory in the third game of the series at Los Angeles.

The former Guelph Biltmores junior star is in his second year with Vancouver. In his rookie season he was Canucks' top goal scorer with 31 and was second in overall scoring with 61 points.

The current season has not been so prosperous for the speedy left winger, but again he managed to break into the 20-goal circle.

Tuesday night's game was a dandy with end-to-end rushes,

Canucks Move Ahead In Western Finals

VANCOUVER (CP) — Little Danny Belsle, a 22-year-old native of South Porcupine, Ont., has blossomed into a deadly clutch playoff performer for Vancouver Canucks.

Belsle, with some fine stick-handling and a great burst of speed, broke clear of a Victoria Cougar attack midway through the last period to score the winning goal in Canucks' 2-1 victory over Victoria here Tuesday night in the fifth game of the Western Hockey League final series.

The play, set up by a ricochet pass off the boards by defenceman Dale Anderson, set the standing room crowd of 5,300 wild.

It was Canucks' third straight victory in the best-of-nine series

Four Teams Set To Open Little League Season

Kelowna Little League will open its 1960 season with what appears to be four reasonably well selected teams.

Coaches of the four squads chose their players last night at the annual auction held in Memorial Arena.

The auction, which works on a point system, was run off

Norm Cash Taken By Detroit Team

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Detroit Tigers Tuesday acquired first baseman-outfielder Norm Cash to strengthen their second-line troops.

In a straight player swap, the Tigers gave Cleveland Indians rookie third baseman Steve Demeter for Cash.

Cash went to the Indians last December in a trade that sent Minnie Minoso to Chicago White Sox.

BLAKE HAPPY

Third NHL Game Best Team Effort for Habs

By W. E. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The Blake, in the midst of his smiling Canadiens after their 5-2 win over Toronto Maple Leafs Tuesday night, proclaimed this game "the best team effort of the series."

"It compared with the third game of our semi-final against Chicago. We controlled the puck in that one, but tonight we played well defensively" and the whole team seemed to be clicking well all the way."

With the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final now 3-0 in Canadiens favor, Blake declined to make any predictions about next Thursday's fourth game other than to say with a grin, "We've still got to win to clean up this series."

Blake felt that one of the big moments in the game came when goalie Jacques Plante dived into a shot by Toronto's Ron Stewart. At that time Canadiens had a 2-0 lead.

"That was the big play as far as I'm concerned and it was Toronto's big chance to slice the lead to 2-1."

Blake had special mention for Maurice (Rocket) Richard, 38-year-old veteran whose goal Tuesday night was his first in playoffs—the first in seven games.

"That was the Rocket's best game in the two series and I was tickled to see him get that one," said Blake.

"It was a long time coming," said the Rocket with a wan smile. "I got Dickie Moore's rebound and let go a backhander over Bower (goalie) Johnny Bower who was on one knee." Phil Goyette, smooth-working centre who got two goals, was beaming.

"Claude Provost gave me the pass on the first and I was in the clear. I faked a shot at Bower. He made his move. Then I lifted the puck over his pads."

"Bob Baun tried to take me out on the faceoff when I got the second. That's his style and I was ready. I sidestepped him and he missed me entirely. I picked up the puck, took a couple of steps and let it go."

BONIN CREDITED
Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard, who matched his big brother's goal, said Marcel Bonin fed the pass but got no assist.

"I beat somebody—I think it was Stewart—and scored from about 15 feet out with a backhander. I was kind of lucky at that."

And about the little Rocket's fight with Baun, which brought both players major penalties?

"Carl Brewer charged into Plante and I went in to stop it. All of a sudden Baun jumped on me from behind, and that was it."

Managing director Franke Selke sized up the game as "tough until we got our third goal and then it opened up, but all throughout I thought the game was a terrific effort on the part of our fellows."

TOUGHEST FOR PLANTE
Plante said this was "the toughest game for me of the whole series."

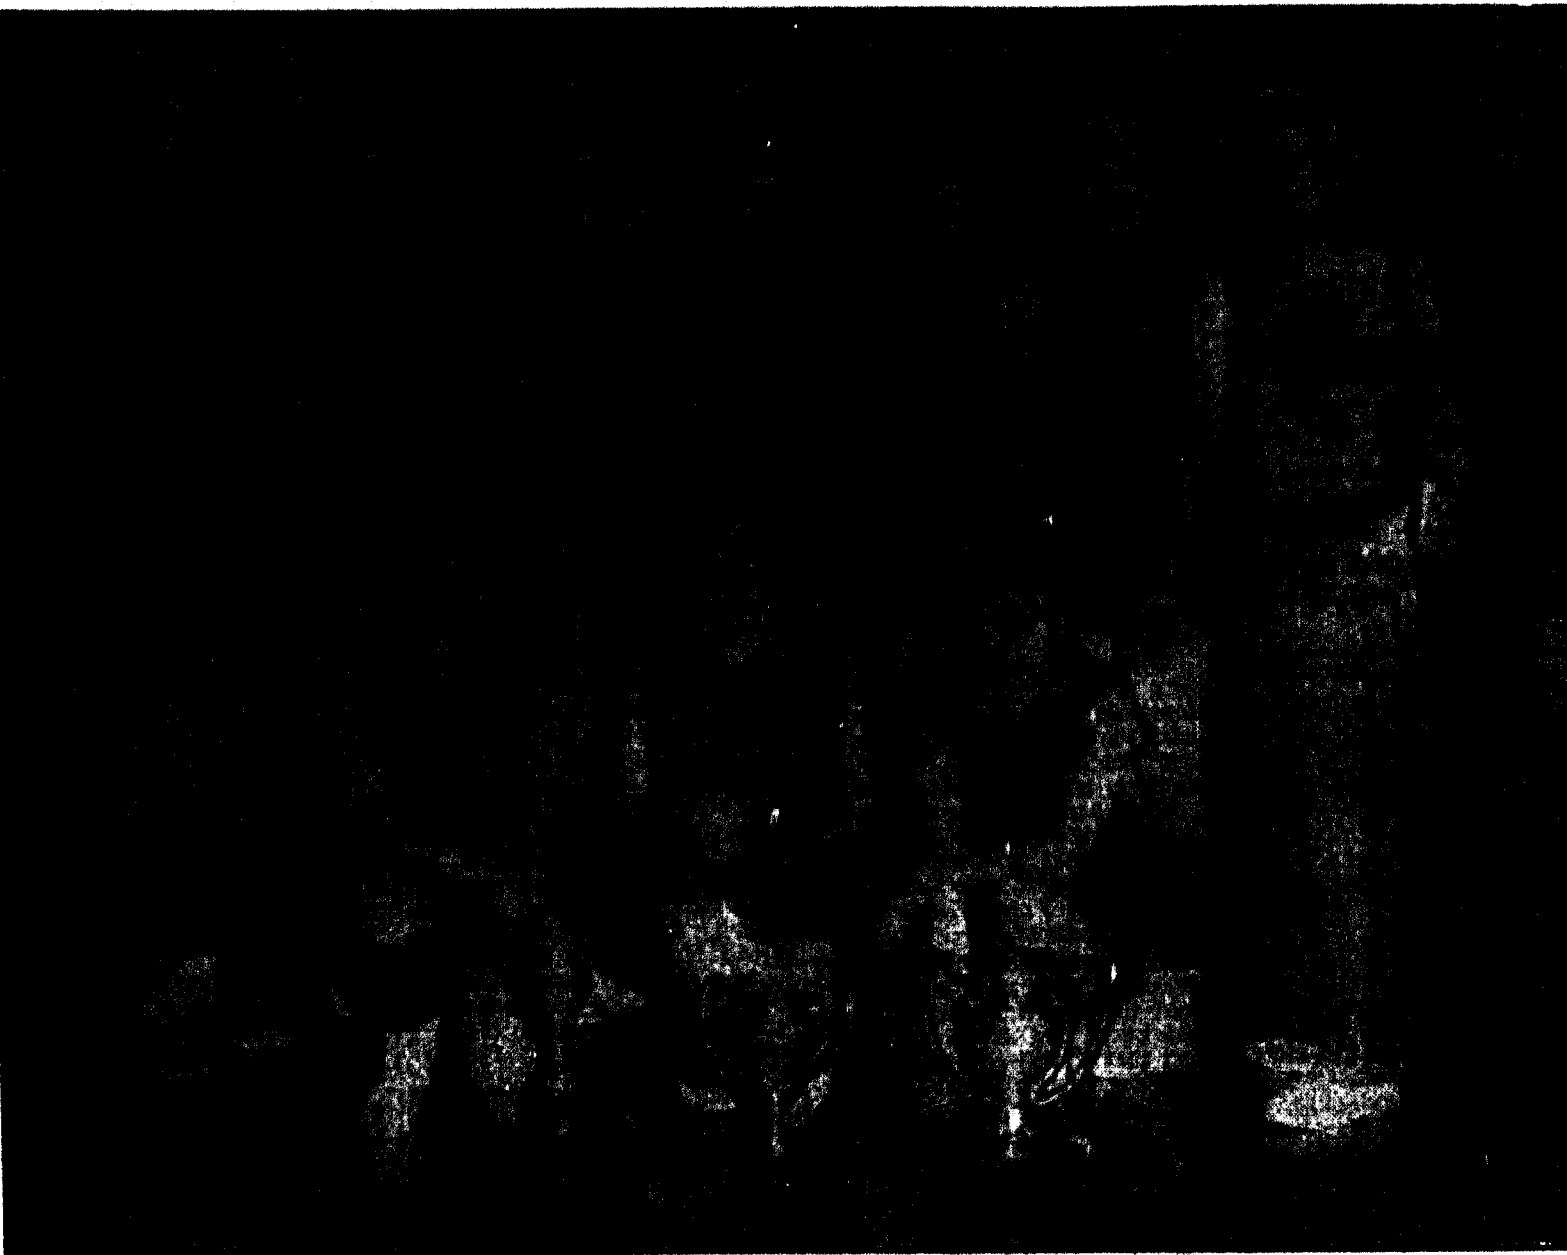

"The Leafs were throwing wicked ones at me tonight. Some may not have looked so hard to stop but they were coming from 15 and 20 feet out, let alone the scrambles in front of me."

There were two Montreal casualties—a bruised big toe for Rocket Richard and a cut nose for Dickie Moore.

Dr. Ian Milne, club physician, said Richard's toe was bruised under the nail. The Rocket limped a bit while walking about the dressing room, but he is expected to be ready for Thursday's game. Moore's cut was superficial, from a stick.

BACKACHE May be Warning

Backache is often caused by lack of kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acid and uric acid remain in the system. These backache, disturbed rest or that tired-out and heavy-headed feeling may soon follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulates the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Get Dodd's Kidney Pills now.

TEDDIES — STILL BEST IN WEST-AND EAST

Soviet Horse Racing To Be Brought Back

By JOHN MILLER
MOSCOW (Reuters) — Past glories of Soviet horse racing are being evoked here in a bid to revive the sport from a post-war slump and produce horses good enough to compete with the best on international tracks. Critics say the sport is suffering from an "inferiority complex" and point to the few, and unsuccessful, excursions to European and American race courses.

The best remedy, they say, would be to increase international visits, especially to Italy, France and Sweden. They add that with the Soviet Union's racing background and potential, its horses and jockeys should be able to make a good showing.

Imlach Confident Of Win Tomorrow

By BEN WARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—"We now are faced with the problem of doing what everybody says is impossible, that's all. But in my books nothing is impossible."

Coach Punch Imlach still was defiant Tuesday night after his Toronto Maple Leafs dropped a 5-2 decision to Montreal Canadiens to fall behind 3-0 in games in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup final.

"I have no alibis about tonight's game," Imlach added. "There were times out there when our guys didn't seem to know what end of the stick to hold."

He felt sure, however, that the Leafs had gotten a bad one out of their system and would be in the win column after the fourth game here Thursday night.

"Plante Canadiens goalie played a marvelous game tonight," the Leaf coach said. "I don't know how he managed to stop some of those shots. A couple of times he couldn't even see the puck and even then he was stopping them."

"A goalie has to be lucky to have a night like that. But let's admit it, it takes a good goalie to make a lucky one—and that's Mr. Plante."

The Leaf players weren't nearly as talkative a mood as their coach. They showered quickly without the usual horseplay and dressed silently.

Imlach didn't even look at the players as he stood for questioning.

POPULAR SPORT

The sport has a considerable following in the Soviet Union. Official statistics say that flat racing attracts about 400,000 fans a month to race tracks throughout the country. Trotting at the Moscow Hippodrome, headquarters of Soviet racing, packs in about 700,000 people during a three-month, three-days-a-week summer season.

There is pari-mutuel betting but no bookmakers—and a complete absence of racing gossip, tips, touts and form sheets which are a feature in other parts of the world.

Soviet horses since the end of the war have made little showing in European and Continental races.

In both 1958 and 1959, two horses each year carried Russia's colors abroad for the first time in the Washington, D.C., International at Laurel, Md. All finished out of the money.

STAY AT HOME
Since then, the Russians have made rare trips to European courses for steeplechasing and trotting.

Now the critics are suggesting a radical reform of the Soviet racing system. The main complaint is that the horses are just not getting the right racing education after leaving the country's many collective, state and stud farms for the Moscow Hippodrome.

Fewer horses are being stabled there—about 600 compared to about 5,000 some years ago—and some potentially good material from the farms is not even being considered.

The critics also demand a training school for young jockeys.

French Army "Nursemaid" In Peaceful Subjugation

By DAVE OANCA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ALGIERS (CP) - In rebellion-racked Algeria, French soldiers have begun a series of far-reaching social tasks seldom, if ever, undertaken before by an army.

They come under the heading of a pacification and range from teaching Moslem women how to care for their children to providing schools, houses, hospitals, doctors, nurses and teachers.

They are an integral part of the army's efforts to put down a rebellion that in more than five years has cost the lives of at least 15,000 French soldiers and 145,000 Moslems.

There is no quick end in sight. President de Gaulle himself has said the Algerian problem cannot be settled for a long time and that it will end only in victory for French forces.

OFFICERS OPTIMISTIC
High-ranking army officers here echo this statement. But they all express optimism when discussing the course of operations against the rebellion.

For the first time since the revolt ripped across the North African territory in 1954 and nationalists began their campaign for independence from France, a military plan to fight it has achieved a measure of success.

Massive blows of the "steamroller" strategy of Gen. Maurice Challe, the French military commander in Algeria, have reduced some of the traditional rebel strongholds and dislocated small rebel units.

The 500,000 man French army has shattered some nationalist forces into bands of from 60 to 150 men. Some groups are said to be down to 20.

The general's official spokesman told a group of Commonwealth correspondents there no longer are any large nationalist groups in either western or central Algeria. Large bands, however, still are reported in the North Constantine region near the Tunisian frontier.

Challe's spokesman estimated there still are between 15,000 and 20,000 dedicated rebels left - many in Tunisia and Morocco.

LOST 30,000
He reported rebel losses in 1959 at 30,000 men, among them a high proportion of trained, skilled fighters. Intelligence estimates are that the rebel arsenal inside Algeria has been cut to 3,000 weapons from 13,000 during the last year.

To cope with this new situation, the rebels changed tactics. Now groups of four or five "death commandos" are the main attack force. Their task is to roam the countryside at night spreading death and destruction.

The French army admits it has been unable thus far to come off victoriously with the small, highly mobile commando groups.

"If we could get them all in one place for a battle we could beat them in five minutes," said an exasperated Foreign Legion commander. "But they're like the rash - you never know where they're going to break out next."

FRONTIERS SEALED
To starve the hit-and-run bands inside Algeria of arms and ammunition has become an important army goal. It has sealed off with electrified barbed wire and mine fields the Moroccan and Tunisian frontier crossings. Naval vessels maintain a constant watch along the long Mediterranean coast line.

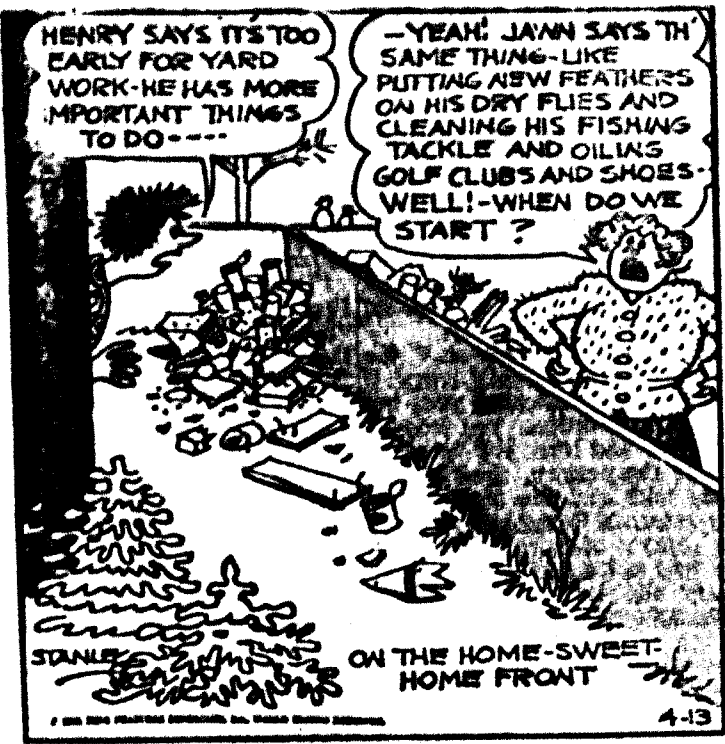

"These barriers effectively prevent the rebels from increasing their armed strength inside Algeria," said Challe's spokesman. "They may be able to replace the men they lose inside the country, but they cannot replace the arms and ammunition."

Closely linked with these purely military operations is pacification, practised chiefly in western and central Algeria where rebel bands have been smashed.

This essentially is a French effort to win back Moslem support. The army says one of its primary goals is to "protect" loyal Moslems from rebel terrorism. But it also serves to prevent nationalist-minded people from giving help to the fellagha.

SOUSTELE IDEA
In the country there are 672 Special Administrative Section (caps sub) groups, each headed by an army officer. These groups - the branches of Soustele - have the dual function of providing administrative and social services and maintaining law and order. They go into operation as soon as the rebels are flushed out of the villages and the surrounding countryside. The army "encourages" those living in vulnerable areas to move into newly-created village compounds, or regroupment centres, as they are more generally called.

Ex-Salesman And Bartender Now Well-Paid Script Writer

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hedrick Young is a well-groomed man with steel-grey hair who is good-looking enough to be an actor.

Indeed, he was an actor until 1933. Since then he has been a luggage salesman, junk man and bartender.

Now he is a screen writer, well paid and well honored. Last year he and collaborator Harold Jacob Smith won Oscars for their original screen play, 'The Defiant Ones'.

DECLINES DIRECT ANSWER — Was Young a Communist? "Do you really want to know?" he asked. I said I did.

Young has written under the pseudonym of Mason E. Douglas "for obvious reasons."

POLITICAL STRAIN — The cause of Young's disparity of occupations is a political storm which has hung over Hollywood for 13 years and is still raging.

Young grew up in depression-era Philadelphia, a time and place which he admits were conducive to liberal political thinking.

One day Young was served with a subpoena to appear before the House Un-American Activities committee on un-American activities.

With a wife and two children to support, he sought jobs in other industries. He says he even helped a man pick up a junk for charity until a kid recognized him from an old movie on TV.

Later he took a job as bartender, and met an MGM producer one night. The producer reported the studio was planning to refurbish a script that Young had written for Gene Kelly.

He was more explicit in his feelings about blacklists: "I think the Hollywood blacklist was horrible, wasteful, stupid and idiotic. I think the nation suffered because of it, in that the quality of films started to decline about the same time as the blacklist started."

Young's views, of course, are violently opposed by many in Hollywood and the controversy continues. Throughout the years no one has been able to prove that Communists were able to put across their messages on the screen.

Say actor Ronald Reagan: "The danger is not what is on the screen. It is what these people do behind the scenes to gain power in organizations to further their beliefs."

Barred by studios at Warners. His contract over, he was dropped. He says he could not find a job as an actor or writer in movies.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three paintings valued at $700 have been stolen from the Vancouver Maritime Museum, city police said Tuesday.

the building between March 30 and 22, police said. The most valuable painting stolen was 'The Outdoors,' done in oils by artist T. H. Millyard. The other two were valued at $75 each. All three had been loaned for an exhibition. The museum has not ascertained names of the owners.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW Stellar influences during the morning hours activate business interests, mental work and creative pursuits.

During the evening hours be alert to emotionalism on the part of some, and try to avoid contention. Quiet pursuits such as reading or listening to good music will prove more enjoyable than group activities.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that, occupationally and financially, trends are on the upgrade now and should bring highly satisfying results within four months.

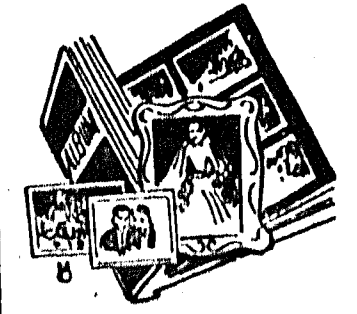

During October, however, you may experience a short period of domestic stress due to an increase in responsibilities. Tension can be relieved, however, if you can manage to change your environment for a few days in order to get a better perspective on things.

A child born on this day will be affectionate, sensitive and extremely dependable.

Mighty Army Capitulates Before Grizzled Rancher

By DOUG EARLY

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—When the sun broke over the Sacramento rim in New Mexico on Feb. 20, the troops were in position.

Jeep patrols roved the cow pasture, setting calves to bawling and stirring dust devils in the dry grass. Armed sentries manned the gates. A radio crackled in the canvas command post beside a vacant ranch house.

Moving with ponderous authority, the United States Army had come to occupy the property it long had possessed in name only. At stake were 28,000 acres of grassland, counted among the finest in New Mexico. Condemned by federal court action July 1, 1956, the land "devolved" to army title for expansion of its big McGregor missile range.

Between the army and outright ownership stood 80-year-old John Prather, who believed his life was not too great a sacrifice to defend the ranch he lovingly called his birthright. In his relentless cold war with the military, he had rejected a $100,000 condemnation award, routed federal marshals bent on evicting him and disdained the army's "no trespassing" signs.

The army's Feb. 20 offensive struck a strategic blow. Its battle lines formed around the 160-acre fenced pasture enclosing the well and ranch house of Mrs. Mary Toy, Prather's housekeeper for 16 years. Jointly owned and operated by Prather and the 60-year-old widow, the ranch lies close to the heart of the prosperous cattle operation. Although Mrs. Toy seldom occupied the house, the water well served a vital need in a country where the nearest permanent water is 1,000 costly feet straight down.

At 10 a.m., a civilian range rider set out for the Prather ranch headquarters, four miles away, to deliver an ultimatum. For reasons of its own, the army addressed its grievance to Mrs. Toy.

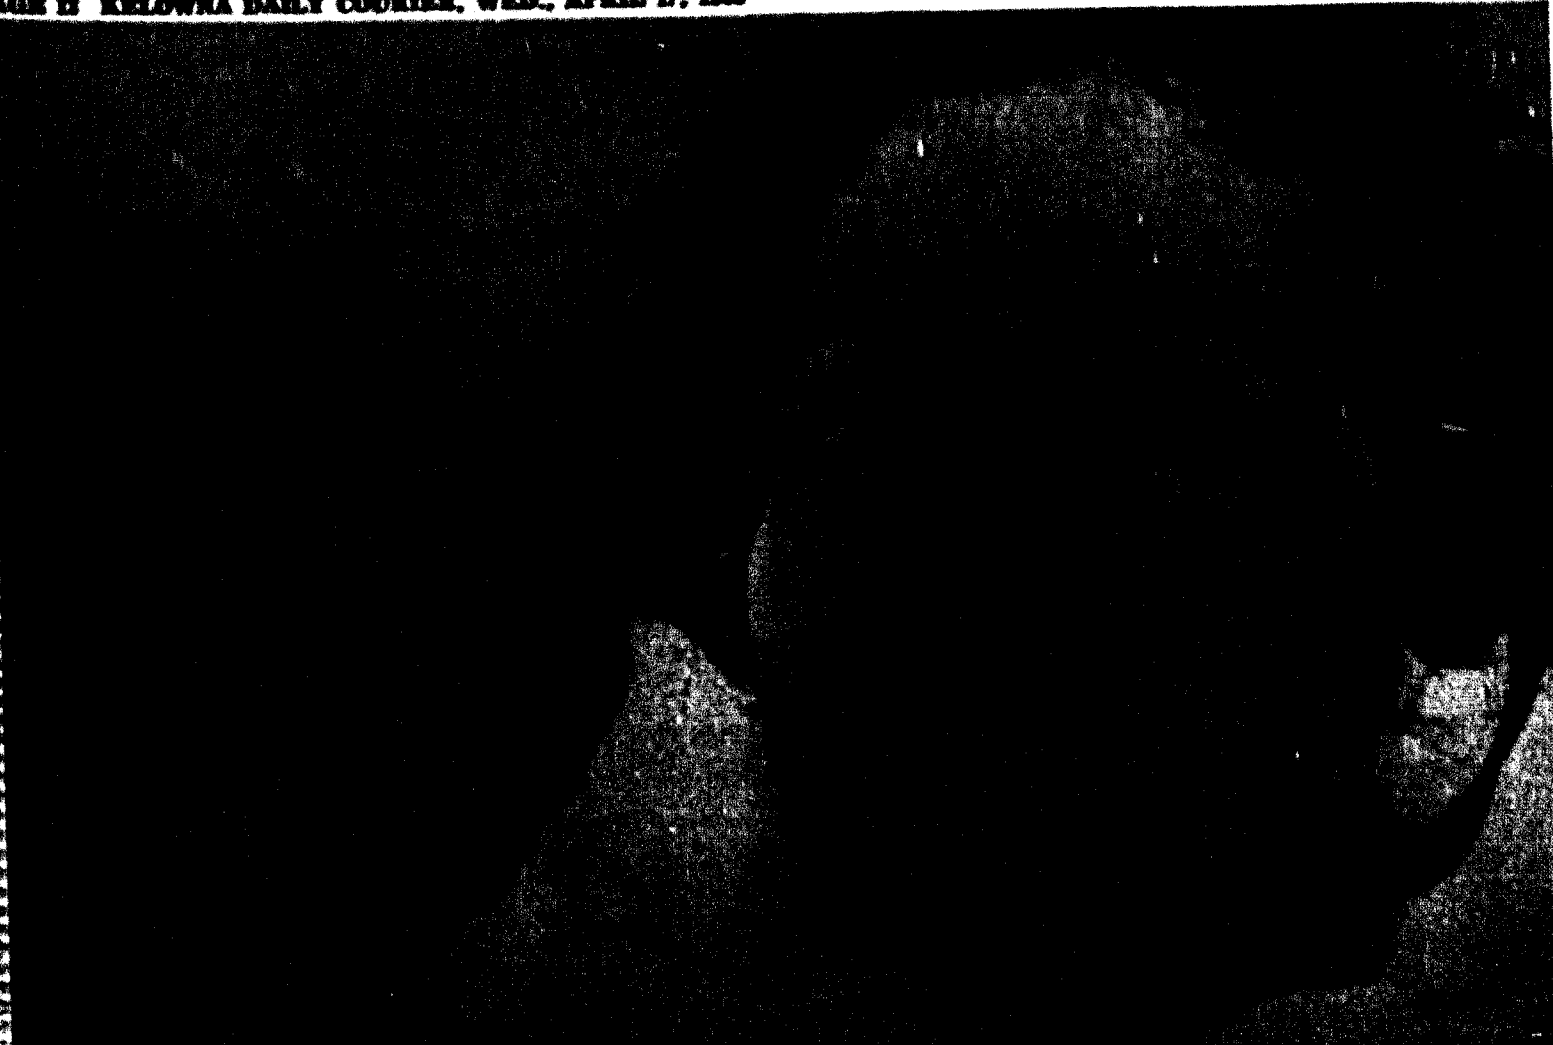

Excerpts from the letter, later released to the press, spelled out the army's case:

"You and your agents . . . have definitely trespassed and committed depredation . . . in an area where your safety is almost constantly involved. . . . You and any and all of your agents are ordered not to hereafter enter onto McGregor range. . . . Mrs. Toy refused to accept the letter. But Prather sensed trouble. With his son-in-law, Hart Gaba, he followed the courier to the gates of the ranch. Three armed sentries barred the road, forbidding the two to pass. Despite Prather's plea that the cattle needed attention, the sentries remained adamant. The old rancher then delivered his own ultimatum to an officer. "You'd better find out just how far them Fort Bliss generals aim to carry this foolishness. . . . And if you don't have the nerve for a shooting job, you'd better be gone when I get back. I'm coming back, and when I do I'm going through this gate, come hell or high water." The word of a showdown spread quickly. By daylight Feb. 21, the Prather ranch house buzzed with activity. Relatives arrived, and between flurries of greetings, the rancher relaxed before the fireplace, reminiscing with reporters.

"Sixteen years ago, she came to me asking for a job. She had 60 cents in her pocket and a few old clothes in a paper sack. She kept my house, worked stock, mended fences and kept building a little herd of her own. Now the army says she's through. And you call that justice?" At 11 a.m. a caravan of ranch wagons trailed down the dirt road to the Toy ranch. Two jeeps stood bumper-to-bumper at the roadblock. A young lieutenant and two sergeants with carbines watched warily as Prather and Mrs. Toy approached. "Lieutenant, I hoped it wouldn't come to this," Prather said. The lieutenant's answer was lost in a gust of cold wind. "I don't want to kill any of you boys, because I know you've been given a dirty job to do." The old man's voice rose angrily. "You may come in, sir," the lieutenant said. "I am sorry if we have inconvenienced you, but we had our orders, you know." Prather and Mrs. Toy spent an hour in the pasture, checking the water tank and the stock. Then they returned to the home ranch. The army's unexpected capitulation was not complete enough to satisfy the belligerent rancher, for the army clung to its pledge to bar Mrs. Toy from her house. "Don't you worry, Mary," Prather told his housekeeper. "We'll go back tomorrow, and if they haven't brought reinforcements you'll go in your house." On Feb. 22, the cycle turned full for the embattled rancher. He returned with Mrs. Toy, to be greeted by Maj. Gen. Sam C. Russell, commanding general of Fort Bliss. The general hewed hard to the safety line, warning of the dangers of falling target planes and missile fragments.

HE'LL CHANGE THINGS

Little Man Pins Faith In Castro

The Castro revolution is at a crisis. To find out the situation today, William L. Ryan, Associated Press news analyst, went into the provinces and interviewed scores of Cubans. This is one of a series.

By WILLIAM RYAN

CIEGO de AVILA, Cuba (AP)—Fidel doesn't know. It can't be known what is going on in Cuba. When Fidel knows, he will change things.

So speaks a little man who has been hurt, one who still clings to faith and hope in the Cuban revolution.

But more and more, in educated circles, those who had such faith are being disillusioned.

In the home of a man who once fought with Fidel Castro against the Fulgencio Batista dictatorship, I watched former 26th of July Movement revolutionaries jeer bitterly as their one-time hero and idol shouted and gesticulated before television cameras.

In the home of a middle-class businessman I heard the curses for Fidel, muttered by one who once sent supplies to mountain hideouts of the embattled Fidelistas.

On a city street corner I had a brief rendezvous with a man who once was a 26th officer. The meeting lasted only until two over-casual characters sauntered toward us. "Informers," whispered the former revolutionary, leaving quickly.

In one town I arrange a meeting with a group of business leaders. The meeting failed to come off. Only one man was at the appointed place. "It's cancelled," he whispered. "We're afraid."

Under the Castro government's rule, Cuba, sometimes seemed haunted.

The man who cuts sugar cane and the mill worker still believe to come in and kill us," he says echoing a propaganda line. Actually there is barely a platoon of marines at the naval base the United States leases from Cuba under treaty.

The Cuban businessman is afraid. How long can he support his family when laws, regulations and arbitrary seizures are crowding him to the wall?

Even moderate elements are afraid. Some sense bloodshed in the offing. They have been told: "There is no neutrality — either you are all 'for us or all against us."

Hundreds in tense Camaguey province have been grabbed in roundups. Jails are being filled with those who spoke or acted out of turn. American consular authorities are kept busy aiding Americans jailed on the flimsiest of excuses.

Ciego de Avila loves fiestas and gaiety. Now the city of 45,000 is subdued. Six months ago at least 80 per cent of its men would fight anyone anywhere, if Fidel said the word. Today, one hears, it is doubtful if more than 20 per cent would do so willingly.

The town is bullied by 300 picked Communists.

A professional man who was with Castro in the mountains during the revolution says now: "Every possible solution leads to a dead end, and there is hardly a decent man left in the government. The outlook is black."
