DOWN SHE GOES!

The abandoned Italian freighter Blackout sank into the Pacific 600 miles north west of Midway after its 27 Greek crewmen were rescued by the military transport ship General Walker. The ship was en route from Vancouver, B.C. to Japan when the ran into heavy seas and developed two cracks in her hull. This picture became available to day with the arrival in Honolulu of an American sailor, G. L. Maise, who made them from a Navy tug which tracked down the ship in low visibility.

China Says Soviet Joins In Plot of Encirclement

TOKYO (AP)—China accuses the Soviet Union of joining the United States, India and Japan in forming a ring of encirclement around China. It said a Soviet-American alliance was disclosed in the Communist press in the talks held between U.S. and Soviet leaders in Moscow. President Hubert H. Humphrey said the Soviet Union is to unite with the United States and the rest of the world in a "revolutionary" alliance against the Chinese Communist party. The article said China will cooperate with the Russians in their "revolutionary" struggle in other parts of Asia.

$17 Million Payment To Quebec 'Neither Victory Nor Defeat'

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said today a $17,000,000 cash payment to Quebec for the 1966-67 academic year is a change but represents neither a "victory nor a defeat." Mr. Pearson was questioned in the Commons by Opposition Leader Diefenbaker over Quebec Premier Lesage's state within our jurisdiction it is for the grant was unimportant and for no one else to establish and is "a precedent of the resources." The prime minister read from a letter he sent all premiers about the increased operating grants to universities, and in the same letter he said he was talking about the money to be used by the Quebec government.

NEWS IN A MINUTE

U.S. Bomber Downed In North Viet Nam

SAIGON (Reuters)—U.S. authorities today reported the loss of another bomber over North Viet Nam, the ninth American aircraft to be shot down since the resumption of the American offensive Jan. 31.

Drug-Makers In 'Shameful Conspiracy'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Russell B. Long has charged that five major U.S. drug manufacturers have engaged in a "treacherous and shameful" international conspiracy to fix the prices of so-called wonder drugs. "Since 1951," the Louisiana Democrat said in a Senate speech Thursday, "these conspirators have been victimizing all of us."

Arsenal Of Weapons Seized In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal police are holding five men and an arsenal of weapons including bombs, hose dynamite, sub-machine-guns and face and head-masks following raids which also netted $32,000 in counterfeit $20 bills.

Father Survives; Children Killed

ELYSIAN, Minn. (AP)—A southern Minnesota farmer watched, helpless, as fire destroyed his home today, killing his five children. The first firemen on the scene said flames were shooting from windows on both floors of the frame home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Sotering, a bout three miles northwest of Elysin. Dead are James, 14; Larry, 12; Connie, 10; Mike, 7, and Susan, 22 months. Firemen quoted Sotering as saying he awoke to find smoke and intense heat in his first-floor bedroom and was forced out of the house before he could get to the children's rooms.

Fruit Tree Damage Reviewed

VICTORIA (CP)—Charles Carter, chief British Columbia horticulturist, said Thursday the full extent of damage caused by severe frost during the winter of 1964-65 may not be known for several years. Harvest hit were peaches and other soft fruit. Apple trees appeared to fare better. Mr. Carter said, but complete extent of damage will not be known until sap rises in the trees this spring. Even if damage to apple trees

Robbery Story 'Fabricated'

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—David Louis Harrison, 37, testified Thursday he fabricated a story of his part in a $106,608 Burnaby bank robbery on Christmas Eve of 1962. Harrison, a former Vancouver policeman, took the witness stand in his own defence for more than two hours. He said he lied about his involvement in the robbery to impress two underworld characters. Harrison, charged with the robbery and with possessing $6,500 of the stolen money, said he was interested in obtaining counterfeit money from Johnnie Clark and Robert D. Brooks when he made the admission in a Kamloops hotel room. Clark, court was told Wednesday, was actually RCMP undercover man Cpl. Allen J. Richards and Brooks a police informer. Cpl. Richards made a tape recording of the conversation, which was played for the court Wednesday. In the recording, Harrison said he had participated in the robbery as driver of the getaway car and that the late Leonard Hogue and Joseph Percival, both former Vancouver policemen, planned the robbery. Harrison told the court he admitted the robbery to Cpl. Richards and Brooks because it was necessary for him to change them he was of the criminal element.

Rebel Writer States Case

MOSCOW (AP)—Rebel writer Andrei D. Sinyavsky today defended his works before a Russian court by arguing that they were purely literary and non-political. Tax news agency, reporting on the second day of his trial, said that "however, the facts convict him." Sinyavsky and another writer, Yuli M. Daniel, face seven years in prison plus five years of Siberian exile on charges of "anti-Soviet propaganda" in works smuggled to the West. They pleaded not guilty at the opening day of the trial Thursday. The court is closed to Western newspapermen. The government said that a selection was read from a literary study, Sudden Thoughts, in which Sinyavsky called the Russians "a nation of thieves and drunkards, incapable of creating culture."

Blue Movies Nabbed By Colombo Police

COLOMBO (AP)—Police raided a house in this Ceylonese capital Thursday night and seized a collection of dirty movies, a U.S. information Service projector and an audience of 10. Police said the projector had been borrowed from the U.S. embassy for the showing of "cultural films."

Girl, 7, Slain Youth Held

CENTRAL SAANICH (CP)—A seven-year-old girl was found on the rock bluff by a neighbor, Hugh Stanberg, who said local children suggested searching a trail sometimes used by children as a route to and from school. He said he was alone when he left the path and found the girl's body on the ledge. "I shouted for someone to get the police," he said. "As luck would have it, Dr. I. F. DeStrube was just having his coffee." The doctor was at the girl's side within minutes of her discovery but was unable to revive her. Local police were joined by RCMP, a tracking dog and 25 members of the Central Saanich Volunteer Fire Department in the search for the slayer. The youth was arrested by Central Saanich police during the evening and taken to headquarters for questioning. At the girl's home, the parents of the victim were under arrest after twice being visited by the family doctor.

Ontario Police Seek Kidnappers Of 40-Year-Old Housewife

TORONTO (CP)—Shotgun-armed police have launched an Ontario-wide search for three convicts wanted for the kidnaping Thursday of a suburban Scarborough woman. Mrs. Evelyn Forsyth, 40, was forced off the road shortly before noon and two men carrying rifles ordered her to follow their companion in another car. They drove to Thornhill, north of Toronto, where the first car, stolen Thursday near Peterborough, was abandoned. Mrs. Forsyth was taken to hospital in Barrie and put under a doctor's care.

Record Spending, Revenues But Balanced Result Sought

VICTORIA (CP)—A balanced British Columbia budget combining a heady mixture of tax cuts and an increase in the homeowner grant with record expenditures and revenues was introduced in the legislature today by Premier and Finance Minister Bennett. A change in bookkeeping method that brings in federal payments to the province produced record revenues and expenditure figures for the coming year in excess of $650,000,000. Under the previous method the figures are still approaching the $550,000,000 mark, far and away the largest in the province's history. The budget provides for a small surplus. At the same time Mr. Bennett announced increased aid to municipalities, schools, universities, education in general, elimination of the five per cent sales tax on such divergent things as newspapers and meals, elimination of some property taxes. Other items included government investment in its own Pacific Great Eastern Railway and elimination of the debt of the B.C. Ferry Authority.

Unprecedented Prosperity Sighted

In his 5,000-word address Mr. Bennett said: "British Columbia is emerging into a period of unprecedented prosperity, growth and expansion." He said the province is advancing at a rate never before imagined and each year sees new records in capital investment, in production of goods and services, and in personal incomes. The premier changed his method of bookkeeping to put B.C. in line with the other provinces. He said in the past it has been impossible to compare budgets because the province used "net" figures instead of "total" figures that included federal government payments to the province. He estimated that the "total" expenditures for the year starting April 1 will be $637,282,000 and "total" revenues will be $659,782,000 for a surplus of $2,500,000. He said if the fiscal year now ending had been computed in the same manner the increase in expenditures would be $112,659,000 and the increase in revenues $90,528,000. Using the previous "net" method of bookkeeping expenditures total $535,354,000 compared to $446,001,000 estimated for the year now ending for an increase of $89,353,000. "Net" earnings will be $537,227,000 compared to $447,227,000 for the year now ending.

French Fail In Orbit Bid

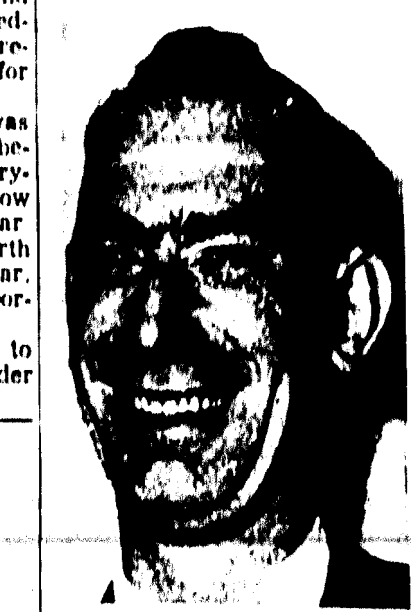

HAMMAGUIR, Algeria (AP)—A mechanical failure today caused a delay of at least 24 hours in the launching of an all-French scientific satellite from the base at the edge of the Sahara. A Diamant three-stage rocket had been poised to hurl the satellite into orbit at 10 a.m. (4 a.m. EST) today. After four countdown delays, the launch was reset for noon. Later it was postponed until Saturday. Officials said that an electrical cable failed to detach itself and repairs could not be made in time for a launch today. Another Diamant missile successfully hurled France's first satellite into orbit from Hammaguir last Nov. 26. That launch was announced as a test of the Diamant which worked perfectly. The satellite sent back temperature reports, but its radio went dead after a few hours. It is expected to circle the earth for 50 years or more.

U.K. Rail Strike May Be Averted

LONDON (AP)—The executive committee of the railway workers union voted again today to go out on strike throughout Britain—but by a margin of only one vote. The vote of 12 to 11 came after three hours of closed debate by union leaders and an appeal by the government to reconsider. With the strike deadline set for Sunday night, the narrowness of the vote still left open the possibility that the government could play its last card—the prestige of Prime Minister Wilson himself.

B.C. BOOSTER

H. K. (Bob) Gordon, co-ordinator of the Visitor and Convention Bureau of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce, has been appointed B.C. representative for the Pacific Northwest Travel Association booth at the Los Angeles Sport Show. The event is scheduled for March 25 to April 3 and his expenses to the show will be paid by the travel association. He was congratulated by the chamber executive Thursday on being selected by a Victoria committee.

Chamber Here Gets Green Light For '66 Spending

City council has given tentative approval of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce 1966 budget which totals $110,000. The budget, which includes a $10,000 increase in administrative costs, was approved by a 6-2 vote of the council. The budget is expected to rise with the added cost of telephone and telegraph services which are expected to rise with the added cost of industrial development work. The chamber's secretary-manager, Jim Donald, is combining his work with that of industrial commissioner for the city.

The budget is $110,000 compared to $100,000 in 1965. It includes $4,000 for brochures, maps and gifts; $2,500 on promotion, advertising, convention and special events; and $3,500 for general purposes in 1965 city grants totaling $12,500.

Estimated revenue in 1966 is $109,600, which includes $18,000 in membership dues. Last year's membership dues were $17,155.

All-Out Membership Drive May Include Resident Travellers

The Kelowna Chamber of Commerce will make an effort to have 200 new members in 1966. The chamber is planning a membership drive which will include resident travellers. A suggestion by W. J. H. Bullman, chairman of the committee, is to create a new category for travellers who visit with a set amount for dues. The chamber has a free structure aimed at charging members according to their status and the benefits derived. A basic membership is $25 and individual membership for a business is $50. Mr. Bullman said he thought the membership drive would be successful. The membership committee has completed a list of 1965 members and separated them into categories.

Check Your Winter Tires Before Heading Through Pass

Winter has returned to upper level highways with up to eight inches of new snow reported on Rogers Pass. The department of highways in Kelowna said today good winter tires are necessary in most areas reporting snow and slush should be used.

The road to Big White has been closed for a week and a half. Highway 10 is closed with slushy sections north of Vernon. The Kelowna-Blairsville road is in good winter condition with compact snow at the summit.

The Hope-Princeton highway received two to four inches of fresh snow. Princeton to Princeton is mostly bare with some slushy sections.

The Fraser Canyon near Hope has two inches of new snow and rain at Boston Bar.

Cars Collide, No One Hurt

No injuries were reported from an accident at the intersection of Lion Ave and Water St. at 12:25 p.m. Thursday. Drivers involved were Edward Thibault, 451 Riverside Ave. and Lawrence Bennett, 1368 Cherry Creek. Police said damages were $250.

Workshop Opens For Rec. Leaders

More than 120 people are expected at the V. S. Matheson school at 7 p.m. today, to attend the start of the Recreation Leader's Workshop. The workshop, which is sponsored by the provincial department of recreation and the Kelowna recreation department, will run until 10 p.m. today and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday. The course offered ranges from teenage culture to pottery, and ceramics. The people attending come from all points in the Okanagan and some from the Central Interior. A banquet will be held for those attending at 6 p.m. Saturday.

W. L. Arthur, who started with the Royal Bank of Canada in Kelowna in 1937, was recently promoted to supervisor of 11 branches in Alberta. He is the president of the Kelowna branch of the Royal Bank. Presentations were made by the bank, who now lives in Edmonton, worked his way up the ladder in New Westminster, Saskatoon and Alberta. His previous position was branch manager in Edmonton.

Smile, you're on candid camera. Ian Collinsworth, city traffic officer, was busy notifying cars in parking lots on Kelowna streets recently, when he found himself looking into the lens of a television camera. It was KING studios of Seattle, here at the suggestion of R. K. Car Club association convention Gordon of the Visitor and Convention bureau of the chamber. Anyone having anything to do of commerce, to film the White and other tourist attractions.

With March being Red Cross Month nationally, local society workers in Kelowna are preparing an answer for the perennial question which complains about how much of the Red Cross budget is spent on advertising. The answer is, "A lot," says an officer of the society.

The South Okanagan Health Unit at Kelowna is hoping to set up a demon-trator-model "health care" unit during the month of March. It will have 10 to 20 booths at what has been a traditional market on the waterfront. The booths will be set up in the area of the waterfront, including a booth for a "health care" unit. The booth will be set up in the area of the waterfront, including a booth for a "health care" unit.

JUST BEFORE THE BALL

Three Kelowna men are getting into condition for the Junior Hospital Auxiliary Charity Ball tonight at the Aquatic. Theme is Night in the Caribbean. The trio is part of the floor show, doing a Calypso number. They are, from the left, David Bakes who will act as master of ceremonies, Michael Roberts and Dr. Russell Ferguson.

Weekend Show on Deck At Rutland High School

The audience will be right on board HMS Pinafote at Rutland Secondary School, even before the curtain goes up next Friday and Saturday, Feb. 18 and 19. Even though they are on board a ship, the audience is guaranteed not to get seasick. They will be just as comfortable as they would be if they were seated in the gymnasium of the school. Matter of fact, that's where they will be.

The girls have been transformed into a ship complete with forecastle, quarter-deck and rigging.

The concert band will be seated on one deck and specially constructed stair cases off the front of the stage gives the leads and choruses new freedom to present Gilbert and Sullivan's light-hearted opera. The girls will be the main deck with the leadwain and crew as they attempt to outwit their captain.

In the background, other frigates of Her Majesty's Navy lie at anchor in Portmouthe, while Hattercup comes aboard the Pinafote to undo the knots in the tangled skein of true love.

A Good Year For Scouting Director Tells Banquet Guests

District scouting recorded a successful year in 1965, with a record number of badges won and camping and hiking boots recorded. "Your cooperation has helped us to lay the foundation for this year's responsible citizenship in adult life," he said. High Earle, president of the Interior Region, called on district associations to provide training courses for scout and club leaders.

"It is your responsibility to provide the necessary funds, the camp sites and make the arrangements needed," he said. He asked for a volunteer to assist the district council.

Bert Mitchell, district scout leader, said a scout will be selected to represent the Central Okanagan at the Scout Jamboree in Penitence in July.

Harold Willett, cubmaster, said a scout team on cub training will be shown on TV, Feb. 22 from 7:30 to 8 p.m. He said he will be in the work of cub leader Howard Hornback.

IT'S MAGIC Entertainment after the meeting was provided by Douglas Forsythe and Robert Krueger with a magician and memory act. Two films were shown on wildlife in the Rockies and saddle making in High River, Alta.

Mrs. Betty McEae and Mrs. Carol Chatham convened the dinner, provided by the mothers.

30 Art Lovers Hear Poetry Here

A total of 20 people filled the Art Centre in Kelowna Thursday to hear young Canadian poet Jurgen Gotte give a reading on the eve of his departure for Vancouver. His selection covered a wide range of contemporary writing including some of his own selections. Zeljko Kujundzic, who acted as host, said the response to the first poetry reading was good and another session is being planned.

Some Snowfall Due In District

The weatherman predicted Thursday the sun was only temporary, and he was right. In the Okanagan, Lillooet and South Thompson it is cloudy, with a few snowflurries in the north and showers in the south, ending early this afternoon. It will clear this evening and be sunny with a few cloudy periods on Saturday.

It will be cold tonight, with winds south at 15, gusting to 25 in the main valleys.

The low tonight and high Saturday at Penitence and Lytton, 25 and 40 and at Kamloops, 20 and 30.

Kelowna's temperatures Thursday were higher than one year ago. The reading this year was 35 and 29, while in 1965 it was 32 and 16.

Soft-Pedal Trouble Chamber Advised

Ald. J. W. Bedford has come up with a new theory on how to get along with the provincial government and obtain better co-operation. He told an executive meeting of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce Thursday, he would like to "play down" controversial quotes on pollution and adopt a "sit down and discuss" policy with the Pollution Control Board in Victoria.

"We know we have pollution and they know it," he said. "Let's not get their backs up anymore."

Ald. Bedford is chairman of the Okanagan Pollution Control committee which recently asked Victoria to define what legal status the group here has to enforce control regulations.

The comment was sparked by a suggestion at the meeting the chamber bring in a controversial speaker on pollution for a future general meeting.

NOT SO MEEK

Mr. Bedford's "nod on the water" policy was not as meek as it first appeared.

"We are seeing Victoria fully informed and are making a list of all our correspondence with respect to the board," he said. "If after six months or so we are not getting answers or the help we asked, we will go to our members, W. A. C. Bennett. We will have something to show him that we have grounds for complaint," he said.

The Okanagan committee represents 11 communities containing some 60,000 people. "Our action now is to control existing pollution in our area. We are telling new industries to set aside money to ensure adequate disposal of their waste products."

Kelowna Doing Good Job Speaker Tells Industry Parley

Kelowna received a pat on the back from officials at the Okanagan Industrial Development Training Seminar held recently in Vernon for the quick efficient manner in which the city organized its industrial program.

K. F. Harding told a chamber meeting Thursday the equipment value from Tom McLoughlin, a speaker from the Maritime.

Reporting on the Vernon two-day seminar, C. W. Billy Gaddes said those attending were told a community must be aware of what it has to offer before it can begin selling. Resources should be catalogued.

"The first step in selling your area as a site for new industries is to identify a group of responsible citizens for the production of industrial work."

MIST OTHERS

Data on the community is compiled showing rates, taxes and services available. Members of the industrial committee should meet with others engaged in similar fields.

"A list should be made of companies and industries likely to move to this community. The speaker said small manufacturers should not overlook, nor expansion of existing industries.

"Members attending the seminar were told concessions to new industries are not an important factor. Planning and zoning are important and should be on a long-term basis.

"The community should initiate an educational program. Speakers recommended giving their industrial commissioner a free hand because city staff and planners often chase industrial prospects away with the wrong comments."

T. L. Manley, who also attended the seminar, said he thought more value could be realized for the industrial promotion dollar if communities worked together and thus avoided duplication.

Mr. Gaddes said Penitence has a $50,000 industrial promotion budget and Kelowna has $5,000.

Board Studies Traffic Light At Crossing

The possibility of installing a pedestrian-traffic control light near the Dr. Knox Secondary School was received with mixed feelings at Thursday's meeting of the board of trustees of School District 23 (Kelowna).

Several letters have been written between the board and the Kelowna city council discussing the proposed light on Highway 97, in the Birch Road area.

The correspondence indicated the light would require supervision by someone other than a member of the regular school traffic patrol and the BC government would not consider installing the light until such supervision was guaranteed.

The light, operated by hand with a person or group wishing to cross, would be installed by the department of highways and locked by the department during non-school hours.

W. L. B. Walker, principal of the Dr. Knox school, was asked to conduct a survey on the number of crossings and report back to the board.

General discussion of the matter was referred to committee.

Several Pass Music Tests

The following are successful candidates in examinations held recently by the Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto in Kelowna.

Mrs. Gordon Hartley received honors in ARCT singing and written, in Grade V theory, form, Sharon Tanemura passed with honors while Greta Rojem received a pass.

Richard Thrisk passed Grade IV theory, harmony and counterpoint while John Peters and Jane Borden passed harmony.

In Grade III theory, harmony and history, Bernard Hebbell passed while Joan Yokota, Geraldine Sanders, Cynthia Taylor, Donald Greening, Maureen Taylor, Shirley Givens and Mary Moore received first class honors in Grade II theory.

First class honors in Grade I theory went to Eileen Neld, Dale Gillis and Gloria Dreher.

Wrong Passing Brings $100 Fine

A Kelowna man was fined $100 and costs or 30 days imprisonment when he pleaded guilty to a charge of passing when unsafe, when he appeared in magistrate's court Thursday.

William Tamaka, 1832 Lequime St., pleaded guilty to the charge which arose after an accident on Highway 97, near the airport, on Sunday.

Brian Wayne Lucas, Stetson Village, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving contrary to restrictions on his driver's license and was fined $25 and costs or seven days.

Walter "Julius" Gray, Speers Rd., pleaded guilty to a charge of driving without motor vehicle insurance and was fined $25 and costs or 14 days.

Frank Apelin, 1231 Kelgin Cres., pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding and was fined $35 and costs or 14 days.

Ivan Brewster, 1010 Richter St., paid a voluntary penalty of $25 on a charge of speeding.

Firemen Extinguish Small Chimney Fire

The Kelowna Volunteer Fire Brigade answered a call at 9 p.m. today to a house on Lytton Rd. to extinguish a chimney fire.

Firemen said the blaze was checked before it could do any damage.

WELL DONE

William Cleaver, president of the Boy Scout District Council, received congratulations on his work Wednesday from Hugh Earle, president of the Interior Region. "Mr. Cleaver is doing a magnificent job," Mr. Earle said. He asked for a volunteer to assist Mr. Cleaver in his scouting work.

DEER DEPARTED

George LaPorte, Penitence, reported to RCMP at 6:45 a.m. that a deer had been struck by a truck on Highway 97. The deer was not damaged. The deer was destroyed.

District Teachers, Students Take Day Off For Convention

Schools in the Kelowna district will close Feb. 23 to permit teachers to attend the Okanagan Valley Teachers' convention in Penitence, Friday and Saturday.

Theme of the convention is "Change." Dr. William C. Gibson, head of the department of history of medicine and science at UBC, will speak on changes in education.

Dr. Laurence William Downey, chairman of educational administration at UBC, will discuss changes in education.

Third speaker is Gerard Morris, assistant general manager of the Vancouver Board of Trade, who will discuss the changes industry requires of education.

The convention committee hopes to develop the theme of change by showing the inter-relationship between the student and education, and industry.

Dr. Gibson holds an arts degree from UBC, a master's degree in experimental medicine from McGill and a doctor of philosophy from Oxford (1938).

He served four years in high altitude research laboratories of the RCAF and studied with Dr. Wilder Penfield at the Montreal Neurological Institute. He taught at the university of Marcellus, Maudsley hospital in London, Yale university in Spain, Australia and California.

Dr. Downey wrote nine books and numerous articles for periodicals and for other books. He took his bachelor's degree in B.C. and his PhD at Chicago. He was staff associate and assistant professor at the University of Chicago from 1957-1960. The next two years he was associate professor of education administration at the University of Alberta. In 1962-1963 he was professor and head of the department of secondary education. He served as academic consultant for the West Kootenay regional college.

Mr. Morris spent 15 years with the Royal Bank of Canada before he joined the Vancouver Board of Trade in 1942. He has served all departments of the board and has held the position of assistant general manager for some years.

RESPONSIBILITY

He handles general administration and finance, and has direct responsibility for the Industrial Relations Committee, and New Industries Development Committee.

He is now director of the chamber of commerce executives of Canada, a member of the board of directors of the B.C. Work Study School and the recently served as executive secretary of the Sales and Marketing Executives of Vancouver. His duties have taken him to the U.S., across Canada and into 15 European and Asian countries.

Any Law Must Be Upheld As Long As It Is Law

What started out as a small strike in Oshawa, Ontario, has developed into a situation with national implications. The dispute in Oshawa is between the Oshawa Times and a portion of a union of 30 members, over the terms of a contract which was being negotiated. The reason for the strike and the strike itself have been all but obscured by the much larger issue of organized labor's blatant and forceful rejection of a legally constituted court and its ruling.

When the newspaper union went on strike and set up picket lines, it was joined by other Oshawa unions, notably the United Automobile Workers, which threw up picket lines of upwards to a thousand persons around the plant.

The newspaper sought and obtained an injunction from a judge limiting the number of pickets at the building to a level at which they could inform and educate but not obstruct. Union officials were informed of the injunction in writing and the municipal sheriff read it to the thousand men on the picket line. He was snubbed and the injunction order was snatched from him and torn up. The unions have continued their mass picketing.

They are defying the law and the courts. Certainly they are in contempt of court.

There can be little doubt that all those involved knew what the injunction meant and knew what was expected of them. The defiance of the law was not sudden impulse, it was not spontaneous. It was deliberate and it was planned.

Obviously, it was not the newspaper strike which was the primary concern of the labor unions. It was but the excuse to start a battle with the purpose of removing from law any process which can in any way limit picketing in any industrial dispute. They hope to remove restrictions of mass picketing and thus ensuring that any struck plant is a closed plant. They hope to deny, by force and numbers, the rights of others to work if they wish. In Oshawa, mass picketing prevented the newspaper's mechanical staffs from working as they had been instructed by their own unions.

It may be that there is some merit in the unions' opposition to court injunctions, but this was immaterial in the Oshawa situation. Injunctions are part of our legal process and until they are repealed they are part of the court procedure and should be—must be—respected as such. Unless there is no respect for law and order, unless there is a desire to break down the whole structure of orderly life.

The law—any law—may be a bad law, but it is a law and as such should be obeyed until it is repealed by the proper authorities. But in Oshawa labor has served notice that it has no intention of waiting for the law makers, it has taken the law into its own hands by sheer force of numbers.

Another aspect of this Oshawa dispute must be of interest to all Canadians. Representatives of the New Democratic Party, in both the House of Commons in Ottawa and in the Ontario Legislature in Toronto, condoned the action of the labor unions in Oshawa. In effect, these men have said they and their party approve the unions' complete disregard of the law.

One would expect a political party seeking to gain the confidence of the Canadian people who recognize its responsibilities to the Canadian people and certainly one of those responsibilities is to uphold law and order. But the NDP apparently does not take this stand, it has chosen to support its friends who believe that might and numbers are right, regardless of the law. It is one thing to give sympathetic support, it is quite another thing to support those who flagrantly flout the law.

In Canada we have the right to argue that laws are bad, we have the right to defend ourselves in court. But if we take it into our own hands to defy the courts, and if we are permitted to do so, we must recognize that we are approaching chaos and anarchy. Oshawa in Ontario may appear to be far distant from British Columbia, but nevertheless, in that city occurred things which should cause concern to every person in this country who believes that we should be governed by the orderly process of law and not by chaos and anarchy.

Doctor - Drain From Britain Develops Into Hemorrhage

LONDON (CP)—The steadily increasing flow of doctors emigrating from Britain—mainly to North America—could develop into a serious hemorrhage for the ailing National Health Service, particularly in crowded industrial areas vital to the economy.

In the two years up to Oct. 31, 1965, it has been estimated, England and Wales lost 322 family doctors, or roughly the number serving a city the size of Liverpool, England's third largest city with a population of 750,000. In Scotland the figure from June 1964 to December, 1965, was 73—about 3 1/2 per cent of the country's family doctors.

The United States, Canada and Australia ranked first among the emigrants, with about 30 per cent going to underdeveloped countries.

"If each of these doctors had a patient list of 2,500, the national average, you can see the size of the burden thrown on to the ones who stay behind," said a spokesman for the Medical Practitioners' Union, Britain's medical trade union which was the driving force behind the still active battle for better health service salaries.

Union Secretary Dr. Sidney Greaves, writing in the fortnightly newsletter, Medicine in World, says the decline in manpower is a threat "not only to the existence of the health service but to the health and well-being of our community."

With a yearly emigration loss of one-quarter of the output of Britain's medical schools, the average age of the family doctor is rising, says Dr. Greaves. The low pensions offered to doctors who joined the health service at its start in 1948, halfway through their careers, also persuade many elderly doctors to delay their retirement.

A dramatic example of the plight of many industrial centres is shown by the Rhondda Valley, the dour, depressed coal-mining heart of South Wales. Here, a population of 100,000 is being looked after by only 58 family doctors—of whom one is 92 years old, one 77 and nine aged between 60 and 70. One Rhondda doctor has 5,000 patients on his list.

Similar situations exist in north-country industrial cities. Adding to the problem is the fact that industrial centres—which have a higher incidence of illness than clean rural surroundings—offer few incentives to young doctors putting up their brass plate and establishing a home.

Canada's share of the emigration flow of British doctors shows a steady rise over the last three years—from 220 in 1963 to 243 in 1964 to an estimated 300 in 1965. These figures embrace both physicians and surgeons, specialists and family doctors. A conservative guess by Canadian immigration officials in London puts the number of health service doctors emigrating at "more than

Know Your Money?

Next Monday Australia will switch its monetary system from pounds sterling, shillings and pence to dollars and cents. When the new bills are issued they will be in bright colors with illustrations featuring Australian history, culture and antiquity.

Reading a news item to this effect, a Kelowna reader began to wonder just what is on the back of Canadian bills. He asked three people and not one could describe the back of any of our bills.

Checking he found that the dollar bill carries a bleak prairie scene; the two-dollar bill an Ontario farm scene; the five-dollar a braiding mountain stream and the ten-dollar a mountain scene and the twenty-dollar a snow scene looking over a valley. He did not go any further than the twenty because he knew he was beyond his financial limit at that point.

But why did he not know about the one and the two, the five and the ten? His explanation is that the bills never stayed in his hand long enough for him to turn them over. About as good an explanation as any.

Germs Hibernate In Re-Frozen Food

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner:

My mother recently set out some frozen chicken broth, let it thaw completely, then changed her mind and put it back in the freezer to use some other time.

I tried to explain that the re-frozen broth would not be safe, but she only argued that she had this with frozen foods all the time and nothing happens. What are the facts?—Mrs. S.J. Heggard.

Regardless of what she thinks she is running a risk. It may be that nothing has happened, or something may have happened, but she didn't know the cause. But something could happen, and you are quite right in saying that thawing and refreezing food can be dangerous.

Freezing can prevent germs from multiplying, yet many germs merely hibernate and become active again when temperature rises. Each thawing—and subsequently until the food is solidly frozen clear through—allows that much more time for germs to increase.

With repeated thawing and refreezing, food can, indeed, spoil. It spoils a little at a time, but it is still spoiled. It also tends to lose flavor, but that's beside the point, I suppose.

Most commercial frozen foods carry a warning not to thaw and then re-freeze. This warning is given because there's a reason. Periodically we read about a meal or picnic at which people are taken ill with "stomach" or food poisoning. In most cases this is traced to food that was allowed to stand—and germs had time to multiply. It happens most readily in warm weather but it can happen any time.

Thawing and refreezing is the same as letting food stand. It may take several days to be the equivalent of standing overnight, but the same total risk exists.

The SAFE rule with any food

U.K. Farmers Fight Wily Little Coypu

NOIWICH, England (CP)—Farmers, river authorities, and gamekeepers in East Anglia are mapping strategy to drive from their land an ugly invader from South America, the destructive coypu.

The coypu, a rat-like aquatic animal known for its reddish-brown fur, has become the scourge of farmland and waterways since Norfolk farmers imported some from South America 30 years ago to breed for their pelts.

Many of the fast-breeding rodents escaped from farm pens and quickly found a comfortable habitat in the streams and marshes of the Norfolk broads, spreading west to Lincolnshire and as far south as the Thames.

The coypu, with orange-colored incisor teeth, lives mainly on land plants but often feeds on water hyacinths. The animal has caused heavy damage to river banks, drainage systems and sugar-beet crops in East Anglia.

Americas' Wealth Contrasts Widely

CHICAGO (AP)—An internationally known economist believes that nowhere in the world is there a greater contrast between rich and poor than there is between North and South America.

Barbara Ward, an economist and lecturer from London, told a conference of religious educationists and lay leaders from the Western Hemisphere Thursday. "It is impossible that such contrasts exist within one family of the Western Hemisphere."

"If you are exceedingly wealthy you have a responsibility, an obligation, to help the underprivileged," Miss Ward told a session of the Roman Catholic Inter-American Cooperation Program, which ends a three-day meeting today.

In answer to how this contrast came about, Miss Ward said: "The north has more or less accomplished the modern revolution of capital science and technology and now enjoys—even if it doesn't wisely use—the vast instruments of wealth—creation locked up in modern power, modern agriculture, modern machines and inventions."

This modern abundance, she said, will flourish only "if a skilled, healthy and reasonably prosperous population has the means to consume all the vast potential of a wealth which the new technology can produce."

wider scheme to bolster world trade and the world's balance of payments."

She said the West should accept the principles of international taxation and give at least one per cent of national income to assist needy nations.

Miss Ward said Western countries are doubly concerned about the success of this plan because: "Peking has served notice on us of its revolutionary intentions and young men speaking modern languages are already organizing in the industrial areas of Peru and Columbia. Besides, we have the direct, indirect responsibility since the investment and those that are not answered are Atlantic to Latin and there!"

"Above all," she said, "we are Christians who believe that God himself lives in the last of these little ones. We cannot leave them in misery and malnutrition while we sit down to eat and rise up to play. If the world is to have any chance of leaving our brothers to a misery which our efforts can help to cure."

Miss Ward, who is married to Cesar Sr. Robert Jackson, has been associated with the Roman Catholic Economic Commission since 1959.

LETTER TO EDITOR

RMPF PLAQUE

I would like to draw to your attention the article appearing in your newspaper Feb. 8 regarding the erection of a monument to plaque in honor of the late Neil Bruce, who died as the result of a wound he had received while in the performance of his duty.

A plaque would be more I agree, but why the council of your city feel it would have to erect a monument to every constable who is killed is rather hard to think that this was a non-sensational statement. Have they not heard of some monument with several names inscribed on it as they were killed in the performance of their duty?

It is this man and all other men of the most respected police forces in the world, are their lives so little to us in meaning, is it so wrong to see the tourists who take in this beautiful city, to stop and read any and all names of our police force, who, in the performance of his duty, was brutally shot down while protecting its citizens?

I think it's about time the council think about this and start their study in the office for 1966 with a good bit of gratitude from its people, rather than be criticized for its lack of compassion.

Respectfully yours,
FRANCIS TOBIAS

LISTS THREE FACTORS

In the creation of the mass market, Miss Ward said, three factors must be considered:

1. Higher wages and abundant rewards for the work done in the economy.
2. Taxation of the wealthy to provide better education, health, housing and urban development.
3. An overall public guarantee of high employment and sustained demand.

In Latin America, she said, the great depression of the 1930s and is not ended. She added: "The prices of primary exports still fluctuate uncertainly; some sections of the local economy have been modernized but others are stagnant; modern benefits can be seen, but they are not shared; there has been no stimulated local investment of capital because capital is wholly owned by foreigners; and on a per capita basis, Latin America earns no more today by her primary exports than she did in the 1930s."

She said by way of answers that "we must apply internally the policies which worked inside our domestic markets."

"The wealthy West should take the steps needed to pay higher prices for primary products," she said.

"The West should, through the International Monetary Fund provide working capital to the developing world as part of a

CANADA'S STORY

Public Execution Thing Of Past

By BOB BOWMAN

The last public execution in Canada took place in Ottawa on Feb. 11, 1869. James Patrick Whelan had been found guilty of murdering Thomas D'Arcy McGee, a Father of Confederation, although he was only 42 years old when he was shot down as he entered his boarding house on Sparks Street.

Whelan protested his innocence to the end, but he was a member of the Fenian organization, D'Arcy McGee, who had been an Irish rebel himself, exposed their activities in the House of Commons, and warned the government that the Fenians were planning to capture Canada.

On the night of his murder, McGee had made a speech in the House of Commons urging Nova Scotia not to withdraw from Confederation. In the federal election in August, anti-Confederationalists had won 17 of the 18 seats in Nova Scotia. Joseph Howe was already in London trying to persuade the British government to amend the B.N.A. Act so Nova Scotia could get out.

D'Arcy McGee's body was found by Will Totten, a page boy in the House of Commons, and he rushed into the office of the Ottawa Times, shouting that McGee had been killed.

Prime Minister Sir John A. Macdonald arrived at the scene shortly after the doctor. It was a shattering experience because McGee had been one of his most able supporters, and closest friends.

Parliament had adjourned for winter holidays, but a special session was held the next day. The House voted an amnesty for McGee's family, and offered $20,000 for the care of the mother.

Spaceship Landed Upon Hard Soil Instead Of Expected Soft Dust

MOSCOW (AP)—In landing on the moon, Luna IX found a hard, porous, volcanic soil instead of the expected soft dust. Soviet scientists had anticipated that deep dust caused by the weight of man-made spacecraft would be found on the moon.

But the major unsolved problem before man can fly to the moon is a system ensuring his safe return, said Mikhail Kel'dysh, president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

Kel'dysh spoke at a 23-hour press conference devoted to the unmanned Soviet satellite Luna IX, which made history's first soft landing on the moon and sent back pictures from the moon's surface. With him was Alexander Vinogradov of the academy, and other scientists.

"Many problems remain to be solved," Kel'dysh said, before man can land on the moon. "The only one that is essential to the achievement of a soft landing on the moon is the problem of returning the cosmonaut to earth."

"I think it is easier to solve the problem of a relatively short stay on the moon than to solve the problem of recovery."

He implied that Luna IX had solved the first key problem—how to land safely on the moon—and once this system is properly modified for manned flight, the emphasis in the Soviet program will shift to the recovery problem.

But he said the landing of an unmanned satellite on the moon able to move about on the lunar surface was not planned for this year.

The press conference disclosed for the first time that Luna IX stood only about two feet high and weighed 220 pounds.

The complete satellite weighed 3,182 pounds but the rocket that carried the instruments to the moon broke loose and landed separately.

Vinogradov said Luna IX found no dust on the moon but

Art Lecture By Professional On Agenda For Rutland AOTS

RUTLAND—The monthly supper meeting of the Rutland United Church AOTS Club held in the church basement hall, took a rather unusual course.

Following an excellent supper served by ladies of the U.C.W. and a short business meeting, presided over by Kelly Slater, the members were introduced to the guest speaker, Zeljko Kujundzic, of the Rutland school teaching staff, by William Drumwater. After listening to a brief talk on the subject of modern and other forms of art, the members of the club were invited to visit his art school on Runcorn St., Kelowna.

They all climbed into their cars and drove to their destination, a former Free Methodist church, where they viewed paintings, tapestry and other interesting items, the product of the teacher and his pupils, and of Mrs. Kujundzic, who has woven some marvelous tapestry, a member said. Mr. Kujundzic, who is by origin a member of the Turkish minority group in Yugoslavia, has travelled extensively, and for quite a number of years taught in a Scottish university, where his English acquired a slight Scottish burr, which probably accounts for the fact that his fellow teachers at Rutland call him "Jocko" in place of his more difficult correct name of Zeljko.

He tried to explain some of the intricacies of modern art to the visitors, as they viewed them in his art school, and the blank looks with which they had at first regarded the paintings gave place to some faint glimmers of comprehension.

They were interested too, in the fact that all the painting was done with plastic paints, and not with oils, and a lively discussion period followed.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Kujundzic and his charming wife for an interesting and unusual evening.

Rutland Building Shows Increase

RUTLAND—Building figures for the Rutland district for the last four months of 1965, released by the provincial building inspectors office, show that building permits to the value of $29,919 were issued. The majority of the building permits were for new dwellings, but the largest individual item was $60,000 for the reconstruction of the Drive-In Theatre at the corner of Leithhead Road and Highway 97.

The figures for the first eight months of the year had totalled $884,761. Adding the final four months gave a total of $1,386,671 for the year 1965. This is more than $200,000 above the figure for the previous year.

YOUNG VIET CONG CAPTURED Soldiers of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry division assist a wounded 15-year-old Viet Cong captured in the An Lao valley 300 miles northeast of Saigon in South Viet Nam during operation "White Wing".

OTTAWA (CP)—The government was accused in the Commons Thursday of para-military police and carrying up a multi-million-dollarmelon or "smelton" among its Liberal friends at the Channel 3 melodrama continued for the second day. Opposition Leader Diefenbaker was at his theatrical best as he condemned an application by ex-Liberal candidate Ralph Snelgrove and two other Liberals for a third television channel in the rich Toronto market. "It has all the appearance of a pork barrel," he said at another point, "that this is so smelly it requires no olfactory excellence in order to understand it. It has got all the appearance of a plan to make millions under cover of secrecy and concealment."

Red Scott (NDP — Toronto Daily Star) said Ralph Snelgrove Ltd. submitted the only application for the Toronto channel in time for a Board of Broadcast Governors' hearing in April. "The effect of which will be to open up a new lucrative plum, a melon or a smelton, or whatever you call it, in Toronto, without other interested people having an opportunity to compete."

This amounts to a backroom deal, he charged. WONT INTERFERE? Both Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Scott urged a postponement of the BBG hearing to permit other parties to bid for the TV licence. But Transport Minister Pickersill said it would be wrong for him to interfere with the BBG. He said the fact there was no one else who had not automatically mean it would be granted. There had been no deal of any kind.

The transport department had not yet decided whether to clear the Snelgrove bid on technical grounds and bid it on to the BBG for hearings. Mr. Snelgrove and his two partners, Geoff Stirling and Allan F. Waters, were Liberals, but they were entitled to the same treatment as everybody else by the BBG. The minister said the third Ontario channel should be snatched up by Canadians before an American station has the chance to make a move that could wipe out Channel 3. He had been told by technical experts that the Barrie station owned by Ralph Snelgrove Ltd., located 50 miles north of Toronto, was the only one that could be transferred to Toronto without interfering with U.S. stations.

CHARGE SECRET PLANS Mr. Diefenbaker said "none of this would have seen the light of day if somebody had not found out about the secret plans and manipulations that had their birth, I think, last September. . . . Mr. Pickersill replied that Mr. Diefenbaker is suspicious of everyone and everything because of his unhappy relations with his cabinet ministers when he was prime minister. "The right honorable gentleman could find a secret in a Coca-Cola advertisement."

The minister said he has received communications recently from Joe Aldred, Conservative candidate against Prime Minister Pearson in the last election, and CFIB Toronto, expressing interest in the TV channel. The same type of insinuation the Conservative leader was making had been voiced against him when he was prime minister and a firm headed by John Bassett, publisher of the Toronto Telegram, had been awarded a Toronto TV licence.

Mr. Snelgrove was Liberal candidate for Simcoe North in the 1953 and 1963 federal elections and lost both times. The debate on transport department spending estimates continues today and Mr. Diefenbaker said he will return to the Channel 3 episode before the weekend.

Police Reduce Most-Wanted List MONTREAL (CP) — Armand (Coco) Roy, 46, on the provincial police list of most wanted men, was captured in a parked car here early Thursday. Roy was being sought on four charges of robbery and breaking and entering. Two policemen made the arrest when they saw Roy sitting in a car parked in a lane. No. 1 on the list is Claude Phaneuf, 37, sought on two fraud charges involving a $1,000,000 loss to a Montreal construction company in June, 1965.

Papers Defy Smith's Ban

SALISBURY (Reuters)—Rhodesian newspaper editors defied a government order and appeared with blank spaces showing that they had been censored. First copies of the Rhodesian Herald, Salisbury's only daily paper, were sold on the street by editor Malcolm Smith. Within minutes trucks were driving away to distribute copies in country districts. There was no sign of any police or government officials on hand to see what happened, though the deputy-information minister, Pieter Van Der Bijl, visited the censor's office in the new-paper building twice Wednesday night. In Bulawayo, however, two uniformed policemen collected copies of the Bulawayo Chronicle as it appeared. Both newspapers carried announcements that they had been subject to censorship. Under new emergency regulations new editors are forbidden to new where they have been suspended or to state they have been subject to censorship.

BUCKS GO FOR THIRD STRAIGHT IN OJHL SEMI-FINAL SERIES

Kelowna Buckaroos will be after a stranglehold on their Okanagan Junior Hockey League semi-final series with Penitents tonight when the Bucks travel to the Peach City for the fourth game in the series.

Kelowna presently holds a 2-1 game lead.

Coach Don Quiley has planned no changes in the lineup that won 4-1 here in Kelowna Wednesday night.

Mike Meenan is still hobbled with a bad knee and his availability to the Bucks for the rest of the year is up in the air. Don Hebert's sore knee is not expected to keep him out of action tonight as his defence position.

Quiley has also decided not to tempt fate and will be again using Terry Larsson between the pipes. As Don said last night at the Bucks' workout, "why change horses in the middle of the stream. He's been going good so let's let him keep on until he plays himself out of the starting role."

Saturday night the Broncos will be visiting Kelowna's Memorial Arena in what could be the final game in the semi-final series. Tickets are on sale at the Wigwam Smoke Shop and judging from past performances, Saturday night's game should be a thriller. Game time Saturday is 8:30 p.m.

Bruins Surprise Montreal Wings Again Share First

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It was a long, hard climb for Boston Bruins, but they finally made it out of the National Hockey League playoffs in a surprising way.

The Bruins haven't won a championship by any means. In fact, they haven't even clinched a playoff spot. But at least they can look back and see another team behind them instead of looking back and seeing nothing.

Fred Johnston on Thursday night registered his first shutout of the season as Boston blanked Montreal Canadiens 2-0 in one of two scheduled games.

The Bruins' victory was a surprise to many. In fact, they haven't even clinched a playoff spot. But at least they can look back and see another team behind them instead of looking back and seeing nothing.

Johnston's shutout was a surprise to many. In fact, they haven't even clinched a playoff spot. But at least they can look back and see another team behind them instead of looking back and seeing nothing.

JUST ONE PENALTY

The game was marked by just one penalty called on Boston's 11th minute of the first period for cross-checking.

Detroit scored two goals in each period to defeat the Bruins.

Ron Murray scored a power play goal at 12:45 of the third period and Bryan Watson notched another Detroit goal 30 seconds later to cap the Bruins' scoring.

Norm Ullman and Gordie Howe scored Detroit's first period markers while Alex Delvecchio and Floyd Smith scored in the middle period.

Ullman's goal his 25th of the season, was his first in 10 games.

Hadfield scored for New York late in the first period and Red Sealing scored the second Ranger goal with less than five minutes remaining in the game.

Bookie defenseman Bert Marshall set up three of Detroit's goals, including Delvecchio's winner at the 21-second mark of the second period.

ED'S 11TH SHUTOUT

Johnston, last for the last five years, received some standing ovations from Johnston as he was backed out 30 shots for his 11th NHL shutout.

The closest the Canadiens came to scoring was in the third period when a shot rolled along the pipe at the top of the net while Johnston lay flat on his back.

On another occasion with Johnston lying on the ice, Montreal had three rebound tries but Johnston kept out two and the referee at Longline stopped the third.

Boston started rolling to its 11th victory of the year when Johnny Bucyk finished off a

'Commons Should Forget NHL Get Back To Business' Speaker

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Perhaps the most withering comment on the National Hockey League's all-American expansion program came from Speaker Louis St. Laurent when the matter was raised Thursday in the House of Commons.

He suggested that the House should get on to more important business.

In and out of the Commons, there were plenty of Canadian voices raised in condemnation of the NHL for denying Vancouver a franchise in its new six-team league. But the speaker was 12-2 in labeling the issue as unimportant.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker drew applause from all sections of the House when he said Vancouver's exclusion would have "a detrimental effect on young Canadians."

Robert Prittle, a New Democrat from the Vancouver-area constituency of Burnaby-Richmond, asked the government to launch an inquiry into the Combines Act. Creditable Gilles Grogan, noting the NHL had also ruled out Quebec City as a new member, sought some kind of remedial legislation.

Prime Minister Pearson deplored the league's failure to include Canadian representation in its new division, scheduled to begin operation in the 1967-68 season, but declined the MP's invitation of governmental action.

"I have a good many problems facing me," he said, "I hope I don't have to take on those of the NHL."

Meanwhile, the post-mortems continued to roll in from participants in the NHL's three-day expansion meeting in New York city that resulted in the award of franchises Wednesday to Los Angeles, St. Louis, San Francisco, Oakland, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

NHL President Clarence Campbell said in Montreal that the Vancouver bid "just wasn't good enough."

"We gave them plenty of time to get ready but far better offers showed up."

Two NHL governors, David Molson, president of Montreal Canadiens, and Bill Jennings, owner of New York Rangers, said they were disappointed that Vancouver, Fresno, Anaheim and newspaper publisher Max Bell were not represented in the Vancouver group. Cyrus McLean was the Vancouver spokesman at the meeting.

DENIES CHARGES

Stafford Smythe, president of Toronto Maple Leafs, who was accused by some Vancouver sources of playing a major part in frustrating the city's NHL bid, denied responsibility.

"I didn't even open my mouth," he said. "The city wasn't even mentioned when we got around to discussing the cities that should come in."

Smythe said the Vancouver group had not acted on the governors' suggestion of a merger with the rival group headed by McMahon and Bell, had failed to guarantee that a rink would be available and represented the city with the smallest population of all the applicants.

"We wanted a Canadian entry in the league," the Toronto president added. "Right now, American clubs can outvote us 4 to 2. Now it will be 10 to 2. Don't you think we would have preferred a Canadian club?"

Toronto broadcaster Foster Hewitt, who was associated with the Vancouver bid, said it appeared to have been doomed from the start. The governors "moved so fast you'd have to think they knew where they were going before the meeting opened."

"I thought Mr. McLean stated our case well," he continued, "they asked us very few questions. Now when I look back on the situation, maybe questions weren't necessary because our chances were so poor."

EXPANSION TEAM NAMED

NEW YORK AP — The new National Hockey League expansion team will be called the California Seals.

Vernon Blasted To Sidelines

VERNON (CP) — Kamloops drubbed Vernon 11-2 Thursday night to win their best-of-seven semi-final series in the Okanagan Junior Hockey League in straight games.

Kamloops will advance against the winner of a series between Kelowna and Penitents. Kelowna is leading that race 2-1.

Tommy Osborne led the Kamloops attack with four goals and teammate Eric Shihdido put away three. Ken Rhinell, Robby Jamieson, Rick McShane and Vernon goals were scored by Neil Blumhau and Ivan Malinick.

Soccer Coaches Efforts Rewarded

Walt Green, Senior Secondary High School teacher and coach of the Kelowna Senior Secondary Soccer Team, was recently honored by the members of the team. The award leads the names of the players and was presented to Mr. Green at the club banquet.

The soccer team won the Okanagan High School Championship for the second year running and has completed an excellent record over the two years. Bill Begg, team captain, presented Mr. Green with a certificate.

Lindsay Keeps Hopes Alive

Action in the B.C. Curling Association playoffs played Thursday night saw seven titles fall by the wayside.

Reg Stone, of Trail, was the first to be eliminated. Stone lost Wednesday night to Jerry Halliday of Kelowna 11-10 in his opening consolation match. Kelowna 5-Pin Team Aims For B.C. Crown

Fourteen Kelowna bowlers leave for Chilliwack this weekend to try to wrest the title of B.C. overall champions from 19 other interior cities. Defending champions from Kamloops will join teams from Kelowna, Prince George, Revelstoke, Vernon, Penitents, Chilliwack, Trail and Cranbrook in the B.C. Bowling Association sponsored event.

Kelowna finished second last year.

Coach Bud Toole, in his first year at the reins of the team, looks for the same success as last year, and if possible, that slight improvement needed to capture the over all championship.

The top three centres from Chilliwack will represent B.C. in the Western Canada playoffs at Calgary during the Easter weekend. Kelowna finished seventh in this event among 20 teams last year. A quick glance at each of the teams and the search will see why Kelowna can expect repeated success this year.

Barbara Barb: "The quiet one" has been bowling five years. This is her first time in Western Canada competition. This young lady goes about the business of bowling with very little effort. Very consistent, has great potential.

Joyce Rozelle: Has bowled for 10 years. Fifth year on the Kelowna team. Good team bowler, has the ability to post the big games.

Doris Whittle: Has been bowling four years, two of them in Kamloops. She has been on the team for the past two years. One of the most promising young bowlers in our area. Fine team spirit—eager and willing to do his part.

Carol Koga: Has bowled for the past 12 years and a Kelowna representative six times. One of the best tournament bowlers in B.C. Keep an eye on her performance.

Mary Favell: A Kelowna bowling four years. First time on Kamloops. Great personality—has shown great improvement as a team bowler. Will give her best effort.

Lou Matsuda: Bowling for 12 years. Has made the team three times. Great desire and team spirit. Can see the big ones.

Shirley Fowler: This is her third year of bowling first year on the team. Great spirit and eager to do her part. Will undoubtedly prove her worth.

Mrs. Koga: Has 10 years experience and has been on every Kelowna team in the Western Canada playoffs. Gives his best at all times. Terrible potential.

Bruce Bennett: Third year of bowling, first time on the team. One of the most promising young bowlers in our area. Fine team spirit—eager and willing to do his part.

Mario Koga: Eighteenth year of bowling, fourth time on the team. Plenty of experience and has great desire. At present, Mario is the hottest bowler in our area. Unlimited potential.

Gary Fortner: Has been bowling for three years, first time on the team. Another one of our top up and coming young bowlers. Easy going and pleasant. Can string out the strikes. An asset to the club.

Lois Matsuda: Has been bowling for the past 11 years, fifth time on the team. One of the best clutch bowlers in the business, plus desire and ability.

Lauren Broder: Fourth year of bowling, first year on the team. Pleasant and easy going. Willing to do his part.

Dick Goette: Fourth year of bowling, first time on the team. Loves to bowl, eager to do his part and has the ability to roll the big ones.

Pidge Tahara: Manager, 11 years of experience. Has coached two previous teams in the Western Canada League—quiet and a competent representative for our team.

Bud Toole: Coach has been bowling for six years. Two years as a player, first time as coach. Takes interest in team effort. Has confidence in the Western Canada playoffs.

This is a well balanced team with experienced and young bowlers to carry Kelowna's name into the playoffs.

Voluptuous Castaway To Marry Two Time ABC Loser Les Crane

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tina Louise, the voluptuous castaway of Gilligan's Island, will be married April 3 to Les Crane, the undaunted two-time loser of ABC's Nightlife show.

Miss Louise reported the news at rehearsals for this week's Red Skelton Show.

The wedding will be the first for Miss Louise, the student of New York's Neighborhood Playhouse and Actors Studio who first achieved fame as Appalachian Von Cimex in Lili Abner on Broadway. Crane was married once before.

The pair met at a discotheque last March.

Crane is one of the country's highest-paid talkers, having starred twice in ABC's answer to Johnny Carson. He was putting in his second tour of duty with the late-night show while touring Tina.

"It was crazy," she said.

TAKE TURNS FLYING

"I was here doing 'Gilligan' and he was stuck in New York doing 'Nightlife.' Every other weekend I'd fly to New York to see him, and on the other weekend he'd fly here to see me."

Finally his show was shifted to Hollywood. But once again was dropped due to low ratings. Les is not discouraged. Tina reported, and would like another try at the chatter format. He is also preparing some programs he would produce himself.

WHY WIGGLE?

Leave it to a man to figure out why women wiggle when they walk. Dr. Louis H. Par-dies says there is no physiological reason for the undulating female gait. He says it can be learned without difficulty and easily becomes a habit. Brigitte Bardot, left, and Carol Baker, right, were two of the world's most famous wigglers, he said.

Red Revenge On James Bond

LONDON (UPI)—A Communist avenger is planning a public revenge on James Bond in his next novel by reforming him.

Another character, a Bulgarian who writes best-selling thrillers, thinks the world's most famous secret agent is a failure as a hero because he's cynical, cautious and not very bright.

Gulyashki, 32, creator of a sharp-witted, virtuous secret agent called Avakoum Zabov, plans to put the rival spies at each other in his new novel Avakoum Zabov meets James Bond, to be published in Britain in the fall.

The two men will be fighting the same enemy—some villainous but non-ideological organization of master criminals—but in a kind of duel with each other. To make them "more equal adversaries," Gulyashki plans a few improvements in Bond's character.

"Ian Fleming, willingly or unwillingly, has derived James Bond of some of the essential qualities for a hero of this type," Gulyashki told reporters. "HAS NO IDEALS"

He is the complete opposite of Avakoum Zabov. He has no ideals, he believes in nothing except in the Liberty to kill, to satisfy his instincts, to achieve by any means the task set him by his superiors.

"He loves, respects and sympathizes with no one—not even his own friends."

Zabov struggles for the preservation and strengthening of a new social structure because he believes in it. . . . Bond is struggling for the defence of a social order to which he is actually indifferent.

"Zabov possesses only one weapon—his logic, the strength of his analytical mind. Bond also has one weapon—his gun."

Answering questions through an interpreter, Gulyashki said the chief improvement would be that Bond would "think more."

ARRESTED FOR SPYING

VIENNA, Austria (Reuters)—Two Hungarians—a legal adviser and an associate professor at Budapest University have been arrested by the Hungarian interior ministry on charges of espionage for the United States, the Hungarian news agency MTI reported Saturday. The agency said Dr. Lehel Egedy and Dr. Elemér Edgy were recruited by U.S. intelligence organizations during repeated trips to Western countries.

Around The Rocks

by WALTER HOBBS

This is B.C. Curling Association week. The work when all good curlers throw down the tools of their trade of profession, and their good wives either take to the bridge tables or decide to go and see Ma, for there is no use talking, this is Pop's week.

This is the week when the man of the family takes off for the one and only time in the Interior of B.C. which brings together the best of curlers, the best of talkers, and all those that need to do it, but are now behind the glass, and last but not least, the many willing workers who because of their knowledge of the game, are drawn in as umpires, time-keepers, commentators, and press advisors. To all of these go the thanks of the Host Club, and the BCCA Curling Association.

Next on the list are the sponsors of the several events which include the following: Cummins, Bekins, Woodwards, Northern Interior Forestry Products, Crestwood Timber, J. T. O'Bryan Insurance Agencies, Kelowna Curling Club, then last but not least The Macdonald Tobacco Company who sponsor The Interior Curling Event.

At the time of writing 46 rinks are involved in this, the only transport of its kind in British Columbia, from out of this transport come many rinks who participate with the seven zone winners for the right to meet the Pacific Coast Champion, in a best two out of three playoff for the Provincial Championship. This final winner will then go to Halifax, N.S. for the Dominion Championship, the winner of The Dominion then proceeding to Vancouver for the Scotch Cup, emblematic of the world curling championship, which last year was won by a rink from the U.S.A., much to the dismay of the Canadian Curling World. The question is can they do it again?

I have just received the final statistics concerning the number of curlers who are now participating in the Interior of British Columbia, remember this does not include the Pacific Coast Curling Association.

TOTAL 4,323

They are as follows, men affiliated curlers 4,323, plus about 800 non-affiliated curlers, this last 800 are those who receive most of the benefits of organized curling, whose sons probably curl in the curling rinks that are affiliated with the BCCA, usually ask for copies of the rules of the game, receive all that the curling clubs are willing to give, cry about this and that, yet pay nothing towards the administration of the game. O.K. follows your curling club will be happy to affiliate you with the BCCA for the tremendous sum of 75 cents for the season 1965-66, but because so many of you have so far not seen fit to come forward, we are forced to charge you one whole dollar for next season. Lady curlers in the Interior are 2,347, and school curlers number 2,069, or a total of 9,539. Not bad for a province which must depend on artificial ice.

WHERE DOES THE MONEY GO TO

Let us take an average year, affiliation fees to the Dominion Curling Association $400, expenses of executive and delegate members to the DCA meeting $600, secretary stipend $600, secretary expenses, annual meeting, etc $150, postage and stationery $125, mimeograph work $100, school curling grant and meeting expense $300, grants to winning rinks who represent the BCCA or province possible $700, directors mileage expenses for year possible $1,000. Already you have $3,975, on top of this is the annual meeting expense, etc. etc. Our revenue from men's curling fees this year is $2,751, plus investment interest of about $150.00.

So you will see, we might if lucky, just about balance the budget. Last year the Scottish curlers visited the Interior at a cost to this association of $1,250, but don't you think it was worth it? After all we pay out plenty of good dollars in other tourist propaganda, why not a few to interest curlers to make this their home?

Anyway you too, you can help us replenish last year's deficit by purchasing from your curling club just one little affiliation of $1.

Yes we even have the odd, very odd curling club in British Columbia, who do not affiliate with the association, and my advice to you is this, that before you join any curling club find out this fact first before you pay out your good money, because unless your club is affiliated with the BCCA you will not be able to play in any of the Provincial Championships which come under BCCA jurisdiction. Don't be a heel, join a club that affiliates with a provincial association.

Beach Films Now Passe

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Beach party movies are out with the "in" crowd of teenagers. Protest pictures are in.

The source for this intelligence is Louis M. Heyward of New York, director of motion picture and television development for American International.

"We have left the beach to Universal, Columbia and other studios which won't find much let there," he said. "The beach pictures ran their course. We used them for a voyeuristic approach, though they were perfectly clean—the Legion of Decency never objected to our films."

But now that type of film has been negated by the plethora of sex-oriented films like What's New Pussycat? There isn't much farther you can go, Nudges! The teenagers won't go to them, they're too embarrassed.

UNDERSTAND REVOLT

The next big area for teen-ager films is protest. Teen-agers sympathize with protest, because they are in revolt against their parents.

"Among the movies we are planning for the coming season are subjects about stock - car racing and about the Hell's Angels type of motorcycle club, both of which represent a protest against society."

"These will be moral tales; there will be the good guys and the bad guys. But we will show the reasons for young people wanting to go against the dictates of the establishment."

Admittedly, these subjects have already been explored but they were done from an adult point of view; American International always assumes the teen-agers' viewpoint.

Nobody Waved But— Film Won Award

NEW YORK (CP)—The National Film Board of Canada announced Wednesday that its feature film, Nobody Waved Goodbye, has won a citation from the National Catholic Office for Motion Pictures as best theatrical film for youth, one of 10 judging categories. The film dealing with youth problems stars Peter Kassner and Julie Higgs. It was written and directed by Don Owen and made in Montreal.

MUSEUM Diary

by DAN RILEY

Even though the museum building is closed for the winter, due to problems in keeping it heated that could not be overcome, why not take a stroll along Mad Street and look in at the pioneer kitchen?

This exhibit, which can be seen through the large window close to Bedford Ave., was organized last summer and arranged in the small room in the front of the Museum. Before that, the furnishings were scattered in various places throughout the Museum, and did not appear to best advantage.

Through the interest and effort of the chairman of the exhibit committee, Mrs. Muriel Fouldes, and her committee members, the pioneer kitchen was arranged. The committee members working with Mrs. Fouldes were Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Upton. Mrs. H. Lamontoux made the red and white gingham table cloths and curtains.

A great deal of the interest of the pioneer kitchen exhibit lies in the carefully labeled signs describing various articles on display. These were prepared by the assistant to the custodian, Miss Linda Berger, whose artistic skill has added greatly to the attractiveness of many exhibits.

After the large objects, such as the tables, the portable bath, and the old washing machine from Mrs. W. D. Walker had been arranged in the room, an unusual addition was made.

DOLL'S CLOTHING
The addition was the collection of articles of doll's clothing and furniture that can be seen on the ledge of the wide window. Many of these small articles are very unusual, and deserve their special place for display and inspection. In the file of correspondence in the Museum records, the following charming letter appears, dated Nov. 20, 1957:

"I saw in your museum a few old toys while visiting my father, W. H. Ribelin. This toy enclosed has been in my possession since 1905 and might be a curiosity to modern children. I used it with a small wooden tub to wash my doll clothes as a little girl at play. I would be pleased if you think it sufficiently interesting to find a place in your museum." Signed, Anne Ribelin Perrault, Victoria.

The tiny clothes might now be admired in the collection now on display in the pioneer kitchen.

At The Library

By BRYAN BACON

Fast moving events in Africa—where more than two-thirds of the continent has achieved self-government within the last 12 years—bring their own problem to writers: how to avoid being out-of-date.

Basil Davidson tries to overcome the difficulty in his book Which Way Africa? (Penguin) by taking a wide view of affairs on the continent. Particular situations and precise examples are limited and he sacrifices detail for a broad analysis of trends. Mr. Davidson discusses the contributions made by the now-departed colonial powers, and contrasts it with the new spirit of nationalism now sweeping the continent.

There is no simple solution to the crisis of emergent Africa, but the author's argument provides leads to some of the ways in which Africa can develop as a major force in the future.

The search for a new society is not confined to black Africa. South Africa is also in the process of establishing a way of life, and his development of the present political system is recorded by Brian Bunting in

The Rise of the South African Reich (Penguin).

The tragedy of South Africa is such that the author can only draw its parallel with the rise of fascism in Europe. All the factors seem to be there: the political disciples of Hitler, the elimination of opposition, the indoctrination of the young, the control of ideas, the limitations on trade unions, race hatred and anti-Semitism.

Mr. Bunting's well-documented book may not succeed in overcoming that other contribution to fascism which was called apathetism, but it will certainly jolt the reader's apathy.

MOVIE highlights

The accent is on drama in the films scheduled to run next week at the Kelowna Paramount Theatre. They are adult entertainment only.

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 14-15: The Collector will be seen at 7 and 9:15 p.m.

Friday, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 18, 19, 21 and 22: The Hill will run at 7 and 9:15 p.m. It will be replaced at the Saturday matinee by a special feature.

The Collector stars Terence Stamp as an insignificant London bank clerk and Samantha Eggar as a vibrant young art student whom Stamp kidnaps and holds prisoner. Stamp won the best actor and Miss Eggar the best actress award at the Cannes Film Festival for their performances. The story is one of shock, terror and conflict.

The Hill presents a true, incisive view of how men will react under adverse circumstances when the pressure put upon them becomes almost too great to endure. It's the story of five prisoners admitted to a North Africa during the Second World War. Sean Connery plays the role of Joe Roberts, an ex-warrant officer court-martialed for striking a commissioned officer and for alleged cowardice under fire. The movie tells of the hardships they underwent in the camp, resulting in the death of one of them.

U.S. Crippling Our Theatre

TORONTO (CP) — United States control of the performing rights of plays and musicals is crippling Canadian theatre, says Canadian actor-director Ted Forbes.

He said in a radio broadcast here that "producers in New York get North American rights to plays and Canada is thrown in." "We can't do a show here that hasn't worn out its welcome."

He commented later Wednesday in an interview:

"Something is amiss if New York producers can't buy the rights, and we can't cash in on whatever immediate interest and value the play has."

"If our theatre is to survive, it must be protected by some form of barrier."

He suggested that producers who bring their shows to Toronto for the opening of their Broadway tours should be charged a fee.

TAKE Five

By BETTY CAREY

By the time this arrives in your hands our Western Canada team will be well on its way to Chilliwack, to participate in the B.C. roll-offs. We will endeavor to get the results as soon as possible and pass them on to you. Anyone wishing to take in the tournament either Sat. or Sun., and cheer our team, may do so at the Park Lanes Recreation Centre in Chilliwack. If you have never attended one it is quite an experience to witness the enthusiasm and keen competition that takes place in this colorful roll-off.

The past week two very successful tournaments were held in the valley. The mixed doubles in Rutland were as usual a big success.

The winners were: Paul Bach and Val Hosler, Fred and Shirley Fowler, Andy Kitch and Phil Seibert, Ann and Joe Sali, Alan Hubbard and Georgian Lutka.

High singles were posted by Mel McClure—227, and Alvina Giesseu—315.

One of the biggest tournaments held in the Interior took place in Vernon. A total of 67 entries competed in the 20 game singles event. Bowlers from all through the Interior attended.

KEEN CONTEST

The competition was keen but when the final scores were totaled the Kelowna bowlers came out on top with the big money. First place was taken by none other than that great competitor, Carol Koga. This is the third year in a row that Carol has dominated this event. Bruce Bennett took second place along with the high triple score. This was his first attempt at bowling in a top singles tournament and proved beyond a doubt his ability as a bowler.

Third place was taken by Morio Koga who also rolled high scratch average of 261 for the 20 games. Fourth place went to Mary Kraatz of Salmon Arm. Fifth place was held by Nels Larsen of Falkland. High single game of 390 was rolled by Art McMann of Princeton. Our bowlers would like to congratulate the Vernon Five Pin Association and the proprietors of Lincoln Lanes on conducting a fine tournament.

COMING EVENTS

There will be a men's doubles in Rutland on Feb. 13 and a ladies doubles in Rutland on Feb. 27. Next Friday evening a 10 game mixed doubles will be held at the Howlands. Those interested in competing in any of these events may call the prospective lanes and get full details. Enter soon as the number of entries in each are limited.

Honorable mention for bowler of the week goes to Andy Anderson who rolled a three game total of 828 and a high single of 388, on Thursday night league at Meridian Lanes. I understand Andy bowls but one night a week. You've got what it takes Andy, keep it up.

Top ten for ladies and men this week are: Carol Koga—223, Joyce Rozell—222, Alina Gruber—213, Mich Tahara—214 and Jill Siebert—213. Mita Koga—250, Morio Koga—242, Lou Matuzda—234, Joe Welder—232, Tony Senger.

Polly Leads Many Lives

NEW YORK (AP) — Polly Bergen leads many lives.

A self-admitted "has been" at the age of eight, at 35 Polly is one of the top all-round performers in show business, and is active in many other fields.

"To me life means eating," the husky-voiced, blue-eyed singer said between sips at the Hotel Plaza's Persian Room.

"It seems to me I've spent most of my life taking a deep breath before trying to do something I've never done before. When I exhale after a role, I can take off my shoes and relax. Everything then is all right. Nobody threw a tomato at me."

In addition to her night club chores, Polly at present also—

1. Operates three dress shops in Tennessee.

2. Runs her own music publishing firm.

3. Handles her own oilfield and real estate investments.

4. Designs carpets for her brother-in-law, a rug manufacturer.

5. Works for several civic and humanitarian projects.

6. Has started a mail order firm to market a cosmetic skin product for men called "Polly Bergen's whipped pink oil of the turtle."

"The first thing, of course," said Polly, "is to catch the turtle. The whole business depends on him."

RINS HARD

What makes Polly run so hard? Perhaps because she was constantly on the move as a child—always starting over in a new place. As the daughter of a construction engineer, she lived in 27 states and attended 45 grammar and high schools.

"At the age of three and four I was always a dead-end $2 prize winner in amateur contests," she said. "But at eight I had become a has-been."

Then at 14 I got my own radio show at 14 a week. I got $15 for my first television appearance—and a case of tomato soup.

"I also worked for $19 a week as a drugstore clerk, $20 a week as a carhop, $22 a week as a short-order cook. I used to spend hours arguing people out of ordering pancakes. I couldn't turn them."

Polly held other jobs briefly as a cocktail waitress, a fur coat model, an usher, and a door-to-door salve pedlar.

"I did all this while going to school," she said. "I was very independent. I really enjoyed it."

Polly then became a band singer, quickly rose to stardom on the supper club circuit—Las Vegas was glad to pay her $7,500 a week—and films, the theatre, television and the recording field.

"Once when I had two television shows going, I must have earned between $500,000 and $1,000,000 a year," she remarked.

TRAIN DERAILED

WYOMING, Ont. (CP)—Forty-five cars of a CNR freight were derailed Saturday, spilling the box cars five deep into side ditches in some spots. No injuries were reported among the five-man crew. The 80-car train, en route from Toronto to Sarnia, was travelling at an estimated 55 miles an hour at the time of the mishap.

NIMBLE Fingers

by Frances Hatfield

The community program branch, department of education, is holding a regional recreational leaders training workshop in Kelowna, this weekend, Feb. 11 and 12, at the A. S. Matheson Elementary School.

Eleven instructors stand by to engage attention in subjects as diverse as team games, folk singing, puppetry, rockhounding, painting, pottery, adult education, dress-making and silversmithing.

Each course provides approximately 10 hours of instruction. I imagine the other teachers, like myself, are even now condensing and condensing, trying to find the very essence of their craft in simplest form and fewest words to present to their students.

In this essence, with goodwill, work and good luck — on the part of both teacher and pupil — the 10 hours will serve to open doors to individual handicrafts, skills and ideas, allowing glimpses down numberless passages of future work while at the same time giving the beginning student intends to build.

For the more experienced student there will be new ideas. Discussion of his problems in his craft and that grand lift which comes with the building of new associations with friends equally interested in the field.

So, we are glad to meet with you and welcome you to Kelowna, we hope you will go forth renewed and revitalized to your own communities at the conclusion of the workshop.

Duke Appears At Premiere

PARIS (AP)—The Duke of Windsor appeared in high spirits Tuesday night as he chatted with the audience attending the film premiere of A King's Story.

The story was about the 70-year-old duke who abdicated the British throne in 1936 as King Edward VIII so he could marry American divorcee Mrs. Wallis Simpson.

The duke who wore dark glasses, is recovering from an eye operation and also has undergone major surgery for a circulatory ailment.

The film was a combination of newsreel clips, family album pictures and modern-day sequences of the couple.

FM Fan-Fare

By Charles Patrick

Gloria, she of the double exposure on CKOV-AM and CJOV-FM, on which she does a meanly job for a woman announcer (with that charming female difference of course), also handles a man sized job in our library.

Her assignment for FM selections is quite a chore. Selecting of Symphony Hall FM music and albums is done by Gloria with a considerable amount of forethought. First she checks her lists for many weeks back, then proceeds to select for weeks ahead. Usually for about five or six ahead. The art of this selection process is to attempt if possible, not to duplicate selections recently played.

There are exceptions to this of course. Sometimes a particularly fine work which may be quite new, can stand to be programmed for repeat within the time period.

Since CJOV-FM's new phase development last June, Gloria has gone through considerable music in the symphony bracket. Naturally, there comes the time when a reasonable balance of even new albums have to be repeated. But, after all, with six hours of Symphony during the week and a limited range of the great masters works being played over a six months' period or more, if we count January and up to date, this isn't surprising. The selections she chooses are checked out by the program department prior to being aired, and in this one Symphony bracket alone care and system is most important.

TYPICAL WEEK

To give you an idea of a typical week's selection for Symphony Hall on CJOV-FM here is an example of the upcoming week's programs starting with this evening.

Feb. 11—Bachmannoff's Suites for two pianos performed by the duo concert pianists Vrankosy and Babik Saturday, Beethoven's Symphony Fantastique—The Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra Monday, Dvorak's Slavonic Dances—George Zell conducting The Cleveland Symphony Orchestra Tuesday, Reger's Four Sonatas for Piano—John Newmark pianist. Wednesday, "An Historic Return of Horowitz to Carnegie Hall Thursday, Gershwin's Cuban Overture and Second Rhapsody—Hollywood Bowl Orchestra directed by Carmen Dragon Friday, Prokofiev's Violin Concerto No. 1 and Piano Concerto No. 5 with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

In addition to the works featured which we listed, there are always selected additional albums with short light classics on them. Gloria provides one of these for every feature work she selects. These contain short, lighter classics and are provided to pad out the hour long Symphony Hall program to time. Usually the feature works run approximately from 45 to 55 minutes. It varies, of course.

ONE PHASE

But, we hope from this peek into just one area of FM operation, our Symphony fans and others interested in FM can get a glimpse of the detail involved in just one part of programming.

Upcoming feature items this week will include Mort Sahl, the fast thinking talking comic commentator of our times when he will be heard on Strings and Things Sunday evening. The program predominantly music from 8 to 10 p.m. Sunday, features cut-ins by interesting personalities. Sahl is our candidate for exposure this weekend. Tuesday night 10 to 11 on Comedy Star Time and also in the afternoon from 4 to 5 p.m. the Smothers Brothers will stir up the laughter. The FM Theatre presentation on Thursday at 4 to 5 and 10 to 11 p.m. will feature the Broadway Musical Hit with the original cast—it's the new musical No Strings starring Didiannah Carroll and Richard Kiley.

Verdict Of New Season's TV 'Much The Same As Last Time'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The selling season is on, here and in the "think shows" of New York's Madison Avenue.

Decisions are being made that will determine the new television shows next season. A hundred or more pilots will be steered the shoals of unresponsive sponsors and uninterested networks.

Only one out of every four pilots will be chosen, the three networks having 22 hours of cancelled programs to replace.

Here are some of the proposed series the trade believes have good chances to be sold: House of Wax—An hour version of the three-dimensional horror picture from Warner Brothers, starring Cesare Danova and Wilfred Hyde-White.

The Sheriff—Contemporary heroics in a small California town with Gilbert Roland and Jim Stacy.

April Savage—A western starring Robert Lansing, drop-out of 12 O'Clock High.

Men against Evil—Cops and robbers stuff with Howard Duff, Jeanne Crain and Ben (Drago) Alexander.

The Jean Arthur Show—With her playing a criminal lawyer pitted against a prosecutor who happens to be her son.

Pistols and Petticoats—Featuring Ann Sheridan as a Calamity Jane type.

The Tammy Grimes Show—Situation comedy.

Mr. Terrific—With Alan Young as a misqu coast who turns into a superman.

The Pet Set—Barbara Rush

as a veterinarian, Jason Evers as her lawyer husband.

Pursuit—Telly Savalas on the run in a Fugitive-Run for your Life.

Reckoning—Richard Beymer, Audrey Totter, Sidney Blackmer and seven other regulars in a series of small-town life "Sound familiar?"

The Girl from U.N.C.L.E.—Enough said!

The Rounders—Ron Haver and Pat Wayne in the movie roles played by Henry Fonda and Glenn Ford.

From Here to Eternity—Dorren McGavin in the Best Laid Easter role.

Iron Horse—Which would return Dale Robertson to television as operator of a frontier railway.

The Voice of Gruber—Kay Stevens as operator of a small-town television station.

As you can perceive, the 1966-67 season promises more of the same.

One of the biggest events is the Kelowna Little Theatre's production Tamed of Love. This play takes place in the Community theatre at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It is the wacky, mixed-up affair of a family trying to get a baby from an adoption agency. When the investigator turns out to be an attractive young lady, both the adopting husband and his neighbor decide she is for them.

Earlier in the week, on Saturday, the Kelowna Teen Town is sponsoring their annual Sweetheart Dance in Centennial Hall from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. A great chance for the teenagers to get out and have themselves a ball.

On Sunday, at 9 a.m., the Kelowna Figure Skating club is holding tests and competitions in the Memorial Arena. The public is invited.

Good Candidate For Oscar In Foreign Film Realm

NEW YORK (CP)—A Czech film maker, entertainment observers feel has a fair chance of winning this year's Hollywood Oscar for best foreign language film is being distributed in the United States and Canada by a Canadian—and a woman—at that.

Not only that, but Mrs. Marie Desmarais of Montreal is a former French film producer who thinks Canada is the greatest thing since talkies.

When she is not waxing ecstatic over The Shop on Main Street, which she claims is the favorite of all the European films she has ever distributed, she is apt to be rhapsodizing about "the challenge of Canada."

She is gambling a lot—money and prestige—on Shop. Should she come out a winner, undoubtedly she will seriously consider producing feature films in Canada within several years. She has been waiting "so impatiently," as she puts it, to produce feature films in Canada since emigrating there from France 20 years ago.

She also has a background in television production and distribution. Thirteen years ago, she was the first to introduce an American TV series, dubbed by herself, in France.

It was learned that Mrs. Desmarais will co-produce, with CBC-TV and the French TV network, a series of 30 half-hour episodes on Canada, the building of a country.

The first 13 episodes will deal with French Canada, the second 13 with English Canada and the final 13 with Canada as a whole.

In fictional form, somewhat a la Jack London, the series will start with one family and continue through with their descendants and their friends. It is believed to deal with Canada past and present.

Mrs. Desmarais has been working on the project for 10 years. Production probably will start next summer. Telecasting may coincide with Canada's centennial next year. French TV will telecast at least the French-Canadian segment.

Mrs. Desmarais first saw Shop in a little screening room in Prague—it was here at first night," she says.

Then it was shown at the 1965 Cannes film festival, where it won special acting awards. Still, no North American distributor, big or small, was interested in handling it. That was Mrs. Desmarais' cue to make an offer to the Czech government, which at first ignored her. But, after making a nuisance of herself, she persuaded it to give her the U.S. and Canadian rights.

Then, the Czechs showed the film at last September's New York film festival, where it attracted critical acclaim.

She decided to distribute Shop in the U.S. herself, with Prominent Films of New York—a small firm through which she works in the U.S.—handling the actual American sales.

What with advertising and other expenses, it's estimated she will have to sell at least $150,000 worth of rentals to theatres. However, if Shop wins the Oscar, she is virtually assured of making a profit.

Shop opened recently in New York. Mrs. Desmarais plans to release it in Canada "after we win the Oscar."

Directed by Jan Kadar and Elmar Klos, Shop is set in a small Slovakian town during the Second World War. It concerns the relation between personal peril and the affection which a simple carpenter begins to have for an old Jewish woman whose shop he has been appointed "aryan comptroller" of during the Nazi occupation.

Mrs. Desmarais became involved in films as a young woman. She was teaching French in a school of languages in Britain when a French film company arrived on the scene looking for an intelligent girl—"somebody to take care of everything; that was me." She made her indispensable and was put under contract.

Eventually, she became an independent producer—"in France, on the Continent, everywhere. I was always moving, I don't know why." She has been her own mistress since.

After the war, she was producing films for the French government when she began to feel uneasy—life in Europe was too unstable.

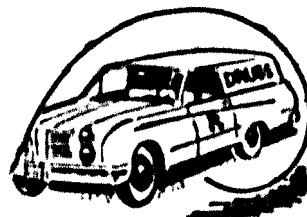

I was scared, one did not know what tomorrow would bring. So we, her husband is dead now, decided to go to Canada. For the children (she has two sons), it was better, I think, to do that."

Still maintaining her offices in Paris and New York, she left for Montreal to become, as she is now, Canada's oldest-established independent film distributor. Arriving in Canada, she discovered, not too much to her surprise, that film distribution was a monopoly business on this side of the Atlantic.

STIFF COMPETITION
"No good, that. Theatres were afraid to buy from me because I couldn't assure them of a good supply of film. So I acquired 151 pictures from Europe and started my business. It was a
