CHILDREN SING CAROLS TO END SCHOOL TERM

More than 8,000 school children were released from classroom bondage in School District 23 Friday and most of them had a Christmas party of one sort or another to end their term. At Central Elementary annex on DeHart avenue, 144 Grade 1 and 2 children, under the direction of Miss Rita Haney and Mrs. Tilly Brown, sang songs for visitors and then principal Everett Greenaway read Christmas stories. Here (from the left) Barry Tawer, Rickey Bain, Philip LeBrun, Penny Gale and Janice Cretin give vent to their Christmas feelings. School will re-open Thursday, Jan. 3.—(Courier Photo)

Mixed Reaction To Polaris Plan

Skybolt Achieves "First Success"

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Screaming more than seven miles high, a B-52 bomber today launched the controversial Skybolt missile on its first successful test flight in six launchings. Although the Skybolt program was handed a death sentence this week in the Anglo-American Bahamas conference, the U.S. Air Force has several test missiles remaining and intends to fire them in case the project is revived. The missile today was dropped from beneath the right wing of the B-52 seconds after it swept over Cape Canaveral. The 33-foot 3/4-ton rocket plummeted about 500 feet before the first stage fired as planned. The sleek projectile shot forward in an upward sweeping curve far in front of the plane, leaving a trail of fluffy white smoke in its wake. After a brief coasting period, the second stage flashed to life. The air force said "it was the first time a ballistic missile ever was launched successfully from an aircraft and flew its full mission under its own power and guidance." An official hailed the success as evidence that the highly complex missile can work despite what some critics have said about its capability. However, today's missile was far from the finished product, and much work would be needed to make it a reliable weapons system.

This Horse In The Stable Says UK Defence Minister

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain today publicly backed the United States offer to supply Polaris missiles to France on the same terms as to Britain. Defence Minister Peter Thorneycroft said here France is a valuable partner in the NATO alliance and he would "fully support" anything the United States could offer the French. Thorneycroft flew back here today from the Nassau meeting between President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan. Thorneycroft said the Polaris system will not cost Britain any more than the abandoned Skybolt system would have cost and will last for a far longer period of time. He summed up the difference between Polaris and Skybolt as: "This horse is in the stable. It is sound. You can take it out and run it tomorrow. Skybolt is not in the stable and is thought to be lame."

Paris Newspapers Reject Idea Decry U.S. Grip On NATO Force

PARIS (Reuters)—The Anglo-American announcement that U.S. Polaris missiles will be provided for British submarines drew a mixed reaction in Paris newspapers. Paris-Jour describes it as "a veritable Atlantic coup d'état" with the aim of "reinforcing the American grip on the military machinery of NATO." It calls Britain "the first victim," and says Prime Minister Macmillan "has been obliged in front of Kennedy to renounce the British national atomic force." Paris-Jour describes President de Gaulle as a rebel in "this Atlantic super-putch."

French Unlikely To Join Pact May Design Own Nuclear Weapon

PARIS (Reuters)—President de Gaulle today discussed with Premier Pompidou and other cabinet ministers the United States' offer of Polaris missiles to France as part of a NATO nuclear force. It was regarded as improbable de Gaulle will accept the U.S. proposal, but he was expected to ask for further details before giving a definite answer. At the same time, a government report said research is in progress to produce a Polaris-type missile to equip a French nuclear submarine. Work on a prototype atomic engine for the submarine was on schedule and satisfactory from the technical viewpoint. Others at today's talks were Foreign Minister Couve de Murville and Armed Forces Minister Messmer. In the eyes of responsible French officials the U.S. offer constitutes a long-awaited recognition of France as a nuclear power inside the Atlantic alliance. On the other hand, de Gaulle will want to know who is going to be the effective controller of the proposed multilateral nuclear force. For him the key question is which government will decide when "to press the button." The government report said France's efforts to build her own nuclear strike force are going according to plan and II-bomb studies are "progressing favorably."

Peace, Christian Unity Pope's Christmas Appeal

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII, in his annual Christmas message broadcast to the world tonight, appealed anew for peace among all men and unity of Christians. It was the 31-year-old pope's fifth Christmas message and came 3 1/2 weeks after he became seriously ill with anemia and a stomach disorder. As were his other Christmas addresses, tonight's was an urgent and powerful plea for world peace. But it also contained the theme of Christian unity, recalling the Roman Catholic ecumenical council, now in recess. Pope John spoke from his private library in the Vatican. His speech was recorded Friday and broadcast tonight by Vatican Radio and many national networks. He recalled his recent appeals to the rulers of the world to negotiate for peace and said: "Of all the blessings that life and history have to offer for individuals and families and nations truly the most precious and important is peace. The existence of peace and the zeal to preserve it are the assurance of the world's tranquility. "But a necessary condition of peace is the goodwill of each and everyone. Where this is lacking it is vain to hope for happiness and blessing. Let peace then be our objective at all times; let us aim at creating peace around us so that it may spread throughout the entire world; let us shield it from all that could harm it and take care not to endanger it by anything that could disrupt or compromise it."

POPE JOHN XXIII

BLACK UNDIES UNDER FIRE

Second Meeting For Relay Teams

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (AP)—The world record-holding Oregon University four-mile relay team will meet the New Zealand team again. No definite date has been set. Their first clash, Dec. 19, was spoiled when Vic Reeve of Burnaby, B.C., Oregon's leadoff runner, fell on the slushy track giving New Zealand a 39-yard advantage.

Passengers Unhurt In Nebraska Crash

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Frontier Airlines headquarters said one of its twin-engine passenger planes en route from Kansas City to Denver crashed Friday night on landing at the Grand Island, Neb., airport. A Frontier spokesman said there were no fatalities among the 43 persons aboard but some "probably half a dozen" suffered cuts, bruises and shock.

White House Discounts Effect Of First Skybolt Successful Firing

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The White House said today that despite the first successful test of a Skybolt missile, the Anglo-American Nassau agreement "gives the best possible defence for the West." Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said the defence capabilities made possible by the pact initiated this week in The Bahamas offer the best security for the West "not only for the '60s but for the '70s." The agreement involved substituting Polaris missiles for the Skybolt in the British arsenal, with Britain to furnish its own nuclear warheads. Salinger also pictured the two-power agreement as having "played a substantial part in increasing unity in the West."

Concern Mounts Over Cook Missing Since Ranch Party

ALEXIS CREEK (CP)—Concern mounts daily over the disappearance of a conscientious worker who seldom ventured beyond the gate of the C-1 Ranch here. Lung Sing Chan, 60, has not been seen since a small bunkhouse party Dec. 15. Ranch hands found the kitchen stove cold the next morning and his room empty. A wristwatch and $52 in cash sat on his table. Police said no vehicles left the ranch the night of Dec. 15 for a long ride to Williams Lake, 75 miles northeast. Sing probably wouldn't have left his own because he feared the dark and carried a club after nightfall. Sing was described as a friendly man who helped everyone. Ranch manager Dieter Kellinghusen said he had worked as ranch cook for four years and was "very reliable."

New China Attack Seen Against India

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—The Indian Express says the Communist Chinese in Tibet are preparing for an "unimaginably large-scale offensive against India." In a dispatch from Gangtok, capital of the little-known Himalayan kingdom of Sikkim, the paper quotes reliable sources as saying the Chinese in Tibet are busy digging trenches and bunkers in Lhasa, Shigatse, Gyantse, Yatung and other places. The Communists were also said to be digging in all along the Sikkim, Bhutan and North-east Frontier Agency borders. "Observers here are of the opinion that China is preparing for an unimaginably large-scale offensive against India in which it may employ its mighty air-power, and it is taking all possible safeguards against possible retaliatory steps," the Indian Express says.

Cuban Prisoners Home for Yule

HAVANA (AP)—A Christmas gift of freedom today awaited 1,113 Cuban invasion prisoners after 20 months of captivity. The Castro government agreed Friday to release them in exchange for medicine and food. The men will be freed "on or before Christmas," lawyer James B. Donovan of New York, chief negotiator for the prisoners' families, announced. Donovan broke the news himself to some prisoners held in Havana's Principe Castle and word of their long-waited freedom also was relayed to other captives held on the Isle of Pines off southwest Cuba. In Washington, American Red Cross officials reported the first prisoners are expected to arrive in Miami Sunday. But Havana radio said they would not be freed until Monday. The freighter African Pilot was expected to sail for Havana from Port Everglades, Fla., today with some of the supplies requested by Premier Fidel Castro as the price for the release of the prisoners. The medicines were donated by U.S. drug manufacturers. The Cuban government originally demanded $62,000,000 as a ransom. The value of the food and medicine now agreed on is estimated at $53,000,000. The pact specifies the prisoners will be freed when 20 per cent of the supplies are in Cuban hands.

Harkness Visits Gaza Troops

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Harkness, first Canadian defence minister to visit Gaza strip, inspected the Sinai desert Friday from an armed patrol jeep of the Royal Canadian Dragoons Reconnaissance Squadron serving with the UN Emergency Force in Egypt.

He was conducted on a tour of the desert by Maj. Jon Malone of Ottawa, commander of the squadron and later was given a telescopic view of the Israeli-Egyptian armistice line by Lieut. Dave Sproule of Victoria, troop commander. Earlier Mr. Harkness took the salute at a ceremonial parade of the 950-man Canadian contingent. He told the soldiers that he wanted to "compliment them on the job they were doing in contributing to the peace of the world."

Russian Warns United States After Congo Mission Arrival

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Soviet Chief Delegate Valerian A. Zorin criticized the action as he and U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson held separate press conferences Friday to give their views on the 17th General Assembly session just ended. Stevenson said the eight-man mission led by Lt. Gen. Louis W. Truman had been sent to strengthen Secretary General U Thant's plans to end the accession of Katanga province. But Zorin accused the United States of embarking on "the road to direct subversion" of UN principles. "This cannot but lead to serious complications of the situation inside The Congo and outside," he declared. Zorin reiterated that the Soviet Union has no intention of paying any part of the $10,000,000-a-month Congo bill which prompted the assembly to schedule a special session next spring to deal with the threat of UN bankruptcy.

Two Youths Stabbed Two Boys Held

TORONTO (CP)—Two youths were stabbed to death Friday night in separate fights and police are holding two other teenage boys on non-capital murder charges. Gerry Graham, 19, died after being stabbed in the throat with a pocket knife at a high school dance in east-central Toronto. James Keith, 18, was stabbed in the stomach outside a restaurant in the city's north end. Patrick Garrity, 17, has been charged with non-capital murder in the Graham death and Leslie Barber, 16, faces a similar charge in the Keith stabbing.

STOP-PRESS BULLETINS

Burglary Try Found At Lumby

LUMBY — Police are investigating an attempted break-in at the government liquor store here today after the front window was found smashed. RCMP officers say they believe thieves were scared away after the window was broken. Nothing was missing they say. The Lumby liquor store has been entered illegally six times in the past three years netting thieves a total of more than $1,200 in loot.

Prisoners Home Christmas Eve

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The first liberated Cuban prisoners of war will arrive in Miami Monday, the Cuban Families Committee announced today.

Tass Calls Agreement "Blow"

MOSCOW (AP)—Tass news agency said tonight the Nassau talks between President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan resulted in a heavy blow to Britain's prestige.

West Germany Hopes For NATO Force

BONN (Reuters)—The West German government hopes the agreement reached by President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan in Nassau will be "a first step towards the realization of a multilateral NATO nuclear force," a government spokesman said today.

Russia Launches Radio Satellite

LONDON (Reuters)—Russia today launched another satellite, Cosmos XII, Moscow Radio reported. It carried scientific equipment for space research and a radio transmitter operating on a frequency of 19.995 megacycles, and the equipment on board was functioning normally, the radio said.

Headlines Caustic In British Press Following Skybolt Demise

LONDON (AP)—The agreement between Prime Minister Macmillan and President Kennedy to provide Britain with Polaris missiles brought a wave of criticism from right and left today. A furious onslaught is also expected from some right-wing members of Macmillan's ruling Conservative party when he reports back to the House of Commons next month. As they prepared to disperse for the Christmas recess there were many accusations that Macmillan had bartered away Britain's nuclear independence and was coming back empty-handed. The Daily Herald splashed its report of the Polaris deal across its front page under the bold heading: "Macmillan's Surrender." The Daily Express describes Macmillan's deal with Kennedy as "the sell-out" in a banner across its front page.

Diefenbaker, Macmillan Talks Continue At Nassau

NASSAU, Bahamas (Reuters)—The prime ministers of Canada and Britain held fresh talks here today with Skybolt and Polaris reported on the agenda. As Britain's Harold Macmillan and Canada's John Diefenbaker resumed their discussions, senior British sources said they viewed today's successful test of the Skybolt missile at Cape Canaveral, Florida, as an ironic development. But the sources added it made no difference to the day-old agreement between Macmillan and President Kennedy to abandon replace it with submarine-carried Polaris missiles to maintain the British nuclear deterrent. A communique on the Macmillan-Diefenbaker talks was expected this afternoon. The British leader was slated to leave by air for London at 4 p.m. EST. The British foreign secretary, the Earl of Home, attended the meeting. Kennedy, who left this British resort island for Palm Beach, Fla., Friday, had luncheon talks with Macmillan and Diefenbaker, who continued their discussions after the United States leader had departed.

MOTHERS VISIT TO PARENTS PAID BY CHILDREN

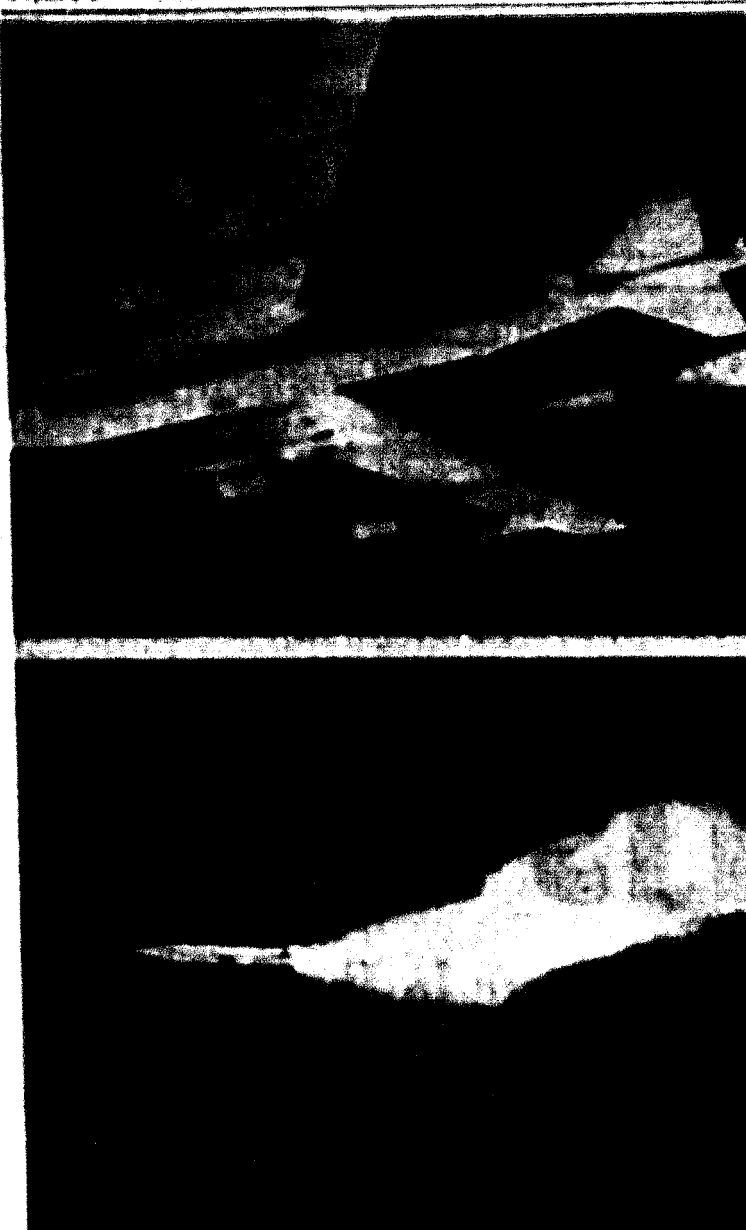

Nine Little "Sneaks" Provide Trip

SAYVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. John Hayden is packing her bags for a Christmas Eve flight to see her parents in California for the first time in 18 years—thanks to nine little "sneaks." That is how the 42-year-old Long Island mother good-naturedly describes her children, who pooled their resources for months to finance the trip without ever letting her know about it. The children, ranging in ages from 16 years to 18 months, turned the trick with dimes, nickels and pennies earned in a variety of ways. Their father, John Hayden, learned of the campaign only recently. The two eldest Hayden children, John, 16, and Maureen, 15, worked up the plan of having all the children chip in each week to pay the fare. That was last summer. They passed the idea on to their sisters and brothers and the campaign was under way. John washed dishes at a diner one day a week and Maureen worked as a counter girl. Dennis, 14, cut lawns and did other odd jobs. Nicholas, 12, donated a great deal of his newspaper route profits. Margaret, 9, Donald, 8, Michael, 6, and Thomas, 5, chipped in dimes, nickels and pennies from their allowances and money given them for work around the house. "Even 18-month-old Christopher did his share," Mrs. Hayden said. "If he found any coins on the floor or on a dresser, he would put them in the piggy bank for the trip."

WHAT FUSS WAS ABOUT

A test Skybolt missile seen here leaving its mother plane and in the second picture proceeding under its own steam, has set off considerable controversy between the U.S. and Britain during the past week. Mao and Kennedy meet
General Assembly closes
Prime Minister Macmillan and President Kennedy met in The Bahamas this week to discuss the international situation and to settle the problem created by the United States decision to scrap the Skybolt missile project.

The two Western leaders announced they had agreed to equip Britain with Polaris missiles as a substitute for the 1,000-mile air-to-ground nuclear Skybolt with which Britain had hoped to arm its bombers.

The British cabinet, after receiving a telephone report from Macmillan, was reported to have formally approved the agreement reached by Kennedy and Macmillan on the Polaris and Britain's role as a nuclear power.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker flew to Nassau Friday to meet with the two leaders. Diefenbaker said in Ottawa Thursday night he planned to discuss with Macmillan Britain's bid to enter the European Economic Community.

Generally speaking, insofar as his meeting with Macmillan is concerned, we'll deal with the international situation and in particular with the Common Market," Diefenbaker said.

The Polaris would keep Britain's national nuclear force alive until the early 1970s. In return Macmillan will work for the organization of a NATO nuclear deterrent force to prevent further spread of national nuclear systems.

UN PRESIDENT PRAISED
The 17th United Nations General Assembly closed just after midnight Friday amid praise for President Muhammad Zafrulla Khan of Pakistan for the way in which he conducted the business.

The Assembly opened Sept. 18 and managed to wind up its program a day before the deadline. The East and West agreed that the new revolutionary government in Yemen, a small Arab republic, had the right to take its seat at the UN over the claims of a royalist regime.

Among other business of the final day, the Assembly abolished its one-man watchdog commission on Communist Hungary. Canada supported the U.S. initiative in turning over the matter to Secretary-General U Thant from the commissioner, Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand. The commission was set up after the 1958 Hungarian uprising.

Prisoners rioted at the Buenos Aires central jail Tuesday night and after a 12-hour battle between guards and prisoners at least 27 persons were found killed.

An Argentine government announcement said 10 guards and 17 prisoners had been killed in the abortive escape attempt. The riot was blamed on overcrowding.

Efforts were continuing in New York to settle a strike which began 14 days ago and resulted in the suspension of publication of nine daily newspapers. The strike was called by the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union No. 6 when the union and newspapers could not agree on a new contract.

The strike resulted in the closing down for a week of Bowater's Mersey Paper Company's paper mill in Liverpool, N.S. The company said Thursday operations would be halted during Christmas week. They will resume Jan. 2.

SELLS WHEAT
Agriculture Minister Hamilton announced in Ottawa Tuesday a new contract under which Canada will sell to Communist China about 34,000,000 bushels of wheat, valued at $65,000,000. The wheat will be shipped from west coast ports during the first half of 1963.

PARLIAMENT ADJOURNS
Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin, deputy governor-general, gave royal assent to 13 bills in Ottawa Thursday night, minutes before Parliament adjourned until Jan. 21.

The main measures that became law were a grant of $330,000,000 in interim supply to cover the government's day-to-day spending in January and an act setting up a Crown corporation in charge of the 1967 world's fair in Montreal.

DISARMAMENT TALKS
The Soviet Union said Thursday in Geneva it will stop all nuclear testing by Jan. 1 only if the U.S. and Britain formally pledge to do the same. The Western powers reject the idea of an unpolled moratorium.

The Soviet statement came during the year's last meeting of the 17-nation disarmament talks. The conference recessed for Christmas and will resume Jan. 15.

OIL MARKET
The National Energy Board in Ottawa was informed Tuesday that increases in Canadian crude oil production next year will be absorbed by the Ontario market rather than by continued substantial exports to the U.S.

This is in line with the new U.S. oil import policy explained to the Canadian government last week in talks in which Canada accepted limits on crude oil exports.

Joseph T. Thomson, 73, president of the Exchequer Court of Canada, is recovering after being shot Dec. 16 in both legs during a daylight robbery in Rio de Janeiro.

Thomson and Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteux of the Supreme Court of Canada were sightseeing after attending the congress of the international commission of jurists. Fauteux was not hurt.

CHINESE CHRISTMAS
Three Chinese families get their first taste of Christmas and their first visit from Santa in Edmonton next week. The six children and four adults were among 100 families brought to Canada after fleeing from China to Hong Kong last May.

World briefs: University students in Elisabethville, the Congo, shouted "down with Kennedy" and stoned the U.S. consulate Thursday. . . . Ground parties have reached the wreckage of a Brazilian airliner which crashed Dec. 14 in the Amazon jungle, killing all 50 aboard.

Trans-Canada Air Lines announced it will continue to operate its Prairie "milk run" service between Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Swift Current, Brandon and Winnipeg, and that it will take over Regina - Saskatoon-Prince Albert route Jan. 2.

Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba Thursday decided to ask for a meeting with the federal government to discuss railway companies' abandonment of uneconomic lines on the Prairies. At a tri-province Regina meeting, organizations representing grain - growing, municipal and urban interests backed the provinces' call for a temporary halt to all line abandonment and asked for federal government planning of an overall abandonment policy.

Alberta legal officials and defence lawyers are to meet next week to decide whether the crown will finance an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada of the capital murder conviction of Raymond Daniel Workman, 44, and William Huculak, 29, sentenced to be hanged Jan. 9 for killing Edmonton golf professional Frank Willey, 68, whose body has not been found. Their appeal to the Alberta Supreme Court was turned down Thursday.

WEEK IN THE EAST
In the tiny central New Brunswick community of Betsieburg fire swept through the dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. Fenwood Parker, killing five of their eight children and a babysitter. The children ranged in age from two to 11. . . . In Quebec police forces from both Canada and the United States said they had smashed a huge car-theft ring that extended from the Maritimes to Detroit. . . . In Ontario a redistribution commission recommended 10 additional legislative seats be created to increase representation from suburban Toronto which now has a disproportionate six seats.

Broken Travel Records Predicted For Christmas

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Canadians by the tens of thousands are taking advantage of a general four-day Christmas holiday to go places, despite weather that in some parts of the country has made travel hazardous.

A spokesman for Trans-Canada Air Lines said bookings for the weekend are up 25 per cent from last year and an official of Canadian National Railways said rail traffic out of Toronto's Union Station was the heaviest since the late 1950s. The automotive exodus from Toronto Friday night appeared to have assumed record-setting proportions.

The heavy traffic encountered poor driving conditions in at least two parts of the country. A blizzard swept through the Prairies and wet snow caused traffic in southern Ontario where sleet and some freezing rain were also predicted.

The Canadian Highway Safety Council has predicted a traffic death toll of 58 for the five-day period from 6 p.m. Friday night to midnight Wednesday. Last year 53 persons died in the four-day Christmas weekend.

Vancouver's pre-Christmas atmosphere has been altered a little with the conversion of the coastal freighter Northern Princess into a "carol ship." She will tour the harbor for the next three nights, escorted by a flotilla of small illuminated boats.

ELKS PACK 30 CHRISTMAS HAMPERS

Friday night, Kelowna Elks BPOE packed hampers of Christmas goods and toys for families in the area, an annual project for the club and this year done through the central Christmas hamper depot. From left are Emile Houshord, Jack Enson, Otto Schlusser, Orville Curtis, Alf James, chairman of the committee, and Adolph Roth. The Elks also take hampers to 34 Chinese and Japanese old aged pensioners. Most of the goods will be delivered today. (Courier Photo)

Psychiatrist Says Facilities "Adequate And Economical"

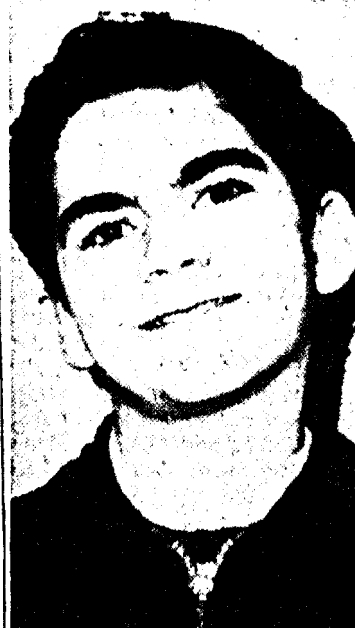

Dr. Frank McNair, director of the Okanagan Regional Mental Health Centre in Kelowna, told a news conference today the new facilities are economical and adequate. "We have already put in an application for a second psychiatrist Dr. McNair said, "although we don't know yet how much mental sickness there is in the area we serve. (Princeton to Kamloops.) A pilot project for the province, the clinic will be formally opened Dec. 28 at 2:30 p.m. by Premier W. A. C. Bennett following speeches at city council chambers. Building the clinic addition to the South Okanagan Health unit cost $77,680 but Ald. Dennis Crookes pointed out the entire unit was renovated and re-equipped at the same time. "Not one room in the building remained unchanged," health unit director Dr. David Clarke told newsmen. EMPHASIS ON PEOPLE Dr. McNair said the emphasis for the new clinic will be on the people treated, not lavish surroundings. "This is not a separate service this is part of the community health services," he said. He said the new seven-bed psychiatric ward at Kelowna General Hospital which is being used in conjunction with the clinic is a fine ward in no way forbidding. In its seven rooms

Ratepayers In Westbank Call For Sewage System

WESTBANK — A meeting of the Westbank Waterworks District ratepayers and landowners held this week gave the trustees instructions to amend letters patent of the Waterworks District to include the future objective of installation and operation of a sanitary sewage system for the down-town area of Westbank. William MacLachlan and Paul Brown made the required motion which, following lengthy discussion, was finally passed. This move has come about as a result of a special meeting requested by Dr. D. A. Clarke, MHO, and called last July. At that time ratepayers concerned appointed a steering committee comprising H. R. Drought, Peter Romanchuk and Vernon Norman. A. M. Thompson later was named to the committee. Directed to investigate a feasible plan for sewage disposal for the downtown area, Tuesday's meeting was called to deal further with the problem. A future meeting expected to be called in the near future will give prospective sewage users the overall costs and method of financing the project.

"ROCKS" BEAT "BROOMS" TO TAKE TROPHY

Winner in the Kelowna Ladies curling club play-downs Friday between the "Rocks" and "Brooms" was the "Rocks". Gwen Donnelly, Renee Smith had; Top row, L-R, Gwen Donnelly, skip, Gwen Newby, third. The rink defeated the Bertie McCaugherty rink to win the Meikle Trophy. The ladies curling is divided into two groups, an afternoon group and the business girls who curl twice weekly in the evenings. The afternoon curlers have 16 rinks entered, playing Tuesday to Friday while the business girls, who have only 8 rinks entered, curl Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

Funeral Monday For Four Year Old

A funeral service will be held at 1:30 p.m. Monday following the death Friday night of Glenda Elizabeth Silbernegel, aged four, who died suddenly in hospital. Glenda is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Silbernegel of Rutland; two brothers Timothy and Darren and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Michael Silbernegel, Rutland and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Teather of Ellison. Father F. L. Flynn will officiate. Interment is in Kelowna cemetery.

Dr. Knox Draws Doll Winner

Dr. W. J. Knox Friday night drew a winning ticket for Mrs. G. Martell, 138 Francis Ave. in a Canadian Artistic and Rhetorical Society doll contest. The winning ticket had two sevens in it (1977). The doll contest, an annual project of the Kelowna CARS, was officially over last night. On Thursday night, more than 80 guests, patients with their husbands or wives, attended a CARS Christmas party at the Capt. Motor Inn sponsored by the auxiliary. It was the first venture and according to Mrs. T. F. McWilliams, a successful one. Following refreshments and films by physiotherapist Joan Critchley, the guests were taken on a Christmas drive around the city to see the lights. Chocolates and Christmas centrepieces were among prizes won at the party by Mrs. J. Spill, Mrs. Bewick, Mrs. M. Trimble and H. Botham.

Colder Tonight Prediction:

Patches of fog and cloud should give way to sunny skies by noon as a ridge of high pressure covers B.C. Storms moving northward over the Pacific are too far offshore to affect B.C.'s weather for the time being but should bring increasing cloud and southeast winds to the north coast for Sunday. Colder air is predicted for tonight in the Interior.

WHAT'S AT THE MOVIES?

Monday and Tuesday Dec. 24 and 25
THE FLYING FONTAINES Michael Callan, Emy Norlund, Jonn Evans and Alan Garrick are starred in this circus film with Callan as an outspoken young trapeze artist, who is determined to become the world's best "flyer". His interest in Miss Norlund sets off a chain reaction of bitterness and near-tragedy within the act and within the circus.
Wed., Thurs., Fri., and Sat. Dec. 26 to 29 incl.
"HMS DEFiant" This picture is based upon an actual fleetwide mutiny in the British Navy during the Napoleonic Wars, but the crew of the "Defiant" abandon their escape plans in order to provide a great naval victory in the Mediterranean. Alec Guinness, Dirk Bogarde and Anthony Quayle are the stars. Companion picture during this period is an 18-minute color picture by the National Film Board on the Nahanni Valley. The film was written by the same man who recently had a lengthy story on the same subject in a national magazine.

MYSTERY OBJECT AT BACK DOOR HAD FOUR WHEELS, NO TRACKS

There is a major mystery abroad in one of central Kelowna's residential districts. A young family was startled this morning to see a small car perched almost on their back porch when they awoke. The lady of the house investigated and found identification of the owner and telephoned him. Finding the car missing when he went to go to work, he had just looked out the window and saw it sitting in the yard across the lane. How it got there, for there were no tracks on the back lawn, is still a mystery. RCMP are investigating.

Gifts in Unlocked Cars Temptation to Thieves

RCMP today cautioned Christmas shoppers not to leave gifts, groceries and toys in unlocked cars. "Citizens are urged to lock their cars or better still put groceries and such in the trunk, what thieves can't see they won't take," Staff Sgt. R. H. McKay said. His comments followed two Friday night reports of thefts. At 8:10 p.m. toys to the value of $100, approximately $50 in groceries and a small amount of Christmas cheer were taken from a car parked near the Canadian Legion. A shotgun in the car wasn't located. William H. Jerome, RR 5, Kelowna, reported to RCMP approximately $20 in Christmas goods was taken from his car parked at Shopa Court early this morning. A hit-and-run accident in the Arena Parking lot at 8 p.m. Friday was reported by Nick Ingham of Kelowna, who, police said, complained that a driver cut in front of him on the lot damaging his rear fender for about $400 worth of damage. RCMP have the make, color and license of the suspect.

Road Conditions Reported "Good"

Praser Canyon: Good winter conditions no closures, odd frosty sections and sanding where necessary.
Highway 71: Good winter conditions bare and dry to low hills. From Williams Lake odd slippery sections, sanding where necessary.
Highway 1: Overcast, the road is well sanded, use winter tread or carry chains.
Sagers Pass: Good winter conditions odd slippery sections, sanding where necessary, use winter tread or carry chains.

Judge Lights Today In Westbank Homes

The Christmas lighting contest held in conjunction with B.C. Hydro and, in Westbank, the Westbank Chamber of Commerce and in Peachland, Peachland Women's Institute has attracted a fair number of entries. They will be judged as follows: Peachland, Dec. 21 and Westbank and Lakeview Heights, Dec. 22. Homes are attractively lighted for the holiday season, and Westbank's Main Street is colorfully illuminated.

WESTBANK NOTEBOOK

Okanagan Newspaper Of 1912 Suggested Gift-Growing Tree

By DOROTHY GELLATLY Christmas in the Okanagan 50 years ago apparently was beset with exactly the same problems as today—particularly that of finance, according to a special holiday number of an Okanagan newspaper of 1912 in which it was suggested noted naturalist, Luther Burbank, might well look into the possibility of developing a Christmas tree that would sprout its own presents. On the more serious side there appeared a moving message from Judge Swanson of Kamloops; but the special purpose of the issue was to boost the Okanagan, for the various sections describe in glowing language the Okanagan as a whole where "... over 109,000 acres of orchard, hay and garden land ... will produce returns valued at over $11,000,000 annually to the growers." WIDE SCOPE Of the Kelowna district it says: "Here is the largest area of orchard land in the province" and of Westbank, "with the exception of the Fairview tract of 10,000 acres this section offers the widest scope for development by irrigation of any in the Okanagan. The streams are particularly untouched and only partially surveyed. The opportunity for capital or for government action is a magnificent one." Figures quoted elsewhere give the undeveloped acreage in Westbank as 2,000 and developed, 1,000. And of Peachland: "The earliest settlement on the west side of Okanagan Lake, the history of its inception reads like a romance. Led by spiritual guidance, a band of pioneers from the prairies of Manitoba halted here, looking for the wealth they were assured would be found back in the mountains. They patiently and hopefully toiled in drift and tunnel, until their resources almost gone and the mineral wealth they were seeking still eluding their reach, they were prepared to abandon it all. A stray peach stone cast aside years before had by some miracle lodged in suitable soil and at this time had developed into a considerable tree. The idea suggested by that peach tree has resulted in the present municipalities of Peachland and Summerland." Undeveloped land in 1912 in the Peachland area was given as 500 acres and developed, 1,000.

Roads Here 50 Years Ago "Looked Anything But Inviting"

The 100 or so pages of this special issue contain excellent photos of the roads of that day, which, in the light of present-day highways, look anything but inviting. Of the Vernon-Kelowna road the article speaks of: "... unpropitious obstacles so signally onerous. Rock abounds. Buttress face is cloven. Ravines are skirted in graceful curvatures. Grades are rarely perceptible. The excellence of the roadbed is conspicuous, and railings inspire a sense of security at precipitous stations. . . . And, nearing Kelowna; . . . Son of the Butill, Cloverdale and Ellison sections are passed. As the road tops the rise at Heron's Hill, Okanagan Lake and the timbered gorges and frowning cutbanks of Mission Creek come into view. To the left are the extensive newly-planted Rutland orchards. Closer in the orchards are older and more compact. On Kelowna's suburban avenues a constant traffic is met." Of the road south of Kelowna there's an interesting view of the lake-shore road at Peachland, which is particularly interesting in comparison with the present highway at that point. In those days the old "upper road" road between Peachland and Summerland was still in use. Some years later it was abandoned for the lakeshore highway, and how well some of us remember the roadside warning of "10 miles of bad turns" turns that seemed to come full circle in many cases. Personally that sign always frustrated me, and I'd invariably exclaim as we rounded still another of those "graceful curvatures" . . . "as though we don't know it without being told!" Later again, that road was given up for a very, very much improved "upper level" highway. DISCOVERED IN BOX Those are but a few of the highlights gleaned from a hurried glance through that special issue discovered in an old box in Naramnata by Mrs. Johnny Schneider who recently moved from Westbank, and who, recognizing the treasure it was, brought it to me. I haven't a doubt that there remain a score of "gems" to discover in its pages, and per some of the other columns in it.

Friday Theft Of Toys, Food Totalled Approximately $200

RCMP today cautioned Christmas shoppers not to leave gifts, groceries and toys in unlocked cars. There were no arrests made overnight. Mrs. Emma McDougal, from the Westbank Indian Reserve, is in Kelowna hospital suffering from a broken hip and cuts and bruises apparently as the result of an assault. RCMP are investigating and charges are being contemplated. On Thursday two cars, one driven by Siegfried Scherle, Kelowna and the other driven by Fredric Mann also of Kelowna, were in collision on the Lakeshore Road near the Mission Creek bridge. Total damage is estimated at $450. RCMP highway patrol are investigating.

CAR STOLEN

A small English car was taken from Lambertson Motor Sales this week and recovered abandoned a few blocks from the lot. Police are investigating.

POLICE COURT

In police court Friday Thomas McKinnon, Kelowna, pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to remove the keys from the ignition of his car while it was parked on a public highway. He was found guilty and fined $10 and $2 costs. Alma Pearl Lalner, Rutland, pleaded guilty to a charge of turning left from a public highway without having first ascertained that it could be done in safety. The charge was laid after an accident on the Black Mountain Rd. which resulted in approximately $500 to $600 damage. Mrs. Lalner was fined $25 and $3 costs. Gordon J. Shaw, Winfield, pleaded guilty to failing to stop at a stop sign and was fined $15 and $3 costs. Michael Bielle Jr. charged with impaired driving pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and $40 costs, or in default two months in jail, and also had his licence suspended for six months. William Visser was fined $15 and $5 costs for failing to stop at a red flashing light. Henry Felk pleaded guilty to a charge of theft under $50 and was fined $50 and costs. William Harshen charged with possession of alcohol while being under the age of 21 was fined $25 and costs.

PEE WEE PRACTICES

Tom Landale, director of the Kelowna Pee Wee hockey league today announced special practice times for league players Monday. The All Stars will practice from 9 to 11 a.m. Herb Sullivan and Jim Lowe will be coaches on duty.

B.C. BRIEFS

DEFICIT REPORTED KAMLOOPS (CP)—The Royal Inland Hospital finance committee has reported a deficit of $11,579. Director Fred Carr said rising prices will put the hospital in a serious position unless further help is received from the government.
AMALGAMATION SOUGHT KAMLOOPS (CP) — Mayor Jack Chilton Friday called for amalgamation of Kamloops and North Kamloops within the next 20 years. He said a five per cent tax saving could be effected.
LANGFORD DEAD VANCOUVER (CP) — Edward Bernard Langford, who was reported killed in a munitions convoy explosion in 1917, but lived to fight again in the First World War has died at 77. In charge of a munitions convoy to the trenches, he returned wounded once and was reported killed a day later.
RECORD SET VANCOUVER (CP) — The post office here set a daily record Monday when 2,279,400 letters went through the cancelling machines.
PEDESTRIAN DEAD COQUITLAM (CP) — Wong Jung Kue, about 55, has died in hospital of injuries suffered when struck by an auto near here.

City Youngsters Tell Of Christmas In Other Lands

Editor's Note: Following are further stories written by children of Division 2, Grades 5 and 6, Glenmore school on how Christmas is observed in other countries.
CHRISTMAS IN NORWAY By SCOTT
In Norway, the yuletide season starts on St. Thomas' Day, Dec. 21. The Norwegians bake cakes especially for St. Thomas on Christmas Eve. Another custom is "Shooting in Christmas." It goes away back to the ancient belief that witches appear on Christmas night. When young people go visiting they would creep up to the house and shoot a gun to frighten any witches. A Norwegian Christmas pudding has an almond in it. The people believe that the person who gets it in his pudding will be the next to be married.
CHRISTMAS IN THE NETHERLANDS By Cindy Dolman and Keith Heppner
In the Netherlands, the Dutch people celebrate Christmas on Dec. 5 and Dec. 6. They form crowds of people on the streets to see St. Nicholas ride by on his tall white horse. He is wearing a high, peaked hat and white robe. He carries a gold staff in one hand and has a white beard. St. Nicholas was born about 300 years after Christ and lived in Asia Minor. He there became a leader in the church. His servant, "Black Peter" walks beside him carrying a large sack in which to put naughty children. He also carries sweets for the good children. A Dutch mother lays a white cloth in front of the fireplace. This is where St. Nicholas puts nuts and cookies. He asks if the children have been good and if they have he promises to come back in the evening when the family is asleep. In the evening each member puts a shoe in front of the fireplace with hay and carrots in them. In the morning the hay and carrots are gone and in their place are gifts which are also hidden around the house. On Christmas morning, all the people gather in the market square to sing carols.
CHRISTMAS IN FRANCE By Maureen Clerke and Billy Pearson
This is Christmas with a family in southern France. Holiday preparations begin a few days before Christmas. The children gather moss, colored rocks and bright berries which are used to decorate the little creche or manger scene. They also put in a woman with a basket of olives and some angels up above. The French mother unpacks wise men and shepherds. Then the whole family gathers around to arrange the creche. The children's rocks and moss make a rocky hillside but the manger is empty. The family sits before a fire and where wine is poured on a vial back log and the log ignited. Candles are lit above the manger and the family sings Christmas carols. Then their father says a prayer and the children go to bed. When the Christmas bells ring, the adults go to a Christmas Eve service. When it is over the family returns home and the mother places a tiny figure of the Christ Child in the manger. Everyone joins in a midnight feast called the "Reveillon". On Christmas morning the children awake to find the baby in the manger and presents and candy in their shoes. Later in the day everyone gathers for a dinner. A large roast goose is served. At the end of the day, candles are lit around the creche and everyone recites Christmas poems.

St. Francis Prayer True Christmas Theme

Commercialism without conscience is not the only thing that can hide the real point of Christmas. It is also possible to obscure the Christmas reality under a cloud of religious sentimentalism. The slogan "Put Christ Back into Christmas" is presumptuous if not blasphemous.

The responsible Christian is not one who is forever "putting Christ back into Christmas," but rather one who is forever finding Him there. There are ever so many "religious" things we may do at Christmas with creches and candles, angels and shepherds, carols and cards, and yet fall far short of what Christmas means. The real point of it all is to make afresh the ever-startling discovery that God has come to us in Jesus Christ revealing towards us and for us His own nature of love.

No one could have predicted or prophesied exactly how God would accomplish this. And yet, as we look back to the Event we can see the wonderful aptness of it all! God offers Himself towards the human race in love. And what could be a more suitable expression of the utter helplessness of total love than the entire helplessness of a Baby in a manger?

Love that is total is totally at the mercy of those to whom it is given. The utter helplessness of love confers a tremendous and shocking responsibility on those to whom it is offered! "Love so amazing, so divine, demands my soul, my life, my all."

Here, then, is where the real discovery of Christmas begins. And the discovery is always a fresh surprise by joy, just because the love that is offered in Jesus Christ is always far beyond our desiring and our deserving. Its wonder is never exhausted. We can never reach a point in our learning when we can say: I know what it is all about; I have had the course! For this reason the first act of Christmas is worship; the adoration of the Word made flesh; the adoration of Him who is full of grace and truth.

In the mystery of Christian worship, we receive anew the gift of God's own life and love. The most wonderful present of all Christmas presents is the Presence of God in Jesus Christ. Unless our exchange of gifts is an expression of thanks for that greatest of Gifts, the deep joy of Christmas has eluded us.

It is because this Gift is given and lies so helplessly within our reach, that angels sang "Peace on earth; good will to men". The Gift when received with humility and joy makes each one of us an avenue of reconciliation in a world so terribly torn apart by selfishness and hate.

When we consider the massive problems to be solved by mankind and then look to the inward spiritual resources of man himself, we may well be driven to despair. But we can never limit the miracle God can perform in a single person who has offered himself as an avenue of His love into the heart of the world.

It is with this in mind that I offer for your use this Christmas-tide a prayer attributed to St. Francis of Assisi:

Lord, make us instruments of thy peace.

Where there is hatred, let us sow love;

Where there is injury, pardon;

Where there is discord, union;

Where there is doubt, faith;

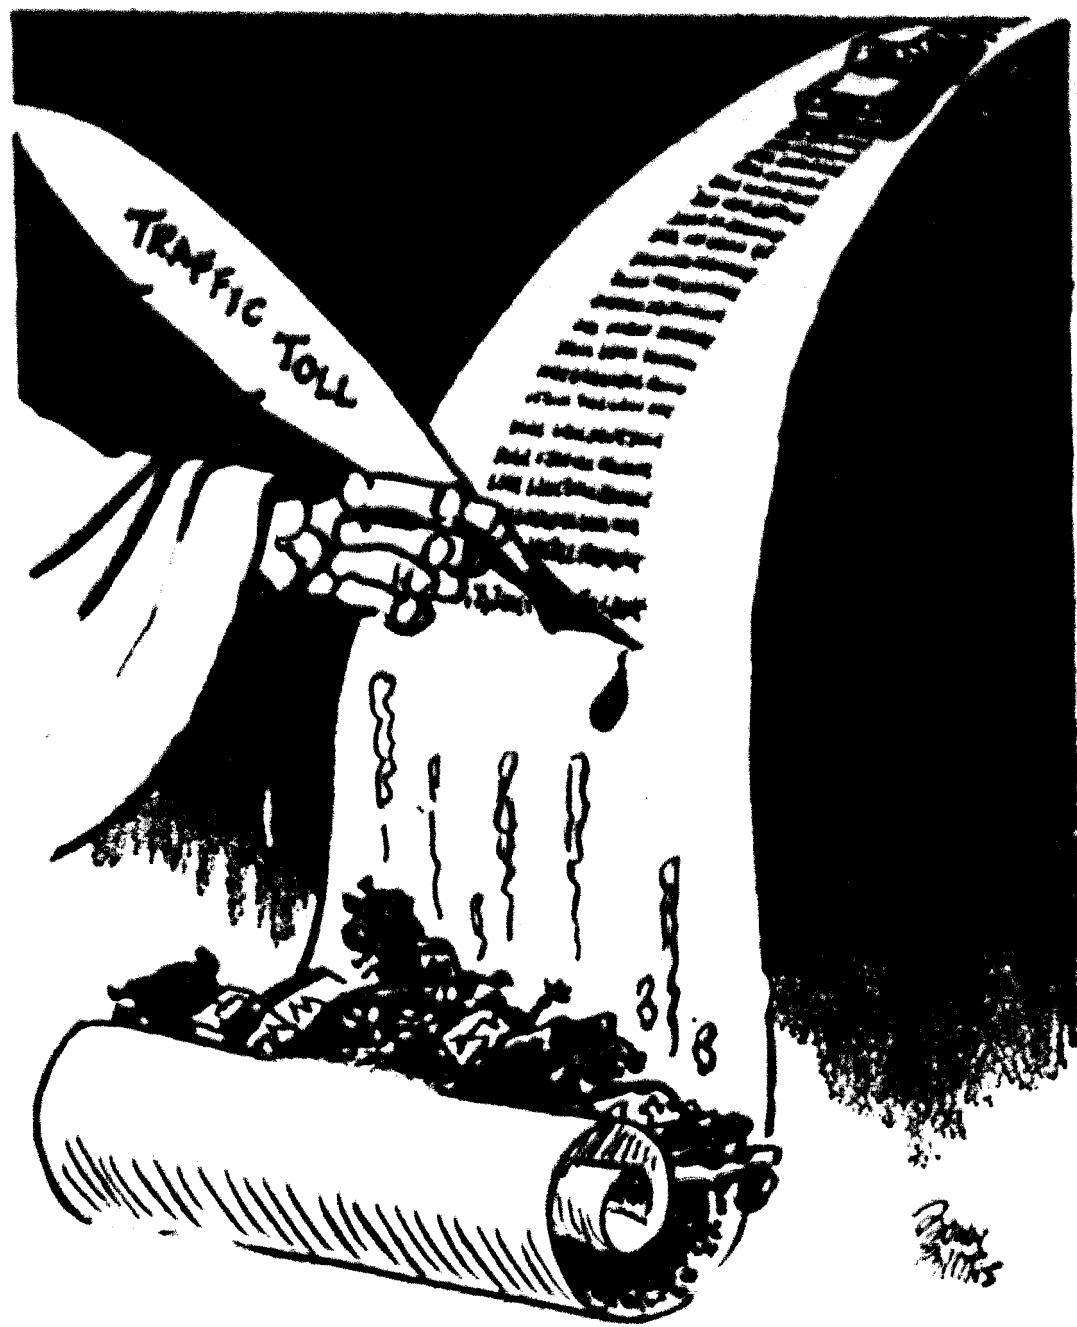

Where there is despair, hope;

Where there is darkness, light;

Where there is sadness, joy.

For thy mercy and for thy truth's sake. Amen.

—By the RIGHT REV. W. R. COLEMAN, Bishop of Kootenay.

ARE YOU ON THE CHRISTMAS LIST?

1963 to Be Year of Decision For Britain's Entry Into ECM

BY DOUG MARSHALL
LONDON (CP) — Britain is peering into her economic future with an advancing sixth sense of European unity. Not all the seers share the same conclusions about the Common Market of the outcome of the Brussels talks. But most agree that 1963 will be the year of decision.

By next Christmas Britons will know whether they are destined to remain an island race or become part of the economic whole.

To Prime Minister Macmillan's government and the majority of the country's industrial leaders, entry into the European Economic Community is a pragmatic and historical necessity if Britain is to remain an influential power.

Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell, together with the farmers and "Little England" groups on the right and left, thinks union with Europe will bring only limited economic benefits, will damage Britain's sovereign political status and wreck Commonwealth relations.

Whether the EEC talks succeed or fail, however, it is evident Britain is moving closer to the Continent than during any time of peace since the Reformation.

Many large companies in the expanding technical and light industrial fields are already establishing European connections and exploiting long-ignored markets.

LLOYD LOSER JOB
The government hopes competition within the Common Market will boost British productivity and stabilize a domestic economy that was listing badly when it limped into 1962 and was barely back on an even keel when it sailed out.

The year began with the country groaning under a balance-of-payments hangover from the previous summer. Prescribed as a cure were tight clamps on consumer spending and an unpopular "pay-pause" policy designed to freeze wages while production caught up.

Little relaxation of these restrictions came in the April budget unveiled by Selwyn Lloyd, then chancellor of the exchequer. Lloyd's association with the deflationary measures cost him his job in the July cabinet reshuffle.

Known sourly as the "sweet tooth" budget, the main proposal was to stick a 15-per-cent tax levy on ice cream, candy and soft drinks. Jeering critics accused Lloyd of pinching children's pocket money. They demanded more constructive leads for expansion.

PAY PAUSE CRACKED
In answer to the government produced two new planning bodies known as Nedd and Noley—the National Economic Development Council and the National Incomes Commission.

Nicky met with opposition from the trade unions who distrust any government-sponsored incomes policy, but Nedd was soon in operation.

Pressure from transport and electrical workers and civil servants soon cracked the pay pause. But there were corresponding signs of improvement in exports—particularly by the car industry.

By fall Lloyd's successor, Reginald Maudling, was happily surveying a balance-of-payments surplus of £96,000,000 and, despite seasonal pressure, gold reserves mounting to more than £1,030,000,000. Cautiously he began planning inflationary measures.

These came in November's "Little Budget" when the chancellor slashed the purchase tax on cars to 25 per cent from 45 per cent.

BRIEFS

COST RUNS HIGH
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—It cost about $2,000,000 to run for governor of California this year. That was officially reported as the cost of the campaigns of both the winner, incumbent Democrat Edmund G. Brown, and Republican Richard M. Nixon.

LIFTED LID, GETS YEAR
MONTREAL (CP)—A 42-year-old Montrealer was sentenced to a year in prison Tuesday for stealing a $10 hat as a court crackdown on holiday-season shoplifters gained momentum. Norman McBean pleaded guilty to stealing the hat from a downtown department store.

MANY FORGERIES
A French police expert estimates there are 100,000 forgeries of works by the 19th century French painter Corot in the United States.

LOOKING BACK with Old Stager No Sleigh Bells In 1912 Christmas

Christmas, 1912! For some time I have been looking forward to writing about Christmas as I remember it in those days. To tell all about the sleigh-bells jangling in the streets. Real sleigh-bells, on real horses, not just noises over the radio, made by someone who is just shaking a string of bells; of the teams and bob-sleighs with the heavier chimies, the laughing youngsters "hooking on" to the passing sleighs with their sleds, or ones without sleds standing on the runners at the back, until driven off by the annoyed owners; of the crisp crunching sound of footsteps in the frosty snow, on wooden sidewalks; of sleighing parties of joyous young folks, travelling to a party, or sleigh-riding just for the fun of it. Also for my nostalgic reminiscing, the Courier of Dec. 26th (What! No Hoisting Day holiday!) tells us that it was a green Christmas, "no snow at all in Kelowna, just an inch or two in the orchards on the benches, but none on the roads. Hard, bare, frozen roads, good travelling, but at times rough," says the report. What a disappointment! Now I know just how all those many youngsters, who got bright, shiny new sleds for Christmas, must have felt when they made a hole in the frost on the window and peeped out that frosty, but snowless, Christmas morning 50 years ago!

Well, at least it was alright for those who had skates, for there were plenty of ponds around to skate, out at "Whit-tup's," on the Bankhead, and I remember one out by "Sandy" Gordon's in Benvoulin that was popular. Out at Rutland, on the flats, there were three or four large ponds (since drained) that could accommodate quite a crowd of skaters. Of course there were always the venture-some ones, just as today, who skated on the edges of Okanagan, but it was a bit early in the winter for that.

The hockey club was beginning to get active, and would soon have a rink in operation down town, and the "Sham-rocks," the "Firemen" and the "Billikens" were expected to have teams in the usual city league, we were told.

There was one interesting item in the "Local and Personal" columns of that Dec. 26th issue. It told of the Boys Band, under the direction of Bandmaster Bornholdt, touring the city and cheering up the place with their music, playing at a number of different points. Incidentally, the citizens showed their appreciation—and the good Christmas spirit—by donating a total of $220 to the band, which will go to buy new uniforms, the Courier states.

There was also warning from G. A. Fisher, a local insurance man, about fire hazards at Christmas time, that is probably just as timely now as 50 years ago. He particularly stresses the danger of store fires at the festive season, with show windows filled with cotton batting and flimsy materials, easily ignited by contact with lamps or electric lights, and the dangers from hasty unpacking of goods, leaving excelsior, shavings and paper around. In the hope the Christmas tree was not decorated with electric lights then, but with candles stuck into little tin candle sticks, with the naked flame threatening to ignite the needles on the tree, a real fire hazard indeed, but how cheerful and brightly alive those lights were!

Christmas trees! They need decorating, of course, but 50 years ago not many people bought the decorations for their trees or their homes. They made them up, painstakingly, cutting up colored paper into strips, and twisting them, or making chains out of them, pasting together each separate line. Then there were the toys—not the mechanical monstrosities of today, nor the burp guns, nor electric trains—but clock work toys, tin soldiers in bright colors, games like parcheesi and steppachase, books by George A. Henty and Horatio Alger. These are all boys' presents, of course. For girls there was a variety of gifts available then, but running heavily then, to the "useful" type of gift, such as articles of clothing, and so on, but—for a little girl, the finest gift that you can give, today, 50 years ago, a thousand years ago, or a thousand years from now—a beautiful doll!

To all the other "Old Stagers," and the "not-so-old Stagers" who may read these articles, a "Merry Christmas!"

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Dec. 22, 1962 . . .

President Thomas Jefferson got the U.S. Congress to pass the Embargo Act by which, for a time, all foreign commerce was forbidden. 133 years ago today—in 1807, France and England were at war and between them were paralyzing American seaborne commerce. Jefferson believed the war powers would abandon their decrees blocking each other. He was mistaken, however, and was forced to repeal the act four days before he retired from the presidency in 1809.

1912 — The government announced plans to establish a national library for Canada.

1921 — Belgium and Luxembourg formed an economic union.

WASHINGTON (CP) — The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said Thursday the Soviet Union exploded another atmospheric nuclear test shot in the Arctic. The explosion was described as a low-yield shot, in the vicinity of Novaya Zemlya. This would mean an explosive force of up to 20,000 tons of TNT. It was the 25th test announced in the current Russian series, which began last August.

ACCEPT CREDENTIALS
UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The General Assembly's nine-nation credentials committee voted Thursday to accept the credentials of the Yemen Arab Republic, displacing the royalist delegation that has been sitting here. The vote was 6 to 0 with three abstentions. The United States and Canada were joined by the Soviet Union, Nigeria, Guinea and Indonesia in voting to recognize the party that revolted against the Yemen monarchy and set up the republic. The committee rejected as invalid a Soviet demand to turn down Nationalist China's credentials.

Canada Is Apprehensive Of Accord at Nassau

The events in the Bahamas in which accord was reached between the United States and Britain have implications which may not be well received by the Canadian government. It is possible the agreement under which Britain is to get Polaris missiles is a possible link in a chain of events which seem to point toward big-power directorship of the NATO alliance.

The reports from Nassau describing the Macmillan-Kennedy agreement as a step toward bringing the western big three under a single nuclear deterrent umbrella. The same reports suggested that the agreement might be a means of easing differences between Britain and the U.S. on one hand and French President deGaulle on the other. Gen. deGaulle has been insisting on an independent nuclear deterrent for France. Now, machinery is being set in motion to permit both Britain and France to have a form of independent deterrent, while co-ordinating their strategy with that of the U.S.

As seen by some Canadian officials, such an arrangement could carry the seeds of big power direction of NATO affairs, which Gen. deGaulle has advocated since 1958 and which Canadian adamantly opposes.

Under the French president's plan, Britain, the U.S. and France would form a directorate responsible for shaping the general strategy of the alliance. Canada, along with most of the small members of NATO, maintains that strategy should be worked out through consultation among all members, big and small.

Canadian officials believe there is danger that, after adopting a co-ordinated nuclear strategy the three big powers might proceed on the basis that deGaulle's directorate proposal is operative, whether formally accepted or not.

One Canadian informed source has said that this might be a "natural development" in view of the unique position which the three allies would then collectively occupy. Also, it was suggested that Gen. deGaulle probably would take advantage of France's new position to press his idea.

In Ottawa there is a feeling that the smaller NATO countries already are being left out of important conferences affecting the alliance. For some time a seemingly endless series of meetings has been taking place between leaders of the western big three, or between one of them and West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The smaller NATO nations for the most part have found themselves on the outside looking in. To be sure, Prime Minister Diefenbaker was in the Bahamas to confer with Mr. Macmillan—but that is because Mr. Macmillan turned a deaf ear on an invitation to come to Ottawa.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Baby Heart Has Chance

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What chance has a premature infant, born at seven months with a loud heart murmur, to live a normal life?

The doctor says the baby's lungs are now clear but that the murmur may be from a hole in the heart. He will have to wait until later for examination.

The baby seems to be gaining quite well.—H.L.B.

Under the circumstances, the baby's chances of survival—and a normal life thereafter—are quite good.

The loudness of the heart murmur isn't too important in itself. The question is what causes it.

If the cause is a "hole in the heart," (a gap in the wall between two adjacent chambers) there has been a steadily rising percentage of successful repair of such a defect.

The fact that the baby is gaining is an excellent sign. After all, the poor little chap had two disadvantages to begin with: The heart defect, whatever it turns out to be; and premature birth.

The first few days are the hardest for a premature baby; his chances increase with each passing week from then on. His gaining indicates that the heart still has reasonable power even though less than normal.

This in turn gives rise to the hope that he will continue to grow larger and stronger until heart surgery can be performed with reasonable chance of success.

There are thousands of children playing happily because such defects have been repaired and their hearts are now, for all practical purposes, normal. Without such surgery these same children would have been weak, short of breath, and in constant danger. Many of them would have died.

Not all defects of the heart are the same, either in type or degree of damage. The child must be somewhat older before it is wise to attempt a more exact diagnosis without risk.

It will be some time yet before you can have a dependable estimate of the chances, but with the baby gaining, you have good reason to be hopeful.

Dear Dr. Molner: For years I have been drinking two eight-ounce glasses of warm water before breakfast, with a tablespoon of lemon juice in each. Is this harmful? Does it tend to cause dryness of the skin or the intestines?—MRS. I.K.

No, not harmful—and not drying in any way. In fact, it is a healthful practice and the water usually helps to prevent constipation. The lemon juice provides a bit of Vitamin C, which we should have daily.

Dear Dr. Molner: I had a ganglion removed from the under part of my wrist several weeks ago. The incision is healed but I never seem to be free of pain of a cramping, arthritic nature, not only in the wrist but elsewhere—other wrist, ankles, upper legs, etc. Not all at once but feel it here, then there. What could cause this? I can't help but feel it has something to do with the operation.—I.H.

If the discomfort were confined to the wrist, I would suspect interference by scar tissue, but since remote joints are involved and the pain is of the "arthritic" type I would say the operation had nothing to do with it. You should be checked for arthritis or gout.

ANN LANDERS

Ridicule Won't Work

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter will be 11 in March. Everyone comments on how attractive she is yet she has never been asked for a date. Penny has always been fairly well-behaved and has never given us any trouble—until now. She has taken an unusual interest in a 14-year-old boy who lives down the street. He comes from a good family, is intelligent and nice looking, but much too young for Penny. His parents are friends of ours and they don't like it any more than we do. The two of them usually giggle and whisper like 9-year-olds but at times they make cow-eyes at each other and moon around like lovers. Frankly, we can't figure it.

I tried to shame Penny into dropping the boy, but she became furious. Now she lies about where she has been after school, and sometimes she sneaks out the back door to meet him after she says she is going to bed.

What advice can you give us?—CONCERNED

Dear Concerned: Ridicule and preaching will do no good. It will only force her to be more devious and defiant. Say nothing about the boy for now. Accept the situation as you would if he were three years older.

If Penny hasn't lost interest in this boy by the time she has reached her 17th birthday, see a counsellor who deals with problem adolescents. He will steer you.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently we sent a lovely wedding gift to the daughter of close friends. It was an abstract painting, and we felt sure she would like it.

Last week the friends had a reception at their home, honoring the young couple. The wedding gifts were on display. Both my husband and I searched high and low for the painting. Finally, I asked the mother of the bride where it was.

She said, "Unfortunately, it was not possible to display all the gifts so we had to leave some in the boxes."

Both my husband and I thought this was in poor taste. Are we wrong? Should we suggest to the bride that if she doesn't care for the painting she can return it for credit and get something to her liking?—M.

Dear M.: If gifts are being displayed, all gifts should be shown—or none.

Selecting art for others is a hazardous business, and I think it would be generous of you to tell the bride she may exchange the painting if it isn't something she would have selected.

Dear Ann Landers: Am I being "stiff-necked and unreasonable?"

able?" Brad and I have been going together for two and a half years. He is 29, I am 31. I will be meeting his mother soon for the first time. She lives in another city, and this will be her 75th birthday. People who know her say she is a strict moralist and rules the family with an iron hand.

Brad has asked me to "forget" about my previous marriage if she should raise the question. Also he would prefer to have his mother believe I am younger than he is, instead of older. Finally, he wants me to tell his mother I am a school teacher, when I am really a secretary to an administrator in the public school system.

He claims none of these distortions are serious and that I would be making an old lady very happy. What do you say?—TICKLISH SUBJECT

Dear Subject: Tell Brad that perhaps he'd better find himself a younger school teacher—with no previous marriage. Unless he is willing to present you to his mother as you are, don't go.

Dear Concerned: Ridicule and preaching will do no good. It will only force her to be more devious and defiant. Say nothing about the boy for now. Accept the situation as you would if he were three years older.

If Penny hasn't lost interest in this boy by the time she has reached her 17th birthday, see a counsellor who deals with problem adolescents. He will steer you.

Women's Institute Of Winfield Hold Christmas Supper

The Club Room of the Memorial Hall held a festive air on Tuesday evening, Nov. 14th for the annual meeting of the Women's Institute at which seven-teen members and one guest, Mrs. Margaret Ratcliffe of Kelowna, a former member were present.

The meeting began with a pot luck supper for which the table was beautifully decorated with a Christmas theme.

Members exchanged gifts valued at not more than 25 cents and also handed in a towel and four safety pins for the Unitarian Service Parcel.

Christmasy get well cards were sent to Mrs. Belle Cordest and Mrs. Gladys Powley, members who were unable to attend because of illness.

Following the dinner the election of officers for 1963 was held, and elected were president, Mrs. Margaret Teel, vice-president, Mrs. Jessie Shaw, secretary Mrs. Lillian Hillaby and elected treasurer, Mrs. Rose Harma, publicity, Mrs. Peggy Gibbons and cards and flowers secretary, Mrs. Vivian Davis.

Then came the fun, games and contests were held and very much enjoyed, various small prizes were awarded.

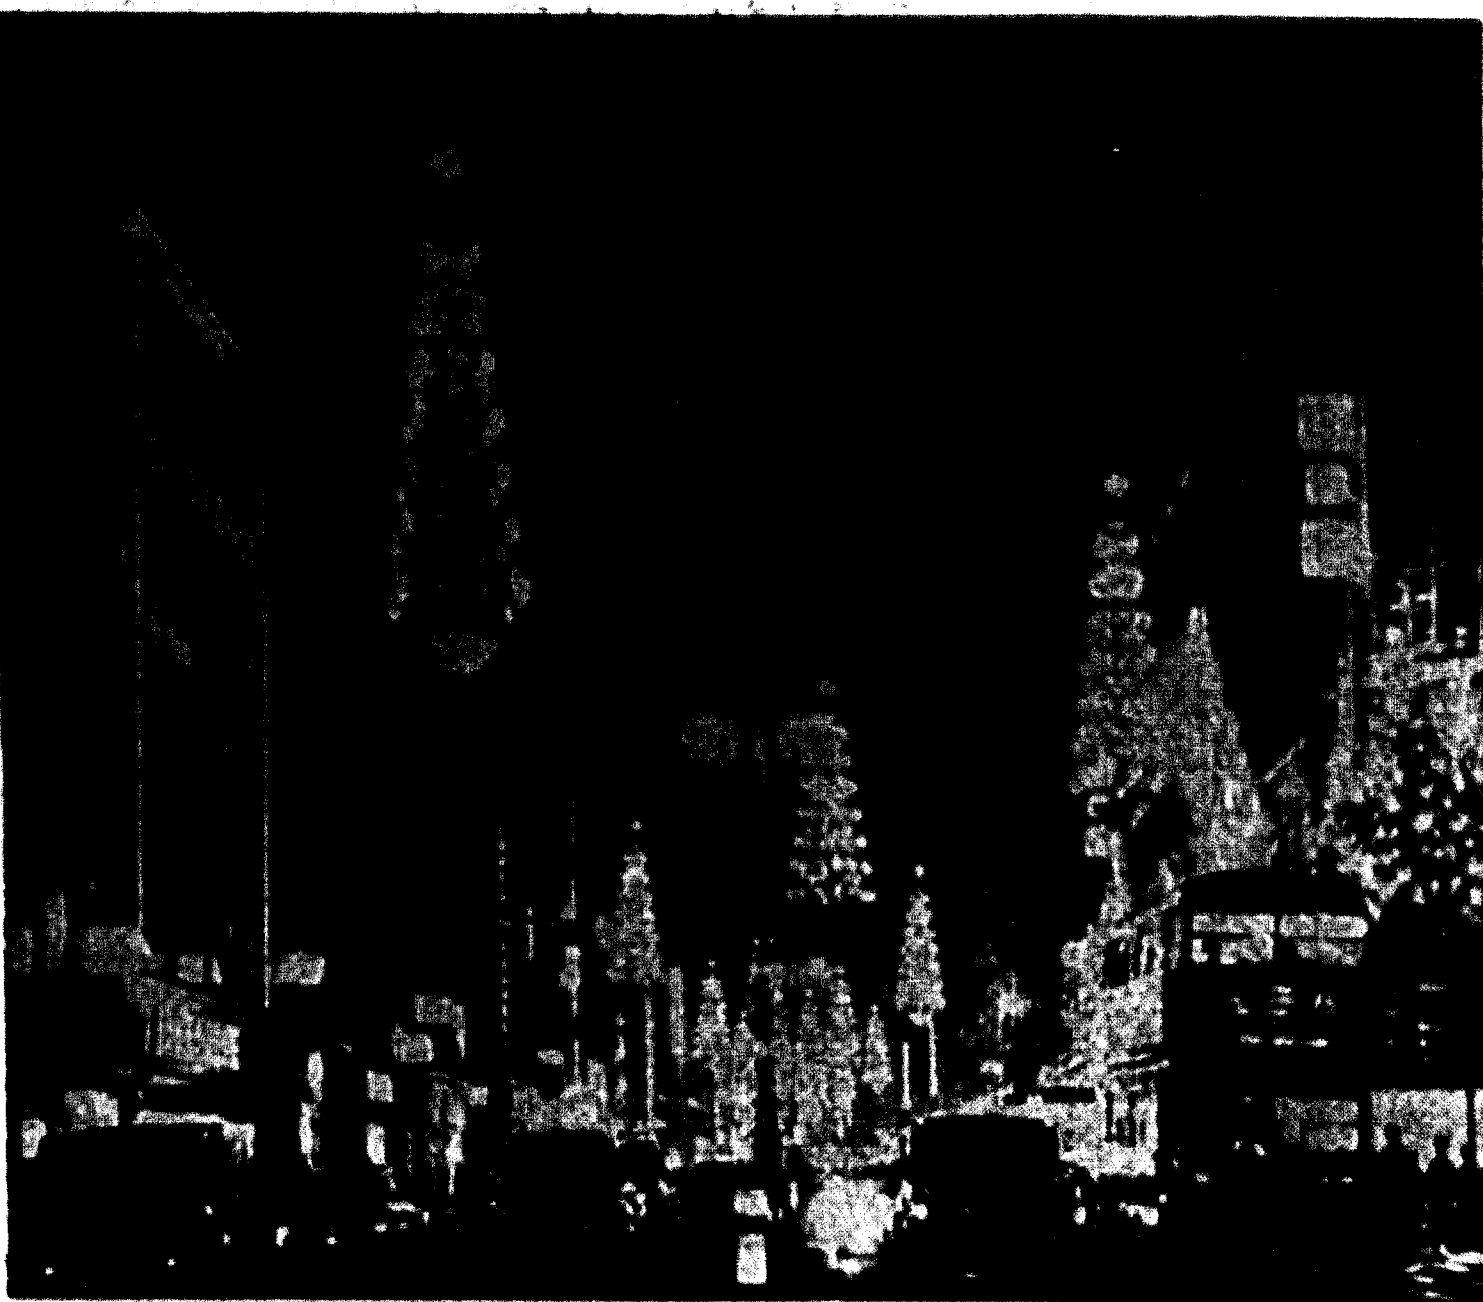

The parents committee of Guides and Brownies wish to announce the winner in the recent turkey draw was Mrs. M. Taylor of Winfield.

Lucky winners of the grocery hamper draw sponsored by the North Okanagan District Council of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Legion were, first, Dennis Evans of Field, and second, Mrs. D. Smith of Wells.

Mrs. C. Minks of Okanagan Centre Road was the lucky person to receive a pair of jute-woolen blankets in a draw sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 189, Oyamia.

YULETIDE GLOW IN LONDON TOWN

Decorative lights on overhead Christmas trees cast a bright glow in London's Oxford Street in this scene. This famous shopping thoroughfare's illuminations were switched on just moments before this picture was made. The trees, sparkling with hundreds of colored lights, are suspended in mid-air for one and one quarter miles along the street from Marble Arch to St. Giles Circus.

AROUND TOWN

Premier and Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett arrived home on Friday to spend the Christmas and New Years holiday in Kelowna.

Mrs. Beattie Lewis left yesterday for Nanaimo where she will spend the holidays with her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vandour.

CHRISTENING

Oneke Denise were the names given to the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Peter Kuehn at her christening ceremony held at the First United Church, Kelowna last Sunday afternoon.

The Reverend Elliott H. Bird, officiated at the ceremony and the godparents were Miss Charmian Jensen of Kelowna and Mr. Gordon MacDonald of Toronto.

Following the christening a tea was held at the home of Oneke's maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. E. Jensen, Abbott Street, where Mrs. S. M. Simpson presided at the pretty tea table which was centred with pink chrysanthemums, and featured the top layer of Mr. and Mrs. Kuehn's wedding cake, which was specially iced in dainty pink and white in honor of little Oneke.

Mrs. P. Kuehn of Duesseldorf, West Germany, is the child's paternal grandmother, and Mrs. F. S. Nighswander of Still Waters is her maternal great-grandmother.

Mrs. A. R. Fortin entertained at luncheon on Friday at her home on Vimy Avenue in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. P. Fortin, who is leaving with her family the first of the year to take up residence in San Francisco, California.

A bon voyage dinner party attended by thirteen guests was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Albright, McBride Road, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Martin S. Albright, Manhattan Drive, who have since left to spend the holiday season with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Gates in Toronto.

Miss Gwenneth Lloyd accompanied by Mrs. B. Farrally and her son Richard left by car on Wednesday for La Jolla, California, where they will spend the Christmas and New Year's holiday. They plan to return on January 6th.

Miss Sharon Walrod and Mr. Ross Munro arrived today from Vancouver to spend Christmas with Miss Walrod's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Walrod.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Johnson of Winfield will hold Open House at their residence on Christmas Eve. Mrs. A. Mack-Intosh and T. Marshall of Vanderhoof will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson over the holiday weekend.

Christmas Wreaths Tasty Holiday Fare

In Spain and South America, a heavily fruited yeast bread baked in huge loaves, is on every festive table. In Germany, it is raisin-filled stollen in long narrow hand-shaped loaves. In Sweden, it's a rich yeast loaf made of wheat and rye flour.

For the United States, the Chef and I offer our latest sweet bread—gay Merry Christmas Wreaths, easily decorated. Measurements are level (Delightful Sweet Bread)

1 c. milk
5 c. unsifted flour
1/4 c. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 c. (2 sticks) margarine
1/2 c. warm water
2 pkgs. or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 c. dried currants
1 c. chopped nut meats, any kind
Confectioners' sugar icing
Decorations, candied cherries or extra nut meats for decorating.

Scald milk; cool to lukewarm. In large mixing bowl, combine flour, sugar and salt. Cut in margarine with pastry blended until mixture looks like coarse meal. Measure warm water into small warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Mix dissolved yeast, scalded milk and egg into flour mixture; cover; refrigerate overnight.

Then knead in currants and nut meats. Roll 1/4" thick on floured surface. Cut with 3" doughnut cutter.

Place on oiled baking sheets. Cover; let rise 40 min. in warm place, free of draft, or until doubled in size. Bake 10 to 12 min. in mod. oven, 370 deg. F. or until golden brown. Frost with confectioners' sugar icing; when partly dry, decorate by pressing the wreaths into decorates or chopped nut meats. Or make little "nosegays" of two red candied cherry halves and a slice of green candied cherry.

1 qt. light cream or half 'n' half
8 eggs
3 tbsps. granulated sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 c. light brown sugar
Heat cream in double boiler. Separate eggs. Reserve the whites and refrigerate to make white cake or meringue shells. Beat yolks until light with granulated sugar and vanilla. Stir in cream. Pour into 8" x 6 1/2" oblong dish 3" deep, that can go to table. Place in large deeper pan; pour in boiling water to depth of 2"; cover loosely with aluminum foil. Bake 30 min. in mod. oven, 325 deg. 350 deg. F. or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out dry. Cool. Refrigerate 4 hrs. or more. Sift brown sugar to remove any lumps. Spoon it lightly and evenly over top of creme in thin layer. Place creme under broiler, 4" from source of heat, which should be low, 250 deg. F. Leave broiler door open; watch and do nothing else! This topping can burn fast! Broil 3 min. or until sugar melts to form a smooth caramel glaze. Thoroughly chill at once. Serves 6 to 8.

VERNON VIEWPOINTS

Christmas — the friendly season, which produces some strange bedfellows — is nearly upon us. This brilliant deduction is made just in case you're one of the few who haven't listened to radio since Nov. 1... or read the splashy pages of Esquire and/or Playboy advertising tank suits for the girls with almost the most, or tweed jackets for the men who should know better.

It's that time to say nice things, especially to city councils, chambers of commerce, and the Canadian Army (Vernon branch) and others.

A very Merry Christmas:

• To sociable Mayor Bruce Cousins, who hates committee meetings and attends as few as possible (he said so).

• To Eliwood Rice, who lost out to Mayor Cousins in the 1961 elections but went on to better and bigger things by becoming the president of the B.C. Tourist Association proving an Okanagan could break into the solid block of lower mainlanders.

• To Ian Garven, the unheralded city clerk and his staff who take all the blame for the unsuspecting public for council decisions... or indecisions.

• To A. E. Berry, local realtor, who wants everyone in Vernon to pay for local improvements in the Hillside area.

• To determined Ald. Eric Palmer who insisted Hillside residents will pay for it themselves.

• To Ald. Michael Lemiski who introduced the best piece of the year by presenting council with a brief which, when adopted, will be the basis for a recreation commission.

• To the new recreation commissioner (yet unnamed) who will haul down $10,000 a year... the amount includes a car and expenses.

• To retiring Ald. Franklyn Valair, who probably won't retire from public life at all but is saying as little as possible right now.

• To Ald-elect Harold Thorsen, who will prove to a stony council that all those under 45 are not necessarily juvenile delinquents.

• To army Capt. Cam LeBlond who hates tourists but still makes a pretty good public relations officer dealing with thousands of cadet transients at summer camp.

• To William Hicks, chamber of commerce executive in charge of Vernon's Winter Carnival float. (Won't risk a comment here.)

• And of course to everyone who manages to wade through this column every week.

Last minute Christmas shopping not done? You don't know what to get for him? A few suggestions.

Says one magazine: "Call a moose—with an old time hunting horn. Genuine bugle type crafted from select steer horns. Measures 14 inches along curve and has bell-like tone. Unusual den decoration. Just $333.33. Rarely seen these days." Good!

Or, if you're really stuck, you can buy the confederate soldier, when wound whistles Dixie—$150. Just the thing if you're shipping son off to old Miss next semester.

For milder... "An umbrella, sheathed in bird feathers, $25; matching bag, $15; matching dress $400." Not recommended for the Vancouver climate.

"Old frontier type pistol... for him. Pistol loaded with toilet water in masculine fragrance, $25." Not recommended—period!

Needless to say these gifts are not readily purchase in Vernon.

And which is the more disturbing: A neighbor with a noisy car... or a neighbor with a nice, quiet new one?

Oyama Legion Ladies Donate Cash And Christmas Gifts

OYAMA (Correspondent) — The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Legion, Oyama branch 189, was held in the club rooms. Mrs. G. Edginton, president, was in the chair with 11 members present.

The main business of the evening was the allocation of money to veterans' hospitals and Christmas gifts, which included $15 to Shaughnessy hospital and $7 to Pearson TB hospital. A donated afghan was sent to Alcan Veterans' Hospital in Vancouver and a woolen cardigan was sent to the LA's adopted veteran, now in Shaughnessy.

Members voted to join with the men's branch in making donations towards the children's Christmas parties to be held in Okanagan Centre, Winfield and Oyama.

The next meeting will be held on Jan. 9 at the home of Mrs. W. Dunsate, as this is the annual meeting it is hoped for a good attendance by the executive.

The pastel woolen blankets that were drawn for were won by Mrs. C. Minko of Okanagan Centre road. The lucky winner for the grocery hamper, sponsored by the North Okanagan and Cariboo district council of the ladies' auxiliary were Dennis Evans, of Field, and Mrs. D. Smith of Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. John Popowich of Enderby were recent visitors to Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Peters will leave here Sunday for a week's vacation in Vancouver where they will visit relatives.

Bob Walker of Vancouver will spend the Christmas holidays visiting friends in the Vernon area.

Robert Dick, from UBC, will spend the Christmas holidays at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Dick.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Briggs of Louis Creek will spend the holidays with their family and relatives in Vernon.

Mrs. Ruth Wilson left Saturday for a Christmas vacation to Winnipeg where she will visit her daughter Susan.

Vernon Temple No. 21 Phthian Sisters held a Christmas party at the IODE Hall Thursday night. Next meeting of the temple will be held Jan. 3.

Star's Holiday Season On Today

Conditions improved greatly at Silver Star this week with a fall of eight inches of new snow. A total of 40 inches of snow covers the mountain and skiing should be good for the holiday season.

A new feature on the mountain this year is a one-way road down to the parking lot from the chalet however parking will be permitted in the top lot until it is full.

Limited accommodation is available, in cabins, on the mountain this season. The Silver Star holiday season starts today and all lifts will be in operation on Jan. 1 inclusive. The Silver Star ski school meets daily on the mountain. Road work was carried on during the summer, however, chains or snow tires are required.

Six Month Jail Terms Given Two In Vernon Court

VERNON (Staff) — Two men were sentenced in Vernon police court today by Magistrate J. A. J. Illington to six months each in jail for theft of automobile tires valued at less than $50. They pleaded guilty to the charge.

John McDonald and John D. Barber, said they stole the tires from a local service station then proceeded to a second station to have them installed when they were checked by police. Police say driver of the car, Barber, will also be charged with theft of the automobile which he was alleged to have stolen in Vancouver.

Archibald Hawkins was fined $200 and costs when he was found guilty of driving a motor vehicle while impaired. He pleaded not guilty. Hajine Horne of Lumby was fined $250 and costs and his driver's licence suspended three months following conviction of an impaired driving charge.

might unless we give up that 'one for the road'*

The heading above may sound flippant or humorous but it's not meant to be! There's a deadly serious truth behind it, one that you should remember when you're driving after drinking. Poor road conditions, increased traffic and a generally carefree feeling all combine to make holiday driving more dangerous than ever—especially if you insist on having "one for the road". Don't bring tragedy upon yourself or your loved ones over the holiday season. The death toll will be bad enough without you adding to it! STICK TO THE FOLLOWING RULE AND HAVE A HAPPY FESTIVE SEASON:

GOD COMES TO US

Illustrated Sunday School Lesson

By Alfred Buescher

Scripture—Isaiah 6: 1-7; Luke 2: 8-20; John 1: 1-18; Hebrews 1: 1-4.

Just after the birth of Christ in Bethlehem, an angel of God appeared before shepherds in the field nearby. The angel told them of the Saviour's birth, and told them they would find Him in a manger— Luke 2: 8-12

Suddenly, then, a multitude of the heavenly host appeared around the angel. They praised God, saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men with whom He is pleased!"— Luke 2: 13-14

The shepherds decided to go immediately to Bethlehem to see the new-born Saviour. They found Mary and Joseph and the Babe in a manger, as the angel had told them they would.— Luke 2: 15-19

As the shepherds returned, they praised God and told all they met about the wondrous event which had occurred. "and all who heard it wondered!"— Luke 2: 17-20

Many Facets To Christmas It Holds All For Christians

By REV. J. M. SCHROEDER, Pres. Kelowna Ministerial Assn. What does Christmas mean to you? To some people it means hard work. The stores are crowded with shoppers, the post office is overflowing with mail, and the trains and buses and planes are carrying record crowds. To some people Christmas means a visit home. Surely this is the best time of the year to be with those you love. To some people Christmas means a sad memory. They look back over the year and think of the loved one who has left them since last Christmas. To some people Christmas means revelry. They talk about Christmas liquor, they connect whisky with the blessed Name of the Saviour. But to millions of people, Christmas means nothing. They do not know Christ. December 25th for them is just another day. But Christmas means everything to the real Christian. It means that God loves him with all His heart. It means that God has regarded his lost condition and has done something about it. It means that God has given him the best Christmas gift that even God could give. It means that his Saviour is born—born to set an example with His life—born to die for his sins—born to be raised for his justification—born to ascend on high and make intercession for him—born to give him hope and help. Christmas means that he has a companion for life—a friend in the hour of death—a loving brother for eternity. Yes, Christmas means everything for the Christian.

Protestant Leader Asks RC Crusade

LONDON (AP)—The leader of a Protestant church peace group appealed to Pope John today to lead a religious crusade against war through the Vatican council. In an open letter to the Pope, Dr. A. D. Holden, congregationist general director of the Pax Christi League, said: "At such a juncture of acute crisis for the church as well as for the world, Rome is holding its second Vatican council. "Will this sublime opportunity of securing the full mobilization of Christendom against nuclear war and for war's abolition be seized boldly and effectively in the maze of theological contentions? Or will it be lost in the maze of theological contentions and domestic church business, all of which will have little meaning for our generation if general nuclear destruction occurs."

Dr. Holden said he believed it Rome took the lead "Protestantism and Eastern Orthodoxy including the churches of Russia would follow suit and the active moral leadership of a Christendom of at least 600,000,000 souls, united in a spirit of action, could be given, without hypocrisy, to the rest of mankind."

Accept Christ As He Really Is Said Best Christmas Prayer

By VERY REV. FR. R. D. ANDERSON, Immaculate Conception Parish. "What do you think of the Christ, Whose son is he?" This question directed by the Saviour to the Pharisees over 1,900 years ago and recorded by St. Matthew in Chapter 22, verse 42 of his gospel is also directed to each of us. Each must ask himself, "What do you think of the Christ?" At this season of the year when we honor His birth it is perhaps easy for us to answer. We think of Him as the Babe of Bethlehem, the Infant Saviour, the new-born King. And so He is. But does a mother always think of her grown son as he was the day of his birth? Does the father always consider his partner-son as a helpless infant? Do men and women think of their brothers only in terms of dependent babes in arms? Of course not. The stature of adulthood sets aside the things of a child. At this Holy Season we recall the mystery of the Incarnation and are joyful that God has fulfilled His promise of a Redeemer; our love overflows to be shared with fellowmen. However, we must live the intervening days of the year; but in what spirit? We look about a world that is uneasy and restless. What did St. Paul write to the citizens of Rome? "Put on the Lord Jesus Christ" (Rom. 13:14). We put on a garment and if it does not fit, then what? We alter the garment so it fits us properly. But how about putting on Christ? Can we alter Him to fit ourselves? Mankind has for too long tried to alter the Saviour to fit individual tastes. If we would enjoy the peace of Christ, then we must put Him on as He is and make the necessary alterations in our own lives and conduct. This Christmas as we pray to Almighty God let us dare to ask for the courage to put on Christ as He really is that the Peace and Joy and Love of this season may permeate our lives forever more.

Churches Busy At Peachland

PEACHLAND — Members of the Peachland Baptist Church arranged an evening of entertainment Friday that included recitations by the children, carol singing, and bags of goodies. On Sunday a family Christmas service will be held in the United Church and is to be in the nature of a "White Gift Service." Adults are asked to bring gifts of money, the children, canned fruits and vegetables, grown in the valley. These will be sent to Welfare Industries in Vancouver, for relief in disaster, and among refugees, through the agency of the United Church throughout the world. In St. Margaret's Anglican Church on Christmas Day, a service of Holy Communion will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. On Dec. 30, a family carol service will be held at 11 a.m.

First Taste Of Christmas, Santa Coming For Chinese Families

EDMONTON (CP)—Three Chinese families next week get their first taste of Christmas and their first visit from Santa. The families—six children and four adults—were among 100 brought to Canada for resettlement by the federal government after thousands of Chinese fled to Hong Kong from Red China last May. It didn't take the youngsters long to hear about Santa Claus' scheduled visit to a Chinese community Christmas party Sunday. "I don't know where he comes from, but I know what he'll be bringing," says Lah Chan, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Chan. She was asked through an interpreter, if she knew what Santa looked like. After a quick, laughter-filled look at the five other children, Lah said, her eyes bright and her hands darting excitedly to illustrate her reply: "He has red costume, a cap and a long, white whiskers."

For the youngsters Sunday Santa will bring bags of Candy and presents. The church choir will sing Christmas hymns and carols, both in Chinese and English. A Christmas tree will be decorated with bright lights, tinsel and candy cones. Christmas Day a 30-pound turkey will be placed before the families along with other Western holiday goodies—cranberry sauce, cake and plum pudding. Rev. Chow Ling, who has helped the families relocate and integrate in their new surroundings, will explain the religious aspects of the holiday. Christianity is as new to them as the country, the cold Prairie winter and the snow. Mr. Chan said the spirit and hectic preparations under way in the city remind him of New Year's holiday activity in China.

First Baptists Plan Cantata

A Christmas cantata, King and Saviour was presented in First Baptist Church, Bernard Avenue, Sunday evening, Dec. 18, by the First Baptist senior choir, under the direction of Mrs. B. Dalley. Featured soloists included Mrs. R. Wood, Mrs. A. Wigglesworth, Mrs. Don Halt and Walter Goerzen. Narrator was B. Dalley, who also rendered a trumpet solo. The annual Sunday school Christmas program for the church will be held Sunday at 7:20. All the children in the church will sing in the hour-long program directed by the Sunday school superintendent, Mrs. R. Lobb.

No Action On Tony

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain's National Union of Journalists said this week it had decided to take no action over a protest concerning Lord Snowdon, Princess Margaret's husband, who is a member of the union. Snowdon is artistic adviser to The Sunday Times, a newspaper owned by Canadian publisher Roy Thomson. He joined the union last February. The union said its administrative committee had considered a resolution passed Nov. 19 by the periodical and book branch urging the union to protest to The Sunday Times at "the manner in which it was exploiting the title of Lord Snowdon and obtaining preferential treatment for him to the detriment of other photographer members of the union." The union said that as neither the branch nor the move of the resolution had provided any evidence to substantiate the resolution, the committee was not prepared to take any action.

TRANSIT IS DEAD

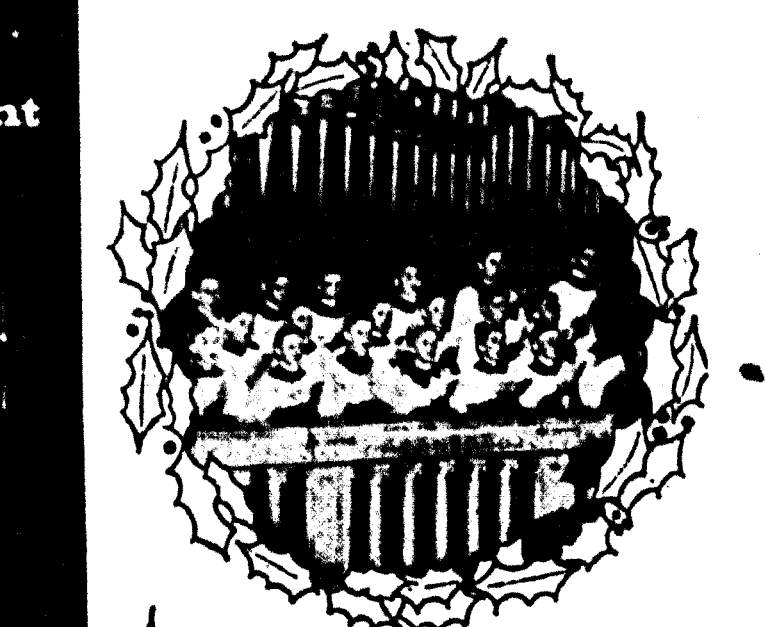

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Transit navigation satellite, launched into near perfect orbit Tuesday, has turned out to be useless in helping submarines and ships pinpoint their locations at sea. A defence department spokesman said Thursday the satellite's radio communications system and associated equipment did not start working. The navy hopes to have another Transit satellite aloft soon and to have the full system of four satellites in operation sometime next year.

Holy Night

The choir sings with near-celestial sweetness, the candles burn with a bright, pure light, and the meaning of the birth of Christ comes into glorious reality. For, in church, the story of the Night of Nights is told with a beauty that seems to deepen with the years. To miss hearing it again would be to miss one of the Yuletide season's greatest moments. Yes — it is natural to think about going to church at Christmas. But what about a rainy October Sunday or a hot July one? In Church, the inspiration is there all year round. The message is as vital in August as it is in December. Promise yourself now — this Christmas — to start going to church regularly.

COME TO Church ON Christmas

At Christmas we rejoice anew in the wonder of that Holy night when a Child was born in a humble manger, bringing hope to all the world.

At Christmas, we gladly greet our friends, with all good wishes for health, happiness and a holiday

Kelowna Buc's Whip Blades 7-2

Kelowna Junior Buckaroos continue to share top spot in the Okanagan Mainline Junior "A" Hockey League after trouncing third place Vernon Blades 7-2 in Kelowna Friday night.

Friday night's win leaves Kelowna and Kamloops Rockets in a tie for first place.

Diminutive Terry Kasabuchi and captain Bob Gruber both gathered a pair for the winners while Fred Thomas, Ralph Kirschner, and Don Evans added singles.

Bob Stein and Dale Sorochuk accounted for the Blades scoring. Gruber notched the only Buckaroo goal in the second period, assisted by Thomas at 9:32.

Kirschner, Evans, Kasabuchi and Gruber each tallied in the third period along with Stein for the Blades.

Gordon Kineshaiko was handed a game misconduct at 13:25 of the second period after throwing his stick to the ice in dispute of a referee's decision.

Kelowna outshot the Blades 61-35.

In other junior league action the Kamloops Rockets scored two unanswered goals in each period to shut out the cellar dwelling Pentiction Vees in Pentiction.

Glen Madsen scored twice for the Rockets. Singles went to Sandyks, Pilkey, Richards, and McShane.

Trail Smoke Eater Coach Bitter At Refusal To Let Olmstead Play

TRAIL (CP) — Coach Bobby Kromm said he didn't think president Clarence Campbell of the NHL did very much either.

"I think that these guys are only interested in their own league. They don't care about others."

Kromm said the National Hockey League club has informed Olmstead it does not feel it can reinstate him as an amateur.

Rangers drafted Olmstead from Toronto Maple Leafs in June for $20,000. He refused to report and recently sought reinstatement so he could join the Allan Cup holders and former world champions for the World Championships at Stockholm in February.

Kromm said in an interview Friday: "You would think that the Rangers would like to see their investment at least playing hockey. As it stands right now he is not going to play for anyone."

Tour Canada, U.S.

TORONTO (CP) — Wolverhampton Wanderers of the English Soccer League will tour Canada and the United States in the summer, Walter Freer, Ontario's representative on the Canadian Football Association's board of directors, announced Friday night.

Wolverhampton is in sixth place in the 22-team English First Division. The club was formed in 1877 and was one of the original members of the league, joining in 1888. The club made the English Cup final eight times and won four, the last time in 1960.

BUK'S FRED THOMAS STILL GIVING NETMINDER'S TROUBLE

Vernon netminder Gary Holland carefully steers aside point blank shot on goal by Buckaroo centremen Fred Thomas (7) during second period of Friday night's game played in Kelowna. Vernon forward Bob Stein, (10), who played an outstanding game on offence for the Blades, and Buckaroo forward Derek Pyle were also in on the play. Thomas scored one goal and picked up two assists for a total of 53 points, tops in the league. Teammate Bob Gruber is one point behind in second place with 52 points. Gruber scored twice and added one assist.

Outstanding Canadian Female Athlete Of '62

TORONTO (CP)—Mary Stewart set a world record of 1:07.3 for the 100-yard butterfly. Then, on Nov. 24 at the British Empire Games at Perth, Australia, she won her specialty and the gold medal in 1:10.1 to become the first Canadian female swimmer to win a Games gold medal in 28 years. Even at that, she won by about seven feet and certainly could have increased this margin if she had been pressed.

She eased up after the turn and said simply "I died" in the first 15 yards.

World champions—and gold medallists to boot—have been scarce commodities in Canadian amateur sports and the cp poll selected went to town for the pony-tailed Miss Stewart. Votes were computed on a 3-2-1 basis and she finished with a total of 435.

That was more than the combined point total of 20 others who were mentioned by the selectors. None really had a chance.

Runner-up honors went to Sue Hilton, 18-year-old London, Ont. golfer who won the Canadian women's close and junior championships.

In third place was Abigail Hoffman of Toronto, the 15-year-old half-miler.

From there in the field was well slung out with selectors giving them votes only for second and third places.

Nancy McCredie, 17, a field athlete of Brampton, Ont., was fourth in the balloting and another golfer, Vancouver's Gayle Hitchins, wound up fifth.

Phil Maloney Leads Canucks To 7-0 Shutout Over Flyers

VANCOUVER (CP) — Phil Maloney led his Vancouver Canucks back into first place in the Western Hockey League's Northern Division Friday night as they trounced Edmonton Flyers 7-0 before 2,648 fans.

Maloney scored once and set up three other goals to run his league-leading point total to 50 in 27 games. It was goal-tender Gilles Villemure's fourth shutout in his rookie season.

Canucks edged a point ahead of Seattle Totems, who had held the leadership for exactly a week. Flyers, after three straight losses, are nine points back of Seattle.

Other Vancouver scorers were Trent Beatty with two, Bob McCusker, Buddy Boone, Dave Duke and Jim Baird.

Kelowna, Trail Curling Club Newest Addition To B.C.C.A.

Two new clubs have joined the British Columbia Curling Association and two more are expected to join in the new year.

The Mountain Shadows Curling Club of Kelowna and the Montrose Curling Club of Trail district have both entered in the B.C.C.A., with Clinton and Revelstoke expected to join in 1963.

The addition of the Mountain Shadows club with four sheets of ice, now makes a total of eight sheets of ice in Kelowna with a possible two more at the Kelowna club next year.

Mr. Walter Hobbs, secretary of the B.C.C.A., has advised that for the benefit of Vancouver and Pacific Coast curlers, the city of Kelowna has had, for the past two years, their bid to the Dominion Curling Association to host the 1965, or later, Brier playdown.

The Reg Stone rink of Trail, consisting of Reg Stone skip, Roy Stone, third, Frenchy D'Amour second, and Harvey McKay lead, have asked for and received permission from the B.C.C.A. to represent British Columbia on the Cross Country TV series, sponsored by the Dominion Curling Association.

B.C.C.A. Bonsel and Consols playdown will be held at Trail February 4 to 9, with the playoff on February 10 against the P.C.C.A. representative.

The Prince George Curling Club report that a 14-rink round-robin is now in progress for the Consols playdown. The winner of this will meet Burns Lake, and then take on the Queen's area winner in order to obtain their zone representative to the B.C.C.A. playdown.

From the games already played, it looks like the Gary Wray rink of Prince George, unless Queen's can come up with the upset.

Club bonspiels are listed as follows:

Vernon Pot of Gold, January 18-20; Lillooet Men's Open, January 18-20; South Okanagan Zone Bonsel, January 4, 5, 6; South Okanagan Zone Bonsel Playdown, January 11-13; Osoyoos International club, January 18-20; Clinton Bonsel, February 2, 3; Summerland Men's 'spiel, February 14-17; Cranbrook's Men's 'spiel, February 7-10; Riondel Men's 'spiel, February 13-17; Grand Forks Men's 'spiel, February 15-17; Kamloops Men's 'spiel, February 22-24; Nelson Men's 'spiel, March 2-5; Ashcroft Men's 'spiel, March 2-5; Pentiction Men's 'spiel, March 7-10; Midway Men's 'spiel, March 15-17; Trail Men's 'spiel, March 18-18; Kelowna Mixed 'spiel, March 21-24.

HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Make good headway in business and occupational dealings now even though you may run into some unexpected situations. Ability to cope with change will be the criterion by which to measure advancement. In personal relationships, be attentive to the needs of others, careful to avoid misunderstandings.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your prospects for the year ahead are pleasing, even if not spectacular. Opportunities will be available for improving your financial status and advancing in your occupation—especially during August and September—but it will be essential that you be conservative and make no radical moves.

A chance for travel could broaden your horizons between early July and September, and it would be advisable to take advantage of new social contacts made then, since they could eventually prove valuable from a business standpoint.

SUMMER FORECAST

Beginning with late May you enter an especially generous period where romance is concerned—a period which will last well into September. During August, however, do your best to avoid friction with members of your family and nervous tension.

A child born on this day will be talented, idealistic and persevering in his work.

THE DAY AFTER TOMORROW

Adverse influences suggest extreme caution in written matters and in communications generally on Monday. Otherwise, the day should be a good one for handling routine matters, completing unfinished tasks, etc. Don't venture on new enterprises, however.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If Monday is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that, while matters may seem to be progressing slowly just now, it would be wise to keep forging ahead toward your goals, since the planetary aspects promise fine results before year's end where job matters are concerned.

A child born on this day will be warm-hearted, sympathetic and extremely trustworthy.

U.S. Airlines Seek Merger

NEW YORK (AP)—A merger agreement that would create the largest air transportation company in the United States will be filed today with the Civil Aeronautics Board. C.A.B. approval is needed for Eastern airlines.

Juan T. Trippa, Pan Am president, and Charles C. Tilligheast, president of TWA announced the move Thursday.

Canadian Cardinal Found Ecumenical Council 'Slow'

MONTREAL (CP) — Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger of Montreal said the recent session of the Roman Catholic Church's Ecumenical Council moved too slowly and faintly to suit his taste.

He addressed an overflow audience in Plateau Hall, giving his impressions of the council's first session which adjourned 19 days ago. He made a formal speech in French and replied to questions from the floor in a light-hearted vein that brought laughter from his audience.

The cardinal laughed when he said that "everything that was done was badly done."

"I was not listened to," he said. "I spoke in the desert. I put forth many daring proposals, but I don't know if they will be accepted."

The cardinal confessed to being an impulsive man who likes to get his ideas into practice immediately. But he found he couldn't gather 2,000 bishops together and say: "Let's go!"

"I will tell you frankly, I spoke to the Pope. I told him that unless a committee was created with sufficient powers to get everyone into action we would achieve nothing."

In a serious mood, he told of urging that couples be required to receive holy communion at the wedding ceremony. One of the council delegates had interjected "and lipstick?"

"I am convinced," said the cardinal, "that if young women were told they were going to drink the blood of Christ, they would certainly put their tube of lipstick aside for the day."

The cardinal said he believes the second session of the council, beginning in September, will be more active than the first session.

He also said the council will remain "the most striking fact in my life." He predicted the present council will set a trend for continued meetings of the world's Roman Catholic prelates in Rome.

He said that the people, calm manner in which the deliberations were conducted could serve as a model for priests to adopt in their sermons.

'RESPECT NEEDED'

"A text must be read with respect. If each cure would preach his sermon in this way, without raising his voice in respect for a weighty and meaningful text, we would then reach the modern world."

"Truth shorn of its trappings, that's what modern generations seek. What matters for them is not grand flights of oratory but believing in what is said."

Cardinal Leger defined the ecumenical spirit as an answer to the present division in the Christian church.

"The church should wait for the priests who are delayed, and pass sentence on them. The church will be good for them."

Furthermore, the church should no longer say: "I am above you." We must stop affirming that we alone possess the truth.

"It is true that we possess the truth but we must stop saying it. Do it without saying it."

"It is by living the whole truth that we will attract them to us."

"That is the ecumenical spirit."

He said if the council can succeed in giving the function of the clergy and of the laity a new definition, in 100 years the church will be "young, radiant and modern, knowing that its place in the world is to give the testimony of truth, poverty and love."

Addressing members of the Catholic Action League of Montreal, he said that renewal of the church is the aim of the council.

He said that, for the first time in history, the ecumenical council was free to deliberate in complete freedom without "political pressures" from the countries of the delegates.

Therefore, he said, the present council had accomplished more in two months than the last ecumenical council in 1870 had done in six months.
