

Professional Development of Educators: An Illuminative Evaluation of INSET for Life Orientation

---

Zahira Shah

Submitted in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of Master of Education, Wits School of Education- Faculty of Humanities, University of the Witwatersrand, Johannesburg, July 2009.

Table of Contents

Content	Page
Title page	i.
Abstract	iv.
Declaration	v.
Acknowledgements	vi.
List of Abbreviations	vii.
Chapter One: Introduction and background to the study
Introduction	1
Context	1
Research Problem	2
Background	3
Rationale	3
Research Aims	4
Research Questions	4
Significance of the study	5
Organisation of the report	5
Chapter Two: Literature Review and Theoretical Framework
Review of related literature	7
Theoretical context	7
Lifelong learning	11
Taking a closer look	12
Professional development	13
In-service education and training (INSET)	16
National Curriculum Statement (NCS)	18
Critical perspective on Outcomes Based Education(OBE) and its implementation	20
Life Orientation	20
Conclusion	23
Chapter Three: Research Design and Methodology
Research Design	24
Methodology- Illuminative evaluation	24

Sampling procedure	27
Ethical considerations	27
Data gathering methods-questionnaires, naturalistic observations, interviews, informal questioning and dialogue, documentary and textual analysis	28
Analysis and presentation of results	32
Validity and reliability	33
Generalisation	33
Conclusion	34
Chapter Four: Research Results
Introduction	35
Document analysis- LO INSET manual, LO curriculum	35
Case Study 1-Bantigo Park High School- Thabo Khumalo	37
Case Study 2-Kennedy Secondary School- Puleng Mosibi	54
Case Study 3-Montglare High School- Martha Mjupe	71
Conclusion	82
Chapter Five: Discussion and Conclusion
Introduction	83
Reflections on the theory and literature discussed in chapter two	87
Reflections on the research design	90
Conclusion	91
Suggestions for further research	91
References	92
Appendices	98
A- Participants Information
B- Institutional Consent
C- GDE approval
D- Wits ethics approval
E - Questionnaires
F - Organisation of Classroom
G- Blank Observation sheet
H- Interview Schedule
I - LTSM Mr Khumalo
J - LTSM Mrs Mosibi
K- LTSM Mrs Mjupe
L- Transcribed interview

Abstract

In-service education and training (INSET) has become a key vehicle for the professional development of educators in the school context. However, its role and impact has yet to be fully comprehended. This study resulted from the realization that educators often attend short training courses without being tracked or monitored afterwards. Using an illuminative approach to evaluation, this study aimed to establish the impact of INSET on educators' ability to effectively implement the Life Orientation (LO) curriculum, after attending national INSET in 2005. It was also important to gauge if educators had gained the knowledge and skills to deal with emergent issues not addressed during the training. The field of adult education offered a particular lens through which I aimed to look at both LO and INSET. The sample selected for this study consisted of three teachers teaching at co-educational government schools in Johannesburg, who attended the 2005 Gauteng provincial training in LO for grade 10. Data collection methods included questionnaires, naturalistic observations, semi-structured interviews and document analysis. The findings of this study suggest that the success of this INSET programme depends heavily on the individuals who attend them and their personal experiences and beliefs. The study concluded that for educators to implement LO effectively they would not only have to develop professionally but they should also be committed to lifelong learning.

Keywords

In-service education and training

Life Orientation

National Curriculum Statement

Professional Development

South Africa

Declaration

I, Zahira Shah, declare that this research report is my own unaided work which is submitted in partial fulfillment of the degree of Master in Education at the University of Witwatersrand, Johannesburg. It is my original work and all the sources that I have used or quoted have been indicated and acknowledged by means of complete references.

8 July 2008

Zahira Shah

Date

Acknowledgements

My gratitude goes to my supervisors, Mrs Dina Engelbrecht and Prof. Jane Castle, for their encouragement, support and guidance during the writing of this report.

Through this piece of work I would like to express my deepest gratitude to my husband for his patience, constant support and motivation during the very stressful periods. Alongside him, our two beautiful children, Sa'aad and Yusriya, who yearned for my attention throughout the writing of this report. May this research report motivate you to achieve great heights in life.

My appreciation and gratitude to my friend Bronwyn for all her time and assistance in helping put it all together.

I would also like to sincerely thank the participants in this study for sharing their experiences.

In a special way, I would like to acknowledge the support I received from my mum, Mona Shah and my brother Azar. A special thank you goes to all my in-laws and their families for lending their support in the maintenance of my family and my home during the stressful times.

List of Abbreviations

INSET- In-service Education and Training

LO- Life Orientation

RNCS- Revised National Curriculum Statement

NCS- National Curriculum Statement

SBST's- School Based Support Teams

IQMS- Integrated Quality Management Systems

SETA- Sector Education and Training Authority

DoE - Department of Education

HEI - Higher Education Institutes

FET - Further Education and Training

OBE- Outcomes Based Education

LTSM- Learning and Teaching Support Material

GDE- Gauteng Department of Education

The National Curriculum Statement has embraced the word educator when referring to what was previously known as a teacher. In this report I have used both the words teacher and educator interchangeably.