II. Ging heut Morgen uber's Feld
Dewdrops hung on grass and tree, as at dawn I took way. The merry finch sang to me, and echoes answered away.
III. Ich hab' ein gluhend Messer
There is a glowing dagger within my breast. Oh pain! grief! In every joy and every bliss, so deep I feel the daggkiss.
IV. Die zwei blauen Augen

Though you are near, I know that you can ne'er be mine, for I must say farewell.

III

Chantons la	Gloire Campra O sing the glory of the Lord, for He will reign over all.
Romance	Debussy
	O fragrant spirit of heavenly lays, which I inhaled 'mid garden ways of the dear soul.
La Cloche	Saint-Saens
	Lone in the darkling tower with summit crenelate, whence thy deep voice descends o'er the roofs which vibrate, Oh! bell hung far above, a soul is near to thee, who doth often itself give a sad solemn cry, and doth mourn in its love as thou dost in the sky!

X. The Desire for Hermitage

The "Hermit Songs" are settings of anonymous Irish texts of the eighth to thirteenth centuries written by monks and scholars often on the margins of manuscripts they were copying or illuminating—perhaps not always meant to be seen by their Father superiors.

There will be a reception immediately following in the fellowship hall.
