Stoudt Stars In Mothers Day Play

Craigie, Garber, and Thompson Enact Leading Roles In Witty English Drama

By Eli Broidy

Last Saturday evening, after a twenty-minute late audience finally got seated, the Curtain Club of Ursinus College presented as its annual spring play, "The Roundabout", by J. B. Priestley. A capacity crowd attended this special feature of the College's May Day-Mothers Day festivities.

"The Roundabout", as presented by the Curtain Club, was a witty English drawing-room comedy which offered its beholders a pleasant night's entertainment despite a few lags in the last act. But these lags were due to the play itself, for the acting of the cast was well-nigh faultless. Fortunately, they detracted very little from one's enjoyment of the play as a whole.

The play depended little on the plot for its entertainment—indeed, its chief claim to distinction really lay in its dialogue, which was consistently bright and clever and often brilliant.

Mary Helen Stoudt Outstanding

A well-rounded cast did full justice to this dialogue. Especial commendation is due the leads of the play. Mary Helen Stoudt '39, with her beautiful speaking voice, was particularly appealing in the leading feminine role—that of the daughter with Communist tendencies who pays a staid, aristocratic English father, whom she hasn't seen for years, an unexpected visit. Miss Stoudt, a veteran of the Ursinus stage, chalks up another fine performance to her credit.

In the principle masculine roles honors go to three—Keith Thomson '40, Paul Craigie '38, and Philip Garber '37. This was Thompson's first major role at Ursinus, and he

STUDENTS SEE KATHERINE CORNELL STAR IN "CANDIDA"

Shaw's Comedy Witnessed By 34 In Dr. Yost's Theatre Party

On Wednesday evening, May 12, Dr. Calvin D. Yost Jr., and Dr. and Mrs. George Hartzell accompanied a group of thirty-four students to the Forrest Theatre, in Philadelphia to witness George Bernard Shaw's "Candida" starring Katherine Cornell.

This comedy, written in 1896, is one of Shaw's most clever and pleasant comedies. The general theme of the play is very much like that of his "Getting Married", which was recently presented on this campus by the Hedgerow Players.

The play cleverly presented Miss Cornell as Candida, the wife of Minister Morell. The story centers around the admittance of a young poet into their home by the Minister. Complications arose when the young fellow declared his love for Candida, forcing her to choose between the two men. The play ended happily, however, when she chose "the weaker", her husband.

She was ably supported by the remainder of the cast, Kent Smith as the Minister, Robert Harris as Marchbanks, the poet, Mildred Kelt as Prossy, and A. P. Kayne as Mr. Burgess.

It is the purpose of Dr. Yost to conduct these theatre trips at regular intervals next year. Limited groups of students will attend each performance.

WSGA Liberalizes Women's Rulings

Girls Accept Changes Approved By Dr. White At Today's Mass Meeting

At a mass meeting of all women students held this afternoon in Bomberger, the changes in women's rules, drawn up two weeks ago by the Committee on Revision of Rules appointed by Ida Trout '37, past president of the Women's Student Government Association, and headed by Silvia Erdman '37, were accepted. This final move for the adoption of the changes followed the approval of Dr. Elizabeth B. White, which was given last week.

The committee, which is appointed annually, outlined the several revisions, and, after Dr. White's approval, they were posted on the bulletin board. Muriel Brandt '38, president of the W. S. G. A., presided at the meeting this afternoon, at which the women accepted the changes.

The revisions affected the entire group and all are summarized under the following: recreations—canoeing, ice skating, swimming, and permissible walks; hours of absence from campus and hours for out of town privileges of all women lengthened; the addition to rules of permissible hours in the Recreation Center; and changes in the freshman social privileges during first and second semesters. Also, the managers of athletic, debating, and musical organizations must sign out regular trips for their groups.

ARMISTICE CHAPEL SPEAKER TALKS AT 'Y' INSTALLATION

Says Y.M.-Y.W. Coordinate Science And Religion

On Wednesday evening, May 12, the annual installation program of the officers of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., featured by an address by the Rev. Clement W. De Chant of the Oak Lane Reformed Church of Philadelphia, was presented in Bomberger.

The ceremony was begun with an organ prelude played by Kenneth Seagrave '39. The old and new cabinets were then ushered in, and Kenneth Clouse '38, and Virginia Beck '38, were installed as presidents of the organizations, succeeding Harry Fenstermacher '37, and Dorothy Witmer '37. The new cabinets were addressed by Clouse.

The guest speaker of the evening, Rev. De Chant, addressed the entire gathering using as his topic "Why the Y". He stressed the fact that the "Y", as a Christian organization in a college, is an agent through which students coordinate religious and educational activities. So often, he said, education undermines religion. The student, learning new facts of science, has religion "knocked out from under him." But the "Y", said Rev. De Chant, helps the student to reconstruct his religion along the lines of his newly acquired education.

This was Rev. De Chant's second appearance here. He spoke to the entire student body in chapel on Armistice Day, 1936.

200 Mothers Entertained at Tea, Banquet; Fenton Shines in Traditional May Pageant

Library And Dining Room Scenes Of Fetes After Pageant; Mothers Receive

Immediately following the May Day pageant last Saturday afternoon, students and mothers were entertained at a tea given by the Ursinus College Woman's Club in the library. Mrs. Norman E. McClure received, assisted by the mother of Virginia Fenton '37, and by two mothers representing each class.

The mothers of Ruth Seitz '37, and Sieber Pancoast '37, represented the senior class. Representing the junior class were the mothers of Florence Roberts '38, and James Baird '38. The sophomore class was represented by the mothers of Mabel Ditter '39, and Frank Frosch '39, while the mothers of Dorothy Reifsnnyder '40, and David Hartman '40, represented the freshman class. Mildred Cain '37, senior representative of the social committee, presented the guests to Mrs. McClure.

The library was gaily decorated with spring flowers, and punch and cakes were served instead of the usual hot tea. Mrs. M. C. Old and Mrs. M. O. Bone assisted Mrs. W. H. Cordry, preceptress of South Hall, in arranging the affair.

Mothers Dine At Banquet

Following the Woman's Club Tea, more than 400 mothers, sons, and daughters assembled in the upper dining room, lobby, and president's dining room for the annual Mothers' Day Banquet.

After the banquet had been served, President Norman E. McClure welcomed the mothers to the College and presented the speakers. They were Dr. Elizabeth B. White, Dean of Women, and Dean Whorsten A. Kline, who extended their welcomes to the mothers; Mrs. W. U. Helffrich, preceptress of Clamer Hall; and the mothers of Virginia Fenton '37, Katherine Wood '37, Ellen Schlaybach '38, and Christian Moser '38.

Almost Entire Co-Ed Student Body Cooperates to Produce Poley's Pageant

By Keith Thompson

The Ursinus football field was turned into a playground for gods and goddesses, gnomes and pixies, flowers and seasons, in fact for all things tangible and intangible which could possibly be called upon to celebrate the crowning of Flora, Goddess of the Flowers, as Queen of Spring, on May Day last Saturday. Despite the unkind wind which caused many a fair maid to tremble in her airy garb, both the Mothers Day audience and the revellers bore up nobly, so that Virginia Fenton '37, our picturesque Flora, may well be proud of her supporters.

The May Pageant, traditional to this campus, was written by Audrey Poley '38, who worked with Mrs. F. I. Sheeder, the director, Miss S. M. Ouder Kirk, dance instructor, and Dr. W. F. Philip, musical director, to insure a good performance. She deserves particular credit for her artistic creation. "Floralia", as the pageant was entitled, was an interesting progression of terpsichorean art, building up to the coronation of Flora, then gradually fading, 'mid majesty and comedy, into the stillness from whence it came.

Alice Plunkett Good Orpheus

A great deal of effort was expended by all the girls, and it would be difficult to select any as outstanding; everyone did her share to create the illusion of Roman festivities, while the costumes, choreography, and setting all represented enthusiastic care and interest for the beauties of detail.

If any girl is to be congratulated for superior work it must be Alice Plunkett '38, whose Orpheus was not only an imaginative bit of pantomime, but also a study in grace of movement and poised stage presence. Mary Catherine Diefenderfer '39, as Spring, the mistress of ceremonies, was also

COMMITTEE'S CHOICE OF "FLORALIA" MADE DIFFICULT BY LIST OF CLEVER PAGEANTS

Audrey Poley's "Floralia" was chosen by the Ursinus Circle as the most appropriate May Day pageant, but the other pageants entered were all very worthy, says the selection committee, and received a great deal of consideration. These pageants were quite varied, and included the following:

"The Magic Carpet of Melody," or "Music, Song, and Dance of America" by Mildred Gebhard '39, which shows the development of music and dance in America.

"Harlequinade" by Gladys Dougherty '39, in which the buffoons from various countries entertain the May Queen.

"Romance of the Rose," by Ruth Verna '37. This pageant was taken from Chaucer's translation of "Le Roman de La Rose", which is an allegory of a lover's quest and conflict for his lady symbolized as a rose. The rose is symbolic of ideal beauty.

"Inspiration, Woman's Gift to Mankind", by Elizabeth Seidle '39, in which the May Queen represents a woman in the progress of civilization, who symbolizes the best and finest ideals.

"Clio's Gift—Muse of Music", by Mildred Sattazahn '39, which has for its purpose an indication of the various phases of the development of music in western civilization, and the part it played in the everyday life of people.

"Turning Back History's Pages", by Caroline Mullin '37, which was written in commemoration of the one hundred and fiftieth birthday of the Constitution of the United States.

PAYING FOR THE MOTHERS' DAY BANQUET

Do you think that each student who entertained his mother here Saturday should have been compelled to pay seventy-five cents for her dinner in the College dining room without any knowledge of why the cost was so excessive? Or do you think each student paid the fifty percent increase over last year's tax without question because he felt that an unknown element had necessitated the extra twenty-five cents, and that it was satisfactory to him because he was entertaining his mother?

Now go a step further; do you think there was any justification for those in charge to effect such an increase, which to us seems not only unreasonable, but unnecessary, in the cost of a meal that was essentially the same as the Mothers' Day dinner a year ago? We can think of only two possible reasons for the addition of this twenty-five cents: the general rise in food prices, and the profit motive. Our common sense, which tells us that the Mothers' Banquet is not a commercial scheme, immediately eliminates the latter end; then working on the supposition that the former ground is valid, we have been trying to find evidence that food prices have risen by an amount equal to half of what they were a year ago. We have been unsuccessful, and therefore feel that the added expense was unjustified.

But to go still further, might we ask why the College should not give the mothers of Ursinus students an annual banquet? The cost of such a dinner is not small, we realize. Yet does it not seem that, after exerting such marked effort to have every mother visit the campus on Mothers' Day, after working to provide a really fine experience in enjoying the day given to her by the College of her sons and daughters; does it not seem that to ask the mothers to pay for a banquet given in their honor is stopping just short of perfection? It is not the cost to the mothers, or the sons and daughters who pay for it—"it is the principle of the thing".

If Mother comes to Mothers' Day and has to pay a quarter here and fifty cents there, she probably doesn't mind. But if Mother comes to Mothers' Day and the College takes her into its fold, entertains her, fetes her, makes her proud of the community to which her son or daughter belongs, and never asks her to pay for the privilege, giving it to her as though it were her due, it seems to us she would like that.

THE WOMEN'S RULES

Once again the Women's Student Government Association has given ground in the disciplining of campus boy-girl relationships. Every year a W. S. G. A. Committee on Rules Revision succeeds in liberalizing a little more the commandments by which are governed the living conditions of all resident co-eds. (We shudder to think what it must have been like twenty years ago.) This year the most palpable change is in the increase in time extension placed on special permission dates—the hour grows later and later. But that is the progress of civilization. At any rate, it demonstrates that the new W. S. G. A. administration is in the saddle with a purpose.

The W. S. G. A. should have a purpose. Its raison d'être is the control of co-ed campus life, and its guiding star is the set of much-belabored Women's Rules. These rules were made a long time ago, have undergone through the years an evolution calculated to keep them "abreast of the times" (to use a phrase we have been hearing much of these days), and today they exist to define and confine the actions of all resident women students. Whether or not these rules are sufficiently contemporary to be called good legislation we shall not take it upon ourselves to discuss now. Our immediate concern is that these rules are the law of the co-ed community, and they must be enforced.

They must be enforced by the W. S. G. A. The W. S. G. A. has an adviser, the Dean of Women, Dr. Elizabeth B. White. It is her duty to see that the Women's Rules are maintained and obeyed; neither can they be changed without her approval. This is as it should be. No matter what can be said of autonomy, the privilege of self-government carries with it correlative responsibilities which, in this case, maturer women than the college variety could not be entrusted with.

But, it is the W. S. G. A., subject to the ever-watchful higher eye, which should enforce these rules, and not the W. S. G. A. adviser. And this is the convention that is in operation, so long as the rules are enforced under it. Our word is for the women students. If you want a W. S. G. A., it must be one that governs, else it belies its name and loses its power. And if the W. S. G. A. wants power, it must take it; and use it. It must punish all offenders. And you, the women students, cannot take umbrage with the punishment, even though friends on the campus are more common than strangers. The members of the W. S. G. A. will enforce the Women's Rules. And no one, when he considers the closeness of friendship on the small campus, can do aught but respect them for it.

RAMBLINGS

Now that the hectic May Day week-end is over and we can all settle back to relax, taking a deep breath before exams, there is a little time for reflective ramblings. Not profound thought nor deep concentration, for we must preserve our gray matter for mental taxation during "Hell Weeks". What I mean is just a mental "Let Yourself Go". So, let your cerebrum contract or expand, whichever you please (paging Tyson!), and just let any old thing come to your mind—for instance:

The first thing that comes to my mind is that of dear old Patterson Field, you know him. He is so different in the Spring than in the Fall. In the latter season he suffers a terrific mauling at the feet of bloody brutes who run around with cleated shoes tearing up the green turf and messing the attractive white lines which decorate him, while a frenzied crowd on the sidelines screams and shouts 22 of these brutes into fast and furious action. It's a game called football.

Yet Spring cometh and all is serene. The gridiron, with scars healed by a blanket of Winter snow, slowly awakens, stretches and gives forth new green shoots in preparation for another beating. Pat is lucky that there isn't Spring practice at Ursinus. But, what is this? Pat feels a tickling sensation running up and down between his 40 and 50 yard lines. "What goes on here?" queries the scarred veteran. "Elves, nymphs and fairy goddesses tripping and hopping over my left yard stripes. Oh! Oh! What is this long thing with colored cloths hanging on it? They're dragging it over my coffin corner! Heavens! They're going to stab me with it, right on my left 45 yard marker." (Imagine Patterson Field saying "Heavens!")

Thus, up goes the Maypole with its many colors and the regal procession attending the Queen of the May enters the field in gala display. Now all this is very confusing to one who is accustomed to a stampede of mole-skinned mad-men who curse, shout numbers and scramble about one's anatomy with utter disregard of personal courtesy. But this! A stately parade of beautiful plough-girls, roses, daisies, snow flakes, birds and what not is a terrifying phenomenon to behold upon awakening from a Winter's sleep. However, from the moment the May Queen brushes over Pat's safety zone he realizes that this is a gridiron paradise. His mighty bosom, seasoned and battle-scarred, heaves in pride as the soft caressing feet of these lovely dancing creatures soothe, as balm, his tough yardage. What other football field can boast of this sensual pleasure?

Pat is joyous in his innocent ecstasy, but we students of economics realize that he is just another victim of seasonal employment. We must withhold this secret from him until he awakes from the ethereal langour which the dizzy dance of the May has placed him in. Then the lure of the pigskin will restore his normal senses. I'm hoping this didn't make a sissy out of Pat, but in the Spring a young man's fancy, etc. Anyway, I'll be glad when the season of punts, passes and touchdowns (we hope) is back with us.

(Ed. Note—The only thing wrong with this column is that there was no Maypole. However, you cannot blame our columnist for that. When he wrote this column, he hoped there would be a Maypole.)

present year and the prospect for the immediate future.

Mildred H. Hahn '31, Sylvan M. Flitter, Esq. '24, and Rev. Maxwell H. Paine '26, also spoke. The following officers for 1937-38 were elected at the business meeting: president, Rev. Reginald H. Helffrich '28; vice-president, Rev. R. Maxwell Paine '26; secretary, Anna M. Thomas '30; and treasurer Cyril C. Helffrich '24.

THE MAIL BOX

To the Editor:

Maybe you can answer these questions; I can't.

Has the cost of food risen so much in the last year that it justifies the increase in price of the Mothers' Day banquet from 50c to 75c, an upward bolt of 50 percent, or is it that Ursinus is guilty of the prostitution of the noble sentiment of Mothers' Day? And is the intrinsic value of a piece of parchment inscribed in Latin so great that the additional charge of $20 for graduation expenses made by the College will not cover the $1.40 rental of caps and gowns for seniors?

The monetary amounts mentioned above may seem like "small change," but it is small change that may cause the difference between a pleasant evening and a dull evening; a movie date and a walking date; and even between a coke-and-pretzel and a glass of water.

Yours, Bradford Stone '37.

To the Editor:

There is a basement room in Bomberger—truly a most remarkable room—the Girls' Day Study. It is a dining room for day students, a dressing room for resident students, lounge, social hall—day study. Books, bologna and bananas all amalgamated into the traditional air of the day study. It is a cellar room where daylight has always to be supplemented by the light of the incandescent lamp—a study hall where light is poor, ventilation is absent, and even heat is uncertain. Truly the name "day study" is a misnomer.

Fifty day students are given one basement room, poorly and uncomfortably furnished, improperly cleaned, where they are to enjoy

PLACEMENT BUREAU FILES RECORDS OF GRADS; REGISTERS ALUMNI FOR POSITIONS

(Ed. Note: This is the third and last Placement Bureau article in a series of three written by Professor Eugene Michael, of the Ursinus College Placement Bureau. This article is concerned with an explanation of Placement Bureau records and methods, and the aid that alumni can give the Bureau in its placement work.)

It has been found that many of the alumni and student body are interested in the types of records on file in the Placement Bureau office. It has also been found that many did not realize the extensiveness of these records.

A Placement Bureau blank is filled in each year by all seniors who are enrolled in practice teaching, since this always represents the largest group to be placed in positions. This blank calls for the following types of information: name, address, phone number, date of birth, height, weight, church membership, secondary education, college education, major subject, subjects which the candidate is qualified by law to teach, extra-curricular activities, position desired, experience, and names of individuals to be used as references by the candidate.

Grad Work Kept Up To Date

Information under "experience" and "other colleges attended" is brought up to date as soon as graduates inform this office of their activities since graduation. The "Alumni Notes" column of The Ursinus Weekly has also been a valuable source of information in bringing our records up to date.

Many of our alumni who are teaching have their superintendents and principals send statements to this office to be used in applying for other teaching positions. College records of graduate work have been placed on file here of those graduates you have asked their present employers to send their records here. In other words, this bureau is glad to have each one's record up-to-date. This can only be done (since this is part time work for the director, Professor Eugene B. Michael, and for Dr. J. S. Heiges) if each graduate sees to it that the additional information is sent to this office.

Beginning with the class of 1936, meetings have been called for all seniors interested in any type of employment, and the same type of information is asked of them on a blank as in the case of the prospective teachers. Many who were graduated before the class of 1936 have also registered with this bureau for positions of all types.

Bureau Contacts Employers

Credentials that are sent out from this office to prospective employers include a typed copy of the information called for on the Placement Bureau blank as indicated earlier in this article. They also include a composite rating blank filled in by the professors used as references by the candidates, and statements of all individuals used as references.

The rating blank calls for a rating from one (lowest) to five (highest) on the following items: intelligence, industry, integrity, cooperation, leadership and attractiveness of personality. The credentials also include a transcript of the College record if called for.

Service To All Alumni

Alumni who are not registered in the bureau at the present time are invited to join. There is no charge for the services performed by this office. Many have availed themselves of this opportunity, as can be seen by the fact that our enrollment ranges from the class of 1905 to the present graduating class.

To facilitate the placement of teachers, lists of prospective teachers are sent in March of each year to 400 school administrators. Lists of substitute teachers are sent out in September to each county where it is known that, at least, four of our graduates in that particular county are now employed.

ALUMNI NOTES

The Ursinus College alumni of Berks County will hold a dinner dance at the Reading Country Club, Reading, on May 22.

Dr. and Mrs. Norman McClure will be honor guests at the affair to which all students of the Berks County district are invited. Mrs. Howard V. Miller is general chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements.

'31—Rev. Lester E. Williams has been installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Broad Axe, Mich. After being graduated from Ursinus, Rev. Williams entered the Divinity School of Yale University from which he was graduated. Awarded the Two Brothers Fellowship, he spent a year of post-graduate study in Jerusalem at the American School of Oriental Research immediately following his graduation in 1934.

The newly-formed Alumnae Association of Omega Chi sorority held a dinner at the Moravian Inn in Philadelphia on Saturday, April 24. Those present were Frances Prince '34, Jane Huhn ex '35, Evelyn Cook '30, Barbara Taylor '31, Elmina Brant '31, Mrs. Beatrice Krasley '30, Mrs. Evelyn Godshall '31, Louree Remsburg '34, Sarah Mary Ouder Kirk '34, Gladys Ulrich '34, Margaret Paxson '35, Jessie Wilson '36, Sarah Helen Keyser '36, Lillian Barnett '35, and Eleanor Lyle '35.

Administrators are made to learn of vacancies, if time from our other duties at the College can be spared. For placement in business the professor of the Economics Department are called on for assistance; and for laboratory positions, men of the Science Department are called upon for assistance. Many members of the faculty have passed on to this office vacancies of which they have heard.

Alumni can be of assistance to this office by informing Professor Eugene B. Michael or Dr. J. S. Heiges of vacancies or new positions. This is especially true when alumni change positions. Often another Ursinus graduate can be placed in the position that is vacated. The men of this office are available on the campus from the opening of school in September until the close of school at Commencement in June.

their noonday meal, keep their books, coats and other belongings, study, and peculiarly enough where Gym students change their clothes. The duties assigned this room are beyond the imagination of any architect. Yet in my four years at Ursinus I've seen no effort to improve these conditions, the furnishings never having been replaced or repaired, the care given it becoming more slovenly every year and the number of day students steadily increasing. These cramped quarters should be renovated and enlarged and more consistently cared for. Surely these students deserve some consideration and a little more appropriation.

Yours truly,
Beatrice Pearlstine '37.

To the Editor:

We are taking this opportunity to bring to the attention of the proper authorities the unnecessary expense inflicted upon the students for Mothers' Day.

Why is it necessary to raise the price of the banquet? Why is it necessary that the students pay admission to see the May Pageant for which they have already contributed their time and money? Such an act will lead to less cooperation among them.

How many students can afford to pay $3.00 minimum for one day's entertainment? We feel that this is an injustice.

Sincerely,
A Group of Students.

ALL CHEM-BI. JUNIORS:

Members of the class of '38 in the Chemistry-Biology group will meet tomorrow, May 18, at 8 p. m., in Room 108, the Science Building. This meeting is very important—it concerns the comprehensive examinations.

ATTENTION SENIORS!

Orders for caps and gowns will be taken this week. Virginia Fenton will take the girls' orders, and Harvey Quay will take the boys' orders. All orders must be in by this Friday, May 21. The full payment of $1.40 must be made by Friday.

To the Editor:

In the issue of May 10 appeared, in Mr. Hartman's otherwise admirable column, one of the most horrible examples of bad taste it has ever been my misfortune to encounter. Realizing full well that by-line writers are privileged persons whose efforts are rarely if ever censored by the editors, it still seems to me that the jesting reference to the shocking tragedy of the Hindenburg should have been recognized and deleted before the paper went to press.

Yours truly,
Philip Gaber '37.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Alf Gemmill, the morning after he had limited the Mules of Allentown to four hits, was very modest about his fine pitching performance. Alf claims Hen Gutekunst, Cardinal and Gray receiver, is the only real hitter in the line-up . . . Yours truly knows that, having seen him perform for seven years. He is quite an all-around athlete . . .

From the trackmen who conquered Albright . . . one gathers that it was an interesting meet . . . It must have been interesting to see three Ursinus men cross the finish line in one, two, three order with no opponent close enough to make it a race . . . Present day students of this institution can't remember such a thing . . . Usually a single capable entry was all that could be mustered for the distance events . . . Bill Albe had a good work-out on Tuesday, running in the two-mile, one-mile, and half-mile events and still fresh enough upon his return to walk. Of course he claims it was merely to loosen up . . .

Some fellows on the track team have been plugging away every day and as yet have not been successful in competition . . . They are giving all they can and to them we say, "Well done!"

Cliff Calvert has not had the best material to work with at Perkiomen. Finding himself without a pitcher, he has been forced to use a former catcher and a former outfielder in the pitcher's box . . . Not that we mean to detract from the hitting which the men of Kellett did . . .

And speaking of Don, we can't resist mentioning the fact that he has had unusual success as a coach. He knows the games and can teach others how to work together . . .

In the lifetime of every columnist certain facts come to his attention which cannot be put aside, but they must be used in such a manner that many more people can enjoy them . . . Of course we're not writing a "Gaff" column, but since these facts concern a sports luminary, we have taken it upon ourselves to relate these facts to the thousands of Ursinus students who do not as yet know that the 1936 champion high school miler in the state of New Jersey, one Bill Albe, is taking residence in Shreiner Hall.

Deserting Stine Hall in its hour of need to go walking with the Pride of Pitman is unforgivable in the eyes of the rabid softballers. Your columnist was informed recently of a coming election for the kingship of Shreiner. At present there is but one candidate in the field. If there are any men who desire to run against the mouse, they are requested to file their petitions and have their bed moved to within hailing distance.

While viewing the pupils of Jing and Don going at it in a practice session, we came to the conclusion that more spirit is shown and more talking is done at such times than in a scheduled encounter.

Perhaps a softball game between the intramural champs and co-ed class champions as decided by the high-scoring games held by the female element of this campus could be arranged.

Trackmen Take Albright In Final Spurt Bears Lose, 2-1, But Outhit Mules

Hashagen Squad Captures Seven Firsts to Garner First Win, 66½-59½

The Ursinus turf and cinder men finished with a rush to take a close meet from the Albright Lions last Wednesday. It was the second dual meet of the season, the Grizzlies having dropped the first to F. and M.

With Albright leading 54½-44½, and with only three events to go, Ken Hashagen's runners took the first two places in the low hurdles, swept the two-mile run, and Glenn Eshbach cinched the victory with a triumph in the broad jump, leaving the final score 66½-59½ in favor of the Collegeville team.

Seven Firsts

Ursinus took seven first places, the winners being captain Gaumer in the high jump; Eshbach in the broad jump; Shirmer in the high hurdles; Mackenson in the low hurdles; Regn in the 880; Albe in the mile; and Yoh in the two mile.

Herb Griffiths and Eshbach placed 2 and 3 in the century dash, while Albie McConnell was held back to only a third in both 220 and 440.

Elmer Regn came home second behind Johnny Mackenson in the low hurdles. All places went to Ursinus in the 2-mile, Bill Albe and Charlie Wynkoop copping second and third.

Captain Places In Hurdles Too

Elmer Gaumer ran through the tape behind "Shorty" Shirmer in the high hurdles. Hop Porambo took a tie for third in the high jump.

Johnny Knoll was second in both discus and shot put, while "Steinblock" Steinmetz garnered a second tie in the pole vault and a third in the shot and javelin.

"Pappy" Padden took second in the javelin, Frankie Tworzzydlo third in the discus, and Johnny Connor third in the 880.

Altogether it added up to beat the Reading Rompers.

Points scored by trackmen in all meets up to and including May 12:

Capt. Gaumer	21
Eshbach	16
Schirmer	14
Regn	11
Steinmetz	10
Albe	9
Padden	9
McConnell	9
Mackenson	8

THE MAIL BOX

Open Letter To Students:

All Lantern material should be handed in to one of the staff by this Friday, May 21. The usual range of material is solicited—short stories, poems, accounts of travel, plays, essays, sketches. All students are invited to submit articles.

Many student writers fail to contribute to the Lantern because they think its being a literary magazine somehow throws a ban on any but the dullest or tamest material. This is not so. It will be the policy of the present staff to encourage use of a wide variety of subjects, which subscribers will want to read because they are of interest, not merely because they are "literary" and "worthwhile".

For this reason, personal memoirs, recollections of student years, argumentative essays (so long as they are more than a tempest in a teapot), humorous articles are all welcomed. There is no reason why student writers at Ursinus should not combine literary worth with human interest or timeliness in the manuscripts they submit for the Lantern.

The forthcoming issue will be published during exam period, and besides its regular features, will be in the nature of a special issue commemorating the inauguration of Norman E. McClure as president of the College. As such, the staff will try to make the issue worthwhile both as a literary magazine to be read, and as a souvenir of the coming Commencement.

POSTPONED GAMES:

Two varsity baseball games and three tennis matches were scheduled last week. The batsmen played only Muhlenberg, and the netmen played only Albright, both in the beginning of the week. Rain was responsible for the cancellation of the other ball game, with P. M. C., on Saturday, and the other two tennis encounters, with Temple and F. and M., on Friday and Saturday.

Gaumer, Eshbach, Vie In Middle Atlantics

At the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate Track and Field meet at Gettysburg College last Friday and Saturday, Ursinus had only two representatives, Captain Elmer Gaumer and Glenn Eshbach.

Captain Gaumer brought home a place in a four-way tie for fifth place, garnered by beating out a score of contestants, in the high jump. His mark was 6 feet, while the winners was 6 feet 1½ inches.

In the broad jump, Glenn Eshbach leaped 19 feet 6 inches, low because of a muddy field, on Friday afternoon, to be among the six out of a field of some twenty to qualify. He was unable to stay for the finals on Saturday, however, and his mark was beaten in the jump-off.

The meet was won by Haverford with 35 9/10 points. Rutgers was second with 31.

Jayvee Batsmen Split First Two Encounters

The Bear J. V. batsmen split two games last week, losing to the Villanova yearlings 4-3 on Monday at Villanova, and drubbing Perkiomen here on Wednesday by a 12-3 count.

Vernon opened the scoring for Villanova when he slammed a home run with two out in the first inning. Ursinus went ahead in the second with three runs. Wise and Dawson singled, and Toren and Harris hit successive doubles to account for three tallies. Villanova tied it up in the third on two walks and two singles. There was no more scoring until the last half of the seventh, when Villanova scored the winning run on Dawson's error, and doubles by Shea and Rice.

Both hurlers, Toren for Ursinus and Sisco for Villanova, allowed six hits. The Wildcat pitcher fanned six to Toren's three, while Toren allowed five walks and Sisco three. Toren was the only Ursinus batter to get two hits.

Clark Throws Against Perky

The Perkiomen game was an entirely different story, with Ursinus going out in front in the first inning and never being seriously threatened. Clark held the Perkiomen lads to three hits and fanned eight men. Ursinus collected ten hits off the offerings of Conrad and Shoemaker, with Wilson, Atkinson and Thompson getting two apiece.

The Bears scored four runs in the first inning, one in the third, six in the fifth, and one in the seventh. Perkiomen, coached by Cliff Calvert, former Ursinus star, made three useless runs in their half of the seventh on a hit batsman, two errors and a double, after which Clark turned on the heat and fanned the last two men to end the game.

Classes To Compete For Track Trophy In Annual Meet Tues.

On Tuesday, May 18, at 3 p. m., the annual Interclass Track Meet, which is open to any male student in the College, regardless of varsity affiliation, will be held on Patterson Field.

The events will be the same as those for dual varsity meets. Any number of entrants from each class can participate in any one event, but one man can only compete in three events. The awarding of points will be as follows: first place, five; second, three; and third, one.

The interclass track trophy will be awarded to the winning class at the commencement exercises, June 7. Last year the juniors came out on top, winning from the freshmen.

Wise Beats Fenimore In Final For Table Tennis Championship

Howard Wise is this year's table tennis champion at Ursinus. "Champ" Wise won his laurels last Tuesday evening before a pioneer gallery in the Rec Center ping-pong arena by defeating tennis captain "Mitch" Fenimore at a miniature variety of his own game.

The four-game match, with Wise first, was scored: 17-21, 21-12, 21-12, 21-13.

Howie and "Mitch" met in the finals by virtue of their victories in the semi-finals, in which Wise defeated Joe Rudolph and Fenimore vanquished Dick Dunn.

"Table tennis is here to stay", says Howie. "We'll have a varsity team next year."

Gemmell Turns In Good Mound Performance In Hurling Low-Run Game

Al Gemmill wound up second money to Eph Bartleson in a pitching duel as Ursinus lost to Muhlenberg, 2-1, at Allentown on Tuesday. Off to a lead in the first inning, on Fats Costello's booming four-bagger, the Bears held a 1 to 0 edge going into the last half of the fourth.

With two out, Gutekunst, Mule catcher, slashed a single through the infield, stole second, and scored the tying run on Nosal's single to right. Dietrich fanned to end the inning.

However, the Mules still had a kick coming and Hunsicker, first up in the next inning, started off the fireworks with a one-bagger. Matusa, next up, tapped to Gemmill, who threw into center field trying to get Hunsicker at second. Hunsicker went to third on the wild throw, from where he scored the winning and final run of the afternoon on Tracy's single.

Gemmell, turning in his best performance of the season, lost a real heartbreaker. He whiffed nine and gave up but four hits. Bartleson also fanned nine but yielded five hits, one of which was Costello's round-tripper, the only extra base wallop of the afternoon.

gave a creditable performance. As the father he appeared sufficiently harassed, and seemed at all times the typical English aristocrat.

To Craigie and Garber goes credit for the majority of the laughs of the evening. Craigie essayed the role of the family friend, and though he contributed little to the development of the plot itself, he kept the audience in a mellow mood with his constant flow of subtle, laugh-provoking remarks.

Garber Fine In Russian Role

The more uproarious type of comedy was entrusted to Garber, who gave one of the best performances of the evening. Garber appeared as a dirty, slovenly, and somewhat Cassanovan Russian "comrade" of Miss Stoudt's, and evoked many laughs from the audience with his facial contributions, his Russian accent, and his clever manner of speaking his lines.

Outstanding among the supporting roles was the performance of Beatrice Pearlstone '37, who added immensely to the comedy element in the play with her excellent characterization of a gossipy old woman always seeking jobs for financially distressed relatives.

Ida Trout '37, as the wife who after a ten-year's separation from her husband finally effects a reconciliation with him; Silvia Erdman '37, as the woman in the case; Fred Ditzel '38, as a young silly-exceedingly charming, in spite of the playful breeze.

Much might also be said of Ruth Seitz '37, as Winter; Dorothy Peoples '39, as the Sun; Evelyn Cornish '38, as the Goal Girl; and Gertrude Goldberg '38, as the Daisy Girl; or of Grace Lees '39, and Mable Ditter '39, as Leaders of the rival bands of Elves and Gnomes who furnished the comic relief from the stately dances; but it was Flora's day and it is the radiance of Miss Fenton which gave the pageant its inspiration.

ass Englishman; Arthur Martin '38, and Eleanor Bothell '37, as butler and maid respectively; and James Baird '38, as the daughter's real heart interest, complete the supporting cast. All played their parts well.

Stage Setting Attractive

Special mention, too, is due the attractive scenery and the skillful working of the lights in the love scene at the end of the play.

The fact that one finds little fault with the acting proves just one thing—that the quality of the coaching by Dr. and Mrs. R. S. Sibbald was above reproach. They took a play with fine potentialities, chose a cast that fit the parts like a glove, and gave to Ursinus College for its May Day a performance which, if a single word may be used to describe it, was "smooth."

Pre-Meds Choose Tornetta To Head Second Scientific Society

Frank Tornetta '38, was elected president of the James M. Anders Pre-Medical Society at a special meeting held Tuesday, May 11. He succeeds Richard Miller '37. Lola Reed '38, was chosen secretary for the coming year.

Tornetta is now head of both the scientific societies of the College, having been elected president last week of the Hall Chemical Society as well.

At the Monday, May 10, meeting of the society, the entire program was turned over to Dr. Joseph Hunsberger, a young Norristown practicing physician.

His address to the group embodied helpful suggestions to be followed when in medical school, his own experiences during his year of internship, and an outline of the problems of a medical student.

At the close of the meeting a motion was carried for the society to make a contribution to the James M. Anders Fund which is to be used for the execution of a portrait of the late Dr. Anders.
