

Summary

Title: Legal regulation of activities of financial advisor

The master's thesis Legal regulation of activities of financial advisor explains the term of financial advisory in the Czech Republic and other relative terms from perspective of a man who actually has experience with this field. The goals of the thesis are to define terms of financial advisory and financial advisor, and then to analyze individual fields of financial market from legal perspective. The most described field in master's thesis is the field of insurance.