

Quad Bike Related Deaths and Injuries Australia 2012 Media Monitors Report

Australian Centre for Agricultural Health and Safety

Emily Herde and Tony Lower

January 2013

Background

Australian print media provides an avenue to highlight the prevalence of farm related deaths and injuries. The process of media monitoring has been used by the National Farm Injury Data Centre (NFIDC) since 2005 to assist in the collection of information on farm injury events (fatal and nonfatal). This report focuses specifically on data involving quad bikes (both on and off farms).

Method

Media Monitors Australia is a privately owned company contracted by the NFIDC to scan approximately 2,500 daily, weekly and monthly publications Australia wide. Publications are scanned for various search terms nominated by the NFIDC. In relation to the monitoring of quad bike related injury events, the following search terms are used: “ATV re accidents, injuries or safety on farms or rural properties”, “Quad Bike” and/or “Quad bike in re to accidents, injuries or safety on farms or rural properties”.

Each day's articles are received via email in PDF format, are viewed for relevance and then entered into a Microsoft Excel database. Any quad bike related death that has been reported in the media is added to the Quad Bike Related Deaths Register. The Access Liaison Officer at the National Coroners' Information System (NCIS) is notified of the fatal injury event and the NFIDC is then informed of the matching NCIS case number. This process allows for timely reporting of quad bike related fatality cases in Australia, as cases are added to the register regardless of their closure status i.e. open cases are included within the register. Once sufficient information is available from NCIS so that cause of death, mechanism of injury and intent can be accurately defined, these events can then be reported on more comprehensively.

Results

Deaths

There were approximately 3,708 print media articles received by the NFIDC from Media Monitors Australia in 2012. A total of 18 quad bike related deaths were reported for this period. Table 1 provides a summary of the quad bike related fatal injury events:

- Of the 18 reported deaths there was one case where location could not be determined from the available information. Ten (55%) of these deaths occurred on farm.
- Of the 18 reported quad bike fatalities, four cases could not be classified as either a rollover or non-rollover incident. Of the remaining 14 cases, 9 (64%) were rollovers.
- Rollovers accounted for 60% of on-farm deaths.

9	M	NSW	A young boy has died after a quad bike accident on a property in the NSW Riverina district. The nine-year-old boy had been riding the quad bike on a rural property at Westby, on Monday afternoon when a 69-year-old man returning a tractor to the main shed heard a noise. He found the quad bike on its side with the child trapped by his legs and lower body. The man raised the alarm and the boy's family removed the quad bike and called emergency services. He was taken by ambulance to Wagga Wagga Base Hospital where he died.	Yes	Yes
13	F	NSW	A teenage girl has died after a quad bike accident involving her sisters on a property south of Wollongong. The 13-year-old girl and her younger siblings were riding the quad bike at a private property near Kembla Grange Racecourse before 12.30pm when the older girl fell off. The younger girls were uninjured. Emergency services arrived at the scene to find the 13-year-old girl unconscious. She later died at the scene.	Unknown	Yes
18	F	QLD	A woman has died after a quad-bike accident in north Queensland. Rescuers say the 18-year-old was riding on a beach at Cape Palmerston when she crashed into rocks and was flung off the bike. The teenager's helmet came off in the crash and she suffered head and spinal injuries. She was airlifted to Mackay Base Hospital where she died last night.	No	No
51	M	QLD	A 51-year-old man was found dead by his co-workers yesterday morning after a quad-bike incident while working on the Grassdale Feedlot, about 15km north of Cecil Plains. The man, who was the maintenance supervisor at the feedlot, had disappeared while working a shift on the 5600ha property on Tuesday afternoon. His co-workers went in search of him when he failed to show up at the end of his shift at about 3.30pm on Tuesday. Police were informed of his disappearance yesterday morning, shortly before his body was located near an overturned quad-bike in the workshop compound at 6.10am. It appeared as if the man's body had been thrown from the bike at considerable speed. "At this stage it is unclear what caused the vehicle's failure to stop," he said. The coroner and police are currently investigating the matter.	Unknown	Yes
