UTAH STATE UNIVERSITY'S CEREMONIAL MACE

The top of the mace depicts a flame of crystal tinted with Aggie blue and modeled after the "lamp of learning," the classical symbol of knowledge and freedom. Imbedded within it is a brushed copper disk emblazoned with the University's seal.

The copper bezel below this crystal has 13 sunstones set into it. These symbolize the 13 presidents who guided the institution through its first century.

The white oak shaft comes from wood that was originally part of the banisters of Old Main and rescued from the building after the fire of 1983.

The base consists of limestone provided by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and taken from the same quarry that was used to build the Logan Temple.

Thus, the mace represents the essence of our land-grant institution: seated in the bedrock of our community, striving and growing ever higher, crowned by the light of learning.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF MACES

Maces have long been part of academic heraldry, though their function was not always ceremonial. Originally weapons of war, maces are featured often in ancient Egyptian art where kings are shown ritually smiting their foes. This original function has not been entirely lost. Campus officials in the Middle Ages more than once kept students in line by employing their university's mace in a manner recalling its primitive function. Even in the modern age, it is not unknown for a university mace to be used in this way. For instance, during the commencement ceremonies at Cornell in 1973, when a professor of medieval studies who was carrying the university's mace in a procession was confronted by protesters, he wielded his academic training and the mace in its original fashion.

But university maces today are, for the most part, treated as decorative emblems symbolizing the institution's authority. Seen most often at commencement and other solemn occasions, they remind those in attendance of the deep traditions inherent in a student's journey through university studies. Like the word for the ceremony itself, "commencement,"—which admonishes its participants to remember that this is a celebration of beginnings, not endings—the mace turns the eye forward to the life to come by recalling the rich academic heritage of higher learning and the promise of attainment that comes through education and self-betterment. Our mace, thus, combines elements of both the old and the new, traditional features like gems and stone enhanced with modern designs such as arcs of faceted crystal. Both an impressive work of art and a hallmark of the university's history, this mace brings to light everything that is best about Utah State University.

ACADEMIC HERALDRY

The history of academic heraldry reaches back into the early days of the university. A statute of 1321 required that all "Doctors, Licentiate and Bachelors" of the University of Coimbra wear gowns. In England, in the fourteenth century, the statutes of certain colleges forbade "excess in apparel" and prescribed the wearing of a long gown, necessary, no doubt, for warmth in the unheated buildings frequented by medieval scholars. Hoods were used to cover the head until replaced by the skull cap and later academic caps. Both Cambridge and Oxford have made academic dress a matter of university control down to the most minor detail; and in Oxford during the seventeenth century any tailor who changed the authorized design "even by a nail's breadth" was punished by the vice-chancellor of the university. When American colleges and universities decided to adopt some suitable system of academic apparel, it seemed best to agree on one that all might follow. Accordingly, there was held on May 16, 1895, at Columbia University, a conference of representatives of the boards of various interested institutions. From that meeting came a code of academic dress for the colleges and universities of the United States, which most institutions of higher learning have adopted.

GOWNS

The academic gown for the bachelor's degree has pointed sleeves and is designed to be worn closed. The gown for the master's degree has an oblong sleeve, open at the wrist. The sleeve base hangs down in the traditional manner. The rear part of its oblong shape is square cut, and the front part has an arc cut away. It is designed this way so that it can be worn open or closed. The gown for the doctoral degree has bell-shaped sleeves and may be worn open or closed.

COLORS

For all academic purposes, including trimmings of doctoral gowns, edging of hoods and tassels of caps, the colors associated with the different academic disciplines are as follows:

Agriculture and Applied Sciences, Maize
Arts, Brown
Business, Drab
Education and Human Services, Light Blue
Engineering, Orange
Humanities and Social Sciences, White
Natural Resources, Russet
Science, Gold-Yellow
School of Graduate Studies, Black
Associate's Degrees in General Studies, Black

The white ribbon with the Greek key on the robe of a graduate identifies an inductee into Phi Kappa Phi, the National Scholastic Society. Those wearing gray collars and a medallion are Mortar Board Senior Honor Society members. A gold braided cord draped over the cowl distinguishes a graduate of Honors.

HOODS

Academic hoods are worn by recipients of advanced degrees. The master's degree hoods are three-and-one-half feet in length and are lined with the official color or colors of the college or university conferring the degree, which at Utah State University are navy blue and white, displayed in a heraldic chevron. The doctoral hood consists of a larger and longer assemblage of institutional color draped over the recipient's shoulders and falling well down the back. The binding or edging of the hoods is of velvet or velveteen, three inches wide for the master's degree and five inches wide for the doctoral degree.

CAPS

Academic caps come in two forms: the traditional mortarboard (from Oxford) or square cap; and a soft cap that resembles an oversized beret (from Cambridge). The mortarboard used by Utah State University is worn with a tassel. Black tassels designate the graduate's major field of learning, and gold tassels indicate doctors and the governing officials of institutions.

ACADEMIC PROCESSION

The commencement procession originates at the University Quad and the line of march proceeds to the Dee Glen Smith Spectrum. The procession is composed of three divisions: (1) color guard, University President, Regents and the Board of Trustees, administrative officers and special guests; (2) the faculty; and (3) candidates for degrees. The procession stops at the tunnel entrance to the Spectrum, the first two divisions dividing so that the candidates for graduation pass between them and enter the hall first.

A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT

Congratulations, graduates, on the many things you have accomplished to reach this special occasion. Today, you both complete an important life journey and embark on another. For some, that will mean beginning a new career; for others it will mean continuing graduate or professional school training. I wish you great success in whatever comes next and trust that your experience at Utah State University has prepared you well for what is ahead.

You graduate today from one of America's fine universities, one that has achieved balance among the three "pillars" of the land-grant university system — learning, discovery, and service. Your learning has been enhanced by daily exposure to an outstanding teaching faculty. You have been participants in the discovery process through your involvement with world-class researchers, scholars, and artists from disciplines across the university. You have given much back through your engagement in a broad range of service activities. You are prepared to make the kind of positive impact on your world that proud Aggie graduates before you have made and continue to make.

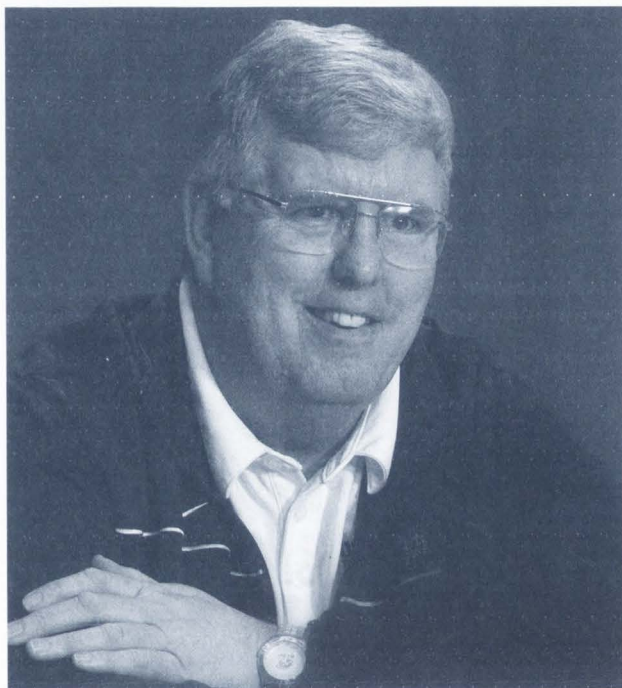

These commencement ceremonies are, for me, an affirmation of human potential, an affirmation of hope for communities everywhere. A world-class faculty has helped you learn the details of your chosen professions. But in addition to that critically important preparation for your life's work, we hope we have also instilled in you other ideals, as well. I hope we have fanned the fires of caring, of giving, of taking responsibility. I hope we have cultivated passion, adventure, and understanding. You are a different person today than you were four or more years ago when you first walked across the Quad in front of Old Main. We hope you see yourself as a better person as well.

President

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER & HONORARY DEGREE

Stew Morrill

Stew Morrill's name is synonymous with Aggie Basketball after going down in Utah State University history as the most successful head coach to ever walk the court of the Dee Glen Smith Spectrum.

Coach Morrill, who patrolled the Aggie sidelines for the past 17 years, closed one of the greatest chapters in USU's men's basketball history when he retired March 2015 after guiding the team to 17 straight winning seasons, including 12 of the top 13 seasons in school history.

The veteran head coach has an impressive tenure of success leading the Aggies to 13 consecutive postseason appearances including eight National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament bids. Aggie fans grew accustomed to conference titles winning four straight Western Athletic Conference titles from 2008 to 2011.

Throughout his career, Coach Morrill achieved his share of individual awards, earning five conference coach of the year honors and the 2011 Jim Phelan National Coach of the Year by CollegeInsider.com. He also earned the distinction of becoming the 14th active Division I head coach to notch his 600th career victory during the 2013-14 season.

While Coach Morrill's accolades are many, it is the accolades for his team and for his students that are most rewarding. His focus has always been about his team, his players, and getting the most out of them both on the court and in the classroom. His emphasis of academic importance earned the team a graduation rate of close to 95 percent and individually generated 21 players over the years who earned academic all-conference honors a total of 37 times. Success on the court prevailed as well with four players earning All-American honors five times and three players who were named Western Athletic Conference Players of the Year.

Fans in the Spectrum remember Coach Morrill for his incredible success in the arena, but off the court he is known for his contributions to the Cache Valley area. Coach Morrill and his wife, Vicki, raised four children during their time at USU and have taken more than 90 foster children into their home.

Coach Morrill graduated from Gonzaga in 1974 with a bachelor's degree in sociology after transferring from Ricks (Idaho) Junior College. Following his collegiate career, he played professionally for one season in France before beginning his coaching career as an assistant at Gonzaga. He went on to become an assistant at the University of Montana, later becoming head coach at the same institution. Coach Morrill moved to Colorado State where he served as head coach for seven seasons before coming to USU in 1998.

For his legendary contribution to Aggie Basketball, Utah State University is proud to bestow upon Stew Morrill the honorary degree, Doctor of Education.

HONORARY DEGREE

Crystal Call Maggelet

Crystal Call Maggelet has overcome incredible obstacles and risen to become a successful leader in the business world. Since taking on the responsibility of overseeing her company, FJ Management, Ms. Maggelet has seen the company through ups and downs; and today, it is one of the largest privately held companies in the United States.

Ms. Maggelet worked hard for her success. After attending Utah State University for two years, she transferred to Pepperdine University where she earned a bachelor's degree in business. She then moved to Harvard to obtain a master's degree in business and began her career as a national salesperson for a small credit card company in Connecticut. Moving back to Utah, Ms. Maggelet partnered with her father, Jay Call, to build the first Crystal Inn that opened in 1994. It was during this time that she founded a hotel development, ownership and management company, MacCall Management, with her husband, Chuck Maggelet. The company would eventually own and operate 14 properties, including 11 Crystal Inns.

Ms. Maggelet's early success led to increasing business opportunities and she was appointed chairman of the board of Flying J, the company her father had founded. Then, in December 2008 she was told that Flying J was in "free fall bankruptcy." Ms. Maggelet's vision of leadership includes having the confidence to rise to the occasion, and she did just that by becoming CEO of the company and working to oversee a restructuring plan that would include a merger with Pilot. The merger allowed Flying

J to keep a minority stake in what would become Pilot Flying J and allowed Ms. Maggelet to keep several other businesses intact and headquartered in Utah.

Today, Ms. Maggelet serves as chief executive officer and president of FJ Management, Inc., formerly Flying J, a diversified family business that includes Maverik, a 270 convenience-store chain; Big West Oil, a petroleum refinery; and an industrial loan bank. Her success allows her to give back and she founded the FJ Management Center for Student Success at USU's Jon M. Huntsman School of Business. The center brings together various student services including recruiting, student advising and career development under one organizational structure to create a "one-stop shop" for students seeking academic and career advising. Ms. Maggelet currently serves on the Huntsman School of Business National Advisory Board. Her family also supports USU students through the FJM Impact Fund, a Vanguard Donor Advised Fund, which funds scholarships.

Ms. Maggelet works hard to create a healthy work-life balance and juggles all of her vocational responsibilities while raising four children. Despite her obligations, she contributes to her community by serving in a variety of roles including serving on the YWCA advisory board, JA City Advisory Board, and as a member of the NACS Coca-Cola Retailing Research Council.

For her integrity and drive to become an example of success in the business world, Utah State University is proud to bestow upon Crystal Call Maggelet the honorary degree, Doctor of Business.

HONORARY DEGREE

Richard Lyle Shipley

Utah State University is a vital part of Richard Shipley's life. His dedication and commitment to the university is unwavering and is evident in the many ways he generously gives of his time, expertise and financial resources to the USU community.

Mr. Shipley was a member of USU's Board of Trustees, where he served as chair for two terms and currently serves as a Trustee of the Utah State University Research Foundation. Previously, he served on the Advancement Board for the former College of Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences. He has supported the USU Department of History's Leonard J. Arrington Chair of Mormon History and Culture, funded archaeological research and provided for an endowment in the Anthropology Museum, all located in what is now the College of Humanities and Social Sciences. To assist students with attending USU, Mr. Shipley and his wife, Joyce, established a recently expanded scholarship endowment for students from Preston High School in Idaho.

Raised in a family of modest means, Mr. Shipley's parents were both music educators who attended USU and who would eventually send him, along with all his siblings, to the university. He earned bachelor's and master's degrees from USU and then continued his graduate studies at the University of Utah. In 1990 he completed a three-year program at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

Shipley Associates, an international communication training firm, was founded by Mr. Shipley in 1972. The success of the company, with offices in Utah, Texas, Washington D.C., and Switzerland, has allowed Mr. Shipley to give back in many capacities.

Since retiring in 1994, Mr. Shipley has been engaged in public service. He served as special assistant to former Utah Governor Michael Leavitt, helped organize the Utah Foster Care Foundation and participated in the Governor's Health Policy Commission. He was named Small Business Person of the Year for Utah by the Small Business Administration in 1992.

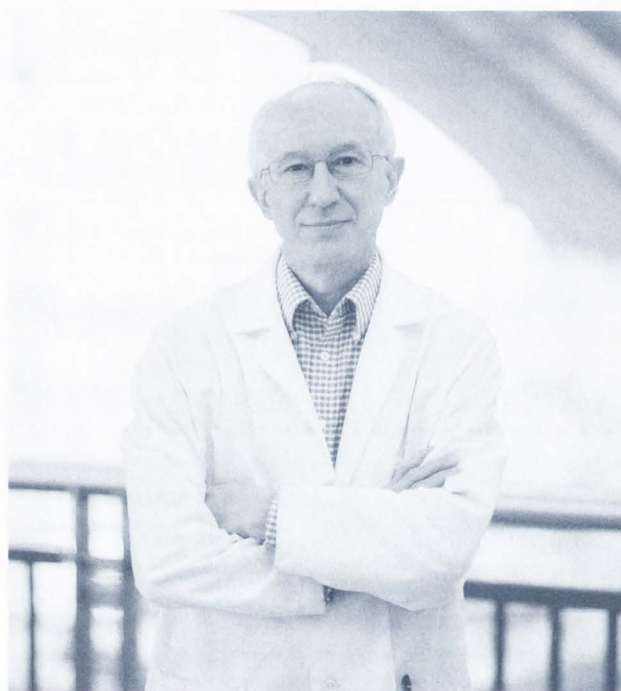

Mr. Shipley is deeply committed to his family and enjoys spending time at his summer home in Idaho. He serves others by mentoring young men from his church and has been involved with the Boy Scouts of America. His lifelong love for music prompted him to serve as a member of the Mormon Tabernacle Choir for eight years. He enjoys taking fishing trips to Alaska and is an archaeology buff.

Mr. Shipley lives in Farmington, Utah, surrounded by five married children and eighteen grandchildren. By the year 2016, Mr. Shipley will have seven grandkids at USU.

For his tireless efforts of supporting the institution in numerous ways, Utah State University is proud to bestow upon Richard Lyle Shipley the honorary degree, Doctor of Humane Letters.

D. WYNNE THORNE CAREER RESEARCH AWARD

Alvan C. Hengge

Dr. Alvan C. Hengge, professor and head of the Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry at Utah State University, is the recipient of the 2015 D. Wynne Thorne Career Research Award. He is the fourth chemist in the past seven years to earn the accolade.

Named after USU's first vice president for research, the award is given annually to an individual who has completed outstanding research in his or her career. Yet, it is noted that Dr. Hengge's unorthodox background demonstrates in real terms his dedication to teaching and his ideal of the inseparability of teaching from research.

Dr. Hengge grew up, completed his bachelor's and began his career in Cincinnati, Ohio. However, for someone who has completed multiple doctorates, his career did not take an expected trajectory — Dr. Hengge spent the first seven years after his undergraduate degree teaching high school chemistry and physics.

Over time, he continued his eclectic training, which included undergraduate chemical engineering, organic chemistry in graduate school and biochemistry as a postdoctoral fellow. This background led him to unique perspectives in his research.

Dr. Hengge's research focuses on the field of phosphoryl transfer, a process that is of major biological importance and has consistently generated important insights into the mechanisms of enzyme function.

Carrying a strong international reputation, Dr. Hengge is recognized as one of the leaders in his field worldwide, with a well-cited body of literature to his credit. Having published some 121 peer-reviewed articles, which have been cited 2,600 times, he is prolific in his field. Invitations for him to present his research have come from prestigious universities, including Albert Einstein, UC-Davis, the Mayo Foundation, McMaster, Utah and Case Western. His recognition has international aspects as well, with invitations to speak most recently from Spain, Australia, UK, Brazil and China.

Dr. Hengge has been asked to review articles submitted for publication to more than 20 journals, some of them the most prestigious in chemistry, including JACS, JOC, Biochem, PNAS, Inorg Chem, Chem Revs and Protein Sci. He has also received nearly $3 million in research grants throughout his career.

At USU, his exceptional performance has already been well documented: He is the only professor in USU's College of Science to receive all three annual awards for outstanding researcher, teacher and undergraduate research mentor. And, part of that success comes from his early teaching career.

ELDON J. GARDNER TEACHING AWARD

David Britt

Dr. David Britt is an associate professor in the Department of Biological Engineering with research interests in nanotechnology, molecular self-assembly and biomaterials.

Dr. Britt joined Utah State University in 2002 and helped build a new undergraduate biological engineering curriculum. He was principal investigator on an NSF Education grant focusing on redefining the biological engineering curriculum and restructuring courses to provide an experiential, hands-on learning environment in the classroom and teaching laboratories. Dr. Britt shares his passion for biomaterials and nanotechnology in his undergraduate- and graduate-level biomaterials courses. He also developed a first-year course to provide new students with the core skills needed to enter into faculty research labs early in their academic careers. For these continuing efforts he has been awarded multiple "Outstanding Advisor" and "Outstanding Teacher" awards from the Biological Engineering Department and College of Engineering.

In addition to developing new courses, teaching laboratories, and undergraduate research projects, Dr. Britt has maintained a robust research program with more than 50 peer-reviewed publications stemming from research funded by the National Science Foundation; the U.S. Department of Agriculture; the American Heart Association; Dairy Management, Inc.;

Pacific Northwest National Laboratory and Fresenius Medical Care, North America. Dr. Britt's research continues to focus on nanoscale phenomena at interfaces, with strong outreach in each research proposal to develop courses and laboratory modules that prepare students for the rapidly evolving field of biological engineering. Dr. Britt enjoys involving students in his research and has 15 research publications with undergraduate students as co-authors.

Dr. Britt is a co-organizer of the annual NanoUtah Conference that brings together faculty and students from the three major research institutions in Utah. He and his undergraduate students provide demonstrations at Nano Days to engage and educate the general public on nanoscale phenomena relevant to everyone.

He received bachelor's degrees in chemistry and materials science and engineering from the University of Utah in 1992 and completed his doctorate in bioengineering from the same institution in 1998.

Dr. Britt was awarded a National Science Foundation-NATO Postdoctoral Fellowship in 1998 to continue his research at the Max Planck Institute for Biophysical Chemistry in Göttingen, Germany.

E. G. PETERSON EXTENSION AWARD

Shawn Olsen

Shawn Olsen is the epitome of what an effective Extension professor should be. He is invested in his work as an agriculture faculty member and is dedicated to the mission and goals of Utah State University Extension.

Professor Olsen is extremely knowledgeable in his field and is willing and able to communicate that knowledge with others. He is a strong advocate for strengthening Davis County and its surrounding communities, having served as Davis County Extension director for 29 years. He has facilitated meetings with many city, county and state officials and is very comfortable in this setting, always providing meaningful input. He is a natural moderator and is able to easily manage difficult situations.

As someone who works well with the public, particularly volunteers, Professor Olsen has managed dozens of volunteer projects at the USU Botanical Center, including many Eagle Scout projects. As is common with Extension outreach, work beyond normal business hours is expected and Professor Olsen enthusiastically attends many evening and Saturday activities. He is a calm, effective leader, mentor and teacher to many across Utah.

Professor Olsen provides stability, senior leadership and integrity to USU Extension. He is not one to seek notoriety and is a true team player. He understands the importance of establishing and stewarding long-lasting relationships. His consistency, diplomacy and stability are perhaps his greatest strengths.

Never speaking disparagingly or inappropriately of colleagues or situations, Professor Olsen always strives for positive outcomes and solutions. He is most deserving of this award to recognize his outstanding service. It is fitting that Shawn Olsen be honored for his long-standing dedication to USU Extension by receiving the 2015 E.G. Peterson Extension Award.

TEACHING EXCELLENCE AWARDS

Through an extensive selection process involving both students and faculty in the various academic colleges, eight members of the faculty have been designated for special recognition for excellence in teaching representing the eight colleges of the University: Agriculture and Applied Sciences; Caine College of the Arts; Jon M. Huntsman School of Business; Emma Eccles Jones College of Education and Human Services; Engineering; Humanities and Social Sciences; S. J. & Jessie E. Quinney College of Natural Resources; and Science. From the eight colleges, The Eldon J. Gardner Teaching Award recipient is chosen; the seven remaining follow:

College of Agriculture and Applied Sciences

RYAN C. BOSWORTH

Dr. Ryan Bosworth is a faculty member in the Applied Economics Department in the College of Agriculture and Applied Sciences at Utah State University. As such, Dr. Bosworth has been active as a research mentor for his graduate students and has assisted them with authoring journal articles. He also enjoys serving on the committees of graduate students from various departments at the university including Applied Economics, Civil and Environmental Engineering, Landscape Architecture and Environmental Planning, Ecology, Political Science, and Economics and Finance.

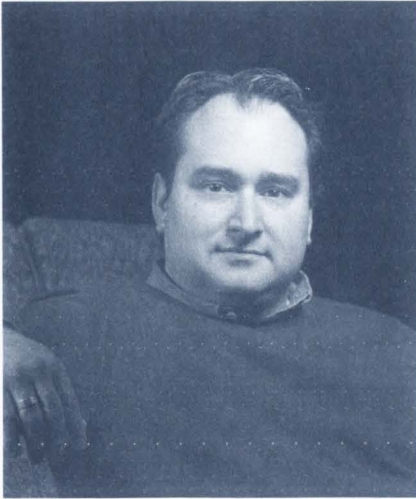

Dr. Bosworth's teaching activity at USU has included courses in econometrics at both the graduate and undergraduate level, as well as courses in environmental and natural resource economics and mathematical economics. He serves as the advisor for the Environmental and Natural Resource Economics Club, where he is overseeing a club project to perform a benefit-cost analysis of the new vehicle emissions testing program in Cache County. Dr. Bosworth's research interests are in applied econometrics, environmental and health economics, transportation economics, and education economics.

A native of Preston, Idaho, Dr. Bosworth attended Utah State University from 1996 to 2001, earning both bachelor's and master's degrees in economics. After graduating from USU, he studied environmental economics and econometrics at the University of Oregon, completing a doctorate in economics in 2006. After spending four years on the faculty in North Carolina State University's School of Public and International Affairs, Dr. Bosworth returned to USU as a faculty member in the Applied Economics Department.

Dr. Bosworth lives in Smithfield with his wife, April, and their three children. His hobbies include tennis, chess, golf and autocross.

Caine College of the Arts

RICHARD B. CALL

Assistant professor Richie Call has been a faculty member in the Theatre Arts Department in the Caine College of the Arts at Utah State University since 2010. In that short time, Professor Call's teaching has impacted the department and many students. And, in a way, by joining the department, he has returned to his roots. He received his bachelor of fine arts in performance from USU in 2006, then went on to earn a master of fine arts degree in acting from Rutgers University's Mason Gross School of the Arts in 2009.

Coming from a long line of educators, Professor Call now teaches in the same department where his grandfather, W. Vosco Call, was a long-time faculty member and department head. His father, Richard Call, is a dedicated theater professional who spent a career in public education.

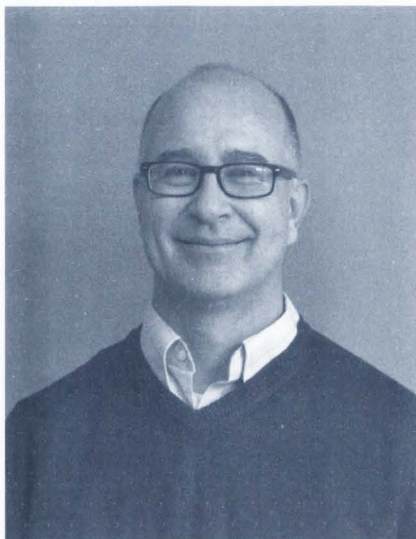

Professor Call believes that the first responsibility of the actor is to learn to say "yes." Actors must learn to reclaim that ready and nimble ability they enjoyed as children to transform in an instant. As a teacher and director, he endeavors to foster environments where receptive imagination and willing engagement — this playing — can flourish.

Getting back to the basics is what Professor Call believes nurtures his students and allows them to use their imaginations. In both his beginning and advanced classes, Professor Call seeks to arm actors with the tools necessary to live truthfully in plays. In addition, he works closely with Professor Shawn Fisher and the Fusion Theatre Project to provide opportunities for students to experience ownership and empowerment in the creative process.

As an example for his students and to continue honing his craft, Professor Call remains active in his acting career, with recent credits at Pioneer Theatre Company, Salt Lake Acting Company and Salt Lake Shakespeare. He is also a co-artistic director of the Lyric Repertory Company where he has worked as an actor and director for 14 seasons.

Jon M. Huntsman School of Business

PAUL B. FJELDSTED

Professor Paul B. Fjeldsted, Chartered Financial Analyst, is a senior lecturer in the Department of Economics and Finance in the Jon M. Huntsman School of Business at Utah State University.

Professor Fjeldsted joined the USU faculty in August 2008 and teaches the corporate finance, financial institutions, fixed income, fundamentals of investing and investing practicum courses.

Professor Fjeldsted is the faculty advisor to the USU Finance and Economics Club and became a Chartered Financial Analyst Institute charter holder in September 2011. He pioneered the use of Bloomberg Data Services at the Huntsman School and advises students managing the $5 million Zions Bank Student Bond Portfolio and the $50,000 DA Davidson Student Investment Portfolio.

After graduating from Utah State University in 1986 with a bachelor's in liberal arts Professor Fjeldsted started his career as a credit analyst at Citibank in New York City, where he worked for two years prior to beginning an MBA program at Harvard Business School, where he graduated in 1990. Professor Fjelsted rejoined Citibank in 1990 and became a founding member of the firm's emerging markets derivatives business. In 1993, Professor Fjelsted was hired by Salomon Brothers as a vice-president and trader in the emerging markets business. Salomon was subsequently acquired by Citigroup and he was promoted to managing director in 2005 and retired from Citigroup in August 2008.

Professor Fjelsted is a board member of Wasatch Social Ventures and the Sunshine Terrace Foundation. He has been an active volunteer for the CFA Institute and is a case reviewer for Harvard Business Publishing. His wife, Patricia, is a fellow USU graduate (bachelor's degree in English, 1984; master's degree in social work, 2014). Their oldest, Hannah, graduated from USU in 2013 and is now attending law school. Their son, Jack, is a sophomore at USU and their youngest, Emma, is a junior at Mountain Crest High School.

SARAH S. TULANE

Dr. Sarah Tulane is a clinical assistant professor in the department of Family, Consumer, and Human Development in the Emma Eccles Jones College of Education and Human Services. She has taught a range of classes, both online and face-to-face, including balancing work and family, human development across the lifespan, infancy and child development, middle childhood, adolescence, research methods and family life education methods.

Dr. Tulane enjoys working with students in her online family life education methods class and with students completing their senior capstone project to develop skills for adult education and teaching in the community. She has helped students develop teaching materials, gain confidence in presentation abilities and find the best ways to work with their target audiences to facilitate learning. Dr. Tulane believes in a hands-on approach to education and tries to give students in all of her classes the opportunity to apply what they have learned in practical ways. For example, she assisted with the organization of a parent education night for the community and guided students through lesson plan development and presentations in workshops on topics related to child development. She also enjoys mentoring graduate students in teaching face-to-face classes and developing online course materials.

Dr. Tulane's research interests include learning and teaching processes coupled with her love for human development. For her master's thesis, she focused on graduate teaching assistants and the processes by which they learn to teach.

Dr. Tulane received her doctorate from USU in family and human development with an emphasis in adolescence. Her research interests include both media use by adolescents and adult education. Current projects focus on the fusion of her passions, including the development of a parent education program focusing on technology use by adolescents.

DIANE M. CALLOWAY-GRAHAM

Dr. Diane Calloway-Graham is an Associate Professor and Field Practicum Director in the Social Work Program with the Department of Sociology, Social Work, and Anthropology at Utah State University.

Dr. Calloway-Graham is an energetic, innovative, and student-centered teacher who believes that to teach is to touch a life forever and is highly invested in influencing and mentoring students to become professional social workers. She is responsible for the administration of the field practicum education component of the curriculum, making possible the placement of undergraduate and graduate majors in community social service agencies. She regularly teaches theory and practice-oriented courses preparing students to identify as a professional social worker as they enter the field practicum component of their education.

Dr. Calloway-Graham is an expert in utilizing technology in the classroom to enhance the essential interpersonal communication skills of students. She is engaged in presenting many national workshops helping educators in social work to integrate technology-based teaching and collaborative learning applications into their teaching methodology. She has published a book chapter article entitled, "Rural Field Education: A Model of Development, Delivery, and Evaluation" and a narrative article entitled, "My Life as A Practicum Director in Reflections: Narratives of Professional Helping."

Student feedback throughout the years has validated her approach as a student-centered teacher including comments like, "Dr. Calloway-Graham has a gift to be able to see each and every student's abilities and she makes this a priority," "I feel that you have been the single most powerful influence in my academic career," and "you have taught me a lot about life as well." Outstanding achievements recognizing her dedication to teaching excellence include awards from the Utah Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers Social Work Educator of the Year (2003 & 1998), Teacher of the Year (College of HASS, Social Science Division, 2003 & 2007), Academic Advisor of the Year (College of HASS, 1997), and Faculty Shared Governance of the Year Inaugural Award (Robins Award, 2012).

Dr. Calloway-Graham started working at Utah State University in 1990 and received her doctorate and master of social work degrees from the University of Utah.

S. J. & Jessie E. Quinney College of Natural Resources

KARI E. VEBLÉN

Undergraduate majors from all departments in Utah State University's Quinney College of Natural Resources are required to take WILD 4750: Monitoring and Assessment of Natural Resources and Environment Management. The math-intensive course provides a critical foundation for further study, but it is difficult and time-consuming.

Teaching the course is also a challenge, as Wildland Resources faculty member Dr. Kari Veblen discovered during her first foray with the course. But she listened carefully to student and peer evaluations, dug in and crafted a class that combined collaborative and experiential learning with practical experience.

"In just a few years, Dr. Veblen has turned this course from one of the most despised into one of the most valued in our department," said Karen Mock, associate professor in Wildland Resources and QCNR associate dean. "It has become a cornerstone of the curriculum in all of our degree programs."

"This is a senior-level monitoring and assessment course that constitutes students' first substantive exposure to field methods and data collection, field data processing and the application of statistics and study design to natural resource problems," Dr. Veblen said.

To broaden the appeal and applicability of the class, she includes weekday and Saturday field trips, which enable students to collect data in the field and participate in realistic and meaningful projects.

Undergraduate Timothy Bateman said Dr. Veblen inspired him "to push myself in new directions." Because of her, he got involved in undergraduate research and he cannot imagine a better candidate for Teacher of the Year.

Student Chase Allred admits he was struggling and "almost flunked out of school" before enrolling in Dr. Veblen's WILD 4750 course. "I am continuing my education as a graduate student and getting to do things I never thought were possible, thanks to Dr. Veblen," Allred said.

BRADLEY S. DAVIDSON

“Just do your best” was the mantra Bradley Davidson heard growing up, whether it was applied to his schoolwork, his music or his outdoor sporting adventures. As the middle of three sons to educator parents, there was never any question Dr. Davidson would pursue higher education.

Growing up in the small southern Oregon town of Ashland was not especially difficult for Dr. Davidson, but it was interesting in the ‘70s era of experimental education and provided a solid academic foundation. His school’s “flex schedule” taught Dr. Davidson how to organize his time and focus his efforts. These were skills he constantly needed, after missing many days of school while traveling around the Northwest as a ski racer. It is the dedication, determination and responsibility learned during this time that helped him move through life.

Ski racing took Dr. Davidson to Montana State University, but it was chemistry that took him on an eastward adventure to graduate school at Cornell University where he studied under the fathers of chemical ecology: Jerrold Meinwald and Thomas Eisner. They showed him how organic chemistry could be used to understand the behavior of living organisms. From insects, he moved on to postdoctoral research at the University of Utah to study marine invertebrates. He marveled at their ability to produce complex organic chemicals used for signaling and defense that can also be exploited by humans for biological studies and medicine.

After six and a half years as a faculty member at the University of Hawaii, Dr. Davidson moved to Utah State University at the beginning of 1997 where his career has continued to evolve, leading to his self-discovered passion for teaching chemistry.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION LETTER

Dear Utah State University Graduate:

Congratulations on your graduation from Utah State University! Your degree is a significant accomplishment representing years of hard work and sacrifice. Your degree will be awarded during the "Commencement" ceremony, which means "beginning." Why do we call the end of your formal schooling the "beginning"? I think it is because the educational process is, and should be, a lifelong proposition.

This also marks the beginning of a new phase in your life – the beginning of a new career, the opportunity to apply what you have learned, or perhaps the beginning of an advanced degree. All of which are new beginnings.

Another important beginning is your lifelong connection to Utah State University. Let it be the commencement of a commitment to a lifetime of continued association with USU.

The Utah State University Alumni Association seeks "to enhance the Utah State University experience through lifelong engagement." I invite you to take full advantage of all Alumni Association benefits. For example, we have initiated two exciting programs: First, is the Alumni Career Service, which will be of benefit to you not only as you look for that first job but through the coming years as well. Second, the Aggie Alumni Network, which is a group of alumni representatives throughout the country who are willing to share their knowledge and expertise about their careers and the companies for which they work, the communities in which they live and their personal experiences as an Aggie since graduation. Going forward, efforts are being made to create focused networks, such as legal, business, medical, engineering, and so on all across the country. With your continued involvement in the Alumni Association you will have access to these networks, and likely will have an opportunity to serve future graduates. These are just a few examples of Aggies helping Aggies.

For all of this to work, we must have current contact information for you. Please visit our website at www.usu.edu/alumni and update your information now and each time it changes. We want to hear from you too. Let us know what you think about our new programs. Please give us a call at 1-800-297-ALUM, or stop by the David B. Haight Alumni Center.

As many commencement addresses have emphasized, it is important to serve a cause greater than ourselves. I hope you are inspired to engage as an alumnus. We all have much to offer to the USU community. Please continue your involvement with Utah State and find simple ways to "give back" to your alma mater. Your support will ensure that we can continue to live by the motto of "Stand Up. Get Involved. You're an Aggie!"

Good luck and much success.

Proud to be an Aggie,

Stephen F. Noel
Utah State University Alumni Association President, BA '94.
