Coeds to Be Hosts To Men at Lorelei

Jack Kline's Castle Moro Band To Play at Annual Affair Friday Night

COUPLES TO DANCE FROM 8-12

Years ago, a German-folk tale told of a beautiful siren, the Lorelei, who from her abode high above the banks of the Rhine, lured unsuspecting sailors to their doom with her beautiful music.

Next Friday night, February 15, the banks of the Perkiomen will be the scene of a more modern version of this story. At this time, the annual Lorelei Dance of Ursinus College will be held in the Thompson-Gay gymnasium, when the coeds will have the men students for their guests.

However, instead of being lured to a watery grave, the men will be treated to dancing and entertainment. The music will be furnished by Jack Kline and his Castle Moro orchestra, which has been secured for the occasion. This band consists of ten men and a male vocalist (the only conflicting note of the evening). They have played at Bucknell University and Pennsylvania State College and also have done broadcasting and come here highly recommended.

The decorations will follow Valentine motif but will not be elaborate because of a girls' basketball game in the afternoon. The programs will be of an attractive and novel arrangement.

The chaperones who have been selected by the committee are: Dr. and Mrs. Marcus C. Old, Prof. and Mrs. Phillip Willauer, and Mr. and Mrs. With the exception of Phi Alpha Psi which held its second party at Kuhrt Wieneke.

F. & M. and Drexel Beat Grizzlies In Extra Period Games By Close Scores

JOHNSON LEADS BEAR SCORERS

The jinx that has been following Coach Chase's basketeers still lurked about Friday night, as the Grizzlies lost their second extra period game of the week, being nosed out by F. and M. 46-50. Leading throughout the contest up to the closing moments, the Bears were nosed out in the extra five minutes through the field goals by Hummer and Wenrich.

Ursinus Takes Lead

Roy Johnson opened the attack for the Bears with a field goal which was followed by two more by Costello and Ursinus had everything their own way in the first part of the game, holding a 10-1 advantage at one time and a 20-8 at another. From this point however, the Roses, having found the basket, crept up and at half time the Bears were leading by the close score of 24-20.

Two field goals and a foul by Calvert and another bucket by Heiges pushed the Grizzly's advantage up to 31-20 but here again the F. and M. boys started looping the rim and four minutes before the regulation game ended were for the first time leading 44-41. Captain Johnson's field goal brought the team within a one point margin and Tworzydlo converted one of his two foul tries to tie the score at 44 all.

Baskets by Hummer and Wenrich, despite Captain Johnson's lone two-pointer clinched the game for the Nevonians

Drexel Wins 30-29

The Grizzly basketeers lost a thriller to Drexel at Philadelphia, Toesday night. Ursinus, trailing the Dragons almost the entire contest, tied the score in the last minute of the sched-uled time only to lose out in the second extra period 30-29.

Coach Chase started his second team, but the tall rangy Philadelphians were too much for the subs, who trailed 16-11 at the close of the half. Donaldson, played a guard position and a b'g factor in the Drexel success, scored the first points of the game when he sank a field goal from the side of the court. Buckets by Grenawalt and Covert gained a short lead for the Bears but Drexel forged ahead as the half progressed.

The Grizzly first team took court to start the second half. Tworzydlo, Costello and Calvert each annexed buckets but the Dragons held their lead through Hoff's fine shooting. Toward the close of the second period, field goals by Calvert and Johnson and a foul by each knotted the score 24-24.

In the first five minutes of extra play, both the Dragons and the Bears scored to knot the score 26-26.

Costello was awarded a foul, which he converted to gain a lone point ad-Current problems will be discussed vantage for the Bears in the second Hoff's Ducket

Editorial Comment

SENIORS-IT IS YOUR YEARBOOK

Within three months the 1935 Ruby will be in the hands of the students. Practically all the photography for it has been completed. The senior writeups will go to the printer by next Tuesday a week, February 19. While work in the editorial department is being completed on schedule, financial income languishes.

The deficit on the Ruby budget amounts to almost $200. While the editor has taken advantage of all discounts in the engraving, and while prospects for an excellent informal Ruby are bright, the budget remains a problem. It is a problem that should be assumed by the class as a whole, as well as by the few on the staff.

What can be done? If all seniors will take the following steps, the financial success of their yearbook will be assured:

1. They should pay for their Ruby subscriptions now.

2. They should consider what friends or relatives they have in business, and secure an advertisement for the Ruby, or at least let "Mike" Hunter know of the possibility of doing so.
3. They should pay their eight dollars class dues at once.

According to Irving E. Sutin, editor of the last Ruby, "there is no reason why the next Ursinus yearbook should not contain over $500 in advertising, as the result of continued effort from more than a few seniors. That, combined with a sustained drive for subscriptions, would more than put the book across.'

CONCERNING OBJECTIVES

Early in the 1932-1933 school year the administration proposed a course of lectures and concerts to further the cultural education of the College. At that time it was pointed out that there was a definite need for such a course here, where such advantages had not previously been provided, since it was directly in line with the purposes and aims of the liberal arts

During the first year of the new plan eleven attractions were provided, exclusive of Orientation, Founders' Day, and Commencement exercises. Outstanding speakers and concert orchestras like the Zimmer Harp trio, Max Montor, the Curtis Institute of Music, Bishop Francis J. McConnel, Dr. John Baer Stoudt, and Dr. W. W. Comfort, were well received and appreciated by the student body. Last year the plan was again strongly backed by the student body, with such men as Archibald Rutledge, Dr. Victor Monod, and Dr. J. C. Funk, appearing here, although only seven programs were presented. What has happened to the programs his year? During the first semester two men spoke in chapel—Kirby Page, and Dr. Fred B. Smith, and to date none have been scheduled for the second semester.

Certainly a liberal arts college can not confine its presentation of educational and cultural material to the classroom and hope to realize success from the process. The cultural course, so successfully begun, should be made a definite part of the College's educational structure.

Just what is meant by cross-blending tobaccos . . . and how does it make a cigarette milder and taste better . . .

Well, in blending you take two or more tobaccos and mix them together—a rather simple process. But cross-blending goes a step further . . .

N making Chesterfields we take Bright tobacco from Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida. We take Burley tobacco from Kentucky and Tennessee, and tobacco from Southern Maryland.

Then in addition to these homegrown tobaccos we take tobacco grown in Turkey and Greece.

We balance these mild, ripe homegrown tobaccos with the right amounts and the right kinds of aromatic Turkish.

Then, instead of just mixing the tobaccos together, we blend and cross-blend them so that all the different flavors go together into one full flavor—the Chesterfield taste that so many smokers like.

> Cross-blending tobaccos as it is done in Chesterfields gives the cigarette a pleasing taste and aroma—they're mild and yet They Satisfy.
