

19-Apr-2015

Dear Jenny and Kirsty:

It is a pleasure to accept your manuscript entitled "“Like, pissing yourself is not a particularly attractive quality, let’s be honest”: Learning to Contain through Youth, Adulthood, Disability and Sexuality" in its current form for publication in the SEXUALITIES. The comments of the reviewer(s) who reviewed your manuscript are included at the foot of this letter.

Thank you for your fine contribution. On behalf of the Editors of the SEXUALITIES, we look forward to your continued contributions to the Journal.

Best wishes

Dr. Cassandra Loeser
Editor, SEXUALITIES
IMPORTANT - please read my comments below

Reviewer(s)' Comments to Author:

Reviewer: 2

Comments to the Author

This paper will make a solid contribution to the special issue of Sexualities.

Editors comment from Cassandra Loeser: I agree that this is an excellent paper. There are two issues that I did note however:

1. Inconsistent use of 'z' and 's' throughout the paper
2. The term 'disabled people' is politically contested in current DS literature. It would be appropriate if you used the term 'people with disabilities' or 'women with disabilities' or 'young people with disabilities' in your paper to counteract any criticism that might emerge from use of this term.

This paper will be accepted as is into our journal. What I was going to ask though of you is if you could please email me a clean copy of your manuscript with these two suggested revisions addressed. I will then see if I can use this copy in our final issue.

Also Jenny and Kirsty, could you please confirm the word count of your final manuscript? As per my previous emails, your paper cannot exceed 7000 words, and that includes the reference list.