OUACHITA BAPTIST UNIVERSITY • ARKADELPHIA, AR • NOVEMBER 1985

The raising of Ouachita's four flags opened the university's Centennial Year observance, from Founder's Day, Sept. 6, 1985, to Sept. 6, 1986. Gay Anthony, Student Senate president, and Ken Lovelace, senior class president, assisted with the American flag; Lynn Worthen, pastor of Arkadelphia First Baptist, and Dr. M. G. (Bud) Fray, chairman of Religion and Philosophy, with the Christian flag; Arkansas Secretary of State Winston Bryant and political science Professor Emeritus Dr. Bob Riley, with the Arkansas flag. Dr. Daniel R. Grant, president of Ouachita and son of Dr. J. R. Grant, president from 1933-49, and Frances Crawford, employee of the university for more than 50 years as president's secretary, registrar and Former Student secretary, presented the Centennial flag.

$500,000 challenge announced by Hickingbotham

Ouachita Baptist University received a strong boost for its Centennial Advancement Program with a half-million dollar challenge grant from the Frank D. Hickingbotham Foundation announced on Friday, September 27. The gift is designated for one of Ouachita's major centennial goals, a two million dollar library improvement project involving construction of a new wing, renovation of the existing Riley Library, strengthening library holdings, and a cooperative project for automation and an electronic link with the nearby H.S.U. library.

Frank D. Hickingbotham, president and chairman of the board of TCBY Enterprises, Inc., the Arkansas-based national frozen vogurt company, presented a check for $100,000 to President Dan Grant and specified that the additional $400,000 would be given after the remaining $1.5 million required for the project has been raised. Mr. Hickingbotham attended Ouachita in the mid 1950s and stated that he had always hoped he would be able to make a significant contribution to the school that provided both academic and spiritual challenges to him. "I am pleased to have a part in strengthening Ouachita and the things for which it stands," he said.

Fall enrollment up 1% over 1984

Fall semester enrollment at Ouachita is 1,414, an increase of one percent over last year, according to Mike Kolb, OBU registrar.

Undergraduate enrollment is 5.9 percent lower than last year, but a record enrollment of graduate students caused the overall increase. The full-time equivalent enroll-

Virginia Queen appointed to music chair

The Board of Trustees of Ouachita Baptist University approved the appointment of Virginia Queen, professor of music at OBU, to the Addie Mae Maddox Endowed Chair of Music, President Daniel R. Grant announced following a board meeting Thursday, October 10, in Arkadelphia. The endowed chair was funded recently by a gift from Judge and Mrs. Edward Maddox of Harrisburg in honor of his mother Addie Mae Scruggs Maddox.

Dr. Grant said of the appointment, "We faculty at Ouachita since 1946. She received her bachelor of music and bachelor of arts degrees in music at Ouachita and received her graduate training at Peabody Teachers College, the American Conservatory and the University of Colorado. She also has studied piano under Norman Shetler in Vienna, Austria.

Queen received the "Federation Service Award" from the Arkansas Federation of Music Clubs (AFMC) in 1982, and was named "Outstanding College Teacher" by 1985, and is currently on the Board of Trustees at Ouachita Baptist University. A former mayor of Harrisburg, he was Circuit Judge from 1961 until 1963 for the Second Judicial District and has engaged in extensive farming operations.

He and his wife, Kathryn, previously contributed significantly to the Maddox Public Affairs Center at Ouachita. They are the parents of two children and reside in Harrisburg.

lower than last year, but a record enrollment of graduate students caused the overall increase. The full-time equivalent enrollment is down slightly from last year, said Kolb, as is the size of the entering freshman class, reflecting the continued decline in the number of students graduating from high schools.

Qualitatively, the entering freshman class averaged significantly higher in ACT scores, according to Dr. Mike Arrington, assistant dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, with an increase of more than one full point over the average for the last three years. dox of Harrisburg in honor of his mother Addie Mae Scruggs Maddox.

Dr. Grant said of the appointment, "We are very fortunate to have a teacher-scholarperformer of Virginia Queen's experience and reputation to be the first holder of this endowed chair of music. She is held in high esteem both in the Ouachita community and among her professional peers in Arkansas, and the trustees unanimously approved the recommendation as 'a natural.' We are grateful to Judge and Mrs. Maddox for making this appointment possible.''

Judge Maddox serves as Municipal Judge in Harrisburg, where he practiced law from 1935 until the mid-70's. He also served as Municipal Judge in Trumann from 1979 to 1982, was Juvenile Judge in Poinsett County from 1976 to October 1, Public Affairs Center at Ouachita. They are the parents of two children and reside in Harrisburg.

Dr. Charles Wright, dean of the School of Music at Ouachita, said, "I am very pleased that Virginia Queen has been selected to hold the Addie Mae Maddox Chair of Music. For many years she has been at the forefront of music education in Arkansas and at Ouachita Baptist University. It would be impossible to enumerate the many significant contributions made by Virginia Queen to the School of Music and to Ouachita."

Ouachita prepares to host ABSC meeting Nov. 18-20

The largest undertaking of the Ouachita Centennial observance is the hosting of the annual meeting of the Arkansas Baptist State Convention and its accompanying activities, November 18-20, on the university campus. The ABSC, which has met only six times in Arkadelphia since it was organized in 1848, last came here in 1938.

"Strengthening Missions" is the theme of the 1985 session which will be held in the Ouachita Physical Education Center, and "Fire in My Bones" is the theme of the Pastor's Conference which precedes it.

Nilson do Amaral Fanini of Rio de Janiero, known as the "Billy Graham of Brazil," will speak at both meetings, as will Calvin Miller, pastor and author from Omaha, Neb. The host of program personalities includes Dr. Robert Naylon, retired president of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, and Joe Ford, associate vice president for evangelism for the SBC Home Mission Board.

Dr. Jon Stubblefield, president of the state convention and pastor of Central Baptist Church, Magnolia, Ark., will preside at the ABSC meetings, and Nick Garland, pastor of Second Baptist Church, Hot Springs, will lead the Pastor's Conference.

Dr. Wayne Ward, holder of the Joseph Emerson Brown Chair of Christian Theology at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, will lead the Bible study. Dr. John Maddox, pastor of Wynne Baptist Church, will preach the convention sermon, and Dr. Don Moore, executive director of ABSC, will speak Wednesday morning. A number of other pastors are included in the proceedings.

Music will include the Ouachita Band, the Ouachi-Tones, the Music Men/Singing Women of Arkansas, Southern Baptist College Singers, the OBU Choir, the adult choir of Second Church, Hot Springs, plus soloists, ensembles and congregational singing.

Ferrell Morgan, director of missions for Concord Association and president of the ABSC Executive Board, will lead in the presentation of reports of the various agencies of the state convention. Ceremonial moments, including the parade of flags of the nations, and interspersed business sessions will highlight the event.

Arkansas Baptist Minister's Wives, under the leadership of Mrs. Carolyn Byrum of Scott, will hold their annual meeting on Tuesday in Evans Student Center. The Arkansas Baptist Religious Education Association will meet Monday evening and Tuesday morning at First Baptist Church, Arkadelphia.

The Directors of Missions and the Church Extension Division of the State Missions Department will hold dinner meetings Tuesday evening preceding the opening session of the convention.

Dr. Ed Coulter, OBU vice presidnt for administration, has coordinated the work of 28 committees preparing for the arrival of the ABSC messengers and visitors.

Churches of the Red River Association, Ouachita students, faculty, staff and the people of Arkadelphia have mobilized to welcome the Arkansas Baptist State Convention, parent body of Ouachita Baptist University, to their school, their homes and their community in this year of Centennial.

PRESIDENT'S CORNER Happy birthday, Ouachita

by Marianne Morrisett Gosser

Happy birthday to you, happy birthday, dear Ouachita. I love birthdays and birthday parties. With five children and one husband there have been 154 birthday celebrations at the Gosser household over the past 25 years. Now this year we get to celebrate a very important birthday for Ouachita. I hope you are making plans to help with birthday parties in your area, and also I hope you are making plans to visit the campus for some of the celebrations.

There is so much excitement and festivity on the campus. I attended the Centennial Flag Raising Ceremony September 28 and swelled with pride as I looked around and saw that Ouachita was clothed in her party dress. Flowers were blooming everywhere, the grounds were immaculately trimmed, music coming from all areas of the campus and friendly people milling around.

Ouachita, we sing thy praises — the Queen of the College World, Happy Birthday.

Dr. Eileen Southern (right), Harvard University professor, delighted Ouachita students John Hossler, Benita Charles and Patti Thorn during her stay on campus as the opening lecturer in the Birkett Williams series on September 16. She spoke on "Musical Practices of the Black Church: Hymns, Spirituals and Gospel Songs."

Birkett Williams, Second Century grants

Academic department awarded funds for self-study, other projects

Birkett Williams Centennial Grants and Second Century Planning Grants that were awarded at Ouachita last spring embody the Centennial slogan "Our tradition . . . our vision" with a forward look in academic programming.

The annually funded Birkett Williams Lecture Series will also continue this year. The lecture series began in 1978 under the sponsorship of Birkett L. Williams, a deceased Ouachita alumnus from Cleveland, Ohio. Guest lecturers include Dr. Alvin Plantinga, professor of philosophy at the University of Notre Dame in South Bend, Ind., on November 7, and Dr. Martin Rosenberg, vice president for Biopharmaceutical Sciences at Smith, Kline and French Laboratories in Philadelphia, Penn., on April 3. Harvard University's Professor of Music and Afro-American Studies, Eileen Southern, spoke on September 16.

The Birkett Williams Centennial Grants are providing speakers and consultants during the Centennial celebration of the 1985-86 academic year. Last spring Dr the Psychology Department by Dr. Charles Brewer, professor of psychology at Furman University in Greenville, S.C., and the Carl Goodwon Honors Program by Dr. Patricia Pinson of the Union University, Jackson, Tenn.

School of Music

Miss Shirlee Emmons of Boston University, Mass., and Mr. Stanley Sonntag of Manhattanville College in New York City performed a recital and conducted master classes for School of Music students October 10-11.

Chemistry

Dr. Arthur Fry of the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville is a consultant in the Chemistry Department in November. Dr. Francis Paul Prucha, professor of history at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wis., and a leading specialist on the history of American Indians, will be on campus visitstruction (CAI) in the department through consultation with an expert in CAI programs and a faculty visit to North Texas State University in Denton, Tex., to observe one of the largest and most successful CAI music programs in the nation.

Political Science

Ouachita's department of political science will conduct a self-study in preparation for a February departmental evaluation by Dr. John Jackson, dean of liberal arts at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale and a '62 Ouachita alumnus.

The department is also planning activities for the Maddox Public Affairs Center at OBU in the areas of conference programs, internships and denominational service opportunities for students of political science.

Business and Economics

In the Business and Economics division, fessor of history and director of library services in Riley Library, the objective of the trips is to determine "features and facilities we would like to see in the addition to and renovation of Riley Library."

The Department of Psychology faculty is planning to attend a conference on "Teaching Psychology," sponsored by the University of Illinois for information and integration of the findings from Dr. Charles Brewer's earlier visit.

Dr. Arthur Holmes, Chairman of the Philosophy Department at Wheaton College in Wheaton, Ill., is invited to evaluate Ouachita's Department of Philosophy March 10-12. Also, faculty members will visit three other philosophy departments of small liberal arts colleges.

Natural Sciences

Ouachita's Division of Natural Sciences will evaluate its own Health Professions

are providing speakers and consultants during the Centennial celebration of the 1985-86 academic year. Last spring Dr. Ken Macrorie of the Breadloaf School of English at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, Mich., visited the Ouachita English Department, and Dr. Marvin Alvin, Chairman of the Department of Information Systems at Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green, conducted a workshop in the Division of Business and Economics.

Psychology

The fall semester included evaluations in at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wis., and a leading specialist on the history of American Indians, will be on campus visiting the Department of History in March.

Philosophy

A Birkett Williams Conference, "Teaching Philosophy at Baptist Colleges," will be conducted April 17-19 with Dr. Robert Baird and Dr. Elmer Duncan of Baylor University and Dr. John Newport of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Tex.

The School of Music will research and plan the structure for computer-aided in-

Business and Economics

In the Business and Economics division, faculty members will be attending the Southwest Federation of Administrative Disciplines (SWFAD) Convention March 12-15 in Dallas, Tex.

Riley Library

Ouachita's library will utilize the Second Century Planning Grant by funding travel for a library committee to view model libraries in the St. Louis, Mo., and Dallas/ Ft. Worth, Tex., metropolitan areas. According to Dr. Ray Granade, associate pro-

Ouachita's Division of Natural Sciences will evaluate its own Health Professions Program and Student Advising Program, as well as visit other campuses to examine various programs.

The Department of Chemistry will conduct a year-long study of the curriculum in chemistry at Ouachita. The department will be compared with the standards of the American Chemical Society, and faculty members will travel to other schools to take an in-depth look of other curriculi. A faculty retreat is planned to develop five- and ten-year plans to improve the department's curriculum.

Dr. Ed Kiser commutes from Springdale to teach business at OBU

by Terry Melson OBU Senior

Dr. Ed Kiser saunters into his Business Management class each Tuesday and Thursday and greets his students with a sonorous "Good morning, class." His eyes are keen, but his gentle manner could deceive the unwise into thinking him unobservant.

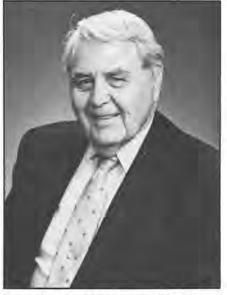

In one of his Tuesday class periods he told the students that he had just been to a weekly prayer meeting in the cafeteria. He even hinted that it would not upset him very much to open each class period with prayer.

On the first day of class Dr. Kiser talked about the University of Arkansas at Favetteville where he had been teaching for the past 21 years. He noted that at Ouachita teachers and students are not ashamed of their Christianity and practice it openly, a fact that played a major part in his decision to teach at OBU.

One specific thing that impressed him was when a teacher opened the faculty meeting he was attending with a word of prayer.

"If that had happened at Fayetteville," he said, "half of the faculty would have raised up an arm and said, 'I'll sue.' "

Dr. Kiser had just retired from the University of Arkansas and was trying to decide what to do with his leisure time when Dr. Tom Turner, vice president for academic affairs at Ouachita, called him and asked if he would be interested in a job.

Dr. Turner made arrangements for him to fly down from Favetteville and take a look at the school. After seeing the open display of Christianity among the faculty and students, Dr. Kiser decided to join the staff "for a year or maybe more."

It would have been interesting to see the look on Dr. Turner's face when Dr. Kiser told him, "You don't have to pay me anything. Use my salary for scholarships or to buy books for the library." They later negotiated a deal in which Dr. Kiser would be flown down to Little Rock from Springdale each week and given meals and a place to live.

Dr. Kiser has a mini-apartment in Cone-Bottoms dormitory. Teasingly, he says that all the male students are jealous because he gets to live so close to the girls.

Although Dr. Kiser is a gentle and saintly looking person now, his past was not quite so peaceful. During World War II he was a fighter pilot in the Pacific, credited with shooting down 15 planes, qualifying him as a "Triple Ace."

permitted to return to America. Two weeks later he married a young lady whom he had met in San Antonio. The Air Force next sent him to a training base in Florida to instruct other fighter pilots.

A couple of years later he was sent to Europe where he was a member of the first group of Americans to reach Omaha Beach during the Normandy invasion.

From there he went to Paris and began flying missions to support General George Patton's Army. He also took part in bombing bridges, oil deposits and factories inside Germany.

In September 1944 he returned to America and decided to reenter college. Before joining the Air Force he had attended Samford Baptist College in Birmingham, Ala. Once he was back home, however, he decided to go to Stanford University in California. In 1947 he received his BA degree in business administration and a year and a half later, his MA degree from the University of Texas at Austin.

Dr. Kiser worked for a chemical company for the next six or seven years and then returned to the University of Texas. In

"It's a different world here from where I've worked in the secular world, and I feel that God led me here."

1955 he received his Ph.D. in business administration.

He has worked with several companies and taught at three universities since then and has become a distinguished personality in his field. Dr. Kiser has had several magazine and newspaper articles written about him including a story in "Life" magazine.

So why did he choose to come teach at a small, private university like Ouachita?

He says, "It's a different world here than where I've worked in the secular world, and I feel that God led me here."

The Paul and Virginia Henry Academic Enrichment Grants have been awarded for the 1985-86 academic year at Ouachita with a total of $7,380 being offered "to stimulate creative approaches to teaching," said Dr. Randy Smith, chairman of the grants committee.

This is the tenth year that the University and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Henry of Batesville have jointly endowed the program, directed toward student-related activities rather than faculty research.

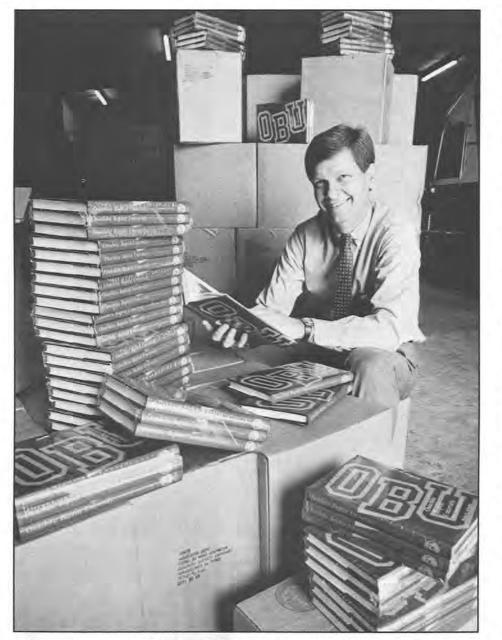

The proposals are submitted by faculty members on a competitive basis for innovative programs including off-campus experiences for the students, supplementary equipment purchases and interdisciplinary studies.

The proposals are reviewed first by the awards committee, including Dr. Thomas Turner, vice president of academic affairs, with final awardment left to OBU President Dr. Daniel R. Grant. Recipients of the grants are expected to submit reports of completed projects to the committee.

An award of $750 was given to Dr. Tom Auffenberg to take the Carl Goodson Honors Program students to Ft. Worth, Tex., for a fall retreat, Nov. 8-10. They will travel in the University bus and visit the Dallas Museum of Fine Art, the Kimball Museum, the Amon Carter Museum of Western Art, Dallas Museum of Natural History, and the Ft. Worth Symphony Orchestra.

Dr. Mike Arrington was awarded $1,200 to take military science cadets and history majors on a study tour of the Virginia battlefields and historical sites during the 1986 spring break. They will visit Appamatox, Yorktown, Williamsburg, and Washington, D.C.

A grant of $1,200 was given to Mrs. Pam Arrington to take several early childhood education majors to the Southern Associa-

Autograph party scheduled

Dr. Michael E. Arrington, assistant dean of the school of arts and sciences and associate professor of history, held an autograph party at the Centennial Showcase on campus September 28 introducing his book, "Ouachita Baptist University: The First 100 Years." A double autograph party is scheduled for Homecoming morning, Saturday, November 23, in the Evans Student Center Lobby, immediately following the parade at 10 a.m. and preceding the alumni buffet at 11:45. Dr. Arrington and Dr. William E. Downs, chairman of the department of communications and public relations director, who joined with Dr. Arrington in the production of a pictorial version of the more scholarly history, will be available to

Dr. Grant reappointed regional chairman of Truman panel

Dr. Daniel R. Grant, Ouachita president, has been reappointed as Chairman of the Nashville, Tenn., Regional Review Panel for the Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation, according to Malcolm C. Mc-Cormack, executive secretary of the foundation in Washington, D.C.

The Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation is a permanent education program, designated by the Congress of the United States, to provide opportunities for outstanding college and university students to prepare for careers in public service.

To be eligible for the scholarship, which provides up to $5,000 annually for four years, a student must be a college junior, project an outstanding potential for leadership in government, have a grade point average of at least a 'B' and be in the upper fourth of his or her class.

The Nashville regional review panel, of which Dr. Grant is chairman and which does not include Arkansas in its jurisdiction, is composed of prominent scholars and public officials who review and recommend state winners to the Harry S. Truman Scholarship Board of Trustees for consideration as recipients of the Truman Scholar honors on a national basis.

Southwestern Bell switching system helps Ouachita

Ouachita is benefitting directly from a $2.4 million investment Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has made recently in the Arkadelphia area, designed to encourage new industry.

The company has installed a digital exchange network known as #5 Electronic Switching System (5ESS), which is the most technologically advanced of its kind in the world. Only two such systems are operating in Arkansas.

Ouachita now will be able to hook into electronic libraries and data banks to send and receive virtually any information needed in any form desired.

A 5 means of we show this growth to tribe F dill. Arrington to take several early childhood education majors to the Southern Association for Children Under Six regional meeting in Orlando, Fla., March 20-24. They will attend panel discussions and conference sessions.

Gene Ellis was awarded $500 to buy novels and rent films for his new honors course dealing with the relationships between the two mediums. The course will be offered in the spring semester.

Dr. Richard Mills was awarded $715 to fund the development and publication of the directory of social services available to Clark County residents. This directory is the semester project for his research problems class.

A grant of $1,000 was awarded to Dr. Everett Slavens to take history and political science students to the Midwest Model United Nations in St. Louis, Feb. 18-21.

Dr. Kathy Whipple received a $1,200 grant to take students to the Convention of the American Speech Hearing Association in Washington, D.C., Nov. 22-25.

Dr. Randy Smith received an $820 grant to take students to the Southwestern Psychological Association Convention in Ft. Worth, Tex., April 17-19.

Two Centennial Guest Registers have been prepared for "Alumni" and "Friends" who visit the Ouachita campus during this historic year.

Bound in purple Morroco and embossed with the Centennial logo in gold, they are displayed at campus events for any and all to sign, under the two categories. Alumni includes all of those who have attended Ouachita, graduates, former and present students. Friends include family members, Trustees, Development Council, or whoever else feels an interest in Ouachita.

The Alumni register is tabbed by decades so that returning Ouachitonians can see at a glance who of their college era has signed.

Between outings at large campus events, the twin registers stay in the office of the Former Students Association on the first floor of Flenniken Hall, available for signatures during any working day.

32 companies make matching gifts

The following companies made matching gifts to Ouachita Baptist University in the fiscal year ending May 31, 1985, in response to gifts made by employees of respective companies. Some of the companies matched dollar for dollar, some matched two for one, and some even three for one. Furthermore, those with an asterisk made gifts to Ouachita over and above matching gifts of employees.

Roger Harrod: A tax credit better than a deduction

Dear Alumni and Friends:

If your gift to Ouachita is postmarked December 31, 1985, or earlier, and if you pay Arkansas Income Tax, you are entitled to a credit on that tax. A credit is much better than a deduction in that it actually reduces the amount of tax owed. A deduction only reduces the amount of income on which tax is paid.

THIS CREDIT WAS MADE AVAIL-ABLE FOR GIFTS TO ARKANSAS COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES by Act 30 of the First Extraordinary Session of the Arkansas Legislature, 1985; but unless reenacted, it is only available in '85 and '86. So, please act in '85 and again in '86. Gifts for athletic purposes are excluded.

It works like this:

-Couples Filing Jointly:

Gift of $606.00 X credit of 33% = maximum credit of $200.00

Gift of $100.00 X credit of 33% = credit of $33.00

(If your gift is $606.00, you can actually deduct $200.00 from taxes you would otherwise pay to Arkansas. If your gift is less than $606.00, simply multiply your gift by 33% to determine the amount you can subtract from your tax.)

-Taxpayer Filing Individual Return: Gift of $303.00 X credit of 33% = maximum credit of $100.00

Gift of $100.00 X credit of 33% = credit of $33.00

(If your gift is $303.00, you can subtract $100.00 from your Arkansas taxes. If your gift is less than $303.00, simply multiply your gift by 33% to determine the amount you can subtract from your tax.)

-Corporations:

Direct mail ads win national award

Last year's annual fund mailing, the three installment "talking computer," won an Award of Excellence in the Direct Mail Campaign category from the National Advertising Agency Network. Cranford Johnson Robinson Associates of Little Rock designed the winning pieces for OBU's library campaign. Love from B.J.'s Kitchen'' compiled by Mrs. Betty Jo Grant, wife of Ouachita President Dr. Daniel R. Grant, is now on sale with the proceeds going toward a project sponsored by the OBU Women's Club.

The 197-page cookbook carries an assortment of recipes and entertainment hints gathered from Mrs. Grant's personal collection, her family and friends.

The books were intended originally as 1984 Christmas gifts for family and friends. In the process, Mrs. Grant personally paid for commercial printing of 400 extra books for sale by the Women's Club with proceeds going to the organization. The books were a sellout, and the second edition of 1,000 copies, issued recently in honor of OBU's Centennial year, may be purchased by the public for the cost of $7 by mail and $6 if purchased on campus through the University bookstore or the OBU Former Students Association office.

The Women's Club is considering several projects to further highlight the goals of Ouachita's 100th birthday year, now in progress. Mrs. Grant will autograph copies of the cookbook on Saturday, November 23, in the foyer of Evans Student Center at OBU from 10:45 to 11:45 a.m., following OBU's Homecoming parade through downtown Arkadelphia. Persons desiring to order a cookbook may write or contact Mrs. Agnes Coppenger, administrative secretary of the OBU Former Students Association and Placement Director, at P.O. Box 3762, Arkadelphia, AR 71923, or by calling (501) 246-4531, ext. 576.

12 new faculty members announced for 1985-86

Twelve new faculty members have joined Ouachita for the 1985-86 academic year, according to Dr. Thomas Turner, vice president for academic affairs and dean of the School of Arts and Sciences.

Eladio P. Bolanos, appointed as Assistant Professor of Spanish, has a B.A. degree from Cedarville College, B.D. degree from Bethel Theological Seminary and M.A. from the University of North Carolina.

Thomas L. Bush, who holds both the B.A. and M.A. degrees from Harding University, has been appointed as an Instructor in Education.

Dr. Marion G. Fray has been appointed as Professor of Religion and Director of the Center for Christian Ministries. He holds B.A. and D.D. degrees from Ouachita and a Th.D. degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Scott Holsclaw, Instructor of Speech and Drama, has a B.A. degree from the University of Kentucky at Lexington, and the M.R.E. degree from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Dr. Ed Kiser has joined the faculty as Visiting Distinguished Professor of Business Administration. He holds a B.A. degree from Stanford University, an M.B.A. degree from the University of Texas at Austin, and a Ph.D. degree from UT-A. Captain Michael McGuire has joined the faculty as Instructor of Military Science. He is a graduate of OBU.

Dr. Harold Mitchell has been appointed as Missionary-in-Residence. He holds a B.S. degree from Henderson State University and the D.D.S. degree from the University of Tennessee.

Russell Rainbolt, Assistant Professor of Mathematics and Computer Science, holds a B.S. degree from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and an M.A.T. degree from the University of Virginia.

Douglas Reed, new Instructor in Political Science, received a B.A. degree from Southwestern Oklahoma State University and the M.A. degree from the University of Missouri at Columbia.

Judee Royston joins the Ouachita faculty as Instructor of Mathematics and Computer Science. She holds both the B.S.E. and M.S.E. degrees from OBU.

Opal Shepherd, Instructor of Education, has B.S.E. and M.S.E. degrees from HSU.

Jim Veneman, Instructor in Communications and Public Relations Associate, holds the B.A. degree from OBU and the M.A. degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Governor's Scholars enroll at Ouachita for fall term

Nine recipients of the 1985 Governor's Scholars Awards, two of whom have also received National Merit Finalist recognition, are enrolled for the fall semester at Ouachita, according to Randy Garner, director of admissions counseling at OBU.

"We are very pleased that these nine outstanding students have decided to attend Ouachita," said Garner. "I believe their choice of enrolling at Ouachita underscores our desire at OBU to attract top flight students who are committed to our twin goals of academic and Christian excellence."

One hundred Arkansas high school students have been named 1985 Governor's Scholars and each will receive $2,000 a year for four years of undergraduate study at public or private colleges and universities in the state.

The recipients of the Governor's Scholar Award are: Carrie M. Cowling of Arkadelphia (National Merit Finalist); Lanelle A. Ayers of Ashdown (National Merit Finalist); Jeff Power of Morrilton; Sandra E. Shull of Hughes; Kecia S. Stewart of Conway; Michael P. Ball of Danville; Michelle Duncan of Prescott; Chris Lawson of El Dorado; and Martha Jo Leonard of Star City.

The Arkansas Department of Higher Education said 915 candidates competed for the 100 scholarships this year — the second year of the Governor's Scholar program, which was established for superior students by the 1983 special legislative session. Governor Bill Clinton sponsored the legislation creating the scholarships, which are intended to encourage the state's best high school students to remain in Arkansas for their college education.

The 1985 winners' average grade point average was 3.942 (out of a possible 4.00 system), with 62 ranked first in their classes and 27 having received National Merit Scholar recognition, according to the department.

Sports camp for children set for OBU in 1986

The Ouachita campus is one of seven locations for Crosspoint, a new Southern Baptist Convention sports camp for children and younger youth, to be held for the first time during the summer of 1986.

The Ouachita camp, one of ten to be held at seven locations, will be July 7-12.

Sponsored by the Sunday School Board's church recreation department, the weeklong camp will offer beginner and intermediate skill development in one of six sports for boys and girls who have completed the fourth through eighth grades.

Sports to be offered include basketball, baseball, football, tennis, gymnastics and soccer.

According to Don Mattingly, Crosspoint coordinator, sports instruction will be offered on three skill levels — beginner, advanced beginner and intermediate.

ELDERHOSTEL: Senior adult program to focus on Ouachita and state history

Have you, as an alumnus or alumna, ever wanted to relive your student days at Ouachita? Elderhostel, March 23-29, 1986, on campus will fill your nostalgic desire. This international educational program for senior adults, now in its seventh year at Ouachita, is focused this year on the Ouachita Centennial and the Arkansas Sesquicentennial.

Cone-Bottoms could again (or for the first time, you males) be your campus home for a week. You will have three courses to choose from, or you may choose them all. All campus services will be available to you as to every other student. You will eat in the cafeteria. You may bring a roommate or have one assigned.

The courses offered March 23-29 are "Arkansas and Ouachita: Two Birthdays" by Dr. Mike Arrington who wrote the recently published history of Ouachita and collaborated in the historical viewbook; "Confederate Washington," the most popular and most repeated Elderhostel course; and "Family Tree," a course in genealogical research by Dr. Ray Granade, Director of the Library. In addition to other extracurricular activities there will be a field trip to Old Washington Historical State Park and the S.A.R.A. Archives.

Plans are being developed for other courses for the weeks of June 8-14, June 15-21, June 22-28, and October 12-18. The June 8-14 program will be an intensive course on the history of Old Washington with daily trips and classes in the Park. The June 15-21 week will again focus on the school's and state's birthdays. A wider variety of other courses for the other dates are being selected for your enjoyment.

Ouachita will again offer a $30 discount to Ouachita alumni and their spouses. The cover-all reservation, room, board, tuition, field trip and extracurricular fee for March 23-29 will be $195, minus discount. For all other dates the overall fee before discount will be the national uniform Elderhostel fee of $205. All quotations are for double occupancy; an additional $15 in March will be charged for single rooms.

Persons may register through Ouachita Elderhostel, OBU Box 3727, Arkadelphia, AR 71923 or through Elderhostel National, 100 Boyleston St., Boston, MA 02116. The $30 reservation fee will hold a place and apply to overall cost.

Alaskan mountain named to honor Charles Strickland

There's a mountain in Alaska with a special meaning for Ouachita since it was named "Mt. Strickland" in August in honor of the late Charles Strickland, former manager of the Kodiak National Wildlife Refuge.

Strickland, who died in 1984 of a mid-life heart attack, was the father of four sons, three of them Ouachitonians, and the brother of Mrs. Mel Wasson (Lillian, '50), Mrs. Bill Vining (Ann, f.s. '51) and his twin, Mrs. Kendall Hunter (Charlotte), OBU nurse.

Mrs. Strickland, the former Sara Russell whom he married in 1959, is an Arkadelphia native. The family is shown against the mountain background: (left) Russell ('84), an oil company accountant living in Alaska; Mrs. Strickland; David, a petroleum engineering student at Louisiana Tech; Charles Watkins (Watty, '84), a petroleum engineer in Alaska, and Billy Ray, a present OBU junior.

Mrs. Vining and Mrs. Hunter were present for the ceremony, as were Leanne Sandifer ('85), employed for the summer in Alaska, and Cheryl Washbrikoff, a sophomore and Kodiak native.

Ouachitonians star in Baptist-sponsored Brazilian Olympics

Three Ouachitonians starred in the Olympics this summer — the Third Royal Ambassador Olympics in Brazil, that is.

Neal Guthrie ('64), Brotherhood Director of the Arkansas Baptist State Convention, took two Ouachita athletes, Lance Cansdale, a junior, and Jerry Bridges, a 1985 graduate, to assist him in a mission project linking Arkansas and the Amazon region of Brazil. The three-year partnership is known as AMAR, and the purpose of the trip was for the men to share their testimonies, demonstrate their skills, meet with churches, and assist the missionaries in every way they could be used.

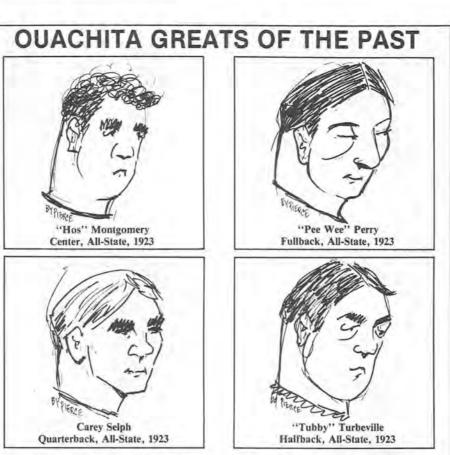

Lance Cansdale, a native of British Columbia, Canada, recently won the National Championship in the mile swim. In Brazil he accepted a challenge to swim the Topajaos River, about a mile wide, at Santarem, Para. He won over about 20 Brazilians with a time of 23 minutes, 3.5 minutes ahead of his closest competition. He also helped with the swimming events in Belem and played on the missionary basketball team.

Jerry Bridges, from Hot Springs, Ark., a point guard for the Tiger basketball team for four years, helped pull together the missionary team, used his skills to share his Christian experience, and distributed Bibles and tracts to thousands of young men at the games.

Both men readily and enthusiastically related their experience with Christ and the importance of the Lord's leadership in their daily lives.

M.B.S.F. HOMECOMING

All M.B.S.F. alumni are invited to a program and luncheon on Saturday, November 23, 1985, at Baring Cross Missionary Baptist Church, 1511 Walnut St., Arkadelphia.

Former student remembers athletes from his days here in 1923-24

Linwood W. Pierce, a former student of 1923-24, has expressed his appreciation of his year at Ouachita in the form of sketches of the football players he still remembers. The nearly 80-year-old Pierce recalls, "Ouachita had a great football team that year, and the school spirit was tremendous."

Financial problems cut short his college career. He went to California where he eventually located and has been a sign-writer and artist over the years.

He writes, "The one year spent at Ouachita takes a first in pleasant memories of my past. R.O.T.C. at school and six weeks during the summer of '24 at Ft. Snelling, Minn., helped me greatly in my life throughout the years."

Further recollections include: "Dr. Dickens, a truly great man, was President. Mrs. Blake, English, was a remarkable lady. Dr. Winburn was Baptist minister. His son Hardy was a friend of mine whom I admired very much. There was a Capt. Porter, U.S. Army, and a hard-boiled but quite lovable old sergeant who also coached the track team."

Five years ago he visited Arkansas and drove through the campus which he found "beautiful and modern." He remembers his year at Ouachita as "an important little segment" of his life.

'Gold Bar' program is introduced by Ouachita ROTC

The U.S. Army's Gold Bar Recruiting program has been in effect for several years, but this is the first year that the Ouachita's Reserve Officers Training Corps has adopted it, with evident success.

"A gold bar recruiter is a newly commissioned Second Lieutenant who has just graduated from college and is then put into the position of recruiting. He is the best cadet we have," said Lt. Col. Arthur Riddle, professor of Military Science at OBU.

The students brought in by the program are top-quality scholarship winners, whose ACT scores must exceed 22 according to Col. Riddle. They show potential for excelling in not only the ROTC program, but also academics at Ouachita.

A record number of ROTC scholarship winners came to Ouachita this year, 24, resulting in a 300 percent increase in freshman ROTC scholarships over last year, while the ROTC enrollment has remained basically the same.

Worship service opens Centennial

Founder's Day 1985, September 6, 1985, opened the long-anticipated Ouachita Centennial Year with a faculty-staff worship service in Berry Chapel, serving as a time of commitment and rededication which may become a tradition.

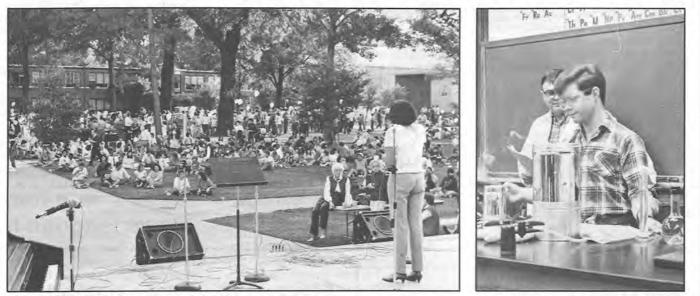

Dr. Paul Hammond was chairman of the planning committee composed of Dr. Mike Arrington, Evalyn Cowart, Dr. Bud Fray, Dr. Tom Greer and Virginia Queen.

Twenty-five faculty and staff members, including Earl Verser, Jr., chairman of the trustees, participated in the service which included prayer, scripture, organ, trumpet and violin and vocal solos, hymn-singing, meditation, affirmation, and challenge, in addition to statements of commitment from representatives of every aspect of the university.

Ouachita's statement of purpose, as pre-from representatives of every aspect of the university.

Ouachita's statement of purpose, as presented in historic catalogs, and "Reaffirmations" by the National Colloquium on Christian Education of the Association of Southern Baptist Colleges and Schools in Williamsburg, Va., in 1976, served as the bases for the service.

Dr. Joe Jeffers

Jeffers awarded NSF grant for science series

Dr. Joe Jeffers, professor of chemistry at Ouachita, has been awarded a $19,700 grant from the National Science Foundation for the purpose of publishing a weekly column in small town newspapers entitled "Common Science."

"The column will present the common sense side of everyday science as well as new and emerging science and technology," explained Dr. Jeffers. "It will be in an easily understood and readable style that should appeal to adults as well as students."

The target age group is specifically grades 5-9. "It offers students an opportunity for out-of-class enrichment, which the teachers may wish to expand on in class." Dr. Jeffers also hopes that the parents of these students will take an interest in the column and serve as guides for their children.

"I chose small towns for the reason that there are many enrichment possibilities to city dwellers that aren't readily available to small towns, museums for instance. I know small town papers reach people that big city dailies do not."

Ouachita seniors Lori Webb of Texarkana, Lynn Segerstrom of Ida Grove, Ia., Terry Melson of Ashdown, Ark., and Regina Sullivan of Benton, Ark., have learned the fine art of the Japanese tea ceremony from their year in Japan as Ouachita-Seinan Gaukin exchange students. Lori went independently, with help from churches and individuals, while the other girls were assisted with Japanese exchange scholarships from Ouachita.

Exchange student's year in Japan a good experience

by John R. Schirmer

What's the first thing you think of when someone mentions Japan? A different language? Hiroshima or Nagasaki? Maybe even geisha girls or eating unusual foods, such as raw fish?

If someone mentions Japan to Terry Melson, the Ouachita senior will immediately recall 11 months she spent there as an exchange student -11 special months that changed her outlook on the Far East na-

"You don't have to speak Japanese to get along," Terry said. "I chose to learn it and mingle with the people."

By the end of school in May, Terry communicated well enough to teach conversational English to a class of Japanese doctors, businessmen and other professionals. Many of them planned to come to the United States and wanted to learn English.

Working with them was easy, she said. "I was paid to talk." get ready. People understood it and were touched by it."

Terry shared her experience of becoming a Christian and also told of a 1982 tornado which killed her mother and younger sister Dedra.

Even though she had presented the testimony before, "when I heard it in Japanese ... it was kind of tough. It was a little more difficult to give in Japanese because the words were so strong."

ately recall 11 months she spent there as an exchange student — 11 special months that changed her outlook on the Far East nation.

Terry attended college in Fukuoka through an exchange program between Ouachita Baptist University and Seinan-Gakuin University. The Nashville, Ark., native quickly discovered that there would be a few problems in communicating with the people in Japanese, even after she had studied the language.

But she also learned another lesson. By developing close ties with many of the students and other Japanese, Terry made this discovery: "Even if we couldn't understand each other's language, we could understand each other's heart. That was very rewarding for me."

After living in Japan from late August last year until the end of July, Terry had "mixed feelings when it came time to come home." Although she wanted to see her sister and friends in the United States, "I didn't want to leave my friends in Japan." She hopes to go back in two or three years.

Ouachita's exchange program with Seinan began in 1974. Each year three students from OBU to go Japan, and three Japanese students make the journey to Arkadelphia.

Although she took about 35 hours at Seinan, they did not count toward her double major at Ouachita. She did receive credit for the hours, however, and they were figured into her grade point average at OBU.

The classes at Seinan, a school of 7,000 students, were difficult, according to Terry. "I had to study a lot." She had 1¹/₂ hours of Japanese language each day. Some of her other classes dealt with Japanese economics, business management, government, history, religion and intercultural communication.

Most of the teachers were Japanese who spoke English, and all classes were taught in English.

Even though Terry made an intense study of Japanese, "for the first three or four months, I couldn't really communicate," she recalled. "I could tell my name but couldn't make sentences or have a complete conversation."

Terry had never taken Japanese before going to Fukuoka. Her instructor at Seinan taught grammar and very little vocabulary at first, she said. He also taught "a lot of Chinese characters." United States and wanted to learn English.

Working with them was easy, she said. "I was paid to talk."

The Japanese school system uses a different calendar, but the American students at Seinan had a special schedule allowing them to start in September and finish in May.

When the Americans arrived, the sponsors of the programs were "so kind. They tried to make things comfortable for me."

The first apartment Terry had was traditional, with a straw-matted floor and a bed called a futon. The straw floor is the reason

"Even if we couldn't understand each other's language, we could understand each other's heart. That was very rewarding for me."

Japanese remove their shoes when entering a house, Terry said. "When I got back it felt weird going in with shoes on."

Her second apartment was more like one found in the United States.

The sponsors helped the students select their apartments, showed them various shopping areas, went with the Americans to help exchange their money for yen, and helped them open bank accounts.

While in Japan, Terry attended services at a Baptist church near the university. The evening worship was conducted in English and Japanese, while the morning services were only in Japanese.

She visited two other Baptist churches as well.

"It was neat to meet all of the missionaries and see where our money [from Southern Baptist churches] goes," Terry said.

Five or six times, Terry gave her Christian testimony to Japanese congregations.

She usually presented it in English through an interpreter. However, before she left "I told it in Japanese. It took a long time to ... it was kind of tough. It was a little more difficult to give in Japanese because the words were so strong."

Terry shared her testimony with several different audiences, including some women's groups similar to those found among Baptist churches in the United States.

Japan is about two percent Christian, Terry said. "If a Japanese becomes a Christian, it causes a lot of problems."

The predominant religion in Japan is a mixture of Buddhism and Shintoism. Many of the Japanese young people think religion is outdated and have little to do with it, she noted.

They like American music, clothes and ideas but hold little regard for their Japanese customs.

Terry visited several shrines and saw two large statues of Buddha. The bronze images "were just awesome," she said.

The stay in Japan gave Terry the opportunity to travel to many well-known locations. She visited Hiroshima and Nagasaki and saw the results of the nuclear bombs dropped there 40 years ago.

The people "have a peaceful outlook." They had no hostility toward me and were very kind and nice. I was surprised to find how much they admire Americans."

Terry spent a week in Tokyo, where she went to the Japanese Disneyland. She also saw the ice festival in Sapporo, where there were ice sculptures "as big as houses."

The weather around Fukuoka, in southern Japan, was about the same as in Arkansas, Terry said.

Terry said it is "good to be home and be able to understand" what everyone says and "go into a restaurant and understand the menu."

However, she found it hard to leave Fukuoka.

As a result of her stay in Japan, Terry feels her studies at Ouachita will take on a new meaning. "I can see how important my classes are for the future. I want to really learn things in class."

Terry found that Americans have many misconceptions about Japan, and she learned to communicate with people despite language barriers.

Eating raw fish, however, is another story.

CLASS NOTES

Dr. Thomas Lee Ballenger, Professor Emeritus and retired head of the History Department at Northeastern Oklahoma State University in Tahlequah, goes on making his own history during this centennial year at Ouachita.

The Oklahoma school's public relations director did a video-tape of Dr. Ballenger for Dr. Bill Downs, Ouachita's public relations director, who has labored valiantly to present Ouachita's history pictorially and through audio recording.

Dr. Ballenger, who has been at Northeastern almost as long as the school itself, has been honored by that school with a "History of the University" reception, and the naming of the reading room in the library in his honor.

When Mrs. Cecil Shuffield's brother (Mildred Watkins, f.s. '30) visited him recently, he found him on a stool in the yard, pulling grass and weeds. He is 102, looking forward to his birthday on December 22. He walks on crutches, but his mind is keen, and he still has a love for people. His wife, Mildred, a former teacher, died several months ago, and his only son, Tom L., and his wife have moved in with him.

Ouachita salutes its outstanding graduate of 80 years ago!

Mrs. Vera Edwards, widow of Ross Edwards ('28), has presented Ouachita with a totally marvelous scrapbook compiled by her brother-in-law, and senior class president, Joe Keith Edwards. The memory book, a handsome production of Intercollegiate Press, is entitled "Footprints of Fellowship," and dedicated to his alma mater.

Although Keith lost an arm at the shoulder when he was 15, he could tackle anything anyone else could, his sister-in-law at the age of 81, thought of present-day baseball. He still follows the game through the media, and can't help remembering the days when a player's signature was his bond. He opines, "Nobody's worth a million to play ball."

He thinks there's too much show-boating for the TV cameras, such as one-handed catches in the outfield. He doesn't believe today's players are as tough as yesteryear's, and salaries are "out of sync with production (regulars hittin' .225 and gettin' a million a year)." Instead of being anti-player, however, he holds the owners responsible for beginning years ago to give big money bonuses to kids who couldn't play.

He's mighty pleased with Pete Rose (reminds him of Pepper Martin) and Dale Murphy, for instance, and still enjoys the game despite the siphoning off of the manager's authority, computers, over-sized gloves, artificial turf, arbitration, renegotiation and player strikes.

B. F. Stroope, who returned to Ouachita in 1978 to be recognized as the school's first golf captain, and to play in the first OBU Invitational Golf Tournament (he won the second flight), died in Kilgore, Tex. in June. He had retired from his public relations position with Allied Citizens Bank, and remained active in Rotary and its international exchange program.

Dr. Bruce H. Price of Newport News, Va., a former member of the FSA Board, has established a scholarship for the "average student" who meets the requirements of Christian character and need. He feels that most provision is made for the 100 percent students; thus his interest is in the less academically gifted.

Although Paul Elledge's wife, Amy Ruth, died recently, he is still aglow from the results of his mission trip to the Philippines in which 242 people made commitments for Christ as a result of a one week visit he and a lay friend made to a remote village where no Americans had gone before. He writes, "I'd ac back in a second if Cecil and Mildred Watkins Shuffield, of the class of 1930, present a framed picture of the senior class of 1906, including her father, J. S. Watkins, to Ouachita President Dr. Daniel Grant and FSA Administrative Secretary Mrs. Agnes Coppenger. The gift has been placed in the archives for eventual appropriate display.

Jacks, parents of Louis, Jr. ('68) and Sarah Jean Lindsey ('71) are in Sparkman, Ark. where he owns L. L. Jacks Co. and she is a homemaker. He is a deacon of First Baptist Church and is a former city councilman. His mother, Margaret "Maggie" Moore, was a 1916 graduate, and his sister, Margaret ('44), is Mrs. Wilson Deese (among other members of the Ouachita clan).

Thomas Owen and Margaret Robinson (f.s.) Matlock, parents of three children, are in Shreveport, La. where he has retired as a U.S. Army Colonel, and as supervisor of the Caddo Parish School. She is a retired high school counselor.

William Albert and Margaret Brindley Petty of Falkville, Ala., parents of four children, the youngest deceased, are serving with the HMB Mission Service Corps (selfsupporting) in Hawaii, mostly during the winter months. From 1940-49 they were in pioneer missions in Alaska. He has been a secondary school teacher and she a homemaker.

Dr. Gilbert B. and Ruth Neone Linn (f.s.) Waud, parents of one son, marked Bettye Jane Stout Tiffany, mother of three children, is a curriculum coordinator in Ridgecrest, Calif. where she has served over 25 years in the schools. She has been president of Region XI Assn., California School Administrators; Delta Kappa Gamma, been active in the Desert Area Counseling Clinic, Community Light Opera & Theater Assn., Community Hospital Foundation, is senior warden of St. Michael's Episcopal Church and is a member of the Standing Committee of the San Joaquin Vestry.

Betty Joe Lacy of North Little Rock, Ark. retired June 30 from a career in religious education, most recently as Acteens director for 13 years with Woman's Missionary Union of Arkansas. She formerly was director of youth education and activities at First Baptist Church, Hattiesburg, Miss., and had served at Park Place Church in Houston. Although Keith lost an arm at the shoulder when he was 15, he could tackle anything anyone else could, his sister-in-law claims, including football, and the careful filling of every page of the book with photographs, autographs, programs, ticket stubs, postcards, notes, and every conceivable documentation of a rich college experience.

There are records of a hike from his home in Booneville to Arkadelphia, another from Arkadelphia to Hot Springs, and Sunday afternoon walks out to the Unity Community and beyond. There were Baracca Sunday School class picnics, outings at the Bluff, reference to faculty, staff, and students with extraordinarily good photographs of all groups. Keith and his brother, Ross, were "camera hounds" and they documented buildings, grounds, and groups most faithfully.

The record, more complete than a yearbook, is now in the archives awaiting preparation for permanent display. The programs of such events as the visit of William Jennings Bryant are still in excellent condition, but the spine and covers of the book need preservation.

One of his pages shows the college's track stars for 1915 and 16, who trounced Henderson 73-29 and 80-45 for two successive years. Appropriately, it also includes the popular yell, "Boom-a-lacka, Boom-a-lacka, Bow-wow."

Keith Edwards, married but died in 1944, with no children. His brother, Ross, entered the Navy and is now deceased. Mrs. Edwards feels that Keith would have been delighted to have his meticulous documenting of Ouachita days prove meaningful at this time of celebration and through the years beyond.

Frank Luksa of the "Dallas Times Herald" did a full column in August on Travis Jackson ('25), putting him in perspective by recounting the manager for whom he played — John McGraw, and the men he played with and against in World Series baseball: Casey Stengel, Mel Ott, Carl Hubbell, Walter Johnson, Babe Ruth, Lue Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio, "about half of the crew at Cooperstown."

Luksa phoned the former N.Y. Giants ('22-'36) Hall of Fame shortstop at his home in Waldo, Ark. to see what Jackson, visit he and a lay friend made to a remote village where no Americans had gone before. He writes, "I'd go back in a second if I ever get the chance."

Mrs. C. H. "Bill" Williams (Arnetta Herbert, f.s.), a fellow thespian with Dr. John Crawford ('59), chairman of the department of English at HSU, has placed his latest book, "Early Shapespearean Actresses" in the Ouachita library. He autographed it for her as a friend from Community Theatre, Henderson plays, and First Baptist Church, and she in turn inscribed it for the Ouachita authors' collection, now distributed throughout Riley Library, reflecting the wide-ranging interests and contributions of Ouachita alumni who have authored books.

1936

Dr. Taylor R. Alexander, Emeritus Professor of Botany at the University of Miami, Fla., and former chairman of the department, is a recognized authority on the plant ecology of South Florida. He worked several years for the state in establishing a floral baseline against which changes could be measured during conservation studies. It included serving on the Governor's Committee in establishing criteria and safeguards for conservation measures. His former dean and Emeritus Prof. of Zoology, Dr. E. Morton Miller, writes, "I have never known a harder-working, more conscientious, more effective teacher."

1937

Dr. Theodore and LaVesta Bartlett ('38) Garrison, parents of three children, all teachers, observed their 50th wedding anniversary July 13, in Macomb, Ill. where he retired in 1980 after 20 years as Professor of English at Western Illinois University. In 1966-67, he was Fulbright Professor of English and American Literature at the National University of Iran, in Tehran. Rev. Irvin Burlison ('35) of Longview, Tex., performed their wedding ceremony.

1940 Louis and Katie Jean McGraw ('42) maker.

Dr. Gilbert B. and Ruth Neone Linn (f.s.) Waud, parents of one son, marked his 50 years of preaching on July 7, when their church, Park Avenue Baptist in Mt. Vernon, Ill., held a celebration in his honor. He has been instructor of Bible and BSU Center Director at the University of Illinois, served on the state Baptist executive board and on the Radio & TV Commission, and is Director of Missions for Salem South Baptist Association.

Royce H. and Blanche Esslinger Dorris are in Florence, Ala. where he was owner and broker of Seven Points Realty until he retired in 1981. He is president of the Florence Golf and Country Club, and is past Commander of the VFW, and past Exalted Ruler of the BPOE.

Dr. John and Nan Smith Ashcraft, parents of Nelson Mac and Sally Ann Shuffield, are in Little Rock where he has served Brookwood Baptist Church for four years and is interim pastor of Hurricane Lake Church in Benton. They spent 33 years in California in pioneer mission pastoral work.

Andrew and Harriet Grant Hall took two months from his interim work at Calvary Baptist Mission between Rogers and Bentonville, Ark., to serve on Grand Cayman Island in the Caribbean, during the Herbert Neely family's mini-furlough.

Dr. Thomas and Mary Elizabeth Tolson Halsell, of St. Albans, W. Va., parents of four children, are in Dublin, Ireland, serving a four-month missionary assignment.

W. N. "Wink" and Kitty Story (f.s.) Bledsoe have retired in Arkadelphia where he is enjoying pursuing his avocation in turkey calling. He has two tapes, "The Complete Turkey Caller," and is a national judge in the sport. He organized the Texas wild turkey callers and has traveled far and wide in pursuing his hobby.

W. T. and Dorothy Rainwater Higginbotham, parents of a daughter, Rebecca Lynn Murphy, are in Hamburg, Ark. where he is a retired county judge, bank president and farmer, and she has retired as guidance counselor at Hamburg High School. She belongs to First Baptist and Delta Kappa Gamma. Miss., and had served at Park Place Church in Houston.

Dr. Joseph M. and Katherine Sexton (f.s.) Pipkin, parents of three children, were honored by their church, College Park in Orlando, Fla. for the 20 years in which they have given an annual term of voluntary mission service by closing his dental office and serving gratis on a foreign field. They have worked, she as his coordinator and dental assistant, in Nigeria, Tanzania, Zimbabwe, Ghana, Indonesia, India and Yemen, with Benin this summer, bringing their total to 21 terms.

His practice has not suffered, and each of their children has made at least one trip with their parents. They treasure the association with the missionaries, have enjoyed a surprising record of good health, and have led in the formation of the SBC Medical/Dental Fellowship, numbering over 1,500 personnel for short-term volunteer missionary service.

She says, "Joe and I don't make any sacrifices. We are just so blessed to be able to do this. It's no more than any dedicated person should do who has the opportunity. But Joe has been blessed uniquely to be able to have this opportunity. Not everyone is able to do this sort of thing. I think God requires you to do what you can."

Frank David and Helen Mundie ('47) Bennett are in Pineville, La., where he has just retired after more than three decades in Louisiana College classrooms, as associate professor and acting chairman of the Department of Communication Arts. On the side, he has written and directed pageants, including the state WMU pageant, "Adam's Rib," the history of Louisiana College, and 75th anniversary of the Louisiana Press Association.

The school paper reports, "His delightful laugh echoed over the campus for 32 years, and the springy step and twinkling eyes were familiar sights to thousands of students who experienced his animated lectures and friendly scoldings."

She has another year of teaching high school English in Alexandria. Their two daughters and four grandchildren live nearby.

Paul and Velda Pogue Barnard, parents of Paul and Beverly, are in Little Rock where he has retired from his sales position with Uarco Business Forms, and she from 13 years of teaching 6th grade in the public schools.

Owen and Hazel Mize Kersh, parents of Nancy and Cindy, are in Waco, Tex. where he is executive vice president and general manager of Wilkirson-Hatch Funeral Home, Inc. He has served for 25 years in church employment previously, and is active in Rotary, Masonry, is a deacon, and has been a trustee of Hillcrest Baptist Medical Center for 18 years.

Roy and Loretta Austin (f.s.) Nix, parents of three children, are in North Little Rock, Ark. where he is Special Projects Coordinator for the Mission Service Corps, with the Arkansas Baptist State Convention Church Extension Department, involved with laity missions, and undertaking to enlist Ouachita students and graduates, at present in teaching English as a second language in China.

Dr. James T. Wright, chairman of elementary education at HSU, has distinguished himself as a member of the advisory committee of the State Department of Education in curriculum, is past president of the Arkansas Association on Children Under Six, and Teacher Educators of Reading and past chairman of the Arkansas Elementary Council. He has received the Silver Beaver Award in Scouting, and the Good Shepherd Award from the Arkansas Ascociation of Baptists for Scouting. He is further active in the community, Baptist Student Union, and as Sunday School Superintendent at Second Baptist Church, Arkadelphia.

This time Dr. James Hefley (who authors a new book almost every issue of the bulletin) has an almost centennial piece in his own childhood biography of "Way Back in the Hills," a glimpse of life in the Ozarks at a time when there "was no time." It was geographically remote enough for him to have known firsthand some of the life and tempo of Ouachita's beginning days — although Arkadelphia in 1886 was considerably more sophisticated than "Big Creek"

Dr. A. B. Wetherington (right) was honored at an Arkansas Technical Assistance and Consultative Center (ATAC) reunion dinner in September when it was announced that a $5,000 scholarship was being established in his name for education majors at Ouachita. Dr. Wetherington obtained the grant and directed the program, underwritten by the Federal Office of Education, for the successful desegregation of Arkansas schools in the '70s. Dr. Charles Chambliss, chairman of the division of education (left), joins the applause. In the background are Ouachita graduates Frank and Eddie Lou Taylor. Frank is assistant principal at North Carrollton (Texas) Junior High, and Eddie Lou is principal at McCoy Elementary School in the Metroplex area.

Don and Polly Dawson Cooper, parents of Lisa (f.s. '80), are in Little Rock, Ark. where he is associate director of the ABSC Sunday School Department, and she is a psychologist and supervisor of professional services of Arkansas Child Find. She has an Ed.D. degree from the University of Arkansas, and has been recognized for distinguished service at Immanuel Baptist Church where she is director of leadership training and development. She also writes curriculum materials for the SBC.

Rev. Alfred R. Cullum pastors Bethany Baptist Church in North Little Rock. He recently was certified as a Duncan Ceramic teacher, and is making plans to be involved in the Arkansas-Brazil mission. His wife, and Russ owns and manages Russ Home Furnishings Store.

Marshall and Sue Hicks (f.s.) Rowe, parents of Stephanie, are in Beaumont, Tex. where he is superintendent of pilot operations in research and development with Uniroyal, Inc., and she is a middle school teacher. He is a deacon at North End Baptist Church, is a soloist in the choir, and is a member of the American Chemical Soc.

Dr. Jim and Judy Fisher (f.s.) Ryan (also '61), parents of two sons, are in Goodlettsville, Tenn. where he is supervisor of the adult section of the SBC Church Training Dept. in Nashville. He has recently published a book through Broadman Press, "Bible Promises for Growing Christians."

Wherever SBC Sunday School Board consultant Ruth Ann Wade attends a conference, workshop, meeting, whatever, it manages to turn into a Ouachita minireunion. During the third Sunday School Week at Glorieta, N.M. this summer, her get-together included Kirk Bullington ('82) of Fort Worth, Tex.; Mrs. Marianne Morrissett Gosser ('55), North Little Rock; Leroy Summers ('54), Dallas, Tex.; Martin Babb ('75), Little Rock, Ark., and Mrs. Mary Jane Coleman Bethelot, of Wichita Falls, Tex.; Rhonda Clark, Russellville; Angela Martz, Ransom Canyon, Tex.; Tammie and Danny Pennell, Ransom, Tex.; Christy Mitchell, Delhi, La., and Sam Stricklin, North Little Rock, Ark. (all present students). Rev. Damon Shook ('57) of Houston, Tex. was preacher for the week.

Joe and Sue McSpadden Finney, parents of Steve and Missy, are in Fayetteville, Ark. where he is a salesman with Rhone Poulenc and she is a library media specialist.

Jimmy L. and Valinda Rose Whittle Jones, parents of Lisa (f.s.) and Carrie Lynne, are in Cabot, Ark. where he owns M. J. Construction and she is media specialist at Southside Elementary.

though Arkadelphia in 1886 was considerably more sophisticated than "Big Creek" where Jim's mother set his feet in the paths of learning. Dr. Hefley is now writer-inresidence, speaker and conductor of writing seminars at Hannibal-LaGrange College in Hannibal, Mo.

Rev. Ottis Denney ('41), and Drs. Glendon Grober, T. W. Hunt and John Mc-Clanahan are all credited with influencing his life.

He has written over forty books and hundreds of articles from the Christian viewpoint, and his wife, Marti, has over 15 volumes to her credit.

Bill Shoemake is a retired Major General from the U.S. Marine Corps, and living in Paris, Ark.

Dr. Tom Tedford, professor of Speech at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, has had his textbook, "Freedom of Speech in the United States" published by Random House in March, and already adopted by a number of university departments of speech. The University of Arkansas speech department began teaching from a xeroxed copy of his text in January before publication in March. He has edited a newsletter, "Free Speech" in connection with his work with the Speech Association of America. His wife is the former Annette Presswood ('52) and they have two children, David and Tine Sue.

Rebecca Annette McKinney-Watson (f.s.) of Arkadelphia dropped by the campus recently to pay tribute to the spirit of Christian love she had found at Ouachita and continues to see expressed in today's students and staff.

Rev. Eddie and Margie McCord, parents of two sons, are in Batesville where he is director of missions for Independence Association after serving over seven years as pastor of Highland Heights Church in Benton. He has been president of the ABSC Executive Board and chairman of the convention nominating committee.

Jim and Jina Cavaness Orr have located in Angel Fire, N.M., an expanding yearround resort area in the Sangre de Cristo former student, '73.

Ike and Billie Guerin ('62) Sharp had their own Ouachita reunion this summer at their home in Benton when they invited the local Tigers over for ice cream. The crowd included: Carl "Snoze" Allen (f.s. '43), an All-American with 79 points who played with the late Cecil Kemp; Dr. Paul and Alice Morrison Hogue ('47); Dan (81) and Cindy Stanford ('83) Berry of Little Rock: Bill and Sue Millsaps ('49); Dr. Ken and Lois Smithers Cook ('47); Ed and Lois Josephine Roberts Berry ('48); and Bob and Diane Lynn James Berry, ('79) ordained on Mother's Day, May 12, as minister of education and administration for First Baptist Church, Benton, pastored by Randel Everett ('71). Father Ed Berry, recently moved to Benton, preached the ordination sermon.

Wes and Carol Burns (f.s.) Smelley are conducting a School for Living at their home in Little Rock and their farm in Perry County, offering a series of support groups and seminars to assist people in personal growth, ranging from teenagers through all stages of human problems and relationships.

Mrs. Smelley created Youth Home, Inc. for troubled teenagers and directed it for 16 years, after having served as superintendent of the Arkansas Training School for Girls. Although young people's needs are growing, she has changed her focus, explaining, "I've always been in the cleanup business (picking up pieces of broken lives and fixing shattered dreams). What I'd like to do now is be on the other end for a while."

Dr. Elson and Opal Vawter Herndon of Overland Park, Kans., renewed their marriage vows on their Golden Wedding anniversary on June 16. His Ouachita relatives include his father, John I. Herndon, a former student; a sister, Gwen ('42) and her husband, Dr. William H. Daniel ('41); sister Genida Johnson (f.s. '43) of Demopolis, Ala.; and sons, Eugene ('58), and his wife, Gaye Black ('58), and Doyle ('61). The Herndons have retired from the pastorate and a career in Baptist Retirement Home administration.

ROLLED — Paschal Stowell, a junior from Shreveport, La., studies amidst the tasteful exterior decorating that takes place periodically at Conger Dorm.

VENTURE — Junior and senior high school students in church vans converged on the Ouachita campus on Saturday, October 19, for VENTURE, a new activity providing youth groups with a full day of Bible study, youth oriented worship services, musical presentations and a football game. The event was housed in the Ouachita Physical Education Center. Nick Foster, a humorist from Louisville, Ky., was the principal speaker, and TRUTH presented two concerts. Mike Huckabee ('76) and Richard Wade ('71) are in the foreground, and Skipper Wofford ('62) is standing at the table.
