Curtain Club Produces Hit

"The Firebrand," Built Around
Character of Cellini,
Well Presented

DRESCH SCORES IN LEAD ROLE

That fascinating 16th century artist and villain, Benvenuto Cellini, was resurrected on Saturday evening to rehearse a few episodes from his notorious life before an interested audience in the Thompson-Gay Gymnasium. The occasion was the production of "The Firebrand" by the Curtain Club of Ursinus College.

This unusual comedy by Edwin Justus Mayer, although based upon the autobiography of Cellini, makes no pretense at being historically accurate. Nevertheless the playwright has included enough of fact to enable one to get a fairly authentic picture of the Renaissance period in Italy when treachery and deceit were considered normative, and life was cheap. At the same time the play has enough of the farcical in it to transform otherwise sordid detail into delightful entertainment.

Act I Laid in Cellini's Workshop

The action of the play is confined to the afternoon, evening and morning of two successive days, and takes place in the city of Florence and its environs. Act I is laid in Cellini's workshop, where one gets a glimpse of the famous artificer in metals whose work has won for him the favor of church and state. Here too one sees the murderous Cellini fresh from a recent exploit, displaying his characteristic braggadocio as he recounts his adventure, hears him make his declaration of love to Angela, witnesses his artfulness with the Duke, and sees him as the confident of the Duchess. Before the act closes, Ottaviano, the

STAFF WILL BE CHOSEN LATER

The Class of 1935 recently completed the first necessary plans for the preparations of its "Ruby." At a meeting held on Tuesday, November 28, candidates were nominated for the positions of Editor-in-Chief and Business Manager. In the elections, which took place a week later, Harry F. Brian was chosen Editor-in-Chief and R. Blair Hunter was elected to the business managership.

The new editor, who hails from Lancaster, Pennsylvania, is a member of the History-Social Science Group. Besides his scholastic work, he is affiliated with many organizations and activities on the campus, and has been especially active in the literary publications of the College. He has worked on the Weekly staff since his freshman year; at present he is an associate editor of that publication. This past fall he was also an associate editor of the "Grizzly Griddler," Ursinus' football magazine, and at the present time is working with the staff of the 1934 "Ruby."

Brian is one of his class representatives on the Men's Student Council, being secretary-treasurer of that body. He has been a member of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet for the past two years and was an officer of that organization in his sophomore year. In athletics, he is a member of the var-

NOVELTY ACCORDION NUMBERS

Thompson-Gay gymnasium was the scene, on Friday evening, December 8, of an enjoyable dance sponsored by the two Student Councils. The music was provided by Jimmy De Angelis and his orchestra, who came to the College from an appearance in Harrisburg. This dance replaced the Pan-Hellenic Ball, formerly an annual affair, but given up this year by the fraternity and sorority councils.

Approximately 75 couples attended the dance, enjoying the music by the orchestra of twelve men. Several novelty numbers by two piano-acordion players were well received, judging by the applause they were accorded. Punch was served to the dancers. The gymnasium was not decorated, except as it was made homelike through the use of floor lamps. The dance floor was in good condition, having been well waxed.

The chaperones for the affair were, Dr. and Mrs. John W. Mauchley, Dr. and Mrs. Marcus C. Old, Miss Caroline S. Boyd and Mr. William S. Pettit. On the committee which planned the dance were, Edwin Hershey '34, chairman, Harold Seiple '34, Harry F. Brian '35, Marian Blew '34, Louree Remsburg '34, and Mildred Fox '35.

Dr. Starr Tells of Interesting Travels

President of Women's Medical College
Speaks at Co-ed Mass
Meeting

CITES EDUCATIONAL FEATURES

Dr. Logan Wistar Starr, president of Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania gave a very interesting talk before the woman's mass meeting, sponsored by the Junior Advisory Committee, last Tuesday evening, November 7.

Dr. Starr has travelled extensively and is especially interested in the Asiatic countries, about which she spoke. From her travels, she is able to realize the great difference which education has made in the social advances of a nation. Mrs. Starr noticed particularly the lenient attitude of the United States toward education as compared with the countries she visited.

At the university in Cairo, Egypt, the methods of teaching are very different from ours, it was explained. The spacious floors of mosques are used as the class rooms, and about each pillar congregate the persons interested in that particular subject. In most cases, when a student is inattentive, he loses a month of his education. At present Cairo has developed to such an extent of prosperity through her educational institutions that it refused Rockefeller's gift of a museum.

Continuing her travels from Egypt, Mrs. Starr then visited Bombay. There she noticed the great advance in the reformation of society which

TREASURER SHOWS BALANCE

The fall meeting of the Directors of Ursinus College was held in the Faculty room of the Library at 10.30 a. m. Tuesday, November 28. The following members of the Board were present: Rev. Titus A. Alspach, D. D., Hon. Andrew R. Brodbeck, LL. D., Hon. Thomas E. Brooks, vice president, Charles C. Burdan, vice president, Rev. I. Calvin Fisher, D. D., Edwin M. Fogel, Ph. D., Edward S. Fretz, treasurer, Donald L. Helffrich, Esq., Abraham H. Hendricks, Esq., Mrs. Rhea Duryea Johnson, Wharten A. Kline, Litt. D., Ralph E. Miller, Geo. L. Omwake, LL. D., Harry E. Paisley, LL. D., president, Henry T. Spangler, LL. D., and Rev. Calvin D. Yost, D. D., secretary. The Rev. Edwin M. Sando, D. D. of Hanover and the Rev. Oliver K. Maurer of Red Lion were invited to sit in the meeting as visitors.

At this meeting the annual reports of officers were submitted. These reports indicated the College to be in a healthy condition. During the year, the members of the faculty, officers of administration and employes joined in contributing toward the current expenses of the institution more than $10,000, thus enabling the College to finish the year with a balance of $749.65 and placing Ursinus in a group of less than fifty colleges in the United States to finish the year 1932-33 without a deficit. The Board adopted a resolution thanking its staff

U. of P. Professor Discusses N. R. A.

Permanent Features of Recovery Program

AUTHOR OF TEXT USED HERE

"Some Permanent Features of the N. R. A." was the topic of Dr. James T. Young's speech, given at the meeting of the History-Social Science Group, on Monday evening, November 27. A large number of students from other groups and of faculty members also were present to hear Dr. Young, the head of the political science department at the University of Pennsylvania and the author of the textbook now in use in the American Government course here.

As a background for his discussion of the N. R. A., the speaker pointed out that nearly all governments of the world are centralizing power, particularly Italy, Russia, and Germany. Why does this trend exist? The answer is that citizens all over the world are demanding that their governments perform more services for them.

"The demands of a complex civilization make it necessary that authority be centralized to prevent delay in government. The same forces that led to censorship in Germany, Russia, and Italy are at work in the United States. If you could spread out the work of Russia and Italy over 30 years, dictatorship would not be necessary."

In Dr. Young's opinion two features of the N. R. A. will remain as permanent parts of our government after the present emergency has passed. First, the federal government will re-

SOMMERS WILL CAPTAIN FIVE

Looking ahead to the opening tilt with St. Joseph's on January 4, "Horse" Chase has been sending his Grizzly court candidates through daily workouts for the past week. Equipment was issued last Wednesday by Manager Schnebly, and the first scrimmage was held Saturday.

Six lettermen are reporting for duty, Sommers, who is captain of this year's squad, Johnson, Covert, Fisher, Price, and Breisch. Breisch, husky warrior of two years ago, did not play last year because of a leg injury, but is bidding for a forward position this season. Promising sophomores reporting are Grenawalt and Calvert, the latter at present suffering from a leg injury. As yet Coach Chase has not announced a probable starting lineup.

A good schedule is in store for fans of the court. Eight of the fifteen scheduled games will be played on the home floor; twelve conference battles are listed. There will be plenty of opposition in the league again this year. Last season Ursinus tied with Muhlenberg for fourth place. Gettysburg, title holder at present, will be

Dinner to Feature Christmas Party

Annual Celebration Will Be Held
In Gymnasium This
Thursday Evening

DANCING TO FOLLOW PROGRAM

The annual Christmas celebration will be held this year on Thursday evening, December 14, featured by the usual Christmas Dinner followed by an evening of entertainment and dancing in the gymnasium. This latter feature is under the direction of the Council on Student Activities.

Following the usual custom, the girls will assemble in the upper and the boys in the lower dining room for the dinner. In both dining rooms there will be features of sociability and fellowship to enliven the meal. In the upper dining room the girls of the various classes will compete for originality of table decorations as one of the features. Several speeches will be presented to both groups.

The entertainment in the gymnasium will consist mainly of a presentation of "Christmas in Many Lands", a dramatic sketch featuring appropriate folk songs and dances in several European countries and in America. Members of the Physical Education group are cooperating, under the direction of Mrs. Ogden, in the dance numbers of this program, and the College Glee Club will assist

Gridders Close Good Season

14-7 Defeat by Albright Slightly
Mars An Otherwise
Successful Year

SEVEN SENIORS TO GRADUATE

Football officially came to a close at Ursinus on Thanksgiving Day in a rather disappointing manner. On that date the Bears dropped a 14-7 decision to the Albright Lions at Reading and with the blowing of the final whistle the 1933 grid campaign ended.

The first Albright score was recorded in the third quarter after both teams had battled on even terms throughout the first half. The Bears outplayed the home team as far as ground gaining went, but the Ursinus outfit seemed too sluggish to get started, and consequently a short pass, Defranco to Iatesta, caught them napping and resulted in a score when the fleet Lion back skipped 38 yards to the end zone.

Early in the final period a determined Lion drive pushed the weary Grizzlies back into their own territory and the second touchdown was registered when Defranco broke loose on the visitors' 13-yard line and crossed the big stripe. He also added both extra points with place-kicks.

The Ursinus running attack really began to function after the second Albright score, and the power plays of the McAvoy men with Tropp and Bassman carrying the leather gradually pushed the Reading team back to their own goal line. Bassman finally hit tackle for 6 yards and the touchdown, while Shuman booted the extra point.

Season Successful

Although the Albright defeat rather spoiled an otherwise good record, the 1933 Ursinus football season can

BROOKLYN POLY IN N. Y. JAN. 12

Kuhrt Wieneke, former Penn State mat mentor, has been signed to coach the 1933-34 Ursinus wrestlers. Wieneke at present is athletic coach at Phoenixville High School.

Opening with a meet with Brooklyn Poly in New York, January 12, the Bears will embark on their stiffest schedule in history. Five of the seven matches on tap are slated as away meets, the Grizzlies meeting outstanding teams in the East, such as F. and M., Temple, Penn, and Lafayette.

Coach Wieneke will have plenty of experienced material on hand with which to mold together his squad, although "Otts" Paris and Al Alspach, 135 and 175 pound men, respectively, have been lost by graduation.

Editorial Comment

PUBLICATION FINANCES

The business staff of this year's "Ruby" announced, some time ago, that, if a certain percentage of the student body would purchase the book, the price to all would be materially reduced. The reasons for this are, of course, quite obvious, since printing costs are reduced per unit as the quantity is increased. More recently, the staff of the "Lantern" canvassed for subscriptions to the three issues of this year at a rate lower than would prevail if issues were bought singly.

Many students would like to purchase both the "Ruby" and the "Lantern" but cannot do so because of the relatively large outlay of money this would entail—especially for the annual publication. Carrying out the principle that marked price reductions are made possible when the circulation is increased, it seems only fair to assume that the price could be still lower if every student in the College could purchase these publications.

At the present time the cost of subscribing to the Weekly is part of the College Comprehensive Fee. This means, actually, that the subscription price—lower than it might be if less than all the students subscribed—is divided into four parts and thus made still easier for all to pay. In fact, the majority of the student body probably never stops to realize that they are paying such a subscription. What Ursinus has done for the cost of the Weekly has been done in many other institutions for all three publications. The plan, in brief, is to assess the cost—made much lower per student than would be otherwise possible—of the literary magazine and the annual on the bill, one-fourth each quarter. While not a perfect plan, this idea does seem to have a great deal of merit.

It might be argued that this makes the purchase of these publications compulsory. But, in view of the fact that nearly all of us would like to have a "Ruby" and the literary magazine if we could see our way clear to finance our purchase, and seeing the definite economy this mass purchase would bring about, it is difficult to conceive of anyone objecting to this compulsion. It seems reasonable to suppose, also, that with a guaranteed circulation and a guaranteed budget, the business staff, having no longer the burden of getting a circulation, might devote itself more fully to the securing of advertisements to still further bolster the financial backing of the book and magazine—with certain obvious improvements in form and make-up thus made financially possible.

In any event, the plan deserves consideration, and an effort should be made to discover what possibilities this idea, already quite popular in many institutions, has for us at Ursinus.

YOUR CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT

As in previous years a gala Christmas entertainment has been planned for Thursday, the day immediately preceding the holiday recess. The College, according to custom, will give the traditional family dinner to the entire student body, faculty and administration.

Following the dinner the Council on Student Activities has arranged an elaborate entertainment and dance to be held in the gymnasium. It is undoubtedly needless to say that any student who misses the program will be missing a real entertainment. Because it is free do not assume that the program does not merit your support. Every student in College should turn out for the last social activity on the campus for the year 1933.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES COUNCIL GRANTS MEET NIGHT TO CLUB

The Music Club was granted the privilege of having the third Tuesday of every month for its meeting night at the regular meeting of the Council on Student Activities, held Tuesday evening, December 5, in Bomberger hall, with Professor Brownback, the chairman, presiding.

Professor Brownback stressed the importance of each organization's securing the permission of the Council before signing up in the date book in the president's office. Attention was called to the rule of Dr. Omwake that no further meetings be scheduled prior to the mid-year examinations.

To popularize geometry among students at the University of Chicago, one of the professors hit upon the idea of prepared texts in which geometrical theorems are illustrated by football.

"LANTERN" CHRISTMAS ISSUE TO APPEAR TUESDAY NIGHT

Hear ye! Hear ye! on December 12—Tuesday evening—copies of "The Lantern" will be ready for distribution.

This announcement has been awaited with eagerness by those who have already placed subscriptions, and with as much interest by those who have not. Volume two, Number One of the student literary magazine has been arranged appropriately for the Christmas season. It will contain stories, poems, essays, and book reviews of interest to all.

There is still time to subscribe for the three issues at fifty cents. Sign up at once!

The prize freshman at the University of Minnesota is a youngster, 13 years old, who went through grammar school in five years and high school in two and a half. He's majoring in kindergarten now!

GAFF from the GRIZZLY

Miss (?) Roth, according to the waiters, has one virtue, consistency. She has never been known to come to a meal on time.

Regardless of your age, Marg, we would give odds that the genius would turn out to be half witted.

What a relief to get back to our most excellent cuisine after that awful roast turkey we had on Thanksgiving.

The boys on the Ursinus "Flop and Strangle team" are at each others throats again. "Killer" Bassman, will join the rest of the body slammers as soon as the coach thinks he is strong enough.

From now on "Rube" Levin will wrestle with his mouth. He has given up his animalistic, bone cracking instincts for the more cultured things in life. Here's luck to you, Rube!

It is suggested that "Bobbie" Deen capitalize on his wide co-ed acquaintance and open a matrimonial bureau.

"Babe, I hear that you have taken in a new boarder". "No, it's only a roomer."

The theme song of the week:
 Michael doesn't live here any more.
 We hope the boys in Derr hall won't be sore.
 He took his trunk and moved away the other night;
 Took pajamas, towel and comb, and vanished from sight.
 We hope that his new home will suit him all right,
 'Cause Michael doesn't live here anymore.

Mrs. Carter, in course of illustration at Debating Club meeting: "Now, I'm the government—"

Mr. Carter, interrupting: "I know that!"

Elmer Schmitt, beginning a speech: "Now our friend, Adolph—" Rube Levin: "Your friend, Adolph!"

GRIZZLY GLEANINGS

Recruiting prospective students for a college is a tough racket or at least it tries one's patience to the limit. All those who doubt this statement may profit by practicing the art themselves. We're through.

Home for a joyous Thanksgiving recess, yours truly promptly went to work on a few supposedly bright high school prospects, thus complying with the College's request to boost the name of Ursinus. Needless to say the prospects looked bright when shined up and dressed in their Sunday togs, but never let outside appearances deceive you. "Ersinus? What's that—a city." No, no my little man, you won't do... certainly got off to a bad start.

But often second half rallies are successful, so number two was duly approached. After convincing him that it wasn't his sinus trouble about which I was talking, I promptly left and tried the third prospect. "Oh, that's the ministerial seminary." Ow, dizziness is setting in... maybe I'm wrong, but I thought that one of these intellectual beings might know something.

When the fourth prospect had the (audacity) to ask if we had a football team, yours truly practically turned Grizzly Bear himself and went after the insulting one tooth and nail. The nerve of that guy...but every dark cloud has a silver lining, so we're told, and fortunately my last attempt brought inklings of delight to my downhearted soul.

"Sure, I'd like to come down there. They've got good football teams and I know a bunch of fellows that go there. My dad said that Ursinus was the best small college in the East, and it's reasonable too!"

Was I in ecstasy? Success at last! I knew that everybody wasn't a moron. I was already visualizing the signed dotted line when suddenly:

"But, I don't suppose that I'll be going to any college, because dad can't raise a red cent to send me."

The jolt knocked me clean off the clouds of ecstasy over which I was lightly tripping. I hit bottom with a thud and left the prospect so quickly that he probably thought me extraordinarily rude.

Oh, well, maybe selling magazines isn't quite so tough!

FOUR THREE-DAY TRIPS ON MEN'S DEBATE SCHEDULE

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Men's Debating Club was held last Monday, December 4, at the home of Professor Carter. The topic of discussion was the advisability of government ownership of banks. The meeting was well attended, and, after quite a lengthy discussion on the topic of the evening, refreshments were served by Mrs. Carter.

Plans for the entire season have as yet not been completed, but a schedule has been tentatively arranged by Norman Shollenberger '34, the manager. There will be two questions debated by the club this year: "Resolved, that the essential features of the N. R. A. be adopted as the permanent policy of the U. S. Government", and "Resolved, that the federal government should own and control all banking institutions."

The negative and affirmative teams of each side will make one three-day trip, the affirmative team of the N. R. A. question going to Gettysburg, Franklin and Marshall, and Western Maryland while the negative team on that question will debate at Cedar Crest, Wagner, and Rutgers. The banking question affirmative team will travel to Moravian, Lehigh, and Albright, and this negative team will meet Juniata, Susquehanna, and St. Thomas at these schools.

Negotiations are now under way for a mixed debate, men and women, with Drexel. On January 12, 1934, at 4 p. m. a radio debate over station WCAU will be held with the University of Pennsylvania. The question probably will be: "Resolved, that the Agricultural Adjustment Administration is to the best interests of the farmer." Irving Sutin '34, and H. Allen Cooper '35, will represent Ursinus in this contest. The schedule of home debates has not yet been arranged.

CLUB HEARS MEMBERS ON SEVERAL WORLD PROBLEMS

Talks on a number of world-wide subjects by members made up the program of the recent meeting of the International Relations Club, held in Shreiner hall, Tuesday evening, November 28.

In his talk on "Inflation", Thomas P. Glassmoyer '36, discussed the effect of an inflation policy on international trade, stressing the fact that the disadvantages of such a policy exceed by far the probable benefits. The next report was given by Dorothy Wilfong '35, on the topic "France Again at the Crossroads."

Maude Furk '35, discussed "Mongolia, the Melting Pot", giving a brief outline of the history of that Asiatic province and putting emphasis upon Japan's present attempts to get a foothold there. The final talk of the evening was presented by Edwin Frey '36. In explaining "Canada's Divided Loyalty", he tried to show how some Canadians are supporters of the interests of Great Britain, while others think they should center their attention upon cooperation with the United States. The next meeting was planned for the evening of December 12.

MEN TO DECIDE CHAMPION IN CONTRACT BRIDGE TOURNEY

In order to determine the champions among the men bridge players on the campus, the Y. M. C. A. is planning to sponsor a Contract Bridge Tournament. All men will be eligible to participate in this play. However, because of the nearness of the mid-year examinations, the tourney will probably not get under way before the start of the second semester. Full details, with rules of the contest, will probably be announced shortly by the committee of the Y. which has this matter in charge.

The Tower Window

VERY now and then something arises in our current life that wins the hearts of the people. Out of the myriad of ideas coming to the surface in social consciousness comes one that challenges interest, gets a welcome, and becomes a feature of our common life. Such is the idea of the Christmas Seal that appears almost universally on letters and mail packages at Christmas time. Twenty-five years ago this familiar symbol of health and happiness was altogether unknown, whereas today literally millions of them appear annually in this country to spread cheer and hope for those that are ill.

The idea originated with Einar Høbell, a Danish postal clerk, who conceived the plan of selling a penny decorative stamp to raise money to build a hospital for tubercular children in the city of Copenhagen. Immediately the Danish people purchased enough seals to build the hospital and to provide a chance for health to many children.

Jacob Riis, whom many will remember as one of New York City's great social workers a few decades ago, found one of these bright colored seals on a letter from Denmark, and wrote a magazine article about it. In that way the idea became known in America. How incidentally a great idea came to be embraced by an entire nation! It was in 1904 that the first little Christmas Seal made its way across the Atlantic to Mr. Riis. By 1908 the American Red Cross undertook a nation-wide sale and in that first year more than $135,000 was raised to fight tuberculosis.

Ten years of extensive growth gave such importance to the project that it was taken over for sole management by the National Tuberculosis Association, and since 1919 the international emblem of anti-tuberculosis activity, the double-barred cross, has appeared on the succeeding designs for Christmas Seals. These stamps, which already constitute an interesting collection, may some day be sought as eagerly as rare postage stamps, for they give promise of symbolizing the gradual elimination of tuberculosis from American life which will be hailed as one of the triumphs of civilization.

The National Tuberculosis Association has become organized into state, county and city units by which tuberculosis, which has been so great a menace to health and even to life, can be fought effectively on every front. By the same organization and with the assistance of the United States Public Health Service, the Veterans' Bureau, the United States Bureau of Education, and many local clubs and societies of a civic and religious character, the opportunity to help in the campaign to put down tuberculosis is presented to practically everybody through the sale of Christmas Seals.

The power of this stamp is bringing about a healthier world. It will add to your holiday happiness to make liberal use of the 1933 Christmas Seal. It is one of the most beautiful in design that has been produced.

"Y" CHORUS TO MAKE BOW AT COMMUNION SERVICE

The Y. M. C. A. chorus, under the direction of J. Lynn Barnard, will make its first appearance of the year in connection with the Communion Service, to be held in Bomberger hall on Wednesday evening, December 13.

Among the selections which have been decided upon for this occasion is the "Venite", a musical composition written by Dr. Harry A. Sykes, of Lancaster, Pa. This number has not yet been published, and the chorus considers it an honor to be the second organization ever to present it.

New music has been secured, and engagements are being arranged for the group to sing at several churches in the near future. The first concert will probably be given at Trinity Reformed Church in Collegeville, Reformed Churches in Philadelphia, Allentown, and other communities, the pastors of which are Ursinus alumni, are also arranging for appearances of the Y. M. C. A. Chorus.

FROSH HOCKEY TEAM WINS OVER UPPER CLASS RIVALS

The Freshmen, on December 7th and 8th respectively, showed their superiority by vanquishing both the combined Junior-Senior class team and the Sophomore team. With team work that was not apparent in the other classes, the Frosh kept the ball in their opponents' territory most of the time.

In the Junior-Senior—Freshmen conflict both teams showed many evidences of lack of practice. The "youth" of the first year girls won out by scoring one goal in each period while blanking their "ageing" opponents.

In the second game the yearlings were confident because of their victory the day before. However, the Sophomores put up a nice fight, with long shots and passes from the backfield to their forwards. Though the Sophs tried again and again to score, the three goals made by Sylvia Erdman, Ruth Le Cron, and Dorothy Hendricks, could not be duplicated by the Sophomores. Freshmen customs were removed for a day as a reward for the victory.

The line-ups were as follows:

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. PAUL DISCUSSES ASPECTS OF GOD

Discussions on the "Universality of God", and the "Fatherhood of God" were featured at the meeting of the Brotherhood of Saint Paul held last Thursday evening in the Hendricks Memorial Building of Trinity Reformed Church.

The "Universality of God" was discussed by George Herbert '34, president of the Brotherhood, who presented a subjective interpretation of the topic. George Carvell '36, spoke on the subject, the "Fatherhood of God", citing scriptural references to support his discussion. A discussion by the members on both topics followed.

During the business session of the meeting plans were laid for deputa-tion meetings in the early part of 1934 to Darby, Philadelphia, Boyertown and Birdsboro, Pennsylvania. The following men were admitted to the fellowship of the Brotherhood as honorary members. President George L. Omwake, Dean Whorten A. Kline, Dr. Calvin D. Yost, Professor Franklin I. Sheeder, and Mr. George Ruck, of Philadelphia.

Devotions were in charge of George Herbert '34, and the scripture was read by George Carvell '36; prayer was offered by Paul Shelly '36, and the meeting was concluded with a fellowship circle and sentence prayers by all the members.

DR. BARTHOLOMEW, CHURCH MISSION BOARD HEAD, DIES

On November 27, the Rev. Allen R. Bartholomew, D. D., LL. D., passed away at his home, 7340 Rural Lane, Mount Airy. His early education began in Leighton Academy, and in 1877 he was graduated from the Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church in the United States at Lancaster. In 1902, after twenty-five years of preaching service, Dr. Bartholomew became Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Reformed Church.

He was a masterful leader in every field that he entered, holding many prominent positions throughout his lifetime. Among other services performed, he was president of Eastern Synod, president of General Synod, a member of the American Commission for European Relief, a member of the Commission International Good Will and Justice, and chaplain of the Huguenot Society. His outstanding ability was recognized by Franklin & Marshall College, which awarded him the degrees Master of Arts and Doctor of Divinity; and by Ursinus College, which granted him the degree Doctor of Laws.

Dr. Bartholomew is survived by his widow, Julia Hall Bartholomew, a son, and three daughters. Funeral services were held at Christ Church, Green Street near 15th St., Philadelphia on November 29 at 10 a. m.

GRID SEASON SUCCESSFUL

be pronounced successful. In view of the fact that the material at the beginning of the year was neither experienced nor plentiful, the fact that Coaches McAvoy and Chase produced a comparatively green team good enough to tie the powerful Villanova club in the opening game is an indication of the ability of the Bears. In rapid succession, St. Joseph's, F. and M., and Drexel were conquered with a 7-7 tie with Dickinson intermingling. But lack of reserve strength began to tell on the Grizzlies at this point, and the team didn't have quite enough punch to down the powerful Gettysburg Bullets. Being nosed out by one point, however, was no disgrace, but Ursinus was in a decided slump when Muhlberg bumped them the following week, 3-0.

A revival of the old-time form was exhibited the next week when the Garnet of Swarthmore succumbed by two touchdowns, and then came the big disappointment at Reading on Turkey Day. The small squad was really experiencing physical exhaustion at this point. Four victories, two ties, and three defeats were the results of the nine games played.

Seven Seniors Graduate

Captain Wally Tropp led the Bears into the Thanksgiving Day fray for the last time in his career as a backfield star at the Grizzly institution. Along with him will be graduated six others this June: Shuman, Detwiler, Breisch, Seiple, Sommers, and Bennett. However, if predictions can be taken for the truth, the 1934 Ursinus team should be much stronger than this year's team. Practically the same line will be back next year, while a wealth of backfield material from this year's Frosh team is expected to present itself. At least we might say that if the material is better and the fighting spirit of the Bears of this season is retained on 1934's squad, the Grizzlies will be a tough aggregation for any team to stop.

Table with 3 columns: Name, Position, and Ursinus record. Includes players like Johnson, Breisch, Farias, Rinehart, Grimm, S. Levin, Grenawalt, Bassman, W. Price, Detwiler, Tropp, Albright, and Ursinus.

the 145 division well in hand, with Jaggard as his chief competitor. Al Kravitz seems to be the pick of the unlimited class, while Burk, a newcomer, is making a strong bid for the 175 pound position.

Sammy Levin, Bear football captain for 1934, having varsity experience, will give Benny Bassman, who is a veteran, a fight for the 165 pound post. At 155, Gene Bradford, who wrestled the tail end of last year, will probably grab the starting assignment.

Danny Danehower seems the logical contender at 135, but a whole host of matmen are competing for the 126 pound group. Jack Krause and George Franklin both have varsity experience, and it would simplify matters greatly if Franklin could get down to 118, at which weight he wrestled last year, for the 118 pound division is woefully weak in experienced men.

Home meets are slated with Lafayette and Rutgers, and Coach Wieneke looks forward optimistically toward a successful campaign. The schedule:

- Jan. 12—Brooklyn Poly, away
Jan. 17—Temple, away
Feb. 3—Lafayette, home
Feb. 13—F. and M., away
Feb. 17—Penn, away
Feb. 27—Gettysburg, away
Mar. 3—Rutgers, home.

Leaders For Next Season

Chosen For Three Sports

During the past week three of the athletic teams chose leaders for the next season. Sammy Levin '35, stellar lineman of this year's gridiron outfit, was elected captain of the 1934 aggregation, last Tuesday afternoon. As yet the managers for next year's varsity and freshman elevens have not been announced.

The soccer lettermen chose Russ Fisher, '35, center forward for the past two campaigns, to lead them next season. At the same time, Wilbur Wire '35, was selected manager of next year's team.

Bob McLaughlin '36, a consistent point gatherer this year, will captain the cross country team in 1934, while the manager of the harriers will be Thomas Hepner '35.

DIRECTORS IN FALL MEETING

of workers for their much appreciated action.

The gifts to Ursinus from September 1, 1932 to August 31, 1933 aggregated $72,531.33 an extraordinary sum in a year noted for financial stringency and business unrest. Of this amount $61,531.23 was toward capital assets and $11,018.10 toward current expenses. The most outstanding gift was $47,587, this being the net aggregate of building and loan shares subscribed in favor of the College by alumni in 1926. The shares were held by five different associations, by far the greater part, however, having been paid by the Collegeville Building and Loan Association, the officers of which are all alumni or former students of Ursinus.

The new curriculum comprehended in the Physical Education Group of studies constituted three years ago and the instructional set up provided for it, has been developed to the point where it has received the approval of the State Department of Public Instruction by whom graduates of Ursinus having completed the work of the Group may be granted the special certificate in health and physical education for teaching in the public schools of Pennsylvania.

The Treasurer, E. S. Fretz, presented the report of the auditors which shows total assets, in book value, of $2,760,891.89. The buildings and grounds represent a capital of $1,827,270.79. The College carries insurance against fire and storm in the amount of $1,636,295.01, and casualty insurance for employes in the basic sum of $70,000.

At 12.30 the Board took a recess and repaired to the private dining room in Freeland hall where the members were served a Thanksgiving dinner. The business of the day was finished at the table. The Board adjourned at 2.30 p. m. to meet at the call of the president.

was indirectly brought about by the universities and hospitals established there by the educated nations. Lady Wellington was largely responsible for these latest steps toward modern civilization in India, according to the speaker.

From Bombay she flew by airplane to a small island situated in the midst of a jungle. The inhabitants of this island worship animals. In one of the temples, there is a huge snake which feeds continually upon the masses of bats which fly to and from the temple. Curiously enough, a well educated, modern young woman, Madame Fatima, rules the island.

The return trip from the jungle to the ship, "The Empress of Britain", was likewise made by airplane. As she approached the ship, Dr. Starr expressed the desire to throw an egg on the vessel below. To her surprise the pilot furnished her the egg and hovered low over the ship. In order to save her self respect and the people below, Dr. Starr explained that she was too nervous to carry out her desire.

On the way back to America, Dr. Starr became personally acquainted with George Bernard Shaw, whom she learned to like in spite of his conceitedness. Throughout the Orient, she noticed the rapid increase in colleges and universities offering academic courses.

In closing, Dr. Starr explained the type of work offered at the Woman's Medical College and cordially invited the girls to visit her institution.

It was pleasing to see so many new faces in the cast of "The Firebrand." This is a good omen for the future.

Frosh Begin Practice

Organized practice for the freshman basket-ball team begins on Monday, December 11. For the past two weeks Coach "Swede" Paul has had 22 candidates working out daily but, due to the preparations for "The Firebrand", he has been unable to hold real practice.

James Wharton '34, manager of freshman basket-ball, has announced that the first game will be played with Villanova frosh in the Villavova gym on January 16.

CURTAIN CLUB SCORES HIT

Duke's cousin, unsuccessfully seeks to involve Cellini in a plot to slay the Duke, thus opening the way for the usuper's ascendancy to power.

Act III is again laid in the artist's workshop, where the master and his former model are engaged in a lover's quarrel. Cellini, who has tired of his brief affair with Angela, is impatient to finish his masterpiece, when the thwarted Duchess appears in a rage. Later Ottaviano and his party arrive, Cellini is placed under arrest and is about to be hanged when the Duke enters. There follows an intensely amusing scene, which ends with the exposure of the real culprit, the release of Cellini, and the restoration of Angela to the Duke.

Acting on the Whole Superb

The acting on the whole was superb. Aside from one or two rather weak scenes and the fact that frequent promptings were necessary in certain tense situations, the production on Saturday night was as nearly perfect as one can expect any initial performance to be. Most of the participants in "The Firebrand" would have done credit to any professional troupe. This was especially true of Dolores Quay, who starred as Angela; of Elizabeth Luther, who made a gracious Duchess; of H. Luke Kochenberger, who, as Alessandro, Duke of Florence, did a clever piece of acting; and of Robert Dresch, as Cellini.

Dresch Portrays Difficult Role

The latter played a difficult role with commendable merit. His supporting cast was not always as helpful as it might have been in difficult situations, which probably helped to contribute to his occasional lack of ease. Nevertheless Mr. Dresch scored a hit in his interpretation of the Villainous but artful Cellini.

James Russo, as Ottaviano, showed real ability, as did Sara Mary Ouderkirk in the part of Emilia. Esther Lightner, as Beatrice, Angela's mother, did an excellent piece of character portrayal; and William Evans, as Ascanio, played the lackey's part to perfection.

Mario Farias, as Pier Landi, Cellini's friend, seemed a bit too studied in his lines and gestures, but showed up well in the supporting cast. Other participants included Everett Danehower as Polverino, favorite of the Duke; Elizabeth Krusen and Sara Kitchen, as Ladies of the Court; Donald Ohl, Joseph Russo, Irving Rappoport and Robert Deen, as Gentlemen of the Court and Soldiers of the Duchy of Florence; and Frank Reynolds as Hangman.

The two scenes in Act II occur at the royal palace on the outskirts of the city. Here many amusing situations arise, in which the Duke and the Duchess alike are deprived of the satisfaction of enjoying their illicit loves. Cellini, who commits another murder as a part of the day's routine, finally recovers Angela and returns to the city. Meanwhile Ottaviano treacherously accuses Cellini of a plot against the Duke's life.

Lighting Very Effective

The scenic and lighting effects were very well executed, and added materially to the effectiveness of several scenes, especially in the second act.

The production as a whole was a tribute to the untiring efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald S. Sibbald, who have given unstintingly of their time and ability in advancing the best interests of the Curtain Club.

The personnel of the committees responsible for various aspects of the work behind the scenes were: General chairman, Dolores Quay; costumes, Mildred Fox; lights, George Franklin; stage, William T. Hallett; tickets and programs, David Stephenson, Naomi Clark, Marion Blew, Richard Shaffer; property, Dorothy Patterson, Silvia Erdman, Anne Grimm, Ruth Burrows, Margaret Jenkins; prompter, Dorothea Wieand.

Thomas Burns '37, entertained between the acts with a repertoire of songs which were appreciated by all. He was accompanied by Walter Kelly '37.

"Research has shown that changes made in government and in industry as a result of business troubles are often lasting when prosperity returns. To get the support of the people for any important program is difficult to accomplish quickly. It will be necessary to sacrifice either a certain amount of liberalism or effective action of the government."

sity soccer and track teams, having won his letter in both of these sports when only a sophomore. He is also one of the junior managers of basketball, and secretary-treasurer of the Varsity Club.

R. Blair Hunter, the business manager, is from Spring City. He prepared for Ursinus at Spring City High School and at the Hill School, and is now a member of the Business Administration Group. On the campus, he has not heretofore been connected with any of the literary publications, his outside activities being mainly those of the class itself. At present he is treasurer of the junior class and has served on many of the various class committees. He is also one of the junior managers of baseball, and was a member of the wrestling squad in his freshman year but was forced to drop this activity because of an injury.

Actual work for these men on the 1935 "Ruby" will not begin until the spring of the coming year. In the meantime they expect to acquaint themselves with the technical phases of year book production and to consider the various contracts that must be given out by the "Ruby." Neither has appointed anyone to his staff as yet, and it is not expected that the selection of the remaining staff personnel will be made until late in the second semester.
