Ursinus and Penn Broadcast Debate

First Of Series Of Radio Debates
Which Will Be Conducted By University of Penna.

RESULTS ANNOUNCED LATER

In the first of a series of radio debates to be given over station WCAU, Ursinus College, represented by H. Allen Cooper '35, and Irving E. Sutin '34, met the University of Pennsylvania last Saturday afternoon, January 13. The question under discussion was "Resolved, that the Agricultural Adjustment Administration is economically sound." This debate had originally been scheduled for Friday afternoon but later in the week was changed to Saturday.

H. Allen Cooper '35, began the debate by presenting the facts for the affirmative side, listing the points which would be considered. The first speaker for the negative side was Edward Ahearn, Jr. of U. of P., who proceeded to outline the fallacies of the A. A. A. Following the second constructive speech for the affirmative delivered by Irving E. Sutin '34, William Hastings of U. of P. continued Ahearn's line of argument and finished with the negative rebuttal. Cooper gave the rebuttal for Ursinus.

This series of debates, conducted by the University of Pennsylvania, is the second in which Ursinus has participated. Last year the College, represented by H. Ober Hess '33, and Jesse G. Heiges '35, won by a vote of the radio audience. The decision is determined by the radio audience, and will be published in the next issue of the Weekly.

Hall Chemical Society to Hear Dr. R. Sturgis

Will Review Results of Science During The Past Year

BEARDWOOD TO SPEAK IN APR.

Dr. Russell D. Sturgis, the head of the Department of Chemistry of Ursinus College, will speak on "Advances or Outstanding Contributions in Chemistry During 1933" at the meeting of the Hall Chemical Society to be held tonight, January 15, at 8:00 o'clock. The meeting, to which all persons are invited, will be held in one of the classrooms of the Science building.

Dr. Sturgis will endeavor to illustrate the progress that has been made during the past year not only in the field of pure chemistry but in the industrial field as well. One advance to be treated is the important discovery of heavy water. Because the entire lecture will be non-technical it will be of practical interest to all who attend.

Dr. Matthew Beardwood, who had formerly been scheduled to give the lecture at the January meeting, will talk at the April meeting of the society.

Faculty And Students Attend Pol-Social Science Conference

The American Academy of Political and Social Science was host at a conference at which the topic "Progress Toward National Recovery" was discussed. There were six sessions of the conference held Friday, January 5, and Saturday, January 6.

The following topics were discussed: "The Nature and Purposes of the Recovery Movement," "The New Relations Between Business and Government," "Some Aspects of National Recovery," "The Changing Status of Labor," "Recovery and the Consumer," and "Next Steps in Recovery."

At each session the speakers were men outstanding in fields pertaining to that subject, and included business heads, members of college faculties, and men holding state and national positions.

Several faculty members and students of Ursinus College attended some or all of the sessions of the conference.

NEXT ISSUE FEB. 5

This will be the last issue of the Weekly for the current semester. The next two issues will be discontinued and there will not be a comic issue this year because of the weakened financial condition of the Weekly. The next issue will appear on Monday, February 5.

SECOND CONFERENCE ON "WAR"

A college guidance conference will be sponsored by the College Club, the Philadelphia branch of the American Association of University Women, January 19-20. On January 24-25 there will be a meeting, at the College Club, of the committee on the "Cause and Cure of War" from the eastern district of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Elizabeth B. White will represent Ursinus at both of these conferences. Miss Florence Benjamin '30 will represent Ursinus alumnae at the former conference.

The program for the college guidance conference may be summarized briefly as follows:

These will be the main subjects for consideration. Minor topics and addresses will be presented during both days.

V. M. DISCUSSION GROUPS ENTERTAINED AT DINNER

The freshman discussion groups of Professors Bone, Sheeder and Witmer concluded the first semester with their second annual banquet, Thursday evening, January 11, in Freeland dining hall. About twenty persons, including students and leaders, attended. Norman Shollenberger '34, president of the Y. M. C. A., presided at the banquet. One student representative from each group made a brief speech concerning the progress his group had made. Prof. Bone, Prof. Witmer, and Rev. John Lentz, college pastor, also gave short talks. A desire was expressed to continue the meetings next semester. Since this is a new idea a committee was appointed to consider the advisability of the matter.

New Method of Conducting Programs Used by I. R. C.

A new method of conducting the programs was instituted by the International Relations Club at its latest meeting held last Tuesday evening, January 9. Contrary to the former policy of having a number of members present reports on several unrelated topics, the club will consider only one important subject at each meeting. After each phase of that particular subject has been presented by the various speakers, a general discussion will take place in which every one may offer opinions or ask questions.

Russian affairs constituted the program of the last meeting of the group. Jesse Heiges '35, after introducing the subject, outlined the issues to be discussed. These were the form of government, the foreign policy, economic conditions, etc.

At Recent Meeting

TO DISCLOSE PLANS LATER

Dr. Willard P. Uphaus, formerly a member of Yale Divinity School, and for some time actively engaged in character education, is cooperating with a faculty-student group on Ursinus campus in an effort to discover methods of solving vital educational problems. The personnel of the committee as now constituted includes: Professors Tyson, Tower, Barnard, White, Brownback, Manning, Sheeder, Misses Strickland, Francis, Ludwig, Black; Messers Tropp, Shaffo, Glassmoyer, Eugene Shelley.

A method is now being devised for securing student reaction to a list of problems for possible investigation. More detailed announcements concerning the enterprise will be forthcoming in the near future.

Seniors Consider Programs For Last Class Week-end

Several plans for the Senior "Week-End" were discussed and a few business matters were attended to at a meeting of the Senior class, Monday noon, January 8, in Bomberger hall.

Although nothing of any definite nature was decided upon programs presented by other colleges were suggested. Under consideration of the class are a play, a musical review and the customary Senior ball. At a meeting in the near future final plans are to be made regarding them.

In conclusion an informal discussion was held in connection with compensating James Wharton, editor-in-chief of the Ruby, and Irving Sutin, business manager, for their work on the Senior publication. However this business was deferred for definite action until a later date.

SOPH HOP SCHEDULED FOR TUESDAY, JANUARY 30

The sophomore class will hold its first social event, the Soph Hop, Tuesday night, January 30, from 8:00 to 12:00 p. m.

Thus far the committee has not made public any of its plans, but arrangements are being made to secure a good orchestra. The tickets for the dance will be two dollars.

The committee in charge of the affair includes Mildred Peterman, Betty Evans, Mildred Godshall, Albert Gaumer, George Fissel, and Gordon Spangler.

ACTIVITIES DEFERRED

During the week of examinations, January 18 to 25 inclusive, extra curricular activities will be suspended.

This is to give students additional time for preparation of exams. There will be no "Y" meetings, nor Vesper services until the beginning of the second semester.

Humorous Comedy Presented by "Y"

Large Audience Witnesses One-
Act Comedy of Kirkpatrick
Last Wed. Nite

CAST WAS WELL-CHOSEN

"The Woman Who Understood Men", the one-act comedy by John Kirkpatrick was presented to a large audience of Ursinus students, Wednesday evening, January 10, in Bomberger hall.

The comedy took place in the living room of the Carter home. The action of the play centered about the mother who understood men. Through the catty gossip of a friend her daughter becomes very suspicious of the conduct of her fiance and vows never to see him again. Her mother gives some advice, which may have solved the problem in her youth, but which almost results in tragedy for the daughter because of the effects it has on the fiance. Through a clever turn of circumstances we find the mother accepting her daughter's advice in order to retain her husband.

Betty Frost '37, well portrayed the role of Judy Carter, the attractive, very-much-in-love daughter who suddenly finds reason to doubt the devotion of the man to whom she is engaged.

A fine interpretation of the character of the fiance was given by

FROSH OPEN SEASON WITH VILLANOVA TOMORROW NIGHT

The freshman basketball team will open their season tomorrow night when they meet the Villanova frosh at Villanova. Coach Paul has been holding practices since football season ended and is quoted as saying that although he does not expect too much from his team in the first game "they will be in there with plenty of fight."

The game is scheduled to be played immediately before the varsity tilt in the Villanova gymnasium.

The squad that will make the trip consists of the following: Forwards—Fisk, Lauer, Bachman, Fenimore, Gaumer, and Fenstermacher; guards—Quay, Pancoast, Costello, Worster, Edwards, and Tworzydlo; centers—Wildonger, Petersen, and Bassler.

Two Dance Dates Granted At Student Act. Council

After a long discussion concerning the dates for the Soph Hop and the Lorelei dance, the Council on Student Activities, at its meeting on Tuesday, January 9, decided to grant the evening of January 30 to the sophomore class for its first social affair, and the evening of February 16 to the combined Student Councils for the annual Lorelei dance.

A lecture accompanied by slide illustrations on the subject of "Birds" was scheduled for Friday evening, January 12, from 6:30 to 7:30 p. m. This event was cancelled sometime later.

The Curtain Club also presented a petition for a tentative night in February at which time they wish to give three one-act plays.

Further business discussions included the approval of a representative on the Council from the Lantern executive staff, and the consent to the selection of Rec hall hosts and hostesses from the entire student body instead of limiting the selection to the Council members.

The Weekly wishes to extend its sincerest sympathy to Naomi Clark and Jesse Heiges because of their recent bereavement.

Grizzly Basketeers Continue
Losing Streak as Bullets
Triumph Easily

VILLANOVA AWAY TUESDAY

Horse Chase's Grizzly basketeers continued their losing streak as they went down to defeat Saturday night at the hands of a strong, fast Gettysburg quintet. The Bullets held their undefeated pace with an easy 33-14 triumph over the Bears before a capacity throng of spectators.

The Battlefield boys, back again with their full strength of last season, led throughout the game. The Orange and Blue clan got away to a fast start by piling up a 9 point lead early in the first period. The Bears were trailing at the short end of a 10-17 score at half-time. Again in the third quarter they pulled up to within seven points of their foes but were unable to make any substantial gain thereafter and were completely shut out in the last ten minutes as the Gettysburg contingent pulled far in front.

"Mack" McMillan, lanky senior guard, led the Bullet offensive with a total of 11 points, followed closely by Kitzmiller with 9 tallies. The scoring for the Grizzlies was well scattered, Calvert at the top of the list with five markers to his credit.

Despite frequent shifts in his lineup, Coach Chase was unable to get a combination which looked formidable to the pace setters.

As a result of Saturday's tilt Ursinus is deadlocked with Drexel for the cellar position, while Gettysburg continues in first place in the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference and are threatening to repeat last year's performance by again annexing the title.

The Bears meet strong opposition again when they clash with Villanova Tuesday evening on the enemy's court. Although this is not a conference game, it promises to be a good fracas.

Women's Debating Club Accepts New Members

Anna Brooks and Alice Richard Speak
On Banking Question

ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION

The question of governmental ownership of banks, and the acceptance of new upper class members into the Women's Debating Club constituted the important considerations at a lengthy program, Monday evening, in the girls' day study.

Upon name-calling the women who had received a unanimous vote at a previous meeting took the oath of duty and requirements offered by the president, Sara Brown '34. Those who were given formal membership were Anna Brooks '34, Sylvia Liverant '34, Dorothy O'Brien '35, Nancy Pugh '36, and Alice Richard '35.

A discussion on the advisability of governmental ownership and control of all banking institutions centralized the program. Anna Brooks '34, argued affirmatively by showing that functionally all banking institutions are similar, in that they all serve the same purpose for depositors. She pointed out that forty-eight states and one federal system, running in competition with each other surely cannot be to the best advantage. In summation, she stressed that uniformity of all systems is inevitable.

The negative values were presented by Alice Richard '35, who spoke of the interdependence of banking and industry.

Editorial Comment

FRESHMEN-SORORITIES-FRATERNITIES

The time for inviting freshmen to join sororities and fraternities is near at hand. It is a time of the year when freshmen know they are being critically analyzed as to "type", present accomplishments, and future possibilities,—socially, scholastically, and athletically. Although this analysis has been continuing since the day they entered college the freshmen are usually not fully aware of it until rushing period.

When the time designated for rushing is past, a selective process ensues after which some of the members of the freshmen class are asked to join what seems to them such an important part of college life. Often they join because their best friends are doing the same thing and they are afraid they may not be given another opportunity to choose.

Perhaps it would be well for each freshman to consider thoroughly the following points before "making the leap."

1. What do I know of this organization?
2. Am I financially able to join?
3. Will I "fit" in this group?
4. Will it be of any value to me?

In reference to the first question, there may be some difficulty in acquiring a knowledge of the organization. Fraternities and sororities are rather reticent at this time, and usually one does not know the aims of the society until after he has been accepted as a member.

The second point should well be considered by the average student whose financial obligations are heavy enough without assuming additional ones.

The third is one of the most important of the four questions, and each freshman should be altogether certain that his answer is in the affirmative or he should postpone uniting with that organization.

Last but not least, the student should inquire of himself whether or not the acceptance to membership will be of any actual benefit in his attempts to secure an education.

CHAPEL SPEAKERS

What has happened to our chapel speakers? So far this year we have had none. Last year we had the privilege of listening to several notable men. Although the entire student body was not present when a speaker appeared on the program, most of the men and women attended such previously announced exercises. Supplying interesting, well-informed chapel speakers was one method of broadening the students' experience, a necessity in the process of education. Certainly a liberal arts college should not confine its presentation of educational material to the classroom.

It is very obvious to the person who attends chapel that there is something lacking in that service, which instead of being a period of conscious devotion is one of utter indifference. This is not the fault of one person or one group, but, if no one can immediately specify what is wrong, it should at least be his desire to remedy the situation in any possible way.

Recently, a student group has been working on the problem of chapel improvement. We don't know how much they have accomplished but we might suggest that the administrative board cooperate with this group in endeavoring to vary the usual service by occasionally securing worth-while speakers.

RUSHING SEASON HERE AGAIN

Much has been written by college editors on the subject of fraternity rushing within the past few months, therefore we do not think it would be amiss to say a word about the situation as it exists on the Ursinus campus, especially since the rushing season is so close at hand.

As in former years the rushing season does not begin until the first week of the second semester. However, within the past few months the rules have been revised by the Inter-Fraternity Council and one important change has been made, namely the holding of an open night. This open night will be held on the last night of the rushing period and freshmen will be permitted to attend as many parties as they have invitations. The change has been made to eliminate the obvious advantages that the fraternity which draws the last night has over the other fraternities.

We think this innovation will work to the advantage of each group and that more orderly rushing will result. It is to be hoped that each fraternity will observe all the rules laid down by the Inter-Fraternity Council and that high pressure methods will be unheard of. Without a doubt the fraternities on our campus have a much more orderly rushing season than most other colleges and universities have. Let us determine to perpetuate this tradition!

"SHORT STORIES" TOPIC OF ENG. CLUB MEETING

A program consisting of reports on various collections of short stories will be presented at the English Club meeting this evening in Shreiner hall. The program will be in charge of the president, Joyce Strickland '34.

Reports will be given by Sara Brown '34, Evelyn Hoover '35, and Ruth Burrowes '35. The collection of short stories for discussion are those written by Dorothy Parker, O'Henry, and O'Brien. After the topics have been presented there will be open discussion by the group. Dr. Homer Smith will conclude the meeting with a brief talk.

GAFF from the GRIZZLY

All Ursinus has unanimously agreed that a moratorium should be declared on "I'll Be Faithful".

History 9 has found two eloquent orators recently in the personages of "Moon" Turner and "Little Caesar" Hershey. The former was deftly pointing out the virtues of his old flame, Polly Gamy, while we understand Buster was very thick with Dorothy Dix (the hoo-man tarian) before coming to Ursinus.

Jonathan Edwards Straub later blast forth with a voluminous sermon against the evils of hard drink and cheap liquor prices in the good old days. That's O. K., Straubie, they're high enough now.

We've been suspicious of that sausage (er somethin) we had the other noon ever since we lamped Leshner's new canine find running around the kitchen.

The pumphouse squadron is making a drive for new members during 1934; send all applications to Hermie, Flossie, or Annie.

It is suggested that the eggs be dropped from the breakfast menu during exams,—after all we'd like to get a few good marks.

NEW BOOKS ACQUIRED BY COLLEGE LIBRARY

"Authors Today And Yesterday" by Stanley J. Kunitz has been purchased by the College library. This book is a companion volume to "Living Authors." The new book "contains biographical sketches of three hundred and twenty authors whose books have appeared since 1900. The sketches are longer than those of the previous volume and are accompanied by references for further study, the percentage of foreign authors is larger, and there is more autobiographical material."

Some new history books have also been added to those already in the library. They are as follows:—"Mesopotamia and Origins", Speiser; "Russia and Asia", Lobanov-Rostovsky, "Germany and Her Third Reich", Hoover; "The Dawn of Conscience", Breasted; "Hitler's Reich", Armstrong; "History of the United States During Administrations of Thomas Jefferson and James Madison", Adams.

"A Lantern In Her Hand" by Bess Streeter Aldrich is the only fiction book acquired.

The International Relations books reviewed at an earlier date in the Weekly have been placed on the desk in the reading room of the library and can now be secured for reference.

Dickinson students are no longer debating the relative merits of knowledge and eyesight. New lights have been put in their library.

THE MAIL BOX

To the Editor of the Weekly:

During the past several months strange dishes disguised as food have been on tap in our dining rooms. Silence may be golden but we feel that these indignities have reached the saturation point. It is our belief that the quality of the food is up to par, but the quaint methods of preparation render it unfit for human consumption.

The examples we could cite are legion, but here are just a few. Recall, however painful it may be, the recent offering of fried potatoes, raw fried as the steward called them. Some were raw, some were fried, some were burnt, and the whole dish was thoroughly, even excessively lubricated. On the day in question why were not the members of the administration served the same meal? We would also like to be so curious as to inquire where the indigestible sauer kraut is obtained? Who can forget the delectable fried oysters? A large portion of them were raw, but at least the bread crumbs had been exposed to the fire. Who ever heard of serving rare pork? Besides being highly unpalatable, we all are running the risk of contracting trichinosis.

In addition to these specific instances, we would like to know why the menu consists so largely of starches? Starches are a fine thing, but too much is quite enough. We all have a chance of having the livers of the century. Is it really such an insurmountable task to plan a menu that has some degree of balance in it?

We all realize that times are hard, but they are being made a lot harder for a great number of students because of the extra expense for food outside the dining room. We would like to suggest that an intelligent survey of the situation be made, especially with a view to eliminating unnecessary overhead.

COUNCILS MAKE RULES FOR FRESHMAN RUSHING PERIODS

Inter-Sorority Rules
Rushing season was the main topic of discussion at the Inter-Sorority Council meeting held on January 12 in the recreation room of the library.

The rushing season will be from January 31 to February 14. The first week will be kept for personal rushing with formal rushing starting on February 7. This year the sororities will each be limited to two rushing parties.

Changes in rushing rules were made to eliminate any interference with the academic work of the freshmen.

Inter-Fraternity Rules
The members of the Inter-Fraternity Council drew lots at their recent meeting to decide the various dates for the separate parties of the individual fraternities.

The dates thus determined are as follows: Zeta Chi, Wednesday evening, January 31, Alpha Phi Epsilon, Thursday evening, February 1; Sigma Rho Lambda, Friday evening, February 2; Demas, Saturday evening, February 3; and Beta Sigma Lambda, Sunday evening, February 4.

The Council also decided that rushing season will commence on the morning of January 31.

A co-ed at Southwestern University went to the dean's office to borrow a nickle for a phone call and told the secretary to add it to the tuition bill.

PROGRAM PRESENTED AT ROYERSFORD BY Y. W.

The Deputations Committee of the Y. W. C. A. took charge of a Tri-Hi-Y meeting at Royersford, Monday evening, January 8.

Sarah Helen Keyser '36 gave a short talk on "World Peace", which was supplemented by a discussion of "Christ and His Leadership as The Prince of Peace" by Lyndell Reber '36. The hymn "God Send Us Men" was sung by Marion Hageman '34, followed by the story of "The Sacred Flame" read by Dorothy Witmer '37.

This is the second of a series of trips which are being made by this committee to high school Tri-Hi-Y's in the vicinity of Collegeville. The previous one was at Lansdale, December 7, and consisted in the presentation of a Christmas program.

WOMEN'S STUDENT COUNCIL PLANS REVISION OF RULES

At the weekly meeting of the Women's Student Government Association held on Monday afternoon, January 8, revision of the Student Council rule book was started. Information concerning rules for girls is being sought by the council from various other co-educational colleges in this part of the United States and comparison between their rules and Ursinus rules will be made.

Plans for the Lorelei dance were formulated and the date set for the affair was February 16. The committee will be selected by Mildred Fox '35 and Robert Bennett '34.

Luckies

Reach you fully packed

THE TOBACCO

DOES NOT SPILL OUT

Good tobaccos... real good tobaccos... that's the reason for Lucky Strike's fine, smooth quality. We use only the center leaves of the finest Turkish and domestic tobacco plants. Not the top leaves—because those are under-developed. Not the bottom leaves—because those are inferior in quality. We use only the center leaves—because these are the mildest leaves—fully ripe for perfect smoking. Only these choice tobaccos are used to make Luckies—so round, so firm, so fully packed—and no loose ends to spill out. That's why Luckies are always mild and smooth. That's why always "Luckies please". And don't forget—"It's toasted"—for throat protection—for finer taste.

GRIZZLY GLEANINGS

Menageries may come and menageries may go, but never in the history of Christendom has there been such a collection of rare specimens as there are at present in the House of Derr, one of the dormitories at our local institution. Uncle Joe Snoopenfindit, world-wide naturalist and ardent fancier of queer things, recently made a tour of the campus and among his memories we may find the following comments about Ursinus' greatest exhibit:

"The noble House of Derr contains every imaginable specimen under the sun, from the screaming Bald Eagle of the third floor (front) to the lowly, pestering Goon, of the third floor (side). The Eagle is one of the hall's oldest residents and usually gawks about on its perch until the wee hours of the morning, while the Goon is one of the latest creations of the menagerie but is such a pest that the zoo guards have threatened to lock this nuisance up in the pumphouse for a belated period of time.

After reading Uncle Joe's account of Derr's menagerie, we might extend the invitation to anyone interested to come up and view King Von Dresch's collection some time. Shad No. 1, the hall operator, will gladly make all arrangements to suit the visitors.

These major issues as outlined by the president were then presented briefly by Jesse Heiges '35, Dorothy Horne '35, Martha Moore '34, and Kermit Harbaugh '36. Following each speaker a general discussion ensued at which time the other members of the club expressed their views.

DEBATING TRIPS PLANNED

Moravian, Lehigh, and Albright, and the negative team going to Juniata, Susquehanna, and St. Thomas.

A treat is in store for Ursinus students on Monday evening, February 5, when a practice debate between the affirmative and negative teams of both questions will take place. Allan Cooper '35, and Elmer Schmidt '36, will uphold the affirmative side of the banking question while Thomas Beddow '36, Abe Lipkin '37, and Paul Shelly '36, will defend the negative side. The affirmative team of the N. R. A. question will consist of Jesse Heiges '35, Thomas Glassmoyer '36, and Kermit Harbaugh '36. Dwight Gregory '34, Irvin Sutin '34, Rubin Levin '36, and Clyde Straub '35, will comprise the negative team. The Oregon plan will be used.

business. She portrayed a clear picture of the place of politics in banking, if under governmental control, by comparing it with our present postal system. In connection with one of her final statements, "Banks cannot return to their former status until business does," Miss Richard again stressed the close interconnection of banks and business and predicted their simultaneous revival.

A round-table discussion, in which almost every member of the club gave a contribution, brought the meeting to a close.

It means something

..that Chesterfield has a modern up-to-date Tobacco Factory in far-off historic Smyrna

So important is the handling of Turkish tobacco in making Chesterfield cigarettes that Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., maintains this specially equipped plant right in the heart of the famous Smyrna tobacco section.

It is the largest and most modern tobacco factory in the Near East.

Turkish tobacco, you know, is the best "seasoning" there is for cigarettes. At all times Chesterfield has in storage—at this plant and in America—about 350,000 bales of the right kinds of Turkish tobacco.
