A NEW BRIGHTENER FOR YULETIDE

A new poinsettia hybrid called the Annette Hegg, receives the greenhouse attention of Mrs. S. A. Hodge, who helped grow the variety at E. Burnett's greenhouse. Developed in time for Christmas bloom from early cuttings in August, the new red and white flower variety is an improved version of the conventional Paul Mikkelson type of pink, red and white bloom which is also being grown for the Yuletide market. — (Courier photo).

Strong Quake Shakes Peru

LIMA (Reuter) — A strong earthquake rocked northern Peru and southern Ecuador for 40 seconds Wednesday night, causing panic and destruction in the northern cities of Tumbes and Sullana, the Peruvian Geophysical Institute announced.

No official information on damage or victims was immediately available because communications with the north of Peru were cut off.

The quake measured 7.7 on the open-ended Richter scale, only slightly less powerful than the earthquake of May 31, which devastated much of north-central Peru and killed an estimated 70,000 people.

The institute said that an earthquake of 7.5 on the Richter scale would cause "certain damage in an area up to 120 miles from the epicentre," which it located in the Bay of Quayaquil, 50 miles north of Tumbes.

Tumbes, the city most affected by the quake, has a population of 50,000.

"There has been destruction in Tumbes, Sullana, Talara and other towns," the institute said. In Washington, the National Earthquake Centre reported earlier that an earthquake, probably centred in a remote mountain area about 275 miles southwest of Quito, was recorded at 11:35 p.m. EST Wednesday night.

The quake last May 31 hit central Peru's coastal and mountainous Andean regions and registered 7.9. It was the worst in Peru's history. Besides killing 70,000 it left 500,000 homeless and caused an estimated $500 million damage. Its epicentre was about 350 miles south of Wednesday's quake.

MAYBE IT'LL BEE A REEL TEST

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP) — There's going to be a spelling contest in March for some 80,000 children in schools in central Illinois.

A news release announcing the contest called it a "speeling" bee.

Acid Spill Probed

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (CP) — Tests were begun today to determine the damage caused by the spill Wednesday of an undetermined amount of highly-corrosive sulphuric acid into the Pickering River following the derailment of a Canadian Pacific Railway freight train.

Saigon Offers POW Trade

PARIS (AP) — The South Vietnamese government offered today to release all its North Vietnamese prisoners-of-war immediately in exchange for all U.S. and other foreign prisoners held by the Communists and all South Vietnamese POWs held in North Vietnam, Laos or Cambodia.

Ambassador Pham Dang Lam of South Vietnam made the proposal at the weekly session of the Vietnam peace talks.

U.S. Ambassador David K. E. Bruce supported the South Vietnamese offer and proposed that daily talks start Friday with the Communist side to arrange procedures for the exchange.

Although the U.S. command in Saigon says 1,434 American servicemen are listed as missing or captured in Indochina, the Pentagon on Nov. 24 reported 459 were known to have been captured, including 378 in North Vietnam, 78 in South Vietnam and three in Laos.

Investigators from the Ontario Water Resources Commission and the department of lands and forests were testing the water and fish from the river.

Thirteen cars of the 46-car train left the track in the derailment, CP Rail officials said. Each of the cars has a capacity of 100 tons.

An official of the OWR said at least three of the cars were ripped open, spilling sulphuric acid into the river.

The train, en route to Hamilton from the Canadian Industries Ltd. plant at Copper Cliff, Ont., was derailed about 46 miles southeast of Sudbury.

No reason for the derailment has been given, and no injuries resulted.

Rescued strike orders were the United Transportation Union, the Brotherhood of Maintenance Way and the Hotel, Restaurant and Bartenders International, which represents dining car employees.

"We expect that the fourth union also will comply with the law," said Ziegler.

Rescinding strike orders were the United Transportation Union, the Brotherhood of Maintenance Way and the Hotel, Restaurant and Bartenders International, which represents dining car employees.

Senate Report On Mass Media Generally Greeted Favorably

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Publishers and broadcasters Wednesday had praise in general for the report of the Senate committee on the mass media but balked at some criticisms that touched them individually.

Reaction among publishers to the committee's call for a press council was largely lukewarm or outright opposed. The report said a watchdog council, to promote higher standards of journalism, should be formed by publishers, editors and reporters, without government participation.

Spokesmen for the Canadian Association of Broadcasters and the Radio-Television News Directors Association of Canada defended the quality of their members' news reporting.

Reader's Digest Association Canada Ltd. said it is confident that the government will not accept the committee's recommendation that special treatment for the Canadian editions of Reader's Digest and Time magazine be stopped.

The Saint John Telegraph-Journal today carried on its front page a statement signed by Publisher Ralph Costello, saying the committee's report contains false statements about the evening Times-Globe, which he also publishes.

The report calls Nova Scotia and New Brunswick "journalistic disaster areas."

The Halifax Chronicle-Herald, which with the Halifax Mail-Star is singled out for "uncaring, lazy journalism," says in an editorial the report contains "a harsh, unfair, unsubstantiated and often vicious attack" on the two newspapers.

Fred Auger, president of the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers' Association and publisher of the Vancouver Province, said it is encouraging "to see the committee telling our readers that newspapers have generally improved in the last five years and remain the least-dispensable medium over the long term."

Miner Lucky For 3rd Time

ANJEAN, W. Va. (AP) — After a 24-hour entombment by a coal mine rockfall, Loren Hinkle accepted brief medical care, then headed home for a shower.

Rescue crews who inched their way through 30 feet of rubble to Hinkle, 43, also recovered the body of one of his companions Wednesday.

A search continued for a third man, Charlie Pitsenbarger, 32, whose fate was unknown.

Covered with coal dust but chipper, Hinkle—who in the past had escaped death in a mine fire and another cave-in—embraced his wife at the mine entrance, received first aid at a nearby hospital, then went home.

Rescuers said he calmly took a nap as they drove their way toward the corridor where he was imprisoned, using first a 25-ton digging machine and finally picks and shovels.

Heavy Rains Hit East Australia

BRISBANE (Reuter) — Floods isolated dozens of towns in central and southern Queensland Wednesday as torrential rains lashed Australia's eastern coast for the third consecutive day. Some areas recorded 16 inches of rain in one of the heaviest rainfalls in years. The rain broke a five-year drought in eastern Queensland.

Cross Tries Erasing Nightmare By Dreams Of Swiss Christmas

LONDON (CP) — James (Jasper) Cross is dreaming of a Swiss Christmas and a long holiday before he returns to government duties which, by accident, had plunged him into "the most terrible night" of his life.

The British diplomat, seeking to erase some of the nightmare of his 60-day Montreal ordeal, will be leaving with his wife shortly for Bern, Switzerland, for a Christmas celebration with British Ambassador Eric Midgley.

After several months of leave, he will take up a trade ministry appointment in London, possibly one day returning to Canada but

NEWS IN A MINUTE

Much Alberta Meat 'Not Inspected'
EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta Veterinary Association said today about 20 per cent of the meat consumed by Albertans has not been inspected for disease. This meat, the association said, comes from animals slaughtered without sanitary inspection, "sometimes in facilities that fail to meet the most rudimentary standards for the production of safe human food."

Cost-Of-Living Issue 'No Bar To GM Pact'
TORONTO (CP) — Leonard Woodcock, international president of the United Auto Workers, said today the union would not let the issue of cost-of-living allowances prevent a return to work once Canadian auto workers achieve basic wage parity with their counterparts in the United States.

Giant Fireball Blasts Off In Missouri
NEW HAVEN, Mo. — A thunderous explosion ripped a gas pipeline near this small Missouri town, and a giant fireball from the blast was seen as far as Kansas City 200 miles away. Seven persons were injured.

Trains In U.S. Now Halted At Red Light

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking trainmen paralysed the United States railway system today although the ranks of the walkout showed signs of breaking in the first few hours.

Still, hundreds of thousands of suburban commuters had to find other ways to work and freight was stalled while three of four unions in the 500,000-man strike said they were cancelling their strike orders.

The 200,000-member Brotherhood of Railway Clerks held out, saying nothing despite congressional and court bans on the strike, and a plea from President Nixon to stay on the job.

Spot checks showed members of the other three unions were not crossing the clerks' picket lines.

Overland passenger trains sat in Los Angeles terminals, nothing was happening with the Southern Pacific in Arizona and in Chicago 140,000 commuter switched to cars and buses for a way to work.

As for the clerks, their headquarters said an announcement of some sort would be made sometime later in the day.

A first indicator of the economic consequences of the strike was seen in West Virginia where 800 coal miners were turned away because of a coal car shortage. Spokesmen for the industry in the state said 1,350 mines would be shut down by midnight Friday night if the strike continues. Coal is fuel for heat and electricity in the country's urban centres.

At the White House, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler expressed optimism the clerks would join the three other unions in ordering their men back to work.

"We expect that the fourth union also will comply with the law," said Ziegler.

Rescinding strike orders were the United Transportation Union, the Brotherhood of Maintenance Way and the Hotel, Restaurant and Bartenders International, which represents dining car employees.

Steel Union Wins Workers Votes At Brenda Mines

The United Steelworkers of America were expected to be named bargaining agent for nearly 300 employees of Brenda Mines Ltd. today.

A certification vote aimed at determining the certified bargaining agent was conducted Nov. 17 and 18 and the ballots counted Wednesday.

A spokesman for the United Steelworkers said the vote was 220 to 61 in favor of his union and he expects this will result in certification by a government labor relations board.

Results of the vote are unofficial until studied by the board.

Local president Tony Belcher said he was present at the counting of ballots Wednesday and expressed pleasure at the outcome.

Brenda employees, following a similar vote last year, were represented conjunctively by local 115 of the Operating Engineers and local 168 of the Tunnel and Rock Workers.

A certification vote is called for when a union can convince the government it has the majority of workers involved in a particular operation signed as

British Really Turned Off As Power Chaos Continues

LONDON (CP) — Misery and chaos again faced British homes and factories today with no end in sight to the power blackouts and the government apparently split on how to deal with the slowdown by electrical power workers.

Britons were beginning to lose their cool as the go-slow workers' protest for higher wages entered its fourth day after initial government peace moves failed.

Fear grew that freezing weather would bring great hardship and illness to elderly people left without heat and light.

An electricity official appealed to the public: "For God's sake turn off that light. Every time you turn on a light unnecessarily you might be preventing an emergency hospital operation."

One strong faction in Prime Minister Edward Heath's cabinet was said to be demanding an independent court of inquiry to assess the demand of the 125,000 electrical workers for a 24-per-cent pay increase.

Other ministers argued that a court of inquiry would take the initiative away from the government and might undercut future attempts to curb pay rises the government considers inflationary.

The government was trying to hold the electrical workers to a 10-per-cent increase. Their pay now averages £24 ($60) a week.

With the electrical men working to rule—refusing to work overtime and observing every rule, regulation and restriction in the book—power shortages blacked out huge areas of the country for periods of up to eight hours between 7 a.m. and midnight. Nearly all of the country was affected at one time or another, although no more than one-third of Britain was without power at any one time.

FEW PLANTS EXEMPT

Only essential food-processing plants, transportation companies and sanitation plants were exempt from the shutdowns.

Advance Poll Open Today

An advance poll for those city electors expecting to be absent during the municipal elections Saturday opened today in city hall.

The first advance poll since 1960, it will be held from noon to 5 p.m. both today and Friday.

Also eligible to vote prior to the main polling hours are those "who by reason of conscience" cannot cast ballots Saturday.

Saturday, city voters will vote between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. at centennial hall.

There are 8,969 people eligible to vote in the city this year, including 19 and 20 year olds who qualify this year because of the lowering of the age of majority.

However, it appears the younger folk did not take advantage of their new right with an increase of only 242 eligible voters over the total for 1969; an increase not particularly significant among increases in previous years.

Canada's Links Disrupted

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Railway passenger and freight services between Canada and the United States were disrupted today by a strike by two of the four major railway unions in the U.S.

Spokesman for Canadian industry and railways said that although the extent of the U.S. strike was uncertain, movement by rail of Canadian raw materials to U.S. markets and incoming shipments of American products would be halted at the border if the strike is nationwide.

Toronto Maple Leafs' Smythe Has To Have Day In Court

TORONTO (CP) — Chief Justice Dalton Wells of Ontario Supreme Court today ordered County Court Judge Joseph Kelly to proceed with the trial of Stafford Smythe, president of Toronto Maple Leaf Hockey Club, by way of indictment.

Smythe was charged with income tax evasion and making false or deceptive statements on income tax returns.

Justice Kelly quashed the charges Nov. 2, saying Smythe had not been treated fairly when the justice department proceeded against him by way of indictment—which makes a full sentence mandatory on conviction—rather than by summary trial in which a fine alone may be imposed on conviction.

Chief Justice Wells, in a 37-page judgment, said it is within the attorney-general's discretion to proceed by indictment or by summary prosecution.

NO FLEE ENTERED

Smythe did not enter a plea when he appeared at the earlier hearing and his lawyer, J. J. Robinette, moved to crush the indictment, arguing that it was an infringement of his client's rights as guaranteed by the Bill of Rights.

Section 2 of the Income Tax Act says every person charged with an offence may, at the election of the attorney-general of Canada, be prosecuted upon indictment and, if convicted, is in addition to any penalty otherwise provided, liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years and not less than two months.

Mr. Robinette argued that Smythe was placed in jeopardy by this section as compared to the two-year maximum penalty imposed by the summary hearing provision of the statute.

"To say that the Bill of Rights was intended by Parliament to interfere with the whole system of laying charges... is to take a somewhat mechanical view of the operation of the statute which, in my opinion, Parliament never intended should be taken," the chief justice said.

Smythe was charged with evading payment on income totalling $278,920 between 1965 and 1968 and with making false statements in tax returns covering 1964, 1965, 1966 and 1967.

One Injured Near Peachland

An unidentified person was taken to Summerland Hospital about 11 a.m. today after a car-truck accident near Peachland.

Few details were available, but police said the accident apparently occurred when a small foreign car slammed into the rear of a semi-trailer rig that was making a left turn off Highway 97.

The accident occurred in the Summerland RCMP area, but members of that detachment were still at the scene and unavailable for comment.

Kelowna police, advised of the accident by telex, said the injured person was in the car and the truck driver was not hurt.

Roads in the area were extremely slippery and traffic on Highway 97 was stopped for some time by police.

Reports indicated traffic was almost back to normal by about 11:30 a.m.

There was no word on the injured person's condition.

VANCOUVER CHALLENGERS FAIL SILENCE IS GOLDEN

Tom Terrific Does It Again

VANCOUVER (CP) — Tom Campbell, soft-peddalling the law and order issue he voiced loudly for the past two years, won his third two-year term as mayor of Vancouver Wednesday night.

The 43-year-old millionaire lawyer rolled steadily to victory although his margin was reduced from his landslide triumph in 1968.

With 111 of 120 polls in, Mr. Campbell and 49,631 votes, or 45.3 per cent of the popular ballot, compared with 37,823 for Dr. Bill Gibson, making his first try for the top civic position under The Electors Action Movement (TEAM) banner.

New Democratic Party candidate, Anthony Gargrave, a former member of the British Columbia legislature, ran third with 14,628 votes.

Both Dr. Gibson and Mr. Gargrave conceded the election 3 1/2 hours after the polls closed. Mr. Campbell was not around to accept the congratulations of MAYOR CAMPBELL... No landslide, but... his supporters, who already have dubbed him 'Tom Terrific'.

He went home to bed soon after the polls closed and was to make his first public statement at a press conference this morning.

"He was simply too tired," said his wife, Julie.

Mr. Campbell and his family leave for Hawaii this weekend and will spend Christmas there before returning for the inaugural council meeting in January.

A bizarre note was added to the election when Andrew Thomson Campbell, a 21-year-old warehouseman and no relation to the mayor, was arrested and charged with trafficking in LSD and assault causing bodily harm soon after the count started.

Campbell shocked the pollsters by picking up 4,428 votes and observers said voters may have been confused by the similarity in names.

A police spokesman said the trafficking offence is alleged to have occurred in May, 1969,

Campbell was to appear in court today.

The mayor, endorsed by the Non-Partisan Association which has been a power in city politics for 30 years, becomes only the third man to serve more than two consecutive terms since they were instituted in 1927.

Strangely silent on hippies, draft dodgers and deserters—the issues that made headlines for him during the summer—Mr. Campbell was assaulted by a young man at an all-candidates rally at the University of British Columbia last week.

The man was wrestled to the floor and charged with common assault. Mr. Campbell was not hurt.

Only 45.2 per cent of the 287,115 eligible voters turned out at the polls, but it was the highest figure since 1948 and well ahead of the 40.1 per cent that gave the mayor a runaway victory two years ago. They were voting for 12 mayoral candidates and a record 105 for 10 aldermanic seats.

NAMES IN THE NEWS

Doctor Charged In Slaying

Dr. Glen Stewart, 43, formerly of Lethbridge, Alta., was charged Wednesday in Port Alberni with non-capital murder in the slaying of a Bible camp caretaker on the west side of Vancouver Island. RCMP said the charge resulted from investigation into the death of Gordon Adrian Krall, 33, whose badly-decomposed body was found Nov. 22 in an open field, three weeks after he disappeared. Stewart, who practised in several northern B.C. centres, was being held in River View Mental Hospital in Coquitlam. He was remanded there, pending a Dec. 18 court appearance here, after being returned to Canada from San Francisco. Stewart was taken into custody two weeks ago by U.S. immigration officials after being discovered with a woman companion in a gas-filled San Francisco apartment. The woman has also returned to B.C.

GIOVANNI BUCHER
... sends word

Swiss Ambassador Giovanni E. Bucher sent word from his kidnappers' hideout Wednesday saying he hoped Brazil would soon make arrangements to free him. The letter, authenticated by the Swiss embassy in Rio de Janeiro, said Bucher was in good health "and being well treated." It was the first word from him since he was snatched from a street by the terrorists Monday.

MacMillan Bloedel Ltd., today in Vancouver announced a research discovery which may change the world pulp and paper industry. Executive vice-president D. W. Timmis announced the discovery, a process which will produce more kraft pulp from the same quantity of wood. A $1 million pilot plant to test the process has been built at the company's Harman pulp division near Nanaimo on Vancouver Island. The innovation is expected to increase the amount of kraft, or sulphate, pulp derived from a given volume of wood by six or seven per cent, Mr. Timmis said.

Defence lawyers for Lieut. William L. Calley Jr. said in Fort Benning, Ga., Wednesday they will attempt to show that the deaths of South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai were the result of helicopter gunship and artillery fire and that the bodies were there before Calley's platoon entered the village.

No one needs permission "to slug a Fascist," a man charged with assaulting Vancouver's Mayor Tom Campbell told a provincial court on the University of British Columbia Wednesday. David Johan Johansson, 26, of Victoria, declined to enter a plea when he appeared on a charge of common assault, resulting from an attack on the mayor during a civic election campaign meeting at UBC last week.

Provincial Judge William Evans in Nelson Wednesday dismissed charges against five Sons of Freedom Doukhobor women that they entered a house with intent to commit an indictable offence. Judge Evans said there was some doubt in his mind of the intentions of the five — originally charged with threatening to burn the home of Freedomite leader Stefan Sorokin's wife at Krestova, in the West Kootenay region.

Dr. Robert E. Jervis, a professor of chemical engineering at the University of Toronto, said Wednesday meals and cereals may be more significant sources of mercury in the human diet than fish. Speaking during a seminar at the university, Dr. Jervis said that "the relatively high consumption of meats and cereals suggests that the total intake from such foods could be higher than from fish."

Abrah Isakovich Alkhanov, nuclear physicist who helped develop the first Soviet atomic bomb, died Tuesday after a severe illness. Izvestia reported Wednesday in Moscow. He was 66. In 1945, the government ordered Alkhanov to set up in Moscow the Institute of Theoretical and Experimental Physics, which he directed until 1968.

'Lump-Sum' System Favored For Ottawa's Health Grants

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal and provincial health ministers are moving gradually toward a system where each province will get one lump sum from Ottawa to apply as it sees fit to a whole range of health programs.

The four largest provinces, and it is reported the smaller ones as well, told the federal government firmly Wednesday they want just that kind of flexibility to check soaring health care costs and develop future programs.

Health Minister J. D. Henderson of Alberta was the first in the field with a specific proposal — replacement of present cost-sharing for hospital and medical care insurance with per capita grants.

He warned that without some such device it would be almost impossible for the provinces to stop rising health costs which threaten to wreck the economy.

Federal Health Minister John Munro adopted mostly a listening role although reports coming from the closed sessions indicated the provinces interpreted his attitude as encouraging.

expensive and all that was needed in some cases.

Costs of doctors services were shared between federal and provincial government "although we know we should be moving to a team concept of care" by doctors and other health professionals whose service costs were not shared by Ottawa.

Claude Castonguay of Quebec said his province is ready to examine the merits of any new cost-sharing that offers the kind of flexibility required.

Mr. Henderson's proposal was a "very good approach" which recognized that services should be available to all, provided for annual adjustment of federal payments linked to changes in living costs indexes and enabled the provinces to channel funds where they were most needed among the whole range of health programs.

Mr. Wells in his statement to the conference called for radical changes in the ways federal money is paid and Mr. Castonguay backed him up.

Car Suspect In Japan

TOKYO (Reuter) — Transport ministry experts today began road testing a Honda compact car to determine whether the Honda president should be indicted for murder.

The tests during the next 11 days are intended to discover whether Honda's tiny N-360 compact contains structural defects liable to cause accidents.

The company president, Soichiro Honda, is named in a murder indictment brought by the father of a young driver killed in a N-360 accident.

A consumers organization alleged in September that structural defects in the four-seat vehicle were responsible for at least 35 crash deaths.

Any objection may be filed with the Superintendent of Motor Carriers, Public Utilities Commission, 1740 West Georgia Street, Vancouver, British Columbia, on or before December 28th, 1970.

THIS PEACEFUL SCENE SOON ENDED

Come the big Christmas rush immediately prior to Dec. 25, relatively "quiet" scenes like this will be transformed into the annual Yuletide shopping frenzy as tardy and last-minute buyers swarm into shops and department stores. According to local merchants, the shopping trend began early this year, and most expect a happy cash register song right up until Christmas Eve. As in past years, merchants will maintain flexible store hours, giving shoppers not only a wide range of gift opportunities, but also enough time to finish that all important Christmas list. (Courier photo)

PACIFIC TRADE

'Blind Approach' Causes Concern

An internationally known chamber of commerce official said Thursday he was concerned by what he described as a "blind approach" to international trade.

Vancouver lawyer Arnold Hean, a member of the Pacific Basin Economic Co-operation Council steering committee, said there is a fear of a hole developing in North American business pockets because of Japanese aggressiveness and competitiveness.

Japanese imports and competition are somewhat regarded as unfair or even improper, said Mr. Hean, and the fear of being overwhelmed by these imports "tends to create a divisiveness among us which can then lead to exaggerated forms of nationalism."

"I am concerned by this blind approach, which says the purchaser of our natural wealth is somehow responsible for harm which I suggest we cause to ourselves."

He said this approach also suggests "the final user of our minerals, timber, and other resources, must be held accountable for our internal problems because we do not use our own intelligence to create effective, continuing prosperity for ourselves."

"To my way of thinking, we are the authors of our own misfortune," he said.

Mr. Hean, former Burnaby alderman and a government and senator of Simon Fraser University, was speaking to a noon luncheon of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce.

More than 70 people turned out to hear his address in which he outlined the structure of PBECC and the basis upon which it was formed about two years ago.

OBJECTIVE

He said the principal objective is to create a far-reaching multinational organization of Pacific Rim countries, dedicated to the principle that economic opportunity is essential if we are to survive and grow in a meaningful way.

Canada, the U.S., Japan, Australia and New Zealand form the original nucleus of the council, which formed five international standing committees.

Mr. Hean said four committees (transportation, development, tourism development and natural resources development) cover all areas of direct, immediate and long term economic concern.

He said PBECC is unique in that "the very highest persons in business have seen the need, and have created the opportunity, to come together from diverse cultures and experiences to establish an organization with immense potential and authority for profitable international achievement."

UNIQUE

A second unique feature, he said, was that these people, "who are often said to be not understanding of human needs, have created a fifth international standing committee — the Human Resources Development Committee."

This committee, of which Mr. Hean is chairman, was set up to make positive endeavors to create for the masses of people in the Pacific region, better human opportunity through improved economic opportunity.

"This committee has a responsibility which may transcend that of the four others because without a human resource capable of using those other resources, those others are meaningless," said Mr. Hean.

The speaker suggested he was named chairman of the committee because "Canada, while not one of the world's major powers, has retained a substantial international respect."

He said this gives Canadians an exceptional opportunity to participate, but "we must have the guts to accept the challenge."

UNLIMITED

"The peoples of the Pacific Basin, a region which houses upwards of half the world's masses living mostly in shantytowns, provide unlimited opportunity for all of us," Mr. Hean said. "The huge markets which have already been created are small compared to the markets foreseen for 1980 and beyond."

"In B.C. we have been at least superficially aware of the Pacific potential for many years, but until recently it seemed the economic might of Canada, in Ontario and Quebec, hardly recognized the Asian market meant more than an opportunity to sell our surplus agricultural products, dependent upon Asian famine."

Canadians have enjoyed the third highest standard of living in the world because of huge reserves of resources, "which we have exploited for easy sale to hungry consumers."

TO FOURTH

"Last year," said Mr. Hean, "our standard dropped to fourth and if we continue in the general line, we can probably successfully drop our standard of living even lower."

"We have created this opportunity to lower our living conditions possibly because we are becoming increasingly introverted and nationalistic. More and more we bite the hands of those who want to negotiate for and to pay for, those surplus resources our country holds."

Canadians have been slow to see the golden Pacific opportunity which can give us so much," said Mr. Hean.

He said the next meeting of PBECC will be held in Vancouver in May and would represent the largest international conference ever held in this province.

Numbers Listed For Emergencies

Everyone likes to think of the Christmas season as a special period of merriment and Yuletide joy. A time when harsh realities are pushed aside by warm family gatherings.

But the same relaxed atmosphere traditional with the Santa season also has inherent pitfalls and dangers that can turn gaiety into tragedy at the blink of one careless or indifferent act.

The most obvious life destroying danger is the threat of fire, and every householder should have the telephone number of his area fire department posted in a handy place in case of such emergencies. In Kelowna the emergency fire brigade number is 115 (2-2544), with the following numbers applying to specific regions: Rutland—5-5000; Benvenuto—2-3955; Westbank—8-5888 (768-5010); Winfield—4444; Okanagan Mission—2-3205; Oyama—9999 (548-3810); Cedar Creek—4-4021; Lakeview Heights —763-4010; and Peachland—2200.

Accidents in the home are also prevalent during Christmas. The local ambulance service covering an area from Oyama to Peachland, can also be reached at 115, while the most obvious emergency numbers include Kelowna General Hospital—2-4000; and the RCMP detachment, 2-3300.

Special emergencies such as poisonings and other related mishaps are handled by the emergency section of the Kelowna General Hospital at the number listed. Another standby number applying to accidents is 2-5555, the search and rescue unit of the Kelowna Fire Brigade.

While not classified in the accepted sense as an emergency number, a local organization called Fish has provided a service since Nov. 15 for emotional problems. Contact number is 2-2026.

SEEN and HEARD

A rare occurrence during a bridge game last month was reported by Mrs. George Edworthy, 1325 Sutherland Ave., who said friends she and her husband were playing had eight straight 700 slams without making a point. "We had all the cards," she added. Holders of the odd hands were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rigby of Regina, who have been lifetime bridge players and "never saw anything like it before."

Several first class Christmas mail deadlines arrive in the next four days. Friday is the deadline for continental Europe, India and Pakistan, the West Indies and South America, Australia and New Zealand, and Japan and Hong Kong. Monday is the first class deadline for Great Britain.

A new bright spot has been added to the city's Christmas scene. City crews have strung dozens of lights on a large tree in the park area where the old Mill Street museum was located. In past years the major lighted tree was in City Park, near the Harvey Avenue-Abbott Street intersection. The new effort adds considerable brightness and evening cheer to the downtown waterfront area.

The Grey Cup classic has passed and probably, for the most part, forgotten... except where certain transactions prompted by the sporting event are still delinquent. One such transaction was completed this week in the amount of a $5 cheque written on toilet paper, and certified. Some people just have to be sore losers.

Three complete rows of tickets for Dec. 19 performance of the Christmas pantomime Pinocchio have disappeared, and no one knows where they are, says Kelowna Little Theatre officials. They don't know if the tickets have been lost or misplaced. Missing tickets are for rows G, H, and J, all on the left. Anyone holding tickets for those seats is asked to contact KLT officials.

RIGHT TRIPS

No fires or accidents were reported by the Kelowna Fire Brigade, which handled eight pre-arranged ambulance calls Wednesday.

SNIFF PATROLS STARTING NOW

An increase in the number of drinking drivers in Kelowna and district will result in "sterner measures" during the coming festive season.

A spokesman for the RCMP said extra breathalyzer patrols will go into effect immediately in an effort to curb the problem.

"We have more manpower now than previously," said the spokesman, "allowing us more roving patrols on routes from various liquor outlets."

Figures released by the RCMP last month showed not only the incidence had increased since breathalyzer laws were introduced last year, but the quantity of alcohol consumed by those charged appeared on the average to be higher.

Proper preparation can be the difference between receiving and not receiving mailed Christmas parcels, says the post office.

Last year some 100,000 parcels could not be delivered because they were either poorly wrapped, incorrectly addressed or had no return address.

To ensure delivery, the following tips are offered:

Pack each item separately in good cushioning material so will not float around in the box.

Use strong corrugated cardboard boxes, not shoe boxes, and use heavy outside wrapping paper.

Use good stout cord and knot it securely.

Address parcels in the same manner as letters, with the return address top left; destination in bold letters in the parcel's centre.

A slip of paper should be enclosed in the parcel with destination and return address and a list of contents if several items are mailed.

Will Yours Get Through?

Can Your Licence Be Seen?

If complaints continue to increase, local RCMP are going to crack down hard on city and district motorists with dirty or otherwise obscure licence plates.

A police spokesman said Wednesday they had received complaints from pedestrians who had been "almost run over" by vehicles which could not be traced because of grime-laden licence plates.

"Because of this, we're going to take a closer look at the situation and offenders will be prosecuted," emphasized the police spokesman.

Under a section of the Motor Vehicle Act, violators can be charged a minimum voluntary penalty of $10 or incur a court appearance. The act stipulates all licence plates should be kept entirely clear and free of dirt or foreign material so numbers can be plainly seen and read at all times.

"Licence plates should also be lit at night for the same reason."

Pavement Turns White

Following is the road report to 8:30 a.m. today issued by the department of highways:

Highway 97, Osoyoos to Kamloops, up to 1 1/2 inches snow, sanding and salting in progress. Use good winter tires or chains.

Highway 33, Kelowna to Beaverdell, mostly bare with some slippery sections, sanding. Use good winter tires and carry chains.

Highway 6, Monashee Pass, light snow, slippery sections, sanding and salting. Use good winter tires and carry chains.

Highway 3, Allison Pass, mostly compact snow, plowed with sanding and salting in progress. Use good winter tires and carry chains.

Highway 3, Princeton to Penticton, light rain, black ice, sanding and salting. Use good winter tires and carry chains.

Trans-Canada Highway, Rogers Pass, light snow to 1 1/2 inches, plowing, sanding and salting. Use good winter tires and carry chains.

Trans-Canada, Fraser Canyon, light snow, slippery sections, sanding and salting. Use good winter tires and carry chains.

Trans-Canada, Cache Creek to Kamloops, light snow with slippery sections, sanding. Use good winter tires and carry chains.

Trans-Canada, Kamloops to Revelstoke, light snow with slippery sections, sanding and salting. Use good winter tires and carry chains.

Three Films Not Coming

Three films scheduled to be presented by the Kelowna Film Society next year have been cancelled.

The films are: The Devil's Eye, which was to be shown Jan. 14; Svevozhna, to have been viewed Feb. 11; and Two Daughters, March 11.

Robert Kingsmill, society secretary, said the films are being replaced with lower cost films.

Titles have not been selected. Mr. Kingsmill added unless the organization can double its membership, there is little likelihood of the society continuing next year.

Current membership is 43, too low to handle more expensive films.

WORD WELCOMED

School Gyms Freeze Thaws

Victoria's lifting of a freeze on constructing school gymnasiums and activity rooms has met with approval from School District 23 (Kelowna) and KLO Home and School Association executives.

In announcing the provincial government's "new policy" on such projects Monday, Premier W. A. C. Bennett said he was inviting school boards to submit applications for their schemes to the treasury board, which would then make money available if such projects can be proved essential.

This could touch off a backlog of $13 million in construction projects in the province. "As part of the provincial program to create new employment, I am now asking school boards to apply to the department of education for approval of new activity rooms and gymnasiums," Mr. Bennett said.

High interest rates were blamed by Victoria for its freeze on gymnasiums and activity rooms, which has been in effect for several months in each of the past three years.

Fred Macklin, secretary-treasurer said the school board was pleased the freeze had been lifted.

"If we could build the KLO gym today instead of tomorrow or next year, we would," he said.

He added two statements from the department of education contradicted themselves.

Mr. Macklin said a letter received today from the department contradicted a telephone call received Wednesday, also from the department.

"I hope to have this clarified today and will make an announcement to that effect on the statements," he said.

T. R. Carter, chairman of the school board's building committee, said he was pleased the freeze had been lifted, adding the school board has been given permission to proceed with final drawings.

"We hope to have the project (KLO gymnasium and activity room) by the end of 1971."

Mr. Carter said the proposed gym would cost $200,000.

George Snowdon, president of the Kelowna Teachers' Association, said he was pleased the freeze was lifted, adding: "I'm sorry it happened too late for preparation of referendum 12."

Ratepayers in School District 23 approved the construction of KLO with a gym in referendum 10, some time ago.

After the referendum was passed, Victoria placed the construction freeze in effect, with the result KLO would be constructed without a gymnasium.

"The school boards should have been given some indication the freeze would be lifted two months ago when the referendums were being prepared," he said.

Electors Meet The Candidates

More than 150 people turned out Wednesday to the Kelowna and District Jaycee forum, featuring candidates seeking election to school board and city council Saturday.

Also speaking at the forum was School District 23 (Kelowna) secretary-treasurer Fred Macklin, who outlined details of the proposed $1,385,200 referendum to be put to the vote Saturday.

Mr. Macklin detailed some problems facing the school board, including over-crowding and he referred to the referendum as the "catch-up referendum" which will provide financing for extra space and equipment to accommodate increasing student population next year.

The secretary-treasurer also announced the provincial department of education has informed the school district it can "go ahead" with providing gymnasium facilities at the KLO secondary school under construction.

A freeze on construction of such facilities in schools throughout the province had been imposed as an economy measure by the department, forcing the board to shelve this portion of the KLO plans.

Mr. Macklin indicated the way was now clear to arrange financing for the gym as provided for in referendum 10 and said he anticipated the school would be complete with a gymnasium when students move in next spring.

Seeking election to the school board in three separate battles Saturday are incumbent Mrs. F. E. McNair, former trustee Mrs. Dorothy Pelly and James Wallace seeking two Kelowna seats; Mrs. Shirley Staley opposing incumbent T. R. Carter for the South and East Kelowna seat; and Otto Graf opposing incumbent C. D. Buckland for the Rutland seat.

All seven candidates were allocated speaking time at the forum, followed by speeches from six candidates contesting three aldermanic posts up for grabs this year.

Seeking election to council are incumbents Alan Moss and Richard Stewart, who are being opposed by teaching administrator Walter Green, former alderman R. J. Wilkinson, hotelman T. L. Mooney and businessman E. F. M. Hill.

Meanwhile, an advanced poll for the election opened at noon today in city hall where those persons expecting to be absent during regular polling hours can cast their ballots.

The advanced poll will be open from noon until 5 p.m. both today and Friday.

Saturday, the city polling station at centennial hall will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

They Talk And Talk

Jerry Ackerman was awarded the Grant Bishop trophy for best speech of the evening at a joint supper meeting of the Kelowna Toastmasters Club Tuesday at the Capri.

Mr. Ackerman told members and wives that mismanagement can be corrected by the simple method of taking first things first, and not worrying about the rest until they occur. Best table topic speaker was Harvey Pain, on what he would do and say to his son if he was using marijuana. Chairman Staley Shalagan contributed to the table topics on the subject of "if."

Speakers were introduced to the meeting by toastmaster Harry Kanigan, with general evaluator Leo Fuhr rendering a pertinent and informative evaluation of the evening.

The next meeting will be Tuesday at the Capri at 6 p.m.

Marijuana Possession Charges Laid

Three more Kelowna men have been charged with possession of marijuana for the purpose of trafficking.

Reserving election when appearing before Judge D. M. White in provincial court today were Rudolf Schoenfeld and Geoffrey Marshall. Noel Martin elected trial by magistrate.

All three will reappear Friday.

In other court action, Harley Stewart of Oyama pleaded guilty to the theft of a wrist watch and was remanded for a presentence report. Thomas Lawrence Larson of Rutland was remanded to Dec. 16 for plea to a charge of possession of stolen goods.

Fined $200 and suspended from driving for two months was Terry Douglas Dunham, who pleaded guilty to driving with a blood-alcohol level exceeding .08 per cent.

Pleading not guilty to the same charge was Frederick Westerwoudt, who was remanded to Jan. 4 for trial.

Possession of an unregistered firearm brought a three-month suspended sentence for Gary Abel and Hugh Walker.

Snow

Snow should continue falling over the Central Okanagan tonight and Friday morning, as a Pacific disturbance moves inland.

Friday should be mostly cloudy, with a few sunny periods.

Winds should be southerly 15, rising at times to 25.

Wednesday's high was 32, the low 26, with a trace of snow recorded.

Low tonight and high Friday should be 22 and 38.

SATURDAY

A Volunteer Recreational Services Association birthday party will be held Saturday at the First United Hall at 1:30 p.m. for members only.

THEIR MAIL WILL ARRIVE ON TIME

Busy working on their Christmas card mailing lists are three residents of the Lloyd-Jones Home, 934 Bernard Ave., who have seen many a Yuletide come and go in their lifetimes. Left to right are Newton Wells of Kelowna, Mrs. Gertrude Connor of Medicine Hat, Alta., and Mrs. Clare Bowman of Kelowna. A line-date for inter-city mail is Dec. 17, with points outside the province in Canada post at Dec. 8. Deadline for clear areas such as Alberta is Dec. 13. (Courier photo)

Short Takes

We vote on Saturday and probably a number of voters have not yet made their choices among the candidates. The best way to assess a candidate is to ask him questions about various city problems. The replies should indicate the candidate's familiarity with some of the city's key issues, his competence to assess civic problems and his solutions to those problems. A series of vague or evasive answers will demonstrate that the candidate hasn't taken the trouble to learn the job he's asking for and will provide an indication of what voters could expect from him, once elected. It's better to find out before Saturday than after.

And speaking of Saturday, it is imperative that you do get out and vote. It is an individual matter and an individual responsibility. Should you not vote, ask yourself by what right you have to find fault with the city council during the next year. It is your chance to participate in the democratic procedure in this area. If you do not participate stop finding fault with those other people have chosen to run your affairs.

Premier John Robarts, after having been a member of the Ontario legislature for 20 years and premier for 10, has retired. He will be missed in Canada's public life. He was an able administrator. More than that, he has sensed the chief dilemmas of our nation with unusual comprehension. No one has tried harder and more sincerely to co-operate with Quebec than he has; his Confederation of Tomorrow conference was the first bold attempt to bring the provinces together and strengthen their bonds. The past decade has been a trying one all over the world and in Ontario some things went wrong in John Robarts' time. Some of them have irritated and angered the public. That is the price of public life. On his retirement we can assume that the fight was a tough one and that for any man, the legs finally tire. As the good in a leader is so often taken for granted, we want to pay our own tribute to him and hope that he will reappear on the Canadian scene. Canadians need a man with the stature of John Robarts in Ottawa.

Provincial treasurers and finance ministers have been meeting in Ottawa with their federal counterparts to review taxes, the economy and the prospects for the future. As has been so often happening lately with these important federal-provincial talks, B.C. was not present; at least its top people were not there. It may be that these talks may not produce any immediate and magical results; that enables the professional critics to have enough ammunition to keep them happy and boring. This is particularly true of those who make a practice of poor-mouthing the constitutional reform aspect of the conferences. These talks are not useless, however, by any stretch of the imagination, even though very little is seen to be done. They are in fact valuable in the sense that they broaden the views and soften the hard-line attitudes of most of the participants. It is good for a political leader from the Maritimes, for instance, to chinwag with his counterparts from provinces several thousand miles away—and vice versa. What's more, they provide a useful sounding board, an arena for letting off accumulated steam and a golden opportunity for the more sophisticated to bring out the latent Canadianism in those who suffer from the most unbecoming form of provincialism. In every real sense, the federal-provincial talks are as important to Canada's future as prime ministers' conferences are for the Commonwealth and UN General Assembly meetings for mankind. They may not give the impression of being much more than social gatherings or shouting matches, but indisputably they always do far more good than harm. "Bull sessions" at the political summits can be just as educational as those legendary ones that make conventions of business and professional groups worthwhile. But, to reap any benefit from them, you have to be present. And, peculiarly, B.C. too frequently isn't.

MONEY FIRST

It appears that Kelowna has once more made a brilliant move.

I am speaking of the tearing down of the Hochelega house. It appears, money comes before anything else in this town.

Also last year Dr. Knox's house was torn down. And what were the results of these moves, two modern apartment blocks!

Also the old museum was torn down and what for? A patch of grass and a plaque.

I can see in a couple of years when Kelowna wants a historical landmark they'll have none.

Why couldn't we have kept the two houses and used them for their historical value? For people to enjoy and wander around in and see a part of the old Kelowna.

But I suppose a modern apartment is more important than something that would add to Kelowna's interesting history and tourist attraction.

Yours truly,
HEATHER BARKER.

WE MADE THEM

A great deal of unfavorable criticism is being directed at the younger generation these days and it should be in order if we pause and try to ascertain what might be the cause of the present situation.

Here, to the lawlessness, student unrest and general breakdown of the accepted moral standards.

In spite of the fact that many of us are reluctant to admit it, the young generation are what we have made of them. We cannot escape the fact that we the parents had the responsibility of directing and moulding the character of these young people.

Many reasons, and excuses are being offered, some of them valid, and to quote an authority on the subject who said: "The most important job in the world (raising children) is left in the hands of rank amateurs."

We start to teach our children in the art of violence at a very early age. We provide them with toy machine guns, canons, rifles and now the newer space age toy machines of war and violence.

We expose them to movies, TV, radio and literature featuring and often tolling the virtues of war and violence.

Should we be surprised when some of this rubs off on them? In some parts of the world the youth of the country is being conscripted into the army, trained in the art of guerrilla warfare and mass murder and then sent off to some far off foreign land, and are required to wage one of the most horrible and barbarous kind of war against a people who have done them no harm. They are forced to spend some of the best years of their young lives doing this. Thousands are killed and many more thousands are horribly maimed and will never be able to lead normal lives. All this for what? And what faces them when they return home? Modern technology has advanced to the point where mass unemployment faces too many of them. Should we be surprised that they are resentful and embittered?

In this age of corporate monopoly what chance has the average young person got to establish for himself a stake in the country? Indeed what chance has he got for even so much as owning the roof over his head. With present interest rates and 40 year mortgages a person age 25, if he is lucky and can meet all the payments, will be 65 when he makes the last payment, and by that time the house will probably be finished too. Anyone over age 25 will be past retirement and will not own the roof over his head.

At one time it was possible with hard work and thrift to acquire a stake in the country. Under present conditions this is now possible for only a very small percentage of the population. Should it surprise us if some of them see the hopelessness of the economic prospects and give up?

We, who try to set ourselves up as model examples for the young people to follow, should take a close look at our own past performance. Just what have we accomplished in the hundred odd years since confederation? We have taken away from the native people this land and have developed it into a great nation. We, the people have, performed all the work in building the railroads, highways, cities with the schools, hospitals and all other buildings. We have built factories and cultivated the lands and have produced in such abundance that we are swamped under it and impoverished because of it. We have performed all the work in exploiting the lands, mines and forests, polluting and poisoning the water, air and land in the process.

And after having done all this, what share do we have in all this abundance? A small handful, roughly six per cent of the population own and control by far the largest part of our country. Over 99 per cent of the oil refining industry, and around 65 per cent of manufacturing is owned and controlled by foreign interests. And we are continuing to allow our resources to be taken over and exploited by foreigners who sap and drain all profits from the country.

Much more could be said but at best, ours has been a rather dismal performance.

Apparently this was the best we could do when everybody had more or less of a fair even start, and before monopoly and large corporations took over.

This, then, is the heritage which we are passing on to the younger generation.

Before we set ourselves up as judges of the youth of today we should ask ourselves this question: Just what would I do if I were in their place?

Yours truly,
HENRY E. METKE

VISITS DECREASED

SASKATCHEWAN, Alta. (CP) — The number of visitors to Elk Island National Park decreased more than 2,000 during October. About 13,400 persons used the park during the 31 days compared with 15,800 last October.

Man Must Wait 6 Months To Start On Heroin Cure

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Just call him Bernie. He's 27, hooked on a $50-a-week heroin habit and wants to quit. But he can't get the help he wants, so he keeps waiting—and taking drugs.

Bernie has applied and been accepted for the methadone treatment program of the Western Psychiatric Institute and Clinic. He is one of 50 persons on a waiting list. That means a wait of at least six months to get one of the four beds in the clinic.

Methadone, itself a narcotic, is being used increasingly in many community programs across the United States to help hard-core drug addicts kick the habit. It is addictive, but the patient does not get "high" and he does not suffer withdrawal symptoms. Critics, however, argue that one narcotic is merely being substituted for another.

Robert Aaron, a 37-year-old social worker who heads the methadone program at Western Psychiatric, says he believes about 15,000 persons are involved in such treatment centres in the U.S., although there is no program tying them all together.

What does all this mean to an addict such as Bernie? What's the world like to a slim, black youth who has been on heroin 10 years and wants to quit?

PAID FOR STUDYING — Bernie was paroled early this year from a 14-month term at a state penitentiary to a local industrial school where he is studying offset printing. He has been admitted to the University of Pittsburgh, where he wants to study sociology.

Bernie receives $52 a week while attending the industrial school, just enough to finance his one-bag-a-day habit.

A fluent conversationalist, Bernie crossed his legs, and sat back on his soft chair inside the clinic he so much wants to be a part of. He was on a high.

"I wouldn't be nearly so relaxed if I wasn't," he said.

It is difficult to identify a person on a kick if one is not familiar with addicts.

But two of Bernie's friends who have influenced his decision to enter the methadone program recognized his high.

"His color is ash grey and there's a certain thing about his complexion," said Bob Lloyd, who substituted methadone for his heroin-cocaine habit a year ago and is now a counsellor in the treatment centre.

TAKEN WITH JUICE — Methadone is a clear liquid which is mixed with orange juice and taken once a day. Some scorn its use because, they say, it is trading one narcotic for another.

"That's true, as far as it goes," said Lloyd.

"But that is a narrow viewpoint and I know.

"When you're on heroin, it's a high I can't describe.

"When you get on the stuff, they (pushers) won't trust you anymore. You can't get credit, and finally I was broke. I had family problems, naturally, and I had to do something."

Lloyd entered the methadone program at Western Psychiatric.

The first step was an evaluation by doctors.

"Some guys will just use the program to get out of a prison term, others will use it to get drugs," Lloyd said.

After four to six weeks as an in-patient, when highs are regulated, the patient leaves the hospital, but returns daily for his dose of methadone.

Lloyd was taking "five, six, seven or eight bags a day." Now he takes methadone, has no highs and says things are going better at home.

"The first time I took it," Lloyd said, "I noticed I could sleep that night."

"After four weeks of that and I felt like my old self. I began to detest narcotics like I did, when I was a kid. I even gained 25 pounds."

Lloyd thinks he's close to the time when he can be discharged from the methadone program.

"I think I'm capable now of staying off drugs," he said.

"The doctor told me we'd have to sit down and talk about it."

The four in-patient beds at Western Psychiatric Institute have no patients in them just now, which may make Bernie's wait for treatment longer.

Nurses at the hospital have refused to treat methadone patients. Some are opposed to the program and others say in-patient load is too great.

The clinic plans to hire a full-time nurse soon just for the methadone program, says Lloyd.

FOR IMMIGRANTS

Federal Loans Pay Passages

OTTAWA (CP) — Tens of thousands of immigrants were getting federal loans to help their way to Canada in the mid-1960s, but the number has been reduced to a trickle this year.

Ironically, the assisted passage scheme, after years of being available only to Europeans, became universal last spring, meaning that anyone anywhere in the world could apply for a loan.

How many applicants there have been isn't known, but only about 30 loans have been made outside Europe and the Caribbean since the scheme became universal.

The total for the first five months of 1970 was 653, and most of these loans went to British immigrants, always the main beneficiaries since the scheme began in 1951.

PEAKED IN 1967 — The 653 loans to May 31 this year compared with 29,979 loans made in 1966. That year marked an assault on the $12 million revolving loan fund that nearly drove it into the red and forced the government to go to Parliament to have the fund raised to $20 million in 1967.

The payout reached its peak of about $11 million in 1967, then plummeted in 1968 with the introduction of a new qualification—occupational demand.

Currently an immigrant can't get a loan unless his occupation rates in the 12-15 range on a 1-15 points system.

About 300 of the 1,300 occupations in a manpower department list are in the 12-15 range.

Officials say that by opening the range one point, they could increase the number of loans by 50 per cent.

The loan fund is recovering from the depletions of the mid-1960s and over-all immigration is running at about the same level as last year, when some 160,000 immigrants arrived in Canada, the lowest number since the early 1960s.

STUDY UNDER WAY — Officials say the occupational range may be opened slightly to enable more immigrants to take advantage of loans if a study of this year's immigration is favorable to such a move. The study is under way.

Assisted passages date back to 1951 and have helped thousands of skilled immigrants locate in Canada. Loans of up to $1,500, repayable over three years at six per cent interest, are available.

While the borrowers sometimes get behind, they are said to be good risks. Parliament was told in 1967 that of 250,000 immigrants who had taken loans, 7,200 were behind in payments. But bad loans averaged less than one per cent.

Only Europeans were able to benefit from the fund until the mid-1960s, when West Indians were included. However, loans to West Indians have been few.

FLED RED TERROR — Perhaps 6,000 of the 8,592 loans made in 1968 went to Czechoslovakian refugees who fled after the August invasion of that country by Russia. The Czechoslovaks came on 45 chartered flights, at a fraction of the normal cost.

Last year the number of loans was 3,202 and the total loaned $2,714,000. Based on the five-month figure for 1970, the totals should be much lower this year, despite the universal extension of the scheme.

Officials had expected nurses emigrating from the Philippines to be among the first outside Europe or the Caribbean to get the loans.

The United States built a number of military hospitals in the Philippines during the Second World War, and Philippine immigration to North America in the 1960s has consisted almost entirely of nurses.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dec. 10, 1970... The British battleship Prince of Wales and the battle-cruiser Repulse were sunk 29 years ago today—in 1941—by Japanese bombs and torpedoes off the Malayan coast. The Prince of Wales had been completed earlier the same year. The two warships were trapped by Japanese bombers as they sailed to intercept Japanese transports approaching Malaya. Some 2,300 of the 3,000 men aboard were rescued after the sinkings.

1954—The causeway over the Gut of Canso was completed.

1951—The first session of the partially-elected Council of the Northwest Territories opened at Yellowknife.

1944—Canadians stormed the Lamone River defences in Italy.

Split In The OAS

(Victoria Times) Canada, which looks in through the window at the Organization of American States but does not go through the door to join the gathering, will note the restrained flurry among members over Chile's resumption of full diplomatic ties with Cuba. The diplomatic move had been a predictable development for some time, having been virtually assured when Marxist Salvador Allende Gossens was elected president of Chile.

The significance of the Chilean move will be measured by its effects on other Latin American countries yet to separate themselves from the 1964 resolution by which the OAS broke off formal relations with Castro's country. In the opinion of some United States observers, Chile's decision could encourage a trend away from the six-year-old agreement which has separated Cuba from other Caribbean nations.

In the opinion of President Allende, the OAS resolution is "unjust toward a sister nation that is struggling to shape its own destiny according to the sovereign will of its people." This attitude is countered by U.S. officials who say the Allende pronouncement overlooks Cuba's unfriendly stance as the base for exporting revolution to the Latin American mainland.

Chile's action, by itself, may not be a critical threat to the general unity shown by the OAS. It nevertheless could be the beginning, or the extension, of a split between the United States and her close hemispheric allies, and those Latin American nations which are not as susceptible to the United States' appeal.

Mrs. E. R. Bailey Jr., was the winner in J. B. Knowles' 14th watch contest. The watch ran 30 hours, 6 minutes, 31 seconds and the winner's estimate was only 11 seconds out! There were 1,023 guessers entered. The winner received the watch, a fine Swiss movement with case.

60 YEARS AGO

December 1910

The Kelowna Farmers' Institute met in the Raymer Block, with five and twenty members present. Collin Smith was elected delegate to the general meeting of Institutes, to be held in Victoria. Mr. Hobson is the alternate. A resolution in favor of establishing a horticultural college at Summerland was endorsed. Also endorsed was a resolution in favor of adopting the Oregon fruit box for apple packing.

In Passing

The morning after an acrobat descended to her 13th floor apartment and stole her handbag and jewels, a 30-year-old science teacher reported to class in Marsilles, France, to find a new pupil, the thief of the previous night, who said he was an ex-parachutist who needed the money to further his education.

When a man in Blackfoot, Idaho, cast his line into a reservoir, he picked up a pole he had lost earlier in the day with a three-pound 16-inch trout on the other end of it.

Poinsettias Can Be Made Of Stovepipe Wire And Yarn

The Christmas spirit in many homes starts with the making of decorations for the home or the yard. While some people go to great expense to make elaborate outside ornaments and glittery baubles for the tree and home, others prefer to make equally attractive decorations, from something 'useless' or at least something found in most homes or local stores.

Although she modestly claims she is not a skilled crafts-woman, Mary Roth, wife of Mayor Hilbert Roth, is one who likes to make 'something useful out of something useless.'

This year, an illustration from an old copy of a well known home magazine prompted her to try using old bits and pieces of yarn to make unusually attractive red poinsettias. The yarn, plus some stove pipe wire, which can be purchased in any hardware, a small sized knitting needle and a pair of pliers are the necessary requirements. However, imagination, an eye for line and symmetry, help considerably to achieve the lovely effect in the end result.

USED APPLE BOXES
Mrs. Roth, who has always loved to paint since she was a child, attended the Banff School of Fine Arts during her student days. During the depression years, her father Paul Lewis gave his young daughter some paints and the ends of old apple boxes to paint on, and that was the beginning. She likes water colors, and one particularly attractive oriental painting in their home on Patterson Avenue is done in this delicate media.

But back to the poinsettias—to make a leaf or petal, the first step is to wind the wire around the knitting needle (a No. 1 will do), leaving 1 1/2 inches straight at each end. This is done by hand or by placing the needle in an electric drill. When wound, grasp the end with the pliers and stretch until the spiral portion is stretched out, leaving only small even coils. Twist the straight ends together for the stem end.

press the leaf or petal into the desired shape, leaving a point on the tip.

CAN VARY
The yarn at the base. Mrs. Roth makes a double knot, one on the very end and one about an inch up the stem. Gently wind the yarn back and forth across the leaf, with yarn in every coil. At the tip, wrap the yarn around securely and pull, or use embroidery needle to draw the end back through the loop to anchor the yarn at the tip so you can pull lightly to make the centre vein down the leaf or petal.

Wrap yarn around the stem and when you have enough petals to form a flower, wrap stems together with florist tape. Centres may be made of a variety of things. Mrs. Roth used beads from an old necklace for the one in the picture and has also used unravelled yarn, gathered into a little pom-pom effect.

Not a person to sit idly, she usually makes something while watching television and can make enough petals and leaves in one evening to complete a flower. The magazine article, mentioned earlier, showed a huge yellow flower with rounded petals—the idea of adapting them to the poinsettia was Mrs. Roth's idea. So all colors of yarn may be utilized, all you need is imagination and some patience!

MEALS ON WHEELS
Patience, it appears, is one of Mary Roth's main virtues, as director of the Meals on Wheels project sponsored by the Kiwassa Club, she spends many hours on the telephone directing this service for shut-ins.

She has been a member of the Kiwassa Club since she and her husband and family of four moved to Kelowna from Edmonton six years ago. Her husband became aware of the need for this service while he served with the Okanagan Board of Health and when the Kiwassa Club finally got the go-ahead, she became director.

Her seven years in the banking world prior to her marriage, form a good background of knowledge for managing the affairs of the project in a businesslike manner.

There are two sons, Jim, 19; Anson, 12 and two daughters, Luanne, 16, and Edith, 8, who all share in the quiet but busy atmosphere of the Roth home and have learned to accept the frequent phone calls for either their dad or mother as part of the household routine. At the present time, Mrs. Roth's mother, Mrs. Lewis, also shares in the happy home and since her name is also Mary, it is a 'Merry' household.

Ukrainian Dancers Perform At Senior Citizens' Party

Senior Citizens Association Club 17 of Kelowna held its annual Christmas dinner on Monday evening in the Legion hall. Two hundred and thirty members enjoyed a hot turkey dinner at the event arranged by president, John Cruse, with Mrs. Cruse as hostess for the evening.

Head table guests included Mayor Hilbert Roth and Mrs. Roth; Rev. Charles Mulvihill, and Mr. and Mrs. Cruse. Rev. Mulvihill gave the grace.

Mrs. Lucy Knox was in charge of the lively program which followed with Francis Sawyer serving as master-of-ceremonies. Mrs. Ella Harris and Mrs. Lucy Knox shared the honors at the piano.

Many old favorites of the 'gay nineties' were sung during the sing-song which opened the show, and the program of dancing presented by the Ukrainian dancers of Kelowna, under the direction of Mrs. Phillip Large, was heartily appreciated.

Dancers who took part in the presentation were: Marlene Buchy, Donna Goy, David, Jackie-Lynn and Michael Large; Ken Nahm, Richard Sawchuk, Kevin Serwa, Bonnie, Esther and Nita Seneshen, Darrell Woronchak.

Also taking part in the program was Pete Stoltz, who played several selections on his accordion.

Mrs. Tom Ervings rendered two old time solos and Mrs. Knox gave two readings. Lambert Laturnus sang a song of his own composition, words and music.

A humorous portion of the program which brought the 'house' down in laughter, was the appearance of the Scottish lass, as Jack, dressed in highland kilts. As she danced and sang she was accompanied by the laughing fox. The Scottish lass was none other than Mrs. Egidio Orsi, wearing the kilt which belonged to her brother William Wood. He had travelled near and far during his days with the pipe band.

Dancing rounded off the enjoyable evening.

ANN LANDERS

Mother-in-Law Makes Misery Unlimited

Dear Ann Landers: My credentials as a daughter-in-law for more than 20 years qualify me to submit the following rules for all mothers-in-law. If followed, these rules are guaranteed to produce unlimited misery, isolation and anxiety, plus possible side effect of ulcers, migranes and other assorted ailments. When your son marries: Dwell on the fact that you have lost him. Let everyone know he was your whole life—not your own marriage, your other children, just HIM. Talk incessantly about him as a little boy, how he needed you and how he always ran to you with everything. Make him sound dependent for sure—weak, if possible. Don't hesitate to make his business YOUR business. Give advice, suggestions, opinions. After all, you are older, wiser and more experienced. What does he know? If your daughter-in-law isn't a good housekeeper, show her how things should be done. If your son isn't aware of her incompetence, alert him. After all, he grew up in your home and he should know the difference. Remind them both that you will not live forever and they will have plenty of time together after you are gone. Invite them everywhere and insist on being included in all their social activities. Practice making your son feel guilty for neglecting you. Guilt can be a powerful weapon. If you can make his wife feel guilty, too (or better yet, responsible), this can be a neat advantage for weighing future decisions in your favor. If there are children, remember they are your grandchildren. If the parental discipline isn't what it should be (too strict or not strict enough), straighten them around. They may not appreciate it NOW but they will thank you later. If you have a daughter (or more than one daughter-in-law) don't fail to recognize your built-in advantage. Make subtle comparisons. Keep them competing for your approval. If you play it right, your son will be caught in the middle. Remember—you gave your son life. You raised him. He owes everything he is or ever will be to you. His wife got into the act much later. Don't ever let her forget it.—Edict From Nashville family. We feel he made a wonderful choice. Until now I have been the Number One woman in Joe's life. On your wedding day you will occupy that place. And this is as it should be. I am not the least bit resentful. Love for a mother is different from love for a wife. There is plenty of room in his heart for both of us. If you ever feel I am interfering, please tell me to mind my own business. I have made my share of mistakes and you will undoubtedly make yours. This is how people learn. If you want any advice from me, just ask and I will help you if I can. And one last thing—call me Mother or Mom if you want to. If not, my given name will do. Six Goals Washed Out Bucks Still Lose 4-2

Penticton Broncos of the B.C. Junior Hockey League scored six goals in the first two periods Wednesday, and then breezed to a 4-2 victory over Kelowna Buckaroos in Kelowna.

The Broncos, currently in first place in the Interior Division of the BCJHL, six points up on Kamloops Rockets, had their six goals washed out after the second period, when referee Brian Roche discovered their submitted lineup did not include No. 16, Gerry Sismey, who was dressed and playing, picking up two assists.

The most perturbed player on the ice going into the third period, however, was the Broncos' leading scorer, Vic Mercredi, who, fighting tooth and nail for the league scoring title, collected two goals and three assists in the first two periods but had to relinquish his points because of the ruling. Linemate Fred Parent had four assists to his credit.

SHAKE IT OFF
The visitors shook off the disappointment and came back from a revamped 1-0 deficit in the third period, to score four goals, while the Buckaroos managed just one more.

Brian Matlock technically gave the Buckaroos the lead in the first period, scoring his eighth goal of the season, beating Penticton's Dave McLellan on a high blistering shot from about 20 feet out after taking a pass from leftwinger Doug Manchak.

Penticton struck early in the final frame, with defenceman Bruce Affleck tying the score on a screen shot from the point. Manchak put Kelowna into a short-lived 2-1 lead two minutes later, but Mercredi tallied his "third" goal of the game 30 seconds later to deadlock it once more.

Parent put the winner past Ian MacCrimmon on a solo effort at 10:33, while Bob Nicholson added the insurance marker.

In the only other game played Wednesday, Kamloops Rockets stayed six points back of the Broncos with a 4-3 victory over Vernon Essos.

Kelly Pratt got three goals for the winners, while Gord Girard got the other.

Bob Gassoff, Jim Lawrence, and Doug Wiften replied for Vernon.

The Buckaroos next home game is Friday, when they play host to Vernon at 8:30 p.m.

Score Incidental Leafs Beat Habs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs blanked Montreal Canadiens 4-0 in a National Hockey League game in Toronto Wednesday night, but the score was almost incidental as the clubs served 179 minutes in penalties.

The league record of 204 minutes in a game was set 17 years ago in Maple Leaf Gardens by the same teams.

When the ice chips had settled, referee Bill Friday had assessed 105 minutes in penalties to the Canadiens. The NHL referees will likely be enriched to the tune of more than $3,000 because of a first-period donnybrook that emptied both benches.

Ironically, badman John Ferguson of the Canadiens, who probably precipitated the fray when he crashed Leafs Billy MacMillan to the ice earlier then led the rally from the benches, escaped with only a minor for his assault on MacMillan.

In other games, New York Rangers moved into a first-place tie with Boston Bruins in the East Division by tying Los Angeles Kings 2-2. Buffalo Sabres fell into the East Division basement by bowing 6-1 to the West Division-leading Chicago Black Hawks, California Golden Seals drubbed Vancouver Canucks 6-1. Philadelphia Flyers overpowered St. Louis Blues 5-2 and Pittsburgh Penguins played a 2-2 tie with Minnesota North Stars.

be fined when they (Canadiens) started off the bench first."

The Leafs, who heard Wednesday that rookie Guy Trotter will be lost for three to five weeks with a severely bruised right shoulder, saw their casualty list swelled in the first period when winger Paul Henderson stopped a shot by team-mate Ron Ellis with his jaw.

SAYS BONE CRACKED
Team physician Dr. Leith Douglas diagnosed the injury as a cracked jaw bone but hesitated to say how long the winger could be out of action.

Pit Martin celebrated his 27th birthday at home as the Black Hawks cut the Sabres down for their 15th game without a defeat at Chicago Stadium.

Martin had a goal and two assists while team-mate Chico Maki banged in two goals in the first against Buffalo goalie Dave Dryden, who replaced starter Roger Crozier for the last 20 minutes.

Ron Stewart's goal with less than three minutes to play at Los Angeles pulled the Rangers into their 2-2 tie. It was the third straight tie for the Kings, winless in their last six games.

SPARK SEALS
Rookie Ernie Hicke and veteran Earl Ingarfield, with a goal and two assists each, sparked the Golden Seals at Oakland as they broke their game open with five goals in the last two periods.

The Canucks remain fourth in the east, three points behind Montreal and five points up on Detroit Red Wings.

Rookie Serge Bernier's 11th goal of the season and three assists helped sink the Blues in front of 17,782 St. Louis fans.

The victory was Philadelphia's first in St. Louis since the 1968 playoff series and snapped Ernie Wakely's unbeaten string at home at 19 regular season games.

FIGHTS TAKE TIME
The Leafs and Canadiens took nearly an hour to complete the first period but the 130 minutes in penalties was still off the record 184 penalty minutes for a period established by the same teams Dec. 9, 1953.

The Dave Keon-MacMillan-Gary Monahan line gave the Leafs a 3-0 lead with Keon and MacMillan connecting in the first period, which was clearly a Toronto period, and Monahan in the second.

"Everything was mixed up. . . We didn't play well," said Canadiens' coach Al MacNeil after watching his club go winless in their eighth straight game away from home. They have had three ties. "I guess the transition is rougher than I expected," he added, referring to his recent ascension to the head-coaching job following the resignation of Claude Ruel.

Across the hall, Toronto general-manager Jim Gregory was more disturbed by the thought of fines NHL president Clarence Campbell will impose as a result of the first-period ruckus. "I don't know why we should

Trevino For Triple Crown First At $130,000 Bahama Island Open

REPORT, Bahamas (AP)—Lee Trevino is gunning for a triple crown first today going into the first round of the $130,000 Bahama Island open golf tournament.

The self-styled Merry Mexican is leading the field in money won, Vardon Trophy standings and the exemption-point list going into this the last tournament on the pro schedule this year.

The point system was instituted this year to determine exempt players for the 1971 tour. Previously, an official money list had been used. So, should Trevino hold his position, he would be a first.

He leads in money at $147,522, in points at 1,453.16 and in the Vardon Trophy standings with a scoring average of 70.71.

In the money—the category to which the pros attach the most prestige—only Bruce Campton, Arnold Palmer and Frank Beard have a chance to catch him.

The players in second and third place, Billy Casper and Jack Nicklaus, are not competing.

ALL-AMERICA Theisman Edges Plunkett

NEW YORK (AP)—Quarterback Joe Theisman of Notre Dame was named to The Associated Press All-America football team today over Heisman Trophy winner Jim Plunkett of Stanford.

Joining Theisman on the select all-star squad were three repeaters from 1969—offensive guard Chip Kell of Tennessee and defensive guard Jim Stillwagon and corner back Jack Tatum, both of Ohio State.

Texas, Ohio State, Nebraska, Louisiana State and Notre Dame—the teams ranked 1-3-3-4-5 in the AP's final regular season poll—each placed two players on the All-America team.

The Texas representatives were fullback Steve Worster and defensive end Bill Atsiss, for two years Darrell Royal's most solid ballplayers. Ohio State placed Stillwagon and Tatum while Nebraska had offensive tackle Bob Newton and linebacker Jerry Murtaugh.

From LSU's super-quick defence came linebacker Mike Anderson and back Tommy Casanova while the Notre Dames were Theisman and offensive guard Larry DiNardo.

The rest of the offence consisted of tight end Jim Braxton, West Virginia; wide receivers Ernie Jennings, Air Force, and Elmo Wright, Houston; tackle Dan Dierdorf, Michigan; centre Don Popplewell, Colorado, and running back Don McCauley of North Carolina, who shattered O. J. Simpson's one-season national rushing record.

The others on defence were end Charlie Weaver, Southern California; tackles Dick Bumpas, Arkansas, and Rock Perdoni, Georgia Tech; linebacker Jack Ham, Penn State, and back Dave Elmendorf, Texas A and M.

Preissl Hits 100 For Third Time

Attendance improved at the weekly shoot of the B.C. Dragon's 22 Club at Fish and Game headquarters Tuesday, and eleven targets were submitted for scoring.

For the third time this season, Frank Preissl turned in the best possible score of 100, seven shots of which were in the x-ring.

Five targets made the records as follows:
Frank Preissl 100-7x; Ben Bounds 97-4x; Stan Chatham 96-6x; Dennis Newton 95-3x; Ed Raschke 93-2x. The next practice will take place on the 15th inst. at 7 p.m.

Japan Ponders Forces' Draft

TOKYO (Reuter) — A government report on defence has raised the possibility that, despite repeated government denials, Japan may be considering adopting a military draft.

Japan's 250,000-strong self-defence forces today recruit personnel for ground, naval and air units through a volunteer system.

But speculation on a change was revived when a brief statement in the draft report saying

 "a conscription system will not be adopted" was deleted before final cabinet approval was given.

The reason given for the deletion was a conflict of opinion between legal experts on whether conscription was even permissible under the constitution.

Until the end of the Second World War, military service was compulsory for all Japanese men under the constitution.

Meet Discusses Regional Concept

PEACHLAND — The Peachland parks and recreation commission discussed the riding club leases, donations, and the formation of an interim regional recreation commission at its recent meeting held in the recreation hall.

For the first time, Peachland hosts the Okanagan-Similkameen Boundary Recreation Conference to be held March 20, 1971, chairman Don Wilson informed the members. As this is a big undertaking for a small commission, it was agreed to appoint committees to start organizing this conference at the first meeting in January.

Don Wilson gave two reports; the first on the formation of an interim regional recreation commission which has members serving from Oyma to Peachland with Mr. Wilson as the local representative. He said this commission is a study group which will ascertain the feasibility of the setting up of a permanent commission and if the findings are in favor, it will approach the Regional District.

The next report was on the proposed Red Cross youth summer project, a co-operative regional playground program organized and conducted for communities from Peachland to Oyma excluding the City of Kelowna which already has a playground program.

Intermediate objects of the program are to serve the needs of individuals in the constructive use of leisure time and to enrich children's lives by ex-posure to a wide variety of experiences; and to provide summer employment for local high school graduates and university students.

A long range object outlined was that if the present economic situation persists, it is hopeful the program will extend for two years and provide such programs as arts and crafts, sports, field trips, day camps, nature study and first aid training. It is anticipated the potential number of participants is 4,800 children between the ages of five and 14.

All wages of the project-employed students would be paid by the provincial government. Mr. Wilson stated that as representatives of Peachland, both he and Mayor Thwaite had offered full support of Peachland in the program.

Discussed by the commission was the 10-year lease to be entered into with the Peachland Riding Club. A copy was studied and certain changes recommended before signing by the municipal council.

The commission passed a motion seeking to have the municipality amend the commission's financing structure so the group will be credited with such revenue as hall rental and any donations.

A request from the Peachland Curling Club for a donation to enable the club to subsidize junior curlers who wish to curl in the adult leagues, was read and the requested monies allocated.

Evans Re-Elected President Of Peachland Legion Branch

PEACHLAND—Murray Evans was re-elected president at the meeting of Branch 69 of the Royal Canadian Legion Monday.

J. G. Swift of Westbank was elected 1971 vice-president, and Harold Thwaite will be the branch secretary-treasurer.

Executive committee members elected were C. H. Barnard, Richard Rolke and Robert Springer from Westbank; and J. R. Davies, Anthony Colham and Douglas Hardy of Peachland.

The position of sergeant-at-arms will be filled at a future meeting. The newly appointed service officer of the branch is J. G. Sanderson and Legion padre is again Dr. R. D. Mitchell.

No date was set for installation of these new officers but it will be early in the New Year.

Harold Thwaite, acting as chairman for the meeting, introduced two new members who were in attendance, W. L. Lawrence of Peachland and J. Davidson, of Westbank, who has transferred from the Powell River branch.

A letter was read from A. K. Chippindale who made a donation to the branch. This was received with thanks from the membership.

A copy of a special Remembrance Day commemorative issue put out by the Pentecost Herald was received along with a letter thanking Branch 69 and president Evans for help in obtaining a copy of this paper.

Harold Thwaite, as retiring service officer, gave a poppy fund report stating final figures have not yet come in from the Westbank chairman.

He estimated it was slightly more successful than in 1969.

J. G. Sanderson reported on the awards night held in November. This was a successful evening with approximately 120 members and guests sitting down for supper.

He also brought to the attention of the meeting, pictures of the Remembrance Day parade taken by Don Wilson were on view and available if any member wished to order a copy.

A membership report was given by J. R. Davies and six applications for club membership processed and passed by the meeting.

The next regular meeting of the branch will be held Jan. 4 at 8 p.m. in the Legion hall.

DISTRICT SOCIALS

PEACHLAND Receiving congratulations on the birth of their first child are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newton of Sanderson Road. This new arrival, a daughter, was born at the Summerland General Hospital Dec. 7.

A very successful tea and bazaar was held Friday afternoon at the Peachland Community Hall. The United Church Women, organizers of the social occasion, again lived up to their reputation for a good selection of goods.

St. Margaret's Anglican Church Women are holding their annual meeting on Friday, Dec. 11, at 2:30 p.m. in the Peachland Recreation Hall. Annual reports will be given and election of officers for 1971 will take place.

Holiday activities were planned at the recent meeting of the Peachland Teen Town held in the recreation hall. The group will hold a gala Christmas dance at the community hall on Dec. 11, with a contemporary hard rock band providing the music.

The Teen Town also made arrangements to sing carols in the community on Christmas Eve. A report was given on the serving of coffee and doughnuts at the annual stewardship meeting. It was not successful owing to the small attendance, but by selling doughnuts left over, the group broke even.

WESTBANK Mr. and Mrs. John Paynter had a quick trip to Vancouver to meet the Orava and pick up their niece, Miss Pamela Fuller, who had travelled from England via the Panama Canal, to Vancouver.

The Westbank Scouts and Cubs held their semi-annual juice drive, sponsored by the Scout and Cub Group Committee, Saturday. The next group committee meeting will be held today at 8:30 p.m., at Mrs. Derbyshire's home. All group committee members are asked to attend.

A home bake sale will be held at Westbank Pharmacy on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., sponsored by the Parents' Committee of Lakeview Guides and Brownies.

THIEU ADVISER DIES

SAIGON (AP) — Nguyen Cao Thang, 50, a close adviser to President Nguyen Van Thieu, died Tuesday on the plane that returned Vice-President Nguyen Cao Ky to South Vietnam. He had been suffering from throat cancer.

Volunteer Group Hears Reports

RUTLAND — A meeting of the Rutland Volunteer Recreation Services group was held in the United Church activity room Monday with Mrs. Florence Fazan, president of the local branch, in the chair.

Various team captains reported activities for the month of November.

Whispering Pines had a varied program with some interesting slides being shown by W. S. Pierce. John Wilson provided music, and another afternoon was spent just "visiting". Mrs. J. A. Garner is captain of the Whispering Pines group.

Reporting for the Golden Age home group was Mrs. W. D. Quigley who had a musical program, with Rev. J. E. McEwan singing old favorite hymns and songs and accompanying himself on the banjo.

At Valleyview, each individual had been visited by Mrs. J. Jones and her assistants.

Mrs. Rigate, volunteer executive director from Kelowna, was present and reported on a visit she made to the new Mountain View rest home in Rutland. She found the management very cooperative with the VRS program, and it is hoped a leader may be found to take charge of programs there. In the meantime the same programs will be arranged.

There is still a great need for volunteer workers, as the group would like to expand to include visits to the individual homes of shut-ins.

In view of the much larger scope of the society a change of name is being considered. The local name for the Rutland group would become Kelowna Retirement Services, Rutland branch.

Rev. T. Rudfred, Rutland Gospel Tabernacle, attended the meeting and expressed willingness to help, and to bring the need for assistance to the attention of members of his congregation.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 18 in the United Church activity room.

MASS MEDIA REPORT

Chain Buying Best Hope For More Daily Papers

By STEWART MacLEOD
OTTAWA (CP) — Concluding that the advantages and disadvantages of group ownership are "finely balanced," the Senate committee on the mass media Wednesday recommended the creation of a Press Ownership Review Board "with powers to approve or disapprove mergers between, or acquisitions of, newspapers and periodicals."
"The board should have one basic guideline, spelled out in its enabling legislation: all transactions that increase concentration of ownership in the mass media are undesirable and contrary to the public interest—unless shown to be otherwise."

Referring to the fine balance of advantages and disadvantages in group ownership, the committee report, tabled in the Senate, said media monopolies seem to operate against the public interest only when the owner allows it to happen.
"But if the owner has a genuine commitment to public service, if he places his own interests ahead of his own dividends, he can readily offset what the committee has come to regard as the intrinsic dangers of ownership concentration."

ONUS ON OWNER
"There is no such thing as a 'good' chain or a 'bad' chain—only good and bad owners."
The biggest newspaper chain in Canada, says the report, is FP Publications Ltd., with eight dailies and a combined circulation of 855,170. It is followed by the Southam group which has 11 dailies and a circulation of 849,364.
The Thomson group has 30 dailies with a circulation of 400,615. The Desmaris-Parisiens-Francoeur group has four dailies in Quebec with a combined circulation of 319,770, and Industrialist K. C. Irving owns all five English-language dailies in New Brunswick. The total circulation of the five is 104,442.
While group ownership can lead to "the sort of numbing journalistic conformity that characterizes the Thomson newspaper," it can also confer benefits, such as preventing more newspapers from dying, the report stated.
"When two group-owned dailies are competing in the same town, the result is usually a 'Truce' instead of a winner-take-all struggle for circulation."
"Indeed our best hope for more daily newspapers seems to lie with chains."
In recommending the establishment of an ownership review board, the committee said the country should not tolerate a situation "where the public interest in so vital a field as information is dependent on the greed or goodwill of an extremely privileged group of businessmen."
The review board would function in relation to the print media as the Canadian Radio-Television Commission does in relation to broadcasting. It would not interfere with ownership changes resulting from gifts and bequests and it would not have the authority to intervene retroactively.

Council Scores Portugal

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — With Western representatives sitting on their hands, the 15-country Security Council condemned Portugal Tuesday for its involvement in the invasion of Guinea last month.
The Western countries on the council—the United States, Britain, France and Spain—abstained on the voting because they did not like the language of the resolution, although they admitted Portuguese involvement.
The resolution was passed 11 to 0 after several days of debate of a report by a five-country special mission that was sent to Guinea after the Nov. 22-23 invasion.
That mission reported that the tiny Marxist African state was invaded from the neighboring Portuguese Guinea with the aid of Portuguese armed forces.

Court Will Not Hear Petition To Hold Marchand For Contempt

MONTREAL (CP) — The Quebec Superior Court declined Wednesday to hear a petition to hold Jean Marchand, federal minister of regional economic expansion, in contempt of court.
The petition was presented Nov. 25 by a lawyer representing labor leader Michel Chartrand, who awaits trial Jan. 7 on charges of seditious conspiracy and membership in the outlawed Front de Liberation du Quebec.
Mr. Chartrand, president of the Montreal council of the Confederation of National Trade Unions, contended in the petition that Mr. Marchand made a prejudicial reference to him in a speech last month.
Mr. Justice Ignace Deslauriers ruled Wednesday that the petition was "both inappropriate and inopportune" and it would not be in the public interest to hear it.
Mr. Justice Deslauriers said the petition was based on a remark taken out of context. It did not quote the rest of the minister's statement and also omitted to mention many "essential circumstances" surrounding the statement.

Reports Say Newspapers Collect Most Radio, TV News

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate committee on the mass media says the vast majority of news broadcast on radio and television is based on information collected by newspapers.
In a report tabled Wednesday in the Senate, the committee says it learned of one case where two radio stations in the same town broadcast "exactly the same news stories, word for word."
News is obtained from newspapers by The Canadian Press, the national news-gathering cooperative, and distributed across Canada. Broadcast News, a CP subsidiary, distributes the same news to many radio and TV stations.
"For the work of Broadcast News, we have mostly respect," the committee says. "It provides a good basic service at modest cost and every news broadcasting operation relies on it at least to some extent."

But the committee welcomes the recent development of other radio news services in addition to BN such as Contemporary News and Standard Broadcast News.
"These services contribute to a diversity of viewpoint that is most welcome in news broadcasts and is equally welcome in the related area in the public affairs features."
The committee says many people feel TV is the most reliable source of news are that the television station and the local newspaper both obtained that story from the same place, CP-EN, and it is not inconceivable that the same CP man wrote them both.
The committee says broadcasters tend to place more importance on entertainment programming than news. It urges both the publicly-owned CBC and the private CTV network to improve TV news.

Canada Has Made Great Strides Towards National Unity—Cadioux

PARIS (CP) — Canada has made great strides toward national unity despite the recent terrorist crisis in Quebec province, Leo Cadioux, Canadian ambassador to Paris, said Wednesday.
"The truth, the historical truth," he told members of the Franco-America Committee and the Franco-Canada Institute, "is that in spite of all the divisions and crises we have passed through, we have not only held firm but have grown and prospered together."
It was the former defence minister's first official speech since he was named ambassador to France last October.
Mr. Cadioux cited progress in the development of the Canadian North as an example of a country working together.
"There have been divisions and contradictions, but there have also been successes: Confederation itself and total independence in the Commonwealth."
"If there have been tragedies and conflicts, there have been and achievements: The construction of a railway network, development of air travel, radio and television in the two official languages across Canada and the growth of our industrial complex and our integral economic system."

uniqueness—"two distinct peoples" within the same boundaries—makes it the stage for an experience of international importance.
Also, French Canada had been launched into the modern world, with a Montreal subway system, great highways, the giant Manicouagan hydroelectric project and factories along the St. Lawrence River.

BELONGS TO CANADIANS
"All of Canada belongs to all Canadians, whether they speak French or English."
The battle over Quebec separatism would not be won "by those who shout the loudest, who publish the most manifestos, who are most ready to brand their adversaries as traitors, but by a conquest of hearts and souls."
Mr. Cadioux said Canada's

Space Docking To Be Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union formally confirmed Wednesday their agreement to study means of docking spacecraft together in orbit.

Heroin Haul Worth $33,000

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — An RCMP officer discovered 2,250 capsules of heroin early Tuesday when he stopped a car at a roadblock following a $10 service station holdup.
The driver tried to make a getaway while he was being questioned and during the ensuing struggle, a brown paper bag containing 50 capsules of the drug fell onto the road.
Forty-four other bundles were found in the car and the RCMP said it had a street value of $33,000.
Michael Campbell Beardell, 23, of North Vancouver was released on $20,000 after he appeared in court on a charge of possession of narcotics for the purpose of trafficking.

More Reporters Abroad
Urged For CP In Report

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Press as a Canadian news-clearing house does its job "supreinely well" but should have more reporters abroad, says the special Senate committee on mass media.

The committee's report,
tabled in the Senate Wednesday, suggests that CP, the 103-paper
co-operative news-gathering agency, should add at least six men to its staff of foreign correspondents at an estimated annual cost of $40,000 for each reporter.

CP has nine men in New York, four in London, two in Washington and one in Paris.
The report says CP could and should be doing a better job for the people of Canada in the foreign field.

"We think it is immensely important that the reporters who give us our picture of the world should reflect a kind of bias that Canadians tend to share, rather than the bias that Americans or Frenchmen or Englishmen tend to share."

CP's view of how to cover
other countries was "limited."

SHUN REWRITES
Its foreign correspondents should concentrate on review and analysis instead of "watching and rewriting local news-agency files and newspapers."

CP should report the world scene "as Canadians speaking to Canadians."

The committee acknowledged that it is going against some of the evidence in this regard.
"CP itself does not admit the necessity for a kind of world events through Canadian eyes.
(Why, then, does it put Canadian staff men in Washington,
the United Nations, New York,
London and Paris?)"

"Most of the publishers we questioned think the news we get from three foreign agencies
via CP is jim-dandy."

"And when we asked the Canadian people... we appeared to get a similar response."

A committee survey showed that 72 per cent of those questioned thought the balance of local and international news good. On the average, daily newspapers devoted 67.1 per cent of their news content to Canadian news, 32.9 to international events.

But the problem was not how to get more international news
but how to increase the "Canadian content."

ASKS REVIEW
"We hope CP will reconsider its policy on the kind of reporting it wants from abroad and that the newspapers which provide it with funds will take an other look at the (cost) figures."

The report says there are other agencies that serve the press in Canada but CP carries the news load "and the newspapers could not live without it."

CP was "fast, comprehensive, reliable, thorough" and often more colorful than it is often given credit for.

CP was a strong force for national unity but was weak in its attention to the arts and cultural matters and to the currents of social change.

CP was "somewhat too slavishly attached to the hard-news, who-what-where-why-when tradition of journalism and too little concerned with interpretation, imagination and the stirrings of the spirit."

The nine French-language members of CP could fairly claim to receive a service inferior to that in English.

But this was a typically Canadian problem "and we commend CP for its determined efforts to give adequate service to its French-language members."

NEEDS MET
The subscribers to the French-language service of CP believed the agency was doing

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

A Fancy Name For The Itch

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is pruritus? Cause? Cure? Do you have a home remedy to suggest?—Mrs. L.B.J.

Pruritus (prew-RIE-us) is a technical term for itch, and itching is a simple affliction with a multitude of causes. An itch is irritation of the nerve ends in the skin. If the outer layer of skin is not there—as with a scraped knee or a burn—there is pain but no itching.

Of course, everybody has an itch once in a while. Usually you scratch it, and that's it. But when itching is severe and an ordinary little scratch won't correct it, you have to start looking for the cause and cure. If you scratch so much that you damage the skin and cause bleeding—then, it's past due time to get medical help. Don't wait any longer! Such scratching can lead to infection, and then you'll have two problems instead of one.

But to get to causes: they are too numerous to list completely, but common ones are allergy, fungus infections, skin disorders, systemic diseases (such as diabetes, blood disorders, kidney disease, and diseases involving jaundice), too dry skin, lice, poor hygiene, and the genital skin.

Itching around the genitals is common with diabetes, and with vaginal infections. Anal (rectal) itching, very often called by the term pruritus, can be provoked by hemorrhoids. Quite often it is a matter of hygiene, and washing (rather than depending on toilet tissue) sometimes is a sufficient answer. Use of scented or colored toilet paper has on occasion been found to be the cause. Sometimes excess moisture is a factor, and placing a small wad of cotton at the anus, to absorb any moisture, often helps.

With older people, excessively dry skin may develop and cause generalized itching. Too frequent bathing makes it worse. Keeping clean is fine, of course, but with a dry skin, baths can be overdone. Emollient skin lotions are helpful in such cases.

I may or may not have touched on your particular type of pruritus, Mrs. L.B.J., but I trust that I've given you at least a clue. There are so many kinds of itching that I can't be very specific without knowing which particular form is bothering you.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you give me any information on a drug called Antabuse? I understand this is supposed to help people with a drinking problem. How successful is it, and is it available in drug stores?—W.J.

It is a useful drug, and a powerful one, but not a surefire cure for drinking problems. Properly used, it helps. Improperly used, it's a waste of time and money. And can be dangerous.

When a patient is taking the drug, any use of alcohol will make him sick as a dog (how-ever sick a dog gets!). For the person sincerely trying to quit drinking, this drug is a great help if he has occasional weak moments when he is tempted—because he knows what will happen if he gives in and takes a drink.

The weak link in the chain is that not all patients are really sincere. Secretly or otherwise, they stop taking the drug so they can sneak a drink. That means the ball game is lost. It must be added that the drug is too powerful for it to be given to a patient without his knowledge. Therefore, you can't get it in a drug store unless you have a prescription.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

AXYDIBAAAXE IS LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three I's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

OFFICE HOURS

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Mar. 21 to Apr. 20 (Aries)—Don't worry about opposition. With ingenuity, you can lick it.

Apr. 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Personal interests—especially romance—take the spotlight now.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—A little extra "push" could bring you closer to your goals.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Be contained. Anxiety could be detrimental to your goals.

July 24 to Aug. 23 (Leo)—You can expect some gratifying recognition for past efforts today.

Aug. 24 to Sept. 23 (Virgo)—Discard outmoded ideas and methods. Give thought to new trends.

Sept. 24 to Oct. 23 (Libra)—Creative pursuits activated now. Your inspiration at a peak.

Oct. 24 to Nov. 23 (Scorpio)—Some intrigue in your area. Keep involvement to a minimum.

Nov. 23 to Dec. 21 (Sagittarius)—Your day for influencing others, getting what you want.

Dec. 22 to Jan. 20 (Capricorn)—Discretion needed now. Don't give—or invite—confidences.

Jan. 21 to Feb. 19 (Aquarius)—Delightful companionship gives social tone to a business trip.

Feb. 20 to Mar. 20 (Pisces)—Today's efforts produce long-range rather than immediate benefits.

Astropects—A generally good day, but be careful not to over-reach yourself on any account. Do not make promises you cannot possibly keep and don't make any long-term financial commitments.

Opening lead—king of clubs. When the opponents undertake a slam—presumably because they think they can make it—you must be doubly careful about doubling their action. There is a chance that your action will alert declarer and cause him to play the hand uncharacteristically and in that way bring home the contract.

West learned this the hard way when he doubled six diamonds on the sequence shown. Of course, he had good reason to think he would score two trump tricks and beat the contract at least one, but nonetheless he would have been smarter not to have let the cat out of the bag by doubling.

Had South played the hand in straightforward fashion, he would surely have bitten the dust. But warned by the double that West probably had four or five diamonds headed by the K-10, as well as the K-Q of clubs, declarer proceeded to rob West of one of his two trump tricks.

Upon winning the club lead with the ace, declarer cashed dummy's ace of spades before crossing to his hand with a heart to the queen. He then ruffed a spade and cashed the A-K of hearts on which he discarded the 7-6 of spades.

South next ruffed a club, ruffed the spade queen in dummy, and ruffed another club to reduce his hand to the A-Q-J-9 of trumps. By this time West had only the K-10-7-3 of trumps left.

The lead of the queen of diamonds put an end to West's dwindling hopes. He did all he could when he ducked, but declarer mercilessly continued with the jack and West suddenly became a sadder but wiser man.
