BOWLING GREEN, KY.

Jan. 18, 1919.

Dear Sir:

The world has turned a corner. May I ask you to join me in turning just such a corner.

Uppermost in the minds of men are high ideals, now as never before.

Can we not lead out in selecting for high places, men of such calibre, men who are in tune with the times, men who are not politicians, but men of public service and unimpeachable purpose?

My friend and fellow countian, whom I know to be a man of this type, Mr. H. H. Cherry, is a candidate for nomination by the Democratic party for Governor. He is clean, unselfish, a man of ideals, honest and of high character, whose one aim has been to serve, and to serve well, one of the highest type men that I know.

May I ask you to support his candidacy and to suggest anything that may occur to you in his behalf?

Yours very truly,

J. Whit Potter
