The Stickles History Club held its first meeting of the fall semester October 8, 1959, at the Kentucky Building with Billy Hunt presiding. William Strickland introduced the program which was a panel discussion of the exchange visits of top-level diplomats. The guest panel composed of Mr. Herman Lowe, Mr. William Jenkins, and Dr. Walter Munday answered questions directed to them by the student panel composed of Billy Hunt, Lerond Curry, and Robert Ritchie.

Some comments from the panelists were: that Mr. Khrushchev is sincere in his belief that communism will finally triumph over capitalism; that the rising prosperity of Russia may lead to conservatism and a change in the Russian way of thinking toward the United States; that a sudden change of attitude on the part of Russia could upset our foreign policy and present economy; that President Eisenhower will be well-received in Russia.

After the program retiring president, Billy Hunt, expressed appreciation to club members for their cooperation and assistance and introduced the newly elected president, Charles Holmes, who in turn introduced the officers for the fall semester and the faculty members followed by closing remarks by Dr. Poter.
