Noted Minister Conducts Second Vesper Service

LARGE GROUP HEAR GOUWENS SOCIAL PROBLEMS TOPIC OF SERMON

The Rev. Dr. T. E. Gouwens, nationally famous Presbyterian minister, conducted the second vesper service of Western on Sunday evening, June 25. Dr. Gouwens declared that the meaning of his text "I Am the Way, the Truth, and the Life," has never been fully explored. "The text," said the speaker, "probes the individual's heart. It sweeps the universe, and it penetrates eternity. It is the most stupendous claim," he continued, "that ever fell from any man."

While Dr. Gouwens' sermon dealt with the general social problem of the present day, he was chiefly concerned with the individual "for," said the speaker, "every social problem is a personal problem."

The Rev. Dr. J. G. Akin, pastor of the State Street Methodist Church, was in charge of the service; the invocation was given by the Rev. E. C. Lampton, pastor of the Broadway Methodist Church; Dr. Groves conducted the devotional, and the Rev. George E. Coleman of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church pronounced the benediction.

The music was in charge of Dr. John Vincent of the Music Department. A chorus of ninety members gave two numbers.

Dr. J. L. Harman of the Business University, in his endorsement of the annual vesper service, praised the spirit of worship shown each Sunday evening by the large audiences composed of people of all denominations.

The remaining vesper services will be conducted in the Western stadium unless rain necessitates its being held in Van Meter auditorium as on the two previous Sunday evenings.

Work was begun this week on the $40,000 reconduction project designed to modernize and expand the facilities of the heating plant here on the southwest side of the campus.

The contemplated project includes the installation of a reconditioned boiler with new automatic stokers, the laying of a steam line to the new music building and the construction of an "inducted draft" system for the plant's smokestack.

Work on the project is to be done by a special construction crew under the direction of a resident engineer appointed by the head of the University of Kentucky's School of Engineering, who will generally supervise the work.

JUBILEE SINGERS GIVE PROGRAM

Fisk Organization Heard Here June 27

An appreciative chapel audience heard the Fisk Jubilee Singers in a program of Negro Spirituals Tuesday, June 27. The program was opened by the spiritual, "Steal Away To Jesus," which was received with enthusiasm—that the audience continued to display throughout the entire program.

Other selections heard were: "On A Journey Now," "Climbin' Up The Mountain," "Deep River," "John The Revelator," "Little David," and completed the program with "Two Wings," which scored particularly with the audience.

Mrs. James A. Myers, the only woman with the Fisk Octette, has been director since 1915 and has conducted them on several European tours. Other members of the chorus consisted of Herbert Rutherford, Carl Weems, Leonard Franklin, William Collier, Cecil Reeves, Arthur Bostic, and Oswald Lampton.

The Fisk Singers are under the management of Fisk University, which they sang into existence.

NOTED SPEAKER HEARD HERE

Commencement Address Is Given By Dr. Hill

Dr. John L. Hill, perhaps the most popular speaker of the South, delivered the baccalaureate sermon to Western graduates on Sunday evening, May 29. His subject was "That I May Know Him and the Power of His Resurrection." An appreciative crowd packed Van Meter Auditorium to hear this famous radio speaker, college instructor, and book editor of the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville, Tennessee.

Dr. Hill, although not a minister, is a profound student of the Bible. His great interest in young people, together with his long teaching experience in Georgetown College, Georgetown, Kentucky, and Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee, combine to make him a speaker whom graduates love and whose messages they cherish.

Dr. Hill spoke of the desirability of a beautiful correspondence such as Paul had with the Philippians and pointed out that the things which Paul stressed, namely: the knowledge of Christ, the power of His Resurrection, and the fellowship of His suffering should be the worthy ambition of every Christian; for this ambition gives victory over loneliness, temptation, misunderstanding, abuse, suffering, and apparent defeat.

Dr. Paul L. Garrett, president of Western and former student of Dr. Hill, presented the speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Denman visited Mr. Denman's parents at Fort Worth, Texas, during the holidays.

MARRIED

CARL "SWEDE" ANDERSON

By Robert L. Pay

Carl "Suede" Anderson, whose resignation as Athletic Director and head football coach at Western became effective today, joined the ranks of the benedicts Tuesday afternoon by virtue of his marriage to Miss Juanita Wade of this city at Harrison Chapel at the Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Louisville. The Reverend Harold Weir conducted the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Euclid Wade of Bowling Green. She is a former student of Western and attended the Curry School of Expression at Boston, Mass. For the past several years she has taught dramatics in Bowling Green, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will make their home in Bloomington, Indiana.

Alvin N. "Bo" McMillin, head coach of football at Indiana University, a close friend of Anderson's and mentor under whom "Suede" will work, acted as best man for the wedding. Mrs. McMillin was matron of honor. The couple obtained their license at the Jefferson County Court House Tuesday afternoon and were wed shortly after.

The marriage came as somewhat of a surprise to local friends and colleagues of Anderson, as no intimation of such plans had been revealed by him. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left for a brief trip to Canada before "Suede" reports to Bloomington the latter part of next week to assume his new duties as assistant coach to McMillin.

Anderson tendered his resignation as coach and Athletic Director here March 19 to accept the position at Indiana. His resignation became effective today. Anderson first came to Western in 1927 as assistant coach. In 1929 he was elected head coach but left Western the following year to be with McMillin at Kansas State. He stayed there until 1934 when Western called him back as head of the Physical Education Department, Director of Athletics and head football coach.

Athletic Set-Up Still Puzzle
With the football season not far off, the athletic setup at Western still remains a puzzle. In announcing Anderson's resignation, March 19, President Paul L. Garrett stated that the coaching situation had been worked out and that no new coach would be employed for the 1938 season. The present assistant coaches, W. L. Terry and E. A. Stansbury, together with basketball coach E. A. Diddle will handle the coaching duties, with their respective responsibilities to be announced. The announcement has not been forthcoming as yet, but the addition of "Teddy" Hornback to the coaching staff here indicates a diversified coaching situation.

WESTERN OBSERVES 4TH

President Paul L. Garrett announced in chapel Tuesday that the entire college would observe the Fourth of July.

Although there will be no school Monday it was emphasized that Saturday classes would meet as usual and that work on the Hill will be resumed on Tuesday, July 5 at 7:15.

Pres. Garrett Receives LL. D. Degree

Degree Conferred By Sherwood

President Paul L. Garrett, of Western, received the LL. D. degree at the annual commencement of Georgetown College this June. The degree was conferred on President Garrett by Dr. Henry Noble Sherwood, president of Georgetown.

After graduation from Georgetown, Dr. Garrett did graduate work in the University of Chicago and the University of Kentucky. At Georgetown he majored in history and political science. While doing his graduate work he specialized in education and psychology.

Dr. Garrett has held several positions in connection with various schools. He was principal of the Crittenden High School from 1915 to 1917. Following this term he served as principal of the Campbellburg High School for two years.

During the years 1918-19 Dr. Garrett served with the A. E. F. From 1919 until 1924 he was principal of the New Castle High School.

Dr. Garrett served as superintendent of the Versailles city schools until February, 1937 when he was granted a leave of absence to become the director of personnel for the State of Kentucky. In this post he succeeded J. M. Manning of the University of Kentucky.

Dr. Garrett came to Western in September, 1937.

Many friends and members of Western and former school faculties were present for the graduation.

2nd Annual "Round-Up" Held Here Yesterday

FIRST VESPER HELD JUNE 19

Georgetown Leader Addresses Group

Dr. Henry Noble Sherwood, president of Georgetown College, Georgetown, Kentucky, spoke to a large audience in Van Meter Auditorium, Sunday evening, June 19, in the first Vesper Service of the summer.

Dr. Sherwood spoke forcefully on the present moral situation in America and offered as an antidote to this moral breakdown, a generation of people who "Think and practice the examples of Christ." He gave specific examples of prosperity, religious institutions, and academic education having failed in other nations to make a lasting civilization. The speaker appealed to the fathers on this Fathers Day to practice Christianity.

An outstanding feature of the service was the musical program under the direction of Prof. John Vincent, head of the Music Department. In addition to the congregational singing, there was a girls' sextette which sang "Hark, Hark, My Soul" by Shelley. The sextette was composed of Misses Norma Laguna, Barbara Ford, Sue Fagley, Della Hazybrigg, Myrtle Page, and Mary Louis Starks. Mr. Charles W. Cannon was at the piano.

The Rev. J. G. Akin, pastor of the State Street Methodist Church and acting chairman of the Ministerial Association of Bowling Green and Western, presided.

The speaker was presented by President Paul L. Garrett. Dr. and Mrs. Sherwood were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Garrett while on the campus.

Matthews, director of Western's Training School since August 1, 1930, resigned his post in June to assume duties as one of the three executive administrators of the Bowling Green Business University on September 1. At the present time Mr. Matthews and his family are in California where Mr. Matthews is attending the International Rotary Convention as president of the local club. They are to leave California Saturday enroute to Bowling Green, visiting various points of interest in the West on the return trip. Last summer Mr. Matthews was a delegate to an international meeting of the Rotary Convention held in Europe.

NYA PROGRAM TO CONTINUE

Allotment Is Expected By July 15

"Western expects to continue NYA work during the coming year," said Sterrett Cuthbertson, who is in charge of that work on the campus.

"In general, work done by students in this department during the past year was quite satisfactory, and it is hoped that the scope may be extended for 1938-39," continued the director of NYA. The college office expects to receive official notification concerning the 1938-39 allotment by July 15. After that time the committee will be in position to consider 1938-39 applications for student aid under the NYA.

The official report of NYA work in the institution is not yet complete. However, the office states that approximately $18,900 was distributed to about 134 students. These students were employed in every type of work on the Hill: library stenographic, clerical, copy, farm and mechanical and electrical work.

Students receiving government work, with a few exceptions, did satisfactory work, according to Mr. Cuthbertson. The office has made a comparative study of the academic standing of NYA students and non-NYA students. The study shows that the NYA students have a slightly higher average.

FRIDAY, JULY 1, 1938

ROUND-UP

Men's thirst for a back-to-nature move was quenched last night at the second annual "Round-Up." Manners and etiquette were forgotten. Clothes were not a problem, and anything was all right.

The purpose of this program was to draw the students of Western and the Bowling Green Business University and the men of the community closer together. And in doing this the "Round-Up" succeeded. Every class of men was represented, from the big business man down to the college freshman.

The general standing of the student and the business man has been in the past one of great differences. Each lived in a completely separate world. The "Round-Up" eliminated this and both groups met on ground of the same level. It was the opportunity for the men of the colleges and the men of the town to get acquainted.

This program didn't just happen. It was carefully planned, advertised and executed by a capable group of men and boys at Western. They are to be commended.

It is hoped that this type of program will be continued and grow in repute.

VILLAGE

Spring cleaning swept over the village recently and several important changes were made. The man behind the "broom" is Ed Stansbury. Mr. Stansbury sponsored the clean-up and painting program that has completely rejuvenated the village.

Mr. Stansbury not only brought about physical changes in the set-up of the village but he issued the first in a series of bulletins that set forth rules and regulations which will be used and followed in the future by the boys who live in the village. These bulletins are to be issued periodically.

Mr. Stansbury and his wife personally supervise the care and guardianship of the village. They say that the aim of the move is to make the village a better place in which to live.

BRIDES

In looking through the pages of this issue of the Herald the reader will notice an extraordinary number of wedding announcements. This is due to several reasons. Many students have completed their education and wish to start work and settle down. Others are still under the impression that two can live as economically as one, but it takes reality to teach some people the error of their ideas. We would like to think that the increase in marriages was not because of the month of June but an indication of the return of prosperity.

FRENCH CLUB PRESENTS CUP

Mrs. Clagett Honored At Meeting

The French Club presented a silver loving cup to Mrs. J. H. Clagett on June 3 on behalf of the present members and the associated old members. Mrs. Helen Ruckman made the presenting speech. The presentation was made at a tea given by Miss Marjorie Clagett at her home on the Nashville road to the club members and visiting alumni in honor of two outstanding graduates, Eleanor Pearce who won the Ogden medal for scholarship and Jarle Covington who was selected as the representative senior girl. Miss Pearce and Miss Covington were crowned with laurel wreaths and presented with prizes as is done in French schools. Mrs. R. C. Moss of Bowling Green was a guest and Mrs. Walter Pearce of Bowling Green served.

Dr. Wilson Speaks At Kiwanis Meeting

Dr. Gordon Wilson, head of the English Department at Western, was the principal speaker Monday, June 27 at the "All Kiwanis Night" dinner program which was held at the Helm Hotel.

The dinner program consisted of invocation by the Rev. Dr. R. T. Skinner, pastor of the First Baptist Church; xylophone solo, Tommy Smith; and group singing led by V. P. Cassaday. Dr. Wilson spoke on "Good Fellowship."

Following the dinner, which was served at 6:30, a dance was held at the Armory building from 9 until 12.

The program was held in observance of the "All Kiwanis Night," which was a continent-wide observance. Some 2,000 clubs in the United States and Canada participated in the observance.

Dr. L. Y. Lancaster, head of the Biological Department of Western, is president of the local club.

By Slim O'Daniel

Students of the Industrial Arts Department together with several others who possess skill and technical ability have been benefited greatly by the maintenance and production program that is being carried on by the Industrial Arts Department under the direction of Mr. L. T. Smith, the head of the department.

Recent investigations show that during the past eighteen years there have been employed an average of twelve students per school year.

This program not only provides a means for the students to earn a part of their expenses while in school, but offers them an opportunity to gain practical experience in the technical field.

Western has also benefited from this program, in that much of the equipment in the various buildings on the Hill has been built at a saving in cost. Such equipment as that used in the Home Economics Department, the tables, book cases, and desks of the Training School; some of the tables in the college library; all of the display cases of the Kentucky museum; the equipment of the Ogden Department of Science; the tables of the dining room and the benches and other furnishing of the Industrial Arts building. Physical, education and track equipment, and the new press box are products of the men of the Industrial Arts Department.

Bertha Nichols, who graduated in 1935 and who has been teaching at Versailles, Ky., is attending summer school at Duke University, Durham, N. C.

Thelma Davis, A. B. '38, will teach art at Knoxville, Tenn.

Evelyn Thomas, B. S. '38, will teach at Crofton.

J. O. Ward, Whitesville, A. B. '37, will teach at Mattson, Crittendon County, Ky.

Nona Glenn, A. B. '38, will be at Morganfield High School for the coming year.

August Winkenhoffer, A. B. '37, sophomore at the University of Louisville College of Law spent the week of June 5 with his parents here.

LaMar Stephan, A. B. '32, will again be a member of the Geography Department of Kent College, Kent, Ohio, for the coming year.

Mr. Orba F. Traylor of the Economic Department, has written a book review in the June issue of the American Economic Review.

The book, "The Railway Interrelations of the United States and Canada," was written by W. J. Wilgus.

Library Receives File Of English Magazine

The College Library has recently acquired an unusually fine and long file of the English Magazine. The period covered is from 1831 to 1929, from volume 1 to volume 233. This magazine, which was published each month, contains essays on current topics, selections of poetry, foreign news, prices of goods and stocks, lists of new books, notices of marriages, deaths, and births. Illustrations add to the value of the material for the departments of English and history. Samuel Johnson was both a sponsor and a writer for it. Boswell also frequently contributed articles to this magazine. The word "magazine" was first used in the title of a periodical with this publication. The purpose of the magazine was to publish a periodical less formal and more original than other journals of that period. The Gentleman's Magazine is one of the most important acquisitions ever made by the College Library.

Red and Gray Continue During Summer

Western's dance orchestra, the Red and Gray, is still intact this summer. A girl vocalist, Margaret Gunn, is featured with most of the old members being present.

The Western students who compose it are: Rex Osteen, Robert Chownoweth, George Luce, Nick Ungurian, Bob Walker, Bice McEwan, John Farris, Homer Arheiger, Tommy Ayers, and Margaret Gunn.

Advertising Is Topic For Class Talk

Howard W. Robey, Western graduate and former business manager of the College Heights Herald, who is now teaching in Western Junior High School, Louisville, addressed the journalism class at Western on June 23 on the subject "Advertising as Applied to a College Newspaper."

In his talk Mr. Robey, who is the faculty advisor for the Western Junior High School publication, defined advertising as "contact between the seller and consumer," and characterized advertising as "a source of sales-promotion for the seller."

Mr. Robey stressed valuable newspaper advertising depends upon makeup, display and arrangement. He listed as the most important virtues of advertising, truthfulness and accuracy.

Mr. Robey's discussion was heard by 12 students who are members of the present class in Journalism and the instructor, Miss Frances Richards.

Cornette Resumes Position

Prof. James P. Cornette has returned from Peabody, where he was in school for the spring semester, and has resumed his position as instructor of English.

WORK ADVANCES ON MUSIC HALL

To Be Completed By February '38

The new music building, which has been under construction for several months, is expected to be completed and ready for classes by February, 1938. The building, stone veneer with brick sustaining walls, will front two directions: one facing the stadium, the other the central court.

The building will contain six or eight class rooms, about fifteen practice rooms, a band room large enough for one hundred fifty members, and a choral room with a capacity of two hundred. The ceilings of the rooms are to be covered with acoustical tile. It is a three-story building of about 80 x 100 feet. Practically all of the material for its completion is on the ground. Almost all of the material salvaged from the old Potter College building has been used, including all of the brick and lumber.

During his trip he visited numerous friends in Beaver Falls and Pittsburgh.

Kentucky Museum Surveyed By Reporter

By Opal Meador

The Kentucky Museum has an interesting collection of colonial costumes, to which it is continually adding. Some articles as old as one hundred years are to be found in the collection.

Among the most recent acquisitions is a wedding dress worn by Mrs. Lula L. Medding, 1344 College street, Bowling Green. It is made of a dark brown material attractively decorated with bright buttons. The dress, containing many yards of material, is made with a hoop skirt, enormous bustle, and is attached to a tiny waist line. The waist is tight fitting, is open down the front, and has long sleeves showing definitely the style of the day.

The Kentucky Museum also has a Russian wedding costume. This dress is made of bright colored satin. A full red skirt, with a green panel down the front, is topped with a yellow jumper. This part is embroidered with a bright colored thread.

A white blouse trimmed in white lace and open down the front, was worn under the jumper. The hat is made of the same colors and has an embroidered strip across the front. This low brim-less, hat is covered with white net, making a very colorful costume.

Of no less interest is the common house dress, which is made of printed cotton material. The floor length skirt is gathered in to the waist. The sleeves are long and are gathered into the shoulder. Elaborate skirts and slender waist lines are emphasized in the house dresses.

The children's dresses are also floor-length. Long waists, short skirts, pleats, tucks, and lace trimming are the outstanding characteristics. All children's dresses of this collection are of cotton material. The best dresses are distinguished from the play dresses in that they are white and usually have an over supply of tucks, pleats, and lace. Their shoes all have higher tops than the children's shoes of today. Even the smallest shoes have high scalloped tops. These small size shoes have heels about one-half inch high. The play shoes are distinguished by the brass plate encircling the toe and the unusually heavy material. Boys and girls wore the same kind of clothing until they were three or four years old.

The Kentucky Museum also has some unique accessories. The fans, a former necessity of ladies, were mostly contributed by Mrs. Henry Scherer. Folding staves, the groundwork of the fan, is either made of fine wood or perforated bone, a variety of materials are used for filling. One fan in particular had perforated bone staves filled with silver colored paper which had a beautiful colonial picture on it. Other's equally attractive are to be found in the collection.

The hat in this collection is more like our present day hats than any other part of the costume. It is a brief straw bonnet trimmed in artificial flowers. Their celluloid combs are rather amusing. They are of an enormous size, about seven or eight inches long with teeth about three or four inches long.

SWIMMING DONT'S

Let the reader despair of deciphering the above sketch this explanation has been prepared to make his path somewhat less filled with trials and tribulations.

According to our benevolent assistant coach and swimming instructor, Ed Stansbury, the above layout can best be interpreted by reading as follows:

SAFETY IN WATER

- 1. Never go swimming while under the influence of alcoholics.
2. Never dive into unfamiliar waters without first investigating for possible obstruction under the water.
3. Wait at least two hours after meals before entering the water.

The perusal and application of these cautions," says Stansbury, "will insure life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Sibert. It also has two suits which belonged to Colonial J. Will Wright, one of Kentucky's first colonels. His hats, swords, and pictures are also in the collection. They are all highly decorated with brass buttons and gold braid.

Vesper Speaker Talks In Chapel

Dr. Henry Noble Sherwood spoke at Chapel on Monday, June 20 following his vesper service on Sunday evening. In his address "Struggle for Quality," Dr. Sherwood emphasized the fact that in all things quality is better than quantity.

As examples of "quality gifts" to civilization the speaker pointed out that smaller nations, Greece with her art, Palestine with her religious leaders, and England with her government, had made real contributions to civilization.

Golfer Turns In Unusual Score

Lee Mulloy, Western student and a golfer of note recently turned in one of the lowest scores ever registered for nine holes of play on the municipal course here when he tabbed a 31. Scoring an eagle on the 296-yard, par 4, No. 2 hole, and several birdies, Mulloy stood a good chance for a 29 coming in to the last hole, but 3 putted for a 31.

Dr. Gordon Wilson, English Department, addressed the Kiwanians at their annual banquet on Monday, June 27.

The topic of his discussion was "Good Fellowship."

DAY, ROBERTSON TOUR IN SOUTH

HISTORICAL SCENES VISITED ON TRIP

Miss Lotta Day, head of the Home Economics Department and Miss Gabrielle Robertson, of the History Department, made a trip during the vacation week to points in Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia, that portray the Old South.

Miss Day and Miss Robertson chose the southern route via Knoxville, Tennessee, passing through Boyton, Virginia. They ferried the James River at Jamestown to visit Carter's Grove, the only plantation home near Jamestown, and next stopped at Williamsburg, Virginia, a restored colonial city and second capitol of the state from 1699 to 1779.

Williamsburg's restoration in old English style is being carried on by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., with the assistance of trained researchers as an endeavor to restore accurately and to preserve for all time the most significant portions of an historic and important city of America's colonial period. Up to the present time 68 colonial buildings have been restored; 122 colonial buildings have been rebuilt; and a number of old gardens have been replanted.

Hostesses and attendants in wigs and period costumes show visitors through the church and aristocrats worshipped; George Wythe's home where early Virginians, such as Thomas Jefferson, studied law; the governor's palace; the Capitol building that was built back on its original foundation in 1928; the public Goal (Jail) and Munitions building; and the Travis House where meals can be secured served in old English China with reproduced silverware.

James R. Huey, B. S. '31, for the past seven years a teacher in the Hamilton High School in Boone County, has accepted a position as the Smith-Hughes instructor at Hebron High.

Miss Frances Anderson and mother, Miss Wallace Anderson and Billy Anderson, recently spent a week in Southern Virginia. While there they visited the scenes of Mrs. Anderson's birthplace, burial grounds of their great-grandparents, and Saltville which was one of the battle grounds of the Civil War.

Dr. A. M. Stiekles spent part of his vacation at Bloomington, Indiana, where he used to attend college.
