

Shelford Takes Federal's To Task

A public hearing may be held soon on alternate routes for Highway 97, about 50 people were told Friday night at a meeting in Winfield Memorial Hall.

Pat Jordan, MLA for North Okanagan and minister without portfolio, said meetings have been held between representatives of the B.C. highways department and the technical planning committees of the north and central Okanagan regional districts. She hoped enough information would be available soon on possible alternate routes to enable a public hearing.

Mrs. Jordan, seeking to retain her seat in the Aug. 30 provincial election, said a complete study has been launched of the highway between the border of the United States and the United States border. Community traffic patterns and future developments are being studied.

"We must have a highway that's not going to be obsolete in seven years," she said. "We may need a highway on the other side of the lake."

The candidate also lauded the federal government for initiating water studies. After four years of negotiating with the federal government, a joint study was started on Okanagan Lake. Studies are being made of Ellison, Wood and Kalamalka lakes as well.

People of this area were praised as being "very independent" and "masters of their own destiny," George Elliot Secondary School was extolled as "one of the finest high schools in the province." There are no massive juvenile delinquency problems here, people enjoy a "high standard of health care," and there are abundant natural recreation activities.

Mrs. Jordan and B.C. agriculture minister Cyril Shelford castigated the federal Liberal government agricultural policies. The MLA said the "cheap food policy" is based on government subsidization of imports, and on encouragement of corporate and state farms. If the federal government would adopt policies laid down by the agriculture ministers of the 10 provinces, farming would march on, claimed Mr. Shelford.

Last year $267 million worth of agricultural goods were imported into Canada.

The Ottawa government should be concerned about a program under which farm products can be processed in the U.S. and sent back to Canada under subsidies, he suggested.

The campaign to promote sales of B.C.-produced goods has been a "great success," and other provincial agricultural ministers are thinking of a "buy Canada-made goods" drive, he said.

He said farmers have been concerned with production rather than sales. An advisory food council has been set up representing consumers, producers, retailers, labor groups and the agriculture department. The B.C. development corporation announced by Premier W. A. C. Bennett in his Kelowna Charter he noted, would make loans available to provide storage and processing facilities.

There are many opportunities for Canadian farm produce to be sold abroad, said the minister. He challenged opposition parties to criticize the B.C. development fund or the "buy B.C." campaign.

The B.C. ferry system, he said, is "the best in the world." Mr. Shelford claimed it was a "great shame the premier never got to Ottawa." In the 1940s, when he was a Progressive Conservative MLA for South Okanagan, Mr. Bennett resigned for a crack at federal politics. He was unsuccessful, but soon returned to the provincial fold.

The records have paid no attention to pressure groups, and have proved what they can do. B.C. has a bright future, he claimed.

Earlier Friday Mr. Shelford opened a new agricultural department building in Vernon.

PEACHLAND SOCIALS

PEACHLAND (Special) — Holidaying at Trepanier Bay Cottages are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Poole, visiting Mrs. J. K. Todd, Mrs. Poole's sister and Mr. and Mrs. Colin Muir, Mrs. Poole's son and daughter-in-law.

Oyama Shower Held For Bride

OYAMA (Special) — The Oyama Memorial Hall was the scene Monday, Aug. 14, for a miscellaneous community shower to honor Cheryl Anne Trewitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Trewitt, whose wedding to William Keast of Kamloops, son of Mr. Jack Keast and the late Mrs. Keast of Australia takes place today.

The hall was gaily decorated with pink and white streamers and bells and bouquets of gladioli and lilies. The gifts were presented in a miniature school house with koala bear perched on the top.

As Miss Trewitt entered the hall she was presented with a corsage of rosebuds created by Mrs. L. Haber. Mrs. Haber also made corsages of mixed summer flowers for all the special guests.

Guests of honor were Mrs. A. Trewitt, Mrs. A. Morgan, Miss Margaret Piddocke and sisters Carolyn, Beverly and Trudy Trewitt.

Miss Piddocke entered all the gifts in the bride book as they were opened and Beverly Trewitt made a lei of the ribbons and bows which Cheryl later wore as she thanked all those present and invited them to visit her in her new home.

Hostesses for the shower were Mrs. A. Claridge, Mrs. A. Townsend, Mrs. L. Haber, Mrs. B. Gray, Mrs. D. Ley, Mrs. T. Wangler, Mrs. L. Elliot, Mrs. M. Dewar, Mrs. D. Shumay and Miss Alana Claridge.

Apricots should be used for jams and preserves while they still have a tinge of green.

Rutland Youth Centre Hope To Rent Place

RUTLAND (Staff) — Hopes were expressed Friday of getting a youth centre opened soon in a temporary location.

Efforts to establish the centre are being directed by two employees of Kelowna Boys' Club, Sally Ann Kopecky and Sylvia Duns, and two of Outreach, Vic Campbell and John Schlapbach. The latter is operated in Kelowna to be a liaison between youth and the community.

Several people have expressed concern about the number of teen-agers here with nothing to do. Eventually it is hoped to have the centre in its own building. However, it was suggested temporary accommodation be rented.

It is hoped to meet soon with Clarence Mallach, president of SLIDE KILLS 20 SAO PAULO, Brazil (Reuter) — At least 20 persons were killed by a landslide which buried 50 houses in the popular health resort of Campos de Jordao, said radio reports Friday. The reports said the landslide at the resort, 125 miles west of here, was apparently caused by a slight earth tremor early Friday.

Death Of A Legend Shown To Westbank Audience

WESTBANK (Special) — Free movie entertainment was given to senior citizens and children and everyone who came out on Tuesday night to the Westbank Community Hall. Three lovely young ladies, Marilyn Kanskay, Jackie Hayes and Micky Milk, all from Vancouver, and students of Simon Fraser University put on four films from the National Film Board.

The first film was called Evolution which started with a stark barren land in eye aching colors and then it showed the division of cells and the gradual changes of life with one thing eating another until an offspring from one funny looking object had a brain and started running around on wheels. Then a car, then an aeroplane and finally taking off for the moon or some unidentified space place.

The next film was titled the Ride and began with a chauffeur polishing up a Rolls Royce in the boiling sun and then he gets into the car and goes to sleep, having a dream that his employer is taking off on a toboggan by himself. Waking up the chauffeur gets out and helps his employer into the car. Gets in himself and starts the car up to remember he left his cap outside. Gets out again and the car takes off.

Laurel and Hardy were next and of course their usual funny selves and judging by the laughter this film was enjoyed the most.

The fourth film was very good, The Death of a Legend.

The picture took one back to when the animals were plentiful and everyone had to kill to live. Then the gradual depletion of animal life until with few numbers, the use of all animals by nature in the forest was understood. Not the least, the wolf who only kills the maimed and old for food and by so doing keeps the balance of nature. This also squashes the legend that the wolf is a villain.

Canadian TV To Be Boosted

OTTAWA (CP) — A powerful new cable television development company has been launched, aiming to strengthen Canadian leadership in the cable TV service and products.

Seymour Epstein, president of Imagineering Ltd., said in a telephone interview from Montreal Friday that Broadband Communications Networks Ltd. has been formed by eight leading Canadian cable companies to test new services and products in Canada. The company's headquarters will be in Toronto.

Most of these companies own large cable systems in several centres. They represent more than 800,000 Canadian cable subscribers.

LABOUR / MANAGEMENT RELATIONS

IT'S A MATTER OF DOLLARS... AND SENSE!

BILL 3—AN AMENDMENT TO THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS ACT

The Social Credit government has imposed legislation regulating wage ceilings for all school teachers in the province.

No other group of professional persons has been discriminated against in such a manner, and no government in their right minds, acting in the best interest of the people would even consider such flagrantly discriminate legislation.

BILL 33—THE MEDIATION COMMISSION ACT

The Social Credit government has passed this bill to destroy all free collective bargaining, impose compulsory and binding arbitration and in the governments own words "Put the Unions in Their Place". This type of legislation does not promote good relations between labour and management. Nor does it "Represent the People", and most of all, it does not give workers a part of "The Good Life" that Premier Bennett and his Cabinet continually enjoy.

BILL 88—AN AMENDMENT TO THE TRADES UNION ACT

The Social Credit government attempted to pass this bill in the last assembly, but due to extreme opposition from the B.C. Federation of Labour and the NDP, were forced to withdraw it. This Bill, if passed, would place the present Trade Union Act directly within the scope of BILL 33 (The Mediation Commission Act), thus taking away important workers rights such as: Free Organization, Collective Bargaining, Legal Strikes, Union Hall Hiring Rights, and every form of Union Security.

AN NDP GOVERNMENT: WILL ELIMINATE ALL SUCH REPRESSIVE AND DISCRIMINATORY LEGISLATION SUCH AS BILL 3, 33 AND 88 FROM OUR STATUTES.

AN NDP GOVERNMENT: WILL ESTABLISH PROCEDURES TO ENABLE LABOUR AND MANAGEMENT TO BARGAIN IN GOOD FAITH, IN A RESPONSIBLE MANNER, WITHOUT INTERFERENCE, INTIMIDATION OR HARASSMENT BY THE GOVERNMENT, THE EMPLOYER, OR POLICE FORCES.

AN NDP GOVERNMENT: WILL GUARANTEE ALL WORKERS THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE FREELY IN THE UNION OF THEIR CHOICE.

AN NDP GOVERNMENT: WILL NOT PASS DISCRIMINATORY LEGISLATION AGAINST GROUPS OF PROFESSIONAL OR NON-PROFESSIONAL PERSONS, NOR PASS ANTI-LABOUR LEGISLATION THAT WOULD FORCE COMPULSION ON ANY GROUP OF WORKERS.

AN NDP GOVERNMENT: WILL PROVIDE ADMINISTRATION TO SERVE THE INTERESTS OF THE COMMUNITY, PROMOTE HARMONY BETWEEN LABOUR AND MANAGEMENT, AND END COMPULSORY ARBITRATION.

BIG MEN

Style Is A Serious Problem When Selection Is Limited

By STASIA EVASUK
Tall men ranging in height from six to seven feet, and those weighing 250 to 300 pounds have their own special problems when it comes to clothes.

"My problem is finding enough selection, having a choice," says Garrett Richardson, Vice President of a distributing company who is six feet two inches, weight 276 pounds and wears a size 52 tall.

"They have the odd selection at department stores but no choice. I like sporty clothes that hang out. I stay away from such as jackets and long shirts striped suits because they tend to make me look wide and print suits which made me look larger."

Sam Shopsowitz, hot dog king, who is five feet 10 inches, weighs 270 pounds and takes a size 52, enjoys wearing the latest fashions. "The newest trends are important to me."

"The fact that I'm fat does not mean that I don't like to follow fashion trends. I object to elephant pants but I like patch pockets on my suits. I used to wear flared pants but today I wear them only slightly flaring out. That's the trend."

"I enjoy wearing knit pants. They are comfortable and give a little so I don't have to worry about splitting my pants. Years ago I had to have my clothes fitted but men's ready-to-wear has come a long way since then."

some of the girth and close up the bulk. "Real big men don't require a heavy coat. They have their own built-in heating system so usually a mid-weight coat takes the place of an overcoat or topcoat."

A NEW YOU

Spice Up Your Menu With Seeds Flavorful And Nutritious

By EMILY WILKENS

From the distant past to the present, pungent and aromatic seeds have been employed for many purposes, most generally as flavoring in cooking. Caraway is used in baking bread and stewing fruit to give zip. Fenugreek seeds are used as a condiment in Egypt, and in curries in India. The people of India also make a gruel of the fenugreek seeds with milk and sugar and eat it as a breakfast cereal. In Mexico, cumin seeds are the secret of their divine hot chili powders, while the flavor of coriander is a favorite with South Americans, who use it in most of their dishes.

In many parts of the world today, seeds are used as a home remedy as well. Orientals chew cardamom seeds to sweeten their breath—after too much indulgence in Sukiyaik or Egg Foo Yung—no doubt. Caraway, 'tis said, is great for an upset tummy, celery seed for rheumatism, and teas made from burdock seeds purify the blood. Of course, all these mystical seeds with their strange powers are great—if you have hours to spend in the kitchen and experiment with them—

PUMPKIN SEEDS:

In China, the pumpkin is the symbol of fruitfulness and health. It is called the Emperor of the garden. Pumpkin takes its name from the Greek word "pepon" which means cooked in the sun. Eaten raw, the seeds are rich in protein, vitamins A, B, C, calcium, iron, potassium and phosphorus. For a delicious confection try:

CINNAMON PUMPKIN WHEELS

Use any rolled dough (preferably one with eggs and unbleached flour in it). Roll out quite thin into a narrow oblong shape. Spread evenly with molasses and thick honey. Dust this generously with cinnamon. Scatter pumpkin seeds and raisins. Put on oiled tins, let rise, then bake at 325 degrees F.

Musical Numbers By Family Thrills Honored Couple At 40th

The 40th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Tischer of Kelowna was also the occasion for a family reunion during the anniversary dinner in the low-rising auditorium of Grace Baptist Church. Master of ceremonies for the happy gathering was their son Armin Tischer, who with his wife was also observing his 17th wedding anniversary.

Themes for the decorations were red and white streamers, bells and flowers and among the speakers who wished them continued happiness were: Rev. Richard Zinser, an old friend of the family who reminisced about the days in the old country; Rev. William Gietz, Mrs. Tischer's brother who also mentioned highlights in the life of the couple who were married in Winnipeg on Aug. 6, 1932, and Rev. Ervin Babel, pastor of Grace Baptist, who touched on their life since they moved to Kelowna five years ago from Winnipeg. Also present for the happy event was Mrs. Tischer's only bridesmaid 40 years ago, Mrs. Adel Jeske of Kelowna.

Another special out of town guest was Mr. Tischer's 97 year old father of Vancouver, who is 97 years old.

The program in both German and English was highlighted by a piano solo by granddaughter, Karen Tischer, accompanied by another granddaughter, Debbie Tischer, on the flute, playing Holy City.

Another thrill for the honored couple was a number of selections by all their children and grandchildren present. Sons Armin and Bert contributed a duet and Bert and daughter Trudi also rendered a duet. The couple have three sons, Armin of Regina and Bert of Kelowna and the youngest, Edwin of Montreal, who was unable to be present. Their daughter, Mrs. Fred Koehle resides in Kelowna, having moved here recently from Winnipeg and the couple have 13

Tischer and family, Regina; Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Gietz and family, Saskatoon; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Gietz and family, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. George Doubt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Nestler, Ernest Tischer and grandpa Tischer, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Tischer, Vernon and Alice Gietz of Los Angeles.

Black U.S. Track Stars Join Rhodesian Rhubarb

MUNICH (AP) — A group of black American track stars has projected itself into the smouldering Rhodesian rhubarb with the Olympic Games set to open a week from today.

The American blacks indicated they might not compete in a "united stand with our African brothers" if white-ruled Rhodesia is permitted to participate in the Games.

Eleven African countries, headed by talent-loaded Ethiopia and Kenya, have said they will pull out of the Games unless Rhodesia is booted out.

The International Olympic Committee, which runs the show, and Avery Brundage, the American president who runs the IOC, has said repeatedly that Rhodesia will compete.

"This is pure politics, pure politics," says Brundage, 84. "We are not concerned with politics. All sportsmen will be here."

"We made an agreement a year ago with the National Olympic Committees concerned. Rhodesia was invited. Rhodesia will participate."

ISSUE A STATEMENT

The American blacks, among the early arrivals at Olympic Village, issued a one-paragraph statement as a nameless group.

"In light of the Rhodesian acceptance into the Games, the U.S. Black athletes now in Olympic Park believe it imperative to take a stand concerning the issue. We denounce Rhodesia's participation and, if they are allowed to compete, we will take a united stand with our African brothers."

A general walkout by blacks from the American track, basketball and boxing teams would cripple the U.S. team and take away much of the lustre from the Games, held every four years.

An IOC executive committee member said Brundage had the complete backing of the board because the African countries had agreed to the conditions of the Rhodesian participation under which the Rhodesians would use the Union Jack and the British national anthem. There are seven blacks on the Rhodesia team.

The Rhodesians say they intend to stay.

Ethiopia and Tanzania have officially withdrawn from the Games. Uganda has served notice along with Liberia and Mali. Kenya, Zambia, Sudan, Somalia, Ghana and Sierra Leone are ready to walk out.

"This fight is for $1,000.00. And nobody has two panias for the weigh-in?"

Lawyer Shatters Imlach Myth And Enjoys Measure Of Success

TORONTO (CP) — David Schattia has been enjoying a measure of success with the National Hockey League players he represents, even around Maple Leaf Gardens.

The Montreal lawyer, who shattered a myth that Punch Imlach wouldn't negotiate any of his players' contracts through an agent, was pleased Friday after his visit to Maple Leaf Gardens.

At one time, Imlach, now general manager of Buffalo Sabres, is reputed to have said: "I'll go bald before I ever negotiate with a blinky-blank lawyer."

Schattia, who represented rookie defenceman Jim Schoenfeld's contract with Buffalo, said:

"We never had such a good time negotiating with Punch as this time. Things have changed everywhere."

"Even here, they seem to have changed their approach so they're a little easier to deal with."

The Montrealer met with Jim Gregory and Frank (King) Clancy, general manager and vice-president respectively of Toronto Maple Leafs.

so high even Schattia was amazed.

"Raises from 40 to 60 per cent are the usual case," he says. "For players who have had exceptional years, like Martin and Guevremont, it's astronomical."

"Where you particularly notice the difference is the juniors who were drafted. A goaltender who is a client of mine wasn't drafted until the seventh round by New York Islanders. He signed with Quebec Nordiques of the WHA for more money than one of the five top picks in the NHL last year."

Schattia said when he approached Islanders' general manager, Bill Torrey, about whether the goaltender, Richard Brodeau of the Memorial Cup champion Cornwall Royals, would play regularly in the NHL he was told the youngster probably would be farmed out to the Eastern Hockey League.

"So when I told him he (Brodeau) could go to Quebec on a two-year contract, Bill thought that wasn't necessarily bad. Richard will play regularly against better competition than in the EHL, and he'll make a lot of money for himself."

"And in two years Islanders will still hold his rights if they want him back badly enough."

Britain's Virginia Lobs Way Into Women's Singles Final

TORONTO (CP) — Virginia Wade of Great Britain lobbed her way into today's women's singles final of the Canadian open tennis championships Friday with a 6-3, 1-6, 6-3 victory over Margaret Court of Australia.

She'll meet Evonne Goolagong of Australia, last year's Wimbledon queen, who gained a flawless straight-set 6-3, 6-2 decision Friday over fourth-seeded Linda Suerlo of Metairie, La.

Today's final pays $4,400 to the winner and $2,200 to the loser and will be televised live by the CBC at 2 p.m. EDT.

Miss Wade showed her determination in the crucial seventh game of the final set which she came back to win after it went to deuce eight times and Mrs. Court had three chances to break service.

The second-seeded three-time Wimbledon winner suffered an apparent meltdown as Mrs. Wade, seeded third, watched her make three unforced forehand errors to lose her serve in the next game.

Miss Wade won the final game with a lob to the baseline.

Adriano Panatta of Italy had to muscle pull in his back.

The Romanian will meet sixth-seeded Patrick Proisy of France who gained his fourth straight-set victory of the tournament with a 6-1, 6-3 triumph over Guillermo Vilas of Argentina.

Pattison's adversary will be unseeded Jaime Fillol of Chile who ousted Jiro Velasco of Colombia 6-1, 7-6.

Fillol also has recorded four straight-set victories and has been unbeatable the three times he was involved in best-of-nine points tiebreakers used to decide sets that go to 6-6 in games.

In doubles, Hewitt and countryman Frew McMillan whipped Mike Belkin of Toronto and Eddie Dibbs of Miami 6-2, 6-0 to advance to the semi-finals against Jan Kodes and Jan Kukal.

The Czech combination eliminated Onny Parun and Jeff Simpson of New Zealand 6-7, 7-6, 6-3.

Nastase and his Davis Cup team-mate Ion Tiriac beat Bob McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., and Dick Stockton of Port Washington, N.Y., 6-2, 7-6 to advance against Ross Case and Geoff Masters of Australia.

Masters and Case gained their semi-final berth with a 1-6, 6-4, 6-1 triumph over Proisy and Patric Dominguez of France.

In women's doubles, the champion South African Federation Cup tandem of Brenda Kirk and Pat Pretorius reached the final with a 6-2, 6-4 win over Miss Tuero and Miss Wade. Their opponents will be decided today.

Two Share Golf Hopes

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Hale Irwin and Tommy Aaron had high hopes and a share of the lead in the $200,000 USI Golf Classic, but Lee Trevino had a glint in his eye and a warning.

"The legs are coming back," the British Open champ said after two rounds of the rich event. "I'm getting stronger every day. I can feel it."

"Two rounds to go? I'm not that far back. If I shoot a 65, 66 or maybe 67 I'm still in good position to win it."

Toronto's Gary Bowerman was the only Canadian to make the halfway cut. He fired a 74 for a 146, the cutoff point. George Knudson of Toronto had a 73 and a 36-hole score of 148 while Ken Fulton of Montreal checked in with a 74 and 155 total.

Pitching—Mickey Lolich, Tigers, notched his 19th victory with a three-hitter while pitching Detroit to a 2-0 triumph over California Angels.

LEAD HOPEFUL

The flamboyant Trevino, almost knocked out of this event by a virus attack early in the week, rallied for a three-under-par 69 and 143 after two rounds. That put him seven strokes back of the co-leaders but Trevino still contended he was in shape to take the $40,000 first prize.

Irwin matched the day's best round on the 7,212-yard Pleasant Valley Country Club course with a 67 and tied the veteran Aaron for the 36-hole lead at 136, eight under par. Aaron had a 69.

Jack Nicklaus, winner of five titles and $240,000 already this season, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player are not competing.

OGOGOGETTES PLAY

Kelowna Ogogogettes will play an exhibition doubleheader Sunday against Kamloops with the first game starting at 11 a.m. in King's Stadium. The Ogogogettes are tuning up for the women's provincial finals to be held in Kamloops Aug. 26-27.

MADE NO MISTAKES

The volley game of the top-seeded Miss Goolagong was just too much for Miss Tuero who stayed away from the net and waited for the Australian to make mistakes which never came.

In men's singles, Andrew Pattison of Rhodesia tripped Bob Hewitt of South Africa 6-2, 2-6, 6-2, ensuring one unseeded player will make it to Sunday's final which pays $11,000 to the winner and $5,500 to the loser.

SHARING CHRIST'S WORK

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—John 15:1-12.

Describing Himself as the true vine of God, Jesus calls all believers branches of that vine.—John 15:1-3.

Just as only those branches remaining on the vine bear fruit, Christians must remain in Christ.—John 15:4-8.

Abiding in Christ means moving within the sphere of His love, loving God and doing His will.—John 15:9-10.

Christians should follow His example, living for others, not for themselves.—John 15:11-12.

Golden Text: John 14:21.

United, Anglican Churches 'Not So Friendly Any More'

SASKATOON (CP) — The once warm relationship between the United and Anglican churches of Canada has grown noticeably colder, Rt. Rev. A. B. Moore, retiring United Church moderator, said today. The result has been a drop in mutual trust, he told the United Church 25th General Council meeting.

relationship of our two communions was seen to be close and friendly. The 24th General Council in 1971 met at the same time and place—Niagara Falls—as the Anglican General Synod and drafted a proposed plan of union which was sent out to church members for discussion. The proposed union in that context not only seemed possible but the necessary culmination of our present relationship," Dr. Moore said. "Since that time, there has been a noticeable drop in temperatures. We are not exhibiting the trust that then was apparent."

Dr. Moore, elected in 1971 as successor to Dr. Robert McClure of Toronto, said that although he was disappointed about the progress of church union, he did sense a new vitality in the United Church. The church was coming to a fresh understanding of itself and its role. "A few years ago, we were apologetically yielding to the world's assessment of the church as being irrelevant. We are now experiencing afresh the sense of mission of a gospel of love."

Radio Pastor Speaks Here

A man who preaches to about 40 million people a week is to speak Aug. 27 in Kelowna. Rev. Dr. Oswald Hoffman of St. Louis, Mo., will be the guest at a Lutheran Hour rally in Kelowna Community Theatre. Dr. Hoffman has been in charge of a broadcast for Missouri synod of the church since 1935. It is heard in 41 languages in 125 countries. He was named public relations director in 1948, resigning in 1963 to give full time to the weekly radio ministry.

New United Church Moderator Looks Out At A Global Village

SASKATOON (CP) — The newly elected leader of Canada's largest Protestant denomination is a man who speaks of the "global village" and wants to talk with the Muslims as well as the Anglicans. Norman Bruce McLeod, youthful and athletic looking at 43, Tuesday night was elected moderator of the United Church of Canada—a congregation grappling with the problems of union with the Anglicans and the smaller Church of Christ's Disciples.

The Toronto minister says he is impatient to complete the union "so we can move on to more interesting things." "Union should be done and done quickly," he says. "Really, if it's not done within a year or so, I say let's pack it up."

Responsiveness to human needs is a major theme of the nine-day council meeting. Internal church business has a secondary place on the agenda while the council turns much of its attention to political, social and moral issues. Dr. Moore said he leaves the office of moderator "in a mood of hope."

In 1969 he was chairman of a congress on evangelism in Minneapolis. Rev. Dr. Billy Graham was honorary chairman. In 1969, 1970 and 1971, he spent Christmas with United States military personnel in South Vietnam, Korea, Thailand and Okinawa. He has met presidents Richard Nixon, Lyndon B. Johnson, John F. Kennedy and Dwight Eisenhower.

Sabbath Explained

"Tradition may be comfortable, but it is not always a safe guide to living," warns Pastor Ed Teranski of the Seventh-day Adventist church in Rutland. "In fact," the pastor points out, "tradition became a prime target for criticism on the part of the master reformer, Jesus Christ. Typical was His attitude toward Sabbath observance."

"In the context of today and the global village, we need to be talking not just with the Anglicans, but with the Catholics, the Presbyterians, the Baptists and the Quakers, and go even further and talk with the Muslims." "Anglican and United Church union? That doesn't deserve the word ecumenical in my view. It's just a parochial, narrow, in-the-family discussion. Let's get it over with."

"I am realist enough to know that this is a dangerous world and that its destructive pressures can further reduce the outward size of the church and increase its difficulties in being a true church. The structures which have changed so much may change to an even greater degree, but within them is the real community of those whose faith is in God and whose love is generated by Christ."

CHRISTIAN REFORMED CHURCH

Sunday Services 10:00 and 7:00 In The Adventist Church Corner of Richter and Lawson. William Vande Kieft, Pastor 3-2612. Cordial welcome to all.

"The Pharisees had so perverted the day of rest that they even considered it a sin to heal a sick person on the Sabbath. Therefore it is not surprising that they reacted violently when Christ, the Sabbath reformer, encouraged a paralytic to get up and carry his bed home, or when He permitted His disciples to pluck and eat grain as they walked through a field on the Sabbath."

The new moderator, minister of Bloor Street Church in Toronto, where he was born, was speaking in an interview prior to the balloting at the 25th general council meeting of the United Church. He was elected on the fourth ballot by 439 delegates from across Canada. Second in the voting was lawyer John Black of Kingston, Ont., followed by Rev. Clifford Elliott, minister of Metropolitan United Church in Toronto, and Rev. Robert Henderson of Vancouver, personnel director of the British Columbia conference of the church.

"Because Seventh-day Adventists and some other groups keep the seventh day as a day of rest according to the ten commandments, they are often accused of being legalistic, or trying to save themselves by their own works," says the pastor. "However, keeping the Sabbath does not make a Christian a legalist any more than stealing, lying or committing adultery."

Dr. McLeod said the time for church union was five years ago when the impetus was strongest. "It may well be that it is too late."

Rev. Oswald J. Smith, above, evangelist, missionary statesman, author, writer, editor and world traveler, will be guest speaker at Kelowna Gospel Fellowship church, Ethel and Stockwell, Aug. 24 at 7:15 p.m. He will speak on missions. Rev. Smith has preached in London, Chicago, Los Angeles and other centres around the world. He has led his church in a program that has netted over six and a half million dollars for missions. As an author he has written 35 books, 1200 hymns, poems and gospel songs. Rev. Smith has published a magazine for over 46 years.

Pastor Teranski says Adventists believe they are saved by grace through faith in Jesus. By accepting Him they keep His commandments, including the fourth. A discussion of "reformed" Sabbath keeping as demonstrated by Jesus will take place at the Rutland Adventist church on Gertsmar and Highway 33 W. 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

The number of votes cast for each candidate was not revealed. Dr. McLeod said the time for church union was five years ago when the impetus was strongest. "It may well be that it is too late."

Now, he said, the centres of authority in the church, as in many other areas of life, have moved from national structures to local neighborhoods. Dr. McLeod said the only exciting thing he saw in church union was that it could create a "new embodiment of the church as the two come together."

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Hope Springs Eternal In Small Breast

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you tell me anything about silicone injections that are used to increase the bustline? Are they effective? Are they harmful in any way? What kind of doctor would one go to for this purpose?—Mrs. P.N.

Yes, I can tell you something about silicone injections for breast enlargement. In fact, I have been telling about them periodically for several years, but people keep on talking loosely about them, so other people keep on thinking that it's a way to enlarge the breasts. Hope springs eternal in the female breast, evidently.

Here are the facts: Silicone for this purpose is not approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration. So to get such injections in this country, you'd have to find somebody who is willing to do a bootleg operation, outside the law.

This type of injection is not approved because it has not been shown to be safe. Maybe some form of silicone may prove to be safe and practical someday, but that's just a maybe. It hasn't so far.

Such injections have been tried, but with indifferent success. There's nothing to hold the silicone in place. Some women found they had to wear bras about 23 hours a day, more or less, to keep the breasts from sagging out of shape. In other cases, the silicone was found to have migrated to lower parts of the body.

The only proved and approved method of enlargement of the breasts is to implant sacs made of an inert material and filled with silicone. The sacs keep the silicone in shape and in place, and prevent direct contact between the silicone and body tissues.

This procedure is done by plastic surgeons. If you want to find a doctor who does that type of work (not injections) ask your regular physician to refer you to a plastic surgeon.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a habit of grinding my teeth at night when I sleep. My teeth are worn down from it. My mother finds it very annoying. I am 11. I also have asthma.—J.B.

For the sake of your teeth as well as your mother's nerves, I have a couple of suggestions. First, I know that some dentists make toothguards, something like the mouth protectors used by boxers, so you don't grind your teeth down.

Second, tooth-grinding usually denotes some irritation or tension that prevents you from relaxing. Pinworms are one known cause. A visit to the doctor for help, but a dentist should check your teeth.

Turkey Heads Heroin Sales

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon's committee on international narcotics says Turkey is the source of 80 per cent of the heroin marketed illegally in the United States, far outstripping all other countries.

After a worldwide survey to determine the sources of heroin sold in the United States, the committee reported that the bulk comes from Turkish-grown opium, another 10-to-5 per cent from Mexican opium, and the remaining five to 15 per cent from Southeast Asia.

The report said southern France, particularly Marseilles, remains a major port for processing Turkish opium into heroin for sale on the U.S. market.

Italy serves as a major artery for moving opium and morphine base from Turkey to southern France.

In the Western hemisphere, the committee said that although Canadian authorities have cooperated with U.S. control efforts, "Canada will probably continue to serve as one of the principal conduits for European narcotics."

Opening lead—nine of hearts. Let's say you're in three no trump and West leads the nine of hearts. Of course, you don't see the missing cards and the question is how to play the hand so as to have the best chance for the contract.

The first and most important decision is which heart to play from dummy. Note what happens if the nine is covered with the ten. East plays the jack, won by South with the king. Declarer presumably leads a spade to the jack, which East wins with the ace.

East returns a diamond and South must go down whether he fineses or not. Assume he fineses. West wins and returns the eight of hearts. Curtain—down one.

The outcome is no different if the heart four is played on the opening lead. East signals with the seven and the rest of the lay follows essentially the same course.

Only by rising with the queen at trick one can South achieve his goal. East must win with the ace; otherwise South has the suit doubly stopped. But East is not in position to return a heart at trick two because of dummy's ten, and any other lead he selects permits declarer to build up nine tricks consisting of four diamonds, four clubs and a heart.

Why should declarer put up the queen? Because there is good reason to think that West's nine is a top-of-nothing lead and that East has the A-J. By covering the nine with the queen declarer momentarily shifts his attack to less fertile territory.

Since the heart pressure is relieved, South has nothing to fear. He is certain to make nine tricks against any return, and he is well rewarded for his accurate analysis at trick one.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Aries (March 21-April 19): Leave the surfaces undisturbed this Sunday so far as you can manage. Home conditions include moments of question and difficult answer.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Material conditions and considerations should be put aside for the work week; make this Sunday a rest and a time for spiritual search.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Good questions provoke or inspire vivid answers. Use your imagination to fill in the gaps, get the whole picture and learn from it.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Caution is natural for you. Those you love demand your attentions. Mechanical things are to be handled with care or left alone.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): New information intrigues you. Skip your usual rounds and the friends waiting to bait you with their jokes and questions.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Nobody quite understands what you want to do. Clear explanations help momentarily as you appear determined to reach some conclusions.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Being skeptical has its merit this confusing day. Most transactions offered are unfair to others in the long run. Think what you're doing.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): If you can elect to be solitary or nearly so for the day or a good part of it, do so. If you can't, seek inner serenity.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your forthright nature doesn't meet like behavior, and you are prone to misunderstand or incorrectly estimate what you hear.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): There is no such thing as a readily available opportunity to become rich. Hold your own in the community by consistent attitudes.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Time out for reflection, assessment of probabilities is strongly advised. Use the week-end for observation rather than action.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Exclude strangers from personal affairs. Where there are emotional ties, relationships tend to moments of tension, needs for declarations of intentions.

MONDAY, AUG. 21

Aries (March 21-April 19): Try something new only if there is no other course, stand aside if it backfires. Minding your own business is desirable all day.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Nothing fits where it is supposed to, and it's your challenge to stay calm and enjoy the fiddles of putting things right.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Symbolically, or perhaps in reality, this is a paper-shuffling day. Great for general housecleaning, clearing the decks.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): You'll be happy your sensitivity to people warns you of their squalls—there's plenty over a wide range of issues.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Starting ventures now is infeasible. They won't reach desired results. Much that seems important at the moment fades out later.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your talent for observing flaws can become a problem as there are so many discrepancies you may lose sight of the larger perspective.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Temptation is strong to push for quick results, large changes, and very likely repercussions you had not thought about.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Get back on dynamic, friendly terms with all, cultivating relationships rather than specific transactions. Time for reflection.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Yesterday is with us yet, with plenty of follow-up needed. Get busy bright and early. Do not expect anything to be easy.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Before you build on what has been achieved, make sure it's ready for use, that nothing has been skipped. Spend the day troubleshooting.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You can find technical errors more readily today. See what you can do to make the day an easy one. If you can take off, do so.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Little goes wrong, nor does much go ahead of schedules. Get your routine chores done, use every opportunity for extra rest.

PEACE RIVER BATTLE

Ex-Social Crediter Tries To Carve Spot For Tories

DAWSON CREEK, B.C. (CP) — The man trying to carve the heart out of Social Credit's grassroots power base is a former Social Crediter himself who bolted to the Tories and now seeks election Aug. 30 as the Progressive Conservative incumbent in Peace River South.

He's Don Marshall, a soft-spoken 40-year-old farmer and weekly newspaper owner who quit his sedentary role as member of the Social Credit backbench March 22 to become one of two Conservative members of the last legislature. The other is Dr. G. Scott Wallace of Oak Bay, also a Social Credit defector.

If Mr. Marshall can keep Peace River South in the Tory fold on election day, it could spell trouble for Social Credit in the rural areas that have kept Premier W. A. C. Bennett in power for 20 years. Perhaps not in this election, Tories are fond of saying, but definitely in the next.

Mr. Marshall took a big chunk of the Social Credit riding association with him into the Tory camp, including its president, Larry Lewin, who now serves as his campaign manager.

The remnants have rallied around Don Phillips, a 43-year-old Dawson Creek car dealer who held the riding from 1966 until 1969 for Social Credit, then retired because of business pressures. In fact, it was Mr. Phillips who talked Mr. Marshall into running on the Social Credit ticket in 1969.

Social Credit recognizes the Conservative threat to its rural bastions clearly and has pulled out all the stops. Tory Leader Derril Warren's claim that Social Credit has pumped $100,000 into the riding earned him the epithet "foolish and stupid leader" from George Driediger, president of the B.C. Social Credit League.

Mr. Marshall, who has a 1,500-acre spread in the Doe River district and owns the Peace River Block News and Chetwynd Echo, crossed the floor of the legislature last March because of growing disillusionment with government agricultural and northern development policies.

He also expressed his dissatisfaction with Premier W. A. C. Bennett's reluctance to retire or to bring new blood into the cabinet from its backbench.

"Nobody denies that he has done a fabulous job but I don't think he is doing it now," said Mr. Marshall. "Everybody you talk to says the same thing—gee whiz, they (cabinet ministers) are getting pretty odd, you know, and what happens when he quits?"

The riding this time has 10,514 eligible voters, an increase of 1,066 from the 1969 figure. However, the increase reflects the growth of towns such as Dawson Creek rather than the steadily dwindling number of farmers who continue to trickle off the land.

The farmers in the Peace River district have been hard hit by declining agricultural prices and steadily rising costs of farm implements, seed and other agricultural essentials.

DOESN'T GET ENOUGH

Mr. Phillips says that Social Credit's answer to farm problems rests with the proposed B.C. Development Corporation which would make loans available to secondary industry and farm processing plants.

He insists that difficulties experienced by Peace River farmers are by no means unique—"the farmer just isn't getting enough for his production and is in the same trouble everywhere else too."

The contest comes down to a strict two-way battle between Mr. Phillips and Mr. Marshall, although the New Democratic Party and the Liberals are also running candidates.

The NDP hopeful is John Watkins, 46, also a farmer, and James McIntyre, 57, a retired car dealer. Both are running low-key campaigns and their organizers say the parties are trying to maintain a presence in the riding more than driving for victory.

Premier Bennett made the riding one of his priority stops early in the campaign and was expected to visit it again before election day. He has charged that Conservative organizers across the border in Alberta have been dispatching gangs of canvassers to help out Mr. Marshall, "to split the free enterprise vote and let the socialists in."

Officials of all three opposition parties say the campaign has been marked by dirty tactics. Someone equipped with a stencil has been painting the word "traitor" across Marshall campaign signs and several hundred others have been stolen.

"There is no doubt the campaign is dirty," said NDP organizer Chris Shannon. "Issues be damned, they're being ignored because of the smear. All we're trying to do is keep our noses clean."

In the 1969 election, Mr. Marshall finished with 4,267 votes compared with 1,210 for the New Democrat and 590 for a Liberal. There was no Conservative candidate in that election. Mr. Phillips won the riding in 1966 with a plurality of 1,697 votes.

Bourassa 'Not A Pickpocket'

MONTREAL (CP) — Premier Robert Bourassa says he sought more federal money Friday in a private meeting with Prime Minister Trudeau but "I did not empty his pockets, obviously."

Prime Minister Trudeau, whose home in suburban Outremont was the site of the meeting, said his answer was: "If you want more money, raise taxes. If we in Ottawa want more money, we must increase taxes and you must do the same."

Mr. Bourassa also said he told the prime minister he would reply when new federal family-allowance legislation is passed, to a June message from the federal government on Quebec's demands in this area.

He mentioned increases in old-age pensions and delay in application of new family allowances as two examples of changes that could affect Quebec's reply.

HARMONY EXPECTED

Quebec seeks power to decide who will receive social welfare payments such as family allowances, and how much these allowances will be.

The prime minister said he discussed municipal affairs with Mr. Bourassa and foresees "no disagreement" at the planned conference of federal, provincial and municipal government officials in Toronto in November.

"We don't think we should sit down to communicate with the municipalities directly," Mr. Trudeau said.

"This was agreed in Hallfax and all three levels of government will sit down and discuss the question harmoniously."

It's Uproariously Funny, Says Smallwood On Papers

LONDON (CP) — Former premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland said Friday a controversy which has erupted in the province over the custody of his papers is "uproariously funny" and the result of a misunderstanding.

"All's well that ends well," Smallwood said in commenting on the reported return of files alleged to have been taken from his office in St. John's.

The former Liberal leader said he had heard that a Conservative party worker had been discovered going through the files containing correspondence covering the period since Smallwood's departure from the premiership.

Smallwood, who plans to return to St. John's in about two weeks, said in an interview: "I sent a message to Premier Moores Thursday saying that if there are any vital papers I have and of which the government has not got a copy I'd be delighted to deliver them to him."

But the ex-premier doubted that the government is missing any such documents.

Smallwood, who is in London doing research for two books he is planning, said he intends to deliver his entire collection of papers and volumes on Newfoundland to Memorial University, the province's public archives centre or its arts and culture centre.

He said he would do this sometime in his lifetime so that the collection, which includes the papers of other former Newfoundland leaders as well as himself, should eventually be available to researchers, students and historians.

Smallwood said the misunderstanding about his papers arose from the fact that, prior to his leaving office, he was the only premier Newfoundland had had for almost 40 years.

Prior to his assumption of office in 1949, Newfoundland had been governed for 15 years by a British-appointed commission.

Thus there was a lack of familiarity with the practices connected with the premiership, including the way retiring heads of government—ranging from ex-American presidents to former Canadian leaders—take their papers with them when stepping down.

Smallwood said his collection includes copies of such vital documents as contracts and various agreements.

"But the originals of these are in the possession of the present Conservative government of Newfoundland, where the custodians are the ministers of justice, finance and provincial affairs, he said.

The former premier plans to leave London Aug. 23. He had originally intended to go to Florida and spend five months writing the first of his projected books, a long autobiography.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration warned owners of 3.5 million 1971 and 1972 model General Motors automobiles here of possible loss of steering control.

The administration "consumer protection bulletin" identified all full-sized Pontiacs, Buicks, Oldsmobiles and Chevrolets, for the last two model years, as being subject to steering lock-up.

The bulletin said owners had reported that gravel or rocks could become lodged in the lower frame of the vehicle, at the steering coupling at the base of the steering column.

Many GM Cars Have 'Troubles'

Wrecking Ball Strikes Blow For 'Justice And Democracy'

HULL, Que. (CP) — A steel wrecking ball Friday struck blows for what some local homeowners say is justice, democracy and the people.

As the 3,000-pound ball smashed into the unfinished $12-million Dasken apartment buildings, a long battle between area property owners on one hand and the city and a Montreal building firm on the other appeared to be over—except in the courts.

Members of the Tache Gardens Property Owners Association have emerged as victors in their two-year campaign to prevent construction of apartment buildings on the Dasken site.

Ronald Belec, lawyer for the association, was at the site shortly after a steam shovel and a steel ball started battering one of the two unfinished concrete towers. He said: "After all we've been through, I feel very, very happy."

The last obstacle to demolition was cleared earlier Friday when Hull Superior Court Judge Jacques Boucher rejected an application for an injunction to restrain the homeowners' association from destroying the buildings.

SUITS CONTINUE

Demolition contractor Lew Lewington said he expects to complete destruction of the $12 million project within six weeks.

There still are court cases to settle involving disputes between Dasken and Mr. Lewington about who is entitled to material from the site.

The Tache Gardens association also has said it will sue Dasken if the firm refuses to pay for demolition of the buildings, and the owners are suing the city.

But the main issue has been settled. The Tache Gardens group is demolishing the buildings under a Supreme Court of Canada order issued because they were built on land zoned for single-family dwellings.

The property owners began their legal fight to stop the Dasken project soon after it was announced in late 1970. The group, led by Mrs. Joyal-Brosard, 26, sought an injunction to stop construction because of a breach of local zoning bylaws.

BYLAW OVERTURNED

The Tache Gardens group also opposed the buildings because they said they were unsightly and would reduce property values.

After the group won the battle in the Supreme Court, the city sought to rezone the site for high-rise buildings through a new bylaw. But the bylaw was overturned in a referendum in the Tache Gardens area earlier this week.

Jean Bernard, an association director, gave some insight into what has fuelled the group in its long battle.

"The group, he said, believed that the city undemocratically granted Dasken permission to build the project without consulting area residents, and attempts to save the Dasken buildings in spite of the Supreme Court order had angered the group.

"The group had gathered again, this time to fight against what they believed was an attempt to thwart justice and because its members considered they were fighting for little people against entrenched authority.

The city of Hull now faces a $3,676,348 lawsuit from Dasken Enterprises and Aylmer Road Holdings Inc. of Montreal, owner of the apartment complex.

The lawsuit claims Dasken and Aylmer Road Holdings were misled by the city because they were "led to believe" that the area was zoned for high-rise buildings when they received a building permit.

Mr. Belec said this week he believes Hull can win the lawsuit. He is ready to help the city fight the case.
