OKANAGAN TRAGEDY

Blaze Destroys Ok. Centre Home

Tragedy struck an Okanagan Centre family early today when fire destroyed their frame home on Okanagan Centre Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Goffic and their two children escaped, but their home, which was without electricity or water and not insured, was destroyed in the blaze which broke out about 1:30 a.m.

The fire apparently started when Mr. Goffic attempted to shut off a gas lamp which then exploded. He was unable to call for help, as the house is outside the Winfield Fire Protection District.

Mrs. Goffic's sister, Judy Stubbs, was staying with the family at the time of the fire and managed to get the two children, girls aged eight months and five years, out of the house.

They went to the home of relatives, a short distance away, but when Mr. Goffic and another man, Larry Gibbons, returned to fight the blaze, it was too late and the walls were already falling in.

The family, which lost everything, is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gunn, on Reid Road.

Some Political Prisoners Given Freedom In Ulster

BELFAST (Reuter) — The British government began freeing political prisoners in Northern Ireland today just as the Irish Republican Army was insisting that bloodshed must go on.

As a start, 73 men now being held without trial will be set free immediately, an official announcement said.

At present 728 men are being interned without trial on suspicion of having a hand in guerrilla activity. Their confinement is allowed under Northern Ireland's Special Powers Act.

A start on scaling down internment was promised two weeks ago when the British government suspended the Protestant-dominated Northern Ireland government and took over direct rule.

The impending releases were announced by the office of William Whitelaw, the British minister in charge of Northern Ireland.

The move came at a time when the militant Provisional wing of the IRA was declaring that its gunmen must carry on their fight against the British Army despite peace pleas from sections of the north's Roman Catholic minority.

Internment has been one of the Catholics' strongest grievances since it was introduced last August.

But among the IRA's terms for a ceasefire is the release of all political prisoners, including Irishmen held for crimes of violence in England.

At the present stage, it seems clear that Whitelaw does not contemplate an immediate abandonment of internment.

But he did rule that the prison ship Maidstone, where internees are on hunger strike against food and conditions, must no longer be used as a place of internment.

Boat Found Off Peachland After Fatal Fishing Trip

The bodies of three boys, reported missing with their fourth companion Thursday, were recovered by searchers near Peachland early today.

Police identified the victims as James Bennett, 17, and his brother, Michael, 14, both of Trout Creek, and Gerald Huva, 17, of Summerland. Still missing is a youth from Aldergrove.

Summerland RCMP said today the boys were reported missing about 6:30 p.m. Thursday by one of the parents of one of the boys. The group left Summerland on a fishing jaunt around 8 a.m. Thursday.

Search teams were organized and a commercial aircraft from Penticton screened the area but failed to turn up any clues. An overturned boat was discovered about 6:30 a.m. today near Peachland. The craft was a 14-footer powered by a 35 hp engine. Equipment in the boat was intact, but life jackets were missing and the boat's floorboard was found nearby.

The bodies were later found near Rattlesnake Island wearing life jackets.

Six boats from the Kelowna search and rescue unit were also pressed into service and are continuing the search for the fourth boy along with other search teams.

The last Okanagan Lake fatality occurred in February this year when search teams failed to find trace of Henry Fehr and Herb Sisson, both of Kelowna, who were reported missing from a fishing trip Feb. 25.

Forest Industry Handed Warning

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) — Ray Williston, minister of lands and forests, says the British Columbia forest industry must become more responsible or "we are going to be in a hell of a lot of trouble."

Speaking at the annual convention of the Northern Interior Lumbermen's Association Thursday, Mr. Williston said the industry must police itself in such matters as supplying the province's lumber demands and controlling pollution, or the government will force it to honor its duties.

Mr. Williston said he's not a person who believes in fines.

"The money paid in fines doesn't help the environment and the fines are just useless decorations."

Nevertheless, there were regulations which have to be obeyed, the minister said. If they were not obeyed, the company should not be in business.

"I suggest very strongly that the forest industry as a whole make an earnest effort to upgrade its pollution control activities as rapidly as possible."

The industry itself, which best understands its own problems and techniques, is better suited than anyone else to plan for multiple use of forests, he said.

Search Resumes For Skyjacker

WOODLAND, Wash. (AP) — Army troops were back on the job today, helping the FBI search the area around Lake Merwin for a skyjacker who commandeered a jetliner last Thanksgiving Eve.

An Army spokesman said about 200 troops of the 3rd Armored Cavalry Regiment were parachuted somewhere over a southwestern Washington, and a search was carried on in the area for some time. Later it spread elsewhere, but it concentrated in the Lake Merwin area about three weeks ago after one of the bills turned up.

Ad Policy 'Unchanged'

VICTORIA (CP) — Education Minister Donald Brothers said Thursday there has been no change in government policy regarding tobacco advertising in newspapers.

Mr. Brothers, who is chairman of the government's drug, alcohol and cigarette committee, repudiated a statement by Works Minister Chant that the provincial government was in error in cutting off advertising to two Victoria newspapers who ran a tobacco ad.

When government advertising returned to the newspapers this week, Mr. Chant said the government "can't be right all the time."

"Sometimes when you try to do the right thing, things don't always work out."

However, Mr. Brothers said there has been no change in government policy at all—that it was a mistake.

He said: "If they put more of those illegal ads in the newspaper, I'll certainly recommend that we not put any further ads in those papers."

Nixon's Home-Front Troubles Trim Joy On Foreign Policies

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — President Nixon, who has enjoyed wide approval for his foreign policy initiatives, now is running into trouble on the home front and possibly a much more difficult struggle for reelection this year than he anticipated a few months ago.

A new surge of inflation, continuing high unemployment and a battle royal with organized labor point to the economy as one that could decide the outcome of the election despite his dazzling success elsewhere.

The pressing problems on the domestic scene could well persuade Nixon to change his plans to remain aloof from the growing political battle until he is nominated as a candidate for another White House term by the Republican party convention in San Diego in August.

The economy is the over-riding issue on which Democrats feel they can ride to victory in November because of the vulnerability of a president who managed to keep them off balance until the cost of living jumped by an annual rate of six per cent in March, despite wage and price controls imposed seven months ago.

STOCKS SUCCUMB

NEW YORK (AP) — After two sessions of sharp gains, the stock market succumbed today to profit taking. Trading was moderately active.

The noon Dow Jones average of 80 industrials was off 4.22 at 955.22. Advances on the New York Stock Exchange led declines by approximately 3 to 2.

AUTHORITY ISSUE

Water Board Boils Again

City representative on the Okanagan Basin Water Board, Mayor Hilbert Roth, wants that body to have more weight when it comes to pollution control permit applications.

"We (the city) feel the board should have more authority or put more teeth into the law," he told the regular meeting Thursday.

Mayor Roth added it was the feeling of city council the board "has no authority" in dispensing recommendations to the pollution control board regarding permit applications.

"What action can the board take that a municipality can't take?" he declared further, informing the meeting the city had qualified personnel to advise council on technical matters.

The touchy verbal fireworks emanated from an inquiry by the city for clarification as to the purpose by the basin board of screening and making recommendations on pollution control permits to the pollution control board.

Board chairman, Len Bawtree, replied the board had no "official" authority but was "taking that authority upon itself" to make recommendations on pollution control permit applications. He added the board had a "fairly high batting average" with the pollution control board.

Still pursuing his case, Mayor Roth reiterated the basin board had no authority and that other organizations could provide the same advisory service.

Chairman Bawtree said he doubted if the board could become the suggested authority which, he added, would always rest with the provincial appointee of the Pollution Control Act.

Past chairman of the board, W. C. Bennett, felt the board had just as much right to oppose an application as a municipality. He added the pollution control board took the board's recommendations into consideration when making decisions on permits.

In disagreement, Mayor Roth said the board had no more influence with the Pollution Control Board than the "ladies" aid or the United Church."

MORE 'TEETH' NEEDED

The board, reminded chairman Bawtree, was set up under the minister of municipal affairs.

If the board adopted Mayor Roth's attitude, said Philip Farmer, chairman of the Regional District of Okanagan Similkameen, it would defeat the whole purpose of the board. He reminded Mayor Roth "we all want to control pollution" adding the board "is your mouthpiece."

Mayor Roth said the city felt the board should be taking a more serious approach and would be able to deal with problems with more authority if it became the pollution control authority in the Okanagan.

N. Vietnamese Capture Town 75 Miles North Of Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops captured a district town 75 miles north of Saigon today and opened a fourth front in their nine-day offensive with more than a dozen attacks on towns and bases in the Mekong Delta to the south.

U.S. warplanes, meanwhile, hammered North Vietnamese forces with more than 600 strikes. Two navy fighter-bombers and a big rescue helicopter were shot down, the U.S. command said, and six Americans are missing.

The district town of Loc Ninh fell after fighting so close that an air spotter overhead reported the defending South Vietnamese were calling artillery fire in on their own positions.

The South Vietnamese command later announced that Loc Ninh was abandoned during the morning after four days of heavy attack.

The Viet Cong radio said that the South Vietnamese garrison surrendered after Communist forces killed, wounded or captured 400 of the defenders. But the chief spokesman for the Saigon command said the government troops "moved out to an area outside the city."

Casualties on both sides were reported heavy.

Government forces also abandoned Fire Base Hung Tam, five miles southwest of Loc Ninh and 10 miles below the Cambodian border.

Field reports said elements of four North Vietnamese divisions, including one committed to battle in the South for the first time, crossed the Cambodian border in force and penetrated at last 20 miles into South Vietnamese territory.

Small Viet Cong units slipped to within 20 miles of Saigon and damaged a bridge on Highway 13, the north-south road from the border. A bypass was being used.

Communist forces were reported to have cut the highway temporarily in nine places south of An Loc, the capital of Binh Long province 60 miles north of Saigon. Government troops were making sweeps in an effort to keep the route open to supply convoys.

An Loc itself was threatened and positions all around it were under rocket and mortar attack. But the Saigon command said the government still held the town.

Some Foods Cost Less

OTTAWA (CP) — The prices of eggs, vegetables, and some other foods fell last month, but higher prices for gasoline and fuel oil for home heating nudged the consumer price index up one-tenth of a point.

Statistics Canada reported today that the index, based on 1961 prices equaling 100, rose to 137.4 last month from 137.3 in February. It was 131.3 in March last year.

In dollar terms, this meant it cost $13.74 last month to buy what $10 bought on consumer goods and services in 1961. That price was up a penny from $13.73 in March, and 61 cents higher than a year ago.

The $10 market basket of foods in 1961 cost $13.71. Last month, down five cents from a month earlier and compared with $12.82 in March last year.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Former president Lyndon B. Johnson was admitted to the University of Virginia Hospital's cardiac unit early today suffering from chest pains.

Study Says No Crusade Planned

LONDON (CP) — A judicial study which concludes that violence in Northern Ireland is not a result of a planned crusade of destruction has provoked intense interest and a wide measure of approval in Britain and Ireland.

William Whitelaw, newly-appointed British minister in charge of Ulster affairs, said the report "explodes many myths" previously used to explain the outbreak of the current siege of violence in August, 1969.

Protestants and Roman Catholics now must be given a chance to work together to overcome their distrust of each other, said Whitelaw, who was appointed last month when the British government assumed direct control of Ulster.

The inquiry, headed by British High Court Justice Leslie Scarman, dealt with events surrounding the origins of violence in the summer of 1969.

The tribunal was set up by the former Labor government after riots in the spring and summer of 1969—the start of the violence which has taken 294 lives since. British troops were first sent to Ulster in August, 1969.

Bernadette Devlin, fiery MP at Westminster for mid-Ulster, was named in the report as one of those who must assume some measure of responsibility for the violence. But she had not been a central figure in circles promoting such violence.

Member Of Notorious Gang Shot Dead In Little Italy

NEW YORK (AP) — Joey Gallo, a member of Brooklyn's Gallo brothers gang, was shot to death early today in a restaurant in Little Italy in lower Manhattan.

Police said Gallo, more familiarly known as Crazy Joe, or Joey the Blonde, was gunned down by an unknown man who escaped after the shooting.

The dining room of the restaurant showed signs of a struggle, with two tables overturned.

when reporters viewed the scene. Police said Gallo had been eating with his wife and daughter.

He was shot several times, apparently with a pistol.

Gallo was the surviving leader of the notorious gang that was run by three brothers who police described as mob enforcers in south Brooklyn.

STIRRED GANG WAR
Their revolt against the leadership of Joseph Profaci in the early 1960s led to an underworld war that left 12 dead, another dozen wounded and four missing.

Joey Gallo went to prison under a 12-year sentence for extortion and the police said Joseph Colombo picked up the reins and business resumed in Brooklyn.

Later there were reports that the Gallos were complaining that they were not getting a fair share under Colombo. When Gallo was paroled in mid-1971 there were rumors that the old war might erupt again.

In June last year Colombo was shot as he prepared to lead an Italian America rally in Columbus Circle.

Members of the Outdoor Club, led by Leon Blumer and Barbara Adams, will head out on their first hike of the year Sunday, tackling the Kelowna crags, with Gallagher Canyon on their list for next Sunday's outing. All interested parties are asked to join the group, which will leave the Yacht Club parking lot

City Move On Cameron Land Surprised Hostel Official

Council's decision earlier this week not to allow use of the city-owned Cameron property on Richter Street as a hostel for girls this summer came "basically as a surprise" to Wesley Ginter and other directors of Kelowna Hostel Services.

Mr. Ginter said Thursday the organization was not disappointed with council's action, but more with the action taken by the recreation advisory committee in finally recommending that the house and property be used for arts and crafts and summer recreational programs.

"The recreation department appears to say one thing and the advisory committee says something else."

Regional District To Keep Watch On Building Movers

Recommendations to prevent moving certain buildings onto properties will be developed by the staff of the Regional District of Central Okanagan, it was decided Wednesday night.

"We could put requirements in our zoning bylaw," suggested planner D. W. Barcham. After viewing two pictures of the house in question, board members said they saw nothing wrong with it, and the board was powerless to act anyway.

"I inspected the house before I issued a permit to move it," said chief building inspector Everett Ashton.

Pollution Problem Posed By Feed Pens In Creeks

Feed pens located in creek beds constitute a "priority attention" pollution situation in the Okanagan, according to Okanagan Basin Water Board secretary - manager, William Panchomchuk.

Reporting to the regular meeting of the board Thursday, Mr. Panchomchuk described the Scotty Creek bed type of operation as "definitely" causing a pollution problem, particularly when manure was involved.

He had been requested by the board to survey what board chairman Len Bawtree referred to as a "glaring problem" which was creating a "bad name for all agriculture."

Mr. Farmer warned if the board proceeded on this course it would be "breaking down" an extremely useful board.

Other branches of agriculture were also being evaluated, chairman Bawtree said.

Mr. Bennett congratulated James Stuart, director for east and southeast Kelowna, on being named a trustee of the B.C. Municipal Finance Authority.

SEEN and HEARD

Ald. Alan Moss has received an appointment to a one-month project in Columbia to review forestry projects for which Canadian aid is being considered. He has a PhD in consulting forestry, The Canadian International Development Agency has asked him to draw up a report with recommendations from an "on the spot" observation. He leaves for Bogota Thursday and returns to Kelowna about May 6.

One resident of the Kelowna district must have wakened with a shock this morning. His car was covered with a heavy amount of snow. When he parked it outside a cafe in the city, one woman on her way to work was astonished and expressed doubts that the car could be from this area. Just goes to show, the weatherman can't be trusted.

Mayor Hilbert Roth says the Kelowna Teen Town should be publicly thanked for its community efforts. He said he attended the Teen Town Easter Egg Hunt on Knox Mountain and again the event, now an annual affair, was successful. He said these Teen Towners deserve a lot of credit.

IN COURT

A charge against Active Construction Products Ltd., of Kelowna, of willfully evading to pay taxes under the Income Tax Act was remanded to May 23 on a plea of not guilty in provincial court today before Judge R. J. S. Moir. The joint charge included Fred Molzham and Arnold Geisbrecht, both of Kelowna, who also pleaded not guilty to the charges. Both the accused also pleaded not guilty to three counts each of the same charge and were remanded to May 30 and May 31 respectively.

Ross M. Lemon of Kelowna, was fined a total of $100 on pleas of guilty to two separate charges of failing to file a return under the Excise Tax Act.

Driving a vehicle while having an alcohol blood count exceeding .08 per cent resulted in a $200 fine, and a one month suspension of licence against Raymond L. Morrison of Kelowna, who pleaded guilty to the charge.

Fined $300 on a plea of guilty to driving a vehicle while impaired was Arlene Marie Howard of Kelowna, who pleaded guilty to the charge. The accused was also prohibited from operating a vehicle for two months.

Christopher Vajda of Kelowna, was found guilty on a charge of operating a vehicle with outdated licence plate decals and fined $25. The accused had pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Brian Joseph Frost of Kelowna, received a suspended sentence and placed on one year probation on a plea of guilty to a charge of possession of marijuana.

A charge of theft over $50 resulted in a suspended sentence against Kenneth Dwayne Bingham of Kelowna, who pleaded guilty to the charge. The accused was also placed on eight months probation.

Weed Harvester Needs Business

The Okanagan Basin Water Board will survey commercial lakefront agencies to test reaction as potential customers program in an Okanagan Lake aquatic weed control.

The suggestion was made by Regional District of Okanagan-Similkameen chairman, Philip Farmer, at the regular meeting of the board Thursday.

The basin board had previously requested provincial government assistance with leasing of aquatic weed harvesting equipment to help clean up sections of Okanagan Lake.

W. C. Bennett suggested the board iron out cost sharing with the government before leasing of the machine, and was reminded by Mr. Bawtree the problem was "getting the machine first."

Different apportionments for planning and noxious insect control will be corrected, the Regional District of Central Okanagan board has decided.

A challenge has been issued to the media and the RCMP to enter the third annual raft race to be held sometime in May, when the level of Mission Creek becomes acceptable.

Sewage Meet For Winfield

Sewers may be installed in part of Winfield, it was suggested Wednesday.

On recommendation of area director John McCoubrey, the Regional District of Central Okanagan board agreed to hold a public meeting on the matter. No date was set.

Mr. McCoubrey said residents of the area generally known as "the flats" suggested the matter, and there is a "serious situation due to the high water table and the number of septic tanks being installed."

But Form Committee To Examine Airport

Kelowna Chamber of Commerce directors decided Thursday to form an aviation committee to look into improvement of facilities and service at the Kelowna airport, a move which chamber president Dave Chapman insists isn't an attempt to circumvent work being done by a similar committee set up by the city.

"I think it's an excellent schedule regionally," said Mr. Rennie, "except that there still isn't a flight arriving in Vancouver early enough in the morning for Kelowna passengers." The arrival time at Vancouver International Airport is 10:50 a.m.

"We're sorry there is a controversy, slight as it is, between the city and the chamber over this thing," he said.

Before the airline gets through what he termed an "awkward growth period," Mr. Rennie said, Kamloops, Kelowna and Penticton have to be satisfied.

Said Mr. Chapman, "Until we become a regional airport, Penticton will carry as much weight as we do, even though they don't have the passengers."

Frank Addison urged a less "parochial" approach, pointing out that 37 per cent of Kelowna's traffic load comes from the North Okanagan and that 81 per cent of the passengers from Salmon Arm use the Kelowna airport rather than Kamloops.

"We know that when you provide the service, you get the people," he said.

TRAFFIC INCREASE

Mr. Chapman agreed, saying, the activity at the airport has shown a considerable increase over the past two years, "but the Department of Transport will still want to be shown there is a reason for it before facilities are improved."

Regarding the baggage problem, Mr. Rennie pointed out that on-loading and off-loading are done in one operation by the same people, hence the delay. He said he would look into this problem further.

As far as extension is concerned, he said 8,000 feet would be "adequate enough" for needs in the immediate future, including the introduction of flights by Boeing 707 jets. He said the Boeing company has been working with PWA on the issue.

Directors tossed around several items which they felt were problems in need of solving before service can be improved. They included Pacific Western Airlines scheduling, airport extension, a taxiway to relieve aircraft traffic congestion, baggage and tie-down problems and the city's user fee.

Many of these flights, he predicted, will be charter flights of skiers, taking the load off Banif, which he described as becoming more and more congested.

FWA spokesman Ian Rennie was on hand at the meeting to explain improvements planned by the airline for their summer season. They include 260 more seats per day on PWA flights in the Interior; non-stop direct flights from Kelowna to Calgary, with the evening flight returning to Penticton and direct to Kelowna the following day and the addition of a Con-vaire flight to the West Kootenays.

Directors also expressed concern over development of flyways in the area of the airport and it was pointed out that a new runway has been built on one of them and will doubtless encounter noise problems soon.

Gulf Separates Cabinet Over Moran Dam Issues

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, fiscal agent of B.C. Hydro, says the Moran Dam on the Fraser River will never be constructed as long as he is premier.

Dr. Gordon Shrum, Hydro chairman, has been studying power needs and resources—including the possible building of the high-level dam.

Kenneth Kiernan, a director, persists that the dam may be needed as a flood-control device and that power development should then be thrown in to pay for it.

Another director, Ray Williston, says the dam will not be built as an electric power development project and that no plans exist for building the dam for any other purposes.

The premier doesn't seem to mind the considerable expense of studying it.

It is only natural to be suspicious of politicians, and public qualms that Mr. Bennett may not be saying what he intends can only be heightened when members of his cabinet express different and conflicting views on the outcome of the Moran controversy.

Mr. Kiernan emphasizes that the dam could provide the final answer to flood dangers on the lower Fraser. But in his stand, so far as ecologists, fisheries experts and other conservationists are concerned, is that a dam that holds back a large head of water in a reservoir is by that fact a prime source of hydro power.

Once built, if only for flood control, the dam would be a long step toward establishing a power plant on the Fraser and in any case would end most of the river's value as a major source of salmon.

Dr. Shrum is urging the superiority of nuclear power over hydro or gas-fueled generators on Vancouver Island, and giving only an occasional ear to Mr. Bennett's expressed disapproval of the nuclear answer.

Obviously it means that there is a wide gulf separating some members of the cabinet from their colleagues—a gulf which affects the senior experts of the government's power and energy agencies.

Mr. Bennett has the power to enforce his personal opposition to a Moran dam, but he himself recognizes that this can be effective only up to the hour of his leave-taking, whenever that may be.

After that, it seems that the Fraser will be open for grabs, with all the necessary information gathered handily in the files and the arguments for implementation ready to emerge at a moment's notice both from high-level and intermediate level outlets of the reservoir of data.

One thought emerges out of this jangle of statements by our politicians. Could Mr. Bennett's stand that the Moran dam will not be built while he is premier mean that the dam is a serious possibility but that no positive action will be taken on it until after he has stepped down from the Social Credit leadership?

In that way he would be off the hook as far as public criticism is concerned. But one mustn't forget that the premier has stated he will remain in office as long as he retains his health, and right now he appears disgustingly healthy for a man his age.

Break For Lumbermen

The construction boom in Japan has British Columbia lumbermen's eyes gleaming at the prospect of potential markets, according to a Canadian Press report.

The statistics are staggering. A recent Japanese government report estimated that nearly two million new housing units will be built annually through 1977.

In Canada 200,000 units yearly is considered good. In Japan, pre-fab housing alone accounts for 200,000 units annually.

B.C. forest industry executives are looking forward to Japan's purchases of B.C. lumber equalling those of the United States, the No. 1 importer.

In 1971, Japan accounted for about $50 million of B.C.'s $451 million in lumber exports. This was $25 million less than in 1970, the peak year, but lumbermen say they expect Japan's economy to improve and result in a surge in imports of B.C. lumber in 1972.

The Japanese lumber market is highly competitive, with Alaska and New Zealand being B.C.'s biggest competitors.

About five per cent of Japan's lumber is imported, 50 per cent comes from Japanese forests and the remaining 45 per cent is converted from imported logs into finished lumber by Japanese mills.

The export outlook is bittersweet in John Wilson's eyes. Mr. Wilson is product manager for plywood for the Council of Forest Industries of British Columbia and recently spent two weeks in Japan assessing export prospects.

"The greatest factor in our favor is that the Japanese basically use wood for their homes so it isn't a question of trying to convert them to its use, as for example in Europe where brick and mortar has been preferred," he says.

The one catch, Mr. Wilson says, is that the Japanese use four-inch by four-inch lumber, rather than the two-inch by four-inch standard timber-frame system of North America.

He says it is hoped the Japanese will consider adopting the North American timber-frame system.

Mr. Wilson, while cautioning against a too-optimistic view, says our timber-frame system can be adapted to traditional Japanese building techniques without much trouble.

"Our timber-frame dimensions are readily adaptable to local design requirements. By adjusting the spacing, etc., you can take care of the differences."

Yukon Welcomes Americans And Millions They Leave

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP)—Visitors to the Yukon—mostly Americans—swelled the territory's coffers to the tune of $10 million last year, a northern resources conference was told Wednesday.

R. H. Thomson, assistant general manager of the Travel Industry Association of Canada, said the 1971 revenue matched figures for the mining industry in 1966 in the Yukon.

And he predicted that revenue from the tourist industry could exceed $60 million in the Far North by 1985.

The Yukon's burgeoning tourist trade helped Canada become the fourth-best visitor attraction last year and this country now ranks ahead of Britain, France and the Caribbean.

Mr. Thomson said tourism is not extremely sensitive to variations in market conditions.

Continued to grow While the United States and Canada were undergoing minor business recession in 1971, tourism in Canada grew about five per cent in dollar volume, he said.

This was down from the normal growth pattern of about 12 per cent a year, but few businessmen would quarrel with a five-per-cent increase during a recession, said Mr. Thomson.

Earlier, John E. Maybin, president of the Canadian Gas Association, told about 300 businessmen attending the conference that while the population growth level of North America dropped to the one-per-cent level in the last two years, energy demands are growing four times as fast as the populace.

He said there was some cause for reflection when one hears that the world may use as much oil between 1970 and 1980 as it has in the last 100 years.

Mr. Maybin said oil was the largest single primary source of energy on this continent, providing 40 per cent of the North American power needs.

He said nuclear energy sources have not begun to contribute as much as one per cent of the total energy supply. By 1980, they are expected to provide one quarter of the primary energy needed for electric power generation.

John Lowe, general manager of the Northern Canada Power Commission, said power developments in the North are growing at a rate of eight per cent a year. The national rate for Canada is seven per cent.

He pegged the hydro potential of the Yukon at 3,000 megawatts, only 25 of which have been developed in the territory to date.

Mr. Lowe said there appeared to be a concentration of 1,000 megawatts on the Alsek and Bates rivers, about 100 miles west of Whitehorse.

"This potential could obviously be a valuable one in terms of heavy industrial or smelter use, and perhaps in terms of export power," he said.

INSIDE BOUNDARIES "Strangely enough, these two rivers have not been investigated in any detail, but our present concern is not the study. It is the fact that both these rivers lie within the recently-announced Klusane National Park."

Mr. Lowe said the Alsek, once a glacial area, could be developed to enhance the natural setting. A dam on the river could recreate a large lake that once was there.

CAPITAL COMMENT

A Running Battle With An Auditor

By FARMER TISSINGTON

OTTAWA — Canadians have heard a lot in recent weeks about the public accounts committee of the Commons. This is chiefly because of the argument flared up again between the government and Canada's auditor-general, Maxwell Henderson.

It may be of interest to take a look at the committee itself, how it functions and performs, because in some respects it is the most unique and interesting committee among the standing committees of the Commons.

In recent years the committee has increased its influence as a serious investigatory body and has become sort of an arm or adjunct of the office of the auditor-general in prying into the darker corners of government administration. Despite its occasional disclosures of weak administrative practices and waste in government departments, it has become an accepted part of the parliamentary procedure.

It was in 1958 that, following a British practice, a member of the official Opposition was elected chairman of the committee. This practice has been followed since with the present chairman being Wellington MP Alfred Hales. It is the only standing committee to have an opposition MP as chairman but the importance of this is more symbolic than anything else.

WEAKNESS IN SYSTEM Mr. Hales tells me there is a weakness in the Canadian system: The committee does not operate under a statute as similar committees do in some other countries, such as Australia.

There is nothing to bind the minister of finance or the government to refer the annual report of the auditor-general to the committee for study.

There has not been a case in Canada yet when a government has refused to refer the report but some years there has been a lengthy delay before the government got around to giving the committee its references and permitting it to get down to business.

In an effort to overcome this, Mr. Hales has placed a private member's bill on the order paper which would have the effect of regularizing the committee's constitution and procedure.

The present committee consists of 20 members, equally divided with 10 Liberal MPs, six Conservatives and two each from the New Democrats and the Social Credit party. As the chairman is a member of the Opposition, this gives the Liberals a majority of one, with the chairman voting only in the case of a tie.

Mr. Hales emphasizes that the most important feature of the committee's work is that it must be as non-partisan as possible. If the committee were constantly split between government members trying to discredit the auditor-general's report and the Opposition members consistently supporting him, the committee's value would be very limited, as would the value of the auditor-general himself. Fortunately this rarely happens and some of the most probing questioning of departmental officials and top bureaucrats has come from Liberal MPs.

HAS INFLUENCE The committee does not attempt to deal with every item in the auditor-general's report but picks out those which it feels need more investigation and study. Once the agenda is established, copies are forwarded to the departments concerned to advise them of the subject matter and the dates when it will be discussed. This is done well in advance to give the departments a chance to prepare their replies.

"The committee takes evidence in public but it does not take it under oath," Mr. Hales points out. "People, and particularly deputy ministers, do not like to admit faults or acknowledge inefficiency. Having one's mistakes made public for all to read and hear is strong medicine but is sometimes justified.

"The fact the committee hearings are conducted in public and its printed reports are made public is one of the most potent and effective weapons of the committee."

Although there is not a provision for debate or concurrence in the committee's reports to Parliament, a copy of the recommendations goes to the minister concerned and a follow-up is requested.

Here lies the greatest weakness of the system. If there is not serious follow-up by the minister, most of the work is wasted and the departments will continue to do their merry way, making similar errors over and over again.

Ulster Protestants Now May Desire Closer Ties With U.K.

BELFAST (Reuter) — When the political convulsions of Northern Ireland's Protestants begin to subside, political observers here believe they will accept, or even look forward to, complete integration with Britain.

The British government's decision to take over the complete administration of Northern Ireland from its parliament at Stormont, in Belfast, with effect from March 30, came as a blow to most of the one million Protestants.

It was a satisfying surprise for many of Ulster's half-million Roman Catholics—even though the Protestant-dominated Stormont was only suspended for a year, not abolished.

The British government's decision followed a steady escalation in terrorist bombings and shootings, mostly attributed to the Irish Republican Army. Spiralling violence between the two embattled communities, touched off about three years ago by the Catholic minority's campaign for civil rights, has already cost nearly 300 lives.

The Protestants, traditionally loyal to the British Crown, live in fear of unification with the neighboring Irish Republic, where Catholics predominate.

FFLT SHOCK They felt shock and betrayal after the London announcement, and most observers here feel that a temporary surge in favor of a tough Protestant line was inevitable.

William Craig, leader of the Protestants' Vanguard movement, said that if London did not resurrect Stormont, Northern Ireland should "go it alone" and make a unilateral declaration of independence—just as Rhodesia did in 1965.

But many people in both religious camps believe that when rank-and-file Protestants realize that the Irish Republican Army is spilling less and less blood since the London takeover, they will have time to ponder the results that could follow Craig's proposed policy of civil disruption and independence.

"Northern Ireland would go broke in six weeks without Britain," said one Protestant economist.

The rejection of Craig by the Protestants would leave the political field to two others—Rev. Ian Paisley, once a fanatical champion of pure Protestant doctrine, and Brian Faulkner, the Northern Ireland prime minister who resigned last month rather than voluntarily hand over control of law and order to London.

PAISLEY MELLOWED But Paisley has mellowed during the last few months and has taken a softer line towards the country's Roman Catholics.

His own fight, he says, is to have Northern Ireland raised from provincial status to full membership within the United Kingdom, such as Scotland and Wales have long enjoyed.

Some experienced observers say this could happen within a year, and Northern Ireland's representation in London's House of Commons would be raised to perhaps 25 from the current 12 members.

These would probably be divided into 15 seats for the one million Protestants and 10 for the half-million Catholics.

Ireland was partitioned half a century ago—the Protestant-dominated north remaining loyal to Britain, and the Catholic-dominated south beginning its progress toward full independence as a republic, achieved in 1949.

If the present lull in IRA bloodshed continues and the British government convinces the Protestants it will not turn them over to the republic without majority approval, the results could be the peaceful integration of Northern Ireland into the United Kingdom.

This in turn could lead to more justice for the Catholics in Northern Ireland, and bring an end to years of bloodshed.

Heath Reportedly Optimistic

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Heath is reported to be encouraged by the early-stage reaction to his political initiative in Northern Ireland.

Informants said today he is hopeful that the program of direct rule will soon produce positive results with a widening gap developing between the bulk of the estranged Catholic population and the gunmen of the Irish Republican Army.

As the IRA continued to plant bombs in Belfast and elsewhere, the Heath team found the statement of Gerry Fitt, leader of the minority Social Democratic and Labor party in Ulster, more significant as he called on "all men of violence to desist from further violence."

Fitt, who previously had rejected British political approaches for joint discussions, appeared to be giving support to William Cardinal Conway, Catholic primate of all Ireland, who earlier had demanded that the IRA stop their violence and give the political initiative a chance to work.

While the IRA leadership indicated it would pay no heed to these appeals, the suggestion that some women in the Catholic Anderstown suburb of Belfast are beginning to resist the IRA added to the British hope that the wave of terror may gradually decline.

One of the key promises in the British initiative is the reduction and perhaps eventual elimination of Ulster internment. William Whitelaw, the British cabinet minister administering direct rule, is reported to be considering releasing between 60 and 70 of the Catholic internees shortly.

More than 100 Catholics, reported linked with the IRA or in sympathy with the republican cause, have been placed in camps under troop guard as part of the former Stormont government's attempt to contain the spread of violence.

About 132 detainees on the prison ship Maidstone anchored in Belfast are on a hunger strike in protest against what they describe as poor food and living conditions. Some are reported "near collapse."

CANADA'S STORY

Grand Trunk Pacific Went To Prince Rupert

By BOB BOWMAN

Canada's second transcontinental railway was completed April 7, 1914, when the last spike of the Grand Trunk Pacific was driven into place at Nechako, B.C. A third transcontinental line was finished in September, 1915, when Canadian Northern began service between Quebec and Vancouver.

It was an era of high hopes and reckless expansion for Canada. There weren't enough people to support three transcontinental railways, which were constructed at high cost. The federal government had to take over Canadian Northern in 1917 and Grand Trunk Pacific in 1919. They are now part of Canadian National.

Grand Trunk Pacific thought it was going to be the greatest railway on the continent, with its west coast terminal at Prince Rupert. By using the Yellowhead Pass west of Edmonton, its grades did not exceed 21 feet per mile. Heavy trains could be pulled by one engine.

On the other hand the CPR, using the Kicking Horse Pass, had to contend with much steeper grades and sometimes needed three locomotives to haul its trains. Other railways in the United States had similar problems.

It was stated: "The Grand Trunk Pacific will always be in the position to dictate terms, for its operation must prove profitable at a figure which would spell financial disaster to its rivals."

Sir Sandford Flemming, who did the original surveys for CPR, was in favor of the Yellowhead route in 1876. It had been used for centuries by Indians traveling to and from the coast. However, when final plans were made for the CPR it was decided to use a more southern route than Yellowhead in order to lessen competition from U.S. lines. There was also fear of war with Russia, in which case the northerly route might have been more in danger.

NEWS ODDITIES

STORRS, Conn. (Reuter) — A University of Connecticut survey shows the U.S. public trusts politicians only slightly more than used-car salesmen—and less than plumbers, TV repairmen and car repairmen.

University psychologists termed the study "frightening" in that politicians ranked so low. Among 20 occupation groupings, politicians ranked 19th—just above used-car salesmen.

The study said city politicians ranked the lowest in terms of truthfulness, competence and altruism. U.S. Congressmen did slightly better.

HOUSTON, Tex. (Reuter) — Richard Anthony Mayes, 25, turned up in court Wednesday wearing a pink mini-dress and announced plans to challenge the Texas statute that makes it an offense for a person to wear clothes of the opposite sex in public.

Mayes has been living as a woman for the last five months. A series of hormone injections has produced a bust and Mayes hopes to undergo a sex-change operation.

Police have arrested Mayes twice in the last two months for wearing women's clothing—the first time on Jan. 29.

In court Wednesday, the Jan. 29 charge was dropped and Mayes was fined $1 after pleading no contest to a similar charge brought March 3.

Mother's Cross And Chain Something Old For Bride

A double-ring ceremony united in marriage Judith Carol Leckie of Kelowna and Robert Paul Spleiter of Salmon Arm on April 1 at St. Paul's United Church, Kelowna. Hydrangeas and Easter Lilies decorated the church for the 4 p.m. ceremony conducted by Rev. John Davidson.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William James Leckie of Kelowna and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Spleiter of Salmon Arm.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown of honeymoon crepe was fashioned on empire lines with a wedding-ring collar. A large bow accented the full train which flowed from the back and French cuffs completed the long full sleeves. Her illusion tulle, full-length veil fell in graceful folds from a headdress of forget-me-nots and pearl drops. She carried a cascade bouquet of purple miniature carnations.

TRADITION
Something old, was the gold cross and chain worn by her father on her wedding day and borrowed an antique emerging from a friend.

Maid of honor was Wendy Thomas of Calgary and bridesmaids were Beverly Kilburn of Toronto; Beverly Lee and her sister Linda Leckie, both of Kelowna.

They were clad in identical floor-length gowns of royal purple velvet, also fashioned on empire lines which were accented by white velvet ribbons. The maid of honor wore purple rosebuds. White rosebuds were entwined in their coiffures.

Brian Lee of Kelowna served as best man and Charles Leckie, the bride's brother of Kelowna, served as a groomsman along with Barry Harvie of Victoria.

A turquoise polyester crepe ensemble was chosen by the bride's mother who received the guests at the reception at the Colony. A corsage of white feathered carnations and pink rosebuds adorned her costume, which was trimmed with bugle beading.

The groom's mother chose a mint green dress-coat ensemble, complemented with corsage of yellow roses.

The bride's grandfather, Cecil Leckie, who was master of ceremonies, proposed the toasts. Purple and white carnations added a gay touch to the bride's white cloth covered table which was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. A miniature bride and groom under a trellis of flowers topped the cake.

For her going-away outfit the bride chose a mauve frock dress with a fitted waist emphasized by a matching summer-bund. Mauve suede shoes and a matching purse completed the ensemble which included a white coat. A corsage of pink and white carnations accented the costume.

Following a honeymoon tour of interior British Columbia the couple will make their home at Prince George where the groom is with the department of highways.

Out-of-town guests were: the bride's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Leckie, Winnipeg; Mrs. Beverly Leckie and children, Robbie and Shawn of Victoria; the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Spleiter of Salmon Arm and his sister, Mrs. Stanley Cooper, also of Victoria; Frieda Fraser of North Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Barrie Harvie, Jay Taylor, Mr. Darlene Baker and Lorie, all of Victoria; Mrs. Gertrude Harvie, Nanaimo; Mrs. May Welsh, Bruce Welsh and Norma Naven, all of Courtenay; Mr. and Mrs. Bud Inglis, Langley; Mr. and Mrs. George Gagnecole, Calgary.

Toastmistresses Hold Course Orientation

During the past few months members of Kelowna Toastmistress Club have been engaged in an orientation course under the guidance of Mrs. Charles Thom and June Carter, designed to acquaint the newer members with the organization and purpose of toastmistress training.

This was completed at a recent meeting of the club when the evening was devoted to evaluation, an important aspect of training.

The proper method of evaluation was explained to the group by Mrs. Thom and Miss Carter and then various members were asked to evaluate a speech prepared and delivered by Mrs. Thom, with the obvious design of leaving much to be criticized.

These evaluators were then evaluated by one of the more senior members.

This illustrated the point that while evaluation in itself may be a matter of individual opinion, the ability to give and receive criticism is an important aspect of everyday life.

Speech Contest Set For April 8

Kelowna Toastmistress Club will host the spring meeting and speech contest for Council 9, Pacific Northwest Region, ITC at the Capri on April 8.

Mrs. W. A. Ludlow, supervisor of Pacific Northwest Region, will be a special guest at the meeting and will present educational workshops for the members at the afternoon session.

The speech contest will get under way at 6:00 p.m. when representatives from Okanagan, Kamloops, Vernon, Penticton and Kelowna will speak-off for the right to represent Council 9 at the regional contest to be held in Duncan, B.C., on May 20 and 21.

Kelowna Rebekah Lodge Initiate 4 New Members

At a special meeting March 29, the beautiful Rebekah Degree was presented by the officers and members of Kelowna Rebekah Lodge No. 36 at the initiation service of four candidates.

All members taking part made a very striking appearance in their white formals and red carnation corsages, the flower of the president of the Rebekah Assembly of British Columbia.

The pageants of the degree were well performed and made colorful by the lovely costumes, representing the dress of early Bible characters.

The new members were: Mrs. Ellen Hardwicke, Mrs. Bessie Doeksen, Carl Viergutz and Albert Leonard. They were escorted through a colorful arch and presented to the assembly president, Mrs. J. F. Prior, of Kelowna. As each were introduced the president pinned a corsage on the women and a boutonniere on each man.

As the closing addendum, and a tribute to Easter, the members formed a cross leaving a cross of white lilies and pink roses on the floor. While the floor work was proceeding the choir sang the hymn "The Old Rugged Cross."

Mrs. J. F. Prior, president of the Rebekah Assembly, Mrs. Fred Tutt, assembly marshal and Mrs. George Mugford, district deputy president as special guests, were seated at the right of the Noble Grand, Mrs. Harry Tomlinson.

After the meeting a delicious luncheon was served and members and friends from other lodges had a chance to visit and to welcome the new members.

The next few weeks are going to be very busy for the members of this lodge.

April 4, many members drove to Penticton to attend the Okanagan district association meeting of lodges from Kamloops to Oliver.

The weekend of April 7-9, the North West District Association will be holding sessions in Kelowna for members from Idaho, Washington, Oregon and British Columbia.

April 22, Kelowna Rebekah Lodge is to welcome home the assembly president, Mrs. J. F. Prior, after her strenuous year of official visits and committee meetings to many parts of the province. Many guests are expected to attend to honor the president.

Mrs. Prior's term of office ends after the sessions of the Rebekah Assembly of British Columbia to be held in Vernon on May 9, 10, 11.

How To Choose The Right Ring For Bride To Love And Cherish

TORONTO (CP) — It is possible to get the ring the girl loves at a price the boy can afford if you know a little about what makes a diamond good, and choose your jeweller carefully.

Harold Weinstein says it was easier to talk turkey about engagement rings when boys arrived alone to buy them.

"Now the couple come together 90 per cent of the time. You could always talk to a man about quantity and quality, but a young lady is primarily interested in the style of the ring, and she loves that ring. It may not be a good stone, or it might be more than he wants to spend."

"The right way to approach it is from the quality of the diamond. You can drop the grade and maintain the size of the diamond and drop the price. The young couple should understand there are various qualities, and what goes into making up the quality of the diamond."

"Then you can intelligently decide what you like in your price range."

IS GEM EXPERT
Mr. Weinstein is owner of Gordon Jewellers, which has two Toronto stores, and is a registered jeweller of the American Gem Society.

He says anyone shopping for a diamond should begin by choosing a jeweller with a high reputation, and visit more than one. There are booklets available with information about diamonds.

"Ask questions, find out as much as you can."

"What is important is that you find out what affects the value, quality and beauty."

"For instance, couples coming into our stores have it tucked away in their minds that there are 'flaws' in diamonds, and they must be careful. In the first place, you can call them flaws if you like, they are inclusions to a jeweller."

"Inclusions that don't affect the beauty and brilliance of the diamond allow someone to buy a fair-sized stone without a big investment. So you have to get rid of this bogey man about flaws."

AFFECT QUALITY
"There are four main factors that affect the quality of a diamond."

"The first is the cut. The diamond is a collector of light. All the light that enters a diamond from the top should be returned. If it leaks light it can look wishy-washy because it's too thin or dark because it's too thick. Brilliance refers to the amount of

Problems Face OMBL

By ROSS PHELPS

Kelowna Orioles are the only roadblock to the 1972 Okanagan Mainline Baseball League, and the City of Kelowna is the roadblock affecting the Orioles.

A meeting of league officials in Vernon Thursday night decided a couple of things, some of them already known. Kamloops, Kelowna and Vernon Labatts are in without any reservations.

Just about as sure is the situation of Penticton, who haven't answered any correspondence from league president Gerry Kenny. This indicates that the baseball patrons in Penticton have given up all interest in having a team this year.

That left it up to Kelowna Orioles to provide a third team in the league, seeing as another channel, a possibility of Salmon Arm joining the league, was just about closed off.

It was made clear by all the officials that the league would not operate with only two teams, and Kelowna's presence now has the effect of making or breaking the league.

Now, where exactly does the city of Kelowna fit into all this? It just so happens that they fit right across the bank vault door where $2,500 is left in trust from the sale of the lights at Elks' Stadium.

Orioles sold the lights to the city for $5,000 and have splurged half of the cash. The other half is in trust and the team is allowed to remove only the interest off of it each season; coming to something like $100.

Terry Calk, who seems to be the moving force behind getting a team fielded out of Kelowna this year, says Orioles can operate on a shoestring $1,000 budget this year. In this he is hoping that commercial interests will back the team once they realize that Orioles already have some money behind them.

So far any efforts to get commercial backing, much like Vernon's deal with Labatt's in which they get a yearly stipend, for Orioles has failed. Most organizations claim it is too late in the season and their budgets have already been turned in for the coming year.

The sum Craik would like to raise is $2,500 which would cover the bills last season and allow Orioles to run this season without any money worries. It is just a matter of time that is exactly how much they have in the vault.

Operating expenses can be broken down into three parts, with new uniforms and equipment taking the lion's share. Umpires and cost of using the stadium (a matter we will go into later) add about $500 to the new equipment.

It just so happens that $1,000 will not cover the costs this season but through some careful pruning and taking some bills on the shoulders of the players themselves, Orioles can make it with a single grand.

The cost of using the stadium is $200 a season, down from the $400 that Craik reported creating a department superintendent Keith Maltman was after in the first place.

Orioles would also like to have some repairs made to the stadium. "When a guy hits the fence the whole place shakes," one official stated.

Some pressure should be brought on the city fathers, and the recreation department, to give a little and let the league live. If they don't loosen their purse strings, the long-lasting Okanagan Mainline Baseball League will be scuttled.

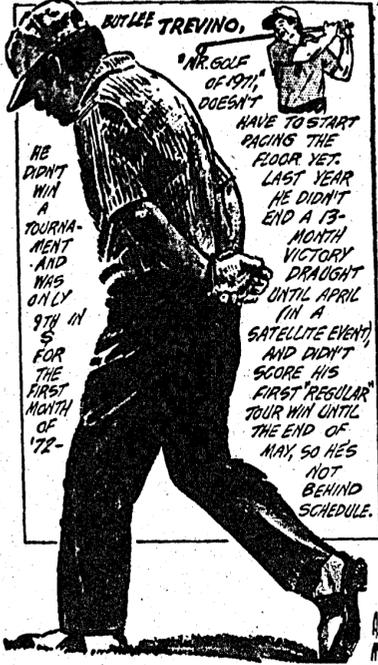

League officials, full of optimism, have started to draw up a league schedule and make plans for the upcoming season. One move made to lessen the money load was the waiving of the league fee of $150.

The OMBL and Kelowna Orioles have done their bit to keep baseball alive in the Valley. Now it's up to the Kelowna officials.

Take it away, city hall.

Leafs, Habs Break With Tradition

By THE CANADIAN PRESS Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens both broke with tradition Thursday night to provide unexpected developments in the National Hockey League quarter-final playoffs featuring East Division finishers.

At Boston, the Leafs broke a witness habit that had stretched back to 1963 by edging the Bruins 4-3 in overtime to even their best-of-seven series at one victory each.

In New York, the Canadiens slumped to a 5-2 loss to the Rangers, marking the first time since 1932 that Montreal has lost more than one game to New York in any one playoff series.

The two series move to Toronto and Montreal respectively for the third and fourth games Saturday and Sunday.

"When you beat the Bruins in Boston, you're beating one helluva hockey team," said Jim Clancy, the jubilant Maple Leafs coach.

HARRISON GETS WINNER

The victory, on Jim Harrison's goal at 2:58 of the first sudden-death overtime period, ended a 17-game Toronto winless streak on Boston ice which had included two losses in the playoffs in 1969 and the 5-0 defeat in the opener Wednesday night.

Since their last win in Boston March 31, 1968, Leafs had also lost 16 regular season games and tied once.

"Everybody said we were going to get laced, that we were going to get beat four games to nothing," said Clancy, "but I guess we showed 'em."

"Now they're going to have the full of it going into Toronto," said the 69-year-old coach.

Boston coach Tom Johnson said a "general lapse" by his team allowed the Toronto victory.

BEEN A LONG TIME

At New York, Montreal captain Henri Richard said, "We tried but we didn't have enough."

The Thursday night loss, added to the 3-2 defeat in the opener Wednesday, marked the first time the Canadiens lost two games in one playoff series to New York since 1932 when Rangers won a best-of-five semi-final 3-1.

The Rangers, without all-star centre Jean Ratelle who is out with an ankle injury, were expected to have more trouble against the Canadiens and goalie Ken Dryden who was the outstanding figure in Montreal's surprise win over Boston last year.

But Dryden gave up third-period goals by Bill Fairbairn and Walt Tkaczuk after allowing earlier scores by Dale Rolfe and Ron Stewart. Ted Irvine got the fifth Rangers goal in an empty net with 1:03 left in the game.

Claude Larose and rookie Guy Lafleur scored for the Canadiens, against Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin.

Phil Esposito and Fred Stanfield gave Boston a 2-0 first-period lead but the Bruins dropped their guard in the second period and Dave Keon scored once and set up Jim McKenny to put Toronto back in the game.

Johnny Bucyk beat goalie Bernie Parent to put Boston back in front soon after the Toronto rally and the Bruins stayed in front until midway through the third period when Guy Trottier got a breakthrough.

The little Toronto winger had just been cross-checked at the Bruins goal and was heading for the bench when Keon led him a pass.

Ron Ellis had already replaced Trottier on the line change but when he saw Keon's move, he jumped back to the bench, allowing Trottier to skate in alone on goalie Gerry Cheevers for the tying score.

Harrison's winning goal came on a 40-foot shot after he took a pass from winger Pierre Jarry.

"I just fired high... I think Cheevers was screaming," said Harrison, a former Bruin.

While the Bruins did not enter a formal protest, coach Johnson

Esposito and Harrison roughing penalties and Hodge's misconduct while McKenny went free, said Esposito in defending Hodge.

"Even Harrison will tell you that Harrison and I were tangled up. No fight, no roughing, no nothing. Just tangled on the ice. McKenny came in and fell on me. Hodge pulled him off. It was a bad call and it hurt us."

Johnson said Hodge's penalty accounted for much of the team's lapse.

"It takes some aggressiveness out of a team when someone is thrown out for that little."

Ruling On CFL Tryout Camps Will Have Little Or No Effect

By THE CANADIAN PRESS Canadian Football League officials say that a ruling making Canadian college students who attend CFL tryout camps ineligible to play for top college teams in the United States will have little effect on their teams.

The ruling, announced in the official publication of the U.S. National Collegiate Athletic Association, was made at the request of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union.

The CIAU said the tryout camps, in which promising high school and university players are awarded scholarships to U.S. universities, "have encouraged the brawn drain of Canadian athletes" to the U.S. to the detriment of Canadian university football.

Earl Eaton, a spokesman for British Columbia Lions of the Western Football Conference, said in Vancouver he does not think the NCAA ruling will make much difference.

The Lions had never given students scholarships to attend U.S. universities, he said. "Scholarships have been made available by U.S. colleges and no doubt will continue to be made available."

Earl Lunsford, general manager of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, said many high school football players who attend the evaluation camps will not be affected because the students are given no financial assistance by the CFL clubs.

He said although the Blue Bombers did not have an evaluation camp last year, the club has "never given a dime" to college and high school players attending camps in the past.

Referring to the CIAU's statement that the NCAA ruling will be a boost to both intercollegiate and Canadian football, Lunsford said:

"I can't accept that. There are about 250 Canadians playing football in U.S. colleges, but only about 60 of these have been recommended by CFL teams. That means most of the Canadian players are just going down to the American colleges and getting scholarships on college tryouts."

John Barrow, general manager of Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Conference, also said the ruling will have no effect on his team because no money is paid to students.

In Montreal, Red O'Quinn, general manager of the Alouettes, said that in his interpretation of the rule, it does not bar Canadian prospects from attending U.S. colleges on football

Highly-Favored Boston Loses Sarnia, Winnipeg Reach Finals

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—The fast-skating Winnipeg East Kildonan team moved into the A section final of the Kamloops International Bantam Hockey tournament Thursday when they defeated the powerful Boston Moose Club 5-2.

The underdog Winnipeg squad prevented Boston from getting a goal for most of the game and Allen Murray gave a strong performance in the nets when Boston did manage to get a shot away.

Boston opened the scoring early in the first period when Jim Langway slammed the puck behind Murray. Winnipeg came back late in the period with Don Shaw tying the score at 1-1.

Winnipeg got two quick goals in the second period—within a space of 40 seconds—with Tom Perrault and Ken Boychuk scoring on breakaways. Boston's second goal came eight seconds later when Mickey Rego deflected the puck into the Winnipeg net.

But in the third period, Winnipeg wrapped it up when their top scorer of the tournament, Dave Stokler, got two goals. The five Winnipeg goals were the most Boston had allowed in a single game in the tournament.

SARNIA IN FINAL

In the A section final today, Winnipeg meets Sarnia, Ont., Navy Vets, who defeated Mitchell, Sask., 1-3 Thursday. Mike Grambsen scored six goals and added an assist in the rout of the Saskatchewan team. Bill Smith added a goal and was credited with four assists.

Sarnia led 2-0 at the end of the first period and took a 6-1 lead over the Saskatchewan bantam champions in the second period.

Williams Lake overcame a two-goal deficit to edge Weyburn, Sask., 5-4 and win the B section final. Weyburn led 2-0 after the first period on goals by Brian Hill and Don Mahaffey. But Williams Lake came back fast in the second period to tie the score when Bruce Blair and Les Hopkins scored just three minutes apart.

Weyburn went in front again with two goals before the end of the second period with Alan Macovichuk and Mahaffey scoring. In the third period, Williams Lake narrowed the margin to 4-3 with Jeff Garten dumping the puck into the net and scoring and Jim Redpath tied the score 4-4 at 12:27. Just 15 seconds after Redpath's goal, at 12:42, Blair scored his second goal to give Williams Lake the title.

LARSEN STARS

Earlier Thursday, Williams Lake defeated Comox, B.C., 9-2 in a semi-final while Weyburn defeated Prince George, B.C., 8-2.

The B.C. bantam champions, Saanich Braves, playing their third game of the day, dumped Richmond 3-1 Thursday to take the C section final. Wayne Larsen figured in all three Saanich goals, scoring one and assisting on the other two. The other Saanich goals were by Bob Ferguson and Brian Kreuger. Robin Feehie scored for Richmond.

Saanich entered the final by defeating Burnaby Winter Club 6-3 and Fort St. John 4-1 in earlier games while Richmond got by Quesnel 8-5.

Today, along with the A section final between Sarnia and Winnipeg, Williams Lake will meet Saanich in a playoff and the winner of that game will meet the A section winner for the grand championship trophy. That game will be played tonight.

Good Start For Westbank Little League

A proposed little league baseball group at Westbank got off the ground Tuesday and is now off and running.

The meeting was attended by 25 people, and 15 players registered after the meeting. A number of inquiries were made by other players interested in joining.

A temporary executive was elected, with Gerry Cote chosen president. G. Malcolm as secretary, treasurer and equipment manager Peter Gutenberg and player agents Bob Kennedy and Lawrence Kennedy were also elected. This executive will stand for one month.

Harvey Gurly of the North Kelowna Little League gave a brief presentation, in which he recommended association with the American Little League rather than the Canadian Amateur Baseball Association because of better insurance coverage and travelling expenses for a team after the first playoff game.

The next meeting of the Westbank Little League will be Monday.

Campbell Fines Dennis Hull While Hawks Trim Penguins

By THE CANADIAN PRESS Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, Thursday night gave Chicago Black Hawks reason to be uncomfortable—something Pittsburgh Penguins have been unable to do in the western division Stanley Cup playoffs.

Campbell fined the club $500 and imposed a further penalty of $500 on Hawks' left-winger Dennis Hull for using an illegal stick in their 3-2 victory over the Penguins.

The victory gave Hawks a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven quarter-finals, with the third and fourth games of the series scheduled for Pittsburgh Saturday and Sunday.

In the other bracket, Minnesota North Stars also went ahead 2-0 by defeating St. Louis Blues 6-5 in overtime.

In a verbal exchange with Hawks' general manager Tommy Ivan and coach Billy Reay after the game, Campbell rejected their claim that the Pittsburgh team had requested an inspection of Hull's stick during the game.

OFFICIAL CHECKED

The league president said William van Deelen, supervisor of officials for the west, measured the player's stick and found it had an illegal curvature.

The fines are automatic, Campbell said. He did not expect any further penalties against Ivan or Reay for challenging his action.

NHL referee-in-chief Scotty Morrison announced two weeks ago that officials would measure all sticks before playoff games started to avoid delay in play. If they were found wanting, they had to be replaced before the opening face-off.

Sticks belonging to Dean Prentice and Charlie Burns of Minnesota and a North Stars and Danny O'Shea and Jack Egerts of St. Louis Blues were ruled illegal prior to the opening game of their series Wednesday night.

SOFTBALL PRACTICE

Rutland Rovers of the Kelowna and District Senior Men's Softball League will be holding their first practice of the season Sunday at 1 p.m. at the Rutland Centennial Park.

The three other teams in the league, Budget Boys, Club 13 and Willow Inn Willows, are expected to begin their practices within the next week.

The Hawks have been able to win both games to date without scoring assistance from their 50-goal star Bobby Hull. MARTIN GETS THIRD

Chris Bordeleau provided goal and assisted on another, Thursday, while Pit Martin registered his third of the series and Chico Maki got his first for Chicago.

Bobby Leiter, who got the Penguins off to a fast start Wednesday, scored a powerful goal while Hawks were two men short, and Jean Pronovost tallied once.

The Hawks at one point seemed ready to make it a rout, but goalie Jim Rutherford settled down to a brilliant performance for Pittsburgh to help keep them in the game until the final bell.

Tony Esposito, his counterpart in the Hawks net, had to come up with a big save during three minutes left to prevent Sly Apps from counting the tying goal.

In sharp contrast to their opening game, the North Stars and Blues indulged in a free-wheeling affair. Minnesota won the first contest 3-0, but Thursday North Stars needed overtime to edge the Blues on a goal by Bill Goldsworthy.

Knicks, Bucks Win In Playoff

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS New York Knicks beat Baltimore Bullets 104-98 Thursday and squared their National Basketball Association East series at two games each.

Milwaukee Bucks won their Western Division playoff game by defeating Golden State Warriors 108-100.

In NBA action tonight, it's Atlanta vs. Boston in a best-of-seven semi-final series in the West. They're tied 2-2.

Milwaukee was fired by a third-quarter fight between Lucius Allen and Fritz Williams. The Bucks had rallied from their third-quarter deficit to within 79-78 when the battle broke out late in the period.

Golden State was bringing the ball up in their backcourt with the Warriors' Williams and Allen maneuvering for position. Suddenly, Allen decked Williams with a tight and jumped on him as both benches cleared.

Officials had nearly restored order at centre court when Williams struck Allen as the two stood near the sidelines. Williams was ejected from the game and Allen left for stitching above his left eye, although he returned midway in the fourth quarter.

REMEMBER WHEN...

James J. Braddock, Jersey City heavyweight boxer, lost to Billy James 42 years ago tonight—in 1930—over 10 rounds at Philadelphia, Pa.

Later, Braddock won the world championship, which he lost to Joe Louis in 1937, at his first defence of it.

In men's singles, China's Chu Yen-ling and Liang Kolinang were victors over Canada's Larry Leo and Paul Klevinan by identical 21-10 scores. Canada's Errol Carter edged China's Hu Wei-hsin 21-7 and Derek Wall beat Chen Pan-ching of China 21-18 in other matches.

The visitors, who arrived in Canada March 30, go to Vancouver today.

BCJHL Finals Go Distance

Penticton, B.C. (CP)—Staring elimination in the face, Vernon stormed back to down Penticton Broncos 4-2 and even their best-of-seven British Columbia Junior Hockey League finals at 3-3 before 2,600 fans Thursday night.

With the win, Vernon forced a seventh and deciding game for the B.C. championship and the right to meet Red Deer, the Alberta finalists. Regardless of who emerges in the winner in the final game, in Vernon Friday, the B.C.-Alberta series will begin in Red Deer Sunday.

Vernon trailed 1-0 at the end of the first period Thursday, but jumped into a 3-2 lead after two and counted the only goal in the final period.

Ernie Gare led Vernon with a pair of goals, while Bill Vernon and Wayne Dye contributed singles. Bobby Nicholson handled the Penticton scoring as he shot both of his team's goals.

Though Penticton outshot Vernon, peppering goaltender Earl Bowie with 39 shots while Penticton's Glen Bueckert faced only 22, the Penticton crew was guilty of numerous defensive lapses that Vernon quickly converted into goals.

The accusation of high operating costs is a burden electric heat has had to bear. But with Intertherm's hot water electric heat, we have managed to give you a solution to this problem. Our heating system follows the principle of ordinary electric resistance heat, then it uses the principle of economical hot water heat.

With almost a half million Intertherm installations over its entire history, it is simply amazing to us the number of people who write us telling how pleasantly surprised they were of the low operating costs.

And not only is Intertherm economical, it's also the most comfortable kind of heat you can provide for your own family. That's because it eliminates cold floors and cold drafts. And there is none of the annoying heat haze or types of heat, just smooth, even, comfortable heat.

It's also a healthful heat, now being recommended by allergists all over the nation and in Canada, for patients susceptible to combustion gases and "dried dust", caused by the hot heating surfaces of ordinary electric heating plants.

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball players continued their strike today while two owners called on commissioner Bowie Kuhn to take action to end the week-long walkout.

"The commissioner is going to have to intervene," says owner Bob Short of Texas Rangers, who recommends that Kuhn take an iron-fisted stand and order the players back to work.

"I know that he has been reluctant to take sides, but he's the only person left who can solve this," Short said. "He may not think he has the power, but I believe he does."

Calvin Griffith, president of Minnesota Twins, is on Short's side.

"If Kuhn doesn't step into it, the only solution I can see is for players to call off the strike," said Griffith.

That doesn't seem too likely immediately, based on recent developments.

MEETING FRUITLESS

Chief negotiators met Thursday in a long, but fruitless discussion in an attempt to end the first general strike in baseball history, now in its seventh day.

"We are not close to any settlement," declared Marvin Miller, the executive director of the Major League Players' Association.

Another meeting was scheduled for today in the dispute over pension benefits between Miller and John Gaherin, the owners' chief negotiator. But even if they settle, chances are the season won't start before Monday because teams have postponed weekend games.

The situation became more involved with a report that the presidents of the two major leagues would order players locked out from practicing in stadiums. Neither American League president Joe Cronin nor National League president Club Feeney were immediately available for comment, however.

Some baseball parks have been made available by owners to the strike-bound players.

"I didn't know that was an area of conflict," said Miller, referring to the reported lock-out.

ARBITRATION OK

Miller said he is willing to submit the painful dispute to binding arbitration.

"We're willing to have any prominent person... any neighbor shook up the game's new breed with a three-under-par 69 Thursday for an opening salvo over the Augusta National course.

The score put the old veteran from the Virginia Hills just one shot back of the pace-setting tournament favorite, Jack Nicklaus, who had to pick up six shots on a stretch of six finishing holes for a 68, and one ahead of Arnold Palmer, who had a 70.

It has been a long time since this sports spectacle produced such a glamorous package at the head of the pack.

Preissl Tops Dragoon Shoot

The next practice shoot will be Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Expos Strengthen Infield But It Cost Le Grand Orange

MONTREAL (CP) — For several months, Jim Fanning, general manager of Montreal Expos, has been looking for ways to strengthen the infield of his National League baseball club.

Now Fanning feels the Expos have fulfilled their needs with the acquisition of three players from New York Mets in a trade announced Thursday.

The Expos received 21-year-old shortstop Tim Foli, outfielder Ken Singleton, 24, and outfielder-first baseman Mike Jorgensen, 23, but the price was high. They parted with right-fielder Rusty Staub, a favorite with the fans at Jarry Park.

"We have acquired three of the finest young players in the National League," Expos' general manager Jim Fanning told a news conference. "We are giving up one of the finest players in the National League.

"This is a deal we wanted to make. It is one that will have lasting results.

Tim Foli is the type of shortstop we've been seeking. Defence, arm and range are all strong attributes. His desire, aggressiveness and over-all style of play are bonus qualities.

Foli can be colorful at times. Last season, he slept on the grass at Shea Stadium after one of the Mets' games in which he did not perform too well.

SEEKING REPLACEMENT

The Expos have been seeking a replacement for Bobby Wine, 33, who was injured for part of last season and suffered an ankle injury which slowed him down during spring training.

Singleton is a switch-hitter and Montreal manager Gene Mauch says that his acquisition is like "getting a player and a half."

"He has unlimited power potential," said Mauch of Singleton, who hit 245 with 13 homers and batted in 46 runs in 298 at bats.

Jorgensen is rated as "one of the best fielding first basemen in the majors" by Fanning.

Mauch said that, because of the players' strike, his first chore will be to "locate" his new players. The Expos' manager said that if the Expos had opened their season today, all three would have been in the starting lineup.

When asked if he had any thoughts on who would replace Staub in right field, Mauch said he wanted "to talk to the players first."

"I tell you though that Jim Fairey's spring will not be ignored," Fairey, a part-time performer with the Expos for the past two seasons was "the best hitter I saw this spring," added Mauch.

The trade had been brewing since the opening of spring training six weeks ago, but while the Mets wanted the power-hitter, they apparently had not put together the right combination to suit the Montreal club.

"We resisted through spring training," said Expos' president John McAlle. "They put up players that overpowered us."

"I don't think enough can be said for what Rusty has done for baseball in Montreal and Canada."

Old Man Snead 'Is Incredible'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — At 59, an age when many men are dreaming of social security cheques and a rocking chair in the shade, Sam Snead is trying to win another Masters golf championship.

"The guy is incredible—he thinks he's 20 years old," said Bill Campbell, the former Walker Cup captain from Huntington, West Va., after his neighbor shook up the game's new breed with a three-under-par 69 Thursday for an opening salvo over the Augusta National course.

The score put the old veteran from the Virginia Hills just one shot back of the pace-setting tournament favorite, Jack Nicklaus, who had to pick up six shots on a stretch of six finishing holes for a 68, and one ahead of Arnold Palmer, who had a 70.

It has been a long time since this sports spectacle produced such a glamorous package at the head of the pack.

Unfortunate Fight Promoter Is Through With Boxing Game

WINNIPÉG (CP) — Jack Keller, a Regina businessman whose only fight promotion ended with the death of one boxer, claims by another fighter that his life was threatened and the appointment of a provincial inquiry to investigate the four-card, says he's through the fight game.

Keller made the statement Thursday before Judge Benjamin Hewak, the commissioner investigating the Feb. 21 boxing card here which resulted in the death of Stewart Gray of Toronto. Gray died less than 31 hours after being knocked out by Canadian light heavyweight champion Al Sparks of Winnipeg in a title match.

A day after the card, Jim Christopher of Detroit told a Winnipeg lawyer his life was threatened unless he threw his support with Canadian heavyweight champion George Chuvalo of Toronto.

Statements were also made that one of the participants in the two preliminary fights could have taken a dive.

During the opening day of the official hearings, Keller testified he entered the fight promoting business "strictly as a hobby" and had to rely on advice from others active in the sport regarding business deals and the arrangement of matches.

Keller told the hearing the whole business has left him with "shot nerves and under doctor's care" after being exposed to the sport.

He testified he was deeply shocked when told by Carmella Gray the day after the match that her husband, Stewart, showed signs of epilepsy in the months prior to the contest, frequently complaining of dizzy spells and severe headaches but refusing to go under a doctor's care.

Some Beaches Eyesores Parks Commission Told

PEACHLAND (Special) — Wharves of the public beaches was the main topic of the Peachland Parks and Recreation Commission meeting held Wednesday in the Community Hall.

Guests were Jon MacKinnon, recreation consultant from Kelowna and Mrs. Bud McKaigue, president of the Peachland Riding Club.

Municipal bylaws 487 and amendments and the new rules and regulations bylaw pertaining to parks and beaches in the municipality No. 508 passed by municipal council in February were studied by the commission members.

Although they give the commission authority over the beach it was felt more specific recommendations to council have to be made to deal with the problem of wharves on the beach, and how this problem is to be solved. It was pointed out that two new wharves are under construction, and if something isn't done soon there will be no clear beach along Beach Avenue for swimmers, and that some of them are eyesores. In the past this was no problem as there were only one or two. With the increase in population members felt 25 was nearer the figure now.

RECOMMENDATION
The commission two years ago sent a recommendation to municipal council that all these wharves be phased out within five years except those in front of tourist facilities. Council had not at that time acted on this recommendation.

The meeting decided to request a tentative meeting with council, tentative date Thursday, April 13, when they will present a brief on the matter and also urge council to contact the federal government about the possibility of having the present public breakwater facilities extended. With the present population these are inadequate.

Mr. MacKinnon was questioned as to the holding of a seminar on youth leadership in Peachland. Don Wilson pointed out this was one of the recommendations made by last winter's director of the youth club, Kathy Langham. She felt the older students in the community could benefit from this and in turn help with younger groups in next year's program. Mr. MacKinnon agreed to look into this for the commission.

Mr. Wilson informed the meeting that an administration grant of $150 has been received from the government. A letter on the application from the Peachland Riding Club for a grant to help with instructors' fees for classes was read. A grant to assist up to $300 has been approved when the money becomes available.

GRANT ASKED
The list of names of students curling this past season at the Peachland Curling Club was studied and the club's request for a grant of $6 per student was studied. As 25 of the students concerned were local, a grant of $150 was approved to the curling club.

E. W. Lawby reported that the Peachland branch of the KDRS has now purchased the carpet bowling set and that residents are enjoying some good games in the hall in the mornings. He said any resident wishing to participate in this sport can contact Royal Snapp, Tom Smith or Kurt Dorn, and the equipment will be made available to them.

Mrs. Bud McKaigue told the meeting of a walkathon being sponsored by the riding club for the March of Dimes on April 15. She said this had raised more than $300 for the group last year and asked that all groups participate either as walkers or sponsors.

All information can be obtained from Mrs. D. E. Sutcliffe, Vernon Avenue.

Packing House Closes Down In Pentiction

PENTICTION (CP) — The Pentiction Co-Operative Growers' Association has gone into voluntary liquidation, blaming insufficient fruit tonnage to support its packing house facilities.

The association said in a statement Wednesday that tree losses suffered through freezes during the winters of 1964-65 and 1968-69 reduced fruit shipments to the packing house.

The building, including controlled atmosphere storage facilities, is valued at $775,000 and equipment has a book value of $150,000.

A spokesman said that to operate successfully the packing house must have at least 7,500 tons of fruit but tonnage received over the last two years has been less than 5,000 tons.

HAIRLESS WARRIORS

LONDON (CP) — Servicemen are more likely to go bald than most men, says a report by a London scalp clinic. The report explains that tight-fitting hats and berets create conditions in which seborrhea, a severe hair disease, flourishes.

Milady's Swimming Suits In 1902 Bulky But Warm

By PRIMROSE UPTON

After the long snowy winter and the ice on the lake, I have to admit that nothing was further from my mind than the thought of swimming. However, last weekend in the glorious spring sunshine, my young grandson and I were busy raking, and peeling off first our jackets and then our sweaters, when he said, "Granny, can I go swimming?" I shivered at the thought in spite of the sunshine, having seen the last of the ice float by just a short time before.

Soon after this I was leafing through a 1902 mail order catalogue, and the swimming suits appeared. Swimming or bathing suits for ladies were made as two piece models — and how anybody swam in them it would be hard to imagine. I think that most ladies dunked gently up and down and certainly couldn't do any speed swimming. These were two piece cotton suits, the second part being the skirt. There always seemed to be "ollars attached, and of course a frilly cap would be worn as well as dark stockings and probably canvas shoes. Other materials mentioned for the suits are a "good quality mohair or brilliantine," as well as a medium worsted.

Bathing suits for men were in one and two piece models — of the inevitable dark blue knitted cotton, and some of them were even daintily striped. Shirts usually had a front button opening, and trunks a drawstring around the waist.

The legs always reached comfortably to the knee.

Trunks for small boys were plain or striped and had a drawstring. There are no suits for little girls — perhaps they were not supposed to swim!

Prices for all these swimming suits are infinitesimal — think of the prices now for a mere bikini. However, looking at the catalogue made me realize how fortunate we are to have bathing suits nowadays which don't hang down and cling to your body like limp sack!

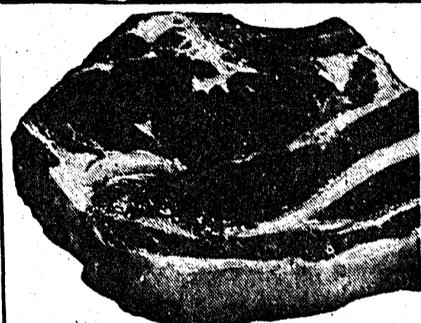

So, my small grandson's question about swimming led me to look at the catalogue again, all of which is quite timely by coincidence, as we hope to have a display soon of some "fashions through the ages. There will be clothes worn by babies, small children, big children, and adults, showing different materials and styles actually worn by people who lived here in the Okanagan Valley.

She's Grateful To H. Hughes For Her Debut In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Danish Baroness Nina van Pallandt, making her New York nightclub debut, didn't forget the man she said made it possible—Howard R. Hughes.

"God Bless his soul," the stunning songstress said Monday night at the opening of a three-week engagement in the Maisonette at the St. Regis Hotel.

She dedicated the song, Everybody's Talkin' About Me to Hughes and evoked laughter and cries of "Ole!" from the audience with the line, "I'm going where the sun is shining, down Mexico way."

It was during a weekend she took to Mexico with author Clifford Irving in February, 1971, that the writer claimed he met Hughes, to gather material for the purported autobiography of the billionaire industrialist.

200 PAY $25

Clara Hasselbalch of Copenhagen, mother of the baroness, was in the opening night audience. About 200 persons paid $25 each to hear the singer.

At a press reception afterward, the baroness said she was only a little nervous about the performance.

"I don't know, I enjoyed myself," she said. "I thought they (the audience) were very friendly."

"Obviously in some ways I was very much on trial. . . . I haven't had quite an opening in a long time like this. I've gotten known in America in the most extraordinary way."

Irving sold McGraw-Hill what he said was an autobiography of Hughes and claimed he had obtained the material in secret meetings with the billionaire recluse, including two during the Mexican trip.

But during an investigation which followed Nina told reporters—and later a grand jury—that such a meeting would have been impossible since Irving hardly ever left her while in Mexico.

Irving and his wife Edith have since pleaded guilty to selling a fake autobiography and are awaiting sentencing.

WINS DAUGHTER

A federal appeals court in Philadelphia, reaffirmed the right of Yoko Ono, above, wife of former Beatle John Lennon, to take custody of her eight-year-old daughter by a previous marriage. The court upheld a ruling by U.S. district court which held in favor of Mrs. Lennon in the custody dispute. The daughter, Kyoko, is believed in the custody of her father, Anthony Cox, who obtained a divorce from Yoko Ono in early 1969.

WOMEN IN HISTORY

TORONTO (CP) — "The women got the men across the country. They were the ones who opened up the West," says Araby Lockhart, a Canadian actress and producer who has written a show about the roles played by women in Canadian history. She includes the opinions and sayings of such women as Charlotte Small ("explorer David Thompson's wife"), Madame de Freneuse ("a very lively lady from Annapolis Royal") and Maggie Johnson ("Maggie became famous through a Canadian song, When You and I were Young, Maggie").

Success Won't Budge Him Out Of His Maritimes Retreat

By MICHAEL BENNETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Gene MacLellan, the soft-spoken, shy songwriter from Prince Edward Island, has come out from behind his sunglasses and eye patch to show the world his scars.

It's part of a self-imposed growing-up process for the 34-year-old native of Val d'Or, Que., who found a spiritual home in the Maritimes and who clings steadfastly to it, despite the pressures of success brought on by his songs Snowbird and Put Your Hand in the Hand.

When he gets on stage today, his audiences see not only the effects of polio which partially paralyzed the left side of his face—later injured in a car crash—but the soul of a country poet who admits he's been running from himself for too long.

"I'm finding a natural thing happening that's hard," says MacLellan, who completed a grinding three-week, cross-Canada tour early in March—the first of his career.

MUST BARE SELF

"I've got to become completely naked sometimes—I don't mean physically—I've got to bare myself and let people see exactly what I am. And if they don't like what they see, then I'm in the wrong business."

MacLellan is still the same guy Bill Langstroth, host of CBC television's Singalong Jubilee, says goes around with his nerve ends out four miles, but he's no longer afraid to expose them.

"I have a lot of internal strife still. This all came on me so fast. Like, I was 30 years old, so it's been four years in the making—I just turned 34—and to me, that was a drastic change.

"To have myself accepted, like my music accepted, at that stage of life was really something, when everything before that was just a dull void.

"A lot of times I feel like a freak, but people pay to see freaks. I'm accepting that fact now. I don't mind it as much. The main thing is the music and if I'm helping anybody with my music, that's all that really counts to me."

MacLellan's growing self-assurance parallels the confidence he feels building in his songs. He's still his own toughest censor, but when a song comes on now, he just lets it flow.

CADETS REVIVE
OTTAWA (CP) — The Lasalle Cadets, which have organized youth activities for Ottawa French-Canadians for 60 years, refuse to lie down and die. They announced they would disband last November but in the New Year a group met to continue the organization, increasing fees to $1 a week from the previous $15 a year.

Snowbird was only the second song he'd ever written and had been in existence nearly four years when Anne Murray recorded it and turned it into an international million-seller in 1970.

He wrote it in 25 minutes after watching a flock of snow buntings playing along the beach near his aunt's home at Pownal, a hamlet a few miles east of Charlottetown.

"Snowbird and Hand in the Hand don't say as much to me as a lot of the other songs I've written," says MacLellan.

"Songs like Lonesome River and I Got Drunk on Monday say a lot more to me. Hand in the Hand says something, but Snowbird, I still don't understand what it means."

Contest Winner

Nobody REALLY knows what Willie Wozzle looks like, but 11-year-old Karen Kolterman had a pretty good idea, so she entered the Draw Willie Wozzle contest — and won! Here, Karen and her sister Jean (chosen by Karen as her dinner guest) get ready to board Big Blue at Orchard Park Shopping Centre. Karen's prizes included a pair of skis, a ride on Big Blue, a horseback riding excursion and dinner at the Caravel with Jean. The girls also received a gift from Angus McKay, owner of Willie Wozzle. Potato Faces Need Love

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "My looks? I've always thought of myself as a kind of potato face. But then I figure that potato faces need love, too."

Gene Hackman was taking a long-range view of his career. An accomplished actor, his plain face seemed to doom him to a life of playing the leading man's best pal.

That has changed. He won the role of the relentless cop in 'The French Connection' because 20th Century-Fox didn't want a big-name star and couldn't find an unknown who could handle it. The film turned into a huge success, and Hackman finds himself courted for starring roles in a wide selection of movies.

"I never thought it would happen," Hackman, 41, said at his new home in Woodland Hills, a two-acre estate built by the late director Michael Curtiz. "I'm now being considered for the things I enjoy doing, as opposed to being supporting actor. I thought I would probably go on being a supporting actor until the jobs got scarce and I would have to go into television.

"The money began getting ridiculous, and I decided to jump in and grab it while I could. As a result, I did 10 pictures in the last three years. Ten pictures.

There haven't been 10 really good pictures made in the last three years, so obviously not all of mine were good.

"The low point, I guess, was Doctors' Wives. But I read the script, so I can't blame anybody but myself. It's a wonder I wasn't typed as a schlock guy who would take anything."

Laugh-Machine Thrown Away
As Sir Rudolph Gets Mellow

NEW YORK (AP) — Sir Rudolph Bing, 70, retiring at the end of this season as general manager of the Metropolitan Opera, says he has thrown away his laugh machine. And he adds that, although he may be considered by some a tyrant, he actually has become mellow.

The famous Bing laugh machine, which he kept on his desk, was brought into operation to reply whenever a singer came into Sir Rudolph's office to ask for a raise.

"It was a beautiful thing," Sir Rudolph said in an interview Tuesday. But the battery ran down and he threw it away.

This summer, the Met will negotiate with 14 unions representing its various employees and, Sir Rudolph said, "raises are no laughing matter at the moment."

The last negotiations, three years ago, deadlocked and the house opened the week after Christmas instead of the middle of September.

'The Toob' Tops In Spare-Time

EDMONTON (CP) — Watching television is the most popular spare-time activity for Alberta, says a report on the quality of life by the Human Resources Research Council.

Every evening about 800,000 people, approximately half the population, each spend two hours before television sets, the report said.

"Pub-going and the consumption of alcohol probably ranks second," adds the report. "Alberta has 690 licensed public drinking spots where, along with intake in private homes, 24 million gallons of beer, 1.9 million gallons of wine, 75,000 gallons of liquor and 37 gallons of cider are consumed."

Lawns should be enjoyed not worked on.

Lawn Green is one of the most effective fertilizers available for use on gardens and lawns.

A 22 lb. bag of Lawn Green covers 5,000 sq. ft. of lawn. This is far more than any ordinary, heavy-weight fertilizer can cover. (One of the reasons is that in the heavy-weights, the carrier is a heavy dense material, like sand. In light-weight Lawn Green the carrier is vermiculite, which weighs only a couple of pounds a bushel).

Lawn Green is safe, odourless and encourages steady growth throughout the season.

The 20-10-5 formula means it's a complete balanced plant food. And the long-lasting, Ureaform slow-release Nitrogen means that it continues to feed your lawn long after application. So you don't have to use it very often, which is a big improvement over some fertilizers.

Pick up a free copy of the Green Cross lawn care booklet from your local Green Cross dealer.

Royal Scots
May Be Tops

LONDON (CP) — A haunting bagpipe melody may hit the top of the British pop charts.

After a week on the market, the record jumped into third place.

Featuring the pipe and drum band of the Royal Scots Dragoon Guards, the tune is an instrumental version of the hit song Amazing Grace written by American folk-singer Judy Collins.

The single has been selected from the band's album made up mainly of regimental music.

Piper Jimmy Pryde, 42, who is featured in a pipe solo on the fast-selling single said he is looking forward to piping the tune on TV pop programs.

"It's a nice wee tune and the bagpipes bring it out very well," Jimmy says.

Pinocchio Reversed

ROME (AP) — Once upon a time there was a little boy who turned into a wooden puppet when he was bad. Yes, his name was Pinocchio. But hasn't somebody got the story backward?

The reverse twist to the 19th-century children's fable of the puppet who turned into a boy is Italian film director Luigi Comencini's modern version. His serial movie, a West German-French-Italian production, will start April 8 on Italian television.

Pinocchio is an impish, seven-year-old boy from Pisa, Andrea Balestra. Comencini says Andrea resembles the famous puppet—a "lively rebellious urchin."

The book by Carlo Collodi and the film start out the same way. The lonely carpenter Gepetto makes himself a wooden puppet. After he falls asleep, the fairy shows up. But at this point the film goes off on a new tack.

ALWAYS IN TROUBLE

In Collodi's book, the fairy promises Pinocchio if he is good he will become a real little boy. But the puppet finds it a long, hard road. He is continually in trouble.

Comencini has his blue-haired fairy, played by Gina Lollobrigida, turn Pinocchio into a real boy immediately so Gepetto will have a companion. But Pinocchio will turn back into a puppet if he misbehaves. Of course he does, three times in the course of the film.

NO JOKE
 NOTTINGHAM, England (Reuter) — Comedian Ken Goodwin is not laughing today.

Someone broke into his hotel room here during the weekend and stole his jokes. Typed lists of hundreds of jokes were taken, along with scripts for television stage shows.

"The jokes were in a folder with my name on it," Goodwin said Monday. "I appeal to the thief to send them back. It's not funny."

If Bought A Lot Of Guitar Strings But Randy Accepted Difference

By MICHAEL BENNETT
CP STAFF WRITER

The difference between $15,000 and $400 a night buys a lot of guitar strings. The arithmetic is something Randy Bachman accepted when he came out of "retirement" to form Brave Belt 18 months ago.

The days of big money and bad memories are behind him and Bachman, his kid brother, Rob, on drums, and a fine guitarist-song writer named C. F. Turner are making the kind of rock 'n' roll music to make people forget he was once part of the Guess Who, Winnipeg's gift to Gold Records.

He's on the road again, but this time he says he knows where he's going and when.

"We can say we're going out now and coming home in 10 days and we know how much we're going to clear and how much we're going to have to take a week off before we go out again," says Bachman, who's still getting healthy royally cheques for some of the Guess Who hits he wrote. "But in the Guess Who, it just got to be really ridiculous. You'd have a Thursday night off and you'd probably plan to sleep and somebody would phone and say: '$2,000 against 60 per cent of the gross,' and you got on a plane and flew there."

LEADS TO BREAKDOWN

"And it went on and on. When you get on a tour and you're in that much demand, getting phone calls every day making offers, it's really hard to turn them down, if you're out there."

"That's why I didn't like being out there that much, you just lose control."

"It gets put in the hands of agents and managers, who want their 10 or 15 per cent and they put you out there like a machine until you just break down.

"When you get on the go that much, you stop being human, you become a plant or a machine. The only way to keep going is, really, a lot of drugs and stuff... and that wasn't the way I saw myself going, so I didn't go."

HAD SOLID YEARS

Out of the 10 years he spent with the Guess Who, Bachman is convinced seven of them were solid years on the road, playing their hits over and over again, night after night, from Bangor to Birmingham.

For the first three years he was married, he saw his wife two days here, three days there—between gigs. Gold Records meant more bookings and more one-night stands meant less freedom.

"I spent a lot of my time alone. Like after a Guess Who concert, they'd all be going crazy at some party and I'd just go home and sit under a tree in a park or something.

"The same thing just happened again to the Guess Who. Greg Leskiw left. He was kind of a loner, as they call you if you don't want to mix with the party type of crowd.

"But it gets really sickening after awhile, all the press parties and the circuses with the groupies."

Tourniquet Ordered In U.K. As Blood Flows

LONDON (AP) — The BBC has ordered producers to soften violence and bloodletting on the television screens—even in news bulletins.

Color television has added to the impact of violence by making a sight of bright red blood even more horrific, it emphasized.

The clampdown came in a new code of stricter rules governing television violence, written by David Attenborough, BBC television programs director.

The new code, which replaces one written 12 years ago, comes amid mounting concern over television violence and permissiveness. It followed a BBC-sponsored survey which said half the TV programs shown in Britain contained some violence. Sixty per cent of them were U.S. imports.

The 13-page code was seen as a first step by Britain's television networks to moderate the increasing violence on home screens. The BBC runs two of the country's three TV channels and has had a policy of permitting greater realism—including nude love scenes—than its rival, the commercial Independent Television Authority.

Attenborough says Cliffhanger serials should always show the hero safe because "tomorrow is a long way off, next week an eternity away" for children, he said.

Scenes showing cruelty to children, family quarrels and the death of an animal should be "sparingly portrayed."

Attenborough ordered a total ban on details of fights and weapons—the use of knives, broken bottles, karate chops, nooses and the locking up of prisoners in "undesirable places."

News bulletins and documentaries, Attenborough added, were the most difficult programs to control as violence is accepted as being "uncontestedly" news.

Britons, Blacks, Bard

NEW YORK (Reuter) — Blacks and Britons shared the top nominations announced Monday for the 26th annual Tony awards—Broadway's equivalent to Hollywood's Oscars. Two Montreals were also among those named.

The black-oriented musical Ain't Supposed to Die a Natural Death took seven nominations and Two Gentlemen of Verona, whose cast is made up of two black and two white actors, took nine nominations.

The two works shared the slate for best musical, book for a musical, score and director.

Plays by British writers including Harold Pinter, Robert Bolt, and even William Shakespeare figure heavily in the nominations for the awards to be announced April 23.

Pinter's Old Times and Bolt's Vivat, Vivat, Regina, about Elizabeth I and Mary, Queen of Scots, were both mentioned in the categories of best play and actress.

However, the biggest British box office hit on Broadway, Jesus Christ, Superstar, won nominations only for the best score of a musical and secondary award such as best supporting actor, scene designer, costume designer and lighting designer.

British imports swept the awards last year.

FOR BEST PLAY

Other shows nominated for best play are Neil Simon's Prisoner of Second Avenue, a comedy about life in New York City, and Sticks and Bones about a blind Vietnam veteran who returns from the war.

Other musicals nominated include Grease, about rock 'n' roll and high school life in the 1950s, and Follies, about former Ziegfeld Follies stars.

Follies is also nominated for best book which was written by James Goldman, along with Grease whose book was written by Jim Jacobs and Warren Casey. John Guare and Mel Shapiro are nominated for the book of Two Gentlemen of Verona and Melvin Van Peebles for Ain't Supposed to Die a Natural Death.

Peebles is also nominated for best score of the musical. Stephen Sondheim for his score of Follies, Galt MacDermot of Montreal and John Guare for Two Gentlemen of Verona and Andrew Lloyd Webber and Tim Rice for Jesus Christ, Superstar.

Mort Sahl Hits Back

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It's my conviction that if Adolph Hitler were running a television network and said the comedians could use eight per cent of the freedom God gave them, they'd use three per cent."

Is Mort Sahl saying that some censorship on the networks is self-imposed?

"That's a hell of a charge, but that's the way it is," answered Sahl, who said that in the past his biting monologues got him a lot of "you'll-never-work-again" threats. For a time in the early 1960s he all but disappeared from television.

"You either don't get on the air or if you do get on you get pretty much carte blanche," he said.

Sahl believes the networks exercise one form of censorship—by booking mainly those comedians who will stay within bounds. He's a prime case in point. Few prime-time shows offer him a platform for his satirical thrusts.

Yet on a recent Dick Cavett show he was given 15 minutes to talk about President Nixon's trip to China.

SETS RECORD

Love Me, Love My Children, the Toronto musical originally known as Justine, has passed its 150th consecutive performance, setting a current-season off-Broadway record.

Young Toronto Musician Sees Songs As Mirrors

Canadian Press Staff Writer

A song is a poem looking for a melody and a revealing self-portrait of its author.

For Fergus Hambleton, a young singer and composer living on Toronto Island, songs are the mirrors of life—as he sees it and as he would like it to be.

Their inspiration may be a thought, a word, a sound, something that spurs the imagination and turns barely legible notes on the back of an envelope into lyrics, and, perhaps, a record.

Mirrors, the opening cut on Fergus's debut album for Capitol, All the Right Noises, speaks of feelings of envy and inferiority in a sophisticated world where there are precious few things someone has not done before.

"I wrote it two years ago exactly when I was supposed to be studying for a French test. I was listening to The Boxer by Simon and Garfunkel, and I was impressed with what they had to say.

"At the time, I thought: 'Well, it's the first time I've ever written anything that I like.' There is actually a story behind it.

"I was up all night with a friend of mine the night before and we were just talking about the various things he'd done. He'd done a lot more than me.

"He was telling me about his boy scout days. He hadn't really done all that much more than me, it just seemed like it at the time, I don't know why. The boy scout things really impressed me. There are a lot of other things in it, ideas that don't relate to real life or personal experiences."

HE DITCHED 15

Fergus was 20, struggling to stay interested in Grade 13 and "just bumming around" when he wrote Mirrors and another song on the album, Movin' Around. There were 15 others before them which ended up as crumpled scraps of paper on the floor.

A couple of months later, Mirrors "was collecting dust" and he was in France. It was a restful, productive time.

Fergus picked out 20 new tunes on his acoustic guitar, "inside houses, well away from the public eye."

"I used to be pretty fearless when I didn't know any better, when I didn't know how terrible I was. It gets worse and worse. The more you play, the more you realize how little you know."

By the time Fergus got to England, some of the confidence that made him such a ham at 18 had returned. Mirrors was resurrected for gigs at small folk clubs in Bristol and Cardiff.

"It was just for eating money, sometimes breathing money."

His brother Greg, who produced Steel River, convinced him to come home and at least record a demo. It ended up as the first completed cut on the album.

FOUND IT EASY

Fergus went into the studio last March to start work on the album. It came together in bits and pieces over the summer, and was finally finished in September.

"I really was surprised at how easy it was. . . . Now that I listen to them, quite a few of the songs could have been improved upon—mostly my electric guitar playing. I just picked it up about two weeks before I did those parts.

"I was really just playing it like an acoustic guitar. I had no conception of it as a separate instrument. That's one thing I regret on the record."

The album hasn't made him independently wealthy, but it's selling steadily and next week, it's back to the studio for No. 2.

It will feature a group Fergus has been working with since last summer called Flash, and some changes.

"I'd like it to be a little tougher, honestly tougher. I don't feel there's any lack of backbone on the first album. Perhaps a little more rock 'n' roll spirit."

A REAL DOLL HOUSE
 VICTORIA (CP) — The house at 1620 North Dairy Road is home to 902—Allan and Amara Heard and their 900 dolls. About 250 dolls in their collection were made by the Heards, who admit they're so "hooked" they can't stop turning them out. "I sometimes get visions of the whole lot coming alive one night, going berserk and kicking us out of the house," says Heard.

Let's Become Interesting Writer Tells Canadians

EDMONTON (CP) — Canadians think they are dull and therefore they worry whether their history is dull, says Tony Cashman.

"If we could just convince ourselves that we're interesting, maybe we'd wake up to the fact that Canadian history is interesting, too."

Mr. Cashman is out to convince a generation of young Canadians—or, at least, western ones—that it isn't true that their history is dull and dry. Aimed at the high school market, his newest book—An Illustrated History of Western Canada—has just been published.

The publisher, M. G. Hurtig of Edmonton, is anxious to get into the textbook market with good Canadian-based books and is offering whopping discounts to schools which buy in quantity. So far there have been no confirmed orders.

The book should appeal to young audiences, but it is jammed with information and sidelights on history that might tempt adults who lived through some of the periods to want to look back at it.

Mr. Cashman tells the history of the four western provinces mainly in anecdotal form.

"It would be possible to write something meaningless—such as 'The people pressed on under great economic difficulty'—but it's more important to tell it as a story, to illustrate it, to make it live," he said.

For example, he wanted to tell of the determination of westerners not to "go under" during the Depression of the 1930s. So he uses a true story of how British Columbia apple growers tried to create new products from the apple.

Prices had become so bad, he writes, that the growers had a slogan "A cent a pound or rot on the ground."

"They brought into being the B.C. apple juice industry and the B.C. wine industry. The initial results of their experiments were even more discouraging than the conditions which brought them on. Through inexperience they did something wrong to the first big order for the wine and it started exploding, bottle by bottle, in the liquor stores of Alberta.

"While the wine industry got off with a series of bangs, the apple juice industry got off with a dull thud. First they tried drying the apples . . . When the plant failed, they saw they were going in the wrong direction. The true essence . . . was in the juice."

He then adds that the industry became one of the world's biggest, and in 1967, Western Canada was the world's second largest consumer of apple juice, at 7½ pounds a head.

He ties major sporting events in with the other historical happenings, noting for example, that when Winnipeg's hockey team first won the Stanley Cup, in 1896, that was a boom year—and the start of a whole period of booming western development.

He said during an interview that he put the sports history in because it often is something that students can identify with, whereas in most histories events seem to have nothing in common with a student's experiences.

Mr. Cashman is not above taking a few tongue-in-cheek pokes at Eastern Canadians.

He says that it was westerners who opposed the federal government's view that women weren't "persons" under the British North America Act and so couldn't hold seats in the Senate. Westerners finally forced the matter to the Privy Council, which ruled that the word "persons" could also mean women. Then Mr. Cashman adds:

"The government soon appointed a woman senator and she was an easterner—a gesture which the West shrugged off as being just about what you'd expect. Distrust of the East had become a popular western pastime."

The book's illustrations, which range from full-color reproductions of works by Canada's greatest western artists to cartoons by leading political lampoonists, are scattered through the 272 pages.

Each picture was chosen "to illustrate a point rather than to illustrate a book," said Mr. Cashman.

His interest in history arises from the stories told by his two grandfathers, both of whom pioneered in Edmonton during the early 1900s.

This period is his personal favorite still.

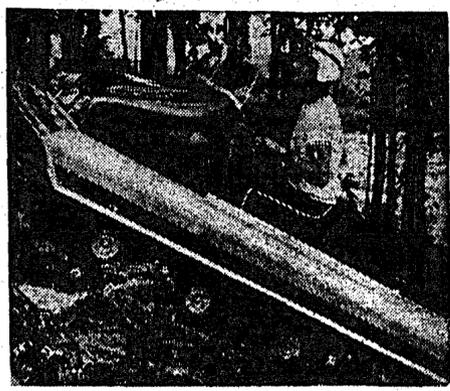

"A tremendous number of young people—men and women—came into the West during that opening-up period. They had tremendous enthusiasm and boundless optimism. They all thought they'd be millionaires overnight."

During this period, all the western cities—except possibly Winnipeg and Calgary, which are older—took on their character.

Mr. Cashman, who is historian for Alberta Government Telephones and is setting up a display for the firm of early types of telephone equipment, also is working on a history of this development in Alberta.

'Shaft' Shows In Kelowna

Shaft, starring Richard Roundtree in the title role, is the hard-hitting story of a tough Black detective fighting organized crime—both Black and White—as he tries to rescue a beautiful girl from kidnapers in the New York jungle of militants, politicians, criminals and cops. ### Disconnected Wrongly

NEW YORK (AP) — Eddle Egan, the narcotics detective whose exploits were dramatized in the movie The French Connection, was improperly dismissed from the city police force, a state Supreme Court judge has ruled.

The decision Tuesday by Justice George Starke means the 42-year-old Egan is eligible for an annual retirement pension of $6,800.

Egan had filed for retirement but instead was dismissed from the force without a pension on departmental charges that mainly involved violations of procedures for reporting and storing property seized in arrests.

Starke declared: "This court is satisfied that dismissal was a punishment so disproportionate to the offence as to be shocking to one's sense of fairness."

KING HENRI II of France was notoriously UNLUCKY BETTOR. He gambled the equivalent of $200,000 in 1601 that the child his queen was expecting would be a girl. It was an attempt to assure a son—and the child was the future King Louis XIII.

Wolf Man Has A Puff

ALICANTE, Spain (Reuter)—Shunning knives and forks and a soft bed—but puffing happily at his first cigarette—the "Wolf-man of the mountains" is having his first taste of civilization after living wild for 30 years. The man, his shaggy hair trailing down his back, his skin blackened by the sun and 30 years of bathless days, and his fingernails long and curved, was brought from his mountain exile recently to a home run by Roman Catholic nuns near his southeastern Spanish city, the local newspaper Information reported. The man had long been a legend in the village in the foothills of the Sierra del Aguila, a mountain range where he has lived tough—and out of con-

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Better Vision Not A Miracle

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am told that I have glaucoma. Have been wearing glasses for the last six years. Went to the doctor recently and he gave me some drops for my eyes. After two days of using the medication, I no longer need to wear glasses. I am wondering if a miracle has happened. The doctor will only tell me my eyes are getting better; doesn't like to answer questions.—D.M.J.

What happened to you is not particularly unusual and there's no miracle occurring. Glaucoma means that excessive pressure is building up inside the eyeballs and this has to be controlled. Otherwise the pressure in time will damage your eyes. Uncontrolled glaucoma leads to blindness. The medication you are using is designed to prevent that pressure from building up. It has the added effect of constricting the pupils of your eyes.

If you know anything about cameras, you know that when you "stop down" the lens, you are increasing the depth of focus—more of whatever is within camera range will be in sharp focus. The same thing happens with your eyes. If you make the lens opening (the pupil) smaller, the image becomes sharper, enough sharper in your case so you don't need your glasses. This sharpening of the focus is just a fortunate side effect; it does not mean you are rid of the glaucoma. So just be thankful and keep on using the medication to prevent the glaucoma from doing its dirty work.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: The doctor said I had hiatal hernia and told me to sleep with my bed elevated. I have not done that for a while as it is hard to elevate a bed. I did feel better when I raised myself with pillows. My son said he could get me a hospital bed. Do you think that would be the answer?—Mrs. G.C.

I think you're making things harder than necessary. Elevating the head of bed four to six inches usually helps and this can be done with two or three bricks, or some blocks of wood under the legs of the bed at the head end. Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please clarify the testing aspects after a vasectomy. One doctor says a sperm count is necessary three months after the operation and another six months afterward, before it is safe to quit using contraceptives.—Mrs. A.C. Sperm, created in the testes, are stored in the seminal vesicles. Vasectomy (cutting of the duct that carries the sperm) stops the migration of sperm to the vesicles but it takes at least 6 to 12 ejaculations to empty the vesicles. There is no way to give an absolute answer, obviously. The time will vary, so you can't set an arbitrary number of weeks or months. Safest rule is at least two consecutive tests free of sperm before concluding that the operation is a success.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it more harmful for those on a fat-free diet to pan-fry meat without fat in the pan rather than oven-broiling it? My husband likes the flavor of pan-cooked meat and I dislike cleaning the oven.—Mrs. F.E.C. The advantage of over-broiling, in cases where the object is a minimum of fat, is that in the broiling the fat is simply dripped off the meat and doesn't find its way to the dinner plate. The broiling method is preferred. My wife puts a shallow pan of water under the broiling meat to help reduce the splattering.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 20 and about to get engaged and know absolutely nothing about douching. My mother has never told me anything and I'm embarrassed to ask my doctor. How is it done, why is it done and when should you do it? I'm rather ashamed of my ignorance and hope you can enlighten me.—S.S. A healthy woman doesn't need to douche, in fact, some women who do regularly just because they think they "should" can wash away enough of the natural vaginal secretions to be harmful to some degree. A douche is necessary only as a means of applying one or another of the medications sometimes required. So forget about it unless some day your doctor says you need a medicated douche. He'll tell you what you need, and how often, and his nurse can explain in a few minutes how to do it. Douching is not an effective contraceptive method.

Merchants Hold Bag CRESTON (CP) - Merchants in Creston, Kimberley, Cranbrook and Salmon say they have been left holding the bag following the departure of Northwest Electric Co. Ltd. of Vancouver, now in receivership. Merchants in Creston say they were left with unpaid bills totalling $35,000 when Northwest completed construction of an 80-mile power line from Nelly to Cranbrook last November.

COMMITTEE FORMED

VICTORIA (CP) - Resources Minister Ray Williston will head a committee to advise on the purchase of land for greenbelts around major B.C. centres. About $25 million for the project is earmarked for the project in the current budget.

CHAIRMAN HONORED

VICTORIA (CP) - L. J. Wallace, general chairman of the B.C. Centennial '71 committee, has been given a $5,000 honorarium for his contribution to the centennial celebrations. Premier Bennett said.

KITE RULES ISSUED

VANCOUVER (CP) - B. C. Hydro has issued safety rules for kite flyers following electrocution of Stanley Brophy, 33, last Sunday. He died when he tried to free a kite from power lines with a wooden pole. Hydro says kites should never be flown near power lines, nor flown with wire rather than string.

WHALLEY, B.C. (CP) - The former national leader of the Social Credit Party, Robert Thompson, says Progressive Conservative candidates in British Columbia will get a lot of support from provincial Social Crediters in the next federal election.

Mr. Thompson, who switched to the Conservative party in 1968, made the statement in this Lower Mainland community the main centre in the federal riding of Surrey-White Rock, which he hopes to contest for the Conservatives in the next general election.

Mr. Thompson insisted there have been no deals between provincial Social Crediters and the Conservatives. He said Social Crediters should realize they stand no chance as a federal party and should support those closest to them in philosophy - the Conservatives.

Mr. Thompson, who now represents Red Deer in the Commons, says he hasn't changed his mind on Social Credit principles that he outlined in the past. For example, he said, the economic and financial system under which Canada operates should be changed.

"Trudeau has proven that," he said. "Trudeau is hanging onto Keynesian economics. Our situation today shows that it is not any good."

"We must be oriented to a consumer economy rather than a producer economy, and if that is Social Credit monetary theory then I adhere to that."

Toppling Giants Dodgers' Aim

NEW YORK (AP) - Los Angeles Dodgers, who came within one game of catching the fading Giants in the final days of the 1971 baseball season, figure they have the horses to overtake San Francisco this time out. And what's more, some other clubs may also pass the Giants in the National League West Division.

The Dodgers did some prudent winter shopping, prying Frank Robinson and reliever Pete Richert away from Baltimore Orioles for four young prospects.

An unprecedented strike has so far delayed the season's start.

The Dodgers also came up with Tommy John, a quality left-hander, to add to their pitching rotation. Pitching has always been LA's strong suit and John joins a staff headed by Al Downing, Don Sutton, Claude Osteen and Bill Singer.

With Robinson, Willie Davis and Wes Parker to head the offense, the Dodgers seem solid. Certainly one game better than they were a year ago.

In the East, Pittsburgh's biggest problem seems to be the old rule about being allowed to only nine guys at a time. They have too many good ones to limit themselves to nine.

SHOWN NO WEAK SPOTS The Pirates won the world championship last year with a team that doesn't seem to have any weaknesses. And new manager Bill Virdon has a fistful of talented youngsters to add to the cast.

Willie Stargell, Roberto Clemente, Bob Robertson and Richie Hebner produce the Pirate runs with plenty of pitching available from Series heroes Steve Blass, Nellie Briles, Dock Ellis and others.

Behind the Dodgers in the West, Houston Astros seem a long way from bolstering the attack. San Francisco, a year older, may be due to slip some, perhaps to third. Cincinnati Reds still have some kinks to work out while Atlanta Braves and San Diego Padres don't seem likely to cause more than a few ripples.

Joe Torre will have to go some to match his batting championship '63 season for St. Louis but he'll do enough to keep the Cardinals in contention in the East.

The revamped Cubs should edge out New York's light-hitting Mets for third place with Montreal Expos and Philadelphia Phillies bringing up the rear.

HOUSTON A THREAT Houston may very well be the most improved team in baseball this season, and could overtake the Dodgers if the summer heat wears down Robinson, who'll be 37 in August.

Consider, for example, that of the top four earned-run averages in the National League last season, three now work for the Astros. Houston already had No. 3, Don Sutton and No. 4, Ken Forsch. Then they came up with No. 2 Dave Roberts from San Diego in a winter swap.

Roberts' 2.10 ERA was second only to Tom Seaver of the Mets last year and he is considered one of the best young arms in baseball.

The Astros also made an eight-player swap with Cincinnati which brings slugger Lee May and second baseman Tommie Helms to Houston.

San Francisco came up with Sudden Sam McDowell in a winter deal with Cleveland but it cost them Gaylord Perry. That means they're still a little thin in pitching and that deficiency should shove them down the West ladder.

Age could start creeping up on the Giants too. Ace pitcher Juan Marchal is 33. Injury-prone Willie McCovey is 34 and, of course, Willie Mays will be celebrating his 41st birthday May 6.

Cincinnati has decided to switch images, forging sock for speed. That's why the Reds went after second baseman Joe Morgan during the winter.

Speaking of comebacks, the Reds are depending on a big one by all-star catcher Johnny Bench, who slipped badly last year.

The Reds are thin on infielders with Woody Woodward retired, and the pitching is questionable.

MAY HELP BRAVES Hank Aaron starts his final countdown on the road toward Babe Ruth's home run record and that should add zest to what could become an otherwise bleak season for the Braves.

Two Cars Plunge From Tracks During Chicago Rainstorm

CHICAGO (AP) — Two cars of an elevated rapid-transit train plunged 30 feet to the ground during a blinding rainstorm, injuring about 30 persons.

One of the four cars of the southbound Chicago Transit Authority train landed Thursday night in a vacant lot and narrowly missed a two-story brick apartment building.

A second car was left dangling from the tracks.

No cause was determined immediately for the accident at the corner of 40th Street and Wabash Avenue on the city's South Side.

A wind-whipped rainstorm was pounding the city at the time.

The Chicago fire department called in three of its towering snorkel units to evacuate an estimated 50 to 40 persons trapped in the two cars atop the platform. Passengers in a second train, which was halted when power to the electric rails was cut off, had to be rescued, too.

More than 50 firemen as well as police and CTA workmen fought through crowds of spectators to free those trapped inside the fallen cars.

Most of those inside were evacuated through broken windows. The cars were emptied within an hour.

A policeman and fireman at the scene originally reported that one person was killed, but officials said later that there were no deaths.

The accident interrupted service on the city's north-south rapid-transit line for about an hour and a half.

Barrett Has Salvo Of Shots For Socreds, Private Enterprise

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP) — It comes to exploiting its resources and that it had to be realized that a high-quality life was more than a matter of money.

The province received an eight per cent return on most resources shipped out of the country, he said. No royalties at all were paid on copper exports.

He said the province ships its iron ore and coal to Japan.

"They make cars and we try to sell them to people on welfare."

Mr. Barrett called for co-operation and participation from the B.C. government and the federal government to build copper smelters and steel mills in the Yukon Territory and in B.C.

Without such co-operation, people would continue to end up on welfare rolls, he said.

Scavengers On Grounded Ship Face Penalties By Customs

PORT ALBERNI, B.C. (CP) — A number of persons who removed items from the grounded freighter Vanlene have made customs declarations, RCMP said Thursday.

A police spokesman said engines from some of the 169 cars left on the ship, port holes, brass fittings and car tires have been declared.

The 8,500-ton Panamanian freighter, with a load of Japanese cars, went aground at the mouth of Barkley Sound on the west coast of Vancouver Island March 14.

Police warned that scavengers faced customs penalties and police action but said no charges had been laid.

"We are really giving people a little time," a spokesman said. "Many who took items evidently did not realize the Vanlene had not been abandoned and also that the goods on board were subject to duty."

Police said earlier it was unlawful for people to remove anything from the ship until it had been released from the custody of the receiver of wrecks.

Meanwhile, Chrysler of Canada Ltd. filed a damage suit against the Vanlene, Marline Shipping Co. Inc. and Yamashita-Shinnihon Steamship Co. for loss of or damage to 300 automobiles.

The company, which owns the cars, claims that 183 of the cars were destroyed and the remaining 117 damaged when the freighter ran aground.

The 117 vehicles were salvaged by Seaspan International Ltd.

Chrysler seeks damages for the loss of 183 cars, for the cost of salvage and damage to 117 cars, for survey charges and other expenses involved.

Manitoba's NDP May Be Eyeing Possibility Of An Election In '73

WINNIPEG (CP) — A budget containing scattered sales tax increases this year and tax relief for homeowners next year gave rise Thursday to speculation that Premier Ed Schreyer and his NDP government are getting ready for a Manitoba election in 1973.

The budget for the 1972-73 fiscal year, brought down in the legislature by Finance Minister Saul Cherniack, announced increased taxes on cigarettes and some kinds of liquor as well as a new tax on production machinery and unexploited mineral rights.

It also contained a $28 million education-tax credit plan for homeowners and tenants, the effects of which will not be felt until the spring of 1973.

Premier Schreyer came to power in June, 1969.

Liberal Leader I. H. Asper called the budget, with its promise of tax credits of between $50 and $140 for the province's 274,000 household heads a few months before the anticipated election date, "the oldest kind of politics in the world."

Conservative Opposition

Leader Sidney Spivak called it an election budget "to the extent that they are making promises for 1973 that they might not be able to meet later on."

THE BUDGET BY NDP

The budget, the fourth brought down by the NDP, forecast a deficit for the new fiscal year of about $2.7 million, with revenues of $573.1 million and expenditures of $575.8 million.

Effective May 1, the new tobacco rate will add four cents to a package of 20 cigarettes and five cents to a 25-pack.

On June 1, the sales tax on spirits, wine and imported beer will be doubled to 10 per cent, but the increase will not apply to domestic beer or wine selling for less than $3.

Exemption of production equipment, except farm machinery, from the five-per-cent sales tax will be eliminated May 1, and next Jan. 1 there will be a new tax of 10 cents an acre on mineral rights held by corporations on parcels of land of more than 40 acres.

CREDIT ON RETURNS

The education-tax rebate, effective on this year's taxes, will come as a credit on income tax returns filed next spring.

The formula will take into account income, family size and amount of education tax paid.

Combined with the program is a revision in the formula for financing basic education, raising the province's share in the provincial-municipal program to 80 per cent from the present 75 per cent starting next April 1.

This program is expected to cost the province some $6 million, for a total tax shift of $34 million from the property tax base to the general provincial levy.

GM Plans Recall Of 8,000 Vegas

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — General Motors of Canada Ltd. said today it will recall about 8,000 1972 Vegas, equipped with an optional 90-horsepower engine, to correct a possible fire hazard involving the fuel and exhaust systems.

"The company said owners will be notified of the possible defect and asked to return the car to their dealer for servicing at the company's expense."

A GM spokesman said the company "knows of no instance of failure in Canada" but was following a similar move by GM in the United States where about 136,000 units are being recalled.

Ancient Drawings Found In Japan

OSAKA, Japan (Reuters) — Archaeologists reported here finding drawings of three human figures, believed to date from the sixth or seventh century, on the walls of an ancient tomb near this western Japanese city.

Egypt Prepared For Total War

CAIRO (Reuters) — Egypt's forces are ready for total war with Israel and will continue the next round of the conflict until the end, Egyptian War Minister Mohamed Ahmed Sadek said.

"As a responsible person," Gen. Sadek told a meeting of the Arab Socialist Union, "I can say that our armed forces have completed their preparations and are ready to go to war."
