SNOW PACKS MELT

Lake Keeps Filling Up And Lots More To Come

Fast-rising Okanagan Lake was little more than an inch from its agreed safe maximum level today and reports indicate "a lot more water is still due in the spring runoff."

Officials have expressed concern at the possibility of serious flooding, particularly at the mouths of local creeks, if present inflows continue, although the water rights branch indicates Mission Creek water volume has dropped from 1,351 cubic feet per second overnight to 1,216 today.

But the latest snow bulletin by the provincial water investigations branch indicates creek-feeding reservoirs in the Okanagan Basin were nearly full a week ago, and accumulated precipitation this season is "40 per cent above normal," with about 23 inches of water equivalent still present in mountain snowpacks.

The maximum June 1 water equivalent measurement at Mission Creek is the "highest reading" in 23 years of pack measurements, the report indicates. Both Okanagan and Similkameen river basins show a "heavy residual snowpack" in the June survey, and most snow courses measured have reported maximum June 1 water equivalents.

The report adds the weather of the past two weeks, with its alternate periods of warming and cooling, has caused an up and down trend on both tributaries and main river channels of both Similkameen and Okanagan rivers.

COOLER AIR

At the time the survey was being compiled, cooler air covered both basins and river levels were receding, the report said, adding the recession "does not apply to the level of Okanagan Lake," which today was at 102.36 feet.

Since May 15, the lake has experienced "excessive inflow" and is currently rising at a "rapid rate" the report indicates, adding the inflow rate would "decrease" with the next influx of cooler air.

The report predicts the lake will exceed its upper operating level. The outflow capacity at Penitentiary, the report says, "is not sufficient to materially change this expected excessive rise."

Much the same snowpack story is reflected in upper and lower Columbia and east and west Kootenay regions, where conditions were listed as "maximum or near maximum snowpack" situations. In the Columbia, record high snow-water equivalents were measured at Glacier (4,100 feet) and Mount Revelstoke (6,000 feet) in 23 to 25 years of June 1 readings.

Two high-level snow courses, Fidelity Mountain (6,150 feet) and Mount Abbott (6,500 feet), reported snowpack accumulation since May 15, while other courses reported normal snowpack depletion. All snow course readings, the report emphasized, were "well above" those of June 1, 1971 readings.

Shoppers Gain Some Relief But Cost Of Living Goes Up

OTTAWA (CP) — Shoppers had some relief from soaring food prices last month, but other living costs quickly ate up any savings.

Statistics Canada reported today the consumer price index for May rose one-tenth of a point to 138.3 from 138.2 in April, based on 1961 prices equalling 100. It was 132.7 in May last year.

There was a drop of nine-tenths of a point in the food price index, but this was more than offset by increases in all other segments of the over-all index.

Interpreted in dollar terms, the new indexes mean that it cost $13.83 last month to buy a sampling of all consumer goods and services that cost $13.82 in April. The food basket that cost $13.74 last month cost $13.83 in April.

The May index showed some slowing down in the year-to-year rate of price increases.

In percentage terms, the over-all index last month was 4.2 per cent higher than a year ago. In April, the over-all index was 4.5 per cent higher than a year earlier.

The slowing pace of price increases was more significant in food prices. Last month's food index was 5.6 per cent above May, 1971, while the April index had been 7.1 per cent higher.

Food prices have been rising rapidly for the past year, reflecting a recovery from the lower levels which prevailed as a result of a supermarket price war in the fall of 1970.

McGovern May Gain A Boost If Muskie Offers Support

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — Senator George McGovern's presidential bandwagon may receive a decisive push soon from Senator Edmund Muskie, early leader for the Democratic nomination.

Muskie was reported today to be giving serious consideration to throwing his support to McGovern for president—a move which would virtually guarantee McGovern the Democratic presidential nomination.

Backers of McGovern, whose campaign was given fresh momentum by victory in Tuesday's crucial California Democratic primary, have high hopes of an endorsement by Muskie.

Muskie abandoned the primaries when his voter-appeal fell short of expectations and funds dried up.

TO ADDRESS PRESS CLUB

The senator from Maine is reviewing his position, aides said, following McGovern's victory in the California primary, and in lesser primaries the same day in New Jersey, New Mexico and South Dakota.

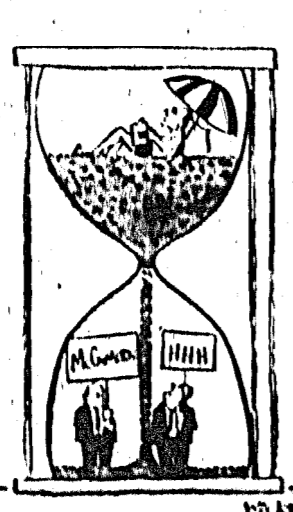

The South Dakota senator ran his total of delegates up to more than 900 with victories in the four state primaries.

Muskie may announce his decision Friday when he makes a scheduled appearance at a National Press Club luncheon here, his staff said.

McGovern's chief opponent for the nomination, Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, has vowed to continue to fight despite the blow his chances suffered in California.

UN Anti-Pollution Charter Given A Block By Chinese

LONDON (CP) — Canadian officials said today they are baffled by the Chinese manoeuvre to subject the proposed United Nations anti-pollution charter to detailed re-examination.

Environment Minister Jack Davis told a press conference that the Chinese action is "unfortunate." Canada strongly supported the draft environment declaration carefully designed after prolonged study by a 27-country preparatory group.

Another Canadian official said he had been speaking daily to the Chinese delegation at the UN conference but still cannot discern why China has taken this step at this late stage.

He suggested that the conference leadership may try to resolve the issue by setting up a special non-panetary committee discussion where countries which want to see changes in the draft declaration can air their views.

But he predicted that even if a committee of 54 or so countries is established for this purpose, there will be haggling by delegations as to which countries will become members. This haggling might go on for days.

Meanwhile Canada claimed one big victory when a committee agreed in an overwhelming vote to recommend that countries "compensate" trading partners hurt through environmental controls. Under this recommendation a developing country which finds its products unacceptable to, say, Canada or the United States because these products do not meet environmental standards, can claim some form of compensation.

Senator Alan Macnaughton, who represented Canada on this committee, said this was a great breakthrough for Canada which had changed its original position on compensation and carefully brought most of the delegations behind the Canadian view, thereby earning the thanks of the developing countries. The committee vote on acceptance of the final recommendation was 32 to 2 with the United States and Guyana opposing.

Montreal Rats Bite 4 Children

MONTREAL (CP) — At least four children have been bitten by rats in the last week and school administrators are concerned the number may increase as uncollected garbage accumulates because of a blue-collar workers' strike.

A nursery near one emergency garbage dump has taken steps to keep children away from the dump area in a park. Outings have been cancelled and recesses may be held indoors.

A spokesman for the Montreal Children's Hospital said four pre-school children bitten by rats were treated and released. Jean Seguin, director of the city's health and welfare department, has said his department is doing everything it can to investigate reports of rats in the areas where emergency dumps have been set up. They include parks and parking lots.

In Zurich, the other major bullion centre in Europe, gold opened at a new high of $65-$66 an ounce, up from Wednesday's close of $64.75-$65.25.

Cabinet Hopeful Of A Deal Yet In Labor Crisis

VANCOUVER (CP) — C. J. Connaghan, president of the Construction Labor Relations Association, has directed the association's 844 member contractors to lift their lockout of 17 trade unions immediately.

Mr. Connaghan said in a statement today a cabinet order-in-council passed Wednesday night to force an end to the construction dispute left the contractors with no alternative but to end the 44-day lockout.

He said he hoped work would begin as soon as possible on construction sites.

The order in council has evoked the wrath of trade unionists, including a group of about 500 who swore at, jostled, and in some cases swung with placards at Premier W. A. C. Bennett, Labor Minister James Chabot and other ministers Wednesday night.

Mr. Chabot said the order would be signed by Lt. Gov. John Nicholas "probably tonight" but indicated he expects negotiations to continue between the Construction Labor Relations Association and the B.C. and Yukon Building Trades Council. The government would like a return to work by Monday.

There was speculation that an 11th-hour settlement with one or more of the major unions would be enough for the government to hold its fire and thus put off what is developing into a head-on clash between government and the unions.

Mission and Haney in the Fraser Valley.

Premier Bennett, in a short speech, made no reference to the labor situation, leaving it to his labor minister to call a brief news conference and announce the order-in-council had been passed.

Mr. Chabot refused to give details of the order, which he had said earlier would invoke section 18 of the controversial Mediation Commission Act. Under the act, the government can order an end to strikes and lockouts and refer contract disputes to the B.C. Mediation Commission for binding arbitration. The act has been anathema to organized labor since its inception in 1968.

'They Don't Know What To Do'

The act provides maximum penalties of $1,000 for individuals and $100,000 for organizations. If the offence continues, further fines can be levied at the rate of $150 a day.

Jim Kinnaid, president of the Building Trades Council who commented earlier on Mr. Chabot's imposition of a noon Wednesday deadline for settlement before the government stepped in, said: "To hell with him."

Wednesday night, he said he did not think the cabinet was backing down in not having the order invoked immediately, but wondered if the cabinet "have got themselves into a funny position that they don't know what to do about."

AGREEMENT REACHED

Mr. Kinnaid noted that five construction unions have reached tentative agreement on new contracts—four of them on Wednesday. But he added that

Charles Connaghan, president of the Construction Labor Relations Association, was "playing it tough" in continuing talks with the large unions—the teamsters, bricklayers and laborers.

About 50,000 union members are involved in the dispute and the negotiations are for 44 separate collective agreements to replace those which expired March 31. The CLRA says 30,000 union members are locked out, but the unions say only about 6,000 are affected.

The unions have demanded wage increases ranging between 16.8 and 34.4 per cent on base rates that go from $5.72 to $6.45 hourly for skilled tradesmen. The CLRA's last announced offer was for an across-the-board increase that averages out to 6.5 per cent.

The lockout was imposed following a series of selective strikes against contractors.

New Westminster Workers Also Reject Wage Offer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Outside workers in nearby New Westminster Wednesday night joined their colleagues in Vancouver, Richmond, Burnaby and Delta in rejecting a proposal for settlement of their wage dispute.

Jack Phillips, spokesman for the Canadian Union of Public Employees, said the 155 members of Local 887 in New Westminster voted 83 per cent in favor of rejecting the proposal of the British Columbia Mediation Commission. Richmond voted for rejection earlier Wednesday.

Also on Wednesday night, about 1,000 members of the Municipal and Regional Employees Union, which represents civic inside workers, voted 78 per cent in favor of rejecting the commission recommendation.

MREU spokesman Bob Ross said he hoped the display of union solidarity will lead to the resumption of negotiations by Monday.

More than 4,000 municipal employees in the five municipalities are on strike, and many have been off the job for 43 days.

The strike has sharply curtailed the routine business of city halls, including the dispersal of welfare cheques, and has resulted in unkept parks and beaches and littered streets.

The mediation commission has proposed a 15-per-cent wage increase in a two-year contract. The unions have asked for a 10-per-cent wage boost retroactive to Jan. 1 with a further four per cent on July 1.

Meanwhile, the City of North Vancouver Wednesday served 72-hour lockout notice on its employees who have not yet taken a strike vote. Action on the lockout notice could see the workers off the job by Saturday.

The District of North Vancouver, the last of the seven municipalities represented in bargaining by the Municipal Labor Relations Board, has yet to be affected. CUPE workers there have not yet taken a strike vote, and no lockout action has been proposed.

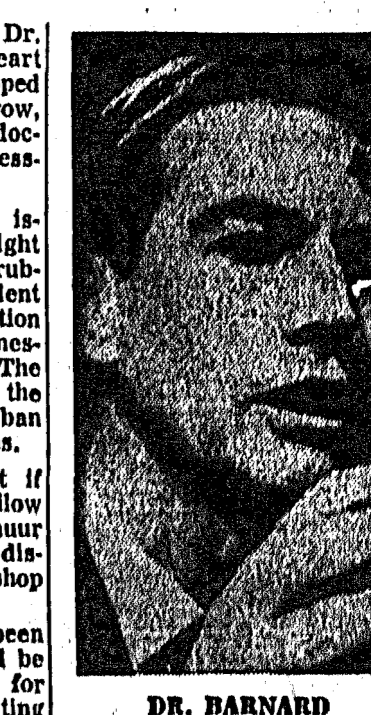

Controversial Dr. Barnard Moves Into Students' Row

CAPE TOWN (Reuter) — Dr. Christiaan Barnard, heart transplant pioneer, has stepped into South Africa's student row, threatening to quit if his doctor-brother is fired for addressing a protest meeting here.

The flamboyant surgeon issued his threat Wednesday night after police with dogs and rubber truncheons smashed student meetings calling for education reform in Cape Town, Johannesburg and Pietermaritzburg. The students also were opposing the government's month-long ban on all outdoor demonstrations.

Dr. Barnard warned that if his brother, Marius, a fellow surgeon on the Groot Schuur Hospital transplant team is dismissed, he will "close up shop and leave with him."

Dr. Marius Barnard has been told by his hospital he could be charged with misconduct for speaking at a city hall meeting Tuesday night. He urged students to aim at ousting the government by taking the advice of Prime Minister John Vorster and working through the ballot box.

DR. BARNARD ... I'd Quit

Dr. Christiaan Barnard said he would also like to have been one of the speakers at the Tuesday meeting and said: "I would possibly have expressed myself in even stronger terms than Marius did."

He told reporters that his brother is an indispensable part of the heart transplant team and said he would be unable to continue his work at the hospital without his help and support.

Meanwhile, the student conflict took on a new aspect today after police broke up meetings inside university campuses here and in Johannesburg.

Election Expenses Curbs Called 'Fraud', 'Phoney'

OTTAWA (CP) — Efforts to throttle government proposals to regulate election expenses were thwarted by a close Commons vote Wednesday following promises by Liberal House Leader Allan MacEachen to change the bill in committee. Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield and former Conservative prime minister John Diefenbaker joined New Democrat Leader David Lewis and other MPs to denounce the bill as a sham, a fraud and a phoney during debate on an NDP amendment that would have killed the legislation. But their protests were turned aside by the Liberal majority in a vote of 85 to 71, all opposition parties voting against the government. The sole Conservative MP to support the government, David MacDonald (Egmont), said he wanted to give the Liberals a chance to redeem themselves in committee. Conservative and NDP opponents dismissed the bill as nothing more than an election gimmick designed to fool voters into thinking that Prime Minister Trudeau had fulfilled a 1968 election promise to reform spending practices during campaigns.

Mr. MacEachen attempted to soothe complaints, offering to consider amendments on provisions, as now set out, to allow MPs to be repaid from the public treasury for some campaign advertising costs. Many MPs want this partial repayment extended to all campaign costs, not just advertising costs, and Mr. MacEachen said the government would consider making some other campaign outlays eligible for some repayment. The bill currently would repay candidates up to 25 per cent of their advertising costs. Advertising expenses would be limited to $1 for each of the first 15,000 voters in a riding, 50 cents for each of the next 10,000 and 25 cents for each additional voter. But Mr. MacEachen said in reply to Mr. Stanfield, his concession did not include extending the proposed maximum limitations to cover all election expenses. Mr. MacEachen said he would be willing to alter the bill in the Commons elections committee, where it was referred for detailed consideration. Mr. Stanfield said the bill should do something to put an over-all limit on election expenses. By limiting only the amount that can be spent on advertising or publicity, the bill "does not limit in any way how much a candidate or party can spend on creating extravaganzas designed to create news and be reported on news shows." Yet that was where politicians got their most valuable publicity.

attractive election appearance as other issues slipped from its grasp, Mr. Stanfield said. Mr. Lewis called the bill a disservice to election reform, saying the "people of Canada have a right to know who is contributing to the parties and candidates." He advocated full disclosure of election campaign contributions.

Another New Democrat, Les Benjamin (Regina-Lake Centre), said the bill should be sent to a reconstituted committee on election expenses—a special committee that met last year under the chairmanship of Hylliard Chappell (L—Peel-South). Mr. Chappell said in earlier debate on the bill that it should be withdrawn and replaced with stronger legislation. His committee had recommended more stringent controls on expenses and greater payments to cover candidate costs than those proposed in the government's legislation.

CNR And Air Canada Face Bind With Financing Bill

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian National Railways and Air Canada might find themselves in a financial bind if Parliament persists in refusing approval for a financing bill before expected adjournment at the end of this month. If the government legislation does not get through the Commons before adjournment it could be months before the Crown enterprises get parliamentary authority for past expenditures and future borrowing.

This Parliament may not meet again. There may be a fall federal election and a new Parliament before the matter returns before MPs. Debate that has bogged down Bill C-4 at this session would then start over again. Meanwhile, the two corporations—which must come to Parliament annually for authorization of expenditures and borrowing—would have to get along on their own financing or do without. The cabinet could help if it dissolved Parliament for an election, but not before.

Brig.-Gen. James A. McDivitt, 42, who commanded the Gemini 4 and Apollo 9 space missions, announced Wednesday in Houston he is retiring from the United States Air Force and the National Aeronautics and Space Agency effective Sept. 1.

The death in Toronto of a Polish woman who apparently took three ounces of insecticide after being told she would be deported from Canada, provoked a series of demands in the Commons Wednesday for an overhaul of immigration procedures. There were several requests for an investigation into the death Tuesday of Alicja Wierciok, 35. The case is not being pursued. Kelly Douglas and Company Ltd. said Wednesday in Vancouver an improperly processed lot of Nabob brand pork and beans has been recalled. Company president Victor McLean said improper processing resulted in a fermentation type of spoilage producing acid and gas. He said the recall is strictly a precautionary measure.

AUTHORIZE BORROWING The bill would authorize retroactively CNR expenditures of $302.8 million for 1971 and $162 million for the first six months of this year. It also would permit CNR to borrow $27 million for construction of branch lines. Among other things, it would authorize borrowing by the CNR and Air Canada to meet deficiencies in operating revenues to this month. It also specifically would authorize borrowing by Air Canada of up to $114 million to discharge obligations that became due prior to this May and would authorize the government to guarantee Air Canada debentures to be issued starting July 1 to pay for certain propulsion systems and components. These debentures are for $13 million. The pound this week is worth about $2.61. The bill has been before the House five times since March as the government sought to get it into committee for detailed study. Each time, MPs of all parties rose one after another to tear into Canada's transportation policies—or lack of them—and particularly the railways. The New Democratic Party has said it has no intention of approving the bill until the CNR upgrades its pension system.

Board Approves A 'Visit' Will Take Along The RCMP

The South Okanagan Union Board of Health, and more specifically, the South Okanagan Health Unit in the city, wants to know more about E. A. Haymour's operation at Rattlesnake Island.

The interest of both health agencies has reached such a peak, the board approved a visit by Dr. D. A. Clarke and staff accompanied by local RCMP.

Reporting to the second quarterly meeting of the board Wednesday, Dr. Clarke said his health inspectors were faced with "several legal problems", including the absence of a permit for disposal of waste on the island. The reason for the RCMP reinforcements stemmed from the fact, as related by Dr. Clarke, comments had reached his office any physical health unit scrutiny would be termed "trespassing".

Dr. Clarke told the meeting observation of the island with binoculars had revealed an illegal "outhouse" for which no permit had been issued, as well as the presence of a "man with a rifle."

A telegram to the Department of Municipal Affairs, sent by board chairman, Avery King, was endorsed at the meeting. The missive expressed concern by the board of construction on the island, emphasizing the project was progressing "contrary to zoning and building regulations." The telegram also inquired what action the government contemplated.

Mr. King admitted that while no building permit had been issued to Mr. Haymour, neither was one denied him.

Summerland Ald. Hans Stoll, said the project had "no approval from the word go" adding objections had been expressed by people.

Health inspector, Fred Alcock, said all his department had received on the project was a "very thin sketch" with no detailed plans. He added the initial intent of the proposal was for campsite facilities, including picnic tables, tourist accommodations and boat moorings.

"In our opinion, if the project went ahead there would be a large volume of sewage disposal."

MOSQUITO CONTROL PROBLEM 'DDT MAY HAVE TO RETURN'

Mosquitoes are putting the "bite" on the Regional District of Central Okanagan and the Itch is being felt in the city.

Chairman W. C. Bennett proposed the board investigate control of the pesky insect even if it means bringing back DDT. He said the board should look at "other methods of fighting the needle-nosed nuisance, but not by air."

Mayor Hilbert Roth, admitted the city was not using DDT and that's why this year's mosquito control program was "not as effective". Although he could not identify the chemical being used, he added the deterrent was toxic to humans and required care.

"I think DDT is going to have to come back," chairman Bennett commented, adding he would ask regional administrator, A. T. Harrison to compile information on various mosquito control chemical agents.

LAKE LEVEL KEEPS RISING

The report indicates the warming trend during the last week in May produced a "substantial rise" in flow at the Columbia River above Steamboat Rapid gauging station north of Revelstoke. As of June 1, the flow was slightly below the 1961 peak, the highest since the station was established in 1956. Because of the heavy June 1 snowpack, and the high mean elevation of the Columbia basin, the annual peak flow is expected to occur at a later date in the advent of warmer weather. On the main stem lower Columbia and lower Kootenay River, operation of flood control dams will alleviate the flood threat, Lae report says.

In the east and west Kootenay basin, Marble Canyon snowcourse (east Kootenay) reported a new maximum June 1 water equivalent in 23 years of back data. But in the west Kootenay region of Gray Creek (lower) snowcourse recorded its sixth highest June 1 reading in 23 years, suggesting a lighter snowpack in that region.

Surveys Approved

A Vancouver ground water geology consultant firm will be hired by the Regional District of Central Okanagan to study prospects in the Benvoulin, south Pandosy area.

The board approved a $500 expenditure for the water survey as recommended by the Benvoulin water committee.

The survey will encompass three stages, including compilation of all test hole and well logs, water quality and a more detailed evaluation of geologic characteristics of the area. The losing bid of $800 for the same study was submitted by the consulting firm of W. L. Brown, also of Vancouver.

In related business, the board also approved a $2,370 sewage feasibility study for Oyama, Winfield, Okanagan Centre by Interior Engineering Services Ltd., Kelowna, as recommended by the administration and finance committee. Losing bid of $4,900 was submitted by Okanagan Planning and Engineering Co. Ltd., also of Kelowna.

RAPID INCREASE

The report indicates increasingly warm weather since May 26 has produced a "rapid increase" in flow at Kootenay River at Warden to a level close to the 1967 annual peak flow which is the sixth highest since 1948. Cooler temperatures recorded June 1 indicate a "downward trend" to Kootenay River natural flows, and the annual peak is expected to occur at a later date with the advent of warmer weather.

Province-wide, the survey to June 1 shows heavy snowpacks "still remain" on river basins in the southern half of the province. The report adds just when and how the snow becomes stream flow will depend on future weather.

May Permit Values Up

Building permit values in the regional district during May rose from $3,329,865 in 1971 to $3,355,889 for the same period this year.

Major share of permits encompassed $2,715,473 for 149 applications representing 164 dwelling units, with $264,952 for 11 commercial building additions and $263,000 for five new commercial buildings.

Balance of permits covered $86,564 for 16 additions to dwellings and $25,900 for 23 accessory to dwelling permits. There were 196 dwelling completions during the comparison month. Value of construction for May, 1970, was $1,082,194.

CYCLIST DEAD

A 23-year old Summerland man died in Kelowna General Hospital today two months after he was critically injured in a motorcycle accident. Raymond Betuzzi had been unconscious since the April 8 mishap near Summerland when his bike crashed apparently after striking a tree root.

SEEN and HEARD

Conservative leader Robert Stanfield will stop in Kelowna during a three-day tour of B.C. which begins June 22.

The Kelowna tennis championships were scheduled today at the City Park courts starting at 6 p.m. The final matches were slated for last Friday but were postponed due to the provincial track and field championships.

A native of Kelowna, M. H. Drinkwater of Edmonton, is the new director of the Pacific Forest Research Centre, Victoria. Mr. Drinkwater will assume his new position in July.

President of the Canadian Forestry Association of B.C., P. J. G. Bentley, announced the winners of the Association's 1972 Forest Fire Poster Contest. A Kelowna student of Dr. Knox Secondary School, Cyril Hume won the junior division.

Karl Wolf, assistant district supervisor of West Kootenay Power, said residents of the Joe Rich area found themselves without power this morning because of a blown line fuse. Mr. Wolf said they didn't know what caused the line to blow, however. He received the first call about 6 a.m. but wasn't sure when the power was first off. Crews were able to fix the trouble and power was restored about 7:30 a.m.

David F. Warner, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Warner, Rutland, received the Doctor of Dental Surgery degree from Loma Linda University, Sunday. He was one of 49 School of Dentistry seniors who participated in the university's commencement ceremonies.

Another Boy Hurt On Bike

A Kelowna boy, Ricky Schultz, of Knox Crescent, suffered minor bruises and shock after being knocked from his bicycle Tuesday afternoon.

Police said the boy apparently rode from a driveway into the path of a truck driven by Frank Prehofer, of Kelowna, in an alley between Sutherland and Rowell Avenue.

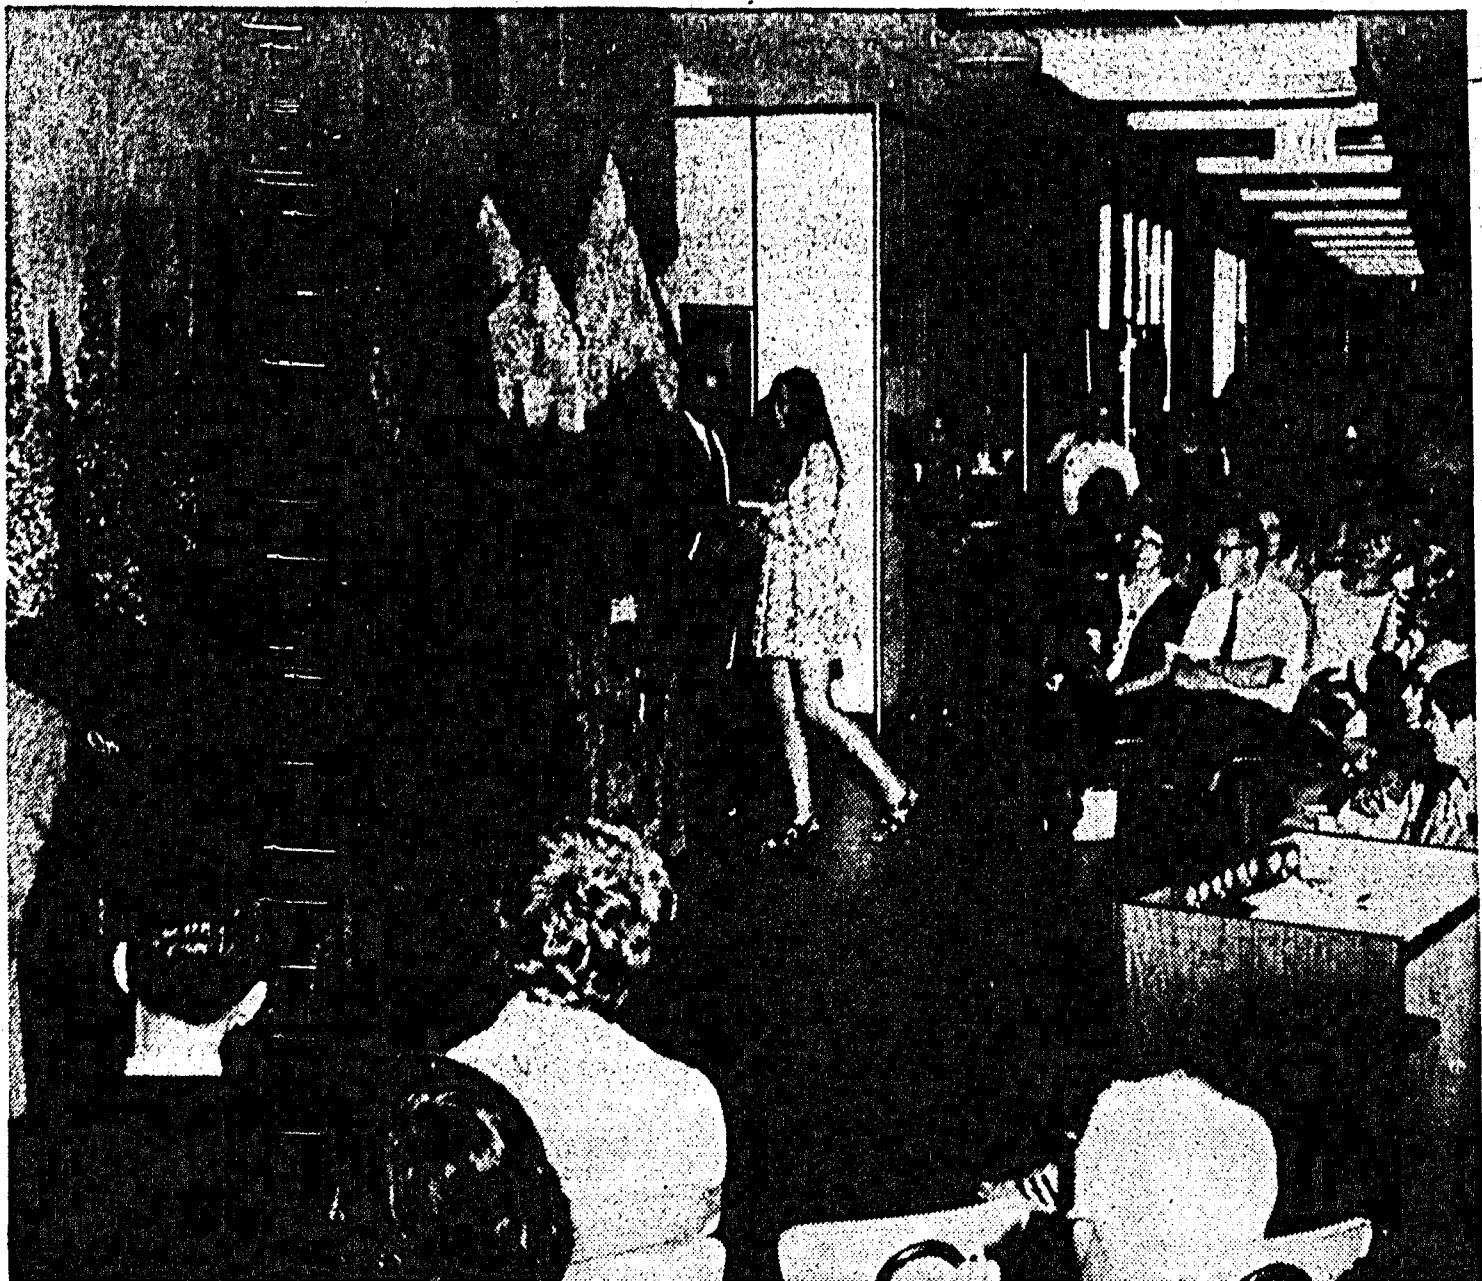

In a mishap around 4 p.m. Tuesday, cars driven by Dorothy Duchscher, of Westbank, and Edward Norman Roderick, of Kelowna, collided at the corner of Richter Street and Harvey Avenue, causing an estimated $450 damage.

Man's Death Investigated

Although no foul play is suspected, Kelowna RCMP say investigation is continuing into the death of 20-year-old Larry Joseph Gibeau, of Rutland.

The man was found Tuesday morning in bed in a house on Morrison Road. An autopsy was to be conducted today.

He is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Gibeau, of Kelowna. Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. from the Garden Chapel, with Capt. Reginald P. Foll officiating. Interment will follow at the Kelowna Cemetery.

STUDENTS' EFFORTS UNVEILED

Lynn Kelly of Dr. Knox Secondary School, and Vincent Blaskovich, chairman of Centennial Committee, unveil the 1971 Centennial Mural, designed by Miss Kelly. The ceremony was held at KLO Junior Secondary School Wednesday at 2 p.m. John Hillman, representing Dr. Knox School, presented the mural, which was accepted by KLO Student Council president, Brad Henderson. The mural was put together by 20 students of Dr. Knox under the direction of Ben Lee. It is made entirely of shag carpets with the exception of the "sky" which is indoor-outdoor carpeting. The mural will hold a place of honor in front of the office, located near the main entrance. (Courier photo).

Closed Meeting Set Over Highway Issue

It did not take as long for the Regional District of Central Okanagan board to deal with opponents of a proposed new highway into the Rutland area as it did to get them seated in the board office Wednesday night.

About 30 residents of the Cunningham Road area crowded into the little board room on Groves Avenue, taxing all the available seating capacity. Spokesman Denis Hubber said they were concerned about reports the highways department plans to put an 80-foot highway from Benvoulin Road to Highway 33 at Willis Road, going past several houses.

Mr. Hubber requested a meeting between representatives of the residents, the regional board and highways department. Regional chairman W. C. Bennett agreed, naming Rutland director M. W. Marshall, Westbank director Andrew Duncan, planner D. W. Barcham and himself to represent the region. Representatives of the residents were not named. A closed meeting has been arranged for Tuesday afternoon in the board office.

One of the major concerns of residents is the fact there are some 59 children residing on the road, the safety of whom will not be enhanced by the advent of the proposed highway.

Besides the obvious nuisance objection, the project would also reduce property frontage to 23 feet if the present road width is increased from 66 to 80 feet. The frontage question was described last week as "illegal" by resident, Edward Brown.

Another stated objection is a 40-acre park at the foot of Cunningham Road which the highway would slice in half, according to residents.

Acquisition Of Park Land To Receive Further Review

Parks, regional and local, will be the subject of a tete-a-tete between city council and the Regional District of Central Okanagan.

Eain Lamont, director of Okanagan Mission, started the verbal ball rolling at the regular meeting of the board Wednesday with a suggestion the board take on the function of lakefront property acquisition.

In agreement, Mayor Hilbert Roth felt "there must be some way to become involved in regional parks", adding the board had to "explore all avenues".

Provision of parks wasn't as "simple" as land acquisition, said Andrew Duncan, who reminded personnel still had to be hired to look after parks. There was also the question of vandalism.

Mayor Roth admitted there was a "great deal" of vandalism in city parks, particularly Gyro Park. He added unless guards were hired or vandalism-proof parks could be built, "this is what you have to expect." He suggested the board meet with the city to explore the matter of parks further.

Dudley Pritchard wanted to know the opinion of regional planner, Donald Barcham, who admitted the "main thing" was acquisition of land.

He added the matter had to be viewed as a "whole package" and one way was to break it down on the basis of function. Since most parks catered to swimming and boating, they (parks) could be considered regional rather than a local function. Mr. Barcham added.

Mr. Lamont then proposed a motion the board and city meet to discuss the matter of parks, but the motion was later rescinded when discussion continued and the subject closed on a suggestion by chairman W. C. Bennett the matter be placed on the agenda of the next board meeting.

Problem Becoming Critical In Move To Find Dump Sites

Septic tank effluent can only be dumped at a site on the west side of Okanagan Lake for about a week. Regional District of Central Okanagan board learned Wednesday.

For a long time the board has been considering providing another site. A man attending the board meeting said the present site was "deplorable," and he would be forced to use land in Ellison after about a week. A landowner has asked him to dump effluent there to stop motorcycle riders from using his land.

Dudley Pritchard, director for Lakeview Heights, said there are two areas in mind, but his area and Westbank cannot decide which to recommend.

"Even places in the city will be in trouble," the complainant warned.

"The problem is getting worse," agreed Mr. Pritchard. "Something has to be done fast."

"Stuff is being dumped in Okanagan Mission," said Eain Lamont, director for that area. Answering M. W. Marshall, Rutland director, the man said the dumping area is not being covered properly.

Mayor Harold Thwaite of Peachland said all residents should not be expected to pay for areas to dispose of this effluent, but Mr. Pritchard reminded him there are public garbage disposal sites. The man said operators pay $1.50 per load for dumping rights.

Helma Koetz, who represents Ellison, Mayor Hilbert Roth of Kelowna and Thwaite, also Mr. Pritchard and Mr. Marshall, were named to find an alternative site immediately.

GERMAN TRIP

Corporal Ken Cooper, 18, of the B.C. Dragoons reserves left Tuesday to attend a Canadian Armed Forces Base in Lahr, Germany, for two months extended training.

Cpl. Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Cooper, 1003 Harvey Ave., has been with the Dragoons for only one year. Previously, he was a cadet for three years. He became involved with the B.C. Dragoons through Federal Summer Student Employment Plan.

He will replace a member of the B.C. Armed Forces in Germany who will go on holidays. Slightly unsure, he believes he will be sent to Second Canadian Mechanized Brigade, before arriving in Germany. Cpl. Cooper went to Trenton, Ont., to be briefed on what will happen to him when he arrives in Germany.

Cpl. Cooper, from what he has heard from others who have been on such an exchange program, thinks it will be fairly easy going. He will arrive back in Canada August 4.

Unsettled

Friday morning the weatherman has a good outlook, promising sunny skies. However, his mood darkens in the afternoon with a forecast of cloudy periods and isolated showers. The high will be 80 to 85 degrees. The high and low in the city Wednesday was a pleasant 77 and 58 degrees with .07 inches of rain, compared to a warm 80 and 55 degrees with .07 inches of rain for the same day at the airport. Overnight low today will be in the mid 50s.

MOTOR STOLEN

Kelowna RCMP are investigating the theft Tuesday of a 70 horsepower outboard motor belonging to Peter Landolt, of Rutland. The motor is valued at $1,000. Also under investigation are two overnight break-ins, one at the Kelowna Golf and Country Club and the other at Pipeland Chevron station in Winfield.

Claims There Was No Reply

Mr. Alcock told the meeting he had written three letters to Mr. Haymour requesting detailed plans of his project but had received no reply.

"He appears to have changed to what he initially intended to put on the island," Mr. Alcock added.

The health unit inspector also stated his department's attitude was that constant sewage disposal on the island would leak into Okanagan Lake because of the "fissure" type of topography.

Mr. Alcock declared if the board allowed development of the island now "we're only asking for trouble", adding the matter had to be examined with a "very critical viewpoint."

The development was also contravening zoning regulations regarding amusement park aspects, Mr. Alcock said, adding signs by the building department had been posted on the island.

He also informed the meeting his department had deferred approval of the project last year because "we felt if we gave our approval it would only be asking for trouble." Mr. Alcock added, "to become involved in the sewage aspect of the proposal at this stage would be just a waste of time."

Dr. Clarke said the previous owner of the island had been "turned down" when he proposed a 20-lot subdivision on the island property due to inability to meet septic tank regulations. In a meeting with Dr. Clarke, Mr. Haymour, according to Dr. Clarke, "continued to state he was wanted to co-operate with any laws."

IN COURT

Richard Harold Thompson, of Kelowna, was fined $200 and prohibited from driving for one month after pleading "guilty to a charge of driving with a blood alcohol level exceeding .08 per cent."

Norbert James Seymour, of Kelowna, pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving and was fined $300 and prohibited from driving for one month.

The same charge brought Edward Roderick, of Kelowna a $300 fine and a one-month suspension of his driver's licence.

Rodney Keith Kam, of Rutland, was remanded for sentencing to July 24 after he pleaded guilty to a charge of wilful damage. The accused pleaded not guilty to a charge of impaired driving and refusing to provide a sample of his breath for analysis and was remanded to the same day to set a date for trial.

The Department of Municipal Affairs, informed Mr. Alcock, had declared it had "adequate" zoning requirements and intended to transfer responsibility to the regional district.

Since the project "still has to meet zoning requirements", the subject was still a matter for legal proceedings, Mr. Alcock said.

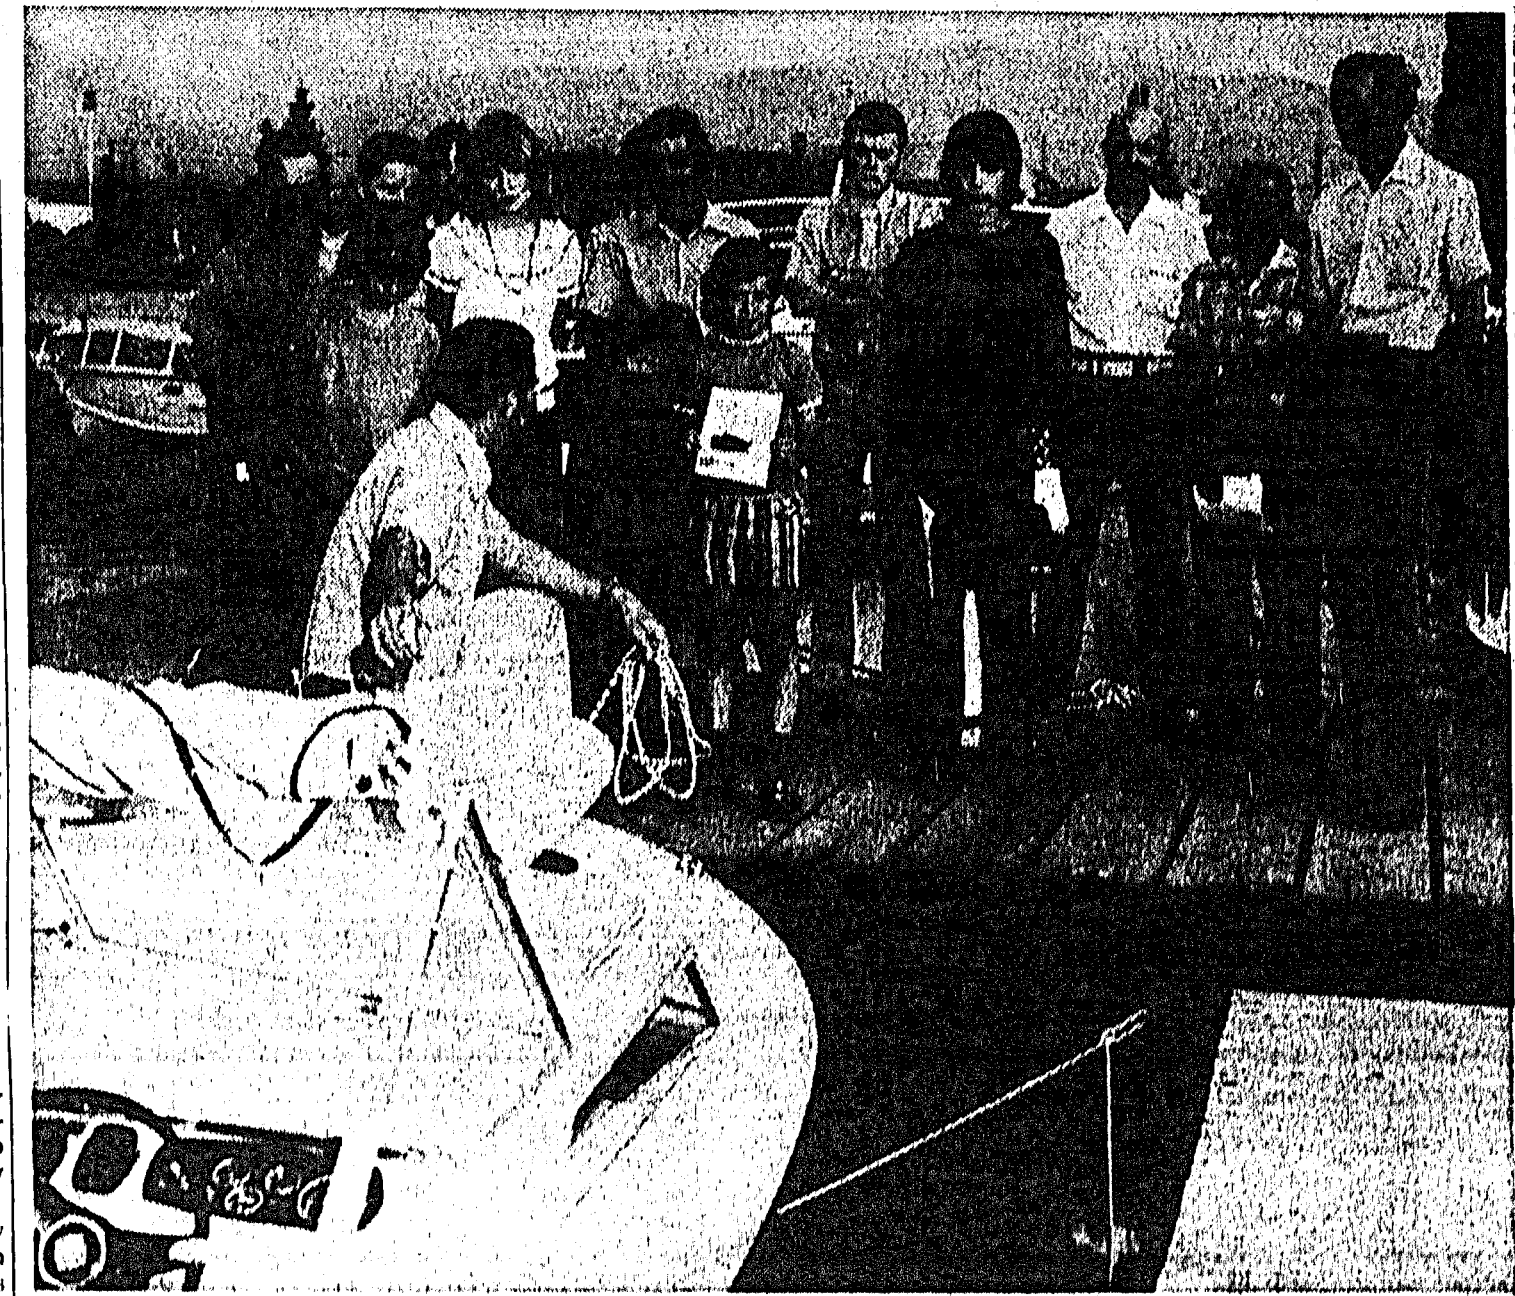

Subsidy Sought

The provincial health department will be asked if $1 per person available for ambulance service can be paid to the city of Kelowna.

"Because ambulance service is poor in some parts of B.C., health minister Ralph Loffmark asked the Regional District of Central Okanagan board Wednesday night for suggestions to improve service. The suggested government subsidy might be used to form a regional service. There have been suggestions ambulance service be provided under the B.C. medical plan, but the minister called this impractical.

"We have an excellent service," commented regional vice-chairman W. C. Bennett, referring to service operated by Kelowna firemen from the firehall.

"It makes no sense to have to pay for the vehicles," reported Kelowna Mayor Hilbert Roth. "It doesn't create problems for the department. However, it is an excellent service, and I would hesitate to interfere with it."

NAUTICAL RULES OF THE ROAD

With the number of boaters in the Central Okanagan increasing all the time, the local Power Squadron has embarked on a boating safety course, and here, Bill Johnson enlights his first class on nautical rules of the road, boat operation, water ski safety and local conditions. Those taking the course are required to write a series of exams and if they finish with flying colors, they're awarded a certificate. The provincial parks branch has asked recreational boaters to wait for more normal water levels in area lakes, as the present flood-threat situation can result in damage to river banks and lakeshore developments caused by the wakes of boats operated at high speed.

Barbara Joy Sinclair Wed In St. Aidan's, Victoria

Of interest in Kelowna, which is the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Sinclair, was a wedding that took place recently in Victoria. Barbara Joy, their only daughter, became the bride of Donald Leslie Wallace of Sidney, B.C., only son of Kenneth B. Wallace and the late Mrs. Wallace.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. R. Allan at St. Aidan's United Church. The soloist, Mrs. Vera King, accompanied by organist Mrs. Evelyn Barclay, sang 'The Lord's Prayer' and 'May You Walk in Peace' during the signing of the register.

The lovely dark-haired bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by Mrs. B. (Yvonne) Hopkins as matron of honor, and Bev McCoy and Gail Brittain as bridesmaids. For her wedding the bride had chosen a full-length gown of beau d'elegance, trimmed with Gulpure lace on the neckline and deep-buttoned cuffs, appearing again on the belted empire waist and down the skirt to encircle the hemline and long train. A dainty Juliet cap and cathedral veil were lace-edged, and for her jewelry, the bride wore a delicate gold pendant necklace given to her grandmother by her grandfather on their wedding day, and a rose gold watch, a bequest from the groom's mother to his future bride. Her cascade bouquet was of golden wave yellow roses and white daisies.

The attendants of the bride were gowned alike in flowered floor-length dresses in deep tones of orange, yellow and green, designed with short puffed sleeves, scoop neckline and deep flounced hemline. The bodices were laced, each with a different color, their lace picture hats and shoes carrying out the three colors and each carried a basket of yellow daisies.

The groom and his attendants were in summer formal wear and Brian Neal, the best man, Ronald Martman and Dennis Saunders as ushers, were all of Sidney.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD WALLACE

For the reception at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, the bride's mother wore a floor-length gown of petal pink sheer crepe, sleeveless, with draped bodice and empire waist, worn with a matching stole and long gloves. Her corsage was of tiny pink Princess roses.

The groom's step-mother, receiving the guests with Mrs. Sinclair, chose a floor-length gown of corn-flower blue georgette, with a corsage of cornflowers and yellow daisies.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Robert Harris of Victoria, formerly of Kelowna. The best man toasted the bridesmaids and read congratulatory telegrams from Kelowna, Ottawa, Edmonton, Winnipeg, and the guest book was attended by Sheila Reed.

For her honeymoon, the bride changed to a travelling costume of navy coat and dress, accented with white and wearing a corsage of yellow roses and baby's breath.

Following their return to Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace will spend a few days there and in Kelowna before leaving for Labrador City, Newfoundland, where they will take up residence.

Out-of-town guests came from Newdale, Winnipeg and Brandon, Manitoba; Kelowna, Vancouver, Port Hardy, Courtenay, Parksville and Saskatoon.

ANN LANDERS

Pawing In Public Cheapens Love

Dear Ann Landers: Our 16-year-old daughter and her 17-year-old boy-friend can't seem to keep their hands off each other. She is forever running her fingers through his hair, petting him, smoothing his sideburns or giving his hand a squeeze. They often sit with their arms around one another, or she sits on his lap. He kisses the palms of her hands or her neck, all this in front of anybody: neighbors, friends, parents, grandparents.

Both my husband and I have told them such behavior is not appropriate. They tell us we are old-fashioned, that they are not ashamed of their feelings and love is beautiful.

Do you agree with them? They said you would. I'm not so sure.—Her Parents.

Dear Parents: I agree that love is beautiful, but what you describe isn't love. Pawing, massaging and smooching in the presence of others puts a cheap connotation on something that should be precious and private.

Dear Ann Landers: My sister-in-law and I are close friends. We have always been fond of each other and now that we live in a duplex we spend a lot of time together. Our husbands are good buddies, too, so it makes it a nice foursome.

The problem is that we've gotten into a habit of stuffing ourselves with rich food just for laughs. For example, last week we made a triple batch of peanut butter cookies and we ate every last one. Saturday afternoon we baked a lemon pie, ate the whole thing and laughed ourselves sick. Last night we devoured a bowl of raw cookie dough (it was delicious), two 12-ounce servings of chocolate pudding, and then we polished off the leftover roast beef.

We aren't fat yet—just about 20 pounds overweight. But at the rate we're going we'll be as big as a couple of houses. Any suggestions?—Any Food Goes.

Dear A. F.: Interesting that you don't consider 20 pounds overweight "fat." How many pounds of excess baggage constitutes "fat" to your way of thinking—30, 40, 50? If you don't get some counselling, you'll eventually be up there. Your eating habits are not normal.

May I also suggest that you two vacuum cleaners with teeth get busy with some projects that will take you out of the kitchen? You girls have too much spare time.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 40, the father of four nice children. I am writing about my mother-in-law. Her husband died two years ago and she still cries and carries on like the funeral was yesterday.

I liked my father-in-law a lot. He was a good guy, but I must say he was hen-pecked like nobody I ever saw in my life. His wife treated him as if he was a moron. She wouldn't let him open his mouth. She corrected his English and finished his sentences. She wouldn't even allow him to drive when she was in the car. This might be a terrible thing to say but when he died my first thought was: "The poor guy is free, at last."

I think the reason my mother-in-law feels so awful is because she's ashamed of the way she treated him. And since I am doing a little amateur psychology I should confess the reason I am writing this letter is because my wife is getting more like her mother every day. What I am trying to say is I'd rather have a fair deal while I am still living than a big deal after I am gone. Please print this.—Flowers Now.

Dear Flowers: Thanks for unloading. I'll bet you feel better already.

MR. AND MRS. WAYNE SIEWERT (Pope's Studio)

God's Love Is Wedding Theme

God's Love was the theme of the May wedding of Marilyn Jane Rathjen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McGregor Rathjen of Kelowna and Richard Wayne Siewert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Siewert of Kelowna. Rev. Eugene Kraft and Rev. A. R. Kalamen conducted the ceremony in Evangel Tabernacle, which was decorated with mauve, blue and pink flowers and candelabra.

The bride's father was soloist for the ceremony, singing, The Lord's Prayer, as the couple knelt at the altar in prayer. Pianist was Mrs. L. De Rosa of Trail and organist was Mrs. E. Domeij.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a frothy chiffon and lace gown, self-designed and made. Tiny satin bows edged the train and her headress was created of mixed white flowers with Lily of the Valley. A scalloped sheer net also scattered with the dainty bows formed her veil and she carried a basket of spring flowers. Keeping the traditional sentiment she wore a blue garter borrowed from an old friend.

Mrs. Elaine Gay, the bride's sister of Vancouver served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Beverly Siewert, the groom's sister and Joanne Rathjen, the bride's sister, both of Kelowna.

Candlelighters were Denise De Rosa and Randy, the brother of the bride.

SATIN BIBLES

The attendants were clad in mauve and blue floral sheer with violets wreathed in their hair. They carried white satin Bibles with a spray of flowers.

David Domeij, the bride's cousin of Kelowna served as best man and Greg Rathjen, her brother of Edmonton was a groomsman along with the groom's brother, Greg Siewert of Kelowna.

'Oldest' Stewardess Ends Air Career On 'High' Note

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The world's oldest airline stewardess is cycling the sky wistfully after her mandatory retirement from flying—a career spanning 35 years and 10 million air miles.

"I'm in good health and I'd fly until 65 if they'd let me," Ida Staggers said Wednesday after her last flight for Trans World Airlines.

The airline explained that its contract with the Airline Stewards and Stewardesses Association compelled retirement at 60.

Her last flight was from Honolulu to Travis Air Force Base, 45 miles north of San Francisco, on a charter assignment.

When she arrived back at San Francisco International Airport there were popping champagne corks, hugs, kisses and congratulations from pilots, fellow stewardesses, groundworkers and TWA officials.

Miss Staggers isn't stopping completely, however. She will work with fledgling stewardesses at TWA's hostess training centre at Kansas City, Mo.

Miss Staggers, who observed her 60th birthday May 9 started with TWA in July, 1936, when the line was flying small, 14-passenger DC-2s.

side room at the Evangel Tabernacle, the bride's mother chose a soft green gown with matching hooded cape. A white gardenia corsage set off her ensemble. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore a rose pink formal.

The bridal table was covered by a white crocheted cloth made by the groom's mother and the wedding cake was beautifully decorated by Mrs. Leon Stoltz of Kelowna. A silver cross intertwined with Lily of the Valley and a tiny white Bible topped the cake. Toasts were proposed by Einar Domeij of Kelowna and Louis De Rosa of Trail.

The bride and groom slipped quietly away in their wedding attire to honeymoon at Harrison Hot Springs. They reside in Kelowna.

WATER SYSTEMS

Amalgamation Under Study

By GEORGE WHITELEY
Rutland Courier Staff

It is only common sense that two water systems be amalgamated if the Rutland area is to continue to grow, just as it is common sense to have one telephone company, one power company, and so on.

Black Mountain Irrigation District and Rutland Waterworks District are public companies. Hollywood Ditch Water Users' Utility is a private company serving a particular area.

Last year BMID took the area north of Leathard Road from RWD, and is supplying irrigation water through RWD lines. A committee representing both districts is studying the economics of amalgamation.

As its name suggests, BMID was formed in 1920 to supply water for crops. The area involved was about 10,000 acres, with about 4,000 acres irrigable. Before this irrigation was supplied by three companies.

All irrigation districts in the Okanagan were plagued with shortages of water in July and August, as the B.C. government established a fund to loan money for improvements. BMID was allotted $660,000. From this it paid $100,000 to the Land and Agricultural Co. of Canada for the Belgo Dam, 11 miles of main ditch and the Belgo distribution system, including a domestic water system from Eight Mile Creek.

The original cost was $446,000. To increase the dam capacity, the height was raised from 19 feet to 26 feet. A ditch was constructed almost to Scotty Creek. In 1928 the water shortage became acute. It was decided to divert water from Hilda and Muggford creeks into the dam. The Greystoke Lake dam was built in 1931. In 1945 a low-level ditch was finished enabling water from either dam to be used.

The RWD began in 1950 to provide domestic water for the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association subdivision. At first it served only about 12 users but, as contamination of wells became general, the need to serve more land was obvious.

An improvement district was incorporated, and a $160,000 plan approved for a storage tank on the Belgo, with pumping units on Mission Creek. Water for storage was purchased from the BMID.

Recently the RWD started using its first well, behind the office on Highway 33. It is hoped to bring another well in soon, with the eventual hope of abandoning the creek source.

BMID has sold its property on Highway 33 near the centre of Rutland. Storage facilities are being constructed at Willits and Belgo roads, and office facilities will be rented at Belgo and Gray roads.

Taxpayers might save a great deal of money and be assured of proper water supplies if these services were joined.

Want Grand Piano For Rutland Hall

RUTLAND (Staff) — A fund is being started to buy a grand piano for the Rutland Centennial Hall.

"If we had a grand piano, we could have classical programs here instead of having to go into Kelowna," said Mrs. Kelly Slater, teacher at South Rutland Elementary School. She is arranging a concert Tuesday night to start the fund.

"A new one would cost $3,500-$10,000, but we would probably get a used one, possibly from someone whose family had no further use for it. We have been in contact with representatives of Rutland Park Society. There is a portion of the stage where the instrument could be kept locked.

"Other years we have held choir concerts to buy equipment for the hall. This year schools were too busy with the musical festival to have one.

"There are quite a few people in Rutland who enjoy good music. I am sure there would be support for musical activities here. This is the first year there have been separate band programs in the elementary schools," added Mrs. Slater.

The program begins at 7:30 p.m. In addition to the South

Rutland band directed by Mrs. Slater, the Quigley band will be directed by Kathy Reimer, the Rutland Elementary band by Joan Michener, the junior and senior secondary school bands by Arnold Peters. The Canadian-Medley Group, elementary folksingers, will make their first appearance.

Park Information To Be Provided In Rutland Area

Although no date has been set for a vote in Rutland on establishing a regional park, information about the proposal will be provided for the community.

The Regional District of Central Okanagan has an option on about 20 acres near Rutland Secondary School. The Rutland Park Society has agreed to manage about 16 acres, and the rest would be used for an arena by the region.

Many people in Rutland feel residents of the Ellison-Belgo area should also participate.

Wednesday night the regional board agreed to send circulars to residents.

Rutland Knights Honored For Work

RUTLAND (Staff) — Members of the Knights of Columbus at St. Theresa's Catholic Church have been honored as the most active KOC council in B.C. A trophy was presented at the 61st annual convention in Nelson. Delegates were grand knight Dennis Hawk and treasurer Bob Gruber.

The council is known as Father De Lestre Council 6233, after the second pastor of the church.

This year the council has made donations to many local groups, also people in need. It launched a $4,000 project to improve the cemetery.

Ladies' night will be June 17. Officers will be installed and awards presented July 8 at the Centennial Hall. A fastball tournament is being held that weekend at the Centennial Park.

Scout Officials To Attend Meet

RUTLAND (Staff) — Several regional scout and cub officials have been invited to attend the annual meeting of the Rutland Scout Group Committee at 8 p.m. June 14 in the Dillman room at the Centennial Hall.

They are C. A. Calk, district cub commissioner; Drew Craig, district scout commissioner; Howard McIntosh, public relations convener, all of Kelowna; and Jock Norman, professional scoutmaster, of Vernon.

One of the most important things will be to get enough leaders for the season beginning in September. Cubmaster Barry Keith and his wife, who is his assistant, have resigned.

Public Hearing Set For June 23

A public hearing will be held June 23 on providing for uses by public authorities, public utilities and improvement districts in rural and residential districts.

This matter came before the Regional District of Central Okanagan board twice concerning Rutland. Black Mountain Irrigation District was refused permission to build a storage facility at Willits and Belgo roads, a rural area. Rutland Waterworks District was refused permission to build a pump-house in a residential area behind its office in the centre of Rutland. Both refusals were upset by the regional board of variance.

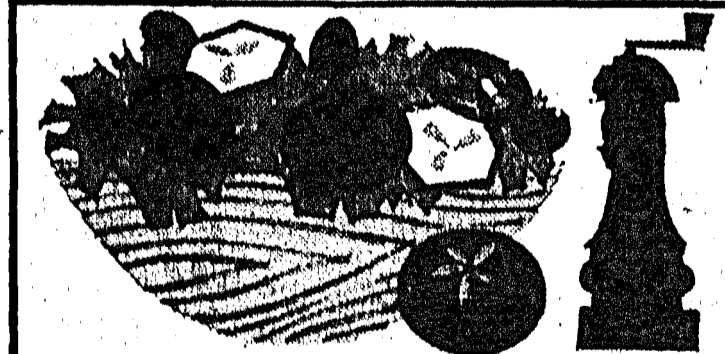

As requested by the regional board, planner D. W. Barcham has prepared a bylaw to amend the zoning bylaw permitting such uses.

An Election Forecast By Area NDP Candidate

PEACHLAND (Special) — Over 50 people attended a supper and dance Saturday evening sponsored by the local NDP organization in the Peachland Community Hall. Guest speaker at this meeting was Frank Jewell, NDP candidate for South Okanagan. Mr. Snowsall told the group assembled that the NDP party expects both a provincial and a federal election this summer and assured supporters the party is organized and ready to go into a campaign anytime. He commented on the announcement that Auto Insurance in B.C. will increase by 15 per cent in the coming year, and gave as examples the decreases in auto insurances in Saskatchewan and Manitoba since the NDP governments of these provinces have been in power. He stated, "we can no longer afford the luxury of a Social Credit government. It is costing our citizens too much."

STEELWORKER RETIRES
PEACHLAND (Special) — A social evening in honor of Jack Beniteau was held Monday evening in the Peachland Legion Hall. Tony Belcher president and Jim Cooper vice-president of Local 7618 United Steelworkers Union at Brenda Mines, addressed this party and presented Mr. Beniteau with an engraved desk set from the union members.

He also had much to say about Premier Bennett's announcements in Kelowna concerning the amending of the provincial Gift Tax laws. "If this is not a fair tax why did the socialists push this piece of legislation through the house without listening to the other parties objections at that time," he said.

As to the announcement of the lifting of estate and successor duties he stated this only affects the rich. Turning to the group he asked how many will benefit?

"It is just another example how our present government is protecting the rich at the expense of the poor," he said.

He told the audience that in the last 20 years the people of B.C. have been more divided than ever before, employers and workers at odds, teachers and the present Dept. of Education, trustees and the Dept. of Education. This is all caused by the repressive legislation passed by this government, he said. He stated, as a teacher I know the problems of the present educators.

He spoke of tremendous control of a corporate society, and took the news media as an example stating we do not get news but a selected selection, he stated it is dangerous for the press, TV and Radio to be dependant on advertising, controlled news media can build up or tear down, he asked the people present to look behind the scenes.

He ended by telling the parents present that if their son and daughter wear their hair long and refuse to conform to society, be proud of them, because they don't want to get drawn into this present corrupt society.

BID TO SAVE AREA
SUMMERLAND (CP) — The chairman of the Okanagan Mountain Committee says her group will press to have the new Okanagan Mountain Provincial Park preserved as a wilderness area. "We would like to see a road built to its boundary, but that's all," Doreen Adams said Tuesday night. There should only be walking trails in the park itself. Plans to create the park were announced last week by Premier W. A. C. Bennett. Access to the area, halfway between Penticton and Kelowna, at present is by boat.

Dairyland had too little too late as Pacific 68 took an 11-9 victory in Senior Babe Ruth action Wednesday.

Each of the top two teams have three games left in the season with Dairyland having two games remaining.

Lyle Retzlaff picked up the win, the second of four Pacific 68 pitchers. Kevin Harding started for Pacific and Mark Lang took over from Retzlaff in the seventh. Allen Nelson was also put in in the seventh inning.

League Pattern Followed Boys Gain Share Of Second

The Kelowna and District Senior Men's B Softball League has taken on a definite pattern, and Budget Boys kept to it Wednesday by handing Treadgold's Club 13 a 6-3 setback.

The win puts Boys in a tie with Club 13 for second place, only two points behind Rutland Rovers. Rovers have never lost the lead this season, sharing it on a number of occasions with Club 13 and several times with Budget Boys. Boys have a chance to make their move for the lead tonight when they meet Rovers at 8 p.m. at King's Stadium.

Don Schmidt picked up his third win of the season against four losses with a heavy four-hitter. Schmidt sent 11 Club 13 batters down via the strike out route while walking three.

Rick Krauschaar was tagged for nine hits in losing his second of six starts, striking out nine and walking two.

Boys didn't waste time in striking, pushing three runs across in the first inning. Ian Angus came up with the key blow, a two-run single.

Ed Sehn picked up two runs batted-in to tie his league lead in the second inning, driving in Schmidt and Dennis Kranabetter with a single to right field to give Boys a commanding 5-0 lead.

A two-run home run by Joe Fisher, with Krauschaar aboard, put Club 13 back on the scoreboard. It was Fisher's first homer of the season.

Richard Bullock accounted for Boys' sixth run, drawing a walk and moving to second on a sacrifice bunt laid down by Sehn. Norbert Korthals came up with a timely two-out single to left field to bring in Boys' final run of the game.

Schmidt kept Club 13 at bay until the seventh inning, when they struck for their final run.

Boris Kabatoff drew a lead-off walk, and moved to third on wild pitches. He came in to score on an error to Boys' catcher Angus while Schmidt set the next three batters down without further damage.

Kranabetter led the Boys at the plate with a double and two singles in four trips to the plate. Angus added a double and a single. Fisher's home run made him the top Club 13 batter.

Pitching Strategy Backfires As Tony Perez Comes Through

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I like to see those men on base when I get up to bat," Tony Perez said. There weren't any there when he was finished.

For a change, Cincinnati's Johnny Bench wasn't hitting. But it wasn't his fault. The New York Mets were pitching around him. But that only brought up Perez. And the Reds' first baseman didn't mind a bit.

He drove in four runs Wednesday night, three of them in the first inning with a strategy-wrecking double, that powered Cincinnati Reds to a 6-3 victory over the facing Mets.

In the rest of the National League, Pittsburgh Pirates bombed San Diego Padres 12-5, then squeezed out a 1-0 victory for a sweep in the 18-inning nightcap. Philadelphia Phillies beat Houston Astros 3-1. Montreal Expos defeated Atlanta Braves 5-2. Chicago Cubs whipped Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1 and St. Louis Cardinals silenced San Francisco Giants 6-0.

Mike Jorgensen drove in three runs with a bases-loaded triple in the third inning to power Montreal past Atlanta.

Orioles Gang Coming Back

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Manager Earl Weaver thinks some of his Baltimore Orioles may be over the hill. But the players would like to think they're over the hump.

"The over-the-hill gang is coming back," yelled Paul Blair after the Orioles snapped a five-game losing streak Wednesday night with a convincing 11-2 drubbing of Minnesota Twins.

Coupled with Detroit's 5-1 loss to California Angeles, the victory left the Orioles only three games behind the Tigers in the American League despite a 22-22 record.

Elsewhere, Oakland Athletics trounced Cleveland Indians 10-4. Chicago White Sox nipped Boston Red Sox 2-1. New York Yankees defeated Texas Rangers 7-5 and Kansas City Royals edged Milwaukee Brewers 5-4.

TERM EXTENDED

REGINA (CP) — W. E. Clarke, president of the Canadian Football League announced Wednesday that commissioner Jake Gaudaur has had his term of office lengthened by an additional five years, to 1978.

CHANGE WANTED

MONTREAL (CP) — The National Hockey League is hoping for a change in dates for the Canadian part of the exhibition hockey series to be played against Russia this fall. NHL president Clarence Campbell told a news conference Tuesday the league "has made the strongest possible representation" to the Russians through Hockey Canada to move back the Canadian dates. He proposed that the four Russian games in Canada be postponed from early September until Nov. 7-9-13-17, pointing out that the period is the thinnest part of the NHL schedule.

Sinden Gets Coveted Job Will Coach Canuck Team

MONTREAL (CP) — Harry Sinden never played a game in the National Hockey League but the native of Collins Bay, Ont., has been entrusted with one of the most coveted coaching jobs ever offered in hockey.

Sinden, 39, was named Wednesday night as coach and general manager of the Canadian team that will meet Russia in an exhibition hockey series this fall.

"As soon as the word was announced that the series of games was going to be played, I was interested in coaching," Sinden said in an interview last Friday. "I indicated that if a steering committee was interested in me, I was interested. I think we have the best hockey players in the world. I have the opportunity to mould them into a team. I don't think we will come out on the short end in this series."

Sinden will choose all the players on the team.

In an interview last month, Sinden said there was no use Canada saying it has the best hockey players all of the time and not proving it.

"Russia has won the world title eight or nine times and certainly deserves a chance to play our best."

GOOD CREDENTIALS

Sinden's credentials for coaching the team are impressive. He led Boston Bruins to their first Stanley Cup in May, 1970, and two days later resigned to go into private business. He had served Boston as coach since the 1966-67 season and in 1967-68 he guided the Bruins to their first playoff appearance in nine years. The Brins have not been out of the playoffs since.

Sinden has had experience in international hockey before. He was a player-coach with Whittby Dunlops when they won a world title in the late 1950s. He also played with the Klutner-Waterloo team which finished second to the United States in the 1960 Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley in 1960.

"I've never played in Russia," said Sinden. "I understand they have bigger ice surfaces there than here. I'd like to see Yvan Cournoyer on a bigger ice surface."

"If the schedule remains as is, we will probably start training camp Aug. 14.

"We will probably invite 35 players to camp. I hope we can name those 35 by next Wednesday."

Rangers Get Pair From Blues

MONTREAL (CP) — New York Rangers of the National Hockey League announced Wednesday the acquisition of goaltender Peter McDuffe and forward Curt Bennett from St. Louis Blues, completing a trade which sent defenceman Steve Durban to the Blues.

McDuffe, originally Ranger property, split last season between St. Louis and Denver of the Central Hockey League. Bennett, a former All-American at Brown University, played for the Blues two weeks ago.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

Peter Snell announced seven years ago today—in 1965—that he was giving up racing. The 26-year-old runner from Auckland, N.Z., held the world record for the mile and the 880-yard run.

Home Expenses Were Covered

TORONTO (CP) — John A. Gordon, chief engineer at Maple Leaf Gardens, testified Wednesday that an accountant gave instructions "to cover" the expense of a home garbage disposal for Harold Ballard by putting its costs in with plumbing work for the arena.

Mr. Gordon was testifying in the trial of Ballard, the Gardens' president, who is being tried on charges of fraud and theft.

Mr. Gordon told the court that there was "a lot of work being done in the organ loft" in 1968 and that a Gardens' accountant told him to put the garbage disposal cost in with that.

He said that at no time did he receive instructions on billing from Mr. Ballard.

Clarence (Jesse) James, assistant building superintendent, testified that Ballard did not know the Gardens was paying more than $70,000 for renovations to his home.

Latest NHL Expansion Teams Will Be Announced Today

MONTREAL (CP) — A decision will be announced today on which two teams will become part of the National Hockey League in the 1974-75 season, when the league expands to 18 teams.

NHL president Clarence Campbell said Wednesday the cities and the franchise holders will both be announced. There are 10 groups bidding for the two spots, including three separate groups from Kansas City.

The NHL will also hold its draft of amateur players with New York Islanders and Atlanta Flames holding first and second picks respectively.

New York has said it will pick Bill Harris, a forward with Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series last season as the No. 1 selection in the proceedings. Atlanta has indicated it will choose Jacques Richard of Quebec Remparts of the Quebec Junior Hockey League.

After that draft is completed, the American and Western Hockey League teams will participate in the reverse draft.

The AHL and WHL teams are permitted to claim NHL-owned players regardless of the reserve list on which the names are listed. The claiming price is $15,000 in U.S. funds and no NHL team can lose more than two players. However, a claim against an NHL club by an AHL or WHL affiliate will not constitute a loss.

WANTS DATES CHANGED

The Canadians are scheduled to meet the Russians in Canada during the first week of September, but the NHL, through Hockey Canada, has asked that the Canadian part of the series be put off until November.

The Russians will play host to Canada during the last week of September and Clarence Campbell, NHL president, said Tuesday there is no question of changing those dates.

Lou Lefaire, director of the fitness and amateur sports and a member of Hockey Canada, the body which arranged the series, said he doubts the Russians will agree to the change in dates.

"Based on discussions we've already had, I think it's going to be difficult. We have made our proposals through the usual channels but I have no idea when we will have a comeback."

Canadiens Sell Five Players

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens Wednesday sold veteran goaltender Denis DeJordy and four other players to New York Islanders of the National Hockey League in a straight cash deal.

The 34-year-old DeJordy apparently was sold to the Islanders—one of two expansion clubs starting next season—as part of a deal whereby the New York club passed up some of Montreal's young talent in Tuesday's expansion draft.

Also moving to the Islanders were right wingers Murray Anderson and Tony Featherstone, who played with Nova Scotia Voyageurs of the American Hockey League last season, and amateurs Alec Campbell and Glen Resch.

DeJordy, a native of St. Hyacinthe, Que., has been a pro since the 1957-58 season when he started with Buffalo Bisons of the AHL. He worked off and on for seven seasons with Chicago Black Hawks of the NHL before moving to Los Angeles Kings Feb. 20, 1970.

DeJordy came to Montreal early last season as part of a deal that sent goalie Rogatien Vachon to the Kings. Last season he appeared in only five games with Montreal.

The Canadiens dealt another goaltender, Phil Myre, to Atlanta Flames in the expansion draft, thus making sure that several players they were forced to leave unprotected would not be lost.

Montreal was unable to protect defenceman Bob Murdoch and Dale Hoganson and forward Chuck Leffley, but wound up with all three when Atlanta look Myre and defenceman Terry Ketter while New York grabbed defenceman Bart Crashtley, leaving the Canadiens exempt from further claims.

Agreement Reached On Draft Top Players Already Picked

MONTREAL (CP) — Sometime today, Jacques Richard will become a member of Atlanta Flames. That is unless the Flames and New York Islanders make a last-minute change of plans.

Bill Torrey, general manager of the Islanders and Cliff Fletcher, his counterpart with the Flames, announced last week they had reached an agreement on amateur draft choices.

Thus Richard, a 71-goal scorer last season in the Quebec Junior A Hockey League, will go to the Flames and Bill Harris,

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE - Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chances For Trade Bonanza With Chinese 'Not Due Yet'

VICTORIA (CP) - A British Columbia government study suggests there is little chance of an early export trade bonanza for Canada in Communist China.

The study, released here today, "the stakes in economic terms are not very great, even though China's external trade is expected to double in the next decade."

Industrial Minister Waldo Skilling said in a statement that a gradual but steadily increasing growth market awaits those who "seize the initiative and make themselves and their products known to the Chinese."

But China's total exports and imports reached only $4.2 billion in 1970 and Canada's share comprised only $142 million in exports to China and $25 million in imports, the study says.

Canada's total 1970 figure was more than $30 billion.

The study says it is unrealistic to expect to be able to develop an important market for consumer goods in China now or in the near future.

"Without a doubt the importation of capital equipment and essential materials is of immediate and primary interest to the Chinese," the study says.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH
Worries Plus, Minus About That Pill

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Letters expressing worry about birth control pills keep landing on my desk. Like the gentle, or not so gentle, rains from heaven, they come in showers, sometimes in deluges. There are, of course, some women who shouldn't take the pill. Sorting out this minority is part of the doctor's task. They include those with phlebitis, other vein troubles, fibroid tumors, and a few other conditions.

But it's also important to do something about the women who are worried when there isn't any good reason to worry. One of the recurring worries is whether something terrible will happen to the baby if a woman takes the pill after she has already become pregnant.

To all such women, and letters indicate that there are many of them, I can only say that when you realize you are pregnant, there's usually no point in taking the pill, so just stop. But don't live in fear that the baby has been harmed.

To reinforce that, I'd like to reprint a letter that first appeared here several years ago. It's about an unusual case, but it still serves to make the point.

Dear Doctor: It will reassure your reader at all (the one who took birth control pills after she was pregnant) I took them under my obstetrician's orders, all through my last two pregnancies.

I had had four miscarriages before that. Not only did the use of them work, but I now have two bright, robust sons to show for it.

It looked a little ridiculous, buying birth control pills when I was six months along - but worth it! - Mrs. P. L.

That should reassure the worried. But maybe I'd best add also that birth control pills (the hormones in them) aren't necessarily a specific preventive for all miscarriages. There are too many different causes of miscarriage.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is your opinion of cryosurgery for an advanced prostate condition? I am 80.-S. T. S.

It is being used more and more in prostate cases-but it is for the surgeon to decide whether that is the proper technique in a particular case. It is not for me or for the patient to tell him the best way.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Last summer I used your reducing plan to lose weight, and since then have been using powdered skim milk to help keep my weight down.

The other night on TV a dietician said it isn't good to use skim milk exclusively. She said in an experiment rats fed on skim milk alone developed cataracts. Would it be all right to mix skim and whole milk half and half? -Mrs. W. M.

I wonder if a "dietician" was truly a dietician or just a self-styled one.

Anyway, she apparently was referring to an experiment in which rats, fed only yogurt, developed cataracts. This caused all sorts of worry on the part of folks who like yogurt-but didn't understand the experiment.

They jumped to the conclusion that yogurt caused the cataracts, and they paid no attention to the most significant fact that the rats were fed only that. On such a restricted diet, I'd expect health to suffer, whether in rats or people.

Just forget about what the lady said on TV, and stick to the diet which, obviously, is working well for you.

Opening lead-jack of clubs. In many hands declarer finds it more dangerous to have one opponent on lead than the other. This is usually because the dangerous opponent, by gaining the lead, can either run a long suit or return a suit that threatens a key card in declarer's hand or dummy's.

Thus, in the present deal, South should be greatly concerned by the possibility of East's obtaining the lead and firing a spade back through the king. A spade return could prove disastrous, so South's attention should be firmly riveted on ways and means of keeping East from taking the lead.

In line with this he should play low from dummy on the club lead, as well as low from his hand. He should not put up the queen, because, if he does, East may subsequently gain the lead in clubs, while if he doesn't put it up East can be prevented from ever taking the lead in clubs.

Let's say West continues with a club, South taking the king with the ace. Pursuing his aim of keeping East out of the lead, declarer cashes the K-A of trumps and returns a low diamond from dummy, covering East's eight with the ten.

His policy of avoidance now pays off because West, on lead with the queen of diamonds, can do South no harm, and, in fact, if he fails to cash the ace of spades at this point he loses it.

South does not perform an exceptionally heroic feat by playing this way; he merely exhibits a healthy respect for East by refusing to engage him in combat. He knows that East would be in position to fire a devastating shot through him if he somehow acquired the lead - and South should be perfectly willing to acknowledge his fear by adopting a highly prudent method of play.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Friday, June 9

Aries (March 21-April 19): How well you do your work today determines your future conditions. Financial dealings are favored.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Clear off loose ends, get rid of surplus property. The fewer fresh materials and resources you use in today's salvage operations, the better.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): There is more to be done with obscure information. Persistent inquiry yields surprising results. Home life is important.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Plan for the future while you cope with the day. If you try to resolve questions as they come, they won't be lasting problems.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Keep on with a full-scale work effort. Select parts of the work and fan them out where you can find willing heads and hands.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): It is time to look into strange subjects, find out something new, stretch the limits of your personal world to make it a little larger.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Focus attention on balancing your resources with what you want to use them to achieve. Money matters are subject to general improvement.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Your enthusiasm can be amplified and applied by those working with you. Your own conflicts are the only natural limits today.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Another day of persistent effort finally produces a reasonably satisfying result. Medical or other technical advice is strongly favored.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Everybody wants to be helpful, although the people near you may not have a very clear perspective. Promote ideas.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): In winding up your work-week, give an element of attention to

Aussies Hunt Uranium

PERTH (Reuter) - A uranium rush is under way in Western Australia as prospectors hurry to stake claims to promising sites.

Hundreds of square miles have been claimed by mining companies and individual prospectors since the announcement in January of a major strike at Yeelirrie, until then a virtually unknown cattle station about 350 miles northeast of Perth.

Government mining offices were inundated with several hundred claims daily until all the promising areas surrounding Yeelirrie had been taken.

Now it has started again. Prospectors mining copper about 200 miles north of Yeelirrie say they have found rich uranium 25 feet below the surface.

ASSAYS HIGH

One sample is reported to have assayed 25 per cent uranium - the equivalent of 570 pounds a long ton.

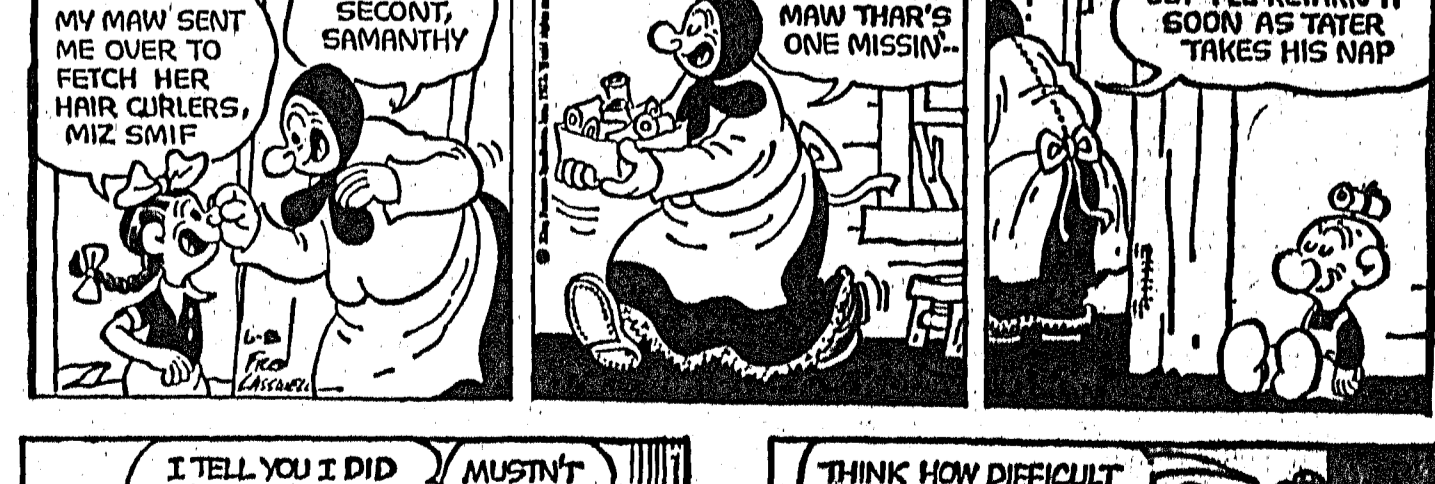

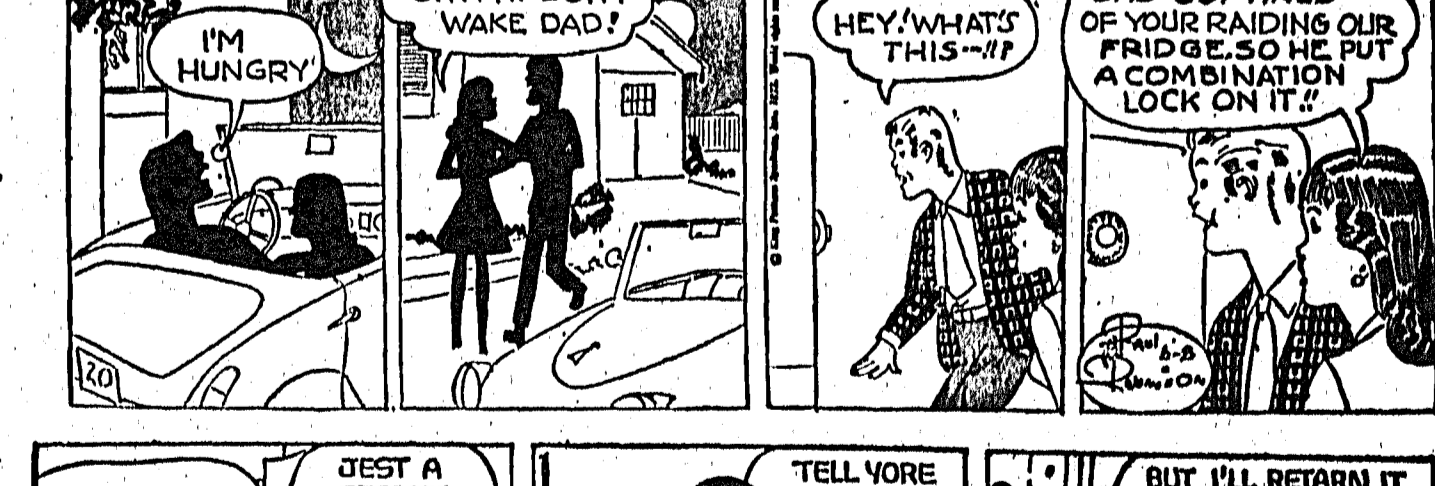

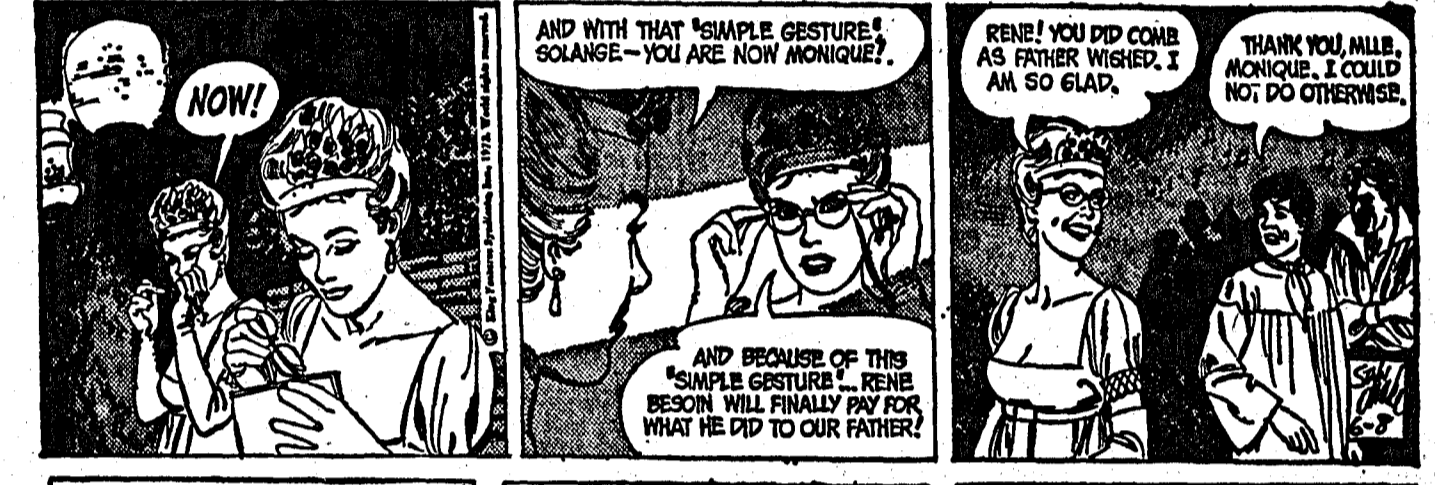

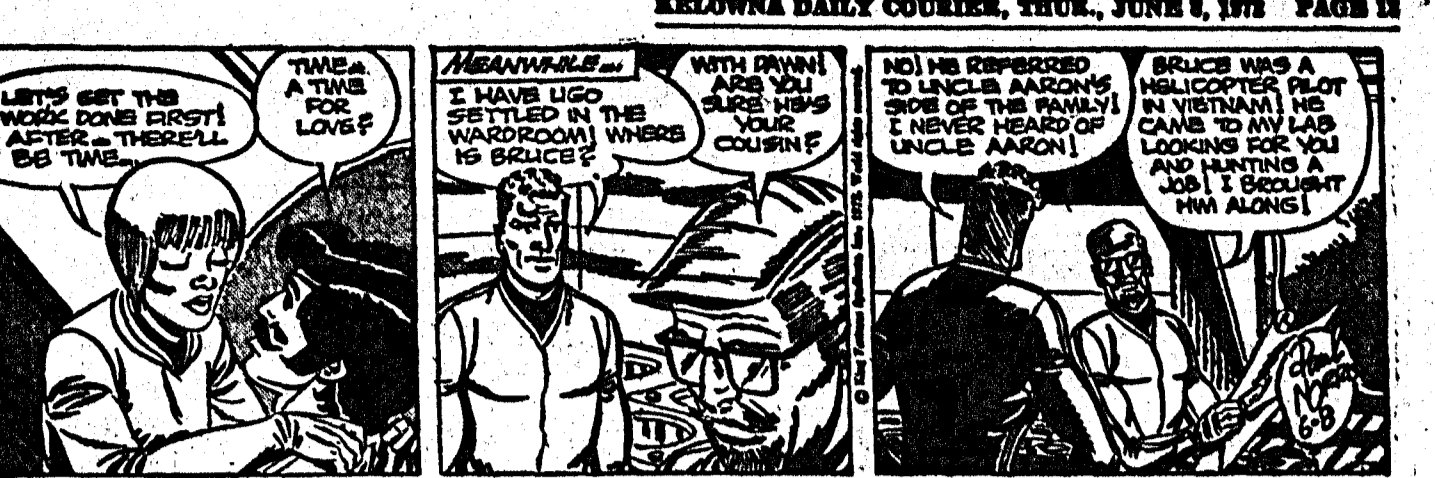

Yeelirrie's assays averaged about three pounds a ton.

The find sent prospectors flocking to Mundong Well, a remote site where a seldom-used water hole was the only distinguishing feature in barren, rocky country about 600 miles north of Perth.

Stock market reaction was also quick and many small companies saw their shares move sharply upward after reports that they had acquired uranium claims.

But the Mundong Well find is far from proved - unlike Yeelirrie, where the company involved spent months evaluating claims before the deposit was announced.

CNTU's Political Aspects In For Rough Treatment

MONTREAL (CP) — The political orientation of the Confederation of National Trade Unions, which led to creation of a break-away group in recent weeks, is expected to get rough treatment at next week's general convention of the labor federation.

While the CNTU leadership tries to still growing uneasiness among rank-and-file members, its convention will discuss a working document that clearly plots a socialist orientation in political action.

The document, considered by many as an underlying reason for current uneasiness and branded by some as Marxist, was endorsed by the CNTU's governing council in October, 1971. It will be voted on at the seven-day Quebec City convention starting Sunday.

Referred to as the CNTU manifesto, the pre-convention paper, Ne Comptons Que sur nos Propres Moyens—Let's Rely on our Own Means—Let's Rely, on our Own Means, favors a socialist system under which Quebec workers control and own their economy. It is an extension of CNTU President Marcel Pepin's call for a "second front" at the labor federation's 1968 annual convention.

At the time, Mr. Pepin recommended that the 235,000-member federation go beyond the "first front"—bargaining for collective agreements—and participate in more direct political and social actions.

HITS CAPITALISM

It bears down heavily on the capitalist system which "divides the world into two classes opposed to each other; the owning class and the working class."

"Although the owning class is a minority," the document says, "it dominates the working class... forced to sell its labor to the owning class in order to live."

The manifesto tries to show that the American capitalist system plays the leading role in dominating Quebecers at all levels of the province's economic structure.

The second part of the document deals with the "mistaken illusion" that replacing foreign economic control with a Quebec form of domination—Quebec economic independence—will solve the problem.

"Replacing foreign economic domination by a Quebec form of domination," it says, "is not the solution to our collective problems."

PRESENTS ANSWER

A solution to these problems is presented in the third section in which Quebec workers are told the only way their collective problems can be solved is by controlling their own means of production.

"Quebec workers know they cannot count on national capitalists or on a government at the service of capitalists or the imperialists... It is the workers who pay for all the defects of capitalism—unemployment, inflation, work insecurity, lack of housing..."

"An economy dominated by the workers could only be socialist."

"By this we mean that society, through the state, owns the means of production—factories, land, raw materials. Workers would participate directly and collectively in the management of industry, the economy and in setting down the economic priorities."

"The economic activity should seek to satisfy the population's needs as much as possible and be planned directly by the state."

"By socialist planning, the workers would become owners of their own work and would also take all the profits for themselves."

SEES NO FUTURE

The last part of the document reaffirms that there is no longer any future for Quebec in the present economic system.

The labor body says it is breaking completely with traditional political parties in Quebec on the question of the economic development of society.

CNTU members are asked to engage themselves in educating Quebec workers about their economic and social situation in the present system and "to encourage them to think together about possible solutions which can be achieved within a popular democratic regime."

The document also asks members to encourage workers to take concrete actions whose "ultimate purpose would be to replace the present system... with a system controlled by the workers."

It concludes that it is time to begin an authentic return to the trade union movement's grass roots and to plunge into the heart of the struggle against the exploitation of workers.

Responding to the criticisms which assailed the document, Mr. Pepin said the manifesto was not intended to force the labor body to become a political party or endorse one.

He said it was the result of a CNTU study instigated last September to look into the causes of unemployment and find ways to combat them.

Concorde Decision Reserved

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Canada would be prepared to permit the occasional overflight of the Anglo-French supersonic Concorde aircraft for testing purposes but has not made up its mind whether to impose a permanent ban on commercial supersonic jets.

Environment Minister Jack Davis, in replying to a question at a news conference, said here he cannot see much objection to one or two flights for test purposes but the Canadian government has reached no policy as yet on regular supersonic use of Canadian territory.

The matter, he said, is still under investigation from an environmental viewpoint.

As for his invitation to the UN environment conference to hold a second meeting in Canada in 1977, Davis explained to reporters that not all of the major issues would likely be resolved at this conference nor in the next five years and the Canadian invitation is an assurance that issues will continue to be pursued.

South African Student Leaders Plan To Continue Protesting

CAPE TOWN (Reuter) — South African student leaders planned Tuesday to continue their anti-government demonstrations in spite of strong police action and a government warning that protests will be crushed.

With a ban on all demonstrations in Cape Town in force today following Monday's tear gas, police charges and mass arrests, the student leaders are determined to press their clash with the government over its apartheid policy in education and over claims of police brutality.

The protest movement started last month at the African University at Turfloop, northern Transvaal, over the expulsion of student leader Abraham Tloto. As it has gathered steam among white students and church leaders, it now is assuming the proportions of an unprecedented challenge to the government.

Even while Monday's police action was in progress, with a total of 62 arrests, Premier John Vorster was telling Parliament that such measures will be taken "every time law and order is at stake."

PROTEST POLICE MOVES

Monday's gatherings in Cape Town, Johannesburg, Durban and other centres were in protest against police action last Friday against demonstrators here.

Following the brief arrest of three clergymen—Rev. Edward King, the dean of Cape Town; Theo Kotze, general secretary of the South African Council of Churches; and Rev. Bernard Wrangham, of the Mission of Seaman's Institute—and 30 other persons at St. George's Cathedral here, Monday's protest plans fizzled out.

But in Johannesburg, where 29 persons were arrested by

CAN COMMIT FUNDS

He disclosed that the cabinet has authorized him to commit between $5 million and $7 million as the Canadian contribution to a proposed five-year $100 million fund to finance a permanent UN environment agency. The United States is offering $40 million.

Davis said he would like the new agency to be a separate UN organization though the U.S. would rather have it set up as a commission under the UN Social and Economic Council.

Davis said he also realized that his call for development of global environmental standards is meeting substantial opposition from a number of quarters.

The U.S. has claimed this would be impracticable. A number of developing countries suggested that global standards would cause a slowdown in their own economic expansion.

Davis argued that it would be better if these countries incorporated anti-pollution safeguards in their industries at the outset. Canada is prepared to provide extra funds to cover this additional environmental cost. Davis said the additional Canadian contribution would be made to those countries even if the global standards proposal is not universally adopted.

STUDENT MEET SET

VANCOUVER (CP) — David Dick, treasurer of the Alma Mater Society of the University of British Columbia, said Wednesday student representatives from all post-secondary institutions in the province are being invited to a founding convention of a new B.C. student organization. The meeting will be held July 8 and 9 at Simon Fraser University. An earlier B.C. Union of Students, founded in 1963 by the province's four universities, three regional colleges and the B.C. Institute of Technology, folded about two years ago.

BRIGHT TRAIL

VANCOUVER (CP) — A one block stretch of Yew Street in mid-town Vancouver will be a brilliant red for the next few weeks. The street will be "painted" Wednesday night when six face-painting tubs of single splash left from a truck and spilled their contents from curb to curb. A fire department spokesman said it will be several weeks before traffic wears the paint off.

DISASTER SEQUEL

Rhodesian Mine Hit By Strike

WANKIE, Rhodesia (CP) — Several hundred African workers went on strike today at the Wankie coal mine here after an announcement that more than 400 miners trapped by a blast Tuesday are almost certainly dead.

The African miners were refusing to go underground at the No. 3 pit and a mine official said it was decided to close the mine. They did not know if it would open Friday.

Earlier, the chairman of the colliery company said the extent of the damage caused by the blast and poisonous air in the mine "leaves no cause for hope" for the trapped miners.

The chairman, Sir Keith Acutt, said the rockfalls and damage to the ventilation system resulting from three massive explosions Tuesday and the poisonous air that filled the mine a fireward "leaves no cause for hope."

He said all indications were that the men died instantly.

Hopes of finding any of the men alive were virtually non-existent after two more explosions Wednesday pushed more lethal methane gas into the miles of tunnels.

There were 428 men in the mine when the explosion occurred. Minus the eight survivors, that leaves a possible death toll of 420, making it Africa's second-worst mining disaster, exceeded only by the 437 killed in 1960 at Coalbrook, South Africa.

Reds Firepower May Be Less Since Nixon's 'Sealing' Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — One month after President Nixon ordered North Vietnam sealed off from outside military supplies, United States defence department officials see signs that Communist firepower may be slackening as a result.

While acknowledging they cannot prove any cause-and-effect link, officials cite as possible indicators:

- A drop in the volume of North Vietnamese artillery shelling in South Vietnam. For example, fewer than 300 rounds hit the besieged city of An Loc one day this week. Earlier, North Vietnamese guns pumped as many as 7,800 rounds into that provincial capital in a day's time.
- A decrease in surface-to-air-missile firings. Pentagon figures indicate a steep decline in SAM firings against U.S. planes throughout North Vietnam, to 39 in a recent week from 317 in one week in April.
- Senior military officers also suggest the mining of North Vietnamese ports and intense bombing of rail lines from China may have caused enough of a supply pinch to delay the long-expected climatic attack on the city of Hue. North Vietnamese attacks have been stalled elsewhere in South Vietnam in recent weeks.

STOCKPILED WEAPONS

U.S. experts say the North Vietnamese had to stockpile substantial amounts of ammunition and material in South Vietnam and the area just above the demilitarized zone before springing their offensive in late March.

But officials say the cutoff of any major new supply flow into North Vietnam from Russia and China, and the systematic bombing of internal North Vietnamese supply lines leading toward the fronts, may have prompted Hanoi's field commanders to conserve ammunition.

U.S. intelligence estimates say the movement of fresh war supplies down into the lower North Vietnamese panhandle has been slashed to only 18 tons a day recently from about 300 tons a day early in the offensive.

Nixon announced May 8 that he had concluded that "Hanoi must be denied the weapons and supplies it needs to continue the aggression" against South Vietnam. On Nixon's orders, entrances to seven North Vietnamese ports were plugged with air-dropped mines.

U.S. warships blocked coastal shipping and shelled military targets on shore. North Vietnamese rivers were mined to hamper supply-barge movements, and U.S. planes have sunk or damaged hundreds of such craft.

Heavy Bombs Blast Ulster

BELFAST (CP) — Two powerful bombs hit towns in Northern Ireland during the night. One devastated High Street in Lurgan, in County Armagh, 20 miles southwest of Belfast. The other destroyed the town hall of Newcastle, County Down.

British Army headquarters said an anonymous telephone caller warned that "several bombs" had been planted in the Newcastle administrative centre. Thirty minutes later one bomb, estimated at more than 100 pounds of gelignite, erupted, completely wrecking the offices.

The Lurgan bomb was planted in a stolen car parked off the main shopping centre. Three stores were demolished and at least another six extensively damaged, the army said.

There were no casualties in either blast.

Police and troops meanwhile searched for a member of the outlawed Irish Republican Army who escaped Wednesday from a Belfast hospital where he had been believed near death.
