My dear Madam Gotsziker,

I hope that,

although you do not know me, I may write to you, as to one who is indeed a friend of my husband, to thank you from my heart for all your great kindness to him, since he came, as a perfect stranger, to Buda Pesth. My husband has told me of all the trouble that you took on his behalf, and how you helped him in his difficulty, by finding for him a nice comfortable room, where he could stay, out of the heat of the town, and near to your house. All this is indeed good news for me — to know that he is happy, and among such real kind friends, while he is obliged to be away, so far and so long, from his own family.

He speaks with much gratitude and affection of your husband, and of the privilege of being able to study under him.

My husband asked me to send a photograph of himself for your kind acceptance, and as I had not one in the house, I have ordered it to be sent direct from the artist by myself, lest it should not arrive before he leaves you.

Will you kindly give my sincere regards to the Professor, and believe me to remain, dear Madam Götzeher,

yours gratefully & very truly, Margaret D. Gardner.
