

Advanced Virtual Manufacturing Lab for Research, Training, & Education

Hazim El-Mournayri

Purdue School of Engineering and Technology

The research formed a base for innovative technology that was used to develop a product on its way to commercialization. The new product provides effective and integrated tool for training and education in advanced manufacturing. It is based on sound e-learning pedagogy and highly effective and integrated virtual reality learning environment.