JUNE 1967

Margaret M. Cossman, President

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

It is always difficult to put words down on paper to express the feelings that occur in the course of a year as a result of the experiences encountered as President of this Alumnae Association. However, it is always a pleasure to greet the graduates of our School of Nursing by way of this periodical in which we attempt to bring you up to date on the happenings and changes which have taken place at Jefferson during the past year.

The Officers, Board Members, and Committee Chairmen have all combined their efforts with other persons in key positions in the hospital to make this book possible.

As you continue through the book you will realize that it has been an exciting year. And, as in the past, Jefferson is moving forward. There are many physical changes throughout the Hospital, and many new faces. Our primary goal of "the best possible patient care" has never changed, and all the additions to the hospital are making this possible in a way that is more varied and simpler, with modern techniques.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of you who made it possible for me to become President of our Alumnae Association for the past two years. My deep gratitude to the Officers, Board Members, Committee Chairmen and friends, who made the duties seem lighter, and my term in office a pleasant one.

Sincerely yours,

Margaret M. Cossman, Class of 1947

REPORT TO ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

The profile of Jefferson changes so much and so rapidly in the course of a year that it is difficult to remember all events in preparing a report for you. Many of you working in the Hospital are aware of most of these changes, but for those of you who return to Philadelphia only once a year or less often, Jefferson must seem strange. It is difficult enough for those of us who are on the scene to keep up with the progress of our Hospital and each day we learn of some new development.

The first part of this report concerns the School of Nursing, for you, as graduates of the School, will be most interested in its progress. As I informed you last year, we were all concerned at the impact the American Nurses' Association (ANA) Position Paper might have on recruitment for hospital sponsored nursing programs. You will recall that this Paper stated that all nursing education should take place in the educational system—professional nursing or the baccalaureate program in institutions of higher learning, technical nursing or the associate degree program in junior colleges, and vocational nursing in vocational schools. High school counselors were informed of this statement. Unfortunately, since the statement did not indicate a time factor, many high school counselors jumped to the conclusion that this change was to happen in the near future and so they have been advising their students not to apply for the diploma programs.

For the class entering in September 1966, Jefferson was more fortunate in its recruitment than were many other schools in the Philadelphia area—for we enrolled one hundred and twelve of our goal of one hundred and twenty. Other school reported deficits of twenty to fifty students. This year, however, we have not been so fortunate. To date, only seventy-two applicants have accepted appointments, while at this time last year over a hundred were enrolled. Other schools across the nation are reporting a similar problem and many diploma schools have been closed this past year. If this trend continues, the diploma program will be phased out much more quickly than anyone had expected. This will result in a tragic situation for a nation already experiencing an acute shortage of professional nurses, because diploma programs continue to supply 85% of the nation's nurses.

We wish to go on record, and hope that you will broadcast this information as widely as possible, that Jefferson has no intention of closing its diploma school of nursing so long as she can recruit students and maintain a qualified faculty! While we agree that nursing education, like all other professional education, should be conducted in colleges and universities, we do not support the phasing out of the diploma programs until, the nation has an adequate supply of nurses to take care of the nation's nursing needs. We believe that diploma schools will continue to be the major source of professional nurses for the foreseeable future!

However, we do support all programs in nursing and believe that basic professional nursing education should move forward, and like other professions, be conducted in institutions of higher learning.

You will be interested in Jefferson's plans toward this end. A new School of Allied Health Sciences will be built and established within the next two years. Since the need for health manpower is paramount, Jefferson recognizes a need to plan for, and to establish a new concept and model in the education of health manpower. Its goal is a School of Allied Health Sciences with two sub-divisions.

One division will educate high school graduates and others interested in seeking employment in one of the health occupations. Under this plan and in this School would be offered nursing education programs at various levels—practical nurse, diploma, and basic baccalaureate programs. Present thinking concerning other programs to be provided includes, for example physical and occupational therapy, and medical-laboratory technology at the baccalaureate degree level, and on the vocational level, dietary assistants, nursing assistants, operating room technicians, etc. Since Jefferson's vision is the establishment of The Thomas Jefferson University, the new School is oriented to this ideal. Dr. John Goldschmidt, Director of the Rehabilitation Center at Jefferson, has been named Dean of the School of Allied Health Sciences.

Probably by the time of the next Alumnae Luncheon, we shall have been revisited by the consultants from the National League for Nursing. It will be six years since our last survey for national accreditation of the School, and we are due a visit in 1968. Certainly new administrative offices will be a plus as an indication of the Hospital Administrator's support and recognition of the importance of the program.

Another forward step for the School of Nursing as well as the entire Medical Center is the construction of the combined Student Common and Basic Sciences Building. This structure extends on Locust Street from 10th to 11th Streets. The Department of Anatomy will occupy its space at the end of September this year. When completed, the lower floors will include a swimming pool, dining rooms with doors leading to outside patios, game rooms, a gymnasium meeting rooms, College Alumni Offices, a book store, and facilities for some overnight guests. The Board of Governors will have representation from our School of Nursing in the second and the third year class presidents. Jefferson is becoming more and more co-ed!!

Another new building is planned which has a direct effect upon our School. This is the Scott Memorial Library which will soon be rising at the site of the former Mohler Building on Walnut Street, next to the Student Nurses' Residence. In addition to the new library facilities for the College, it will also accommodate both the School of Nursing and the School of Practical Nursing library needs. It will provide as well library facilities for the new School of Allied Health Sciences. This building will also house certain administrative officers of the Medical Center.

Ground has been broken for the Orlowitz Residence Hall. This building will have one, two, and three-bedroom apartments for graduate nurses, residents, interns and medical students, and will be located on the other side of the Scott Memorial Library at the corner of 10th and Walnut Streets.

You will be interested in the events affecting the Hospital directly since this is the setting for the clinical program of the School. I am sure that most of you know of the resignation of Mr. W. W. Bodine, Jr., President of Jefferson, and the appointment of Dr. Peter Herbut, formerly Director of the Laboratories. Dr. Herbut's inauguration as President took place on May 3rd. This ceremony marked another first for Jefferson. It was most impressive.

Dr. W. Sodeman Dean of the Medical College, has resigned and will be replaced by Dr. William Kellow, now Dean of Hahnemann Medical College. While we will miss Dean Sodeman, Dr. Kellow has a fine reputation in the field of Education and will do a great deal for Jefferson.

We are expecting another change in July. Dr. John Gibbon is retiring, and Dr. John Templeton will replace him as Head of the Department of Surgery. Dr. Gibbon will be missed in many respects as a fine surgeon and as a great supporter of nursing education. Dr. Templeton is familiar to most of us. He was a member of the Department of Surgery at Jefferson for many years before accepting an appointment as Chief of Surgery at Pennsylvania Hospital. As you will recall, he is well known for his work in thoracic and cardiac surgery so that this specialty will progress even more under his leadership.

Miss A. Marcella Brown is the new Director of Nursing Service, filling the position vacated by Miss Elizabeth Sweeney when she assumed the position of Director of the School of Practical Nursing.

I have mentioned the new Emergency Department. This will be in the area of the old Pit and the School of Nursing and Nursing Service Offices on the first floor of the Thompson Building. An engineering feat has made three levels where before only two existed. A 20 seat auditorium with stage will occupy the ground level, and the second floor level, formerly the Pit with waste space around it, will accommodate the School of Nursing and Nursing Service administrative offices and the Nurses' Alumnae Office.

Sixth Floor, Main Building, will soon be closed temporarily to allow some renovation and construction. This measure is badly needed and everyone is looking forward to the refurbishing of the area. Air-conditioning of the Thompson Building with individual units is about 50% completed, and as the occupancy permits, the air-conditioning of the Foerderer Pavilion will begin in July.

Plans for a Coronary Care Unit are under way. In this Unit patients with cardiac problems will receive intensive care. A separate Inhalation Therapy Unit was established in February 1967. This Department is under the medical supervision of the Department of Anesthesiology, and is staffed with trained inhalation therapists who by July 1st will be giving patient treatments on a seven-day, twenty-four-hour basis.

The Nurses at Jefferson have not been ignored. Upon the recommendation of the Hospital Director, the Board of Trustees approved starting salaries from $400-$430 a month with percentage increases for everyone above the beginning level and effective in June 1967 the starting salary will be increased to $500 a month. We have been promised that Jefferson will keep pace with salaries paid by the other four teaching hospitals in the area.

In spite of salary increases and the employment of clerical persons in the form of Service Coordinators and Assistant Service Coordinators to relieve the nurses of non-direct care, a severe shortage of nursing staff exists at Jefferson. We hope that we may look to you to spread the word that Jefferson's salaries are comparable to those paid by the leading Philadelphia hospitals, and that everything possible is being done to make nursing more meaningful, and more rewarding. Perhaps some of you may know of someone who wishes to work part-time or full-time—if so, we hope you will encourage her to come to Jefferson.

Two dates I hope you will note—the School of Nursing graduation, Saturday, September 9th, at the Sheraton Hotel, and the graduation of the School of Practical Nursing, Tuesday, November 28th, at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel.

You will be interested to know that we now have another Nurses' Alumnae Association—that of our School of Practical Nursing. It is in its infancy but we hope that in time it will grow and function as well as does our Alumnae Association.

The students in the School have had a busy and exciting year, and the activities in which they have participated have been many and varied. You will be reading about them in the reports written by Miss Bowman and by the President of Student Council. We are happy with the wonderful results in State Board Examinations this last year, which reflect the quality of the education our students are receiving. The support of the Alumnae Association in sending selected students to their conventions and other student meetings has been most helpful in giving Jefferson's School the recognition among other schools which it deserves. So, you and the Faculty are to be congratulated upon the fine achievement of the School.

We need students in both programs and hope you will encourage qualified young women to seek a career in nursing, and especially in nursing at Jefferson. We have seen many changes over the past fifteen years, and expect to see many more in the years just ahead of us. These changes have and will continue to have great impact upon the progress of nursing education at Jefferson. With the changing scene in medicine and the need for nurses, we are sure that our School of Nursing will lead the rest in quality education.

We hope that the coming years will be successful and happy ones for all of our Alumnae members, and that some of you will return to share the exciting events at Jefferson.

MABEL C. PREVOST
Assistant Hospital Director

REPORT OF NURSING SERVICE

As my first year as Director of Nursing Service nears completion I welcome this opportunity to greet you and report on our progress in improving patient care. Nursing Service has had a busy year and looks forward to the coming year with eager anticipation in approaching new challenges.

Many new patient care programs have been implemented during the past year or are being planned for the immediate future, which place added responsibility upon Nursing Service. The current staffing situation remains about the same as it was this time last year as far as numbers of personnel are concerned. Therefore, in order to improve the quality of care to patients, in addition to meeting the needs of all new programs, we have had to take a fresh look at what could be done to assure better patient care.

Some of the changes in medical care are seen in the increased overall census, specific upswing in numbers of neurological and neurosurgical patients, improved program in the care of cardiac surgery patients, and new programs in pediatrics. In the process of development are the Children and Youth Program, which is a federally financed total patient care approach, and plans for a coronary care unit. The advent of a new professor of Surgery as well as a new Dean of the Medical School will affect the future nursing demands.

In order to find new ways of meeting these important changes, we have instituted several projects. One of these is the use of Team Nursing Concept, which provides that the Professional Registered Nurse is the "leader" of a "team" of auxiliary personnel for the care of a designated group of patients. All non-professional workers are under her direct supervision, with the patient as the prime factor in all decisions made by the professional nurse. This is being utilized on selected floors in all buildings, with improved patient and nurse satisfaction as a result. 9th Thompson is an "ambulatory unit" with only two Registered Nurses and the rest of the staff are Licensed Practical Nurses from approved schools of practical nursing.

The Nursing Research Project, which Miss Prevost reported to you last year, did not receive a federal grant, so that a different approach was initiated in the fall. The Project Director, Miss Dean Taylor, left in December. Now, Mrs. Betty Stone is working closely with Mr. Sam Ross in a newly created Hospital Department of System Improvement. They assist Nursing Service in solutions of problems both within Nursing Service and with other departments. The one completed project has been that of service Coordinators, which is a unit managerial system within the administrative organization of Nursing Service. It has been implemented on all Pavilion divisions, and Star and 12th Thompson. This project relieves the Head Nurse and Charge Nurses of non-patient care duties between the hours of 7:00 A.M. and 11:00 P.M., seven days a week. The program is still in the process of growth, but so far has been of value and well received. It is planned to implement this system throughout all nursing divisions during the coming year.

One of our exciting new projects is the appointment of Miss Connie Sierant as "Nurse Recruiter," effective May 29, 1967. Miss Sierant will devote her whole time in cooperating with the Personnel Department and Nursing Service in finding new ways to present Jefferson's many nursing assets to the "nurse community" so that we can attract well qualified people to the Jefferson family. Look for Miss Sierant and a Jefferson Booth at the A.N.A. and P.N.A. Conventions in the coming months.

In September, Nursing Service expects to move its offices to the second floor of the Thompson Building in a newly created area which was the "air space" at the top of the Pit.

A planned Staff Development Department within Nursing Service has been instituted with Miss Marion Ramp as Coordinator. Continual progress is planned for the future under an Assistant Director of Nursing. Mrs. Evelyn Curran continues to do a devoted job in the Nursing Service office as Assistant Director of Staffing.

Nurses' salaries "across the board" have been raised $135.00 per month since July 1, 1966, with Head Nurses' and Supervisors' salaries receiving proportionate adjustments. In addition, the merit raise system has been accelerated from seven years to five, and increments increased to 7 percent. Jefferson now has the highest salaries for tenure of any hospital in the Philadelphia area.

One of the long range programs that is slowly becoming a reality is the transfer of supervision responsibility from building to clinical areas. During the past year, a Pediatric Supervisor came on the Staff. Miss Pauline Shenk was given entire responsibility for Obstetrics and Gynecology. A Rehabilitation Supervisor was employed, and ICU, Recovery Room and Coronary Care Units were coordinated as one clinical nursing unit under the supervision of Mrs. Kathryn Popp. Plans are under way to specialize Medical Nursing and Surgical Nursing along the same lines.

Much progress has been made during the past year and we look forward to expanding programs as well as new and progressive ideas for the future. All of you are welcome to visit us at any time and plan to stay awhile! I shall look forward to meeting you.

A. MARCELLA BROWN
Director, Nursing Service

OPERATING ROOM

As a result of an Operating Room Committee recommendation of July 15, 1960 the operating room comprises a separate division within the hospital complex. We would like to take this opportunity to acquaint all of you with some of our functional aspects.

At present a staff of thirty-four graduate nurses occupies the following positions: director (1), supervisor (1), head nurses (3), assistant head nurses (3), heart-lung technicians (2), and general staff duty (24). In addition an ancillary staff of : departmental secretary (1), operating room technicians (17), nurses' aides (9), orderlies (5), and porters (3) endeavor to provide a smoothly functioning unit for the continuation of patient care when patients are in the operating room suite.

The number of surgical procedures performing between May 1966 and April 1967 totaled 11,210; this resulted in a mean average of 940 cases per month. Many changes have been instituted to provide a more smoothly functioning unit for our surgical staff. 4 O.R. now a specialty floor encompasses all gynecological, urological, ophthalmological, orthopedic, dental, and extra-corporeal cardiac surgery. 5 O.R. provides areas for general surgery, neurosurgery, plastic, and otolaryngological surgery. While all areas of surgery have had rapidly moving changes in procedure, Jefferson has been privileged to witness prime areas of new surgical techniques, e.g. kidney transplants. With the advent of stereotaxic procedures, viz. hypophysectomies, thalamotomies, and percutaneous cordotomies, the amount of neurosurgical procedures has doubled.

Acquisition of equipment in the operating room and other departments has enabled us to facilitate better total-patient care. Some examples of this are: an ultra-sonic cleaner (bringing instruments of improved precision to the O.R. table); an Ethylene Oxide Sterilizer (providing a much-needed supplement to steam and dry heat sterilization); and finally a conversion to dry-pack suture, pre-packed scapel blades, and an ever-widening usage of "disposables" to limit possibilities of infection.

A graduate entering the operating room for the first time is given a thorough seven months orientation rotation through all surgical areas. In-service is provided when possible in the surgical specialties; for example—bi-monthly conferences on the nature of and the methods requiring extra-corporeal circulation for the correction of cardiac defects are held by our heart-lung technicians. Great strides have been made in providing additional facets of graduate study for our nurses through attendance at and participation in local, regional, and national clinics, symposiums, seminars, and conventions at all levels. Examples of these are: Top management and Personnel Seminar in Erie, Pa. by the American Sterilizer Co.; American Heart Association Symposium at Lankenau Hospital; Middle Atlantic Hospital Assembly in Atlantic City; A.O.R.N. Convention in San Diego; and Regional Institute at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel. To keep abreast in all areas of nursing our staff is encouraged to obtain membership in the A.O.R.N. (Association of Operating Room Nurses) and the A.N.A.

We would like to extend an invitation to all Alumnae to reacquaint themselves with the operating room suite through a visit and/or direct any inquiries they might have to our office.

MISS EVANS, Director

SCHOOL OF PRACTICAL NURSING

The School of Practical Nursing of Jefferson Medical College Hospital which began its program with a class of twenty-two students on November 14, 1964 has now graduated three classes and a fourth class is scheduled to graduate on June 26, 1967. A number of the fifty-six graduates have been employed for varying periods of time by the hospital and we are quite proud of the manner in which they have been able to carry out their nursing service assignments.

A mandatory licensure law for practical nurses in the State of Pennsylvania has become effective as of January 1, 1967 which also requires twelve years of preliminary education as a pre-requisite. Although the majority of the school's applicants have met the latter requirement since the first class entered there are still a few of the older candidates who must secure an equivalency certificate by taking the State examination.

The School accepts both male and female students for this twelve month program and since the classroom area currently in use (third floor of the Junto Building, 12th and Walnut Streets) can only accommodate classes of 25-28 students there are two classes admitted annually usually in January and either June or July. The curriculum consists of 700 hours of classroom instruction and 1100 hours of clinical experience in the areas of medical-surgical, obstetric and pediatric nursing.

In conclusion, there is now in existence an Alumnae Association of the School of Practical Nursing which it is hoped will prove as effective as the School of Nursing Alumnae has been in working for its members.

ELIZABETH J. SWEENEY, R.N.
Director

JEFFERSON MEDICAL COLLEGE HOSPITAL SCHOOL OF NURSING

Annual Report to the Nurses' Alumnae Association—1967

What nursing education is today and what appears to be the trend for the next decade are the primary concern of the School of Nursing. This concern is reflected not only in its philosophy and objectives for the School's continuing diploma program but also in the School's relationship with other types of nursing programs.

The Conference on Nursing Education on April 10, 1967, held in the Board Room of Foerderer Pavilion, provided both hospital administrative personnel and the faculty of the School of Nursing with trends in nursing education as well as current patterns for nursing education programs. The nationally recognized nursing educators served as speakers and discussion consultants for the conference: Mrs. Alameda Martin, Assistant to the Dean, St. Petersburg Junior College, St. Petersburg, Florida; Miss Ruth Sleeper, formerly Director of Nursing, Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston; and Dr. Lulu W. Hassenplug, Director of the School of Nursing at the University of California, Los Angeles. They addressed the group, respectively, on the two-year associate degree program, the three-year diploma program, and the four-year baccalaureate program.

In the continuum of the needs for nursing, Jefferson's diploma program continues to serve the interests and needs of qualified high school graduates who desire an educational experience such as that centered in our medical college hospital. Nursing education students currently number 275, of which 112 were admitted in September 1966. Although the majority of our students are residents of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, such other states as Delaware, New York, Ohio and Florida are represented in our student body.

The students are kept busy with curricular as well as extra-curricular activities in the report of Miss Ledjie Baird, President of Student Council.

The faculty of the school develops and implements the curriculum within the framework of the School's philosophy and objectives as it provides experiences for students in classrooms and clinical situations. Faculty members are in the process of revising and updating their courses. The Curriculum Committee has been very active this past year in revising the instructional program in line with anticipated behavioral outcomes and opportunities are being provided for continuous correlation and integration between concepts and clinical application. The committee and other members of the faculty are analyzing and revising instruments for evaluating courses and clinical experiences.

In the spring of 1967 the in-service committee has provided for the faculty a course in the use of audio-visual materials in teaching, with Dr. Richard T. Weagley of West Chester State College as the instructor. Through this program, the individual faculty participants will have a better basic knowledge of the value of using visual aids in teaching and will, in turn, be able to use more effectively such aids as the overhead projector, flannelboards, bulletin boards, close-circuit television and videotapes, models and charts.

Faculty members have attended many workshops and institutes and the school was represented at the Council of Member Agency Meeting in St. Louis in February and in New York in May. Members also attended the National League for Nursing Convention and the national meeting of the Council on Medical Television in New York in May.

Because of the construction of a new Emergency Room in the first floor Annex, it was necessary for the School of Nursing administrative offices to be moved to the student residence. This has taken some of the students' recreational area, in addition to our increased need to use their recreation room as a classroom. We hope that both areas will again become available to students as the school acquires offices and classrooms more appropriate to its functions.

Our Class of 1966 taking the state board examinations for licensure as registered nurses did extremely well. We are delighted to have them and others to follow you as graduates of Jefferson's School of Nursing prepared with an understanding of basic principles of biological, physical, and behavioral sciences in addition to the skills necessary to implement nursing care for medical and surgical patients, maternity patients, well and ill children, and the mentally ill.

Commencement Exercises for this class were held in the Sheraton Ballroom on Saturday, September 10, 1966. Dr. Wililam W. Hagerty, President of Drexel Institute of Technology, was the guest speaker. His message to our 73 graduates was stimulating and timely. Sandra Kavalumis was the recipient of the Jefferson Medical College Hospital Nurses' Alumnae Prize and Judith Lawrence was the recipient of the Thomas A. Shallow Award.

We, at Jefferson, are proud of our graduates who, in turn, as alumnae have been such a potent factor in providing stimulation and direction in the development of the School of Nursing. We hope that you will continue to support us in the recruitment of students as well as faculty for our school, and that some of you might possibly be interested in joining the staff of the School of Nursing in the continuous development of your Alma Mater.

DORIS E. BOWMAN
Director, School of Nursing

ABSTRACTED FROM
PRESIDENT HERBUT'S ADDRESS
AT THE INAUGURATION EXERCISES
MAY 3, 1967

One of the many projects being planned for the immediate future is the development of a School of Allied Health Sciences. To this end, our Board of Trustees appointed Doctor John W. Goldschmidt Dean of the new school, effective January 9, 1967.

Everyone connected with the healing arts, either directly or indirectly, knows that shortage of manpower in the health field is extreme. And all indications are that it will become more acute! Today, the number of physicians in the United States is only 2 times that in 1900. We are graduating about 8,000 physicians a year. We should be graduating 9,000 physicians annually to fill only our present needs. The gap is widening! It is estimated that 12 supporting health workers are required for each practicing physician. In the last 10 years employment in the health field has grown 40% while total employment has grown only 14%. Between 1950-62 over 600,000 new jobs were created in the health field. The next 10 years will witness an additional gain of 1,000,000 persons in the same area. This National shortage is reflected in every State. And Pennsylvania does not escape! In the Philadelphia area alone, every hospital is screaming for help in every category. A survey in Delaware Valley in April 1966 revealed a projected need of 6,447 additional persons in only 13 selected job classifications. Each hospital is stealing workers from its sister institution by escalating salaries by shortening working hours, and by increasing side benefits. And, of course, such pilferage solves nothing! There is only one sane solution— increase our health personnel.

To accomplish this, training facilities must be increased in number and extended in scope and more students must matriculate and graduate. Our answer to the problem is a separate School of Allied Health Sciences to parallel our existing School of Medicine. Such a school will be unique, for it will include both the Health Professions and the Health Occupations and will be all encompassing.

The Health Professions will provide academic and practical training in such areas as anesthesiology, physician assistant, hospital administration, pharmacy, occupational therapy, physical therapy, speech therapy, recreational therapy, medical technology, x-ray technology, nursing, cardiology, medical records library, medical library, medical secretary, and inhalation therapy.

The Health Occupations will provide course work and on-the-job training toward developing a strong core of supervisory personnel in such areas as file clerk, ward clerk, dietary, housekeeping, laundry, laboratory attendant, orderly, maintenance personnel services, and purchasing.

The program will be accredited every step of the way by all pertinent accrediting agencies. It will encompass training at the level of certification, associate degree, baccalaureate degree, and graduate degree. The minimum matriculation requirements will be those of any liberal arts college. Thereafter, the student will be guided according to her or his abilities and desires. The program will be opened and lateralized allowing for free exchange of students between the Health Professions and the Health Occupations, depending upon the capabilities of the student, without loss of time or credits. The hub of the School will be a core curriculum common to all registrants. This core curriculum will then be embellished by special courses peculiar to the specialty at hand. The fundamental course work will be that of any liberal arts college. It will, of course, include the humanities and will necessitate the development of these disciplines at Jefferson. The science portion of the curriculum will be developed as outgrowths of the existing Basic Science Departments—using the facilities of these Departments in off semesters. Advanced students will pursue their Master's and Doctor of Philosophy Degrees in our expanded Graduate School.

Some of the many advantages in centralizing training for health workers in a single academic facility have already been stated or implied. But there are others! An all-encompassing center is more efficient in producing the kind and quality of workers needed for the variety of services in the health field. Instructional equipment and facilities may be shared by several classes enrolled concurrently. The library, laboratories, and teaching models are available to all students whether enrolled in nursing, dental technology, medical technology, x-ray technology, physiotherapy or any other similar program. Faculty, teaching in subjects such as anatomy, microbiology, biochemistry, physiology, pharmacology, clinical pathology, and community health, along with the costly accompanying resources, may simultaneously serve all groups. Teachers in these fields are highly specialized and scarce. They can be recruited more readily in a single facility. Such a center provides one location with which City, State, or Federal Health agencies may communicate more readily in relation to the training of students, need for trained workers, and placement of graduates. Short-term training courses, that are not continuous over the years, can easily be organized in a single center and can be operated on a temporary basis whenever necessary. Finally, applicants and enrollees have the opportunity to select from a broad spectrum of occupational and professional objectives and may be more readily counseled into the career best suited to their capabilities.

Aside from the course work as such, one fundamental concept we wish to stress is that all of the training beyond High School will be received in a medical atmosphere. If doctors and nurses and technicians are going to work together as closely and as effectively as they must, and if they are to have the mutual respect for each other that is so necessary in team work, it is important—most important—that they join forces as early in their training careers as possible. Our plan will accomplish this objective! We also hold that, since the training will be streamlined and better supervised under one umbrella, the end product will be superior. For these and other reasons, we are now firmly committed to the development of the program.

REPORT FROM AFRICA

“Uganda is a fairy tale. You climb up a railway instead of a beanstalk, and at the end there is a wonderful new world. The scenery is different, the vegetation is different, and most of all, the people are different from anything elsewhere to be seen in the whole range of Africa.”

WINSTON CHURCHILL

My African Journey (1908)

It is difficult to improve over Winston Churchill's first impression of Uganda. He undoubtedly had many areas of comparison, which is not true in my limited experience. I went to Ghana, West Africa in 1954 (then known as the Gold Coast) helped usher in Independence on March 6, 1957 and then left Ghana in 1962 for Uganda. I was to participate in my second set of Independence Ceremonies when Uganda gained her Independence on October 9, 1962. Why, may you ask, did I leave Ghana?

The Medical Mission Sisters, an international religious congregation, of which I am a member, extended their medical care to Uganda in 1962 and a pioneer team of ten Sisters went to Uganda to provide a Medical Service and School of Nursing in Fort Portal. Fort Portal, headquarters of the Western Province and of the Toro District, is beautifully located in the foothills of the Mountains of the Moon. Winston Churchill is so right in saying “a wonderful new world.” Our area is a place of steep hills covered by banana trees and elephant grass and on clear days we have magnificent views of the snow-covered peaks of the famous Mountains of the Moon—really like a fairy tale—here we are situated on the equator and yet seeing snow on the peaks of the Ruwenzori (Mountains of the Moon). A short drive south of Fort Portal is the famous Queen Elizabeth National Park with its 1557 square miles of teeming wild life. North of Fort Portal the road crosses the Northern extremity of the mountain and then drops 2000 feet into the Semiliki Valley. At the Northern end of the Ruwenzori is the valley of Bwamba and from the head of the Bwamba Pass there is a magnificent view of the Congo Ituri Forest and Lake Albert. Some of you may have read of Bwamba due to its tourist attraction of Hot Springs (thermal activity) and families of Pygmies. This is a bird's eye view of the area in which our 100 bed hospital and School of Nursing is located.

Our first year in Uganda was spent in having major renovations done to the existing buildings. In addition to the usual putting up walls, taking down walls, putting in doors and closing up other doors we also connected all buildings with covered connecting walks. Until this phase of the renovations was completed all patients to and from Surgery were carried on a stretcher. What did we do in the rainy season??—Cover the patient and stretcher with a heavy rubber sheet!! Need I state my delight when the connecting walks were completed. The renovations were very extensive as water, electricity, and sanitary facilities also had to be installed. During our first three years all of our electricity was supplied by our private generator. The Uganda Electricity Board now has a line in to Fort Portal from Jinja where the Owen Falls Dam generates electricity. Prior to U.E.B. we had electricity only in the evening and night. Now with 24 hour electricity we have been able to open our X-Ray and Dentistry Departments. The Laboratory has also been able to extend its services, particularly in chemistry and Bacteriology.

Prior to independence, Uganda had been a protectorate of Great Britain. Consequently, English is the governmental language and the language used in teaching in the Secondary Schools. Although we teach in English, it is essential that we all become proficient in Rutooro as only a small percentage of our patients speak or understand English.

The people are really loveable and most appreciative of the Medical Services provided and the School of Nursing. As Holy Family Hospital School of Nursing is the only school of Nursing in the Western Province, we have more applicants than we could ever admit to the School.

Although Ghana and Uganda are both in the African continent there are many differences in their way of life. The differences which had the greatest influence in our work was the basic mode of family life. Ghana is a country of many villages and consequently roads do connect the villages and as a result patients can be brought to hospital fairly readily. Uganda on the contrary has a very different pattern. Each family has its own small homestead surrounded by their Bitooke Plantations (Bitooke is similar to a large green banana and is the staple food). Villages as such, are very few. Coming into the hospital for treatment is very difficult with poor access to roads. In order to provide medical care for those who have great difficulty coming to us we have organized a Medical Safari. Each Monday evening a medical team (Doctor, Nurse—Midwife, 2 Nurses, dispenser, registrar, and driver) go to Bwamba an area 60 miles from Fort Portal with a population of 65,000 and no hospital and each Friday to Busangora which is 80 miles from Fort Portal and has 60,000 people. Although this Medical team works throughout the day it is impossible to examine and treat all who present themselves for treatment. One of the most difficult aspects of these Medical Safares is choosing the most ill to bring back for hospitalization. We are very limited space as our 12 seater Landover also takes all the Medical Supplies for each Safari.

Our School of Nursing graduated its first class of students on January 15th of 1967 following a three year training program. The nursing examinations are on a national level and are in theory and practice. The practical portion of the examination is given by a group of examiners chosen by the Uganda Nursing Council. After this examination the students receives her certificate as a Uganda Enrolled Nurse.

You may have read of the earthquake in Uganda in March of 1966. Our hospital received severe damage. Although we had to evacuate two of our wards we are extremely grateful that we had no patient injuries and no loss of lives on our property.

There is much I would like to share with you regarding my experiences, for it has been a privilege working in Uganda. I expect to be in the States until I complete studies toward my degree in Nursing after which I will return to Uganda. If you are looking for an interesting holiday, do come over.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

The commencement of the 1966-67 year brought a new "first" to the student nurses of Jefferson. A tea, sponsored by the Student Council of the Medical College, was held for the incoming freshmen medical students; all of the nursing students were invited to attend. Not only was it enjoyable for us, but it also allowed us to see another part of the Hospital since it was held in the Board Room in the Pavilion of the Hospital.

We had the occasion to reciprocate to the medical students' invitation in March through a mixer held in McClellan Hall for the freshmen medical students. With a band in the background, refreshments to one side, and dancing throughout, it proved to be quite a success—an occasion upon which the students reminisce with pleasure.

With the arrival of the freshmen students in September, the year's activities got into full swing. A warm welcome was given to the freshmen through a party held by their "big sisters" and a skit and pantomime depicting "Life as a student nurse." Soon to follow this, was a Halloween Party, held in October in the recreation room at which time refreshments were served and prizes were awarded to those with the best costumes.

Not to be outdone for social events was the month of December. A Student-Faculty Party sponsored by the faculty was held in the recreation room. The faculty provided the refreshments and we reciprocated with a hootenany for entertainment. A feeling of unity, along with the spirit of the season, seemed to be felt by all at this time. The season's spirits were further raised with our annual party held for the underprivileged children at the Segar Recreation Center in Philadelphia. A Christmas tree and an abundance of gifts were provided by the students. This was an affair providing as much, if not more, joy to the students' life, as well as the children's. The Christmas festivities were concluded with a Christmas Dance held in the recreation room—an occasion which highlighted the season for us. The Christmas decorations provided by the School of Nursing Department of the Women's Board really brought Christmas to us; all of the girls were very appreciative.

The Alumnae Association assisted with the necessary funds for five of our students to attend NSNA Convention which was held in New York City in May, and also for the five girls sent to the SNAP State Convention held at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in November. For this contribution, we extend our thanks to the members of the Alumnae Association. We also had the pleasure of being host to SNAP members from other schools when a SNAP meeting was held in our recreation room in February.

Our basketball team most definitely should be recognized for its outstanding season. The team certainly kept us on the edge of our seats during the game—especially during the playoffs for the championship. Although we were number three in the league this year, we feel that we were number one in spirit and drive to win. The team was supported throughout the season by the cheerleaders who took second place in the contest held at the championship game, adding another trophy to their collection.

March lent itself to the election of Miss Jefferson of 1967. Miss Marcia Kurtz, a Senior student, won the hearts of the judges and audience with her presentation of a lively charleston.

The year afforded many small activities, which certainly kept us busy. We especially enjoyed the opportunity to serve at several Alumnae meetings and to model paper dresses at a fashion show for the School of Nursing Department Women's Board. Fund raising through hootenannies (along with the sale of "goodies") in the recreation room and frequent raffles also kept us entertained.

The temporary loss of the music room—because of the necessity of moving the School of Nursing administrative offices into the Nurses Residence—and the necessity of using the recreation room as a classroom have curtailed some of our social freedom in the residence. We are, therefore, looking forward to the construction of the new school administrative offices in the Hospital and, hopefully, more adequate classrooms for our School.

As you can see, this year has been one filled with activity—one which is not yet finished as we are now planning for our Annual Spring Formal to be held at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel and for the Student Council elections, but to be held in June.

Students remain indebted to the Hospital, to the School of Nursing Department of the Women's Board, and the Alumnae Association for their support of our functions and gifts presented throughout the year.

NURSING SERVICE STAFF ASSOCIATION

The Nursing Service Staff Association has been busy as usual this year.

We started the year with a Welcome Tea for our new Director of Nursing Service, Miss A. Marcella Brown. It was there that each member of the Nursing Service Department met Miss Brown on a social basis.

Our other social activities and fund raising projects have included, the Annual Christmas Tea, and something new this year, a Saint Partcik Day Cocktail Party, then our Strawberry Festival which included a raffle for a $250.00 vacation check, basket of cheer, and a money bouquet. All of the activities were successful and enjoyed by all.

Miss Edith Tebbs, a retired member, passed away this year and a donation was sent to her Alumni Association in her memory. This was incorporated into our revised By Laws should this occur in the future.

In September the Annual Breakfast and Dinner was given by the Board of Trustees and it was enjoyed by all.

We were represented at the A.N.A. Convention in San Francisco and the N.L.N. Convention in New York. They were both educational and enjoyable for all.

As Jefferson continues to grow so does each and every nurse and through them the Association will continue to help them with this growing process.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE REPORT

The following functions were planned in the past year.

A Christmas Party and Buffet Supper was held in December 1966. The party was a great success and each guest was presented with a gift from Santa Stauffer. Chances were sold on a miniature Christmas tree donated by Theresa Poli, class of 1949. Proceeds from the chances were placed in the Building Fund.

On March 7, 1967 we had a very enjoyable Buffet Supper followed by an Auction Sale. Once again Mary Ann Stauffer played the role of auctioneer with great success. Proceeds from the Auction Sale were placed in the Building Fund.

The main event of the year our Annual Alumnae Luncheon was held April 29, 1967 in the Crystal Ballroom of the Benjamin Franklin Hotel. There were 401 Alumnae present. This showed an increase of 80 over last year.

For the first time the Alumnae Association had the graduating class of the previous year as their guests. There were 25 present. Special honor was paid to the following members:

1. J. Ellen Welch 1904 Oldest member present.
2. Henrietta Spruance 1921 In recognition of her loyalty and devotion to the Alumnae Assoc.
3. Alma Miller 1935 In recognition for her years of service as Secretary-Treasurer and her loyalty .
4. Margaret Summers 194 In recognition of ther loyalty and devotion to the Alumnae Assoc.

The Social Committee wishes to extend their sincere thank you to all members for their support in making our functions a success.

It has been my pleasure to be your Social Chairman the past two years and I sincerely hope I have served you well.
