

Alvarado et al, Kidney Medicine, "International Medical Graduates in Nephrology: Impressions of the Implications of Visa Status in a Cohort of Program Directors and Division Chiefs"

Item S1: ASN Survey: Perceptions of International Medical Graduate Visa Issues and Opportunities

Question	Yes	No
1-Do you currently have clinical/research fellows on J-1 or H-1B visas in your program? N=74	61 (82.43%)	13 (17.57%)
2-In the last 5 years, have you sponsored a waiver program for individuals on J-1 visas in the transition from trainee to faculty at your institution? N=74	36 (48.65%)	38 (51.35%)
3-In the last 5 years, have you sponsored individuals on H-1B visas for lawful permanent resident status (i.e., "green card") in the transition from trainee to faculty at your institution? N=74	47 (63.51%)	27 (36.49%)

Question	Median score (25 th to 75 th percentile)
4-On a scale from 0 to 100, how knowledgeable are you about J-1 visa waiver programs and/or lawful permanent resident status? N=74	52.5 (39.8 – 77.5)
5-On a scale from 0 to 100, how likely is your institution to sponsor a J-1 visa waiver program or sponsor an individual for lawful permanent resident status? N=74	50.0 (17.0 – 75.0)
6-On a scale from 0 to 100, how limiting do you perceive a trainee's visa status to be for transition to practice? N=73	53.0 (46.0 – 82.0)

Question 7: How would you prefer to receive information that could benefit your fellows about sponsoring a J-1 visa waiver program or sponsoring an individual for lawful permanent resident status? N=74 ( Check all that apply )
Webinar	32 (43.24%)
Live Sessions	14 (18.92%)
Email	45 (60.81%)
Online Community Posting	39 (52.70%)
Other	1 (1.35%)