WOMEN'S SYMP'Y ORCHESTRA PLAYS TO LARGE AUDIENCE

Philadelphia Musical Organization
Presents Varied Program on Tuesday Evening

CIRO DE RITAS, BARITONE

Students and friends of Ursinus, Tuesday evening, had the pleasure of hearing the Women's Symphony Orchestra of Philadelphia, under the direction of J. F. W. Leman. Attracted by the opportunity of hearing this fine group of musicians, a large assemblage gathered in Bomberger Hall. The orchestra was assisted by Ciro De Ritas, a baritone. He was accompanied by Prof. Thunder.

The first of the seven numbers on the program was "Fingal's Cave," by Mendelssohn. This overture records the impressions of the great composer after his visit to the famous grotto on one of the Hebrides off the west coast of Scotland. This selection was followed by a baritone solo, the "Prologue" from "Pagallicci," by Leoncavallo, sung by Ciro De Ritas.

The "Symphonie Pathetique" (second movement), by Tchaikowsky, was the next number. Originated while the composer was on a journey to Paris, only a year before his death, it seems to convey his philosophy of life in musical terms. Man tries to be gay and enjoy his fleeting existence but through it all there is heard the undeniable beat of a resistless fate against which the struggle seems vain indeed.

This symphony was followed by the "Minuet for Flute and Orchestra" from Suite "L'Arlesienne," by Bizet. The audience was especially delighted by the beautiful notes of the flute soloist, Miss Eva Small.

The fifth number consisted of three baritone solos by Ciro De Ritas. They were: "Farewell," by Russell; "Until," by Sanderson, and Toselli's "Serenade." The hearty acclaim accorded the soloist by the audience was highly deserved by his fine rendition.

Two popular transcriptions were next rendered. The first, "Country Gardens," by Grainger, was an old English Morris Dance Tune known as the "Handkerchief Dance." This was followed by Ketelby's composition, "In a Persian Market." It depicts the approach of the camel-drivers, the cries of the beggars, and the entrance of the princess who comes to watch the jugglers and the snake-charmers. The passage of the Caliph through the market interrupts the entertainment. The beggars are heard again

URSINUS GLEE CLUBS

SING AT WERNERSVILLE

The men's and women's glee clubs of Ursinus College and the Haydn Choral Society of Pottstown sang at Wernersville under the leadership of Jeanette Douglas Hartenstine, on Wednesday evening, April 29.

The first group was composed of "Daybreak" by Fanning, and the "Nymph and Swain" by Candish. The entire chorus took part in these. Then followed "Venezia," by Nevin, including "Morning in St. Mark's Square," "In a Gondola," the "Love Song," and "Farewell," sung by the women members of the Haydn Choral Society assisted by selected women singers from the Ursinus Women's Glee Club. Minnie Just Keller was at the piano.

The Ursinus College Men's Glee Club, assisted at the piano by Alfred Charles Alspach '33, favored the audience first with the "Winter Song," by Bullard. Nevin Detwiler '32, John Yergat '34, Clinton Felton '31, and Webster Brown '33 sang "The Gypsy Trail," by Galloway. Selected singers gave "At Father's Door" and "Fireflies," Russian Folk Songs; "Temple Bells," by Finder, and Atkinson's the "Mulligan Musketeers." These numbers were greatly appreciated by all for the men seemed to be enjoying themselves as much as the audience.

The closing act was a "Scene in Vienna." Card tables were set up here and there on the platform. The women and some of the men of the entire chorus were seated at these tables, while the rest of the men were grouped back of them. Schubert's "Moonlit Meadows," "To Vienna," by Douglas, and Strauss' "Greeting to Spring" (Blue Danube) were the compositions presented. Miss Keller was again at the piano. This made a lovely conclusion to the performance.

URSINUS STUDENTS AND ALUMNI

Tuesday afternoon, May 5, the 1931 Ruby will be on the campus for distribution. By far the largest, most unique, and most complete yearbook this campus will have ever seen, it furnishes a record—the only permanent, lasting record Ursinus students have—of student life and activities. Despite the increased size and multiplied features the price remains the same as last year—$4.50. So be ready with the money or at least a substantial deposit when the sale opens.

Many alumni have already expressed their desire for a volume of the 1931 Ruby. Any others wishing one send name, address, and a check to Maxwell E. Kuebler '31.

URSINUS HOST TO MONTGOMERY SCHOOLS

Many County Schools Enter Students in Academic and Athletic Events on Saturday

UNFAVORABLE WEATHER

Ursinus College was host to the high schools of Montgomery County in their seventh annual May Day Festival, last Saturday, May 2. Although the weather was unfavorable, about three thousand children, parents, and teachers attended the event. Gay balloons, vendors, barking the merits of their respective wares—pop corn, soda, sandwiches, ice cream, candy, oranges and apples—lent color to the drab day.

Bomberger Hall was used for the Art, Home Economics, and Shop Work Exhibits. The Bookkeeping, Typewriting, and Spelling Contests were also held there. One of the features was a Fashion Show held in Bomberger about noon. The Singing and Declamation Contests took place in the gymnasium.

Four new records were established in the track and field events. New marks were created by Wendall Hibbsman, Ambler youth, in the pole vault; Milton Sauerland, East Greenville, in the half mile run, and Lansdale's crack medley relay team clipped one full minute off the existing relay mark. The fourth record was established by Russell Lobbs, Pennsburg star, who twice circled the soggy oval in 2 min. 15.9 sec. for a new mark in the half mile run.

The College, as was customary, joined in the awarding of banners.

CANTERBURY PILGRIMS

PORTRAYED IN PAGEANT

This year the May Pageant is based upon Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales." In order to appreciate this fourteenth century setting, some knowledge of the background of "Canterbury Tales" is needed.

In 1170, Thomas Becket was cruelly murdered in the Cathedral at Canterbury where he had been archbishop. After Becket's death, English people revered him as a martyr, and from that time on, pilgrimages were made to Canterbury Cathedral. Some pilgrims came to worship at the Thomas Becket shrine; others came to be healed by the miraculous power which the touching of the crypt was supposed to give.

Thus the urge to "go on pilgrimage" lived on into the fourteenth century. About this time, Chaucer wrote of these pilgrimages in the "Canterbury Tales." All types of personalities were pictured there—types which are found even today. To ease the weariness of the long journey, Chaucer arranged for each pilgrim to tell a story. One of the most interesting tales was that told by the "knyght"—the romance of Emily and Palamon. Those who visit the East Campus of Ursinus, May 16th, 3 p. m., will celebrate May Day with the Canterbury Pilgrims by listening to the "Knyght's Tale."—M. B. H., '31.

URSINUS REPRESENTED AT WEST CHESTER CONFERENCE

Helpful Group Discussions and Lectures Attended by Delegates

INSTRUCTIVE WEEK-END

Ursinus College representatives to the State Y. M. C. A. Conference would not have missed the opportunity given them to receive such good training as they obtained at West Chester State Teachers' College this last week-end.

Among the some fifteen delegates from Ursinus were Evelyn Henricks '32, President of Ursinus Y. W. C. A., and John Sando '31, president of the Eastern Pennsylvania State Student Council.

The genuine welcome of all West Chester students and faculty made everyone feel friendly.

The most outstanding personality of the week-end was that of Rev. Franklin J. Kennedy, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, adjoining the Yale Campus, New Haven, Conn. Because Rev. Kennedy does take such an earnest part in campus activities he cannot help but understand the students and student life of today. With him the Conference members discussed the campus problems of today. Rev. Kennedy remarked that the key to most problems, these days, is friendship. With friendship one is not necessarily a policeman to his fellow men but such a strong personality that he sets an example to his friends. The need of thinking of the other persons more than one's own petty personal power was stressed.

Dr. W. E. Uphause, who is now doing special work in character education at Yale, outlined the work of the Y. M. and Y. W. of tomorrow. Dr. Uphause gave four factors that are necessary in the best cabinet groups of today. These were: Awareness, oneness, adventure and right perspective.

For a woman to understand girls' problems, one who is a mother with a fine family, and a charming personality, there could have been no better than Mrs. Kathren Holsopple, a lecturer and counselor at Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association, Camp Kanestate. Mrs. Holsopple

HERBERT HOWELLS

SPEAKER AT VESPERS

Herbert Howells '23 spoke at Vespers, Sunday evening, May 3. He used as an illustration a baseball game. The world is the diamond, we are all on the team, the opposition is the force of evil—devil, Satan, or tempter; the impartial referee is God. Everyone has an opportunity to "bat" and when you are on base, all your team-mates will co-operate with you.

Decision is the first important step in the game. You must decide which balls you will attempt to hit. You must learn to say "I will" or "I will not." A decision is important; but when you have made your decision, perseverance must follow. Many students graduate from college with a fine purpose for their life, but some are easily turned aside. Consecration will give us strength to go a little farther. Sacrifice often brings us "home." Christ made the supreme sacrifice and to Him we owe our gratitude and devotion.

Kenneth Alexander '31 read as a Scripture lesson, Paul's description of a soldier of God and his equipment.

CAMPUS IMPROVEMENT

The campus at Sprankle Hall has recently been improved. Over fifty pieces of shrubbery have been planted. Mr. and Mrs. Barnes donated two Norway spruce trees, while two pink dogwoods were presented by Mr. Barnes and Mrs. Webb.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASSES

HOLD STEAK ROAST

Professor Sheeder's and Professor Carleton's Sunday School classes enjoyed a steak roast on the island in the Perkiomen last Thursday evening. There were about fifty young people present. A baseball game was held between a boys' team and a girls' team. The party amused itself singing, telling ghost stories and playing a victrola. Steaks were roasted, potatoes baked, and lemonade served.

FAST TIME IN SPRINTS

The Bear track team lost a hard-fought dual meet to the strong Swarthmore team on Wednesday on the latter's track. The final score was 73 5-6 to 52 1-6. Despite the fact that the personnel of the team was greatly strengthened by the addition of several members of the Freshman squad, the Bears were forced to bow in defeat to a superior and more experienced team.

"Kern" Black led the Ursinus point getters with eleven tallies as a result of taking two first and one third place. The yearling members of the team proved their worth by placing in every event they entered. "Irv." Sutin easily won the two mile run, while Cotetta, Stabert, and Tropp helped to add to the total of Ursinus. Five first, seven second, and a like number of third places were captured by Coach Rubin's proteges.

FROSH TRACK TEAM

AT CONFERENCE MEET

The Frosh Track Team competed in the annual Eastern Collegiate Freshman Conference at Lancaster, home of F. and M., on Saturday. However, they did not fare so well for they finished last with a meager sum of 15 points. F. and M. took the honors with a 73 point total. In between the victors and the Bear yearlings were Gettysburg with 37 and Dickinson with 29 tallies.

The Cubs were greatly handicapped by the loss of several men due to sickness and by the lack of efficient entries in the field events. However, "Mike" Cotetta and Irvin Sutin pulled off brilliant individual performances in winning the mile and two mile runs respectively. "Barney" Stabert and John Clark each took a third place, the former in the half mile and the

FULL ATHLETIC PROGRAM

SCHEDULED THIS WEEK

The sport fan of Ursinus will find this week filled to overflowing with various activities of an athletic nature. No matter what his desires are along this line, they should certainly be satisfied by the numerous events scheduled, both at home and away.

To begin with, Tuesday finds our newly inaugurated Tennis team traveling to Delaware where they meet the University in the game made famous in late years by Tilden and others. Delaware has always been more or less of a jinx to Grizzly teams, and the racqueteers are out to make and change history.

Wednesday is the outstanding day on schedule with Varsity and Freshmen track meets, and men's and women's tennis matches. The varsity cindermen encounter a strong outfit

Ursinus Noses Out L. V. C.

Staging a sensational three-run rally in the eleventh inning, the Ursinus Bears turned in their fourth victory of the current campaign. This one was at the expense of Lebanon Valley, who bowed to the might in the arm and bat of Toy Karpinnen by the score of 8-7. It was a more or less personal triumph for the blond hurler, for, with two on base in the final frame, he doubled to center, driving in the tying and winning runs.

"Ott's" Paris started on the mound but had to be relieved when the wind and cold weather continued to reduce his effectiveness considerably. However, not so with Karp. The latter pitched in the best form he has shown this year. Fourteen L. V. batters were sent back to the bench with the "strike out" look on their faces. Except for momentary let-downs in the seventh and eleventh he hurled commendably.

The teams battled evenly for ten stanzas with the score being knotted most of the time. However, the final round proved to be a wild and heart-throbbing as well as nerve-wrecking affair. The Blue and White started off by scoring two runs and for the time being defeat stared the home-sters in the face, but the might of their bats changed the tide in the final half. Eachus, Dennis and Meckley hit consecutive singles, the former scoring. Hunter dumped a neat sacrifice bunt placing men on second and third and the stage was all set for Karp. He responded in the aforementioned manner.

"Don" Sterner cashed in with his first homer of the season in the open

TENNIS TEAM DROPS

FIRST TILT TO DREXEL 2-4

Bear racquet wielders dropped the initial engagement of the year at Drexel on Friday 2-4.

"Snaps" Snyder, veteran of last year, occupied the first court, while Captain Dotterer cavorted on the second. Goldberg and Massey, who held third and fourth courts respectively, performed well in their baptism to tournament play, Jules taking his tiff and Massey dropping a fierce three set battle. Dotterer and Goldberg paired for the first doubles and were able to garner the final point for Ursinus.

The score:
Snyder lost to Kingdon 0-6, 0-6.
Dotterer lost to Tuft 2-6, 3-6.
Goldberg defeated McNutt 6-2, 6-0.
Massey lost to Bashore 6-1, 3-6, 3-6.
Dotterer and Goldberg defeated Nicholson and Compton 5-7, 6-3, 6-3.
Snyder and Massey lost to Kingdon and Tuft, 5-7, 1-6.

PERSONALITY CONTACTS

The desire for social relationships is inherent in most of us. To-day we have a new term, "personality contacts," to express this inclination for the meeting of individualities. The desire to establish personality contacts is both laudable and laughable as exemplified in ordinary life. Have you ever paused to think of the part "trick propaganda" plays in modern life, induced by the compelling desire for personality contacts? Trick words, of pristine beauty and significance, tend to become trite and commonplace through too frequent and indiscriminate use or through casual misuse and abuse. The temptation to juggle words is subtle. We have such words as essential, dynamic, elusive, cute, neat, keen, personality, psychic and countless others which appear on parade in pulpit, on rostrum, in story and in song until they become hopelessly hackneyed.

Trick titles of books, designed to attract attention and notoriety, are a bid for personality contacts. We have such appealing titles as "Gay Agony," "Night Seed," "The Rain Girl," "Cobwebs and Cosmos," "Damned Little Fool," "Water Gypsies," "Dark Laughter," and the "Goose Man." Imagine the reviewer, scanning such titles, becoming curious as to the content, intrigued into a perusal and finally with "Dark Laughter," consigning "Damned Little Fool," "The Rain Girl," and "Water Gypsies" to "Cobwebs and Cosmos," thoroughly convinced that "the author who voluntarily tortures his phrases must involuntarily torture his audiences."

The trick letter is another modern development of the desire to establish personality contacts. The family butcher perchance indites a letter to Mrs. Brown, somewhat in this wise, "Dear Mrs. Brown:—Every time I see your name I experience a feeling of friendliness," etc. The jeweler and the merchant address the sweet girl graduate, expressing a compelling interest in the one about to enter life's arena and protesting a lasting concern in her career. So we might easily multiply letters of this type "ad infinitum".

Advertisements, by means of trick phrases, guard us against the discomfort and unpleasant consequences of certain very prevalent (so it seems from the emphasis placed upon them) physical afflictions. We learn that children dislike their parents, an ancient king left his wife, the professional man loses his practice, and a great little girl can't get her man—all these dire consequences arise from failure to protect oneself against the insidious scourge, "halitosis". Furthermore, although your partner, whose "training table is the Ritz," is "dancing with cheers in her eyes," she undoubtedly has "athlete's foot." When you have taken the necessary precautions against these afflictions the spectre, B. O., casts its ugly shadow. "Your friends may think . . .," but to be polite they say . . ." The "ads" also guide us on the long road to success, business and social. Clip a coupon, spend fifteen minutes a day, and then surprise your friends "who laugh when you get up to speak" or "sit down at the piano". Trick phrases, "It's toasted," "They're mild but they satisfy," "I'd walk a mile for a Camel," "Not a cough in a carload" have made money for tobacco magnates. One brand of cigarettes has recently made a renewed bid for popularity with the magic words of universal appeal, "Keep kissable".

Having painted a picture of the ridiculous side of the present day attempts to establish personality contacts, let us now contemplate the laudable efforts expended for a like purpose. From the cradle to the grave, technically speaking, our real medium of exchange is personality contacts, physically, mentally, or spiritually attained. We establish these contacts by all our social relationships. What better unit of organization exists than the small college in which to establish personality contacts? Here are enacted, by a small group, in a limited time and prescribed space, the short triumphs, the long defeats, the mistakes, the bewilderments which are experienced anywhere, anytime throughout life.

The friendships we make while in college mean far more than temporary relationships. Their influence lasts a lifetime. While in college, to live vitally, and to adventure bravely is to form personality contacts for life.

E. H. M., '33.

WE VOTE AGAIN

Once more, the attention of the men's student body is called to the perennial problem of choosing a new student council. This task, coming when it does with the increasing number of activities and spring weather, is apt to be neglected and not to receive the consideration and thought its importance demands. This may seem to be attaching undue weight to an event which is considered lightly by so many at college. However, the selection of new councilmen is one of the most important duties and obligations, which the men students at Ursinus have, and this should be realized in the nominations next Monday and in the elections that follow.

In all elections of this sort, where the voters are members of various organizations and are influenced by friendships of one kind or another, it is not unreasonable to remind them to think while voting. There is no need to dwell upon this problem, the nature of which is quite clear. However a caution is necessary; that is, cast your vote, uninfluenced by fraternity, group or other associations, for the man whom you honestly think best fitted for the position. Especially is this necessary in regard to fraternities which are comparatively new on the campus, and whose position is yet to be determined. They certainly should not be political units seeking representation. A greater loyalty to the College and incidentally to the fraternity is to keep incompetent men off the council.

As the council is now organized, it is a group representing the students and handling for them problems in which they are concerned. So, in elevating certain men to such positions, the student body is investing them with power to think and act for them in all cases that may arise. That the selection of those to do this work should not be made hastily, is surely evident. Then too, the power of the council has been growing of late years, so the problem of choosing it has naturally become greater. As the work of this student governing body has changed, from that of a mere disciplinary court to an organization interested in constructive reform, the need of men able to think and plan has become greater. These requisites should be considered. Look over your classmates and pick out, not those who you know will make every Freshman carry matches, but those who will work in a larger sense for a greater Ursinus.

DR. BAUGH, OF U. OF P., TO LECTURE WEDNESDAY

The English Group, at their meeting Wednesday evening in Bomberger, will have the unusual pleasure of listening to A. C. Baugh, professor of English at the University of Pennsylvania. It is not often that Ursinus students have the opportunity of hearing so interesting a speaker, and a man so well known in his field of work as Prof. Baugh. It is a distinct honor for the College to have a man, occupied as he is with his work, to take time to come here. It is through Prof. McClure's efforts that the speaker has been scheduled.

There are few things you can do that will give the folks as much pleasure as a telephone chat with you; and mighty few that will give you such a thrill!

All it takes is a few minutes of your time; a very small bit of effort, and a tiny share of your pin money. (Charges can be reversed, for that matter.)

Go to a telephone tonight, give your home telephone number to the Operator—and in a jiffy you'll be home again.

The Tower Window

HON HINDENBERG! Had he come to his end with the War he would be forgotten. Having been permitted to live these critical years since the War came to its close he is honored and respected by the whole world. As head of the German Republic he has shown that he possesses abilities far above and beyond those of the soldier. Defeat in war could not crush him, a change in government could not prejudice him. With a composure hardly to be expected, he rose above the ruins of the old Empire and laid a steady hand on the helm of Germany's new ship of state. At first the world doubted, but such was his breadth of view, his wisdom, his charity, that gradually faith in him became inspired in lands far beyond the borders of his own country, and today he is one of the grand old men of our times.

Thus he spoke into far distant ears when recently he addressed a delegation of students from the University of Berlin—to the ears, I trust, of the students and graduates of Ursinus. One of our great city dailies, speaking editorially of his remarks, says, "It came with solemn impressiveness when he adjured the young men not to follow the example of so many of their fellow citizens who are abandoning the Church, but to hold fast to the faith of their forefathers. With the accumulated wisdom of four score years and from a retrospect of war and peace that few men in history could parallel, President von Hindenberg put into one short sentence the whole philosophy of religion as it applies to normal living. He said 'Our daily routine brings its fill of worries and burdens, but the blessings which our faith gives us will help us to bear them.'" "Once again," says the editor, "the distinguished old soldier-statesman stands out as the personification of conscience and helps the world to a better understanding of his granite-like inflexibility in the discharge of sworn duty."

Students in America as well as students in Germany may well accept the counsel of this sage of the Fatherland and follow his example.

WOMEN'S DEBATING CLUB MEETS AT MAPLES

The weekly meeting of the Women's Debating Club was held at Maples Hall on Monday night, April 27. The name of Gladys Ulrich '33 was officially placed on the roll.

In the absence of the president, Dorothy Sanderson '31 presided over the meeting. The feature of the evening was the debate—Resolved: That Ursinus faculty should attend summer schools to take extended work. Margaret Fiamingo '33 and Esther Lightner '34 supported the affirmative arguments, while Gladys Ulrich '33 and Rebecca Romberger '33 firmly upheld the negative side—in fact, they defended it so gallantly that they subjugated the affirmative in an overwhelming defeat.

While the refreshments were being served, the club discussed problems for next year's debates. Dr. White was the faculty advisor present.

NOTICE TO ARCHERS

Miss Mary Brendle '33, manager of archery, announces that all girls interested in that sport should report to the hockey field from four to five o'clock. New equipment is being secured and plans made for an interesting season.

GAFF FROM THE GRIZZLY

The Frosh Baseball team played a Military School at Wayne on Thursday. Nice boys, them cadets. They locked the gate, had about three hundred men with guns and swords walk around and then thanked the Cubs for returning the towels.

We had a little incident in P. Citta's past all ready for publication, but five bucks is five bucks.

This column extends what sympathy it has left to Charles Spiegel Dotterer on his misfortune in not finding the Montgomery County cops as gullible as some of our professors.

To whom it may concern: Chic Roberts attended chapel twice on Thursday.

We understand Billie Petcher suggested boring a hole in the bottom of the boat the other night for the purpose of letting the water out.

ALUMNI NOTES

Ex-'99—Dr. Albert Laros, a prominent physician and civic leader of Northampton, Pa., died at his home in that borough, April 5, following a heart attack. His three brothers, Rev. Edwin J. Laros, Rev. Frank P. Laros, and Rev. Malcolm Laros, who preceded him in death, were graduates of Ursinus. His sister Katherine E. Laros, was also graduated from Ursinus, while his daughter, Bertha, is a student in the sophomore class.

'05—Mrs. Bertha Evelyn Shippe Miller, who recently injured herself in a fall, is now convalescing at home.

'07—The Rev. T. A. Alspach, D. D., of Lancaster, will speak at the theological conference during the commencement season of Central Seminary.

'09—The Rev. W. Sherman Kerschner, D. D., of York, will be the speaker at the meeting of the alumni association of Central Theological Seminary at Dayton, Ohio, on May 7.

MIRIAM FISSEL '31 LEADER AT Y. W. C. A. MEETING

Miriam Fissel '31 led the Y. W. C. A. meeting which was held last Wednesday in the Y. W. room. Following a short song service Martha Moore '34 read "The Psalm of Life" by Longfellow. Ruth Haines '34 then read quotations from Hubbard's Scrap Book. Miss Fissel gave a very impressive talk which she named "Togetherness." She read an excerpt from "The Girl's Everyday Book" as a supplement to her first remarks. The selection laid emphasis on the fact that unity is symbolical of harmony.

CO-ED RACQUET WIELDERS DEFEAT BEAVER 3 TO 2

The Women's Varsity Tennis Team continued on its successful way with a 3-2 victory over the Beaver College women on Thursday afternoon, April 30. Billie Strickler found her stride again and made up for last week's defeat with a vengeance. Monte Blew paired with Billie to take the first doubles match with comparative ease. Second doubles were won by Beaver, due to the brilliant stroking of Dorothy Sterner, who earlier defeated Captain Anne Connor in singles. The results of the match were:

- Strickler, U.-A. Parey, B., won by U. 6-1, 6-4.
- Connor, U.-Sterner, B., won by B, 6-1, 6-2.
- Blew, U.-McCreary, B., won by U., 6-1, 6-2.
- Strickler-Blew, U.-A. Parey-M. Parey, B., won by U., 6-2, 6-3.
- Roth-Wheatley, U.-Sterner-McCreary, B., won by B., 6-1, 6-2.

INDIA, TOPIC AT INT. RELATIONS CLUB

The semi-monthly meeting of the International Relations Club was held in the reception room of Shreiner Hall Wednesday evening, April 29. In addition to the regular members there were in attendance quite a few guests. The discussion was interesting; the fellowship warm.

After announcing the topic for discussion, "India Today," Gosta Schuyler '31, president of the club, introduced the first speaker of the evening, Aram Parunak '33. Mr. Parunak's discourse on the general conditions existing in India was lucid due to his utilization of several good illustrations. The next phase of the subject, politics, was capably treated by the chairman, himself. His topic dealt for the most part with the international relations between India and England. "Ghandi," his character sketch and political achievements, received treatment by Harriette Drysdale '31, while Beatrice Lesser '32 followed with the economic and social conditions in India.

Dr. White, the hostess, spoke briefly on "Indian Poetry," taking the works of Tagore as representative of the time. The poet, as a boy, displayed a great love for music and at a very early age showed poetical inclinations and desires. His fame became established at the appearance of his first novel when he was nineteen years of age. All through his life his desire had been to discover the soul and only when he had attained this was he contented. Using her typical method of illustration, Dr. White read some of the best portions of Tagore's works. He wrote his prose and poetry just as the thoughts came to him, but nevertheless his poetry is beautiful, symbolic, and religious in character.

Eugene Miller '33 closed the discussion with a talk on Indian art, illustrating his thoughts by means of pictures in several periodicals. A social hour ensued during which time tasty refreshments were served.

DON'T TAKE our word for it, switch to Camels for just one day then quit them if you can. The moment you open the package you'll note the difference between fresh humidor packed Camels and dry-as-dust cigarettes. Camels are supple yet firm to the touch. Stale, dried-out cigarettes crumble and crackle when pressed. But the real convincer is to smoke Camels. Every puff is a sheer delight of cool, mellow mildness; the Camel blend of choicest Turkish and mellowest Domestic tobaccos, kept in prime condition by moisture-proof Cellophane sealed air-tight.

ing frame. This drive was responsible for three runs. Lodge and Eachus got three safe blows apiece to lead in this department. Reeder, Shortledge and Light led the attack for the visitors, the former getting a home run.

As an additional feature, the Dennis boys pulled their annual family act. "Dill" played first base for Ursinus and his brother cavorted in the same position for the invaders.

Ursinus-Rutgers

Ursinus rallied in the late innings on Friday to nose out Rutgers by a 5-4 score. This marked the Bears' fifth success in seven starts.

The hitting of "Don" Sterner was a feature of the game. The little second baseman smacked his second homer in as many games. In addition to his four ply swat he also nicked Janin, Rutgers hurler, for two lousy singles.

Although he got off to a wobbly start, Hunter settled down and held the enemy in check most of the time. Rutgers staged a wild rally in the last inning but was stopped short after scoring one run.

A rare and complicated double play in which two Rutgers men were caught off bases and tagged out by Bear infielders, was the fielding highlight. Meckley pegged to Coble and caught an opponent flat-footed between second and third.

Table with columns for player names and statistics (AB, R, H, O, A, E) for Ursinus and Rutgers.

VALLEY FORGE OVERCOMES

YEARLING TEAM 4 TO 3

The Frosh lost another heart-breaking tussle on Thursday, this time to Valley Forge Military Academy by the close score of 4-3. A home run by Lockwood, former Lower Merion star, in the fifth inning, proved to be the margin of victory.

Both pitchers were stingy with their hits but Lawrence had much better control. Gilbert, Keifer, and Willard walked nine men, but even with these generous donations, the Frosh were unable to count more than thrice due to their inability to connect when hits would have meant runs.

Mitchell led the Ursinus batters, getting two of the four hits, one a three bagger in the seventh inning. Johns, Valley Forge catcher, was the only man able to garner more than one single for his team.

as the princess departs and the caravan resumes its journey; faintly, as they become more distant, the themes of the princess and the camel-drivers are heard; and again the market place becomes deserted.

The last number on the program consisted of three German dances which were composed as incidental music to Shakespeare's "Henry VIII." These dances, the "Morris Dance," the "Shepherd's Dance," and the "Torch Dance," seem to reflect the joyous songs and dances of England's pre-Cromwell period.

An attentive and appreciative audience rewarded the renditions of the performers with justly deserved applause. All too soon the charming program was brought to a conclusion and the delighted assembly wended homeward their respective ways.

FULL ATHLETIC PROGRAM SCHEDULED THIS WEEK

from West Chester State Teachers' College, famous for their teams in this sport. The West Chester lads are fresh from a decisive victory over Villanova, and are anxious to continue their winning way on Patterson field.

The racqueteers from West Chester will also be on the campus Wednesday to keep their brother trackmen company. The Bears' tennis team, it is hoped, will have the added inspiration and confidence of a victory over Delaware and will be at their best against this aggregation.

The Frosh Baseball team is the only athletic organization to indulge on Thursday. On this day the first-year ballmen trek to Princeton where they encounter the Tiger J. V's. on their home diamond.

Lebanon Valley, over whom the Varsity nine already has a victory this season on Patterson field, will again be met Friday, this time at Annville. Here again the two Dennis youths "Diddling Dill" from Ursinus and his brother will display their wares at first base.

To finish the week off in proper style the Girls' Tennis Team will attempt to take over the Drexelites on the home courts. All in all the week's sports schedule is a varied one, and weather permitting it should attract many devotees of outdoor athletics.

gave her discussion meeting entirely over to the girls so that they felt at home in asking help on their campus problems.

As evidence that the Conference leaders were interested in the young people, they gave two or three representatives from the different schools a chance to report their past activities. Not including the extemporaneous discussion of all conference delegates, a Y. M. cabinet member from Lafayette College, one from Muhlenberg and a girl from West Chester made reports.

To take so large a part in these important discussions gave all of the delegates confidence in themselves and a new initiative to make their respective Christian Associations for the coming year better than they have ever been before.

The Conference also had its social side and this was well taken care of by the efficient hostesses at West Chester.

These Conferences not only give our Christian Association leaders many ideas to bring back to the organization, but give each delegate a broader and more appreciative aspect of the many other campuses that are surrounding us today.

CURRENT PROBLEMS IN CHAPEL

North Central College at Naperville, Ill., is modifying its chapel system to give emphasis to modern problems. One week was entitled Prohibition Week; another, World Emphasis Week; and a third stressed vocational guidance.
