Twenty Players Developed to Swell Varsity Squad

DEFEAT BECKLEY COLLEGE

Starting in the way typical of a Freshman football team, the Ursinus Cubs developed as the season closed into an aggregation whose ability culminated in the defeat of the strong Beckley College team and finished a season above the ordinary. Altho the Cubs invasion is over there still remains one contest, the Freshman-Sophomore game, to be played. This fray is looked forward to with great interest by the entire student body and will be played off soon after the Thanksgiving holidays.

Material for this year's Freshman team was excellent with 37 candidates reporting the first night. A few, as is Try-outs for the cast of the Schaff the custom, dropped out until the for two teams. This number Coach Schell was able to handle well and developed into a strong squad. Practically all of the Freshmen had previous experience in playing high school or prep school football. This greatly accelerated the formation of the team and in strengthening it. At the end of two weeks practice the Cubs plunged into their first game.

The opener was with Perkiomen Prep at Pennsburg. Victory was expected by the Cubs in this game but (Continued on page 4) TT-

SHAFFER STARS ON END RUNS

Among the great football games that were played in the East on Saturday was the Derr Hall-Waiters fray on Patterson field which was, as advertised, a classic. The affair was literally a colorful one from start to finish and interesting in spite of the scoreless tie. Not a weak offense but a strong defense was responsible for the touchdownless aspect of the game.

Both teams were fairly evenly matched with the waiters having the edge. Most of the ground gained by either team was by use of end runs and off tackle slashes as few passes were successful and plunges thru the ed by the students, themselves, who February 26-St. Joseph home central stack of humanity were nigh impossible.

The snow was sifting down from the leaden sky and a cold wind blowing from the ever cool Perkiomen when the game got under way. The warriors of both teams unhindered by the adversity of the elements began their battle when Schaffer of the waiters kicked off, the ball being returned to the Derr Hall 27 yard line.

During the first quarter the teams battled back and forth in midfield relying on punts when unable to gain. Two first downs were made by the Waiters and one by the East Wingians. Paris of the waiters got off a

BEARS GETTING READY FOR ALBRIGHT LIONS THURS.

On Thanksgiving Day the Ursinus Grizzlies will journey to Reading where they meet the Albright College Lions in their annual Turkey Day grid fracas.

To date each team has played eight games. The Bears have defeated Muhlenberg and Susquehanna, were held to tie scores by Dickinson, Haverford and Delaware and were beaten by F. and M., Rutgers, and Swarthmore. The Lions defeated Cooper Union, Roanoke, Mount St. Mary's, St. Joseph's, Lebanon Valley and Alfred and were beaten by Bucknell and Western Maryland. The recapitulation shows that Ursinus has won two, tied three and lost three, while Albright has won six and lost two.

Calisthenics, light signal drill and work on the dummy and charging machine constituted the daily practice for the Bears last week. Coach Kichline has dispensed with practice scrimmage for the remainder of the year and is content to simply keep his men in condition, rather than risk injury to any of the regulars.

The fact that, on paper, the Albright eleven appears to have the edge on their second attempt to defeat Beaver, the Bears probably explains the optimism that is reigning in the Lions' camp. News comes from Reading that Albright is looking for little opposition from the Bears, and that they

WATERFIGHTING-THE WHY AND THE WHY NOT

Comment and some whole-hearted criticism should be made on the recent water battle of a week ago. Sporadic events like that one have occurred at various intervals thruout past years. So far as can be determined there Student Council is merely the agent is no especial reason for their occurence and no definite planning in most cases. It just seems that some night all the dormant and stored-up energy out of the will of the men students. of the majority of the male students bubbles up, a trivial incident releases the pressure and a free-for all water-throwing contest is on. It spreads from dorm to dorm because of competitive elements and the first thing one men students in any action that it Hymns were then sung accompanied knows it completely overruns the College. Then by some miracle or perhaps undertakes. Would the men's student final exhaustion of the stored-up energy, the affair dies down and the Col- body as a whole back up the Council, lege retires, wet, cold and in damp clammy rooms.

Such an affair is an excellent illustration of the definition of the adjective "puerile"; childish, unthinking, unworthy of an adult. That it is but a hangover from childhood is realized when one remembers that children enjoy turning the garden hose on each other. For them it is a method of play, a way of expending excess energy. Possibly it serves to allay their "growing pains." But for college men, come to college with a definite purpose in view, come to college to learn, among other things, worthy use of leisure time, for them to resort to such a childish pastime and disrupt the affairs of a large part of the male student body, is without the bounds of sound reasoning or excuse.

one trouble with a water fight is that it rapidly spreads until it becomes eneral mob scene. First individual fights individual, then help arrives for ing to pay with the guilty, it seems a general mob scene. First individual fights individual, then help arrives for both sides and all from one floor become involved. Then it spreads from that it is time that individual rights floor to floor and finally dormitory competes against dormitory. Even the should give way to the superior reluctant and protesting are drawn in because when once ducked it takes considerable will power and conviction to stay out of it. Now that will power and conviction is what we must cultivate and the authorities, both college and student, are attempting to create and instill such willing to shoulder all the expense a spirit into the student body. We have all seen from the one instance so far this year just what are the effects. We have seen the dorms flooded, carpets soaked, clothes ruined, property damaged, besides the indeterminable losses. With these results in mind, if we give the matter some earnest and ticipants reporting enmasse to the wholesome reasoning, we can readily arrive at the conclusion that the whole affair is puerile and not in accordance with those standards which the male students of Ursinus College represent and desire to impress upon the alumni to send them bills covering the damand public and upon those at home who are making our education here a ages! possibility.

A COUNCIL LETTER

To the Men of Ursinus:----

As is well known, a large number of men were engaged last Monday night torical background that the picture ofin that most ancient of college sports affairs before, but few have assumed the proportions of this one. Due to the quantities of water thrown in the Garrick-Nov. 25 to 27-Pauline Freddorms much damage was done. The already none too strong ceiling in the lower dining room is in a precarious state as a result of being water-soaked. Certainly, the damage of college property is a case for the Student Council, if for no other reason than the fact that all the men students will be taxed for the damage done. Apparently, the Council can do one of two things in regard to the matter. First they may let it go by default, and do nothing because of the large number of students involved. In this event the college authorities would certainly act. This would be indicative of the fact that the student body of Ursinus were not prepared to shoulder the duties and responsibilities involved in Student Governnent.

On the other hand the Council could esort to that American expedient of passing a law—a law prohibiting the throwing of water in the dorms. Such a law would necessarily have to be rigid and absolutely prohibitive.

In connection with the latter resource mentioned it must be remembered that in the final analysis the for the expressing and the carrying Inasmuch as the Council is not a large body of armed policemen it must have the support of the majority of the at the present time, if a law prohibiting water fights in the dorms was passed.

The regular weekly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held Wednesday evening, November 21, in Bomberger. According to the program schedule of having the various classes take charge of the program, the meeting was in charge of a Sophomore delegation including Messrs. Massey, Weaver and Ottinger.

The opening scripture reading was made by Jacob Weaver '32 followed by a prayer by Donald Ottinger '32. by the orchestra. Nevin Detwiler '32, accompanied by Robert Miller '32 then sang a beautiful solo. The meeting was then turned over to John Massey, Sophomore president, who opened and directed the discussion of the evening The subject for open discussion was "Is World Peace a Possibility?" Students of international affairs and world politics soon brought to the foreground most of the interesting phases involved. Disarmament as a world wide policy was discussed. The recent developments of world peace including the Kellogg Peace Pact was brought up. The attitude of the United States toward the League of Nations and the World Court was presented and criticised. Among the most interesting were the ethical and religious aspects of world peace. Many suggestions were offered and many of the difficulties presented. It was a well-rounded discussion.

The meeting ended with the Lord's prayer.

and concluded. The reports of the committees were received and approved. A resolution was passed by the Association on the death of Dr. James Melvin Lee of New York University who died two weeks ago. Dr. Lee was from 1922 till death the Executive Secretary of the Association and a great aid to its progress. As successor the nominating committee proposed Dean Henry Gratton Doyle of George Washington University who was then elected by the Association. Dean Doyle is a nationally known figure and it was felt that he would be in every respect a worthy successor to Dr. Lee. The Bucknellian of Bucknell University made a bid for the spring convention which was ac-cepted. Further business was dispatched and the meeting adjourned for the taking of the convention photograph.

Saturday afternoon found most of the delegates driving over all parts of the Capital City until seven o'clock when all gathered in the dining room of the National Press Club for the semi-annual banquet.
