Pastor of St. Paul's Reformed Church, Lancaster, Speaks to Students on Subject of Thankfulness

THANKSGIVING SERVICE

The Fall meeting of the Directors was held according to custom on the Tuesday before Thanksgiving. The morning session was held in the Faculty Room of the Library. A. D. Fetterolf, First Vice President, conducted the meeting. He called upon the Rev. I. Calvin Fisher, D. D., for the opening prayer. The following directors were present: Rev. T. A. Alspach, D. D., Hon. A. R. Brodbeck, LL. D., Hon. T. E. Brooks, Second Vice President, C. C. Burdan, A. D. Fetterolf, First Vice President, Rev. I. C. Fisher, D. D., Edward S. Fretz, Treasurer, D. L. Helfrich, Esq., A. H. Hendricks, Esq., Rev. J. M. S. Isenberg, D. D., Mrs. Rhea Duryea Johnson, W. A. Kline, Litt. D., R. E. Miller, Geo. L. Omwake, LL. D., H. E. Paisley, President, Henry T. Spangler, D. D., and Rev. C. D. Yost, Secretary. Dr. James M. Anders was excused on his own request. Rev. M. J. Roth, D. D., and Rev. E. M. Sando, of Hanover, and Rev. Oliver K. Maurer of Red Lion, Pa., were invited to sit in the meeting. President H. E. Paisley, on his arrival, took the chair.

The time of the Board was largely occupied in hearing and acting on official reports, this being the meeting for the presentation of annual reports. These documents present a complete picture of the College as it appears at the opening of the sixtieth year. The Board ordered that they should be published in the forthcoming Bulletin. However, a few facts gleaned from each will be of interest at present.

The Dean reports an enrollment of 482 students, twenty-two more than last year. Pennsylvania sends 386; New Jersey, 85; Ohio, five; New York, two; and Florida, Maryland, New Hampshire and North Carolina, each one. There are 75 day students. Of the counties of Pennsylvania, Montgomery leads with 112. Other counties sending considerable numbers are: Philadelphia, 39; Delaware, 32; Schuylkill, 23; York, 23; Berks, 22; Chester, 19; Northampton, 19; Bucks, 16; and Lehigh, 15. The religious complexion is reflected in the following denominational representation: Reformed Church, 147; Methodist, 75; Presbyterian, 70; Lutheran, 61; Episcopal, 27; Baptist, 23; Roman Catholic, 19; Evangelical, 16; Jewish, 7; United Brethren, 6; Friends, 4; Menonite, 3; Christian Science, 2; Congregational, 2; Apostolic, 1; Greek Catholic, 1; Schwenkfelder, 1; Uni-

RAPID PROGRESS IS BEING MADE ON SCHAFF PLAY

The Dramatic Club is pushing the production of the Schaff Anniversary Play, "Trelawney of the Wells," forward with all possible speed. This play requires a large cast which naturally increases the time and labor of rehearsal. The cast chosen has been making rapid progress to date under the expert direction of Mr. Charles R. Allen of Philadelphia, who is coaching the production. It is certainly that this play will further in a splendid way the traditions of the Schaff drama. The business manager for the Schaff Play has not as yet been announced but this appointment will probably be made within the ensuing week and tickets will be placed on sale. All alumni and friends who wish to get tickets should write in early to make their orders, as a banner house is expected.

ADVANCE REGISTRATIONS FOR NEXT YEAR ARE LARGE

During the month of November a large number of advance registrations for next year's incoming class have been received. Several of these people were interested in Ursinus by Alumni. The College is desirous of getting in touch with young men and women qualified to matriculate here. If you know of any such persons, please submit their names to the College Office, and descriptive information will be mailed to them.

WOMEN'S DEBATING CLUB MEETS AT MAPLES MONDAY

Last Monday evening, November 25, Maples Hall was the scene of a very interesting meeting of the Women's Debating Club. After the president, Florence Benjamin '30, conducted a short business session the feature of the evening was presented: A debate, "Resolved, That Ursinus should adopt a modified form of the English tutorial system." Janet Barnes '30 and Clara Riley '30 ably upheld the affirmative side of the question, while their opponents were Marguerite Reimert and Harriette Drysdale, both of '31. A unanimous decision in favor of the affirmative was presented by the judges. Dr. White, the club's faculty advisor, led an interesting informal discussion on "The Tutorial System." A few "dark clouds" made their appearance at the meeting in the forms of "Rastus and Mandy"—Ruth White '33 and Beth Taylor '31. The "adoring couple" sang a new Ursinus spiritual; and when "the clouds broke away," gales of laughter issued forth. Maples maidens served refreshments and homeward "the course of debaters went their way."

GIRLS DOWN DREXEL BY 3-2 SCORE IN LAST GAME

Captain Lake and Witman Score the Tallies to Win Thrilling Game From Philadelphia Foe

DREXEL'S LEAD OVERCOME

On Tuesday, November 26, at the Germantown Friends' School field, a 3-2 victory over Drexel brought to a close the girls' 1929 hockey season.

It was the last game both for Drexel and Ursinus, and having profited by a season's practice and combats, each team was pepped up to bring its respective season to a close with a victory.

Throughout the first half, the ball was almost completely in the possession of the Ursinus team, but not once did they score so strong was the opposing defense. Only twice did Drexel touch Ursinus territory, but one of these times, they scored and the half ended 1-0 in favor of Drexel.

At the beginning of the second half, almost before Drexel realized it, "Lakie" galloped down the field past three of the Dragons' defense and made the first goal. Soon Capt. Lake scored again and Ursinus was leading 2-1. Then the Drexel center forward hit the ball with such force that it went into the goal over Mickey Stenger's head. The goal counted and the score was tied 2-2. The white disk was whirled from one end of the field to the other. Both teams were evenly matched and it was a close game. It was "Kitten" Witman who finally sent

GIRLS' HOCKEY TEAM ENDS VERY SUCCESSFUL SEASON

With the coming of winter and Jack Frost to bite errant noses, ears, and fingers, the girls hockey team comes to the end of another season and a very successful one.

Continued rain throughout the first few weeks after the College opened prevented the team from getting started as it planned, not only hindering practices but also causing changes in the schedule that had been planned. Hence the opening pre-season fray with Collegeville High found the college girls at a disadvantage and resulted in a 3-1 loss.

Philadelphia Normal wasn't so lucky when our team really got going and scored a win 3-0 from the first scheduled contest. Two more wins followed in close succession, Glassboro and Beaver. As usual, Swarthmore proved a Waterloo for the home team, but the defeat, 7-3, does not show the real fight of the game and the evenness of play during the second half of the game. George School, a new rival for Ursinus co-eds, proved a strong one, and scored 8 goals to Ursinus' 2.

The last two games with Cedar Crest and Drexel were both wins, the former 2-1, the latter 3-2. Thus of the total of eight games played, Ursinus won four, tied one, and lost three. A game will probably be played with Collegeville High this week and this will be the final contest this year.

DR. TITUS A. ALSPACH '07 DELIVERS CHAPEL SERMON

Reports By Officers of Institution Show College To Be In Very Prosperous Condition

ENROLLMENT IS LARGER

The College was greatly honored to have Rev. Titus A. Alspach '07, pastor of St. Paul's Reformed Church, Lancaster, preach the November sermon at chapel on Wednesday morning, November 27. This address was a part of the Thanksgiving service held on that date. The service opened with a response by the College Choir. Then President Omwake read President Hoover's Thanksgiving Proclamation. Dr. James M. S. Isenberg, Vice President of the College, read as the Scripture lesson Luke 17 : 11-22. Prayer was offered by the Rev. John Lentz.

The College choir, accompanied by Miss Minna Just Keller of Reading who played for the whole service, sang "God of Our Fathers" by John Prindle Scott. Dr. Omwake then introduced Rev. Alspach. Rev. Alspach used as his text Luke 17 : 17, "Were not the ten cleansed? but where are the nine?" On this he based his theme that the thankful life is the thoughtful life and that it is an integral part of the worship of a soul. He used the illustration of the ten lepers who were cured by Jesus, of whom but one returned to thank him, and this lone man separated from Jesus by race barriers.

Rev. Alspach inquired into the reasons why the other nine did not return. Were they ungrateful? Did they fear that Jesus would ask for a reward or demand their allegiance.

The Weekly extends to Miss Johnson the congratulations of the College.

MEN'S STUDENT COUNCIL TRIES MANY FRESHMEN

The Men's Student Council held a meeting Monday evening, November 25, in Bomberger Hall. It was essentially a judicial meeting because the large number of Freshmen offenders who had to be judged. The cases were of three types: failure to attend the last pep meeting, failure to comply with rules on Poverty Day, November 16, and failure to remain in their rooms during study period. Due to the large number of offenders judgment was difficult to place but the punishments were respectively: carrying of sign on back, wearing of green ribbon on head, and campus restrictions.

A rule was passed concerning the policy of Ursinus toward transfer students with respect to Freshman customs. The rule is stated as follows: A transfer student who enters Ursinus with Freshman standing must satisfy the Freshman custom requirements of Ursinus.

Various reports were also heard concerning the dance and the proposed purchase of Student Council keys.

V. M. C. A. HOLDS SECOND PEP SMOKER FOR TEAM

Men Representing Townspeople, Alumni, Students, Faculty and Team Speak to Fellows

MANY GOOD BOUTS PUT ON

The Y. M. C. A. held their second smoker of the year in the Thompson-Gay Field Cage on Tuesday evening, November 26, at 6:45 P. M. This smoker had a dual purpose—to promote fellowship among the students of the institution, and to serve as a pep-meeting, prior to the Albright game on Thanksgiving Day.

There was singing, cheering, speeches, jokes and boxing and wrestling bouts. The entire affair moved along rapidly, and everyone assembled seemed to enjoy immensely the whole proceedings. Blair Egge '31 had charge of the smoker, and in his opening speech he said that for the speakers of the evening he would call on a representative from the townsfolk, from the student body, from the faculty and from the alumni, in order that each one could tell how the group which he represented was backing the team. Egge then led the entire gang in singing a few song hits—"just to get warmed up."

The first bout of the evening was a wrestling match between Hallman '33 and Kraft '32. Both boys performed well, and after much mauling and tumbling Hallman emerged the victor, two falls to none.

The first speaker of the evening was Bill McGarvey '30, chairman of the booster committee, who represented the students. Bill praised the students for the fine spirit which they have shown thus far this year, and pleaded with them to continue to show the same spirit during the remainder of the year. He assured the team that the students were all back of them.

The Philadelphia Civic Opera Company will present Gounod's "Faust" next Thursday evening at the Academy of Music. David Dorlini, tenor, will sing the title role, while the part of Marguerite will be taken by Marie Sundelius, of the Metropolitan Opera Company. The Mephisto will be Georges Baklanoff, who is renowned in this role. Nelson Eddy will sing the role of Valentine and Veronica Sweigart that of Siebel. Ruth Montague will be the Martha and Eric Belar the Wagner. The chorus consists of eighty voices, and there will be fifty-five members of the Philadelphia Orchestra in the pit. The performance will be conducted by Alexander Smallens, and Karl T. E. Schroeder will have charge of the stage.

A theatre party to hear this opera has been organized by Mr. John F. W. Stock and a large number of students have signed up to join it. It is imperative that those who intend to go complete their arrangements and pay the necessary fee either to Mr. Stock or to Walter Welsh '33.

ALBRIGHT BEATS BEARS IN LAST GAME OF SEASON 18-0

Grizzlies Display Brilliant Passing Game But Are Unable to Push Any Counters Across

NO INDIVIDUAL STARS

A fighting Ursinus eleven went down in defeat at the hands of a powerful Albright combination in the Turkey day affair at Reading last Thursday afternoon, the final count standing 18 to 0. The game, which was played in bitter cold weather before a crowd of five to six thousand rooters, was closely contested thruout each touchdown scored being a battle in itself.

The Bears outplayed their rivals during the first half but were unable to shove across a marker. Ursinus had a passing attack that swept the Lions off their feet and kept the ball in enemy territory for the greater portion of the opening half. Especially in the second period when the Grizzlies threatened to score at least twice, once advancing the ball to what may be called the 2 inch line.

Sternner threw accurate passes in all directions to nearly everybody. Miller also aided in the powerful aerial attack at one time heaving a 40-yd. pass to Egge that accounted for the one "near score" in the second period.

The Albright aggregation displayed a strong driving offense with superior interference on their end runs and reverse plays. The Albright line was a powerful one being the first forward wall this season that has outplayed the Bears. The Reading passing was stopped for the most part and could not compare with the Grizzlies' overhead game.

Albright's scores came in the first, third and last periods. The first was scored by Petrolonus after his interception of an Ursinus pass made it possible to advance the ball to the goal. Petrolonus made the second 6 points on four plunges from the 6 yard line where it had been planted due to accidental interference with an Albright receiver. After this same backfield man Petrolonus with Hains had brought the ball within scoring distance he went off tackle for his and Albright's third and last touchdown.

Miller stood out for his all-around work at end and for his passing. Black who was removed for part of

PHYSICS JOURNAL CLUB IS ORGANIZED BY STUDENTS

A group of students interested in Physics met in the Physics laboratory Monday evening for the purpose of organizing a Physics Journal Club. Dr. Foster E. Klingaman explained to those present the purpose of such a organization. Dr. Klingaman's ideas were further amplified and echoed by Dr. John Wentworth Clawson, Mr. Ralph E. Veatch, and Associate Professor J. Harold Brownback.

The new club held an election of officers with the result that Robert L. Boyer '30 is its president and Foster Dennis '31 vice-president and secretary.

After some discussion it was decided that the Physics Journal Club should meet every Wednesday at 4.30 p. m. and that the first meeting should be held on Wednesday, December 11. All students interested in physics are invited to attend the weekly sessions of the Club.

WATER, WATER, EVERYWHERE!

Events which have recently transpired have instilled in us the earnest conviction that Ursinus could organize an excellent swimming or water polo team. The majority of the male students seem to have the first requirement, that is, they take readily to water. However this aquatic enthusiasm seems to have been diverted or perverted to a use which is hardly commendable and which adds nothing to the athletic prowess of the College. Indeed, the effect is quite the opposite, although the boys must be commended for their earnest though misguided efforts to transform Ursinus from a humble college into a floating university.

The Student Council is to be commended for all the efforts which it is putting forth to prevent the recurrence of such a debacle as occurred two weeks ago. The art of waterthrowing is intrinsically harmless. It is not a form of moral turpitude nor of mental degeneration. But it is in effect contagious. It spreads like prairie fire. One act can bring a whole dormitory into action, and a genuine water fight is seldom confined to one dormitory. This union breeds strength, but the strength is destructive, and there's the rub. Harmless combat is transformed into rowdyism. Windows, walls, and floors suffer. Who is to be blamed? Not the original pair. To be sure they were the start but they probably did not consciously urge others to join. No, the fault lies not with one or two but with all. Water-throwing can not be condoned by any argument when it results in wholesale damages.

In the last issue of this newspaper several writers considered this subject. We sincerely hope that all the male students on the campus will regard the matter in a very serious light and govern their actions accordingly. If steam must be let off the football field and the gymnasium are completely at your service. But don't throw water.

THE CASE FOR THE FOURTH ESTATE

The stimulus of authoritative encouragement recently gained has aroused the desire to speak another word for the cause of journalism at Ursinus. At the outset we realize that there are neither funds nor place for such a department as we have proposed in the past. But we believe that it is something which the College should ultimately attain. Such a department could be easily and efficiently linked up with the department of English rhetoric. Experience could be gained through work on the Weekly and through the establishment of a press bureau or news service for the dissemination of College news among the metropolitan papers. The idea is eminently feasible and it should commend itself to undergraduates and faculty alike.

Journalism deserves more widespread and uniform service from colleges than it has received up to the present time. Journalism has a greater power than it is given credit for, in moulding public opinion. As the newspapers print, so the nation thinks. This really formidable power of affecting large groups of people should not be scorned or neglected by the educational institutions that claim to produce the leaders of the land. Potentially a group of college men who enter the journalistic arena with the avowed purpose of affecting public action in one direction or another can do more to effect that end in a shorter time than any other professional group of an equal size, not even excepting Congressmen.

Journalism is a great work. And Ursinus should furnish the means for students who are ambitious to enter this profession to gain a solid ground work on which professional experience can be built to make them successful in the fine art of news and opinion, albeit sometimes the field of ballyho and bluster.

AN HONOR SOCIETY

The last two years have witnessed the founding of a large number of organizations on this campus for social and other purposes. These new clubs and societies have had for the most part prosperous and successful careers. They all are serving the purposes to which they were established. But in all this array of groups and organizations there is not one to be found for the purpose of honoring those who have distinguished themselves in their collegiate careers and who are the leaders of the College.

Honorary societies have not had the same career at Ursinus they have enjoyed at most colleges. With the sole exception of Tau Kappa Alpha, there are no honor societies or honorary fraternities of any kind on the campus. Most colleges fairly bristle with honorary societies of all types including those for students specializing in certain branches of work such as oratory, debating, journalism, engineering, chemistry, and others. Sometimes the accumulation becomes so great as to be disadvantageous and even ridiculous but for the most part such unions are beneficial.

In our opinion, there is room and a definite value for a local, general honorary society, such as is to be found in the Founders Society at Haverford and the K. R. T. at Lafayette. An organization of this type could be a means of recognizing and honoring outstanding achievement in the field of scholarship and of extra-curricular activities. It could have the purpose of aiming to improve the College by any means open to it and of forming a powerful incentive to undergraduates especially of the lower classes in their efforts inside the classroom and out. It should serve as a unifying force among the students who are the leaders of the important campus organizations and thus make for strength through unity.

Several years ago an organization of this sort was projected and the plan met with some favor in the circles in which it was originated, but nothing resulted. Circumstances were not favorable and the College was perhaps too small to warrant it. But today everything is changed. The enlarged student body and the greater multiplicity of academic studies and extra-curricular activities render such a society fitting and proper. Membership would not be the result of chance, clique or friendship, but it would be determined by attainment. The organization would tend not towards action but towards influence. Many seemingly impossible deeds can be accomplished when the right people push in the right direction. C. D. Y., '30.

Y. M. C. A. HOLDS SECOND PEP SMOKER FOR TEAM

The next bout of the evening was between Frick '33 and DeMarco '33. These boys donned boxing gloves, and proceeded to punch each other all around the ring. At the end of the bout, as in all the boxing bouts which followed, Referee Metcalf '30 held up the right hands of both of the boys so that there would be no hard feelings about who won the bout.

The next speaker, who was the main speaker of the evening, was Abraham H. Hendricks '88, a Collegeville attorney, who represented the townsfolk. Mr. Hendricks told of many of the happenings about Ursinus when he attended here. He explained that at that time there was no football team here, and that baseball was the main sport. He told of the famous Ursinus battery of Miller and Hendricks—"the best battery that Ursinus ever had." He said that the townspeople of Collegeville have a real interest and pride in the Ursinus College teams, and that no one likes to see the teams win more than they do. Mr. Hendricks received his B. S. degree from Ursinus, and at the beginning of his speech he said that his purpose in coming back to the College was to "unload."

The next bout was a wrestling (?) match between Leshner '30 and Berger '33. It was a dull, drab affair, and finally Metcalf, in disgust chased the participants from the mat, and proceeded to give an exhibition match with Kraft '32.

Rev. John Lentz '02, who represented the alumni of the College, was the next speaker on the program. He also did some reminiscing when he spoke, telling of the football teams of his day. He told of the poor equipment that they had then, and compared it with the present-day football equipment. They wore old shoes with cleats of some sort nailed on, an old sweater and a pair of pants which were very light and similar to a pair of baseball pants. Headgears were absolutely unheard of at that time, and one's hair, which was allowed to grow extremely long, served as the protection for the "gourd." Rev. Lentz praised Dr. Barnard for the work which he did in helping to bring athletics to a higher plane at Ursinus.

Fertig '31 and Welsh '33 (both cross-country men) were the participants in the next bout which was playfully captioned "boxing" by the announcer. These boys chased each other about the ring, and at the end of the fracas neither one was scratched, although both were fatigued from their distance running.

Dr. J. Lynn Barnard, who represented the faculty, spoke briefly on the condition which existed here at Ursinus before there were any rules governing athletics. He said that it was not an uncommon sight to see one of our teams trot out on the field with about six bonafide players in the line-up, the rest being made up of "ringers," who were genuine "tramp athletes." He said that they gradually rid the college of such persons and that today the college has absolutely no one but eligible players on her teams. He, too, assured the team that every member of the faculty is back of the team, pulling strong for them to come through.

Lodge '33 and Parunak '33 put on a snappy exhibition of both boxing and slugging in their three-round bout. Both boys were fast on their feet, Parunak having a decided advantage on the offense, but Lodge matched Parunak's cleverness on the offense with an impenetrable defense.

Captain Randolph Helfrich '29 was called upon, and since reminiscing seemed in order he, too, did a little of it. He told of some of the fighting teams that Ursinus has turned out in the past. He said that all could rest assured that the boys were going to finish the season right on Thanksgiving Day, and bring back a victory over Albright.

The semi-windup boxing bout was a thriller between Paul '33 and Levin '33. These boys are both big and they stood toe to toe and slugged, and how each of them must have felt those blows! This was one of the best fights on the card for the evening.

The wind-up was a grudge-fight between Johnson '32 and Citta '30. This is a fight which was held over from last year when the boys were stopped from fighting with their bare fists. They surely went after each other savagely, and at the end of three rounds both agreed that they would like to go one more round. At the end of the fight both boys were pretty nearly cut on their feet, partially because of the drubbing which they had taken and partly because neither one of them was in any condition to be fighting. It is hoped that this fight has settled all that was between these boys, and that they will "kiss and make up."

Max Kuebler '31 had distributed a corn-cob pipe to each person present. Large cans of tobacco were also passed around, and everyone joined in smoking the pipe of good fellowship. Frank Rohrbaugh '30, Sherry Peters '30 and Jesse Hafer '31 led cheers at intervals during the proceedings. There was present, also, an orchestra, made up of four pieces, which accompanied the fellows in their singing. The smoker came to an end with the singing of the Campus Song.

RESIDENT HOOVER'S Thanksgiving Proclamation possesses a literary quality that is especially creditable, coming from one who was trained to mathematics and the sciences rather than to language and literature. When I was a boy in college I made a comparative study of the Thanksgiving proclamations that had been issued by presidents up to that time. I remember that I concluded that among the more lofty in sentiment and the more dignified in expression were the proclamations of Grover Cleveland. It is not an easy task to produce a document of this character every year and preserve a freshness of sentiment, much less to couch the sentiment in a unique style.

The President states in two introductory paragraphs of exactly equal length, that which in a longer document, might have been included in one. It is indicative of a sense of form and an appreciation of balance, that he cast the material in two paragraphs of equal length. In fact had it not been for this, one would think the last three statements of the first paragraph had rather more logically belonged to the second.

The cogency of this proclamation lies chiefly in its simple and direct style. Direct discourse and the simple sentence are best suited to a public document, especially when it is addressed to the whole people. In a wide sweep of the mind he sees a dozen significant reasons for giving thanks, and these fall from his pen in crystalline clearness. The effect is to win agreement in thought. The pessimist is convicted of the error of his position, and the optimist is restrained from weakening exuberance. All are inspired to a sane, meaningful acknowledgment of dependence and blessing.

Best of all, this proclamation breathes a genuine Christian spirit. In this it is true to the original American Thanksgiving and to the soul of our great nation. As an asylum for those seeking freedom of thought, the United States of America has drawn to its shores peoples of widely differing faiths, yet this country has ever been, and is today, what it was at the beginning, a Christian land.

Among the things for which to be thankful not mentioned in the proclamation, is a chief magistrate who himself breathes this spirit and acts in accordance with its high principles.

DRAMATIC CLUB DECIDES TO HAVE MORE PROGRAMS

The Dramatics Club held their regular semi-monthly meeting on Monday evening in Bomberger. It was decided to have programs at each ensuing meeting in order to instigate more active interest in the club. This matter was left in the hands of the program committee.

A decision was also made to buy books on make-up and costuming and a committee, to be appointed later, will submit a list at the next regular meeting of the club. There being no further pressing business on hand, the meeting was then adjourned.

ENGLISH GROUP PRESENTS NEW FICTION TO LIBRARY

An addition to the College library that will be much appreciated by the readers is the gift from the English Group. It consists of twenty-four volumes from the "Modern Library" series, mostly fiction. Among the authors represented in this collection are Meredith, Hudson, Turgenyev, Chekhov, Lawrence, Melville, Lewisohn, Henry James, Tolstoy, Wells, Drieser, Chesterton, Hardy, Hearn, Anatole France, Yeats and Walter Pater. Many students will eager to read "Molly Dick," "The Ordeal of Richard Feverel," "Ann Veronica," "The Man who was Thursday," "The Mayor of Casterbridge," "Winesburg, Ohio," "The Crime of Sylvestre Bonnard," and others. Every title in the entire lot looks attractive.

Perhaps some of the other groups of the College could emulate the generous act of the English Group. The section in the Library marked "F" is not very generously supported and the Library staff appreciate this addition to it by the English Group.

WORKING THROUGH COLLEGE IS HARMFUL TO STUDENTS

President Hutchins of Chicago University does well to puncture another venerable myth long cherished in American institutions of learning, that there is something inherently splendid in working one's way thru college. The high-pressure, success magazines have done their level best to validate this romance and it is generally held among the plain people. The belief is based mainly upon the ancient Calvinistic doctrine that in adversity there is victory, that the fine edge of character needs something hard for it to sharpen against. So it is argued that the boy who goes to college with his pockets empty and has to shake furnace grates, wipe dishes, peddle papers, mow lawns, sell candy and what not to eke out a meager living, in some mysterious way emerges an improvement over what he was when he entered. What is more, he has "got more out of college" than his non-working classmate because he has "learned the value of the dollar," "learned not to despise hard work," and so forth.

What is consistently overlooked in these romantic tales is that college is not a place primarily for oxygen treatment of anaemic moralities, not a place primarily for learning the exact distance in petty economics that a dollar bill may be stretched, but is, primarily, for the acquisition of a liberal education. The boy who is working inevitably finds that his work becomes his chief interest because that is what is more urgent, more elemental and direct in its rewards. As the time goes on he finds himself not a student, doing a little work on the side, but a wage earner doing a little studying on the side. He reduces the time he spends with his books to an absolute minimum, because it is more comfortable to exchange an A in Latin for a D than it would be to risk starvation by losing his boarding-house job.

Work deprives him utterly of leisure, and leisure is the single ingredient of education which can not be dispensed with. Any normal youth can go through the bare routine of collegiate assignments in a very few hours a week, but the very soul of education is the independent exploration the student does upon his own initiative. There is no education in reading a required passage in Green's History of England; the value of the assignment is only in its enticement to further independent study. The working student, however, has no time for this further independent study; his education becomes a matter of patchwork, hasty memorization, machine-made mental patterns. True education is an absorption from within, slow and fragrant mellowing. But this mellowing takes leisure; and the working student from one end of the semester to the next never learns what leisure is.—The New Haven Journal-Courier.

BLUFFING

He who attempts bluffing on final exams during the next few days—and there will be plenty of us attempting it—may be assured that he belongs to what is perhaps the greatest class of bluffers in existence.

Out of one hundred University of Cincinnati students who recently took a special examination composed of questions which had no answer, half of them bluffed 46.58 per cent or more. Some bluffed their way through 81 per cent of the examinations, which asked for fictitious word definitions, authors of unwritten books, and identification of certain alleged passages in Shakespeare.

The same examination, given to fifty-eight non-college men and women chose at random, showed that the bluffing score of this group was only 25 per cent. This leads a well-known writer to declare that "our educational system trains to dishonesty and pretentiousness...."

Perhaps he is right, but nevertheless we still defend bluffing. There is something to it that savors of a reliant, do-or-die fighting spirit that seems commendable in youth. Students on the whole know that bluffing is wrong, yet they often resort to it because of a notion that instructors sometimes give some credit for "attempts" at answering exam questions. If they are ingenious enough in bluffing, some instructors may respect their genius enough to give it consideration. And then bluffing always produces some amusing material for faculty small talk.—The Daily Illini.

DIRECTORS HOLD THEIR ANNUAL FALL MEETING

The Treasurer presented the audit of the accounts for 1928-29. The balance sheet reflects total assets of $1,914,588.27. The endowment of the College on August 31 was $487,705. The current income from all sources was $331,280.25. The insurance on the property of the institution is $699,795. A reduction in the rate has been secured reducing the annual insurance bill from $3,602.80 to $2,327.10. A small deficit for the year resulting from decreased income on account of Central Theological Seminary and the Summer Conferences, has been written into the budget for the present year, in which it is believed that both of these subsidiaries will fully recoup themselves.

The Vice President reported that during the year 1928-29 he had traveled in the interest of the College, by automobile, over 8,000 miles, and by railway, more than 3,500 miles. He made 407 calls and delivered 128 addresses. His efforts are directed along various lines. He reported that the total amount pledged thus far toward the proposed new Woman's Building to which he is devoting special attention, is $72,200, a gain of $25,000 since September 1. The building, for which the plans are completed, will cost approximately $150,000.

The President devoted the greater part of his report to a consideration of the more significant tendencies and movements in higher education from which he indicated the policies and lines of development which he believed Ursinus should follow. He also reviewed the work of the College during the past year, noting particularly the expansion of the curriculum in the economics department, the creation of two additional positions in the teaching staff, and the efforts being made to improve the boarding department. About $6,000 was expended for improvements in the kitchen equipment. The purpose is to use the new equipment "for the improvement of the service to the utmost extent the income for this department will permit."

At one o'clock the Board recessed to partake of a Thanksgiving Dinner served in its honor in the private dining room in Freeland Hall. Business was finished after dinner. On adjournment a tour was made through the kitchen, refrigeration, storage and service rooms to inspect the improvements.

The members expressed great gratification at the excellent condition of the institution from both business and educational points of view.

Perhaps they did not return because they were thoughtless rather than wicked. They took things for granted. They did not remember.

When men are ungrateful they are out of harmony with themselves, with others, and with God. They worry about things that never happen. They are the first to criticize their fellow men. They are the first to leave religion to attain nothing in its place. Ungratefulness is a lack of thankfulness; lack of thankfulness is lack of thoughtfulness; lack of thoughtfulness is thoughtlessness.

Then the test of gratefulness is applied to the age we live in. Rev. Alspach inquired, "What is the dominant character of our present age?" Is it broadness, immorality, lawlessness, gross immaterialism? Certainly these are all prominent, especially the last. We are living in an age of great things and in an age of controversy. But Rev. Alspach voiced the warning that it is a mistake in an age of materialism to apply the test of utility to everything. Some better test must be made. It would be better to apply the virtue of gratitude.

Rev. Alspach compared the enduring quality of a thankful heart to the great Pyramids. But he also showed how gratitude often comes too late, and its value and power is lost by procrastination.

In conclusion Rev. Alspach commended the trustful heart, the grateful heart, and the sharing heart. The trustful heart is the optimistic heart, believing in the best of everything. The grateful heart is the happy heart. It is the shock absorber of the jars of life. A sharing heart shares the best in man and the best in God.

The service was concluded by the singing of the old Thanksgiving hymn "Come, ye thankful people, come."

the game because of injuries played a good game in backing up the line. Sterner at quarter made himself evident in the role of a triple threat man. Soeder was one of the chief ground gainers, Young also did some gaining and would have had a touchdown after snagging a pass if he had not stepped out of bounds. Conover stood out chiefly on defense.

Strine's kickoff at the start of the game was returned by Albright to their 38-yd. line. Norris carrying the ball 3 times made 7 yds. and then punted out of bounds on the Ursinus 31 yd. line. On the first play Ursinus lost 7 yards on a fumble. Young made 2 at left tackle. Sterner got off a beautiful punt from his 10-yd. mark the Albright runner being downed on his 22-yd. line. Norris got 3 yds at end. L. Hatton got 3 more on a reverse. Petrolonus hit tackle for 2 and then punted out of bounds on the Ursinus 22-yd. line. Conover hit center for one yard. Young skirted end for 4. Sterner unable to get off a punt ran but made no gain and on the next play booted to the Albright 40-yard line. Albright lost 15 yards on a penalty. Four yards were gained on an end run and a reverse. Petrolonus made 3 thru center and punted to Young who was downed on his 32-yd. line. Carrying the ball again he lost 2 yds. and Petrolonus intercepted Sterner's pass. With the ball on the Ursinus 35-yard line Albright started a drive toward the goal. Petrolonus taking the ball twice and Norris once made 7 yards together though center. A pass to Hatton brought the ball to the Ursinus 11 yard line. Three yds. were made thru guard. Norris added one and Emmet carried it to the 1-yd line. Petrolonus went off tackle for the first score. Seasholtz missed the placement.

Ursinus returned the ensuing kickoff to their 25 yard line. Sterner went around end for 6 yards. Young hit center for two and Soeder made it first down. Soeder went thru center for one yard. Sterner passed to Young who would have scored had he not stepped out of bounds on his way to the goal. At this point the quarter was over.

Conover pounded guard for 2 yards. Sterner passed to Egge for the third straight first down. Sterner failed to gain thru the line and his pass was intercepted on Albright's 15-yard stripe. Petrolonus' punt bounced off an Ursinus man and Albright recovered on their 45-yard mark. After Norris made 3 yards at left guard Petrolonus threw 2 incomplete passes and punted out of bounds on the Ursinus 28-yd. line. A lateral pass lost 2 yards for Ursinus. Young gained 2 at center. Sterner's punt was brought back to the Albright 33-yd. mark. Albright's pass was incomplete and a 15-yd penalty followed. Another pass was grounded and Petrolonus booted out of bounds on his own 41 yard mark. Sterner passed to Soeder for 14 yards and first down. Conover failed to gain. A reverse lost 8 yards. Miller taking the ball from Sterner heaved it about 40 yds. to the 5 yd. line where Egge snared it. A series of line plays brought the ball to the goal where Sterner all but took it over, and it was lost in downs. Albright punted out of bounds on their 25-yd. line. Soeder made 2 at right guard. Sterner's pass was intercepted. Norris and L. Hatton gained 5 yards but a 15 yd penalty followed. Albright punted out on the 40 yd. mark. Soeder hit right guard for one yard. A pass was incomplete but Miller heaved one to Soeder for first down. Young cracked guard for 4 yards and an out of bounds play lost. A pass to Conover gained 6 yards. A pass over the goal ended the chance of scoring. Albright tried a couple of line plays before the half ended.

Ursinus received to start the second half taking the ball to their 30-yd. line. Young made 2 yards in 2 cracks at the line. A fair catch of Sterner's punt put the ball on Albright's 45-yd. line. Hains went thru guard for 4 yards. A reverse counted one. Emmet on a triple pass gained 28 yds. Again a 15 yd. penalty shoved them back. After two incomplete passes and a short gain thru the line Albright punted over the goal. Ursinus put the ball in play on their 20 yd. line with an off tackle play that gained two yards, Conover carrying. Young hit center for 3 yards. Ursinus punted, the runner being downed on his 39-yd. line. Hains made 2 first downs off tackle. A lateral pass was stopped. A reverse gained four yds. Hatton got 3 at center and a pass was incomplete the ball going to Ursinus. A lateral pass failed to gain and a forward was incomplete. Sterner's punt was returned to the 50-yd. stripe. Hains made 8 yds in 2 attempts and Emmet made first down. Hains and Petrolonus counted another 10 yarder together. Once again 15 yards were lost on a penalty. A reverse, an end run and a pass were all stopped but on another pass a penalty gave Albright the ball on Ursinus 6 yard line. Petrolonus in 4 plays managed to squeeze across. Hatton missed the placement.

Sterner took the kickoff to his 27 yard line. A pass to Soeder gained 3 and he made 4 yards thru guard to end the quarter.

With the change of goals again tried the line but failed to gain. Ursinus received her first penalty, one of 15 yards. A high punt was returned to the Ursinus 33-yd. line. Hains made 3 yds. off tackle and Emmet first down. Hains and Petrolonus carrying the ball advanced the ball to the goal where Petrolonus went over. The extra point again failed.

Young made a nice run on the kickoff to the Ursinus 40 yard line. Sterner passed to Young for 19 yards and first down, but another pass was intercepted. Hains lost 1 and gained 6 yards at tackle. Weigle gained 2 and Hains punted out of bounds on the Ursinus 32 yard line. Sterner hit guard for a yard. A reverse play lost 10 yards. Young on fake reverse went for 7 yards. Ursinus' punt was run back to their 45 yard line. Weigle passed to Hatton on the Ursinus 17 yard line where it was lost to the Bears on downs. Super made 3 yards around end. Soeder made first down thru center. Two passes were incomplete and Ursinus punted to the 50 yard line. A right tackle thrust failed. A fumble lost 15 yds. Hains made up for 10 and his punt was run to the Ursinus 20 yd. line. Sterner rounded end for 5 yds. Soeder added 4 ripping thru guard. Hunter's pass was incomplete and as the final whistle blew the ball was lost on a fumble.

SOPHS AND FROSH TO HOLD ANNUAL GRIDIRON BATTLE

Ursinus football for this season will be brought to a close when the Frosh-Soph battle is fought out on Patterson field this Saturday morning. As usual the whole college is looking forward to a promising game between the lower classmen which is always a struggle to the last in spite of any previous calculations on the merits of the teams.

Contrary to last year the two teams shape up fairly evenly. The Freshman aggregation has steadily improved during the season and now is quite a strong team. The Sophomores of course have no way of determining their strength having not played. The second year team will be largely made up of varsity men or players coming from that source.

The Frosh eleven have one advantage that of being organized while the Soph is not to any great extent. This is always the case in those games and has been demonstrated in previous encounters.

The game will be handled by Coach Kichline as referee and Captain Helfrich as umpire.
