ARE YOU PROUD OF YOUR PROFESSION?

If you have pride in being a member of our profession, then we invite you to apply for membership in the American Bar Association, unless you are already a member. It needs active manpower. It needs you.

The question is not what the American Bar Association can do for you. It can and will do more things for you than can be enumerated here. For example, its members make twice as much money as non-members.

But, our profession exists not primarily for any selfish gain of its members. Its justification is that it is dedicated to public service. Ask your heart if you have done your part.

In the name of our profession, of its public duty and of our beloved free country, we call upon all lawyers to become active members of their community, state and national bar associations, to give of their time and talent to bring themselves and their organized bar to the public influence and leadership of this country in its time of crisis. Those who have neglected any part of this high duty must never neglect it again, if they would be fully respected and honored by their brothers.

We urge all lawyers to fulfill their obligations by becoming or by getting members in the bar associations, by faithfully reading their journals, by finding their fields of greatest interest where they are most needed and by rolling up their sleeves and doing their share of the work that waits for them.

Won't you join with us in the greatest work you could do? The Headquarters of the American Bar Association, 1140 North Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois, will be glad to supply you with as many membership blanks as you may desire.

CODY FOWLER, President, American Bar Association.
