1. Introduction

The objective of the Spanish Political Attitudes Panel Dataset is to measure and explain changes in political attitudes and behaviors of individuals. The panel structure is mainly used for this purpose because it allows measuring intra-individual attitudinal change over time. This paper summarizes the main features of the database and the fieldwork of the first six waves.

The database of this online panel survey is composed of six waves whose fieldworks were conducted between 2010 and 2014. For the first 4 waves, the study resulted from a collaboration agreement between the Spanish Center of Sociologic Research (Centro de Investigaciones Sociológicas CIS) and the UAB research group Democracy, Elections and Citizenship (DEC), coordinated by Professor Eva Anduiza. The DEC research group carried out waves 5 and 6 within the project “Stability and Change in Political Attitudes (POLAT) CSO2010-18534”, funded by the Spanish Ministry of Economy and Competitiveness.

The use of the database in publications should be referenced as follows:

2. Fieldwork

In all six waves, the company Netquest carried out the fieldwork through CAWI (Computer Assisted Web Interview).

Table 1: Survey summary

Survey	N	Fieldwork dates	Study code
Wave 1	2,100	17 November - 10 December 2010	Not available
Wave 2	2,433	11 - 25 May 2011	Not available
Wave 3	1,979	9 - 18 November 2011	Not available
Wave 4	1,717	11 - 30 May 2012	MWBS_4129_o4
Wave 5	912	17 May - 4 June 2013	UABS_31388
Wave 5 bis	845	16 - 27 October 2013	UABS_38935
Wave 6	1,071	5 - 12 May 2014	UABS_46655_V2

Due to a problem in re-contacting the panelists, the fieldwork for wave 5 was conducted in two phases (wave 5 and wave 5 bis). Waves 5 and 5 bis total 1,757 respondents.

The questionnaires for each of the six waves can be consulted in the corresponding documentation accompanying the database.

3. Initial sample and refreshment samples design

Wave 1

The population under investigation is made up of Internet users of both sexes residing in Spain, aged between 16 and 44 years and of Spanish nationality. The sampling frame is the database of Internet users with which the company in charge of the fieldwork works, out of which 107,497 individuals met the selection requirements at the time the study was carried out (the basic sociodemographic information of the panelist is updated at least once a year). This database is composed of persons recruited by selective invitation from registered databases (portals, websites, etc.). Potential respondents receive a personal invitation to a survey on topics related to their own interests. When the candidate completes the survey, he/she receives an individual and unique invitation to become a member of the database. “Passive” self-registration is not allowed, so it is not possible for a random Internet user to register in the database without having been previously invited. According to the company, this avoids the professionalization of panelists and minimizes the effects of self-selection. Panelists receive incentives in the form of points, in a variable amount depending on the duration of the survey, which can be exchanged for gifts.

The initial objective was to obtain a longitudinal sample of 1,000 individuals, to be interviewed four times over two years. Based on the experience of other online studies, mortality is expected to be 20% in the second wave, 21% in the third wave, and 25% in the fourth and final wave. Based on these forecasts, the company estimated that the sample obtained should have an initial size of 2,100 individuals. The sample began with an initial selection of 4,200 individuals, but it was only necessary to contact 75% of these (3,143 individuals) to arrive to the 2,100 interviews completed in the first wave of this panel.

The selection of the sample is made in proportion to the population parameters of the classification variables usually used in the sample designs of the Centro de Investigaciones Sociológicas (CIS), applying quotas based on the crossing of sex and age (three categories: 16-24, 25-34 and 35-44 years-old) and the crossing of municipality size (three categories: up to 50,000 inhabitants, 50,001-500,000, more than 500,000) and autonomous community (including Ceuta and Melilla).

Wave 2

Due to the over-representation of individuals with higher university studies in wave 1, wave 2 includes a refreshment of 620 new individuals with educational attainment in the lower educational categories (high school or below).

4. Criteria for re-contacting the panelists

In waves 2, 3 and 4, only individuals who had participated in the previous wave were invited to participate. In waves 5 and 6, however, all individuals who had participated in at least one of the previous waves of the panel were invited to participate. Table 2 summarizes the recontact criteria for each of the waves.

Table 2: Criteria for re-contacting

Survey	Criteria
