Auditions To Be Held By Frosh

Plans are now progressing "full steam ahead" for the freshmen talent show to be held on Friday, March 7, in the Campbell hall auditorium. The class has chosen as the theme of the program "An Evening with Television." The program will be so designed as to provide a variety of talent in a variety of ways.

This talent is to be selected from the entire student body and faculty of Oregon College of Education. An invitation is extended to all talented people falling into this category to participate in the show. The auditions will be held Monday, January 28, in the auditorium of Campbell hall.

If you are at all interested and think you have no talents, come over anyway, there will be a spot for you. The main purpose of the audition is to give the production staff a chance to see the type of talent available, so they can plan the show accordingly. Few people, if any, will be eliminated.

If you are unable to attend the audition or if you have other questions regarding any part of the program, please contact any member of the production staff. Members of this staff are Joan Forbes, Ed Montgomery, Elmer Summerfield, Don Wickstrand, Arliss Klump, Marcelene Smith, Hollis Campbell, Shirley Robinson and Francis Wright.

Salem Superintendent Talks to Wesley Group

The Wesley Foundation was honored Sunday evening, January 20, by the presence of Dr. Frank Bennett, superintendent of the Salem public schools, as guest speaker. Dr. Bennett spoke on the topic "How We as Teachers Learn from the Master Teacher." The talk was an interesting one that many will never forget.

Next Sunday evening will bring to a close the theme for the month of January, "Time for Decision." A student panel discussion will highlight the evening. The discussion is intended to help each individual to decide for himself "How God and I Choose the Way."

Navy Board Will Be on OCE Campus Jan. 23

A special navy board will be on the OCE campus Wednesday, January 23, to interview men and women students who are interested in obtaining a commission in the naval reserve. The board had originally planned to visit here on Thursday but notice has been received of a change in the interview date.

Students accepted in the program will be expected to participate in a navy summer school program. Women will be sent to the east coast for the training period and men will be sent to a Pacific coast training center.

All candidates for the commission will be allowed to remain in school until they are granted their degrees. Men will then serve with the navy and the women will be called to active service only if their services become necessary.

The board is scheduled to arrive on the campus at 9 a.m. on Wednesday. They will interview students from nine o'clock until noon in the student personnel offices.

Ski Club Members Hold First Meeting of Year

Eighteen members were present at the first meeting of the OCE Ski club. President Eric Rhode presided.

An exceptionally large and active club is in the process of organization, with good prospects for adequate transportation on week-end ski-trips. Different ski areas were discussed, with interest divided between Mt. Hood and the Santiam Pass. Inasmuch as they both constitute one-day trips, it was decided to give both equal consideration. It was further decided that week-end trips were to be enjoyed whenever possible.

Mr. Don Humphrey was re-elected as ski club adviser. He furthered several ideas for those who wish to take ski club trips, but do not desire to ski.

Ski club activities in the future will include trips, movies, slides, equipment demonstrations, the annual dance, and the spring try at climbing Mt. Hood. All future meetings will be held every Thursday at 8 p.m. in room 103 of Campbell hall.

Faculty Receive Copy Of Revised Catalog

A revised catalog with 12 pages of new teaching materials listed will be issued this week by the Instructional Materials Center. Copies will be sent to each faculty member and to supervising teachers, as well as being on file in the elementary school offices.

Nearly 100 new filmstrips, more than 30 supplementary booklets available in class quantities, more charts and diagrams, new flat and display-picture sets, and other materials are numbered and described.

The new catalog, nearly double in size, lists only materials available for ready delivery from the Center's shelves. Other films, filmstrips, and teaching materials can be ordered from the Center's source libraries.

One new catalog just published by the U.S. Office of Education, lists for the first time in organized fashion more than 3400 U.S. Government films and filmstrips covering a very wide scope of subjects and usage. All are available for preview or rental ordering through the local Center.

Gleemen To Appear

Arrangements have been made for the Eugene Gleemen to present a concert on the Oregon College of Education campus on February 20 at 8 p.m. The Gleemen, a well-known men's choir, have sung on the OCE campus before. Students and townspeople have been enthusiastic in their praise of their program.

As in the past, the group will be on the campus for dinner in the dormitory and will then present a full program in the Campbell hall auditorium. Students will be admitted on their ASOCE cards. An advance ticket sale for non students will go into effect soon.

Dean Dewey To Return, Would Like Visitors

Delmer R. Dewey, dean of men, is back in the Salem General Hospital. However, he is expected home within a week.

Since he will be confined to his bed about six weeks he would appreciate student visitors. Students are asked to call Mrs. Dewey about the convenient time for such visits.

Theme of the Folks' Festival this year is "Modern Madness," and the every-day and special wardrobes of the modern miss attending college will be on display.

The annual meeting of the OCE Dads' club and the OCE Mothers' club will be held as part of the festival Saturday afternoon, for election of officers and transaction of other business.

Mrs. Harry Downing of Lebanon, mother of Bob Downing, football and basketball team member and president of the men's athletic honorary, Varsity O, is president of the Mothers' club.

COME, JOIN THE BAND!

Several OCE students are aware that the band has been present at the last several basketball games. Usually, this would not seem like abnormal procedure, but under the circumstances (only 12 people turned out for band this term); the fact that a band has been present at the games is, in fact, nothing short of a miracle!

Mr. Charles Stowell has been turning grey over the fact that so few have turned out for this activity. He has had to round up outside people to make up for the shortage here on campus. The most unfortunate fact is that if all the people who play instruments were to engage in band, Mr. Stowell has said that we would probably be able to have a 50-piece musical aggregation.

The people who have turned out for band are certainly to be commended for a fine job. Others who play instruments are encouraged to try and engage in this activity. It is pleasing to note that there are students who are interested in playing in the OCE band and thereby contributing toward a more exemplary spirit at home basketball games. —S.T.S.

GUEST EDITORIAL

IT'S A MATTER OF STIMULUS AND RESPONSE
By Dr. William DeClark

"We are not teaching people to think."

This was the conclusion drawn by four speakers—two educators, a magazine editor, and a general—on a recent Town Meeting of the Air program.

It seems true that if the production of student thought is one of the aims of the American school, we are creating little of that precious stuff for export beyond our campuses.

Whether or not faculty members throughout the country are altogether liable for this situation is debatable. Certainly they are responsible, in part, for the closed college mind. In an age when multitudes of special interest groups are warring to possess the minds and emotions of youth, it is demoralizing for a teacher to let it be known that he alone is master of all ideas rising within his special field. Where controversy exists in a subject, interested students must not be denied the basic right of questioning major premises and conclusions.

This is not to suggest, however, that it would be wise for all instructors to convert their courses to seminars by morning. Many teachers are more effective as lecturers than as moderators. Others work in technical areas, such as the sciences, that usually require the giving out of detailed information admitting of no controversy.

If some of our faculty members could be indicted for failure to promote vigorous thinking, students must also examine their own shortcomings. Freshmen give a variety of reasons for their classroom muteness. As one girl put it: "My father never took his family out for social visits." Another "quiet one," a boy, explained that he had been frightened into permanent withdrawal by a grim high school teacher. Many other beginning students fear that the inquiring mind draws ridicule or leads to grade reprisals.

Coming from first-year students, these impediments to free expression are understandable. But when upperclassmen give identical or similar stories to excuse years of apathy, they are often merely putting up window blinds in empty houses.

Experimentally, at least, more instructors might promise, and hold to, a kind of "grade immunity" in an effort to learn if this will cause mental gears and cogs to hum. With equal enterprise, more students might try to rise from intellectual proneness and make their ideas known.

"Thinking" is a matter both of stimulus and response.

Current Philosophy Poorly Understood

The question this week is concerned with developmental education. The purpose of the survey was twofold. In the first place, the survey was made in an attempt to disclose how many students are informed about the teaching philosophy taught at Oregon College of Education. The second question was used to try and stimulate an opinion on the future of developmental education in this country.

In reading the results of this poll, several things should be kept clearly in mind. In the first place, only students who answered yes to the first question were asked to answer the second question. Secondly, it will be noted that the word universally is used in the second question. Universally, in this case, is interpreted as meaning to the extent that traditional education once dominated thinking in this country before the evolution of the developmental theory. A total of 122 students were asked:

"Do you have a clear understanding of what is meant by the term 'developmental education'?"

Class	Upper	Lower
YES	43	19
NO	20	40

"If so, do you believe that this type of education will eventually be universally accepted and practiced throughout the United States?"

Class	Upper	Lower
YES	14	4
YES (with reservations)	28	8
NO	1	7

According to totals, the results appear: First question, Yes 62, No 60. Second question: Yes 18, Yes (with reservations) 36, No 8.

EAVES DROPS

By Tom Huebner

Note: The purpose of this column will be to bring to light the controversial issues overheard during the everyday conversations of OCE students. While the column will make no attempt at resolving the issues involved, it will make an effort to differentiate between a petty gripe and issues of genuine import. It is hoped that the majority of discussions will contain ideas being mulled over in the minds of a sizeable portion of the student body and your opinions on matters about which you have any convictions are sincerely invited. Submit them to the "Letters to the Editor" department. All signed letters of this nature will be printed, provided that they contribute constructively to the questions involved.

It all started during a luke-warm discussion centered about the question of "Developmental Education" which had been brought about by this week's student opinion poll question.

Then it came—a sort of a "blivet." "Well, I'll tell you boys, I'm all for this developmental idea. It makes sense to me—but. Did you guys know that when we graduate and make job applications and finally get an interview that the first thing they ask you is 'did you go to a College of Education?' and then they let you have it. Well, forget everything they told you, this is the way it's done here."

A crochety old vet on my right nodded in agreement, an upper-classman looked down his nose in disdain, and a brand-new freshman stared straight ahead and poured half of his coffee into his lap from where, after eating a hole in his woolens, it dribbled noiselessly to the floor.

Was this the puerilic drivel of a malcontent—or did this statement effectively mirror a feeling of insecurity and doubt prevalent in the minds of a representative fraction of our students?

Does this condition exist in Oregon?

Does this condition exist "understandably" and is it one to be resolved step by step by future educators themselves?

These were the questions asked and subsequently answered in various ways by those engaged in the discussion. What do you think?

OSC Library Books Pass $ Million Value

The valuation of books in the Oregon State college library passed the one million dollar mark recently, according to Dr William A Kozumplik, assistant librarian.

The 265,049 volumes now cataloged in the library have an evaluation of $1,002,774.23, Kozumplik reported. Total number of different pieces of material in the library, including 35,072 maps, 53,515 photos and prints and sound recordings is 353,651.

The evaluation of books has more than doubled within the last 15 years, although the number of volumes has fallen somewhat short of this, reflecting the increased costs for books. The 136,344 volumes in 1936 were evaluated at $442,902.

More than a fourth of the value of the volumes added to the OSC library holdings in the past five years has been made through gifts or exchanges, Kozumplik said. In number alone, nearly three-fourths of the volumes have come through gift or exchange. The 32,536 books purchased since 1947 are valued at $201,824 while the 23,794 volumes acquired through gift and exchange add up to $74,423.

The increased number of books has caused severe crowding of book stacks and walls in the various reading rooms. Some floor space has also had to be utilized to take care of the holdings.

OCC STANDINGS

Team	Won	Lost	Pctg.
OCE	3	1	.750
Vanport	3	1	.750
OTI	2	2	.500
EOCE	0	4	.000

OCE clung to a tie for the Oregon Collegiate Conference lead by bouncing back from a Friday defeat, to pummel Vanport college 72-62 in Monmouth Saturday night. The Vikings nabbed the earlier contest in Portland by a 85-58 count.

Charlie Pinlon sparked the Wolf-pack win Saturday with a big 22 points. The sharp-shooting forward led his mates from a 35-34 half-time deficit to a narrow 54-51 third quarter edge. From there on, it was all OCE, with the locals pulling away at the final whistle. Bob Bushnell and Bill Palmquist added 16 and 12 respectively for the winners, while Paul Poetsch and Norm Hubert each hit 14 for Vanport.

The Friday ball game was close until halftime, as Arba Ager's crew hung up an inaugural win. The Viki managed a narrow 36-31 edge at the intermission, and went on to win by a big margin. Hubert notched 19 for the Portlanders, but Pinlon was the game's high scorer with 21. Saturday's box score:

OCE 73		62 Vanport
Pinion 22	F	14 Hubert
Pitcher 4	F	7 Strader
Rosenstock 6	C	6 Barnes
Bushnell 16	G	14 Poetsch
Palmquist 12	G	4 Hintz
Reserves: OCE—Vanover 4, Davis 1, Dasch 6, Hubbard 2; Vanport—McLean 8, Jackson 3, B. Johnson 2, Koski 4, N. Johnson 2.
Officials: Beard and Emigh.

Junior Varsity Drops Thriller

Coach Bill McArthur's junior varsity crew dropped a close 55-52 decision to Salem's 12th Street Market team in a varsity preliminary Saturday night. Leroy Coleman was high man for the Baby Wolves with 17 points.

Smoker Participants

Some 14 prospective candidates are in line for mat duty in the annual Folks' Festival smoker to be held on Saturday, January 26.

Don Dinsmore, Jim Gooding, Bud Michaels, Larry Walker, Harry Russell, John Pizzuti and Joe Cole are all dated for boxing duty. On the grunt and groan side of the ledger are wrestlers Vern Buhler, Don Seibert, Dick Peterson, George Watts, Ray Myers, Jack Pomeroy and Dick Vanderzanden.

The Varsity "Q" organization is sponsoring the smoker and Jack Pomeroy has been appointed as chairman of the organizational committee.

Bushnell Ready for Mountaineers

Ball-hawking guard Bob Bushnell will be in the driver's seat this week-end when the Oregon College quintet tangles with EOCE in a Folk's Festival twin bill. Bushnell is a returning regular from the 1950-51 squad, and has been a mainstay for the Wolves this year.

Wolves To Host Eastern Oregon

Trouble a-plenty is in store for OCE this week-end when the Maple-wolves tangle with the Eastern Oregon Mountaineers. Although the EOCE squad hasn't built up an impressive won-lost record, they still must be considered dangerous in light of their 60-point plus scoring average.

Top man for the Mountaineers this season is a young sophomore named Lowell Kolbaba. Working from a center position, he has nabbed the top spot in the OCC scoring race. A solid corps of seven returning lettermen plays supporting role to Kolbaba, and most of them are more than capable.

Burl Greene and Wes Ball will probably hold down the guard posts against the Wolves, and the forward duty will be divided between Bob Saling, Jim McAllister and Jerry Poyser, all returnees. Last year's regular center, Gene Fox, will see considerable action, as will clever guard Bob Gerry.

Although comparative scores favor OCE strongly, the forces of Coach Bob Quinn are not held in light regard by the Wolfpack. They are overdue now, and may find themselves a home in Monmouth.

Monday, Feb. 11—7 p.m. Pooles vs. Fertility Flats Boys; 8 p.m. Tall Tigers vs. Junior Varsity.

Friday, Feb. 15 — 4 p.m. Arnold Arms vs. Independents; 4 p.m. Vets' Village vs. Robinson's Blivets.

Indeps., Flats Win

High scoring contests hi-lighted the intramural program on Friday, January 18, as the Independents swept past the Tall Tigers 69 to 56 and Fertility Flats bumped the Arnold Arms quint 52 to 38.

Another factor that appeared to be consistent in both games was the poor quality of the officiating. Most of the evening's grandstanding was done by the referees.

The afternoon's opening encounter was a galloping affair, with both teams playing a running game. However the sharpshooting Independents proved more than a match for the Tigers. The lack of a scorer for the last half makes it impossible to give individual statistics.

Superior height told the story in the evening's finale. Watts, Harp, and Downing dominated the backboard for the victors. The AA quint lost some ability when "Dirty Boy" Pease, a six-foot stack of bones, left the game early in the third period via the five personal foul route. The fine efforts of Huff and Montgomery were the bright spots on the AA squad. Gene Harp was high for the contest with 19 tallies. Gaylon Huff paced the defeated with 11. A total of 56 infractions were whistled during the battle. Arnold Arms grabbed the majority with 30. Lineups:

Arnold Arms 38	52 Fertility Flats
Miller 0	F 19 Harp
Benson 4	F 2 Gooding
Pease 10	C 7 Downing
Buhler 1	G 0 Cole
Pizzuti 2	G 0 McGinley
Reserves: AA—Maxwell 1, Smith 1, Montgomery 8, and Huff 11; Fertility Flats—Jones 3, Holdorf 8, and Watts 13.

Independents Top V-V

Bowman's Independents stormed to an intramural triumph over the men from Vets' Village 46 to 25 Friday evening, January 11. The victors galloped to an early lead which they never relinquished. Gene Lebold paced the Independents with 15 tallies. Eugene Harp led the losers with 10. Short score:

Vets' Village 25	46 Independents
Jones 2	F 6 R. Bowman
Marr 4	F 8 Lofton
Shaw 2	C 15 Lebold
Harp 10	G 6 Brostrom
Holdorf 0	G 6 J. Bowman
Reserves: Vets' Village — Dinsmore 2, Morris, Cole, Schwab 2, Gooding 5; Independents—Vergets 3 and Spurling 2.

Intramural Schedule

Intramural Rules

Following are the rules governing intramural basketball play:

A player may not play on an intramural team and also play on either the varsity or the junior varsity team.

Any team which uses a junior varsity or varsity player shall thereby forfeit the game or games in which he participated. A player on either the junior varsity or the varsity that has been turning out this term shall be declared ineligible. Also any player earning a letter for varsity basketball competition in years past will be ineligible.

If two teams competing against each other use players who are classed as ineligible then the game will not count for or against either team.

The champions will be that team which has the best percentage and in case of a tie a playoff will be arranged.

A game must start within 10 minutes of the scheduled time or a forfeit will be awarded the team that is ready to play. If neither of the two teams is ready then it will not be counted as a win or loss for either.

For any clarification of these rules, contact Jack McRae or Elmer Summerfield.

PEASE PORRIDGE

By Harry Pease

Some good news for the many supporters of the OCE basketball team. The OCE squad was ranked 13th defensively of the small colleges of the nation and Harold Pitcher was in a three-way tie for 20th in rebounds, according to the first edition of statistics issued by the NAIB last week. The Wolves have allowed their opponents but 49.2 points per game for the first five contests of this season. This is somewhat below the pace-setting crew from New Mexico Western, whose mark is 40.6.

"Pitcher's" position of 20th nationally was attained by virtue of an average of 13.0 rebounds per game. Although Pitcher's frame extends but a mere six feet into the ozone, he is able to make up for this height deficiency by his ability to utilize the power provided him in his "shanks-horses." Incidentally, Harold had his best night of the year in the second game of the recent OTI series, when he snared 19 rebounds.

Perhaps a word should be said concerning the conduct of local fans during that same contest. Actions by visiting dignitaries, officials, or players which do not coincide with individual viewpoints are not grounds for unsportsmanlike conduct on the part of the audience. An omission of cat-calls plus a careful choice of words would provide a much better impression. Remember, a fan can be vehement and still maintain his dignity.

Chocolate Stars Provide Laughs

The barnstorming Kansas City Stars put on a razzle-dazzle show before a full house at the OCE gymnasium Wednesday night, January 16, defeating the Oregon College of Education varsity 75-65. Led by a pair of six-ft., eight-in. point-making machines, Oris Hill and Harry Taylor, the chocolate Stars played deadly basketball for the first three periods before going into their famous clown act.

Kansas City hit fast as if to build up a quick lead, but the determined collegians matched them basket for basket throughout the first period. The magnificent Hill tallied 16 points as the Stars manufactured a slim 26-21 first period edge. It was Hill again in the second canto, with the dusky demon adding 12 points to his total. Halftime score favored Kansas City 43-30.

The Wolves' wily mentor, Bob Livingston, reached into his bagful of tricks as the new half started, and emerged with five-ft., seven-in. "Mouse" Davis. He assigned the "sky-scraper" sophomore to guard Hill, man-for-man in the battle of the behemoths.

Davis controlled the tip from center circle, and went on to hold Hill to eight hilarious points throughout the remaining time.

The Negro acrobats provided a barnful of belly-laughs in the closing minutes, with a repertoire which included baseball, football, shoulder-straddle, choo-choo train, and footsies.

Hill was the game's high scorer with 36 points. Taylor provided 20 more for the Stars. Bob Bushnell chalked up 12 for OCE, followed by Davis with 11.
