Before you begin, check out the Libe Guide prepared by Sarah Calhoun and the instructional material prepared by Elizabeth Budd

The basics:

- You may choose to do either an individual or a group exhibit.
- You should complete your exhibit by the last day of finals and make it public.
- Your exhibit should focus on an aspect of the archival work that you have found most compelling.
- It should include some reflection on at least some of the goals of inclusivity that we have discussed this term.
- It should include some reflection on what collections policies, practices, or context has shaped your exhibit and/or items most profoundly.
- It should include a statement on your own positionality relative to the archive.
- It should contain an appropriate selection of images and items, with captions that identify the items and appropriate metatdata.
