In Review Past Week's News Events

Large squadrons of British bombing planes have reached Berlin in the course of attacks on North and Northwest Germany. Twenty-two British planes were lost in one raid this week. Residents of Berlin who were out to witness the developments between the signalling of the air-raid alert and the all-clear signal classified the raid as lively—a significant admission. A communiqué from Germany said that only a few of the attacking planes were able to penetrate the fire of anti-aircraft batteries surrounding Berlin. Another heavy R.A.F. raid took place over Boulogne on Monday when the sky was reddened by huge fires. The assault upon the German coast started around midnight with subsequent waves of bombers adding new fires to those set by the initial formations swinging out across the channel. While this raid was in progress the Nazis struck back, bombing a Southeast Coast town, the Northeast Coast, East Anglia, a town in the East of England and Northeast Scotland. Over Boulogne the R.A.F. encountered one of the heaviest anti-aircraft barrages yet seen from the English side of the Dover Straits. This assault followed a Saturday night attack upon a synthetic rubber plant in the Rhineland, in which Canadian airmen participated. Returning pilots said they left the vital Huns plant in a billowing mist of smoke and flames.

It was reported this week that Russian forces on the counter-offensive against the Germans by land, sea and air, have driven the invaders from the highway leading to Leningrad, delivered "massive" aerial blows at the Nazis and captured a submarine. The Red Army holds the initiative on a broad section of the front, it was announced in Moscow, with some of the fiercest fighting taking place on the mud-churned bog-stridden battlefields before Leningrad. Monday's early morning war reports said Red airmen on Sunday backed up the embattled land forces with one destructive raid after another, upon the German both in front and far behind the lines. The captured German submarine was identified as the U-73, one of Germany's largest sea going submarines. The counter-attacking force said in a dispatch that it was a Government newspaper first to have blocked a German thrust across a river and then to have taken the offensive. The Germans lost 1,500 dead and wounded in the one action, the paper reported. Troops were ordered to fight a group of German paratroopers dropped in their rear during the night. While hastily mobilized citizens and sailors from the Baltic fleet and the Soviet marine aided in the battle of Leningrad, heavy fighting continued along the entire front as the war entered its 12th week.

The United States Navy Department bluntly disputed Saturday night a claim from Berlin that the destroyer Greer had been the aggressor in an encounter with a German submarine off Iceland. It reiterated that the initial attack was made by the submarine on the Greer. Although State Department and Government officials were silent on the German communiqué, Chairman Tom Connally, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said: "The Nazis might just as well learn now that we are going to defend our ships and our citizens. John M. Hightower, Assistant Press Staff Writer, said that storm signals are in the Atlantic. He declared that what they seem to mean in this second week of the third year of the war is that the United States is nearer open hostilities than it has been since the final days leading up to the entrance into the first Great War a quarter century ago. Then as now, he said, the issue at the heart of the crisis was freedom of the seas and then as now Germany U-boat operations raised the challenge. The American historic policy in the Atlantic, it was pointed out, was to stand against this grim background that President Roosevelt arranged to make a broadcast address on Monday evening before the death of his agent in the Pacific, a change in plans and postponement of the address until Thursday. What the President intended to talk about remains a matter for conjecture in the absence of any official indication as to the subject but current war developments taken in conjunction with his utterances of recent months suggest that he may well have in mind reaffirmation in special terms Washington's policy of keeping the sea lanes open. Coming at this time, such a pronouncement would be a direct warning to Japan and Germany that neither the submarine-destroyer incident off Iceland nor Japanese maneuvers against the movement of munitions across the Pacific would alter American plans for aiding nations fighting the Axis.

1941 Wealthy Crop Cleaned Up in Past Week's Shipments

The 1941 Wealthy crop is "cleaned up" coupled with this announcement of special importance to the northern end of the valley—B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. were also able to state Wednesday afternoon that the Eysler and Transcendent trapapple crops were 100 percent sold. A few Wealthies still remain but the deal generally may be considered as closed. This is the first time in many marketing seasons that this variety has been disposed of entirely before drastic measures have been necessary to clear the way for the McIntosh rush. Approximately 190,000 boxes were sold.

1,300 PUPILS BACK TO WORK

There is a very large—almost a record—enrollment in the Vernon schools, with the probability of many more former students returning after the fruit picking and packing season concludes. In the Senior and Junior High School, 520 are enrolled at present. Approximately 50 more are working at some branch of the fruit industry, mainly picking.

PRODUCERS' RETURNS STILL TOO LOW, SAYS GROWERS' EXECUTIVE

W. RITCHIE DOWREY

Vernon Rotarians will extend a welcome on Wednesday, September 17, to William Ritchie-Dowrey, Governor of this Rotary District, when he will attend a regular meeting of the Club in the National Hotel.

Market Picture Changes

To the Okanagan growers and to the general public, word at the week end of the re-opening of the Old Country deal has therefore come as a complete surprise. The entire marketing picture for this season is now being revamped to meet the new and startling development. The arrangements are essentially a deal between the British Ministry of Food and the Canadian government. From Ottawa last week came first news of development, given to the B.C. Fruit Board, B.C. Tree Fruits, shippers, and other allied branches of the industry.

MILITARY NOTE - AT BIG FAIR

Soldiers To Demonstrate With Modern Equipment At Exhibition

The entertainment features of the Interior Provincial Exhibition to be held in Armstrong, September 23 to 25, include a military display by soldiers of the Vernon Military Training Centre. The soldiers will be accompanied by their band. Featured also will be Bren gun machines and carriers in action.

Daylight Saving Ended--For Part Of City Only

"What time will I meet you?" "Oh, 7 o'clock will be fine."

"What time is that, Daylight Saving or Standard Time?"

This type of conversation is frequently heard in Vernon these days since half of the city reverted to Standard Time and the rest remained on Daylight Saving.

Many clocks and watches were turned back one hour last Friday in accordance with the City Council's proclamation that Vernon would revert to Standard Time, but all government offices stayed on Daylight Saving and are continuing on "fast time" until the end of the month when all B.C. is going back to "slow time."

At the week end confusion reigned as many people turned their clocks back and tried to figure out the differences in time. One woman solved the problem in an easy fashion. "This lady phoned the Capitol Centre one afternoon to ask the time for the afternoon matinee would start. When told that the matinee started at 2:30 Daylight Saving Time she said, "Now look, how long is that from now?"

The Court House is still running on "fast time" as are garages, the liquor store, the City Council, the Vernon Military Training Centre, Associated Growers and Mackenzie, White and Dunsmuir Ltd., Okanagan Telephone and West Canadian Hydro are on standard.

Stores, schools and other municipal offices are operating on Standard Time, as are most business premises.

Many housewives are faced with the problem of having men in the house eating their dinner at different times.

The clock atop the Post Office is still on Daylight Saving while the clock further down the street above the T. Eaton Co. store is now on Standard. The problem of being in two places at the same time has at last been solved.

Everything will be standardized out at the end of the month, September 30, when all of B.C. will return to Standard Time.

Third White Woman In North Okanagan Is Still Hale, Hearty

ARMSTRONG, B.C., Sept. 8.—On Saturday, September 6, friends and relatives visited at the home of Mrs. Leat Ehmkke, who celebrated her 88th birthday.

No other living woman and only one or two men can look as far back on the life of the North Okanagan as can Mrs. Ehmkke. On August 24 of this year she celebrated the 50th anniversary of her arrival here. On July 1, 1877, with her husband and three-week-old baby, she left the land of her birth, Germany, landed at New York, came west through the United States to San Francisco, by steamer to Victoria, by rail to Yale, and by stage to Kamloops, Grande Prairie and O'Keefe's.

There they were met and brought to this district in a wagon over muddy roads by Mrs. Ehmkke's uncle, Hermann Wicher, who is one of the original North Okanagan settlers, his farm being the one on which Mr. and Mrs. Tom Phillips now reside.

Mrs. Ehmkke was the third white woman to arrive in the North Okanagan, the first two being Mrs. E. F. Young and Mrs. A. L. Fortune.

In spite of the hardships of pioneering, Mrs. Ehmkke enjoys practically perfect health and on

FALL BAZAAR TO BE HELD BY OYAMA W.A.

Wife Of New Anglican Rector Welcomed To Membership

OYAMA, B.C., Sept. 8.—The monthly meeting of the Anglican W.A. took place at the home of Mrs. R. M. Tucker, on Thursday, September 4. There was a good attendance, and Mrs. A. R. Lett, wife of the Rev. A. R. Lett, was welcomed as a new member.

Arrangements for the fall bazaar, to be held sometime in November, were discussed. It was decided to have, as an added attraction, an exhibit of handicrafts, knitting, plain sewing and home-cooking, this exhibit to be open to anyone interested, whether belonging to the Community or not; a small entrance fee to be charged, and prizes to be given. Mrs. A. R. Lett, Mrs. A. Gray and Mrs. L. Norman were appointed conveners of this committee, and the members of the W.A. hope widespread interest will be displayed in this event.

Friends of Mrs. Holtom will be pleased to hear she is making satisfactory progress after a very serious illness, though she is still confined to the Kelowna General Hospital.

YOUTH SENTENCED TO 18 MONTHS IN JAIL

On Tuesday in Police Court a youth of 17 from the Kootenays was convicted on two charges, unlawfully breaking and entering and theft. He was sentenced to prison terms of 18 months and three months respectively.

Magistrate William Morley said that the term should be served in Okalla jail but that he would recommend that the youth be sent to a home. The sentences will be concurrent, so the actual total time of the two sentences is only 18 months.

Police were called to Watkin Motors Ltd. on Monday, September 1, to investigate a robbery in which $5.43 had been taken from the cash register.

During the course of further investigations of the case, a youth was picked up and held as a suspect. He first appeared in Juvenile Court on Monday last, but the sentence was set on Tuesday.

The Anglican Sunday School reopened on Sunday, September 7. Verney, Barbara and David, the three children of Mr. and Mrs. J. Craig, are home again after spending the summer vacation with Mrs. Craig's mother at Naramata.

HOW BIG is a head of lettuce?

Good lettuce heads vary. Some grow in tighter, heavier heads than others. Some heads are larger, some smaller.

But most stores price it all at so much a head! So you squeeze the heads, and try to choose the heavier, more solid one.

To get your money's worth you may have to take a larger head than you want—or else pay the same price for a smaller head.

Now if lettuce were priced by the pound, you could pick out just the head you like and pay only for the exact amount of lettuce you get.

If lettuce were advertised at so much a pound, you could compare prices. You can't now, because "large heads" are one size in one store, another size somewhere else.

Your Safeway now prices lettuce by the pound. You can select the exact lettuce head you want. And the weight of your purchase determines the price.

Not just lettuce: On every vegetable and fruit Safeway carries you now get all the advantages of free selection and pricing by weight. Come and try this new way.

Many prominent women tell us they would like every store in town to price all fruits and vegetables by weight. Then you could get just the amount you want, just the sizes you like, and full value for your money every time. Wherever you trade, why don't you ask your store man about it?

MRS. ADA WILLIAMS BURIED AT ARMSTRONG

Resident Of District Since 1922 Had Been Ill For Long Period

ARMSTRONG, B.C., Sept. 8.—On Wednesday evening, September 3, after a long illness, Mrs. Ada Grace Williams, aged 77, a resident of this city and district since 1922, died at the residence of her son, Arnold J. Sutherland.

Mrs. Williams lived in the United States until 1908 when with her husband, Lawrence H. Sutherland, and their family, she came north to Alberta. It was on May 28, 1917, at Medicine Hat, Alta., that she and her husband were married until August, 1922, they made their home at Steveston, Alta.

On coming to Armstrong they at first made their home on Knob Hill, later living on the Charles Christian property east of the city. When Mr. Williams died in 1933, Mrs. Williams with her daughter, Mrs. Nazarene, moved to the present home.

Besides her daughter, of this city, and her son, who is at present at Limestone, Queen Charlotte Islands, is survived by her son, Lloyd D. Sutherland, of this city; one sister, Mrs. W. A. Warford, Panorama, Iowa; one brother, Otto L. Burns, of Laramie, Wyoming. One son, Lyle L. Sutherland, predeceased her when he was 19 years old.

GLACIER'S "FLOWER WOMAN" SUCCUMBS

REVELSTOKE, B.C., Sept. 9.—Passengers on countless C.P.R. passenger trains between 1910 and 1918 travelled at the beauty of the flower garden at Outbank, east of Glacier, and many of them received beautiful bouquets from that garden as their train passed the lonely spot in the mountains.

The woman, who tended that garden and made up the beautiful bouquets which she took to the platform of passing observation cars, was Mrs. Christina McKenzie, wife of Dugald McKenzie, the track watchman at Outbank. Mrs. McKenzie, who became known all over the continent as the "Flower Lady of Outbank," died last week at the home of her son here, Archie McKenzie, in her 85th year. Her son, who is now a C.P.R. fireman on the Revelstoke division used to help his mother look after the flower beds.

Mrs. McKenzie had hundreds of letters, books and other souvenirs in her possession which came from people all over the country who had received bouquets. Not knowing her name most of the recipients addressed the mail, "To the Flower Lady of Outbank."

She was a native of Dundee, Scotland. Her husband died 22 years ago.

LAVINGTON NOTES

LAVINGTON, B.C., Sept. 8.—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Graham arrived home in time for the school reopening on Tuesday last. A few pupils were absent to help with fruit picking and other work on the farms for a short time.

Liberal Nominee

rection was established in his home city of Kelowna.

"Let your minds go back to the debacle that took place when this legislation was declared ultra vires and to the efforts made by the Okanagan Valley to have some similar legislation re-established," Dr. MacDonald said. "Then perhaps you will remember also the fast and loose game that was played by the Tolmie administration while the Okanagan was straggling."

Never at any time had he attempted to take the credit for establishing control legislation in this province, the minister continued. The British Columbia act was drawn and held in abeyance until the Dominion legislation was introduced so that any differences might be ironed out. Then the B.C. act was passed before the Bennett act had secured second reading.

Strling, Dr. MacDonald charged, evidently feels that he will be unable much longer to remain in public life and therefore is attempting "to write my obituary as well as his own. I would suggest he leave his remarks in the singular."

EMPHASIZES DETERMINATION

Emphasizing once more his determination to fight for the right of primary producers to organize and control their own product, Dr. MacDonald declared that "so long as a breath of life remains in my body I will continue to fight for the right of the farmer, the fisherman, the miner, the logger, the grower of this province, agriculture."

In Vancouver a campaign is organized and ready for launching having as its aim and purpose the wiping out of statutes protecting primary producers. An element in B.C. already protected by laws governing hours of labor and wages, is aiding the campaign and this element is prepared to pay only what it wishes to pay for products of the soil, regardless of cost of production.

The decision of the Privy Council validating B.C. marketing legislation established for all time the right of a province to legislate for its people on the same basis as the sovereign rights of Great Britain permit that country to legislate for the British peoples.

ATTENDANCE DOWN AT ARMSTRONG SCHOOLS

Bigger Enrollment Expected Soon As Paralysis Scare Subsides

ARMSTRONG, B.C., Sept. 9.—When the school opened on Monday morning, September 8, less than the normal percentage of scholars answered the roll call. Some students are staying at home to help on the land, some are quarantined and some parents are not allowing their children off their own premises, owing to the recent infantile paralysis scare. Only one teacher was unavoidably absent.

It is hoped by this time next week a more perfect attendance will be present as a large number of those who are now under quarantine will be free.

School is operating on standard time as is a large percentage of business places and practically all homes.

George Rimmer and Jim Gill, of the Engineers Corps at Peta-awa, Ont. spent a few days leave last week at their homes here.

A large crowd of residents from all points of the North Okanagan were present at the meeting of the Directors of the Interior Provincial Exhibition, held on Monday evening, September 8, in this city. Plans are well advanced and all were pleased to know that the Army will be represented at the Exhibition.

Mrs. Harold North left last week to spend a couple of weeks with relatives in Calgary.

Accompanied by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Clayton Shore, Mrs. Arthur Hickey, of Traverse City, Michigan, arrived on Saturday to spend three weeks with her father, James Coleman, brother, William Coleman, and her sister, Mrs. Alfred Lutze, of Falkland. They will travel West to Vancouver before turning south to the United States.

"Certain business interests," the minister charged, have found it profitable to exploit the Orientals on the Coast and the Doukhobors. Against these peoples, with their low standard of living, the white agriculturists cannot compete. The smashing of market control would allow the Orientals and Doukhobors to exact all others from branches of agriculture.

Opposition to the department's policy has been carried into the Legislature, "and no two men were more vehement and more consistent in their criticism of me than were Mr. Maitland, the leader of the Opposition, and Mr. Winch, the leader of the C.C.F.," the minister charged.

Mrs. Maitland and Winch, the speaker continued, "were supported by people who think that they should have the right to buy what they want at a price they want to pay regardless of the cost of their goods."

The situation today and when the Tolmie government left office was compared by Dr. MacDonald. "One of the sorriest stories in the political history of this province" was the way in which he described the departure of Dr. Tolmie by his cabinet members in 1933. The present leader of the Opposition was the "pinch hitter" of that government and must assume his share of the failure of that administration, "however much he would like to forget it."

During the five years of the Tolmie government, the gross debt of the province was increased by $60,000,000 and when the Pattullo government first took office it was faced with re-establishing credit and with finding the money to honor $1,000,000 worth of cheques already issued but, without funds behind them.

In concluding, Hon. Dr. MacDonald defended the government's operation with Ottawa in the war effort. He cited an instance of how payment of a bonus to egg producers kept many producers in business until the Old Country market recently opened up.

QUIET WEDDING HERE UNITES MISS McEWEN AND RONALD HILL

A very quiet wedding was held in the United Church manse at 2 o'clock on Saturday, September 6, when Rev. Dr. J. H. Davies united in marriage, Jean Lorraine, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. McEwen, of Okanagan Landing, to Ronald Edward Hill, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Hill, of the Goldstream.

The bride looked charming in an afternoon frock of Empire blue crepe, with shirred bodice of navy blue. Her accessories were navy blue and white. A corsage of white roses, Miss Muriel McEwen, sister of the bride, was the only attendant, wearing a beige redingote ensemble with brown accessories, and a corsage of white flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill left for Calgary and eastern cities to spend their honeymoon. On their return they will reside in Lumby.

VERNON-DAYS SHOWED LOSS OF SOME $250

Financial Results Of Mid-Summer Event Reviewed By Kinsmen

At the first meeting of the Vernon Kinsmen Club after the summer recess on Monday evening, a financial report on the "Vernon Days and Frontier Nights" celebration of last July was given, showing a net loss of approximately $250.

Because the celebration was held as a war effort, members of the club felt that some public accounting should be made.

It was pointed out that the gross revenue derived from the celebration was some $2,000 less than in 1939 while expenses were fairly constant. Total race track takings were insufficient to pay even the purses.

Several factors were responsible for the deficit, members of the club felt. Chief of them was the record heat of the two-day event, when temperatures were above the 100 degree mark.

Dr. A. J. Wright, city medical officer, spoke to the club on milk and the need for a new milk bylaw for Vernon. President R. H. Cull presided.

JUNIOR AUXILIARY TO HOSPITAL HOLDS TWO ENTERTAINMENTS

Members of the Junior Hospital Auxiliary are busily engaged in preparations for two entertainments planned for the early autumn.

On Thursday afternoon, September 25, the Auxiliary, in cooperation with the Hudson's Bay Co., is presenting a display of fall winter fashions entitled "Autumn Leaves." This will be the second event of this nature to be held this year by the Auxiliary and by the Hudson's Bay, the first show last spring being entitled "Tulip Time."

The date tentatively selected for the Auxiliary's annual dance is October 10 in the Scout Hall. The affair will be known as the "Red, White, and Blue" ball.

SIGN UP VOTERS

Chief feature of political activity during the past week has been the campaigns waged by both Liberal and Conservative organizations to place citizens entitled to vote on the lists. Several hundred names have been added. The list closes on Saturday. Government Agent R. M. McCusky announced Wednesday that as a convenience to voters the main office in the Court House will remain open on Saturday until 8 o'clock Daylight Saving Time, which is 7 o'clock Standard Time.

North Okanagan Conservatives will hold their adjourned nominating convention tomorrow night, Friday, in the Scout Hall. A large crowd is expected to be present to place citizens entitled to vote on the lists. J. H. Watkin, the riding association president, is campaign manager.

Iron, K. C. MacDonald was officially named Liberal candidate last week. He left for the Coast on Saturday evening. The Liberal campaign manager will be C. W. Morrow, who is also North Okanagan association president.

C.P. BARGAIN FARES

Victoria passengers may use the midnight boat Thursday, September 11, or 1:45 p.m. boat September 12, and Nanaimo passengers the 6:30 a.m. or 1:45 p.m. sailings to connect with 10 a.m. or 7:15 p.m. train from Vancouver, September 12.

It Resembles DEVONSHIRE BUTTER

Penticton Residents now in Victoria have used Noca since it was first made and seem lost without it

★ Here is what they have to say

1612 B. Begbie Street, Victoria, B.C., Sept. 4, 1941

The Northern Okanagan Co-operative Creamery Association (Noca Butter) Vernon, B.C.

Dear Sirs:

You tell us where we can buy Noca Butter in Victoria, they do not seem to sell it anywhere here.

We have lived at Penticton for 22 years and have used and enjoyed your butter since it came on the market. We would so much like to get it again, and would appreciate very much if you could tell the name of a dealer handling it here. To our mind and taste there is no butter like it, as it resembles Devonshire Butter, in flavor and quality, as no other does.

Faithfully yours,

BUTTERFAT PRICES AT 12-YEAR HIGH

Output Of Butter Across Canada Showing Large Increases

Cream prices are now at a 12-year-high in the North-Okanagan area. The rate for Special Grade for the month of August was 36 cents per pound.

The wholesale butter market at Montreal, which regulates all Canada, has been somewhat weaker. This was because of the report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics that the total of butter held in the nine largest cities of Canada is about 600,000 pounds greater than on September 1 of last year.

Trade is quiet while the "All Canada" figures are being compiled. They will show the total stocks of creamery butter in all creameries, dairies and cold storages of the Dominion.

Output of butter, especially in Saskatchewan, is very much greater than last year. Farmers everywhere are turning to the creamery as an outlet for grain which can not be marketed in any other way than by feeding to cows and to hogs.

The new bacon agreement calls for 600,000 pounds in the year starting October 31. This is an increase of 120,000,000 pounds over the 1941 deal.

PLAY PENTICTON FOR BALL CHAMPIONSHIP

The Vernon baseball line is not satisfied with the one trophy won on Sunday last and is looking for cups to be placed on the shelves. On Sunday in Polson Park the locals will have their chance as they take on Penticton, winners of the International League in a sudden death game for the Interior championship.

Penticton won an overwhelming victory over the locals last year but are not expected to repeat. Manager M. Macdonald, of the Vernon club, looks upon it as a share and share alike basis. He says, "they beat us last year so we will win this year."

Bill Gray held the lucky ticket, number 1068, for the drawing at the last home game.

Miss Doreen Christensen left on Saturday for Calgary, where she will spend a short holiday.

Gunner W. J. Pratt, R.C.A.F., stationed at Brandon, spent the week end in Vernon with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Pratt.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Garward and their infant daughter, formerly of Oliver, where Mr. Garward was for 10 years the manager of the Over-waiter store, recently arrived in Vernon to make their permanent home in this city. Mr. Garward is the new manager of the Over-waiter store.

This evening, Thursday, members of the Salvation Army will gather in the Citadel to extend a welcome to Capt. and Mrs. Arthur Cartwell, who have arrived from Trail to assume charge of the Army's work in Vernon. This evening's service will take the form of a welcome rally. Capt. and Mrs. Cartwell succeeded Lieut. H. Williamson, who has been busy as an instructor in the Army for the past seven weeks and who has left for a post in Vancouver.

Ducks Plentiful In District

Hunters in the Vernon district should be able to take home more than they wish this year as from all reports received, tremendous flocks of locally raised ducks are feeding on the grain fields.

Nimrods will have their first chance at depleting the numbers of the ducks, geese, and snipe on Saturday, September 20. The season will last until December 4.

C. Still, game warden for the Vernon district, says that never has he seen larger numbers of local ducks. As many as 400 have been seen on one grain field.

Sloughs on the Indian reserve are very low so the shooting there will be curtailed to a large extent. The best bet for shooting would seem to be in grain fields, either in the morning or evening light.

Hunters will be of course be allowed to shoot ducks. They are not popular as a game bird, they are unpopular because they devour much feed in lakes and sloughs.

Daily bag limits for ducks will be 12 in the aggregate with a season bag limit of 25. Five geese may be taken in a day with the season limit of 25. Bag limit for snipe will be 15 daily, season limit will be 100. Twenty-five coots may be taken per day and 150 per season.

With the arrival of cold weather, large flocks of migratory game birds will be arriving from the north to supplement the number of local ducks, and so should make lots of shooting for everyone.

CITY ENQUIRES INTO VERNON RENT CONTROL

Council Decides To Secure Information From Authorities

The City Council this week moved to enquire into rent control measures for Vernon following receipt of two letters from residents complaining that their landlords were demanding increases in rentals.

Mayor A. C. Wilde explained that several of the larger centres in British Columbia have had controls operating. The situation in Vernon will be enquired into by the City Council.

A. E. explained to the authorities. Mr. Berry Ltd., on behalf of the German Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada, asked Council approval of a deal whereby the church would purchase property on Elm Street for $800 and would spend $200 on improvements. Sanction was withheld temporarily.

Restricted parking areas will be enforced in front of the National and Kalamalka Hotels, the Council decided after receipt of a request from D. J. Robison, of the National.

The C.P.R. lands department informed the Council by letter that a transaction is being considered for sale of the entire right-of-way to Okanagan Landing. Alderman Fred Starwood said he was reliably informed that the railway was asking $150,000 for the property and Mayor Wilde declared that it appeared as if the Council's assessment was much too low, if this report were true.

An offer of $85 for property on Schubert Street east was refused by R. Fitzmaurice on behalf of a client. The Council decided that the minimum sale price should be $100.

F. Rush's bid of $25 to demolish an old building on Barnard Avenue west, now occupied by J. H. Christie, was accepted. Mr. Christie informed the Council that he had spent days searching for another house but had been unable to find one, and the next move is up to you.

COST OF LIVING POLICY DANGEROUS

In days of peace, the dry statistics issued from time to time in Ottawa telling of the level of the cost of living index elicited little or no interest among the ordinary citizens.

Today, however, the situation is radically changed. A very large proportion of the people of Canada, whose ordinary, day-to-day existence occupied much of their thinking and almost all of their energies, are suddenly being awakened to the unpleasant fact that the cost of living is going up.

In point of fact the situation as yet, with respect to wages and prices, is not nearly so serious as it was after the last war. According to an official Dominion publication, "average wage rates are higher today than they have ever been in Canadian history, with the single exception of the year 1920. In that year wages were about two percent higher and the cost of living was fifty percent higher than today."

"Wage rates are about four percent higher today than in 1929, although the cost of living is ten percent lower."

There is no denying, however, that a potentially dangerous situation exists, and in recent months there have been heavy increases in prices of certain commodities. Price rises have been brought even more sharply to the notice of the average wage earner by imposition of new and heavier taxes, notably on incomes, and by the weekly or monthly deduction of seven or five percent on all wages. Additional imposts on commodities have raised the values of many necessities or semi-luxuries. Certainly in Vernon actual, verified instances of profiteering have been few and far between.

An excellent illustration of the situation confronting Ottawa was given last week by Saturday Night, the Canadian weekly published in Toronto; a periodical to which reference has been made before in these columns.

Saturday Night says: "In the old days of the Mississippi steamboats, when two rival vessels were trying to beat one-another's speed from New Orleans to Memphis, the captains were accustomed to instruct the heaviest available negro to sit on the safety-valve while the stokers piled cordwood into the furnace in the effort to raise the utmost possible head of steam. The method was all right so long as the steam pressure did not exceed the resisting power of the boilers; but unfortunately it very frequently did, with disastrous results not only to the negro but also to the whole ship's company. The Ottawa price controllers seem to us to be in precisely this position. The Government is determined to raise all possible steam-pressure—metaphor for the output of national energy—for the prosecution of our war effort; and quite rightly so, for our objective is considerably more important than the mere beating of a rival in a race upstream. But a fairly large amount of price rise, like the increase of the pressure in the boilers, is the inevitable result of burning more of the fuel of national productive effort; and the attempt to prevent that price rise entirely is quite likely to lead to the blowing up of the boilers."

"As a matter of fact we do not think that in this case the negro is heavy enough to keep the safety-valve from functioning, at least to a considerable extent. What we are afraid of is a persistent refusal of producers to produce, and of marketers to market, the articles which are held by the price controllers at a price below the real cost of production."

The moral to be drawn is clear enough. Prices must be stabilized at levels that will allow the producer a just return and the newly-organized War Prices Board must act with decision. Perhaps price increases will be bound to come, and a bonus system for the lowest-bracket incomes will be necessary and desirable.

Canadians are beginning to recognize that the price for waging war through to victory will be sacrifice, hard and unpalatable sacrifice. Luxuries, maybe even semi-necessities will have to be given up "for duration."

STIRRING APPEALS MADE TO FREE PEOPLES

By this evening, Thursday, when President Roosevelt concludes his address to all peoples and to all continents, the world should know what the immediate United States reaction will be to Prime Minister King's and Prime Minister Churchill's stirring words of appeal of a week ago.

That President Roosevelt will discuss the case of the United States destroyer Greer's encounter with a Nazi submarine may fairly well be taken for granted.

Of his thoughts and intentions the world by now has a clear idea, commencing with his ringing declaration some years ago that the United States would aid Canada if ever this country were attacked. His words have been followed by Canadians and his actions applauded, until today it is difficult to understand what else the President may say short of asking for a declaration of war.

In his radio address Franklin Roosevelt followed a distinct pattern. First there were warnings, the most ominously accurate of any world statesman in power. Then there came the appeals to his own people to face up to the world danger that threatened them. Now what else can he say? The waiting world will know tonight.

Mr. King's address of last week stands out as the finest of his career. Neither in delivery nor, much more important, in content did his remarks compare unfavorably with those of Mr. Churchill, who is acknowledged as among the world's finest speakers.

Mr. King, from his trip, has undoubtedly learned much that will be of the greatest value to him as head of the government in Canada at war. No doubt that as speedily as possible the new measures to be taken will be played in effect. That Canada must do more—much more—will be the watchword.

Perhaps Mr. King has also learned another lesson

Dry Valley

Here was no home for man or animal, — A dreary desert space, a wasted land, — Strange arid hillsides shut it from the lakes, — Sad desolation spread on either hand.

"Dry Valley" lay unwanted and alone, — But one day someone came who saw its worth, — And knowledge brought from the encircling hills — Water that blessed the rich and waiting earth.

Gorgeous abundance clothes the wilderness, — On every side now orchards stretch along, — In blossomed Spring and heavy-fruited Fall — They grow replete with beauty and with song.

The beauty and the fruit were always there — When drifting sands were all that men could see, — Buried and useless, like a miser's gold, — Waiting their chance to bless humanity.

Vernon.

of value during the elapsed time between the two Atlantic journeys. It is to be hoped that he has learned the immense advantage of the bold stroke, of the lightning-like decision, of the necessity of a public man appearing vigorous in word and in action.

Announcement that the Prime Minister was flying the Atlantic—no mean feat for a 69-year-old man—brought an immediate and favorable response from Canadians and even from that section of the press of Canada which has been most unremittingly hostile to his every word and action. Even Mr. King's mixed reception by a large part of the Canadian Army overseas was not capitalized on as it might have been. Finally the reception accorded Mr. King's speech by press and public alike was exceptionally good.

And some of the things that the Prime Minister had to say were significant for every Canadian and also for every citizen of the remaining sections of the free world. The war is not an issue which can be limited to a few nations. The danger is world-wide and threatening to every nation still free. The free nations of the world must come into the struggle if victory is to be won within a time that will still leave intact the existing structure of civilization.

Mr. King urged the free world to accept, underwrite, and make effective with promptitude the pledge President Roosevelt gave on Labor Day on behalf of the people of the Great Republic: "I know I speak for the conscience and determination of the American people when I say we shall do everything in our power to crush Hitler and his Nazi forces." Mr. King's words and the supporting statement made by Mr. Churchill in still more trenchant terms were directed towards the neutral and non-belligerent nations—it is for them to hearken and to act, or to decline to act. No one can question their freedom to do as they please; but what they cannot control are the consequences that will follow policies of indifference to the truths and the warnings thus plainly presented to them for their consideration.

ONLY TWO DAYS TO REGISTER

If you are a newcomer to Vernon since June of 1937, then the onus is on you to see that your name is on the voters' list of North Okanagan.

You may easily ascertain whether or not you are enrolled on the list either by calling at the Court House or by communicating with interested political workers. The chances are that if you have never cast a ballot in this riding and that if you have not taken an active part in politics, then you will find yourself omitted from the list when you enter the polling booth next October 21.

In the past few weeks, campaign workers have been busily engaged in adding names to the lists and other people have called at the Court House main office. But those who should know state with emphasis that at least several hundred prospective voters will be denied the right to cast their ballots unless they speedily take action.

The need for swift action is imperative, because the lists will be closed for North Okanagan on Saturday next, September 13.

Here are some further pointers that may be helpful: Any person who failed to vote in the last Provincial election in June, 1937, was automatically crossed from the list.

Any person who voted in the 1940 Dominion election is not necessarily included on the Provincial list, as both lists are entirely separate.

HOW WE PAY FOR ARMS

(From the Minneapolis Star-Journal) A simple example in war finance was used recently by Geoffrey Crowther, editor of The London Economist, to explain at a Civic & Commerce Association luncheon how Britain is raising the money to wage war.

The example is of interest to Americans because we face exactly the same problem of how to pay the bill for our huge arms program.

Crowther took the figure 100 as the amount of Britain's national income in the year before the war. Of that, the figure 10 represented government expenditures, and 84 was the amount the public spent for goods and services.

Today, said Crowther, the figure 10 has become 68. This is an increase of 52. How did the government get the money?

There are only three ways to pay for armaments: 1. By working harder—that is, by increasing national production. 2. By drawing on assets. That includes drawing savings out of banks, liquidating investments abroad, and doing without normal repairs and improvements of factories, railroads, homes, etc. 3. By lowering the standard of living.

From The Vernon News Files

A fire, believed to be incendiary in origin, enveloped the beautiful All Saints' Church in flames on Tuesday morning last, and reduced it to a mass of charred timbers.

TEN YEARS AGO Thursday, Sept. 16, 1931 of charred timbers. The loss is estimated at about $35,000 with insurance totalling $21,000. At 3:15 o'clock Tuesday morning the Vernon Fire Brigade responded to an alarm from Mission Hill, a blaze having been discovered in the mess rooms at the rear of the Army—Vernon is assured of an airport meet on September 30 and October 1. This was the consensus of opinion following the meeting of the air pageant committee in the Board of Trade Room on Wednesday evening. One week from today, Thursday, August 17, the Lumbly Fair will open.

These are busy days at the Vernon Fruit Union. Four apple graders with their crews of expert sorters and packers are handling thousands of boxes of apples and other fruit and as busy as they are popular McIntosh Reds are brought in from the orchards. An interesting announcement was made by Bishop Doull on Monday, who informed The Vernon News that Rev. H. C. B. Gibson, at present the rector at Swift Current, Saskatchewan, will shortly have charge of All Saints' Church, Vernon. The Armstrong lacrosse boys travelled to Revelstoke last week to play an exhibition game there on Labor Day. The opposing team was Revelstoke and the game which was a very clean one, ended with Armstrong on the long end of a 5-3 tally.

The local squadron of the B.C. Horse paraded on Sunday to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, where a stirring and appropriate ceremony was held on Thursday, Sept. 14, 1911 the Rev. George Pringle. The Vernon Fire Brigade Band has again secured the engagement to play for four days at the Provincial Exhibition at New Westminster.

Vernon has cause to feel proud that this honor has fallen to the band, which the music committee of the exhibition found to be the premier musical organization in the West—Hamilton Lang, road superintendent, received hearty congratulations on Monday from Martin Burrell, who motored over the new road to Kelowna. Mr. Burrell has travelled thousands of miles over British Columbia roads, but says that nowhere in the province has he seen a finer highway than that which extends along Kalamalka and Woods Lakes.

President McKinley was shot and seriously wounded by a well dressed assailant while holding a reception in the Temple on Thursday, Sept. 12, 1901 American grounds, Buffalo. A few minutes after 4 o'clock last Friday afternoon. His condition is dangerous. The following buildings are under construction at Armstrong: the Presbyterian Church, Hardy and Wright's general store, Wood, Gargill Co. general store, Francis Implement store, pool room, Masonic Hall, drug store, Hawkins Bros., butcher shop, Foresters Hall, Armstrong Hardware Co. store, George Patchett, furniture store, W. Knapp, furniture store, J. Daniels house and blacksmith shop, C. Addison, shop and house, and the new brick school building of three rooms.

The railroad track is now laid to within two and a half miles of Vernon. Work on the new Presbyterian Church will commence next week. Last Thursday, Sept. 10, 1891 Friday while rounding up the stock back of George Whelans ranch, El Orthorland had an encounter with a large black bear. As the bear had climbed a tree El dismounted and climbed another tree close to where the bear was. He fastened his knife to a long pole and killed the bear. The average daily attendance at the Vernon public School was 24 for the month of August. The Rev. George Jacques, of Calgary, Alberta, on Fr. B. Jacques, of Enderby, preached in Vernon last Sunday morning.

War Shifts Toward Soviet Transcaucasia

(From the Canadian Institute of International Affairs)

The remote lands of the Transcaucasia are again in the headlines. From this land mass, which forms the bridge between the Black Sea and the Caspian Sea, Russian troops lately marched across the border into Iran. Through this region it is expected that British and American supplies will soon be moving into Russia. And there seems reason to believe that this rich country is a major goal of the Nazis in their push across the Ukraine.

Transcaucasia was formerly one republic of the Soviet Union, but since 1936 it has been divided into three republics: Georgia, Azerbaidzhan, and Armenia. Each of these is now a constituent part of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (which we usually designate as "Russia," although Russia proper is only one republic in the Union). This highly important section of the USSR actually covers less than one percent of its total area and has a population of only about 8,000,000. Its chief cities are Baku, the great oil centre with over 800,000 people, on the Caspian Sea; and Tiflis (Tbilisi) with over 500,000. Baku, the great oil port of the USSR, is on the Black Sea. The oil supplies from Baku flow by two pipe lines to Batum, whence they were formerly shipped by tanker to Odessa, to Rumania, and to Bulgaria, or through the Dardanelles. On the south-east is the vital border with Iran, and on the south-west is Russia's only border with Turkey. The southern border is wild and mountainous for the most part, and there are poor road and rail connections with Turkey and Iran. In fact, the communications within the republics themselves are not highly developed. There is only one rail line connecting the republics with central Russia and Moscow. They are cut off from the Russian Soviet Republic by the great range of the Caucasus mountains, which should offer some defence against a Nazi invader, although they are cut through by two military roads. Chief contact with the north is by sea from Batum. Presumably the Germans would count on some sort of attack by sea.

Germany's Achilles Heel

(From the New York Times)

When Germany prepared for total war against the world she prepared only for material success without any moral provision whatever for resisting the unthinkable disaster of defeat. Her army and people, tough-fibred both of them, are conditioned for victory alone. Fortunately Hitler had only six years in which to condition the people in his philosophy of ruthlessness, and education is an even slower process than rearmament. In this Douglas Miller, our communitarian attaché at Berlin for six years of the Nazi regime and author of "You Can't Do Business With Hitler," finds the Achilles Heel of Warring Germany.

The time has come, says Mr. Miller in Times Magazine, for the democracies to play upon the mistrust and cynicism now rampant in the Reich. Mistrust is widespread because there has not been time to inoculate the great bulk of the people, or even much of the army, with the tenets and blind fanaticism of Nazism. But cynicism is inherent in the Nazi philosophy itself. It rejects the moral code, acknowledges no difference between right and wrong, and teaches its youth to be brutal and selfish, with the result that in the end they will remain loyal to Hitler only while he wins. "This is the moral defect in the Nazi organization, a gangster weakness which leads to betrayal and dissolution. For a while it may make the German people fight harder because they realize they are now an outlaw nation committed to a series of desperate crimes the rest of the world will never pardon. Mr. Miller believes this must result inevitably in a hard peace. His solution is a settlement which will leave Germany industrially incapable of waging total war again.

AS I SEE IT

By Captain Elmore Philpott

Events will show whether or not Mr. King's prediction about the birth of wider joint defence arrangements was an announcement of something already being prepared, or just an expression of his personal hope. But his London speech was truly a momentous declaration of war. It was the finest speech he has ever made. He said exactly what the vast majority of Canadians would have wanted him to say. He said it at exactly the right time and in the right place.

In all his long career Mr. King has been noted for his caution. He is a word-of-his-friend. He is the last statesman in the world to overstep the bounds of propriety in regard to the policies of other peoples.

It was a fine job that Mr. King did for all the free world when he said as plainly as could be said that the fate of our world and our generation depends on how soon and to what extent the United States steps into this struggle. If it is with all her heart, and all her soul, and all her strength. The outlook has one aspect. If it is haltingly, hesitatingly, half-heartedly, the outlook is quite different.

There never has been a more dangerous deception than that spread for months past that it made no difference in fact whether or not the United States declared all-out war on Nazi Germany. It makes all the difference in the world.

The mere declaration of war by the American republic would have instantaneous moral consequences which would not only reach to every nook and corner of the globe, but into the very hearts of every human being.

Since the German armies were slowed down in their drive against the Soviet, and since the evidence began to pile up beyond all shadow of doubt of the immensity of their losses, the whole western world has been heaved a sigh of relief. By September 1, it was obvious to everyone that the Nazis could not even attempt an invasion of Britain this year. People everywhere began to make the most dangerous of mistakes: Because the danger of outright conquest of Britain was past—the increasing assumption was that the United States was Mr. King helped to shatter this illusion. As he says:

"The war will be far longer, far harder, far more desperate, if all free men do not rally to your side while you are at the fullness of your strength. Resistance alone will not bring victory. Unless a great many sources, the total energy of the free world is thrown into the struggle the war may drag on for years, carrying in its train famine, pestilence and horrors yet undreamed of."

There is no folly quite so foolish as the current and widespread idea that this war will win itself—that the Nazis will somehow or other blow up, and that the German war-lord caste—which is a combination secret society and trading company—will surrender to the greatest armament ever assembled—and let us walk in and dictate peace terms.

I expect the Nazi regime to blow up eventually. The Russian campaign has brought that eventually years closer. But there is no reason whatever to believe that we must attack to impose actual defeat on Germany unless and until we have armies already and available to fight their way to German soil, and so control as much of it as necessary to impose peace.

If the United States armies now actually available to fight those in Britain, ready to strike in through France right at this moment, the whole war might well be over by Christmas. And the alternate fact—well worth thinking over is this:

That unless the free world is ready and willing to carry the fight right into the heart of Germany, if necessary, who is likely to come out of this war is either years of stalemate or a truce, and not real peace, however disguised.

What the democratic world is facing in these years of stress really is a test of character. There is hardly an individual and certainly not a nation which does not recognize the embodiment of evil in Nazism and Hitler's proposed New Order. Yet in every western country, including our own, only a minority of the people was willing to take positive action to fight and beat back that menace, until action was forced by actual Hitler aggression.

The most damning indictment ever made of a great nation was that which passed the lips of Franklin Roosevelt himself recently when he said that the United States does about the war depends more on Hitler than anybody or anything else. That is an appalling admission because it is so obviously a plain statement of fact. Not one honest and intelligent citizen in the whole United States is willing to recognize the Nazi threat, and what it will mean to this continent if it conquers elsewhere.

Yet the U.S. now—exactly like us before 1939—hopes against shrivelling hope that somehow, somewhere, somebody else will stop or destroy the menace to all mankind.

The people of the United States are almost desperately unhappy these days—as anyone can feel after visiting with any considerable number of them. They are trying to make up their minds as to what they should do.

One fact that we in the British Empire should note is that a real cause of this hesitation and indecision is that a large percentage of intelligent United States citizens do not accept our premises about the basic background of the war. They have a deep rooted suspicion of British "imperialism" and consciously or unconsciously fear that if they do plunge in and help wind up this war the outcome will be no better than the last time—namely by one.

The great mistake is that we should all know that we have to act—not doubt, hesitate, quibble, and wait.

KAMLOOPS STAYS ON DAYLIGHT SAVING

KAMLOOPS, B.C., Sept. 8.—Because it would be confusion worse confounded, City Council decided not to follow the example of the Fraser Valley and Revelstoke by reverting to standard time at midnight August 31, even though the Council is associated in the Okanagan Municipal Association resolution favoring reversion.

Daylight saving time is the legal time of British Columbia; therefore, it would be necessary to amend the shop hours bylaw and such-like if the municipality did decide to revert. No municipal council decision, however, could affect, for instance, provincial government offices or beer parlors. There would be more confusion than presently exists.

Because of these factors, the councillors decided last week they would not take precipitate local action, but would await the outcome of the daylight saving time debate at the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention to be held at Harrison Hot Springs, September 23 and 24.

A Friendly Chat Among Women

By One Of Them

"Why," said a friend, "is it that the inimitable Gracie has such an appeal? Her most earnest admirers could not say she is a young woman; nor are her looks outstanding. She is just jolly, human."

The other woman thoughtfully laid down her empty tea cup, remarking, as she did so, "Her appeal is the common touch."

"Or walk with kings, nor lose the common touch," you remember.

Thinking about it afterwards, it seemed to me that she was right. We have spoken of Gracie before in this column; of her wit, her talent, and—greatest of all—her human and understanding qualities.

In a space of 20 years, she has emerged from dregs and a shawl to England's foremost star of the music-hall and popular entertainment type, so we may be pardoned for mentioning her from time to time.

AGAIN OUR GRACIE! We cannot help but feel pleased that our timorous suggestion of a civic record of those RECORDS men from Vernon have enlisted in the R.C.F.C.A. in this war has already borne fruit.

It is understood that steps are being taken in Vernon with this end in view, the surrounding districts following suit, under the sponsorship of the Canadian Legion.

Your affectionate, Cousin Rosemary.

whom are engaged in the fighting services. It is not suitable to wear the hat a long bob when in uniform, or too elaborately curled. A hair-dresser in the West-end of London has solved the problem with a cross between a shingle and a page-boy bob, which he calls the "blitz-bang".

And while we are on this subject, do listen to the story about the Prime Minister's secretary, Mrs. Churchill saw Harry Hopkins bareheaded, doubtless according to custom on this side of the Atlantic.

"Here, you can't go around like that," said the Prime Minister, "we can't have you catching cold!"

With which remark, a new gray hat was taken from the hat-stand at "No. 10," which Mr. Hopkins found was an exact fit.

This was the headgear with which he returned to Washington, stamped on the inner band, W.S.C.

LABOR SHORTAGE AT WESTBANK SOLVED High School Classes Dismissed To Allow Pupils To Work

RUTLAND, B.C., Sept. 8.—The Rutland Local of the B.C.F.C.A. met in the library room of the Community Hall on Wednesday evening, September 3, to discuss the matter of pickers' wages, labor supply and daylight saving.

About fifteen growers only were present and after some discussion they unanimously agreed that a fair wage for picking this season would be 30 cents per hour, with a bonus for better and more experienced pickers, according to their ability, and for piece-work 4 cents straight.

In the matter of labor supply it was unanimously decided to send a wire to the Department of Education asking to have the local High School closed for the balance of the month. It was reported that only 28 pupils were attending out of an enrollment of 68, and it was known that all but two of those attending had offers of employment, and that it was felt to be in the interests of all to close the High School.

The question of daylight saving proved to be a more contentious subject and a warm debate developed. The majority present were against it, however, and when a vote was taken on a resolution requesting Kelowna to go back to standard time it carried by a good majority, though several refrained from voting.

The question was settled for the growers the next day, as it happened, the Premier announcing that the province would revert to standard time at the end of the month.

The matter of school closing was also settled at the week end, the Department of Education consenting to the school closing, providing the local trustees agreed. Their agreement was obtained and on Monday morning the High School closed down for the month of September.

Chris Kronbauer, of the Vernon Military Camp staff, was home for the week end, prior to leaving for the Coast, having enlisted for active service in a Searchlight Battery.

WET WEATHER SLOWS PRAIRIE HARVESTING

Lowering Of Grades One Result Of Excessive Precipitation

Very little progress has been made in harvesting and threshing operations due to showery weather which has covered practically all of the western grain lands, according to the final crop report of the Department of Agriculture of the Canadian National Railways.

Further lowering of grades due to bleaching and sprouting in stock is reported from many points in Manitoba. Only a few more days' threshing will be required to complete operations in this province.

Some frost has been reported from northern points.

Southern Saskatchewan combining and threshing operations have been held up for most of the week by wet weather and further bleaching of grain is forecast.

In central Saskatchewan damage to grain by frequent rains and cool weather is reported. Late crops which are yet uncut should benefit by rains and fall work will be facilitated. In northern areas a week of good weather will mount complete threshing as more progress has been made.

In southern Alberta heavy showers have brought all threshing operations to a standstill. Pastures have been greatly improved. In northern Alberta there has been less rain and some progress has been made in threshing, which will be general towards the end of this week. Wheat is grading from 2 to 4 Northern and cutting of coarse grain is being rapidly completed.

In the Peace River district cutting of wheat is 85 percent completed. Heavy rains and considerable snow have delayed cutting and practically no threshing has been done. Frost has damaged some gardens.

As the tramp of marching feet grew fainter—"Give me a smile, To keep all the while, In my heart while I'm away," played the regimental band. And the woman under the dripping umbrella winked away a tear. Although war with its parting, its anxiety and dread was closing round her for the second time, such was her spirit, and there are thousands, aye—millions like her) she would not be otherwise part of it. "Glad and proud I am!" she said, as she was caught in the homeward movement of the crowd. On every route march; at landing quays, docks, and piers; at railway stations across this Dominion, wherever troops are moving, "Wish me luck as you wave me goodbye!" she cries. They speed them on their way. And Gracie Fields, who made the song so popular, though she has "talked with Kings," loves the common folk. Just like Jack's mother from her own Lancashire. This is not sentimentality. While we all know how to behave when there is a war on, it is what we are living within our secret hearts. On Monday, August 25, Gracie landed in New York on the Atlantic Clipper. For the previous seven weeks she had been touring British factories and army camps, singing and entertaining. Last Thursday she commenced a tour of the United States on behalf of the British War Relief Society.

Just a word by and large, about him. First of all, the custom of woman appearing hatless in public, now has the stamp of Royal approval. For in Bristol, England, no less a personage than H. M. Queen Mary, "hatless and carrying a parasol" (to quote the news item) visited a camp for bombed-out women and children. The gracious Queen Mother is at once conservative in her dress, and very womanly. So, I should think that if we had any previous doubts on the subject, they could be allayed, and we can appear anywhere without a quill, bareheaded, if we so desire. Hatless fashions go hand in hand with hair-dos. The war has brought its problems in this regard to the women in England, so many of

Win Wallace Trophy Easy Ball Muffed -- Vernon Takes Title

Once again the title of Okanagan League Champions rests with the Vernon baseball nine. The locals, at Kamloops on Sunday, fought an uphill battle all the way from the first inning but proved themselves capable of making the grade as they narrowly squeezed out a 4-3 win and annexed the Wallace trophy for the second straight year.

The game was played in the Kamloops Riverside Park on Sunday, under ideal baseball conditions. The sun pushed its way past the clouds that have been obscuring its vision regularly for the past winter and the warmth did much to help the players loosen up and play the ball they did.

The uphill push for Vernon started in the first inning when the locals were retired on three pitched balls. In the same inning Kamloops netted two runs. First man to bat for Kamloops, Gord Wyse, hit a smart single between third and short. Macdonald, the next man to bat, leaned on George Nuynens' pitch and hit a long one into the field. The ball bounced out of the park and so, by the ground rules, he was only allowed two bases. Wyse scored on the hit. Macdonald got a one-base hit and Kamloops scored.

In the third inning Hee McKenzie, of Kamloops, rapped out a two base hit which was slated for a home run until Cecil Ward made a beautiful stop on a one headed catch.

In the same inning McKenzie got into a hot box and for a short time confusion reigned as the ball was tossed back and forth between the second baseman and the third baseman. John Hughes soon tired of the game of catch and chased the elusive Kamloopsian down the base line. He caught him and tagged the unfortunate fellow with the ball in a very unfriendly manner. The tagging was done in such an unfriendly fashion that with such violence that the poor lad being put out landed on his face on the ground. The umpire expressed himself as displeased with the proceeding and ruled McKenzie safe.

In the eighth inning Joe Nuynens scored his first of the day when he banged a hit down the third base line. Frank Netzel followed Nuynens to bat and looked just the same as any of the players do, as he strode to the plate. No one suspected what he was about to do.

Netzel was playing despite a bad wrist and so the first base coach signalled for a bunt, meaning, of course, to try to save Netzel's wrist. Pitcher McKenzie reared back and poured a fast one across the plate and slightly outside. This ball was Netzel's favorite, he was unable to resist and so leaning on the little piece of horsehide he lifted it out of the park for a home run.

In the next inning, the ninth, the Kamloops pitcher weakened and gave out two walks and a one base hit. George Nuynens was the player to get the one bagger and Hughes and Joe Nuynens were given walks. That put three Vernon men on bases.

Ian Macdonald, guiding light of the locals, came to bat with two down and the score tied. He looked the balls over until he found one that suited him and then very cautiously rolled it down to the pitcher. With the crack of the bat the men on second and third started for home. It looked as if their efforts were to be in vain as the ball was just rolling down a little to one side of McKenzie.

McKenzie nonchalantly bent over to pick up the grounder and toss it to first for the third out but the ball was not having any of that. He juggled the elusive baseball and then threw it to first but not in time to catch Macdonald. Two men scored as a result of this play.

In the last half of the ninth Kamloops came to bat to make their last stand against the conquering invaders. Two men were struck out by an inspired Nuynens when a change was made in the batting order. George Wyse came in as a pinch hitter for Laidlaw.

Wyse also had a bum arm and had been out of the game for several weeks. That fact didn't deter him in the least as he stepped up to the plate and slapped a long two base hit. His brother, Gordon, got a nice single and Wyse scored on the hit, making the score 4-3. McDonald's "pop up" was caught by Hughes and the game ended.

MISS ROSALIND BEST MARRIED AT COAST

Former Lumby School Teacher To Reside In New Westminster

A wedding of interest to Vernon and Lumby was held in New Westminster on Wednesday evening, September 3, when Rosalind Evelyn, second daughter of Mrs. Rhoda Best, and the late Mr. Best, was united in marriage to Jack Mathews Warren, second son of Mrs. Edna Warren and the late C. Warren.

The bride is well known in Lumby where she taught school for a number of years.

The bride wore a floor length gown of white silk net and lace over taffeta. The net bodice was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline accented with pleated net ruffling. The sleeves were short, full puffs of net and a large net bow tied the dress at the back to mark the waistline. The full skirt had panels of lace at the front and sides. Her finger-tip embroidered net veil cascaded from a spray of gardenias, swansonian and fern.

The bride's attendants were, Mrs. Fred Best, who wore a gown of powder blue silk net over taffeta, and Mrs. Frank Howarth, attired in a yellow and green gown.

George Warren, brother of the groom, acted as groomsman. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. H. A. Ireland.

Out of town guests at the wedding and reception included Joe Harwood and Mr. and Mrs. J. Crockett.

After the reception the bride and groom left by car for Banff, Calgary and the Okanagan Valley. They will reside in New Westminster after their return.

APPEAR IN COURT SUPPLIER, RECIPIENT

On Thursday last week in City Police Court, J. Williamson was committed to the charge of unlawfully selling liquor and sentenced to a fine of $300 plus $175 costs.

Lawrence Jensen was picked up by a Provincial Police constable on Sunday, August 31, with two cases of beer in his possession. Jensen told the police that Williamson had sold him the liquor. Jensen also appeared in Court on Thursday and was sentenced to a fine of $50 or in default, 30 days at hard labor.

Executive Meeting

Broadcast series, which will be commenced in British Columbia in November, was agreed on by the executive and steps will be taken to assemble information for use in the series, with the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, the Extension Department of the University of B.C. and the CBC co-operating.

Threatened labor shortage, in respect of apple pickers, caused the executive to instruct head-office to keep in close touch with conditions and to make further appeals to the Departments of Labor and Education if the needs required. The secretary reported that a telegram from the Department of Education stated that High School staffs might be relied on to take steps to see that boys and girls, released for harvest work, would not lose scholastic standing.

WOMEN'S SERVICE

Information being secured by the executive regarding the women's field service system, operated so successfully in that province this year by the Ontario Departments of Labor, Agriculture and Education, in co-operation with the Dominion Department of Labor. The idea is to prepare a plan for use in B.C. next year, if conditions so require.

Supply companies reported to the executive that prices of fertilizers will be raised by several dollars a ton in 1942. The reasons given were higher costs of materials, higher wages and increased transportation costs of imported phosphate rock.

An investigation into hail insurance is being prosecuted through the North West Mutual Fire Association.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER

The B.O.F.G.A. Golden Jubilee Scholarship cheque for $100 was authorized for issuance to Miss Jean McMullan, of Salmon Arm, the University of B.C. winner this year. The executive extended its good wishes to Miss McMullan and President A. G. DesBrisay commented on the award going to the daughter of a tree fruit grower.

While a shortage of gasoline for farm operations has not developed, most of the growers expressed their might conceivably during the peak of orchard harvest operations and headoffice was instructed to keep close watch on the situation with a view to corrective measures being taken promptly.

Good wishes were extended to T. W. Peterson, former secretary of the Glenora Local who returned to enter the R.O.A.F., and who is now stationed at Brandon.

The executive listed with expressed appreciation to the quoted statement by Dr. Josiah Oldfield, of London, Eng., senior medical officer at a general hospital, to the effect that apples were the best food in the world for war nerves. It was agreed that it was desirable that this authoritative statement should be given the widest publicity.

Present at the meeting were President A. G. DesBrisay, Pen-faction; Col. Fred Lister, Camp Lister; W. J. Coe, Winfield; F. Le-Guen, Vernon; Capt. C. R. Newman, Sorrento, and Secretary Hayden, Vernon.
