OPERATION COSMETIC IN FULL SWING

U.S. SENDS AID TO CAMBODIA

Royal Children Under Guard

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard put security guards on five more children of the Royal Family today as it continued investigating an anonymous report of a plot to kidnap Princess Margaret's eight-year-old son. Police sources said the guard is precautionary and there is no definite sign the children are in danger. The 19-year-old daughter of a rich member of Parliament also was guarded after a report that she, too, was marked for kidnapping. Young Viscount Linley, Princess Margaret's son, returned to Ashdown House boarding school south of London Tuesday under what were said to be the strictest security rules ever put around a royal child. Police manned a roadblock at the school gates and patrolled the grounds with walkie-talkies and a dog. A detective slept in a room near the boy's. The kidnap guard was extended to Lord Linley's five-year-old sister, Lady Sarah Armstrong-Jones, at Kensington Palace in London.

ROUND-THE-CLOCK GUARD

A 24-hour watch was placed on the Duke and Duchess of Kent's two children, the Earl of St. Andrews, 7, and Lady Helen, 6, at their country home north of London. The two children of Princess Alexandra and Angus Ogilvy, James, 6, and Marina, 3, also were being guarded. Queen Elizabeth's two younger children, Prince Andrew, 10, and Prince Edward, 6, always have a police guard. Police began guarding Sarah Nabarro Monday after a Birmingham newspaper received an anonymous tip that the kidnap plot had been shifted from Lord Linley to the daughter of Sir Gerald Nabarro, Conservative member of Parliament from South Worcestershire. The kidnap reports started last week when a telephone caller told a London newspaper of plans to abduct Lord Linley as hostage for the release from prison of Reginald and Ronald Kray, twin brothers serving 30 years for murder.

CHARLES 11 LOSES AFTER 400 YEARS

LONDON (AP) — Wales won a border fight with England Tuesday after more than 400 years of skirmishing. Monmouthshire, which was seized for England by King Charles II, will soon be part of Wales officially, the House of Commons was told by George Thomas, secretary of state for Wales. The Encyclopaedia Britannica will have to change its description of Monmouthshire as "a county of England on the Welsh Border" and the long-active Monmouthshire in Welsh Society may have to disband for lack of target.

Heavy Poll In Quebec

QUEBEC (CP) — Returning officers and party organizers were predicting an exceptionally heavy vote in today's Quebec general election as voters across the province flocked to the polls. Lineups and large turnouts were reported by noon in many Quebec City and Montreal-area ridings.

Montreal police said they arrested three juveniles and one adult who tried to use false names to vote in Mercier riding, where Liberal Leader Robert Boudassa is fighting off challenges from Pierre Bourgault of the Parti Quebecois and Conrad Touchette of the Union Nationale. Police in Laval riding just north of Montreal said a few polls did not open on time at 9 a.m. but returning officer Reginald Lefebvre said scrutineers at two polls reported sick and were replaced so the polls could open a little later. Some eligible voters were reported to have been turned away in the riding but Mr. Lefebvre said he had not heard about this. Weather in most areas of the province was sunny and mild.

Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand voted at about 11 a.m. in his home riding of Missisquoi in the Eastern Townships. He was accompanied by his wife Gabrielle and daughter Andrea. A heavy turnout was also reported in the premier's riding which he has held since 1948.

Man Admits Abduction

VANCOUVER (CP) — Patrick Douglas Shaben, 43, of North Vancouver, pleaded guilty in provincial court Tuesday to a charge of abducting an 11-year-old girl last October. He will be sentenced May 25 on the charge of unlawfully taking possession of Phyllis Cohen, daughter of wholesaler Joseph Cohen. On the same date, he will be tried on three other charges laid after the Cohen girl and Kathryn Matheson, 11, disappeared Oct. 10 from Sir William Oslar school in Vancouver. The girls turned up safe a day-and-a-half later after Mr. Cohen paid $50,000 ransom. Shaben will also stand trial on charges of unlawfully taking possession of and enticing away the Matheson girl, and two charges of possession of the girls with intent to deprive their parents of legal custody. Shaben, free on $5,000 bail, was earlier acquitted of kidnap charges laid in connection with the incident.

Botany Bay Show Stolen

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — Franksters in an onboard motor boat stole the show today as the Royal Family waited to watch a re-enactment of Captain James Cook's historic landing at Botany Bay near here 200 years ago. Dressed in period costume and carrying a Union Jack, two young men raced for the shore, pursued by police boats and planted their flag before the official ceremony could get underway. Police later questioned the men. The incident came just before the start of the Cook ceremony watched by a crowd of 20,000 people at Kurnell, 10 miles south of Sydney. The official Captain Cook crew went ahead with their own landing, rowing for the shore from Endeavour II—a Canadian-built replica of Captain Cook's 18th century ship. Cook's landing April 29, 1770, is generally regarded as the start of white settlement in Australia.

Death Squad Suspected

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The bullet-riddled body of a pregnant woman found near a lonely road led police to speculate today that she was executed by the mysterious Death Squad. The incident came just before the start of the Cook ceremony watched by a crowd of 20,000 people at Kurnell, 10 miles south of Sydney. The official Captain Cook crew went ahead with their own landing, rowing for the shore from Endeavour II—a Canadian-built replica of Captain Cook's 18th century ship. War In S.E. Asia Expanded With 'Necessary Measure'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defence department announced today the United States will send advisers, tactical air strikes and other support for South Vietnamese army operations in Cambodia. It called the move "a necessary and effective measure" to save U.S. lives and those of its allies. The department thus confirmed an announcement by the South Vietnamese defence ministry in Saigon of U.S. combat and other support for a major operation in the Parrot Beak area of Cambodia jutting into South Vietnam about 35 miles from Saigon. Assistant Defence Secretary Daniel Z. Henkin read a statement to reporters saying: "The United States Military Assistance Command, Vietnam, in response to the request of the government of Vietnam is prepared to provide support" for the South Vietnamese operations. "This support will take the form of advisers, tactical air support, air co-ordinators, medical evacuation, and some logistics assistance. Fulbright is chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee.

On Friday, a White House spokesman called the presence of 40,000 North Vietnamese troops and Viet Cong guerrillas in Cambodia "clearly a foreign invasion." On Monday, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters: "We have an overriding interest in Cambodia." Elaborating, Ziegler said this interest pivots on "how a possible Communist takeover of Cambodia would affect the security of our forces in Vietnam and the Vietnamization program." The United States until now has officially stayed militarily clear of the developing Cambodia military war, which pits Cambodia's small 35,000-man army against the North Vietnamese and the guerrillas in South Vietnam who have occupied an area inside Cambodia for more than five years.

Washington 'Not Too Candid'

Noting that State Secretary William P. Rogers indicated to the committee Monday that the Nixon administration had not reached a decision on Cambodian requests for massive military aid, Fulbright said: "It looks as if they weren't very candid."

Henkin, who refused to elaborate on his statement, said the South Vietnamese government has described the purpose of the operations in the Parrot Beak area as "to destroy an extensive complex of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong bases and depots in Cambodian territory, barely 35 miles from Saigon."

"INCREASING THREAT" These bases and depots have posed an increasing threat to the security of free world forces in South Vietnam as a result of increased enemy activities in Cambodia and along the Cambodian-South Vietnamese border," Henkin said.

Wall Street Takes Tumble

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market fell back sharply from an early-morning rally, following news the United States is providing advisers for South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia. At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 0.13 to 724.46. A half-hour earlier it had been up 7 points. Trading picked up considerably after the Cambodian announcement, and the ticket was running two minutes late at noon. The earlier rise was due primarily to news of a meeting today between security-industry officials and Paul W. McCracken, chief presidential economic adviser, analysts said. The news sparked a technical rally. Motors, rubber issues, mail order-retail, electronics, rails, and airlines were generally higher. Steels, aircrafts, utilities, metals, and oils were mixed. Thlokol was the most-active issue at noon, off 3/4 to 1/2. General Motors was up 3/4 to 67 1/2 and Gulf Oil 1/2 to 24 1/2. Alcan rose 3/4 and Granby 1/2 among Canadian shares. International Nickel was off 3/4 and CPR 1/4. On the American Stock Exchange, Preston was off 3/4, Canadian Javelin was up 1/2 and Scurry Rainbow Oil 1/2.

Farmer Power 'Fragmented' So NFU Quits Grain Council

WINNIPEG (CP) — Charging fragmentation of farmer power, Roy Atkinson Tuesday led the National Farmers Union out of the Canada Grains Council. His walkout as a one-man delegation came during a closed session of the first annual meeting of the council. The NFU president's declared reason for withdrawing the organization from grains council membership was the council's decision to admit two new members to its already broad representation as a co-ordinating and advisory body. They are the Saskatchewan Association of Rural Municipalities and the Carman Farm Business Association, an organization of southern Manitoba farmers whose emphasis is on farm management and crop insurance.

KELOWNA VOTE Employees Union Rejects Pay Offer

The Kelowna branch of the B.C. Government Employees' Union has supported 54 other provincial branches in overwhelmingly rejecting 1970 wage increase offers. Ron Barker, public relations officer for the Kelowna BCGEU, announced today 117 local employees who voted on the proposals April 16 were 81 per cent for rejection. Department of highways employees, tradesmen and building service workers voted 93 per cent to reject the offers which ranged from seven to 11 per cent increases. Local votes were tabulated with those from other B.C. branches in the main office in Vancouver in the first vote ever taken on a province-wide basis by the BCGEU. Branch president, Jack Knorr, said the BCGEU was definitely not considering strike action and dates have been set for reopening negotiations. The BCGEU negotiates with the B.C. Civil Service Commission, which announced the increases April 8 in Victoria. In announcing the initial wage offers the commission said special adjustments had been recommended in positions at the lowest salary levels, including clerks, typists, stenographers, ward assistants and nurses aides in hospitals. Mr. Knorr said the strongest opposition to the offers came from the department of highways employees and tradesmen throughout the province. (See also Page 2.)

Boyne River Flood Spills Into Carman

CARMAN, Man. (CP) — The Boyne River, swollen by spring runoff and heavy rain, spilled its banks during the night and sent flood waters surging through the streets of this southern Manitoba town. By early today more than 60 families had left their homes and concern was being expressed about the town's water supply. Up to three feet of water rolled through downtown streets. Carman, a town of about 1,900, is 40 miles southwest of Winnipeg. The Boyne, not much more than a creek during dry weather, flows through the middle of the town before joining the Morris River and eventually emptying into the Red at Morris. Floodfighting began in earnest Tuesday as the Boyne began to surge upward. Many high school students left classes to assist in sandbagging and 100 armed forces personnel were sent here. 'I SAW FACES...'

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Delores Patricia Sheid was convicted Tuesday of feeding her 10-year-old daughter the hallucinatory drug LSD. For that and five other offenses, Judge James Balsinger sentenced her to 330 days in jail and fined her $2,025. After passing sentence on one charge—contributing to the delinquency of a minor—Balsinger told Mrs. Sheid, "I looked at and listened to that 10-year-old daughter of yours, a fine young lady, and for what you almost did to her I'm heartbroken that I can't give you more than $500 and 90 days. Other charges on which he found her guilty were possession of narcotic paraphernalia, possession of marijuana, resisting arrest, assault and battery and intoxication. The daughter, Diane, told the court her mother had given her LSD. "I knew what it was," Diane testified. "I saw things. I went into the bathroom and the mouthwash started melting. Sometimes I saw faces." Diane testified she also smoked marijuana when it was being passed around the family home. The girl now is in custody of a neighbor. Mrs. Sheid said: "I don't feel I'm guilty. I haven't done anything."

Israel Says Russian Pilots Flying From Egyptian Bases

TEL AVIV (Reuters) — Israel charged today that Russian pilots are flying military missions from Soviet-controlled installations in Egypt and termed their involvement a "grave development." (In Moscow, a Soviet foreign ministry spokesman said he had no information on the Israeli charge.) An Israeli government statement said Soviet pilots have not yet flown over ceasefire lines or become involved in air combat. But the statement said that "in recent days it has become clear beyond any doubt to the government of Israel that for the first time Soviet pilots are flying military missions from military installations under their control in Egypt." The statement said Soviet involvement already enabled Egypt to "increase its aggressive acts against Israel" and that it amounted to escalation of the Middle East conflict. Israel reiterated its stand that it would continue to defend itself against all acts of aggression whether they were violations of the ceasefire, air attacks or renewal of the war in the area.

MAY DEEPEN WAR

Some Israeli observers believed that greater Soviet participation in the Egyptian war effort could eventually lead to the Soviet Union being increasingly dragged into the conflict. They said it appeared certain that the United States would react, strongly to any direct physical Soviet intervention in the conflict. What had started as Soviet arms supply for the Arab cause developed earlier this year into the presence of Soviet military technicians to man the new SA-3 missiles, the observers said. This presence apparently now has gone a serious step further with Soviet pilots flying operational missions, observers said. Israel evidently feels that Egypt's confidence in the increasing Soviet support is directly responsible for its recent escalation of hostilities along the Suez canal front.

BULLETIN

BOSTON (AP) — Judge James A. Boyle said in an inquest report made public Wednesday he did not believe Senator Edward M. Kennedy intended to leave Chapquiddick Island with Mary Jo Kopechne at the time of the automobile accident which killed the 28-year-old secretary. "Mr. Trudeau's office Merc."

Israel Will Ask U.S. To Offer More Warplanes And Support

TEL AVIV (Reuters)—Israel felt the balance of power in the area was being upset. Mrs. Nixon was reported to have told Nixon that the latest Soviet involvement, following close upon the supply of SA-3 missiles manned by Soviet military technicians, should by no means be considered to be the last step in Russia's growing physical penetration into the Middle East.

At the same time Mrs. Meir was believed to have asked Washington to make the strongest representations to Moscow over the intervention of the Soviet pilots.

In Moscow, a Soviet foreign ministry spokesman said he had no information on the Israeli charges.

Israeli military commentators today expressed confidence that Israeli pilots could handle the Soviet flyers if a political decision was taken to confront the Russians in the air over Egypt.

But observers here note that Defence Minister Moshe Dayan has frequently said Israel will do everything in its power to avoid getting directly involved with the Russians in combat in the area.

Although the presence of Soviet pilots in Egypt had been rumored for several weeks, today's announcement, made at dawn, came as a bombshell.

Observers assumed that the Soviet pilots must be providing an umbrella cover deeper inside Egypt, leaving Egyptian pilots to fight the air combat against Israeli-held territory.

Mrs. Meir's message was considered a direct reference to Nixon's rejection, for the time being, of Israel's request for 25 more Phantom jet fighter-bombers and 70 additional Skyhawks.

B.C. Employees Union Spurns Award On Pay

The British Columbia Government Employees' Union has rejected a Civil Service Commission pay award ranging from seven to 11 per cent and will go back to the commission May 6, 7 and 8 to press for more money. John L. Freyer, union secretary-general said Tuesday in Victoria more than 5,500 members in 51 of 55 branches across the province voted 76 per cent against the wage package in ratification balloting in the last two weeks. Members who voted heavily against the increase were liquor store clerks, jail personnel, tradesmen and outside workers in the highways department.

A spokesman for Roland Morin, Quebec New Democratic Party leader, said today that Mr. Morin was forcibly detained Tuesday night at the suburban LaSalle police station and threatened with charges under a municipal bylaw that forbids distributing pamphlets door-to-door. LaSalle police today confirmed that Mr. Morin had been picked up, but said "it was MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. plans to spend $30,000,000 on pollution control in the next five years, company chairman J. V. Clyne, announced Tuesday. Addressing the annual meeting of shareholders, Mr. Clyne described pollution as one of the "very pressing problems which confront the industry today. It is a world problem because neither water nor air is static. It must be recognized that pollution is largely the result of growth in population. As man's needs increase the more he encroaches upon nature."

Robert Joseph Lajoie, 24, of Noranda, Que., Tuesday was charged with attempted murder and robbery following the shooting of a Vancouver taxi driver earlier in the day. Lajoie is to appear in provincial court today on the charges plus another of possession of a dangerous weapon, a .25 calibre automatic pistol.

Sharon Garrigan, 22, of Surrey was charged with criminal negligence causing death Tuesday after her 2½-year-old son died of starvation after being admitted to hospital. She entered no plea when she appeared in provincial court and was remanded to May 16 on $1,000 bail.

Police used tear-gas for a second straight day Tuesday in the industrial Detroit suburb of River Rouge, the scene of racial trouble. Mayor John McEwan said several arrests were made Tuesday as police dispersed milling crowds from the streets. Subsequently, crowds of 400 to 500 blacks were reported gathering at a high school and a community centre, and police said at least one bullet has been fired by a sniper.

State and federal officials puzzled Tuesday over the cause of a mysterious, massive wildlife kill on the northern shores of the Alaska Peninsula in Bristol Bay. Officials estimated 85,000 seabirds were dead, plus several otters and seals, a whale, many starfish and other small marine life. "We're just not sure of it causing this kill," said Lt. Cmdr. E. Schneider, law enforcement chief of coast guard headquarters in Juneau.

Leaders of a New York City policemen's union have postponed a threatened "sick-call" strike until at least midnight Friday night. It had been scheduled for midnight Tuesday. The action followed a no-strike order by state Supreme Court Justice George M. Carney, directed against the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association.

Regulations for collection of unwanted pesticides by students have been issued to all schools in the province by the British Columbia department of education. In a circular mailed out from Victoria this week and signed by superintendent Frank Levis, careful wrapping and containment procedures are described as "essential" for students carrying out door-to-door collection of pesticides.

Extreme Right Emerges In France Once Again

PARIS (Reuters)—The extreme right is emerging again in France in street battles, commando raids, rumor campaigns and an energetic propaganda program.

In March, young toughs raided a theatre here and beat up members of the audience. Subsequently, crowds of 400 to 500 blacks were reported gathering at a high school and a community centre, and police said at least one bullet has been fired by a sniper.

At the same time, anti-Semitic rumour campaigns have swept several French communities, socially isolating some long-time Jewish residents and damaging their businesses.

On the political front, a new organization—Ordre Nouveau (New Order)—has launched a recruiting and propaganda drive, announcing its aim as "cleaning up the leftist mess."

After savage fighting between left- and right-wing students on university campuses earlier this

New Order, and later arrested one of its members.

New order, created only about three months ago, already appears more powerful than older extreme right groups. Within a few weeks of its foundation it claims 1,700 dues-paying members and thousands more supporters.

Members include former activists for the "Océiden" (West) movement, banned in the autumn of 1968 for disturbing public order.

Spokesmen for New Order and most smaller rightist groups reject the label Fascist and say their main aim is to counter the threat from the left.

The possibility of a head-on clash between the extreme right and France's powerful Communist party grew sharper at the beginning of April after a Paris museum devoted to Lenin. The attackers smashed exhibits. The Communists reacted with a protest rally.

Police are still investigating the origins of anti-Semitic rumors that swept the cities of Orleans, Amiens and Dinan in recent months. The rumors, identical each time, said Jewish merchants were part of an international white-slavery ring, and that young women had disappeared after going alone to their shops.

In each case, police announced that there has been no such disappearance.

Some French commentators believe authorities struck a blow against the right-wing movement when they arrested 16 men, including former members of the Secret Army Organization, and charged them with a series of bank robberies.

OC Class Of '68 Big Day May 4

A milestone in the history of Okanagan College will be marked May 4 when the institution holds its first convocation ceremonies for students completing two year courses.

The convocation, which will see an estimated 21 students receive diplomas, is the first for OC and honors the charter class of 1968.

Richard Ketchum, executive assistant to the principal, said due to the number of students who leave to work, or transfer to university or other institutions of higher education from a college, the administration is pleased with the number of students qualifying.

"The figure compares favorably, and is a little stronger, than experiences of other colleges," he said.

Mr. Ketchum said the ceremonies, scheduled for 6:30 p.m. in the Centennial Hall, will be a "family affair," with attendance by invitation only.

Attending will be faculty, college councillors past and present, students, guests and parents.

The evening will take the form of a dinner, followed by brief addresses by council chairman Charles Finch and principal Dr. Rowland Grant.

As well as diplomas, principal's awards will be presented to the two highest ranking students.

Mr. Ketchum said the convocation was partially a tribute to the college council, "who worked so hard in making OC a reality."

Eight students attend the Vernon centre and the rest Kelowna, although they live in all parts of the sprawling college district.

Liberal arts, sciences and general study students will make up the convocation class.

Contribution Of Only $1 Can Assist Mental Health

The local branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association reminds residents that Friday to May 7 is Mental Health Week across Canada.

As an arm of the association, the local group is active in Kelowna and district, supporting the mental health clinic and Kelowna General Hospital's psychiatric unit. During Mental Health Week the association will distribute its booklet, when things go wrong, what can you do. The brochure outlines places in the community where troubled people can receive help with emotional problems, stressing the fact there need be no shame associated with such help.

The association also points out 30 per cent of the population of any community has suffered from definite mental illness, with at least temporary disability.

The association is trying to correct this costly situation through preventative programs. One of every eight babies born this year will require treatment in a mental institution or clinic, and you can reduce this figure appreciably with a $1 membership in this citizens' organization. Mental illness and its associated problems cost the country $1,300,000 a day, which your local association is trying to reduce.

Local membership in the association is available by contacting box 535, Kelowna.

SEEN and HEARD

A one-day blitz to raise funds for the Karen Krogel, Debra Howé, Donna Chutskoff perpetual memorial bursary will be launched today in Rutland and district beginning at 5:30 p.m. The canvass is being conducted by a committee of teachers of the Rutland Secondary School in memory of the three girls who died in a traffic accident last year.

Curb-service mail boxes are generally a handy way for the forgetful motorist to unload that letter he's been carrying around for three days. But the modern mobile convenience poses another hazard dimension to the driver who has trouble getting within reasonable distance of a curb. One pretty young thing, foiled several times in her attempts to reach the Ellis Street mail box, Tuesday, solved the problem by dispatching her son to carry the mail.

One of the most startling experiences possible must be to open the door to greet guests and have a loose hubcap crash into your front porch. On a Kelowna street the other night a man flung over his door in a gesture of welcome when fully at about 20 mph whanged into his steps with a loud clang. The man and his guests jumped about four feet in the air and were just regaining their composure when a sheepish looking motorist rushed into the yard, mumbled an apology, then rushed quickly away with his hubcap.

The expected adult opposition to a proposed drop-in centre in Kelowna may have already started if the comment of a resident means anything. "Drop-in centre my foot," a bitter adult was heard to say, "centres for drop-outs would be more like it." Actually, a committee has put much work into planning the centre and a brief will go to city council next month.

The Okanagan is sprucing up its image for American tourists with a new sign promoting the Valley's snow skiing and water skiing, to be placed at the Orville border crossing. An older sign there is badly weathered and partly covered by another billboard placed in front of the Okanagan-Similkameen Tourist

Strike Vote Debated

A special meeting will be held today by members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners to vote on a wage increase offer from the Canadian Labor Relations Association.

A Vernon union spokesman said today the meeting may also take a strike vote as protection against the possibility of a lock-out this Friday by contractors. The wage offer by the CLRA promises a 1% increase during a two-year period from the present hourly rate of $4.88. "This still leaves us $1.02 behind electricians," the union official added. Scheduled to attend the meeting at the Capri at 7:30 p.m. are local union president Abe Harder, provincial council secretary Lorne Robson and union business agent Donald Main.

Assoc., which is erecting the new sign, does not yet know what to do about the condition of the old advertisement.

Maj. E. B. Collett, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. S. Collett of Okanagan Mission, has been promoted to lieutenant-colonel and posted to Royal Military College in Kingston, Lt.-Col. Collett, promoted from the rank of brigade major, has been serving at Canadian Forces Camp Petawawa in Ontario. He will be an instructor at the military college.

Kelowna native, Norman Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ely Swanson, now residing in Thornbury, Ont., is among 15 seniors at Greenville College, Ill., named to the 1969-70 edition of Who's Who among college students in American colleges and universities.

Mr. Swanson attended the George Elliot Senior High School at Winfield in 1964 when his parents moved to Thornbury. He graduated from the Thornbury District High School in 1965.

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — Mayor Peter Wing says this British Columbia interior city will make a bid for the 1973 Canada summer games when invitations for bids are sent by Ottawa this spring.

"I think we have a pretty good chance of getting the games," he said. "The citizens are right behind the idea."

City council met Tuesday night and agreed to begin studying the community's need for facilities to host the games, which include tennis courts, an Olympic-size swimming pool and a good track.

Mayor Wing said he met with members of Health Minister John Munro's staff while in Ottawa last weekend and was told invitations for applications for the games will be sent out in a few weeks.

He said the city has a good chance of hosting the annual national athletic meet because it has adequate accommodations and is willing to build the facilities it will need.

Major Wing said he also expects Penticton and Kelowna to bid for the games.

Spino Assails Campus Strife

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Blaming campus violence on facilities that fail to guide students, Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew has singled out Yale University and called for the re-examination of its president.

Speaking at a Republican fund-raising dinner Tuesday night, Agnew said: "The true responsibility for these aberrations and the nurturing of arrogance and contempt for constitutional authority rests not with the young people on campuses, but with those who so miserably fail to guide them."

Youth Centre Brief Prepared

A brief in support of a youth drop-in centre in Kelowna is being polished for presentation to city council some time next month.

Jack Simmons, secretary of a group seeking the centre, said the brief was prepared by an "under 25" committee and reviewed by the group as a whole at a meeting Tuesday.

Mr. Simmons said the brief was "well thought out" and although some changes will be made before presentation to council, the ideas will still be those of the youthful committee.

"Changes are not structural at all," he said.

"For instance we felt figures quoted for advisory personnel salaries was a bit low and they wouldn't get the calibre of person required."

The brief was the result of two meetings of local residents interested in the proposed drop-in centre.

Called by the parks and recreation commission, the first meeting March 18 drew 33 people, including 14 under 25 years, who laid the foundation for the centre campaign.

Committees were struck to investigate possible sites and draft a program.

The under 25 committee proposed an operation incorporating arts and crafts activity, common area, a library, juke box, a newspaper and job opportunity board.

The committee investigating sites proposed the basement of the Kelowna Curling Club, Canadian Pacific Merchandising building and the seaplane hangar as possible locations.

ADVISOR

A youth and adult board of directors has been proposed to govern the centre with assistance from a full-time paid advisor and volunteer help.

Mr. Simmons said no details of the brief will be released until the council presentation about May 11.

He did say the brief contained solid ideas.

"We want to make sure we have all the answers before we go before council with this," he said.

The final draft of the brief is still being prepared.

From the outset of the project the group has expected "adult opposition" and reviewed cases of drop-in centre failures in other communities.

Executive Marketing Class Concludes For 16 Valley Men

Sixteen members of the executive marketing class of Okanagan College were awarded certificates at the home of instructor, R. A. Kergan in Kelowna recently.

The executive marketing class was offered this year as a joint effort by Okanagan College and the School District 23 Adult Education.

Designed for senior management personnel, the course featured guest lecturers in special areas along with computer programming of marketing problems.

Richard Ketchum, executive assistant to the principal, presented the certificates and also in attendance were Dean and Mrs. L. A. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. Whitney Buggy, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Knights, Mrs. R. A. Kergan, hostess and wives of the class members.

Awarded certificates from Kelowna were: Cliff J. Kiewer, John Susoff, A. E. Espinosa, Carl Gritter, Donald Guy Hickson, Bernard Arthur Usher, Donald Gordon Pratt, Edward M. Sinclair, Margaret J. Houskinson, James M. Watson and Donald O'Brien.

White Truck Workers Back

Kelowna's White Truck Manufacturing Ltd., was back in operation today after a nine-day lay off.

Workers were sent home last week when the company could no longer get parts due to the Teamster's Union strike in the United States.

A spokesman for White Trucks said today the factory on Highway 97 resumed operations this morning.

"We have no idea how long we can continue operating with the continued strike in the U.S.," he said.

The parts assembled here into the completed trucks are shipped from or through Chicago or Cleveland, where the Teamsters have closed all trucking activity.

City Council News Briefs

Tabled for further talks with the developer by city council Monday was a proposal from Don Day for a car wash at the corner of Glenmore Street and Lawrence Avenue. This is the second car wash proposal from Mr. Day in the area and although the advisory planning commission recommended rejection of the idea, council wants more discussion. City planner Greg Stevens said there are three factors: the land is considered best for office-retail use; there would be three access points onto Glenmore and the site is too small, with present development proposals. Mr. Stevens said there are indications the proposal plans can be revised to present a development which would be approved.

Given the initial three readings was a bill to amend the bicycle licence regulation by-law to change the definition of the word bicycle to conform with the recently-amended definition in the Motor Vehicle Act. At the same time Mayor Robb agreed with comments made at last week's meeting of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce that the whole matter of bicycle licensing and inspection should be reviewed.

Given the first three readings was a bylaw authorizing purchase of property at 415 Haynes Ave., from Reliable Holdings for $28,000. There will be a $5,000 down payment, with seven per cent interest on the remaining five annual payments of $4,600. Mr. Herbert said the property ties in with a plan to re-locate railway trackage near the seaplane base and the deal is part of an overall land assembly program. The bylaw was given initial approval by a 6-1 vote, with Ald. Richard Stewart against.

Tenants Gain With New Act

By DOUG MacDONALD
Courier Staff

British Columbia recently took a close look at the relations between tenants and landlords.

The result was considerable amendment to the old Landlord and Tenant Act, which generally gives more protection against unexpected rent increases to tenants, as well as other safeguards.

Since the new act became law April 6, some Kelowna tenants have already begun scrapping with their landlords over the interpretation of the law.

Questions of individual interpretation, of course, are still a matter for the courts — B.C. provincial court in this case — but here are the basic principles of the new laws affecting the renting of homes, rooms and apartments:

NEW SECTION

The amendment is actually in the form of an entire new section to the old act; it places rent agreements under general contract laws, instead of under the old common law landlord-tenant agreement.

The most important change is this — no landlord shall impose a rent increase during the first year of tenancy. And after a year, he is required to give three months notice of any rent increase.

A landlord is also forbidden to impose a rent "acceleration", that is requiring all or part of the rent in advance.

The regulation applies regardless of how long the lease is, and in all tenancy agreements, oral or written.

Another major change forbids landlords to charge any kind of "security deposit" such as a damage deposit, except for one month's rent.

DAMAGE DEPOSIT

He can require a tenant to pay a sum equivalent to one month's rent — this is to be applied as the last month's rent of the tenancy. And he must pay the tenant six per cent interest on this deposit if he collects it. (This applies, as do certain other sections, to contracts entered into since April 6; older contracts are still subject to certain old regulations.)

Here are some other regulations under the new act:

• A landlord must give his tenant a copy of any written agreement within 15 days, or the agreement is null and void until a copy is presented.

• A tenant can sublet ("assign or otherwise part with") his premises if his lease is six months or more unless specifically forbidden in a written lease to do so. If he applies to the landlord to sublease, the landlord then has the option to terminate the lease after 21 days.

Except in emergencies or after notice of termination of agreement, a landlord may not enter his tenant's premises unless he gives written notice 24 hours in advance and comes between 8 a.m. and 9 p.m. Neither party can change the lock on the door without mutual consent. The landlord is required to keep the premises "in a good state of repair and fit for habitation", including living up to health and safety standards.

The tenant must maintain "ordinary cleanliness" and is responsible under the law to make good any damages he or his friends do; a court order can have him thrown out of the place or made to repair the damages.

A tenant needs give only verbal notice that he is vacating, but a landlord must present an order in writing, a week in advance for a weekly rent, a month for monthly rent, and 60 days for a yearly rent, and No landlord can forcibly take possession of a tenant's premises except by a court order.

COMPLAINT

If a tenant complains to some authority about health regulations, bylaws, regulations or statutes not being lived up to, and is then asked to leave the premises, a judge can refuse the landlord if he thinks the complaint was the cause.

Both parties have the recourse of the provincial court, and either side can appeal to a county court judge. Violations of the act can result in a fine up to $1,000.

A landlord cannot prohibit the entry onto his premises of any political (federal, provincial, or school district) campaigner. But presumably, the tenant doesn't have to answer advance for a weekly rent, a

Long-Time City Resident Sid Hubble Funeral Friday

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. from the First United Church for Sidney Victor Hubble, 70, of 1631 Ethel St., who died Monday in Kelowna General Hospital.

Mr. Hubble, a long-time resident of Kelowna, was born in London and came to Canada with his parents in 1906.

The family settled in Saskatoon, where he was raised and educated.

He came to Kelowna in 1935 and was employed by MacLean and Fitzpatrick in Rutland.

In 1939, he joined the staff of B.C. Free Fruits and continued with the firm until his retirement in May, 1967. At retirement, he was the firm's assistant traffic manager.

Active in local affairs, Mr. Hubble took a keen interest in the Kelowna Yacht Club, of which he was a charter and life member and treasurer for 25 years. He was also a member of the Kelowna Rotary Club and served as president in 1962-63.

Mr. Hubble was an accomplished musician as a vocalist. He took lead parts, as a tenor, in many oratorios in the city.

He was an active member of the First United Church, of which he was an elder and served in the church choir for many years.

SID HUBBLE
... dies at 70

Rev. E. H. Birdsall and Rev. Robert Stobie will officiate the service.

Interment will follow in the family plot in the Kelowna Cemetery.

Day's Funeral Service is in charge of arrangements.

Old Articles Come 'Home'

Some articles of historic interest are coming "home" to the Father Pandosy Mission. During the restoration in 1958 several articles were taken to Vancouver for safekeeping by the Oblates of Mary Immaculate.

Now the Okanagan Historical Society is doing an ambitious restoration of the Father Pandosy Mission on the Benvoulin Road. Joseph Marty of Kelowna who is largely responsible for the restoration, contacted Kay Cronin, author of Cross in The Wilderness while in Vancouver recently, and through here, two guns a sledgehammer and a picture have been donated to the Father Pandosy Mission. The guns and sledgehammer were used by the priests and lay brothers. A brightly colored religious picture was found in the chinking of one of the old buildings which was pulled down in 1958. The picture, which was found in small pieces, was carefully pieced together and framed by Mrs. M. E. Wyrzykowski of Okanagan Mission.

Two Mishaps No Injuries

Two accidents were reported to Kelowna RCMP Tuesday but no one was injured.

An estimated $250 damage was done when vehicles driven by William Wyant and Allan Kopp, both of Kelowna, collided at the intersection of Water Street and Lawrence Avenue about 12:10 p.m.

An accident on Third Avenue in Westbank about 5:30 p.m. Tuesday did an estimated $150 damage to vehicles driven by Heinrich Sander, Kelowna and Clifford Gallant, Westbank.

Police are also investigating theft of a stereo tape deck valued at $75 and tapes valued at $100 from a car parked on Bernard Avenue about 3:50 a.m. today. Damage was done to the door and roof of the vehicle during the theft.

CLOUDY skies with intermittent showers and the occasional sunny periods are forecast for Kelowna today and Thursday. Winds should be southerly 20 in western valleys today, otherwise light in other regions of the Interior. Tuesday's high and overnight low were 62 and 35 with no precipitation. Low tonight and high Thursday should be 35 and 60.

Three Men Face Court

A Kelowna man pleaded not guilty today to two charges of wilful damage and one of causing a disturbance by being drunk in a public place.

Peter Boyko, who was arrested after a disturbance in a downtown night club early today, will appear for trial May 5. Bail was set at $250 cash.

In other court activity a $100 fine was imposed on Howard Hobson, Kelowna, who pleaded guilty today to obtaining $5 in cash and goods from a local grocery store by means of a worthless cheque.

Gary Allan Townsend, Vancouver, was fined $250 and had his driver's licence suspended for three months when he pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

He was arrested in Westbank early today.

Election Monday

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Kelowna branch of the Canadian Diabetic Association, will be held Monday in the health unit annex at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be conducted by Mrs. J. H. Boothe.

Included in the agenda will be a report on possible assistance for attendance of diabetic children to a camp at Oyama in August. Arrangements will also be made for interested Kelowna citizens to hear an address by Isabel Lockerman, national diet counsellor and Olive Gerrard, western diet counsellor of the Canadian Diabetic Association, who are scheduled to speak at a meeting in Vernon May 18.

Okanagan Band In Surrey Fete

The 65-piece Summerland school band will participate in the Surrey Band Festival May 14, which will feature adjudication by Dave Robbins one of the leading clinicians in North America.

The band won the Knights of Pythias trophy at the Okanagan Valley Musical Festival when it obtained the highest mark of 15 participating bands. The Surrey festival stresses a non-competitive format.

'New Youth' Film Topic

A self-examination of Toronto's youth in a film version entitled Christopher's Movie Mattie, will be presented by Peoples Involved Sunday at the Anglican Parish Hall at 7:30 p.m.

The unique presentation by the National Film Board was photographed by the players themselves and depicts all-male, love-in, animated discussions, youthful dissent and protestation of adult passivity. A silver collection will be taken to defray the cost of the 90-minute film, and both adults and teenagers are invited to attend.

Grade 12s Visiting OC

More than 200 Grade 12 students are visiting the Kelowna centre of Okanagan College this week to meet the college faculty and discuss programs offered by the college.

On Monday, Tuesday and Friday students from Kelowna secondary will visit the centre and Friday Grade 12s from Keremeos will travel to Kelowna for a visit to the college.

Dean L. A. Taylor said the centre will have many displays and the new language laboratory will be in operation during the student visits.

Today's Quebec Election Vital To All Canadians

The people of Quebec today are voting in what may well be the most important provincial general election ever held in Canada. There can be no doubt the closing days of the campaign indicated that interest in the Parti Quebecois is much stronger than anybody suspected when the election was called.

La Presse of Montreal, in its survey, projected a minority government with the Liberals taking 25.6 per cent of the popular vote, the PQ 24.9 per cent, the Union Nationale 13.4, the Creditistes 11.7 with the New Democrats and independents get 2 per cent with the remainder, 22.4 per cent, undecided. LeSoleil of Quebec City gave the Liberals 40 to 43 per cent and a majority government, with PQ getting 27 to 30 per cent, the UN 17 to 20 and the Creditistes 10 to 13.

Using polls taken midway in an election campaign as indicators of any accuracy is unwise; but the rising popularity of Rene Levesque and his group cannot be denied. It has surprised even themselves. Mr. Levesque, from hoping only for some seats when the campaign was launched, has moved to asserting that the PQ will form the official opposition, if not the government.

What his success does is to make the unthinkable option of separatism thinkable. In fact, following the campaign and noting Premier Bertrand's statements and those of some of his followers, their promises and their threats, one begins to suspect that the unthinkable is becoming thinkable for the Union Nationale too.

Some of Quebec's more seasoned observers, who are not separatists, had begun to measure the Parti Quebecois as a genuine force even before the polls were published. Jean Pellerin of La Presse assessed the PQ program seriously enough to raise the question of a drastic reevaluation of a Quebec dollar after separation had occurred and the rest of Canada had declined to share a common market.

Claude Ryan of Le Devoir had this to say: "What is important in the PQ phenomenon is a new conception of Quebec's future—a dynamic conception translated into a real government program—and this conception is deeply rooted and cannot be wiped out in a single election." He went on to assess what a show of PQ strength would mean: "Perhaps 20 per cent will be the decisive figure. If the PQ gets more than 20 per cent of the votes, it would be the beginning of a racial and decisive political transformation. If it gets less than 20 per cent, all hypotheses will still apply but it will have to be conceded that the Quebecois are not ready for sovereignty."

Both polls gave the PQ more than 20 per cent.

If Quebec emerges from the election with substantial numbers of its people having voted for separation, then a severing of the country becomes credible. It is possible, even probable, that members who won election as affiliates of the Union Nationale would move across the floor to join Mr. Levesque; a number of them are already with him in spirit.

All of this takes the Quebec election out of the realm of usual provincial elections and makes it a national issue. Quebec is a part of Canada and belongs to all Canadians, who will not lightly submit to being dispossessed of a rich part of their inheritance.

The voting today in Quebec is of more than passing interest to all Canadians, including those of us who live in British Columbia.

Your Name Is On The List

Millions of people, on opening their mail boxes, are perplexed about how some firm in Timbuktu or Rat Junction obtained their names and addresses even though the firm has never been heard of before. If this gives you a temporary feeling of importance, forget it. This simply means you have been "listed" and can expect to receive a steady stream of this junk mail.

The magazine New Front also wondered about this name listing and delved into the background in the United States. Some of the extraordinary things it found would also apply in Canada.

The business of compiling and renting out mailing lists is estimated to have an annual dollar volume in the hundreds of millions. As much as one-third of all mail is unsolicited.

In 1967 U.S. mailers invested some $2.4 billion in production costs and postage to send out 15 billion pieces of bulk-rate, third-class mail. And every one of those 15 billion pieces owed its existence to a list.

The lists are as varied as they are numerous. One New Jersey firm sells names and addresses in 12,000 classifications from Abbot Equipment Manufacturers to Zoological Gardens. Another has the names of "25,000 of St. Louis' most prominent Catholics." Still another lists 10,000 buyers of African violets.

A company in Atlanta has a list of Georgia males who are more than six feet tall and weigh 215 pounds or more. This list was prepared for a store selling king-size men's clothing and was compiled from the files of the state's motor vehicle division.

You're not only on a list, but you carry a price tag. If you are a newlywed, your name and address are worth

1.5 cents. Likewise, if you ever bought a mail-order trust. Wealthy widows command four cents per name, breeders of pedigreed swine, 5.7 cents.

Where do the listmakers get their names?

Public records, like the aforementioned list of Georgia drivers, are an important source. They provide the names of people licensed to practice a profession or trade, hunt, fish, drive a car, get married, own a dog, add a room to a house, etc.

Other basic sources are magazine subscription lists, telephone directories, and directories published by trade associations, colleges, societies and other organizations. Newspapers and trade publications also alert the listmakers to promotions and personnel shifts within an industry.

How effective is this type of advertising?

If advertisers get a one to two per cent return, they're satisfied. Some specialized mailings, however, can null better than a 50 per cent return. One shrewd owner of a warehouse full of non-selling black raincoats unloaded his stock in a month by renting a mailing list of ministers and undertakers.

Even if you order something by mail and don't pay for it, your name goes on a "deadbeats" list which is promptly rented out to companies selling merchandise on a cash-first basis.

For the ordinary American, there is no escape from mailing lists, says News Front.

"Every time he betrays his identity in this highly mobile market society he becomes open game for somebody's list. The listing starts before he is born and proceeds to the tombstone. It is one of the most pervasive reminders of the super-heated-bazaar we live in"

Bygone Days

10 YEARS AGO

April 1960

The 1st Rutland Troop, Boy Scouts, held their annual Easter Camp, with 24 Scouts in camp. Scoutmaster Bertram Cichester in charge. Troop Leader Dick Yamaoka acted as assistant. The camp was north of Black Mountain near the old Nunson cabin. A snow storm blew up on the second day, but the rest of the camp period was fine.

A youth and a dog were rescued from the cliffs above the Glenora shale pit the three days. On Sunday a dog somehow got stranded half way up and was rescued by a fireman who was lowered down on a rope. On the Monday Frank Guerard, 13 years old got up the cliff to a point where he could get neither up nor down. He was rescued in the same manner by firemen Hugh McCormick and Eric Chapman.

WE SEEM TO HAVE HOOKED A BIG ONE

Violence In U.S.A. Results In Demand For Guard Dogs

NEW YORK (AP) — He has been trained for one thing: To protect you from any danger, real or threatened.

If it's real, he awaits the word he seldom hears but never forgets: "Fass," German for grab. Or "Stop it." Or "Watch it."

He reacts immediately. His bite has 750 pounds of pressure, enough to snap a collarbone, break a forearm or numb a limb. A bullet, unless fired by an expert marksman, probably won't stop him. During his training, he has always won. Now he thinks he's invincible, whether the enemy is a dim-witted mugger, a gang of 10 bullies or serious thieves packing weapons.

If the danger is only threatened, he will only growl, with hackles raised, ears straight up, awaiting the order he loves to obey.

He is your attack-trained dog, probably a Doberman-Pinscher or German shepherd that can weigh from 70 to 135 pounds, take up to a year to train and cost up to $4,000.

As crime rates soar in big cities and wealthy suburbs, more and more people are buying a dog for protection. After a sensational case like the Sharon Tate murders, sales skyrocketed. Dog trainers estimate there are more than 1,000,000 trained protection dogs in the United States, mostly in the large cities. There are close to 5,000 in New York City alone.

DOG ROUTS BANDIT

Harry Goldsmith bought Rex seven years ago. Goldsmith, owner of an electronics firm, wanted him primarily to guard his English Tudor home in the wealthy Riverdale section of New York City.

Two years ago, Goldsmith was walking Rex on a dark and deserted road. A man stepped out from the bushes and demanded his money. Rex was out of sight, another clump of bushes. Goldsmith told the man he had no money with him. The man muttered a threat and Goldsmith whistled. Rex came sprinting to Goldsmith, who grabbed his collar and snapped an order. The dog, snarling and snapping, was on his hind legs, taller than the assailant, who fled.

Goldsmith says: "It's a felony to put a dog on a man and I wasn't sure whether the hand in his pocket held a gun or not. If he didn't, it would have been his word against mine that it was self-defense."

Rex is the type of dog you never allow out of the house alone. A salesman or mailman cutting across the yard, a repairman or meter reader all look the same in his eyes—a threat to the people he will sacrifice his life to protect.

Not everyone needs a dog this well trained. Some trainers refuse to sell to a family with young children, reasoning that sooner or later the dog will be teased to the point of striking. Others disagree, claiming the well-trained dog is safer than a small poodle which might snap.

SOME DON'T QUALIFY

Tom Nova, a trainer in the New York area, tells about an elderly woman who came into his shop and wanted an attack dog. She definitely couldn't handle it.

"What if she had that dog on the lead and some kids came careering around the corner straight at her? She wouldn't react fast enough to tell the dog this was not a direct threat. So I sold her a nice, obedience-trained dog, gave her one of my warning stickers that says the dog is a bark-trained and told her to spread the word in her neighborhood that this was a vicious dog. She's better off with that kind of animal."

The trainer says she also turn down s would-be owners as drug pushers and women recently divorced and aching for a little feminine revenge.

Obviously everyone shouldn't have an attack-trained dog. Often what is needed is an "image dog," an untrained Doberman or shepherd. At first glance it is impossible to tell whether the dog is trained to tear an intruder to pieces or lick his face.

"It's the same principle as laying a sawed-off shotgun on the counter," says Nova. "Only you know for sure whether it's loaded and nobody in their right mind is going to take the chance."

At the opposite extreme of protection dogs are the ones Nova calls his "cold killers" or his "psychedelic dogs." Most could never adjust to life in a home. Either rented or bought, these dogs are used mostly for night-shift guarding on construction sites, in stores, factories, warehouses and office buildings.

INTRUDER BEWARE!

Such dogs may work with a security guard or alone. Howling a store, the dog will bark at the first unusual noise. If entrance is gained, the dog attacks without command. Some will cease the attack once the victim stops struggling. Others will continue tearing away, no matter what the victim does.

Trainers estimate four out of 10 shepherds and Dobermans are suitable for full attack training and the percentage drops when they move into other breeds.

Attack training should not begin until the dog is 18 months old, the age of puberty in dogs. At that age, trainers can judge whether the dog is best suited for factory work or home guarding.

CANADA'S STORY

Canadians Rejected Continental Dollars

By BOB BOWMAN

One of these stories recently mentioned the Quebec Act of 1774 and how it stirred up hostility in the British colonies to the south. They objected because the Roman Catholic Church was given complete freedom in Quebec. Congress passed a resolution stating that the act supported "impiety, bigotry, persecution, murder and rebellion in every part of the world."

Yet a few days later, Congress passed another resolution inviting the citizens of Quebec to "seize the opportunity, presented to you by Providence itself" and join the original 13 states in their rebellion against Britain. The resolution even suggested that Nova Scotia had already agreed to join.

It was confused public relations. Church leaders and seigniors in Quebec appreciated the freedom that had been granted by Britain and urged their people to have nothing to do with the Americans. Nova Scotia, populated by many former Americans after the expulsion of the Acadians, was sympathetic but did not join the 13 states, as expected.

Then the Americans invaded. They captured Montreal easily, but Quebec survived the attack, although it was under siege from November 1775 until May 1776. In the meantime the Americans made another diplomatic effort to win the entire province. Benjamin Franklin arrived in Montreal on April 29 with Charles and John Carroll, two eminent Roman Catholics from Maryland. They promised the people of Quebec in speeches and posters that they would have as much freedom under the U.S. as they had under Britain. Quebec church leaders were not impressed. In fact they disowned a Montreal priest who allowed John Carroll to celebrate mass in his church.

Franklin brought a great deal of paper money with him. It was "Continental dollars" printed in the U.S., but regarded with great suspicion. Even the Montreal cab drivers would not accept them and they were said to be "not worth a Continental damn," an expression still in use today. Franklin's delegation had to leave Montreal in a hurry when the Royal Navy arrived in Quebec early in May.

NEWS ANALYSIS

World Disorders Need Policeman

By PHILIP DEANE
Foreign Affairs Analyst

The U.S. is being involved as a world policeman against its will in the Trinidad situation. U.S. warships, with the approval of the U.K., are patrolling near Trinidad a Commonwealth country, because of disorders in that island republic: the warships may have to land marines to rescue Americans and other whites if Trinidad's black power rebellion—now apparently under control—gets out of hand.

Ideally an international force would be best in the role of world policeman. Big power rivalry however, has precluded the development of a standing international police force. The facts of international life impose upon the two super powers, and especially upon the U.S., the role of world policeman. A complete retreat into isolationism by the U.S. could lead to serious breaches of world disorder, including mass piracy on the high seas.

Thus, criticism of the U.S. involvement in world affairs must not be criticism of such involvement in itself but of the way the involvement takes place. A good policeman should know when to look the other way; he should also know how to limit his interference to suit each situation. Cyprus is a case in point. Four parties are involved in the dispute: Greece, Turkey, the Greek Cypriots and the Turkish Cypriots. The urgent international priority is to prevent fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots and a UN force on the island is supposed to see to that. It has not been ineffective. If necessary it can be beefed up.

The U.S., however, went further. It helped overthrow a Greek government in 1965 because that government would not accept a U.S. recommendation for solving the dispute by partitioning Cyprus. This particular Greek government said it could not get partition approved by a Greek parliament. So parliamentary democracy has been overthrown in Greece. But that did not solve the problem either because no Greek government, parliamentary or otherwise, can accept the partition of Cyprus. Nor will the Greek Cypriots accept partition. The overthrow of parliamentary democracy—an overthrow supported by U.S. diplomatic and military missions in Greece if not by Washington—was too much in the way of U.S. intervention. Nothing was solved and damage was done. U.S. intervention should have been limited to preventing fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots and fighting between Greece and Turkey.

To criticize the nature of U.S. involvement in Greece is not to criticize involvement itself, unless one is to argue that the world policeman wants all or nothing at all—total freedom from criticism or isolationism. To accept that this is the only choice open to the U.S. is to do the U.S. an injustice: one has to hope that the U.S. is capable of less petty behavior and will not retreat in a huff if its mistakes are protested.

OTTAWA REPORT

Not That Many Draft-Dodgers

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

Is the great draft-dodger handout a fraud?

I have obtained from our immigration department complete statistics of the numbers of young American men migrating into Canada, and these suggest that the estimates of the number of draft-dodgers and army deserters now sheltering in Canada are wildly exaggerated.

There are 60,000 such delinquents in Canada, according to one anti-draft movement in Toronto. A similar figure was quoted to a committee of the general assembly of the National Council of Churches, meeting in Detroit before Christmas. Substantial amounts of money must be raised to support all these refugees sheltering across the border, the committee was told.

A more realistic estimate suggests 20,000 as the top figure. But in reply to my inquiry, I learn that the official total of deserters known to have left U.S. is 1,403, of whom 576 are in Canada. And the national headquarters of the U.S. Selective Service System says that the total number of draft delinquents, on Jan. 31 this year, was 34,492.

NOT SHORT OF CASH

Canadian immigration authorities do not believe that any young men who have moved to Canada from U.S., be they draft dodgers or not, are in need of financial support from their homeland or their host country. Our immigration regulations, these authorities point out, require that every would-be immigrant must show that he possesses skills in need in Canada, and thus be able to earn his support here. No exception is made in this requirement to help any fugitive from U.S. military service.

No separate tabulations of draft dodgers or deserters are kept by our immigration department. Nor are statistics kept of immigrants specifically of U.S. draft age, which is from within six days of the 18th birthday until the 26th birthday, or until the 35th birthday if a deferment was obtained.

But the figures in certain five-year age bracket, between 15 and 34, give a good picture. The total male immigrants from U.S. in these four age brackets in 1966, before the present massive movement of draft dodgers, was 3,239. In the following year it rose by 592; then by 1,091 and in 1969 it rose by 419. In the same four years, the total number of all immigrants from U.S. of both sexes rose from 17,514 to 22,785.

These figures make it appear to be unlikely that there are tens of thousands of deserters and draft dodgers in Canada, with as many of them as 60,000 in financial difficulties.

As far as work is concerned, there is a somewhat grey area at our universities and colleges. Many U.S. graduates — some Canadian students suggest too many — now occupy teaching posts in Canada. But to a point they were needed to fill the gap caused by the insufficiency of potential Canadian teachers. For example, there just were not enough Canadians with appropriate Ph.D. degrees to staff our expanding faculties in economics and associated subjects.

Large numbers of Americans are said to be studying at Canadian universities on grants or fellowships which are provided by the Canadian taxpayers for post-graduate study and research. If these beneficiaries were genuine immigrants, intending to reside in Canada, there would be no objection to this; but a high proportion of them say frankly that they intend to return home later. In addition to such students from U.S., there are many from other countries. Some of these are from under-developed countries; and are being trained in Canada under our various aid programs, so that they can take Canadian know-how home to assist the development of their own country.

But in the case of the many such beneficiaries from U.S. and other developed nations, it appears to be very wrong that Canadians should be paying higher taxes to finance these guest students, be they draft-dodgers or not, rather than to finance Canadian students who intended to remain in Canada after their studies.

Soviet Seeks More Tourists

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Soviet Union, seeking to pit itself against other aspirants in big-league tourism this summer, is opening 10 towns to foreign visitors.

The special Soviet effort is related to the 100th anniversary of this year of the birth of Lenin, founder of the Soviet state.

Leonid Stepanovich Lobanov of the Soviet mission told a committee meeting that Intourist, his government's tourist organization, is preparing a "special route" for foreign tourists that will take in all 16 capitals of Soviet republics.

These range from Yerevan, the capital of Armenia, near Turkey, to Alma Ata, capital of Kazakhstan, spanning an area from the Caspian Sea to China.

Even what Lobanov calls "the engine of the Siberian" will be opened up for visitors' inspection, he told an Economic and Social Council group discussing the development of tourism in member states.

The UN is playing an increasing role in the development of tourism, with various agencies assisting developing nations to tap this monetary potential.

MR. AND MRS. D. N. SALI

St. Theresa's Catholic Church For Sali-Moss Wedding Rites

RUTLAND — Baskets of flowers decorated the altar of St. Theresa's Roman Catholic Church here for the April 18 wedding of Jeanine Vera Moss and David Nicolas Sali, conducted by Rev. F. L. Flynn.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Ervine Moss of Pentiction and the groom is the son of Mrs. Joseph Sali and the late Joseph Sali.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a delicate pink chiffon over rayon taffeta gown, with fitted waist and full pleated skirt. Full length sleeves with a matching chiffon sash added interest to the ensemble, completed with white accessories.

ROSE HEADDRESS

Her headdress of four white satin roses, centred with a white satin bow, held her shoulder-length veil of white tapers flanking the centrepiece. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations centred with an orchid corsage.

Matron of honor, Mrs. George McInroy of Winfield chose a gown of turquoise chiffon over rayon taffeta, fashioned on the same lines as the bride's gown. Her headdress of turquoise net was trimmed with white satin roses and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Kary Moss of Pentiction served as best man.

A blue two-piece dress with corsage of white carnations was worn by the bride's mother when she received at the reception at the Capri. The bridegroom's mother chose a navy blue dress accented with a corsage of pink carnations.

For a honeymoon trip to Nashville, Tenn., the bride changed to a dress of hot pink with white coat and white accessories. The newlyweds will reside at Morrison Road, Rutland.

A three-tiered wedding cake sat on the bride's table, with tall white tapers flanking the centrepiece. Yellow flowers surrounded the candles.

Toasts were proposed by Winston Dawson of Kelowna. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sali of Cranbrook.

Pensions Scheme Topic Of Chamber

RUTLAND—The Chamber of Commerce heard an address on the Canada Pension Plan at the monthly meeting.

The speaker was Ray Barnes, of Pentiction, an official from the Canada Pension Plan office there.

The speaker was informative, and entertaining, with a touch of humor not often associated with a discourse on monetary affairs.

He detailed the gradual development of the plan, which started in 1967, with pension payable at the age of 68, and with the retirement age gradually dropping to 65. Money is coming into the pension fund at a faster rate than was anticipated, and the outgo had been less than experts had expected, he said.

The speaker was called upon to answer many questions and the explanations given left no doubt in the minds of most of the pension department would "lean over backwards" to try to adjust matters fairly. They would be dealing with an organization that "had a heart."

The meeting discussed extension of street lighting in Rutland. M. W. Marshall, local representative on the regional district, said certain areas wanted to come into the street lighting system, now operated by the Fire Protection District.

There was a feeling on the part of some that this should be handled by the region. The meeting debated the question, and there was some difference of opinion as to the piecemeal addition of new lighting as at present, or an overall plebiscite covering the region's area C, or by individual subdivisions as they apply.

The meeting finally passed a motion recommending a referendum be held in zone C on street lighting extension, and this course be recommended to the regional district.

This move would have to be endorsed by the area concerned and they would have to apply for the vote.

The secretary, Mrs. Bert Showler, reported the highways department had requested a list of proposed names for new streets, to bear the names of pioneer residents, and that a list of some 20 names of early residents, yet recognized in this manner, had been submitted.

MARKET CONTROL URGED

Situation In Okanagan Said To Favor New Act

OTTAWA — Organized marketing in the Okanagan has served as a guidepost for agricultural organizations throughout the world, Bruce Howard (L-Okanagan-Boundary) said in the Commons Monday during debate on a proposed farm products marketing act.

Mr. Howard said Okanagan fruit growers accomplished a remarkable feat with their central selling and marketing agency and developed a close link between customer and producer and this was something that was lacking in other marketing programs in Canada.

In a proper organization a link develops between the producer and his customer so the producer begins to understand the customers' demands and needs and how he should produce and market his product to meet these.

While the opposition spoke a great deal about government interference in the affairs of the farmers, when a crisis arose the same people were the first to ask for government regulations, controls and financial assistance from the federal government.

"I am not afraid of controlled marketing because I have seen it work. Over the years it has become a very successful program. It has built an agency that has developed packaging programs, shipping, sorting, controlled atmosphere storage, educational programs for growers and all the facets of an advanced marketing system that is run and controlled by the farmers themselves," Mr. Howard declared.

The industry was affected by the vagaries of nature and it was only sensible that those engaged in it market their products in an orderly way so they could dispose of surpluses, store for lean years and build production if demand was greater than supply.

WI Members From Okanagan Attend Conference In Rutland

RUTLAND — The South Okanagan-Similkameen District Women's Institute Conference met here in the Centennial Hall, Monday for their annual session with delegates from Oyama to Osoyoos.

Mrs. J. A. Baustad, president of the Rutland Women's Institute, welcomed the gathering on behalf of the local Institute.

Fred Stevens, president of the Rutland Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the visitors to the Rutland district, and wished them well in their deliberations and hoped they would enjoy their brief stay.

The morning coffee break was supplied by the Kelowna Women's Institute, while the Winfield WI were the hostesses for the afternoon tea.

The district president, Mrs. T. Walker of Princeton, was unable to attend due to the death of a relative, and Mrs. G. Forsyth of Osoyoos, a member of the district board, handled Mrs. Walker's duties.

The reports from each Institute had been compiled into a district report which showed that a great deal had been accomplished during the past year. A number of resolutions were dealt with and in most cases passed without too much discussion.

One dealing with off-shore oil drilling and pollution, was discussed at some length, most speakers feeling the subject was of great importance, but most of those present were not well informed on the subject.

Shower For Clare Johnson

RUTLAND—A bridal shower was held at the home of Mrs. F. L. Fitzpatrick, Stafford Road, recently, with Clare Johnson as guest of honor.

Gifts were presented in a large carton decorated with apple, pear and other fruit cutouts in recognition of Miss Johnson's position as shipping clerk at a packing house.

Previous to the shower employees presented Miss Johnson with a pole lamp.

During the evening, Charles Smith, the future groom, dropped in to meet the friends of the bride-to-be.

At the close of the evening refreshments were served by Mrs. Jack Johnson and Mrs. Fitzpatrick, assisted by Miss Johnson's fellow workers.

Mrs. A. Reardon of Abbotsford, a member of the provincial board, brought greetings from the board. Mrs. R. C. Palmer, a former B. C. president of the Women's Institutes, spoke of the work of the Women's Institute, starting with the local level then the provincial level and finally with the national level. The Women's Institute was first formed in Ontario in 1897 and now spans the world.

A project of the Women's Institute has been formation of a centre to teach the women of Columbia.

This centre is known as Villa Maria, and is located at Caldas, near Bogota, the capital of Columbia.

Mrs. Palmer also told of the expansion of Women's Institutes in the northern part of Canada, mostly in the Mackenzie River basin, where there are now 14 Women's Institutes, the members being largely Indian and Eskimo women.

There are some 7,000,000 women connected with the Women's Institute, through the Associated Country Women of the World, and the "sun never sets on the Women's Institutes" she said.

A beautiful display of ceramics was shown by Mrs. Norman Felty, who gave a short talk in which she explained some of the processes of ceramics.

Mrs. Julia Pearson of Vernon displayed some beautiful articles of clothing and other items all done on a knitting machine. She also gave a demonstration of machine knitting and spoke on the subject. Both Mrs. Felty and Mrs. Pearson were accorded a hearty vote of thanks for their interesting displays.

The election of officers for the coming year resulted in re-election of last year's executive. They are: president, Mrs. T. Warton, of Princeton; vice-president, Mrs. G. Forsyth, of Osoyoos; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. P. Vandenbosch of Oliver, and directors, Mrs. A. C. Hillaby, Winfield and Mrs. N. Allingham, Oyama.

Ladies of the United Church Women, Rutland, served the buffet luncheon at the noon hour.

The next annual gathering of the Okanagan-Similkameen Women's Institute will be at Oliver, with the Oliver Women's Institute as host.

Move To Change From Mrs. To Ms.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new form of address for women — Ms. — to replace Mrs. and Miss has been proposed by a New York Congressman.

Democratic Representative Jonathan Bingham says an increasing number of women resent being asked their marital status so the proper form of address can be put on a sales slip or government document.

If Mr. is good enough for all men whether they are married or not, why not Ms. — pronounced Miss — for all women? asks Bingham.

SEVIN insecticide is still on your side

SEVIN Carbaryl Insecticide is the outstanding apple thinner that increases quality while it reduces costs. Sprayed 10 to 25 days after full bloom, it can cut the high cost of hand-thinning and promote growth of the bigger, better-shaped apples that put more money in your pocket. SEVIN also encourages good repeat bloom and improved bud formation for next year's crop. It's highly effective on many varieties including McIntosh, Spy and Delicious. And SEVIN takes your side on safety, too. It breaks down quickly and presents no residue problems in meat or milk when label directions are followed.

The combination of these advantages—safe-to-handle, economical, dependable, field-proven effectiveness—is unmatched by other insecticides.

Get SEVIN on your side—for better fruit and increased profits. See your local agricultural chemical supplier and insist on SEVIN Carbaryl Insecticide for effective thinning and insect control.

RECOMMENDS SUEDE

MONTREAL (CP) — The Footwear Bureau of Canada recommends suede moccasins, desert boots and white or white with black shoes to wear with men's jump suits, jersey slacks, flowered or striped shirts and at-home shirt coats. Ankle-high boots in soft leather are best for 1970 suits with jackets that narrow at the waist and flare over the hips.

COMPLEX LIVING

Pollution And Children At The Beach Or The Park

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PH.D.

In the last few years the word pollution has often been seen or heard by us and our children—pollution of the air, pollution of water, pollution of land.

Pollution of water takes on a real meaning when it's pollution of the beaches, or pollution of the streams, lakes and ponds where we and our children used to swim and romp in safety, or where we used to fish; especially when these places are shut off from us and our children for public protection. When some of us were youngsters, we never heard the warning, "Don't wade or swim here, the water is polluted." Relatively few places then were polluted, or if they were, nobody knew about the pollution or kept much account of it. Since we were young children, health authorities and the public have grown more aware of polluted water. Also since then, with living growing more complex, more and more waste and refuse has been dumped or drained into our public waters. Consider all the refuse drained by sewers from cities, towns and villages into the adjoining waters, growing rapidly in amounts day by day. Besides, what reaches our public waters contains more and more poisonous materials, thanks to waste from modern industries; thanks also to fast-growing insecticides washed into our streams from cultivated fields.

When we see dead fish floating in waters where we used to fish, we are reminded of these ominous facts. Indeed, in many waters where there used to be many fish, there are none now. You have heard that Lake Erie, once the home of many fish, is now practically a dead sea. Moreover, we have learned that many dying fish in oceanic streams are polluted with poisons, indicating that many people must be consuming some of these poisons when they eat fish from polluted waters.

So much is being said about pollution now in the printed word and in news on the air that children understand by talk at home and school about the matter. We parents need to widen this interest in our children and increase their information about pollution. We can do it at the family mealtime. We teachers can do it at school. What subject is of greater moral significance to discuss at Sunday school and at the meetings of various character-building organizations?

Garden Club Will Discuss Annuals In Garden

A group discussion on Annuals in the Garden will highlight the regular monthly meeting on May 6 of the Kelowna and District Garden Club. The meeting, which starts at 7:30 p.m., will be held in the Martin Elementary School at 1434 Graham St.

The club is a member of the British Columbia Council of Garden Clubs and has appointed four delegates to attend meetings.

One of the club's projects is Sunshine Garden Therapy, with cut flower arrangements for the disabled, blind, elderly and the shut-ins. Later on the winter bulbs will be available.

At each meeting there will be a display of floral arrangements. These will be judged on a point system with ribbons awarded later on. Everyone is invited to participate in this, so come and bring an arrangement. A single flower could be of interest. The television demonstration on Focus on May 4 will give ideas on this line. There is also a door prize and lunch each time. Meetings are open to all gardeners.

Social Items Welcome

Readers are invited by the social department to send in items of interest, news or teas, parties, showers, anniversaries, visits and visitors. There is no charge. In Okanagan Mission and Cedar Creek phone Mrs. George Martin at 4-4936 and in East Kelowna phone Mrs. Charles Ross at 3-5291 or phone the women's editor at the Courier, 2-4445 if you live in the city.

ANN LANDERS

If Ears Need Cleaning Let Doctor Do It

Dear Ann Landers: Since you are read and quoted by millions of people will you please say something to the thousands of ignorant fools who are wrecking their ears? As an otologist's nurse I can vouch for that old saying, "nothing smaller than an elbow should go into ears". People insist on "cleaning" their ears with cotton swabs, hairpins, keys, pencils, pens, wire, etc., etc. As a result we get several calls a day from people who are suffering the tortures of the damned. The doctor gives them a lecture and prescribes medication but they keep coming back time after time for the same old thing. The most pathetic cases are infants who are brought in for treatment. Cotton swabs not only pack the ear wax tighter and clog the canal but carelessly used, they can scratch the fine lining of the canal and start infections.

Infections can lead to chronic drainage and a loss of hearing. Please tell your readers that the normal ear cleans itself and does not require anyone digging in it. If, by chance, the ears do not secrete their own wax and debris, they should be cleaned by a doctor, not an amateur.

You do a lot of good in this world, Ann. Do a little more and point this—Office Nurse Dear Nurse: Here 'tis and I hope somebody listens.

Dear Ann Landers: Several months ago I decided on the spur of the moment to have my fortune told. The fortune teller was a woman who worked with a deck of cards.

The very first thing she said was, "I see something very bad here. Your husband is going to die young. He will not live to raise his small children." I felt as if someone had hit me in the head with a brick. She asked me if I wanted to know more and I said, "No—that's enough." I staggered out of the tent and had to sit down on a bench for 10 minutes before I could go on home. I've talked to several people about this and they all say "Forget it!" But I can't erase that horrible experience from my mind. It haunts me night and day.

When my husband complains of a slight headache I'm sure he has the beginning of a brain tumor. If he has a little stomach upset I'm certain he is having a heart attack. If he is 10 minutes late for dinner I imagine he has been killed in a car accident.

Please give me some help. How can I free myself from this prison of fear?—Alice Dear Alice: That "fortune teller" did a cruel piece of mischief. She must be a sadist, as well as a charlatan. I suggest professional help. You need to talk out this obsession until you are free of it.

Dear Ann Landers: A niece (by marriage) moved to this city recently. We are nearly the same age. (Three years difference.) She calls me Aunt Harriet.

I wish she would drop the aunt. Because of the closeness in our age people keep asking me to explain the relationship. I am sick of going into it. (She is the daughter of my deceased husband's sister and I can't see that it's worth explaining.)

I've asked her twice to call me Harriet but she is nearly 80 and doesn't help well. What should I do?—Edna

Dear Edna: Talk louder. Confidential to Mystery Unsolved: What mystery? Your children are self-centred, lazy and irresponsible because you (in your own words) "tried so hard to make life easy and pleasant for them." Kids need a challenge and a sense of achievement. There is no pride and no satisfaction in having things handed to you.

CONST. AND MRS. WILLIAM MURDOCH
(Pope's Studio)

RCMP Constables Form Honor Guard

RCMP constables in their scarlet tunics formed the traditional honor guard for the bridal recessional at the marriage of Gerda Frances Helen Polman, Kelowna, and Const. William Brant Murdoch, of Banff, Alta., on April 25. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter John Polman, Kelowna, and the groom is the son of Staff Sgt. and Mrs. William Murdoch, Victoria, B.C.

Baskets of spring flowers decorated the Roman Catholic Church of Immaculate Conception for the double-ring ceremony conducted by Rev. R. D. Anderson. Soloist Mrs. Joseph Gregory of Kelowna accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Ratcliffe, also of Kelowna, sang Oh What Could My Jesus Do More and Ave Maria during the signing of the register.

A portrait gown of beau d'elegance with fitted bodice of Chantilly lace and fitted long lilypoint sleeves was chosen by the bride, given in marriage by her father. Adding back interest was the full graceful train attached at the waist. A large rose of satin held in place her three layered veil of silk tulle, of elbow length. She carried a cascade of haccara red roses and kept the traditional sentiment by wearing borrowed pearl earrings, a blue garter, and a string of graduated pearls, a gift from the groom.

Bridal attendants were: matron of honor, the bride's sister, Mrs. W. J. Krulper of Rutland and bridesmaids, Mrs. Barry Clark, Kelowna; Heather Murdoch, sister of the groom; "Junior" bridesmaid, Mary-Ann Krulper, bride's niece of Rutland.

They were charming in floor-length dresses of gold peau d'elegance styled in medieval, empire lines and a large bow tied the long graceful trains. They carried bouquets of shasta daisies. Their headresses were composed of three rosebuds of beau d'elegance matching their dresses and they wore pearl pendant necklaces, gifts from the bride.

Altar boys were Peter and Raymond Polman, nephews of the bride from Kelowna.

Const. Bud Cramm of High River, Alta., served as best man and ushers were Const. Robert Mattioli, Const. James Yasinaki, both of Banff, Alta., and forming the honor guard were Constables Blaine Campbell, Ray Barritt, Gary Boyer, Cliff Assenbrunner, Ross Mortlock and Alan Lindsay.

The bride's mother received at the reception at Capri, wearing a two-piece ensemble in Mediterranean blue, antron lace, with matching hat and shoes. A corsage of pale pink carnations tipped with purple accented her costume.

The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a dress of champagne pink shot with gold threads and matching hat and shoes. A corsage of dusty pink carnations complemented the ensemble.

The bride presented her bridal bouquet to Mrs. M. P. Murdoch, grandmother of the groom, before leaving for a honeymoon to California and Disneyland. For her going away costume the bride changed to a two-piece ivory suit and dress ensemble with accessories of shrimp. White carnations tipped with shrimp color formed her corsage.

The newlyweds will reside at 213 Towne House Apartment, Banff, Alta.

A three-tiered wedding cake topped with fire king roses and white shasta buds and streamers centred the lace covered tablecloth. Silver candlesticks flanked the cake. Master of ceremonies was Ed Collen who was assisted in the toasts by Colin Mangun.

Out-of-town guests included: Miss L. Mangun of Fernie; Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Tye, Heather Murdoch, Mrs. M. P. Murdoch, Mr. and Mrs. J. Boudling, Mr. and Mrs. D. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Loop, Mr. and Mrs. Sommergill, Mrs. I. Piercy, Const. Ray Barritt, Const. and Mrs. Gary Boyer, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. R. Yamoka, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Mangun, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Mangun, Colin and Dan Mangun from Pentticon; Staff Sgt. and Mrs. William Murdoch, Pat Leucin, Nell Bonnell from Victoria; Const. and Mrs. Robert Mattioli, Const. Ross Mortlock, Const. and Mrs. Blaine Campbell, Const. James Yasinaki and Shirley Crawford, all of Banff; Const. Bud Cramm, High River, Alta.; Const. Cliff Assenbrunner, Calgary, Alta.

Women Editor Of 'Foreign Trade' Doing Her Bit For Aid, Also

OTTAWA (CP) — O. Mary Hill, editor of the federal industry department's magazine Foreign Trade, is doing her bit for foreign aid as well.

She is on her first overseas assignment—a six-month trip to Geneva, Switzerland, to arrange and edit notes to be used as teaching manuals in the training division of the International Trade Commission.

"Because it's for developing countries, this is technically a foreign aid assignment under the Canadian International Development Agency," she says.

In 1952 Miss Hill became the first women editor in Foreign Trade's 66-year history.

Her work for the trade commission resulted from a 1967 industry department publication, How to Win World Markets, which she edited and which commission officials liked.

Considered useful for developing countries, the book was distributed by the commission in English, French and Spanish.

Set up in 1964 to help developing countries and promote foreign trade, the commission has since 1968 been run jointly by the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and the United Nations conference on trade and development.

LEAD SERIES 3-2

Plante Records Shutout Leads St. Louis To Win

ST. LOUIS (CP) — St. Louis Blues are on the doorstep of the Stanley Cup for a third season in a row, thanks to a 41-year-old record-setting goalie and a 30-year-old centre. Goalie Jacques Plante collected his 14th career shutout in play of actor-while centre Frank St. Marseille provided three goals in 5-0 Blues win over Pittsburgh Penguins Tuesday night.

The win gave the Blues a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven National Hockey League West Division final. The Penguins face elimination should they lose the sixth game of the series Thursday night in Pittsburgh.

A seventh game, if necessary, will be played here Sunday. But if the Blues can win Thursday they will start the final here Sunday against Boston Bruins.

FRANK ST. MARSEILLE ... joins elite

PLAY 'BEST GAME'

Chances come, and you put them in," St. Marseille said after the game. "I liked the way we played tonight—this is the best game we've played against yet."

After a day when the outside temperature reached 92, the ice got soft in the sweltering arena, packed with 16,872 fans.

"The ice was a little heavy," said St. Marseille, "but that works against both teams."

St. Marseille's first goal came midway through the first period er-play goal in the second period when he took a pass near the side of the Pittsburgh net and fired from a sharp angle.

Early in the third period, Bill McCreary moved in directly in front of the Penguins netminder and slipped a quick pass to St. Marseille who flipped the puck over Smith's shoulder to wrap up the scoring.

Andre Boudrias got one of the other St. Louis goals when he took a perfect pass from Terry Gray. Tim Ecclestone counted the other goal in the second period when the Blues' Ab McDonald was sitting out a minor penalty.

Plante stopped only 21 Pittsburgh shots to score the record-setting shutout. Plante had held the previous record of 13 playoff shutouts by Turk Broda, the former star of Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Blues, unhampered by the fierce checking the Penguins had displayed in the last two games at Pittsburgh, took 35 shots at Smith, who came up with several outstanding saves.

KELLY OPTIMISTIC

Despite the Penguins' inability to generate any dangerous offensive drives, coach Red Kelly was optimistic about his team's chances of staying alive in the series.

Bruins Will Risk Injury

BOSTON (AP) — Coach Harry Sinden says his Boston Bruins will risk injury in order to remain sharp for the Stanley Cup final.

"The problem is physical," Sinden said of the playoff his team is having while St. Louis and Pittsburgh battle for the other berth in the final series.

"We certainly can't cruise through several days of practice. We must have some hard work and some good contact work. We certainly don't want anyone hurt at this stage of the game. But we have to take the risk to stay sharp."

The Bruins, who wound up their sweep over Chicago Black Hawks in the East Division final last Sunday, will have been a idle from competition at least a week before starting the Cup final.

St. Louis now lead the West Division final 3-2. If the Blues win the sixth game Thursday night, the final series will open in St. Louis Sunday.

If the Western series goes the full seven games, the final will start on Tuesday night, the site depending on who wins in the West.

Worry Grows Over Boycott Of Games

LONDON (CP) — Worry was growing in Britain today over a threatened mass boycott of Edinburgh's Commonwealth Games by the 13 Commonwealth countries of black Africa.

Mounting African militancy over a summer cricket tour of England by apartheid South Africa's all-white national team gave rise to the fears that this might reduce the quality of the July Games.

Abraham Orodia of Nigeria, chairman of the Supreme Council for Sport in Africa, said in a BBC television program Tuesday night that the African countries will withdraw if the controversial cricket test tour goes ahead.

Speaking from Lagos, he added that the African states will wait to see whether the tour is held before deciding on the proposed boycott.

At the moment there appears little likelihood of the tour being called off despite the fact that well-organized anti-apartheid groups are planning disruptive demonstrations at all matches and the issue has become a political hot potato in England.

BASEBALL STARS

Batting—Tony Perez, Reds, slammed his 10th homer this month, a major league record, and added an RBI single in Cincinnati's 4-2 victory over Houston.

Pitching—Steve Renko, Expos, stopped San Diego on six hits in the second game as Montreal swept a doubleheader from the Padres 4-2 and 7-3.

BASEBALL ROUNDUPS

Al's East Rises Again To Beat The Weak West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The American League's Eastern Division teams rose up and smote the West Tuesday, winning all six inter-divisional games scheduled.

Cleveland Indians started it with a 3-1 triumph over Minnesota Twins in the only day game. At night, Detroit Tigers took an 8-6 victory over Kansas City Royals, Baltimore Orioles were 4-2 winners over Chicago White Sox, Washington Senators beat Milwaukee Brewers 3-6.

New York Yankees won 7-5 over California Angels and Boston Red Sox edged Oakland Athletics 2-1.

With the six victories Tuesday the Eastern Division took an 18-6 edge over Western opponents this season.

Tony Horton, who said "I was just looking for the first ball that looked good to me," slammed a two-run ninth-inning double and gave the Indians their victory over the Twins.

The slugging first baseman got his chance when after one out, Twins third baseman Harmon Killebrew dropped a foul pop hit by Ted Uhlaender. Uhlaender then slapped a single to center. One out later Vada Pinson singled, setting up Horton's game-winner.

KALINE CON'TS
Al Kaline's first homer of the season keyed a four-run third inning in the Tigers easy triumph, pinning the Royals with their sixth straight defeat.

Detroit pitcher Joe Niekro, 3-0, lost his shutout on homers by Kansas City's Lou Piniella and Paul Schaal in the sixth inning. Boog Powell knocked in all four runs in the Orioles victory.

Powell, who "elited White Sox" pitchers for eight homers and a .459 batting average last year, quickly got started this season, slugging a three-run homer in the opening inning and adding a run-scoring single in the fifth.

Co-holder of last year's Cy Young Award, Mike Cuellar, benefitted from Powell's belting, gaining his third victory while scattering eight hits, including a homer by the Sox' Bill Melton.

Frank Howard, Ed Stroud and Aurelio Rodriguez pooled home runs in the Senators long-battle with the Brewers. Ted Savage and Danny Walton connected for Milwaukee. It was Walton's seventh of the season, best in the league.

HITS FIRST HOMER

Fritz Peterson knocked in three runs with a single and his first major league homer and Ron Woods added a two-run shot for the Yanks over the Angels.

Peterson, 2-2, was sailing along on a four-hitter and was one out of achieving New York's first complete pitching performance of the season when Ken McMullen socked a two-run homer. With two men on base, Steve Hamilton relieved the left-hander. Another run scored before the victory was secured.

Tony Conigliaro and Mike Andrews rapped solo homers to back-tin pitching of left-hander Bill Lee in Boston's narrow triumph.

Lee had a one-hitter through seven innings before he ran into trouble and needed relief help.

The A's Frank Fernandez singled after two outs and singles by Bob Poma and Bert Campaneris made it 2-1 before Ray Jarvis came out of the bullpen to put out the fire.

BOYER WINS IT

Clete Boyer unloaded a two-run homer in the ninth, giving the Braves their victory over St. Louis. Mike Torrez had been rding a 2-1 lead produced by Richie Allen's fifth homer of the year for the Cards before Boyer struck.

Hank Aaron tagged his seventh of the season for the Braves in the first inning against the Cards.

Dave Marshall, an ex-Giant, exploded a first inning grand slam homer and gave the Mets enough of a cushion to beat the Giants.

Marshall's shot keyed a five-run Met first and Gary Gentry went eight innings to earn his second victory of the year. He gave up six hits including the 662nd home run of Willie Mays' career.

Larry Hiale's two-out homer in the ninth tied the game and then a pinch homer by Rick Jacobson leading off the 10th gave Philadelphia its sixth straight victory and beat the Dodgers.

Schmidt Enjoys New Company

It didn't take Don Schmidt too long to show what he could do with a winner.

The hard-throwing right hander of the Royal Anne Royals of the Kelowna and District softball league, Tuesday, pitching his first game of the season, blanked the visiting Vernon Kals 6-0, while registering a two-hitter and driving in two runs to help his own cause.

Schmidt, playing his first season with the Royals, after many years with the Kelowna Labatts, faced 27 batters, striking out 11, and walking only three.

The undefeated Royals picked up one run for Schmidt in the first inning, as lead-off man Ted Weys, took a base-on-balls,

ALLAN CUP

The Difference Was Mr. Martin

SPOKANE, Wash. (CP) — Royals and the WIHL's leading scorer during the regular season, and rookie Brian Strimbski each scored once for the Jets.

Ken Gustafson and Don Scherza scored the other goals for Spokane.

Vipond, 21 who played junior hockey with Oshawa Generals, finished fifth among WIHL scorers with 28 goals and 36 assists and was rookie of the year. Although he played centre with the Leafs, he was converted to right wing when he joined the Jets.

The Orilla coach said it was the first shutout his team had suffered all season on their way to the Eastern Canada senior hockey championship.

Another thing the Jets had going for them was 6,100 screaming fans, Hildebrand said.

You get that many people on your back in a small rink and you feel like you are in a 12-by-12 room."

Hildebrand said he will not do anything different for Thursday's game—just "the same old thing, only better."

He said he hoped defenceman Mike Draper would arrive in time for the next game. Job commitments kept him in Orilla for the first two games.

Shield then charged on the outside to win the one-mile trial by a length and earn a berth in Saturday's Derby.

George Lewis placed second, Michael Phipps' Panicum Repens third, and High Echelon fourth.

Admiral Shield's winning time was 1:37.15 and he paid $42, $10.20 and $6.80. George Lewis paid 3.20 and $3 and Panicum Repens returned $7.80.

Supreme Quality, unbeaten in three earlier starts, was purchased at the Kentucky yearling sale in 1968 for $40,000. He was unraced as a two-year-old because of a shin ailment.

Besides Admiral Shield, George Lewis is also expected to enter Saturday's 96th running of the Derby, a 2 1/4-mile, $125,000 classic.

A field of 16 three-year-olds is expected to enter but the number will not be known until Thursday morning when entries are made.

Kitchen's Derby Hopes Sink After Supreme Quality Fails

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (CP) — Walter Kitchen's hopes of having a Canadian entry in Saturday's Kentucky Derby were dashed Tuesday when Supreme Quality placed fifth in a field of 10 in the Derby Trial Stakes and pulled up with a deep cut on his right rear foot.

The Toronto businessman's colt took an early lead on the sloppy Churchill Downs Track with Alan Magerman's George Lewis pressing him from the outside.

The two raced together until near the quarter pole when jockey Bill Hartack sent George Lewis to the front as Supreme Quality appeared to tire. William C. Robinson's Admiral

REMEMBER WHEN . . .
Red Kelly hit the National Hockey League jackpot 16 years ago tonight—in 1954—when he was awarded the first James Norris Memorial Trophy for defence and his third Lady Byng Memorial Trophy for sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct. Each carried a $1,000 reward. Kelly won another $1,000 for election to the first all-star team for the fourth consecutive year and as a member of the Stanley Cup-winning Detroit Red Wings he took home a bonus of $3,000.

REGIONAL DISTRICT OF CENTRAL OKANAGAN

SYNOPSIS OF BY-LAW No. 5

BEING A BY-LAW TO CONTROL THE INFESTATION BY NOXIOUS AND DESTRUCTIVE INSECTS.

WHEREAS by Section 870 (L) of the Municipal Act and Supplementary Letters Patent, the Regional Board may, by by-law require the owners or occupiers of real property or their agents, to prevent infestation thereof by noxious or destructive insects as hereinafter defined and to control on such property noxious or destructive insects; and

WHEREAS it is deemed advisable and expedient that for the protection of property owners generally in the Regional District of Central Okanagan, as hereinafter described, such powers be exercised; and necessary and sufficient regulatory measures be enacted;

NOW THEREFORE the Regional Board of the Regional District of Central Okanagan, in open meeting assembled, ENACTS as follows:

1. This By-Law may be cited for all purposes as the "Regional District of Central Okanagan Noxious Insect Control By-Law 1969."

2. This By-Law shall apply for all purposes to all that tract of land known and described as the Regional District of Central Okanagan in the Letters Patent or in subsequent amendments incorporating the Regional District, excluding thereout the Municipality of the City of Kelowna.

I. INTERPRETATION

In this By-Law, unless the context otherwise requires: "AGENT" shall include the operator or lessee of any real property for agricultural or other purposes.

"DESIGNATED AREA" shall mean Regional District of Central Okanagan, as described in Section 2, of this By-Law.

"INFESTED CONDITION" shall mean an existing condition of any real property, or trees, or brush, whether such trees or brush be living or dead, or other growth thereon, or fruit therefrom, which due to the presence of any noxious or destructive insects as herein designated, in the opinion of the Inspection Committee, constitutes or is likely to constitute a menace to the fruit or trees of other owners or occupiers of real property or their agents within the designated area.

"INSPECTION COMMITTEE" shall mean the Regional District of Central Okanagan Noxious Insect Control Committee constituted pursuant to the provisions of this By-Law and authorized by the Regional Board at any time or from time to time to enforce and carry out the provisions of this By-Law.

"NOXIOUS OR DESTRUCTIVE INSECTS" shall be the following:

(A) Codling Moths: Carpocapsa Pomonella (1).

(B) Scales: San Jose — Aspidiotus Perniciosus (Comstock) European Fruit — Aspidiotus ostryaeformis Curt

(C) Shot-Hole Borer — Scolytus Augulosus (Ratzenburg)

(D) Pear Psylla (Psylla) Pyricola (Forster)

(E) Cherry Fruit Flies — Rhagoletis Species

(F) Ambrosia Beetle — Anisandrus Species

"OCCUPIER" shall have the meaning given to it by Section 2 of the "Municipal Act".

"OWNER" shall have the meaning given to it by Section 2 of the "Municipal Act".

"REGIONAL BOARD" shall mean the Regional Board of the Regional District of Central Okanagan holding office for the time being.

"ELECTORAL AREA" shall mean an Electoral Area of the Regional District of Central Okanagan as described in the Letters Patent.

"ELECTORAL AREA DIRECTOR" shall mean the elected Director of the Regional Board of the Regional District of Central Okanagan, representing the Electoral Area within which the inspection is to occur.

"ALTERNATE" shall mean the alternate Director as provided for in Section 774 (1) of the "Municipal Act".

"ADMINISTRATOR" shall mean the Administrator for the Regional District of Central Okanagan acting as Administrator for the Inspection Committee.

"MAYOR" shall mean the Mayor of the Corporation of the District of Peachland.

"DEPUTY MAYOR" shall mean the Deputy Mayor of the Corporation of the District of Peachland.

"COUNCIL" shall mean the Council of the Corporation of the District of Peachland.

II. REGULATION

4. All owners and occupiers of real property situate within the designated area, or their agents, are hereby required to prevent and control the infestation of such real property by noxious or destructive insects as herein designated.

5. All owners and occupiers of real property situate within the designated area, or their agents, are hereby further required, when such real property is or is likely to become in an infested condition, to clear forthwith such real property of noxious or destructive insects herein designated, by spraying or removing and destroying any trees, fruit, brush, or other growths in an infested condition on direction of the Inspection Committee.

III. ENFORCEMENT

6. (1) The Regional Board may by Resolution at any time or from time to time appoint a Committee of the Regional Board for the purposes of enforcing the provisions of this By-Law, and such Committee shall be known as the Regional District of Central Okanagan Noxious Insect Control Committee, hereinafter referred to as the "Inspection Committee."

7. (1) The Chairman of the Inspection Committee shall receive in writing and determine in consultation with the other members of the Committee, any complaints or requests for inspection.

(2) The Inspection Committee or any member or members thereof or any agent authorized by the Committee, shall have the right to enter upon any real property within the designated area at any reasonable time for the purpose of inspecting the said real property, or any trees, or brush, whether such trees or brush be living or dead, or other growths situate thereon, or fruit therefrom, to ascertain whether the said real property or any of the said trees, fruit, brush, or other growths is or is likely to become in an infested condition.

(3) For the purpose of Sub-section (2) of this section, the Inspection Committee, or any member or members thereof, or any agent authorized by the Committee, may do such things and perform such tests, analyses, or other acts as may be necessary on the said living or dead, or other growths situate thereon, or fruit therefrom, in order to determine whether any of the said trees, fruit, brush, or other growths is or is likely to become in an infested condition.

8. (1) If the Inspection Committee, in its discretion, determine that any particular real property within the designated area, or any particular tree or trees, or brush, whether such trees or brush be living or dead, or other growths situate thereon, or any fruit therefrom, is or is likely to become in an infested condition, the Committee shall report the existence of such condition to the Administrator, together with their recommendation in relation thereto, and upon receipt of notice of such condition from the Inspection Committee, the Administrator may, if deemed advisable, forthwith advise the owner or occupier, or his agent, in writing of such condition and require the owner or occupier of such real property, or his agent, to remove the infested condition by means of a standard spray programme as recommended by the British Columbia Department of Agriculture, or by the removal and destruction of any fruit, or trees, or brush, whether such trees or brush be living or dead, or other growths, deemed to be in an infested condition, within seven (7) days from the date of posting of the notice of the condition.

(2) Where the owner of any real property is not the occupier or the agent, any written notice to be given by sub-section (1) of this section shall be given to the owner and the occupier or agent of the said property.

(3) Any written notice to be given by sub-section (1) of this section shall be deemed to be validly given if delivered personally or mailed to the owner and occupier, if any, of the real property in question and his agent, if any, by prepaid registered mail and addressed to such owner, occupier, and agent in care of the ordinary postal address for such real property.

9. If after the expiry of seven (7) days from the date of the notice given pursuant to section 8, the infested condition has not been removed by the owner or occupier of the real property in question, or his agent, to the satisfaction of the Inspection Committee, it shall be lawful for the Regional District of Central Okanagan, by its workmen and others, to enter upon such real property and effect the removal of the condition by spraying or removing and destroying any fruit, or trees, or brush, whether such trees or brush be living or dead, or other growths as may be necessary under the circumstances, at the expense of the person so defaulting; and the charges incurred by the Regional District of Central Okanagan, or by the Corporation of the District of Peachland for so doing, if unpaid on the thirty-first day of December in any year, shall be added to and form part of the taxes payable in respect of such real property as taxes in arrears.

10. This By-Law came into force and effect on the 10th day of January 1970. Please govern yourself accordingly.

A. T. HARRISON,
Secretary-Treasurer
Regional District of Central Okanagan.

TRY AND STOP ME

By Bennett Cerf

A MONTH after model prisoners in an Illinois jail were first allowed to watch daytime TV for a limited period each day, the publicity head of a nearby TV station asked one inmate what he thought of the programs.

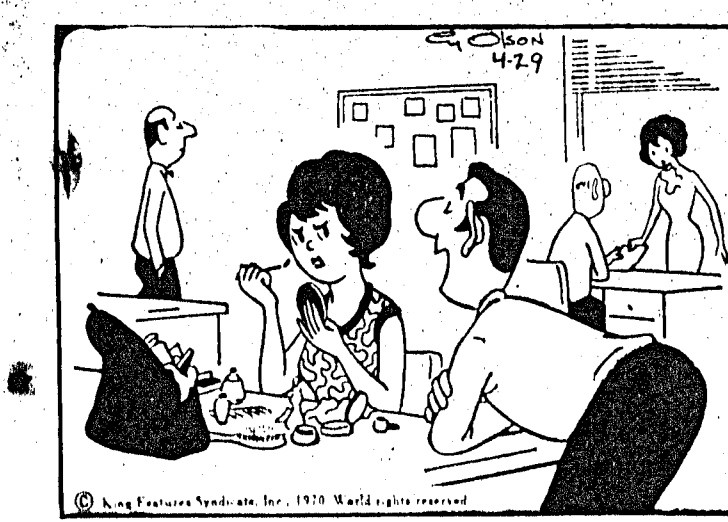

A cagey old farmer sold a distant neighbor a horse one afternoon. The neighbor loaded it into a truck and let it out to pasture as soon as he got home.

"Hey," he exclaimed. "That horse you sold me. He's running around the pasture, bumping into every tree in sight. He must be blind."

"Not him," answered the seller of the horse. "He ain't blind—he just don't give a darn!"

Keep On Babying A Damaged Liver

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If a person has an enlarged liver, and the doctor puts him on a diet, no fried food and no alcohol, and the person stays on it for a month, and the liver went down, will it stay down when this person starts to drink beer and eat fried food again?

What happens? The trouble starts up again. After a few cycles of this, the liver is so badly damaged that nothing can be done to keep it from degenerating completely.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My granddaughter, 6, has just been found to have diabetes, and the doctor says she will have to take insulin twice a day.

It is downright dangerous to listen to any such stories. Diabetes is not curable; but it can be controlled.

And since diabetes in a young child can progress at a rapid rate at times, I would not waste a moment in starting the insulin.

NEW BADGES FOR FORCES

Doctors, lawyers, chaplains and dentists in the Canadian Forces have been authorized identifiable cap and lapel badges. Medical services will wear an oval-shaped badge surrounded by gold maple leaves featuring the Rod of Aesculapius below the Royal

Crown. The rod of Aesculapius signifies the symbol of healing. The badge for legal officers contains a blunted sword of mercy, which should prevail in judgment, the Royal Crown of St. Edward above the inscription Fiat Justitia—Let Justice Prevail. Chaplains will wear a purple oval within a wreath of maple leaves with the Latin cross beneath the Royal Crown. The Latin cross denotes Christianity. Within the dental services' badge is the Greek symbol Delta signifying dentistry, the Rod of Aesculapius and the Crusader sword emblematic of the healing art and military aspects of the dental services. These new badges, designed to be worn with the new green uniform, will be taken into wear this year as soon as received from the manufacturer.

Send Hate Bill To Court Lang Urges Fellow Grits

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator Daniel Lang, an Ontario Liberal, Tuesday night urged other Liberals in the Upper House to force the cabinet to refer the hate propaganda bill to the Supreme Court of Canada for a decision on whether it violates the Bill of Rights.

The Lang motion marks the first serious Senate attempt to turn back a government bill since 1961, when the Liberal majority in the Upper House revolted against a Conservative government bill to remove James Coyne as governor of the Bank of Canada.

The difference this time is that a Liberal senator, with some support, is opposing a Liberal government bill.

Senator Lang pleaded with other Liberals to support his motion and establish the Senate's "true image" as a parliamentary bastion of rights and freedom.

He said that if Liberals voted the party line, "then I question the worthwhile continued existence of this body."

WANTS IMAGE CHANGE

"It may be in one stroke that the image of the Senate as a mere rubber stamp for government policy may be wiped away," he said.

His speech, with the bill before the Senate for the fourth time, drew a steaming reply from Senator Harper Prowse (Alberta), also a Liberal.

Senator Prowse said that "we would be wasting the time of the court and making ourselves look like fools" by referring the hate bill to the court.

He disputed Senator Lang's comparison of the hate bill with the section of the Indian Act ruled by the Supreme Court to contravene the Bill of Rights in the Joseph Drybones case.

Drybones, a Yellowknife Indian, was fined $10 under the Indian Act for being drunk off a reserve. There are no reserves in the Northwest Territories and the Indian Act provided a heavier penalty for drunkenness than the N.W.T. liquor ordinance.

"The whole basis of the Drybones case is that the Indian Act was legislation which could only apply to an Indian and that is why he was prosecuted," Senator Prowse said.

HITS NEWSPAPER

He also tore into the Toronto Globe and Mail, whose editorials against the hate bill have been used by some senators. The Globe and Mail had pointed out "the kind of language" used by Canadian political speakers in the past and said Parliament hadn't put the speakers in jail.

"If we had, we would have jailed bishops, priests and teachers as well as the prime ministers and editors," Senator Prowse said.

The Globe and Mail had "said what I expected it to say" in opposing the bill.

"The old Globe did more to lay the foundations of the differences that exist between the races in Canada today than anything done by any other instrument in this country," Senator Prowse said.

Senator Lang said the 1965 committee under former law Dean Maxwell Cohen of McGill University—Pierre Elliott Trudeau, then a law professor, was a member—had been able to find only a handful of hate cases at the time and these had died out.

Meanwhile, the bill was still "dangerously close" to infringing upon the right to free speech.

Opposition Challenges Grits On Inflation-Fighting Role

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition parties challenged the government Tuesday to justify continuing its fight against inflation in the face of rising unemployment.

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield opened the attack with a motion condemning the government's methods of combating rising costs and prices. The motion was vigorously debated but under House rules it did not come to a vote.

Was it necessary for the government to intensify its efforts to cool down the economy when the unemployment rate for March had reached 6.7 per cent on the labor force, Mr. Stanfield asked.

No, he went on. The government's restrictive economic measures were "immoral and unnecessary."

Finance Minister Edgar Benson plunged into the debate, saying the federal government has taken numerous measures to assist the unemployed.

'IT'S INEVITABLE'

No one wanted unemployment, but a certain amount was inevitable as the anti-inflation fight began to have effects. The opposition had been crying just a few months ago that the government was not taking strong enough action against inflation.

New Democrat Leader T. C. Douglas said the government's anti-inflationary methods have been awkward—"like a hippopotamus trampling through a field of tulips."

By applying the same policies to everyone, the government had hit the poor particularly hard. "The poor are hit twice as hard because the cost of living is going up and many are thrown out of jobs."

Mr. Benson said there are a few "hopeful, if still only tentative signs" that inflation is being eased. Consumer wholesale and industrial prices had levelled off during the last two months.

Gerard Laprise (Creditiste-Abitibi) urged the government to put more money into the hands of consumers so they can consume more. This would mean increased production to meet increased demand and all Canadians would be called on to work to their full capacity.

CITES WAGE DEMANDS

Mr. Benson said continuing inflationary pressure in the U.S. and escalating wage demands in Canada are two of the strongest forces contributing to inflation in Canada.

The government is trying to make labor the scapegoat for continuing inflation, Mr. Douglas said.

But what has really happened, he said, is that the government's policy of voluntary price and wage restraints has failed. Such restraints could not be adopted by labor unions because they become binding when written into contracts.

The government should now force industry to accept price levels consistent with the anti-inflation program, Mr. Douglas said.

Along with this, investment capital should be funnelled into areas such as housing to promote work and provide shelter for the poor.

SEES NO REASON

Mr. Stanfield said he sees no reason for the government to continue following policies that will increase unemployment.

"The government has no right to throw the weak out of work and convince the comfortable majority that this is necessary to beat inflation," Mr. Stanfield said.

Many economists believed that inflation could be controlled while maintaining acceptable levels of unemployment.

"The government is so obsessed with its own preoccupation that it simply doesn't react to the hardships of the country," he said.

Prime Minister Trudeau remained in the Commons for only eight minutes of Mr. Stanfield's 28-minute speech opening the debate.

Benson Agrees To Think Again

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Finance Minister Edgar Benson has agreed to consider making provincial mining taxes a deductible expense for mining companies before they compute their federal taxes.

At present, mining companies pay both federal and provincial taxes but the latter is not deducted before calculating federal tax.

Critics of Mr. Benson's white paper on taxation contended here Monday that if the white paper proposals were implemented, mining companies would end up with a higher rate of tax payment than other industries. Only mining has a separate provincial tax.

Rockefeller Turned Laborer, Won't Ever Be Same Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Larry Rockefeller, the modest 25-year-old millionaire who became a block worker in New York's Harlem Negro area, has retired after more than three years there. Neither Larry nor the block will be the same again.

Larry, son of Laurence S. Rockefeller and nephew of two Governors, said Monday he now is much less "naive" about how fast change can be accomplished.

When he joined VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America), a federally sponsored volunteer program which trains block workers, he expected to make his block an "extremely different place" in three years. But he immediately experienced setbacks.

One of his youth council leaders became a junkie, city agencies were filled with red tape, and a chicken franchise he and the block corporation had planned to raise funds and employ welfare mothers fell through.

On the other hand, a park opened Sunday where there once was a rut-bush-filled lot and there's now a library in a convenient store. There's a classroom building, a full-scale tutoring program, a community center and pre-school centre with a full-time teacher.

Larry joined VISTA in the fall of 1966 and moved into a predominantly black and Puerto Rican block of Harlem. The 121st Block Corp. was formed and it solicited $30,000 from General Electric and another $30,000 from the New York Mission Society and the New York Community Trust to its work.

Larry lived in a $90-a-month tenement. He is leaving to work in conservation because he believes the block and its corporation can stand on its own.

STUDENTS CHARGED

WINNIPEG (CP) — Five high school students, including two juvenile girls, were charged Tuesday in the $15,000 holdup Friday of a downtown branch of the Bank of Montreal. Two youths, Arthur Eugene Arnott and Mark Allen Land, both 18 and both of Winnipeg, were remanded to May 5 without bail when they appeared in city magistrate's court Tuesday. Three juveniles were turned over to juvenile authorities.

LICENCE OPPOSED

RED DEER, Alta. (CP) — City council says it opposes an application by Pacific Western Airlines for a licence from the Air Transport Commission to operate flights between Lethbridge and Calgary. Council said Tuesday Red Deer will be without a scheduled air service if the PWA application is granted. Time Airways Ltd. of Lethbridge, operating daily flights on a Lethbridge-Calgary-Red Deer-Edmonton feeder route, says it may not be able to continue the service if the PWA obtains a licence.

ON QUEBEC'S ELECTION MENU:

Bread And Butter Plus Separatism

QUEBEC (CP) — Bread-and-butter issues and separatism were expected to bring a record number of voters to the polls in today's Quebec general election.

The weather outlook was for mainly sunny skies, except for some cloudiness and scattered showers in western regions.

Polls opened at 9 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. for the 3,481,538 eligible voters, a total surpassing the previous high of 3,222,302 established in the last election June 5, 1966.

Voting for the 108 national assembly seats at stake are 466 candidates, including a full slate entered by the government Union Nationale, the Opposition Liberals and the separatist Parti Quebecois. Creditistes have 99 representatives and the New Democratic Party 13.

In a hectic three-week campaign separatism versus federalism was by far the most hotly contested theme. Deep concern was shown about such basic issues as unemployment and high taxes.

Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand, who predicts the return of his Union Nationale government with 65 seats, ended the final day of the campaign in his home riding of Missisquoi south-east of Montreal.

Liberal Leader Robert Bourassa, running in Montreal Mercier, forecasting a majority government with 55 to 70 seats, toured parts of the province by plane Tuesday.

Rene Levesque, leader of the Parti Quebecois, who said he is expecting 14 to 25 seats, spent the final day in his home riding in Montreal Laurier. But he has also said anything is possible including his party winning the election.

At home in Rouyn-Noranda was Creditiste Leader Camil Samson, looking for "more than 40" seats in the next legislature.

Roland Morin, who heads the NDP, spent the final day in his riding of Montreal Marguerite-Bourgeoys.

a gathering he wanted a "crushing victory."

Mr. Bourassa also flashed through eight ridings. He called for strong economic federalism and hammered on the need to curb unemployment.

He said only his party could bring political stability to Quebec.

COST IS UP

The election is expected to cost taxpayers at least $8,500,000, up from $6,900,000 spent in the previous vote.

The government will pay at least $2,000,000 to cover expenses for 10 voting hours at the polls today, with costs for polling station attendants and other

Mr. Levesque, whose massive and noisy rallies dominated the campaign, addressed three gatherings Tuesday night calling on his supporters to keep up "this tidal wave" of support.

Mr. Bertrand started his final campaign day by visiting eight ridings before stopping in his own constituency, where he told
