EXCHANGE STUDENTS SEE WINERY

Burnaby exchange students swarm around a section of Beau Sejour Vineyards Ltd., today on the first stop of an extended tour of the city.

About 55 visitors from Sperling Elementary School, Burnaby, arrived in the city by bus Tuesday in a student exchange scheme with Raymer

Elementary School on a two-day jaunt to places of interest in Kelowna. Sixty Raymer students left May 21 on a reciprocal four-day tour of Vancouver. The exchange has been operating between both schools for the past three years and is organized by Paul Durose, Grade 7 teacher. —(Courier Photo)

Mailmen Boost Rotating Strikes

Penticton CUPE 'May Hit Bricks'

Penticton city workers are expected to "hit the bricks" this week, Canadian Union of Public Employees representative Harley Horne said today in Kamloops after receiving a mediation report on contract negotiations.

Mr. Horne said the report said "no settlement" and although a general meeting of Penticton employees must be held a strike appears imminent.

A CUPE strike would be the first ever for Penticton, which has been the hot spot in negotiations this year between the union and 13 Okanagan municipalities seeking to renew a contract that expired Dec. 31, 1969.

"Penticton is the lowest paid city in B.C.," said Mr. Horne who cited a base rate of $2.58 for hourly employees.

"A clerk typist in Penticton city hall makes $311 a month, compared with $354 for the same job in Kelowna," Mr. Horne said.

Mr. Horne also claimed prices in Penticton were possibly the highest in B.C. due to the ### Several B.C. Communities Hit But 'Talks Should Continue'

OTTAWA (CP) — The pace of rotating strike activity by postal workers was stepped up today in the wake of a Tuesday breakdown in mediated talks.

Although both sides said they wanted to keep talking, post office operations were disrupted as workers walked out in Saint John, N.B., the northwestern Quebec centres of Rouyn, Noranda, Val d'Or, Amos and Maric, and in Calgary and the British Columbia communities of Prince Rupert, Kitimat and Terrace.

While their counterparts are walking off their jobs in some centres across Canada, Kelowna postal employees remained on the job.

"There's no sign of any walkouts or slowdown," W. J. Burgess, postmaster, said today.

"We didn't get any mail yesterday (Tuesday) from Vancouver because of pickets at the airport, but the mail is arriving on schedule today," he added.

Mr. Burgess said employees are working as though nothing had happened, and added the unions "have not been telling anything, which is right."

William Hoyle, co-chairman of the Council of Postal Unions which represents the workers in their contract, dispute with the government, said all the walkouts were on orders of union headquarters.

Workers in a number of Newfoundland communities who started their 24-hour walkout Tuesday returned to work this morning.

In Ottawa, the union bargaining team and that of the treasury board, negotiating agent for the government, arranged for resumption of the contract talks at 10:30 a.m. Thursday.

In other B.C. labor disputes: Car rental: Air Canada was granted a British Columbia Supreme Court injunction.

"That is too hard to bear." Speaking at a National Press Club luncheon, Caldera said that Venezuela has "manifested our desire to discuss it (the petroleum question) at the hemispheric level in clear discussions with all the interested countries of America present."

Later, in reply to questions, he said Mexico, Venezuela, Canada and the U.S. would participate in the proposed hemispheric conference. "Mexico is in favor of such a meeting," he added.

As for Canada, "we are friends of Canada. We do not want any unjust privileges. We want a just deal for the four countries."

Speculation is that Caldera, here for a three-day state visit, will not leave empty-handed. The belief is that his talks with President Nixon and other administration officials will result in some relaxation of the U.S. quota on Venezuelan oil imports.

"We hear that Canada is a first-class friend; that Venezuela is a second-class friend."

Construction: A delegation from the B.C. and Yukon Building Trades (Union) Council will meet Labor Minister Leslie Peterson Friday in an effort to get construction of schools and hospitals going again.

Towboats: Federal mediator William Kelly rejected a bid by the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada to sit in as observers as negotiations continue in the towboat strike that has crippled the forest industry.

Forest industry: Talks between the International Woodworkers of America and Forest Industrial Relations are expected to resume today under provincial mediator Clive McKee.

Court Decision On Injunction 'Will Increase B.C. Tensions'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A British Columbia appeal court decision Tuesday on an injunction appeal brought by two unions will increase labor-management tensions, union lawyer John Laxton said today.

Mr. Laxton said the effect of the decision is that "it declares for the first time that in this province trade unionists must cross picket lines and must not refuse to handle hot goods."

"The decision was on an appeal by the International Woodworkers of America and the Canadian Merchant Service Guild against a back-to-work injunction granted to MacMillan-Bloedel.

Headed by B.C. Chief Justice H. W. Davey, the appeal court upheld the injunction and rejected Mr. Laxton's argument that the IWA had a right to refuse to cross picket lines of the striking CMSC and to refuse to handle hot materials.

"The judgment will very likely considerably increase tensions between labor and management," Mr. Laxton said in an interview.

The lawyer said he will appeal the decision to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Mr. Laxton said the effect of the "novel judgment" is that if a unionist refuses to cross a picket line or handle hot goods, he is engaging in an illegal strike.

CREDIT CURBS

Benson Rejects Opposition Call

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister E. J. Benson rejected Commons opposition demands Monday night for immediate removal of restrictions on spending and credit, saying the government would wait and watch before charting future economic policy.

He said the government will watch the performance of the newly-freed Canadian dollar on international currency exchanges before deciding on any measures to offset the impact of a higher-value dollar on business activity.

"Answering opposition criticism of the dollar move and calls for a shift to economic growth policies in a special debate, Mr. Benson said the government is ready to consider special help for industries hit by this week's dollar revaluation.

He emphasized that applicant industries would have to present "persuasive, factual" evidence of injury to get special aid. He was referring to arguments that dollar revaluation would effectively raise the price of Canadian exports to foreign buyers while the price of imports would become more competitive with domestic products. But he said the opposition had ignored the benefits of revaluation and exaggerated the dangers.

WHEAT QUALITIES — Mr. Benson agreed with questioner John Burton (NDP—Regina East) that the wheat industry would qualify for special help consideration because wheat-export prices were reduced Monday in the wake of the dollar decision.

The action, yielding to upward pressure on the dollar, freed it from a pegged value since 1962 within fractional margins of 92.5 U.S. cents. Its value in terms of U.S. funds was just over 96.5 cents Tuesday night.

Quake Toll Still Grows In Peru

LIMA (Reuters) — An entire Andes town with 20,000 inhabitants was wiped off the map during the Peruvian earthquake Sunday. As the full extent of the holocaust was pieced together today, the over-all death toll soared past 35,000.

Northern Peru was shattered Sunday by the 40-second tremor, easily the severest ever to shake this earthquake-prone country.

The worst single disaster was in the tourist resort of Yungay, nestled between the Andean peaks of Huasran and Huandoy, each more than 20,000 feet high.

The town and its 20,000 residents were swept away by avalanches set off by the quake, a presidential press spokesman, Augusto Zimmerman, said Tuesday.

He quoted an air force pilot who flew a helicopter over the town as saying: "There was just no trace of the town—just a cloud of dust."

Zimmerman said some 14,000 others also apparently died in surrounding villages and destroyed the whole area as "very hard hit."

B.C. Says: Whew...

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's temperatures soared to record highs Tuesday as the weatherman revised his forecast and predicted another scorcher today.

In Kelowna the temperature was 91.

Kamloops tied its own June 2 record of 96 degrees and was the hottest spot in Canada.

Vancouver had a record high of 87 degrees but the weatherman said it was probably well over 90 in various parts of the city.

Elsewhere in the province, Hope and Lytton recorded highs of 85, Castlegar 84, Penticton 83, Princeton 82, Vernon and Salmon Arm 80 and Prince George 81.

Prince Rupert was one exception. The mercury never got past 60 degrees and rain fell during the day.

The weatherman said cooler air off the Coast will be delayed about 24 hours and today will see temperatures in the 90s in the Interior with Coast regions in the 80s.

He quoted an air force pilot who flew a helicopter over the town as saying: "There was just no trace of the town—just a cloud of dust."

Zimmerman said some 14,000 others also apparently died in surrounding villages and destroyed the whole area as "very hard hit."

Death Sentence Reimposed As Argentine Crisis Grows

BUEENOS AIRES (Reuters) — Capital punishment was reimposed in Argentina Tuesday night in a government bid to curb a mounting wave of terrorist attacks and raids climaxed Friday with the kidnapping of former president Pedro Eugenio Aramburu.

The measure was announced immediately after a nationwide radio and television broadcast by President Juan Carlos Onganía following unconfirmed reports that Aramburu, 65, was shot by his kidnappers in reprisal for the execution 14 years ago of 27 leaders of an abortive coup against his government.

A statement purporting to come from a terrorist organization, which said Sunday night it had abducted the retired army general Friday from his apartment in downtown Buenos Aires, said Aramburu was shot early Monday.

Tuesday night's measures reimposed the death sentence by firing squad for kidnappers who kill or cause serious bodily injury to their victims.

This seemed to be aimed directly at Aramburu's abductors who announced their victim's body would be given a "Christian burial" but would not be returned to his family until the remains of Eva Peron, former strongman Juan Peron's second wife, were "restored to the Argentine people."

Eva Peron died of cancer in 1952 and her embalmed body was placed in the headquarters of the General Labor Confederation pending the construction of a public monument.

Peron was ousted in September, 1955, and after Aramburu became provisional president two months later the body of Eva Peron disappeared.

Juveniles Now Under 17

VICTORIA (CP)—The juvenile age is being lowered to 17 from 18 in B.C., and juveniles will no longer be exempt from prosecution for provincial offences, Attorney-General Leslie Peterson announced today.

This means 17-year-olds will be treated as adults before the courts and those 16 and under will be liable to acquire criminal records for delinquencies.

EIGHT THOUSAND TURN UP

A Tea Bash At Queen's Expense

LONDON (AP) — Eight thousand persons crowded into the garden of Buckingham Palace Tuesday to drink 625 gallons of tea with the Queen and eat 24,000 pieces of cake and pastry.

It was the first of the Queen's three garden parties this month, attended by diplomats, visitors to Britain, members of Parliament and of town councils, Girl Guides, old-age pensioners and others.

In party frocks, bright hats and tailcoats for many of the men, the visitors prowled through the royal shrubbery, stared at the pink flamingoes in the palace lake and hoped for a chat with the Queen or Prince Philip. A few got it.

The garden parties are one way of continuing the ancient right of a subject to have access to the monarch. They also give the Queen a chance to repay hospitality and services she has received.

NO MORE CHAMPAGNE — Every year the Lord Chamberlain asks local governments, hospitals, charities, embassies and other organizations to submit names of people they think should be invited. About 30,000 are selected every year, spread over the three parties.

The lawn affairs have been held at Buckingham Palace since 1911, and in the old days they served champagne and used the royal silverware. Now the catering is done by a restaurant chain, no alcohol is served, and so many teaspoons were stolen in the 1930s that restaurant utensils now are used.

Tuesday, the guests included Prince Georg of Denmark, Charles Howard, 91-

U.S. 'Takes Different Stands' On Canadian, Venezuelan Oil

WASHINGTON (CP) — The president of Venezuela, which is Canada's prime competitor for U.S. oil markets, opened a state visit here Tuesday with the declaration that he will insist on the importance of a "new attitude" toward Venezuela in her "just claim" concerning petroleum.

Dr. Rafael Caldera said many people "don't realize how hard it is for us to bear that the U.S. must take two different stands" toward Canadian and Venezuelan oil imports.

"We hear that Canada is a first-class friend; that Venezuela is a second-class friend."

As for Canada, "we are friends of Canada. We do not want any unjust privileges. We want a just deal for the four countries."

Speculation is that Caldera, here for a three-day state visit, will not leave empty-handed. The belief is that his talks with President Nixon and other administration officials will result in some relaxation of the U.S. quota on Venezuelan oil imports.

Nijinsky Wins Derby

EPSOM, England (AP) — Canadian-bred Nijinsky, ridden by champion jockey Lester Piggott, took the lead in the final 100 yards today to win England's premier classic, the Epsom Derby, over 1 1/4 miles.

Nijinsky, owned by multi-millionaire Charles W. Engelhard of Fort Hills N.J., spreadeagled the high class 11-horse field and finished ahead of two French-trained entries, Gyr and Siltino.

The winner was the 11-to-8 favorite. Gyr was priced at 100 to 30 and Siltino 7 to 1.

Nijinsky was sired by the great Northern Dancer of E. P. Taylor's Toronto racing establishment and is out of Flaming Page. Last month he became the first Canadian-bred horse to win the Two Thousand Guineas classic.

The horse is named after the late Russian ballet dancer. He was first trained in Canada but now is handled by Vincent O'Brien in Ireland.

Belfast Quiet After Violence

BELFAST (Reuters) — This Northern Ireland capital was quiet today after violence erupted Tuesday night following a Protestant parade through the centre of the city.

British troops, called in to disperse the angry crowd, were stoned and later used tear gas to clear the streets.

Two soldiers and a policeman were injured and 10 persons were arrested.

About 500 armed troops cordoned off the Crumlin Road area to stop the parade and the crowd that followed from moving into a nearby Roman Catholic area.

Nixon To Tell About Indochina

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon goes on television tonight to issue an Indochina progress report, just hours after a key vote in the United States on limiting his future Cambodian policy.

The Senate test was on an administration-backed proposal by Kansas Republican Robert J. Dole designed to negate an amendment that would bar funds for U.S. operations in Cambodia after June 30.

Legion Handed Assurance About Pensions For Vets

OTTAWA (CP) — Encouraged by assurances of government action on war veterans' pensions and armed with a new membership scheme, the Royal Canadian Legion's 23rd national convention today dig into a huge pile of resolutions today.

Expected to receive special attention are committee recommendations on such contentious matters as draft dodgers, the Vietnam war, the Dominion Day holiday and hospital programs.

Tuesday the 1,800 delegates heard MP Lloyd Francis (L-Ottawa West), chairman of the Commons veterans affairs committee, assure them his committee would produce results in its recommendations to the House of Commons.

Mr. Francis also said the report would be "consistent" with pension proposals mentioned Monday by Veterans Affairs Minister Jean-Audes Dube. In that speech, Mr. Dube said the federal government plans to go ahead next year on white paper proposals for revised benefits for war veterans.

Legion President Robert Kohaly previously stated the white paper was a "watered down" version of the special Woods committee report which proposed benefits that would bring an additional $8,000,000 to veterans.

CHANGE MOOD

There was "no way the Legion would accept" the white paper proposals, he said. But after Mr. Francis' assurances the convention tone appeared to soften and delegates gave Mr. Francis a standing ovation.

Scientists Claim Breakthrough In Experiments To Create Life

Scientists announced Tuesday in Madison, Wis., they have created a gene. Genes are the units of heredity and control all life processes. With this first artificial gene, the scientists headed by Dr. H. Gobind Khorana, a Nobel Prize-winner, have taken a profound step toward correction of inherited diseases, perhaps genetic "engineering" of improved humans and animals, and perhaps ultimately artificial creation of life itself.

The work of the University of Wisconsin team now makes it possible to fashion genes completely from simple organic chemicals. The artificial gene duplicates one occurring in a yeast cell.

MR. KHRUSHCHEV ... recovering

Former Soviet premier Nikita Khrushchev is recovering from a mild heart attack at the Kremlin hospital for the Communist elite, usually reliable informants reported Tuesday in Moscow.

An articling lawyer, who handed an RCMP officer a marijuana cigarette in a court room, was sentenced Monday to three months in Surrey for possession of marijuana. Percy Smith, 28, of North Vancouver, who had refused to plead to the charge, told provincial judge Larry Goulet: "Many people have questioned the sanity of my conduct. I take full responsibility. We are living under ridiculous drug laws that have no scientific foundation."

Manly Shinwell, the fighting socialist, is to join the ranks of his peers after a colorful half-century in the House of Commons, Shinwell, 85, was named a baron for life by the Queen in a post-Parliament list announced Tuesday.

Canada offered up to $7,500,000 worth of wheat and flour Tuesday to Romania, hard hit by heavy flooding of rivers in the last month. External Affairs Minister Sharp made the offer to Foreign Minister Manescu at a 1 1/2-hour meeting on bilateral Canadian-Romanian affairs in Bucharest. Sharp is on an official visit here after attending a NATO ministerial meeting in Rome.

Four women were seated tentatively Tuesday on the jury for the murder trial of John Norman Collins, 22, accused of the strangulation death of an Eastern Michigan co-ed, one of seven similar sex slayings in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area over a two-year period. Collins, a handsome senior at the university and former captain of his high school football team, is charged with first-degree murder in the death last July 23 of Karen Sue Beineman, 18.

Arab Rockets Kill Children

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab guerrillas in Jordan fired two waves of rockets into the frontier town of Beit Shean today, killing two schoolchildren and wounding at least seven others, the Israeli military command announced.

They were the third group of casualties among Israeli schoolchildren in two weeks. Another rocket attack on Beit Shean Monday killed a schoolgirl, and a guerrilla ambush of a school bus on the Lebanese border killed eight children and four adults on May 22.

In the first attack across the Jordan River today, one rocket crashed into a house, killing a nine-year-old girl, while others wounded three girls and a 38-year-old woman.

An hour and a half later, several Soviet Katyusha rockets were fired at the town and at least one hit a school building, killing a boy and wounding four of his class-mates.

Reports said police and rescue workers were searching for more victims.

Israeli forces returned the fire.

CONTINUE AIR STRIKES

Israeli warplanes returned safely late Tuesday from their fifth strike in 24 hours against Egyptian targets along the Suez canal, the military command said.

TOWN STUCK UP

CAMBRIDGE, England (CP) — A glue-manufacturing company found itself in a sticky situation when a factory machine began showering a nearby village with powdered glue. The firm apologized to the community, emphasizing that "to stick the whole countryside up" with its product had never been its intention.

Surgeons amputated part of the right leg of state Representative William G. Barr Tuesday after a bomb exploded in his car and demolished it, in Joliet, Ill. Barr, 50, has been a member of the legislature since 1966. Officials at St. Joseph's Hospital, where surgeons amputated Barr's right leg just above the knee, said he was in generally good condition.

Anna Thompson Dodge, widow of automotive pioneer Horace E. Dodge, died Tuesday at her Grosse Pointe, Mich., home at the age of 103. Mrs. Dodge had been confined in recent years to her elegant home in Grosse Pointe Farms, a suburb of the motor capital where her husband made his fortune, estimated at $37,000,000 when he died in 1920.

But guerrilla groups meeting in Cairo appeared headed for a showdown with a splinter group, the Marxist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine. Guerrilla chief Yasser Arafat has proposed a unified guerrilla military command, but the splinter group is reported demanding that all guerrilla organizations be represented equally on a central committee.

In Washington, Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin met with U.S. State Secretary William Rogers, and it was understood the two agreed to hold more talks in an effort to find a political solution to the Middle East crisis.

It was also understood the Soviet ambassador refused to provide any additional details on his country's military involvement in the Middle East. This was expected to increase pressure for the sale of more U.S. warplanes to Israel.

Students On Rampage In Columbian Port

BUENAVENTURA (AP) — Student riots erupted around the customs house in this Colombian port city Monday and local authorities imposed a curfew. Two high school students were reported killed in clashes between rioters and police. Army troops moved in during the evening to reinforce local police and military garrisons in Buenaventura, the main Colombian port on the Pacific.

Search Suspended For Lost Fishboat

VANCOUVER (CP) — A search for an overdue Seattle fishboat carrying five men has been suspended here.

Five military aircraft from Canadian Forces Base Comox on Vancouver Island and two government vessels searched for the 45-foot seiner Nanna since Saturday without success.

Aboard the Nanna were owner Erlne Peterson and crew members Fred J. Owen, Andreas Karlsson, Edwin Berkager and Elnor Strand.

The vessel was expected to report in at Alert Bay on her way home from halibut fishing north of Vancouver Island.

AIRPORT FIREFIGHTERS

They Don't Have Much Time To Make Their Objective

By JOE DARY
Courier Staff

"Our job is to save lives, not aircraft."
Those eight words best describe the airport firefighter's main concern while he is battling aircraft fires.
J. C. McNeil, fire officer at the Kelowna Airport, explains the aircraft will be consumed once engulfed in flames. As a result, the firefighter's primary objective is to reach the occupants as quickly as possible.
"To be most effective, Mr. McNeil says, "firefighters should reach the crash site within three minutes after flames have engulfed the area.
"Any longer, and the chances of saving anyone from the inferno becomes virtually impossible."

HOT REASONS

Reasons for the urgency are fires of this form are simply the combustible components aboard the vehicle — mainly magnesium and various petrochemical products—and the 1,400 degree temperature of the fire.
Mr. McNeil has been a firefighter for 12 years, the last eight a half years with the RCAF.
Kelowna Airport manager Eric Davison says more than 50 applications for the position of fire officer were received at the airport. Until Mr. McNeil's appointment in February, the airport had been without adequate fire protection since it opened.
"To become a good fire fighter, Mr. McNeil states, the man must be familiar with all aircraft. This includes fuels used, locations of fuel tanks and how to fill them, exit locations and number of passengers and crew the aircraft carries."

NEW METHODS

In addition, the men must be periodically retrained so they can learn the new methods available in fighting the fires, alterations of existing aircraft, new aircraft becoming available on the market, and become acquainted with new equipment.

"In the past, flames used to be extinguished with finely-sprayed water," Mr. McNeil said. "Now we use dry chemicals to remove the oxygen supply and foam to smother the flames and reduce the fuel supply, thereby keeping the flames under control and the exits clear."
Mr. McNeil adds using one means alone will not effectively control the flames.
"The firefighter must know what he is doing when he begins to battle the blaze."
"There is no room for second-guessing or mistakes," Mr. McNeil adds.

EXPLOSIONS RISK
"One wrong move and the entire operation can be in danger of exploding explosions."
"Or the man can become trapped in the centre of the flames and discover he is out of chemical or foam."
"Once committed, the man cannot withdraw from the attack, because if he does, he has lost precious time."
Equipment for aircraft fires cannot be obtained easily.
"We can't walk into any showroom and say we need this, this and this," Mr. McNeil says.
"Every piece of apparatus is tailor-made and built to our specifications. We must spend more money for our equipment as a result," he added.
This means the minimum price the airport can pay for a small foam truck is $47,000, and this vehicle is a one-man operation.

$80,000 MINIMUM
For larger or better-equipped vehicles, such as in operation at Vancouver, the purchaser is looking at prices of $80,000 minimum, but these vehicles are three to four-man operations.
"Even the delivery time is longer for our needs than some similar operations," Mr. McNeil says. "We have to wait one year to 18 months to have the equipment manufactured and delivered."
"Then, the personnel have to become familiar with the vehicle's characteristics, and this takes more time."

Currently, the airport has two fire fighting vehicles, a 1947 foam truck, obtained from the Kelowna Volunteer Fire Brigade, and a 1953 four-wheel drive dry chemical truck, obtained from the department of transport.
The airport has ordered another truck from Eastern Canada for $47,000.
The current dry chemical truck carries 2,200 lbs. of chemical in its tanks, and can empty the tanks within three minutes.
All this is removed under 140 pounds-per-square inch pressure through a 200-foot hose.
The foam truck's tank can be emptied in about three minutes, but with an adequate supply of water, foam can be continued to be formed for longer periods of time.

The equipment worn by the men weighs 25 pounds dry.
The suits are of asbestos construction with wool felt serving as an insulator. The outer surface of the suits are coated with aluminum, and the sloopy design of the suit allows air to serve as a heat barrier.
The department of transport recently opened an aircraft firefighting training centre at Prince George, and three Kelowna firefighters were sent to the centre.
The three were Mr. McNeil, Mickey Sheehan, airport maintenance supervisor, and Harry Locke, Kelowna Volunteer Fire Brigade training officer.
"In Prince George, we were taught the correct procedures of fighting aircraft fires," Mr. Sheehan says, "and we had to know the material thoroughly."

"We fought 10 fires, the first was easy, and the fires became more extensive as we proceeded to tackle them."
The Prince George site features a full-scale mock-up of a crash, and gasoline is fed into the crash, which is then ignited.
The students are told how to handle the fires, and are warned not to stray into crash itself until the blaze is completely under control.
Students are told the fuel could erupt into flames after firefighters thought they had the area under control and have carelessly moved through the area, only to discover they have been trapped by the inferno.

Once the Prince George sessions are completed, students return to their bases of operations and continue training.
Each firefighter is allowed 3,000 gallons of fuel per year to maintain the minimum fire fighting training basic requirements to maintain his efficiency.
In future the Kelowna Airport may obtain culverts and form them into a crash mock-up for training.
Mr. McNeil says money is important to obtain proper training facilities and equipment at the airport.
"You can place a dollar value on an aircraft very easily," he says, "but it's not so easy to assess a human life."

Water Board Sets Policy For Testing

The technical committee of the Okanagan Basin Water Board has accepted and supported a directive by the pollution control branch that emissions of nutrient-bearing wastes into the Okanagan Basin be prohibited.
Approved at a meeting of the committee last week, the motion replaces a recommendation by a technical sub-committee specifying no new direct outfalls be permitted in any water course in the Okanagan. At its regular meeting May 14, the board took exception to definition of the term outfall in the sub-committee recommendations relative to adoption of water quality standards of the British Columbia health department. Technical committee chairman William Parchomchuk said direct outfall referred to "waste bearing" outfalls, although the meeting noted outfalls "vary considerably" in nature and composition. Some were composed of cooling water, while others such as storm drainage could either be waste-free or carry various wastes along their course to fall into the outfall category.

SEPARATELY

For purpose of definition, each outfall would have to be considered separately.
At its April 22 meeting, the technical sub-committee agreed that although it was desirable to have the water board pass a motion supporting its recommendations, something stronger would eventually be required in the form of a bylaw which the Regional District of Central Okanagan could enforce. The committee approved a motion that the water board adopt the recommended water quality standards of the British Columbia department of health, but that further study be undertaken before enforcement of bylaws.

In his report, Mr. Parchomchuk said two members of the federal-provincial task group on waste treatment had been in the field to view various sites suggested for sewage effluent disposal. He added the group had not decided what type of study it wished to make but wanted to obtain maximum information for the least cost possible.

JUNE MEETINGS

The entire task group on waste treatment will visit major treatment plants June 15 and meet with water board and technical committee members June 17. Two members of the group will also visit various projects in the United States to gather information on waste treatment and land disposal of effluents.
The meeting also noted six ground water wells at the Hiram Walker site are being sampled weekly, with Duck Lake, Beaver Creek and a 3rd Vernon Creek sampled monthly. A rec-sampling results would be available to the water board, D. A. Hurn, regional supervisor of the Fish and Wildlife branch, indicated that local government branches and the technical committee should be kept informed if they wished to make intelligent recommendations. It was also suggested the technical committee act as a gathering house for information on all studies being made pertaining to Okanagan Basin. Some studies had been conducted in the past without complete knowledge of all government branches interested.

B.C.'s Planners Seek 'New Deal'

Although one of the first provinces to adopt regional government, B.C. has not gone far enough in this direction, a province-wide planning association feels.
The Planning Institute of B.C., made up of professional planners, has submitted a brief to Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell which recommends dividing the province into eight general economic regions.

Financed by a special treasury board team of staff, the new level of government would unite the province's 29 regional districts and draw them closer to the provincial government.
"In preparing this brief," the planners say, "our principal objective has been to foster the best balance between economic, physical and human development throughout British Columbia."

The eight regions would be a focus for preparing annual development policies and for integrating all government levels working on any one project in a region.
The Okanagan would be included in one region, a rough triangle stretching north of Vernon with its base along the U.S. border from Princeton to the Kettle Valley.
"The government would table in the legislature an annual development program for each economic region," the planners suggest. "Each program would be a commitment for the allocation of capital funds for the forthcoming year, plus a four-year forecast of priorities."
To achieve this, the treasury board would have a small inter-professional staff team to prepare and maintain essential data and to measure the return on investment. Part of the staff would be made up of departmental officials, perhaps assigned for a two-year period on a rotating basis.

FRAGMENTATION
The planners believe there is too much fragmentation between government departments and lack of co-ordination between the regional districts. The proposed Okanagan zone would have three regional district governments included.
Regional districts cannot operate in a vacuum. There will be political frustration within the boards, and professional frustration in their technical committees, unless the preparation of regional development programs are linked to a similar process at the provincial government level."
The province, says the PIBC, must recognize regional differences as well as a need for integration of programs. It must "... embark upon major projects only after considering the full costs and benefits of alternatives, and establish their location and priority as part of regional development programs."

PROBLEMS TACKLED
The newly-integrated provincial administration, then could tackle some of the problems faced in B.C.—health, education and welfare services, now provided through a "patchwork of institutional arrangements"; multiple uses of resources, now often planned at cross-purposes; urban development and environmental control policies.
The planners suggest their program could be tried immediately in one area as a pilot project.
"The changes we propose are neither radical nor sweeping—they are simple and direct. The potential benefits to the province are apparent, and will become increasingly important as the demands on our natural and financial resources multiply."

THEFTS CHECKED
Police are investigating two incidents of theft in the Kelowna area during the night. Fishing rods and reels valued at $100 were stolen from a boat docked at the yacht club basin and a garden hose and sprinkler were stolen from a home at 1900 Abbott St.

SEEN and HEARD

Finally—the long-range weather forecast from the U.S. weather bureau looks better. After predicting gloomy weather for the past few weeks, the bureau now calls for above normal temperatures and light precipitation for this area for the next 30 days.

This appears to be the year of the groundhog. That funny, furry rodent with his peculiar squeak, is having a population explosion on Knox Mountain Park. Groundhogs seem to like rocky road embankments best, and almost all the way up from the first viewpoint to the top of the hill, they can be seen scuttling and scurrying about, or just sitting on their haunches issuing challenging squeaks. What their burrowing does to the road bed could be a problem.

What a difference a day makes. Monday the high temperature locally was in the mid 70s. Tuesday it was up 20 degrees, into the mid 90s. The sudden upswing didn't have that much effect on the temperature of Okanagan Lake, but it did entice many more people to try a refreshing dip. If the temperature stays high for the next couple of weeks the lake should quickly become warm enough for everyone.

Telephone booths have joined the space age. A new booth at the corner of Paudyosy Street and Bernard Avenue is round and looks like a container for a giant pneumatic tube system.

The life of a beer parlor waiter is often hectic, but rarely do they "attack" themselves. But Tuesday night, halfway through his shift, the tapman at a Kelowna beverage room dropped a 178-pound full keg on his foot and had to get an ambulance to take him to the hospital. The damaged right foot is covered with bandage almost as large as the keg which fell.

A cribbage player's dream—the perfect count of 29, came true for Mrs. John Van Ee of Bouchette Road recently while she and Mrs. Percy West were playing against their spouses. She held a jack of spades and three fives and the five of spades was turned up. Usually the husbands win most of the games in their friendly card sessions, but the women clinched that one. This was the first time any of the four had seen a 29 hand, although Mr. Van Ee reports he has been playing for 35 years.

Thirteen-year-old George Pringle Secondary School student Cyndy Pierson of Westbank was awarded first prize in a poster competition organized by the Cerebral Palsy Association of British Columbia. The contest was open to all students in the province from six to 15 years and the winning poster will be used to publicize cerebral palsy throughout the province. Miss Pierson received a certificate of merit as well as a cash prize for her artistic efforts.
Enforcement of alternating sprinkling days in the city is causing some happy confusion, with many housewives using the statute as a social excuse to venture across the road to warn an unthinking neighbor watering a lawn on a wrong day. The friendly water vigil is providing some impromptu and lengthy coffee clintches.

Surveying the aftermath of his first day at the beach, a Kelowna man wondered if it was worthwhile. His car, which had been cleaned the day before, had accumulated a pair of shoes, a blanket, the top to a food cooler, a pair of socks, two dirty diapers in a plastic bag, a pair of rubber pants, two popsize sticks, three paper drink containers, the fringed shade for a baby stroller, two newspapers and a hubcap.

ICE CREAM ON A STICK was a dead loss Tuesday as a man attempting to eat a chocolate coated goody discovered. When he was about half finished the blazing sun caused his treat to melt toward his hand. Thinking quickly, the man turned the ice cream upside down to flow from the melting goop from flowing on his fingers. Unfortunately the whole mess let loose from the stick and plopped onto his lap.

A major breakdown occurred on the C-P-CN teleprinter circuit at 10:15 a.m. today. The fault is still in communications throughout the Okanagan-Mainline area, and possibly Vancouver. The line carries Canadian Press news. Details of the trouble were not known in Kelowna and local technicians said all they could do was "wait and see" until the breakdown was repaired.

Statement Due About Hospital

Kelowna hospital officials are expected to make a statement by the end of the week regarding recent announcements from provincial Health Minister Ralph Lofmark.
C. F. Lavery, hospital administrator, said he returned Monday from a three-week vacation and was unprepared to make any announcement today on the subject.
He said he would meet with H. B. Simpson, chairman of the hospital's board of trustees Thursday.

Other hospital boards across the province have attacked Mr. Lofmark's proposed economy drives in B.C. hospitals.

A B.C. Hospital Employees' Union spokesman said recently in Vancouver that Mr. Lofmark was contradicting himself and "speaking out of both sides of his face."
Mr. Lofmark said April 3 the government would accept 70 per cent of new wage increases offered to the employees, forcing 15 hospitals to find the remaining 30 per cent on their own.

In late May, Mr. Lofmark unveiled his incentives to the hospitals by announcing sources of economies could be fewer beds, less "easy" access to meals and fewer bed changes.
He also said a policy of discharging patients from hospitals as soon as reasonable to make room for waiting patients was also favorable.
In addition, the minister suggested the establishment of ambulatory care units where day-care surgery and other services could be provided without the use of hospital beds.
In Vancouver, the hospital

Indian Election Due Soon

An election is necessary to fill Westbank Indian Band positions for the first time in six years.

Chief Noll Derriksan, following nominations Monday, said an election is required for the first time since the 175-member band broke away from the Vernon band six years ago.

The Westbank band is governed by a chief and two councillors.
Chief Derriksan, who was the youngest chief in B.C. when elected two years ago at 27, has his term expire June 9.

The terms of councillors Mary Ell and Norman Lindley expire prior to the election, set for Monday or Friday next week.
Nominated to run against Chief Derriksan is Lloyd Ell. Nominated to oppose Mrs. Ell and Mr. Lindley as councillors are Margaret Derriksan, Henry Jack, Morgan Wilson and Raymond Derriksan.
Election results will be announced the day after voting

Brothers Speaks Friday

The Regional and District Colleges Association of B.C. will hold its annual meeting at the Capri Saturday and about 70 delegates are expected to attend.
A dinner will be held Friday at the Kelowna Golf and Country Club and Education Minister Donald Brothers will be guest speaker.

Richard Ketchum, assistant to the principal of Okanagan College, said the association will have a busy schedule, occupied mainly with discussion on legislative changes concerning colleges passed early this year.

Formed by college councils of B.C., the association has no actual powers but makes recommendations to the entire membership.
Chairman of the association is C. L. Finch, OC college council chairman and the general secretary is C. John Doerkson, bursar of OC.

Fire Hazard Climbs High

Human carelessness has been blamed for two forest fires Tuesday at Chute Lake Road and McCulloch Road, says local ranger Frank Pearce.

A prolonged period of light precipitation in the Kelowna forest district, changing to sudden heat has produced a "high" hazard rating this week. The two current blazes, which bring to a total of 10 the number of fires in the local ranger district this year, were attributed to "carelessness and carelessness," said Mr. Pearce. Of that number, seven fires have been blamed on human carelessness, five of which occurred in the Westbank area.

The Chute Lake blaze burned a two-acre site while the McCulloch fire was described as a spot-size blaze. The latter fire was extinguished with the assistance of fire wardens in the area, part of a contingent of "key people" in strategic locations who help local foresters in their work.

Convicted Remanded

Roger G. Sparkes of Kelowna was convicted of possession of marijuana and LSD when he appeared before Judge G. S. Denroche Tuesday and was remanded for a pre-sentence report.

Major prosecution testimony in the one-day trial was given by Const. Ken Davis who led a raid on the Sparkes home Feb. 1.
Judge Denroche is presiding today at a preliminary hearing in the case of Clifford Ralph Vernon, charged with breaking and entering in Rutland.

KELOWNA FACTS

Names for some Kelowna streets are fairly simple when it comes to their origin. Water Street, for instance, was so named because it parallels a body of water—Lake Okanagan.

UBC President Walter Gage Talks With OC's Top Man

University of British Columbia president Dr. Walter Gage is in Kelowna today to address a luncheon meeting of the Kelowna and District Alumni Association.

While in the community Dr. Gage met with Dr. Rowland Grant, principal of Okanagan College, for talks on the education situation.
UBC and the college have worked closely together in establishing basis for student credit transfer; a problem that at one time plagued students wishing to start higher education in a two-year college.

Dr. Gage stressed colleges and universities were working together and supported each other in their objectives and educational goals.

Company Gets Nod

The Labor Relations Board has ruled in favor of a Kelowna construction firm over the dismissal of two men.

The hearing, held May 26 in Kelowna, was ordered by the board to be held after the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners charged two employees had been "fired" by Peter L. Weninger Construction Ltd., for being union members.

In its ruling May 29, the board rejected the union's complaints because in the board's opinion, the complaints were without merit, both parties were told in a letter from the board.

The Word Is Cooler

Residents of the Okanagan should receive a slight reprieve Thursday from the 80 and 90 degree temperatures which have affected the Valley for the past two days.

An on-shore flow of cool Pacific air has reached the coast, bringing with it cloudy skies and occasional rain, and should reach the Okanagan Thursday.

The forecast for Kelowna calls for sunny skies and extremely warm temperatures today, with a chance of a few thunderstorms along the mountains this evening.
Cloudy periods overnight, mostly sunny with a few cloudy intervals and 10 to 15 degrees cooler Thursday. Winds should be light.

Tuesday's high was 91, the overnight low was 52, with no precipitation.
The low tonight and high Thursday should be 55 and 75.

HISTORICAL VISIT

The annual picnic of the Okanagan Boundary Historical Societies will be held June 14 at Beaverdell. All members and friends are invited to attend. Meet in the bull park at 12 noon. Bring your own picnic lunch. Coffee and soft drinks will be served at the site. A detailed history of the area and tour of the district will be given during the afternoon. Everyone is welcome.

He was to address the association at the Kelowna Golf and Country Club.
Accompanying Dr. Gage, who spoke at the Kelowna Golf and Country Club, is Byron Hender, director of the UBC Alumni Association.

Teacher Goes South

A Kelowna teacher is among 32 participants chosen from more than 1,000 applicants trying for scholarships to attend summer courses at the University of Iowa.

Offered under the auspices of the National Science Foundation, Wash., the scholarship will supply $1,200 and free tuition from June 15 to Aug. 17 for A. W. Prytula of Dr. Knox Secondary.

Divided into two phases, the course will deal with chemical principles and materials and methods in biological sciences.
The course is designed to keep pace with the latest developments in biology and enable teachers to anticipate future progress.

"This should provide opportunity for participants to apply this knowledge to classroom situations in their home schools," Mr. Prytula said.
Mr. Prytula has previously participated in five such courses.

Lions Install Here June 13

The Kelowna Lions Club will install its new officers June 13 at a dinner meeting in the Royal Anne Hotel at 6 p.m.

Vic Wedder will be installed as president, with Herbert Bowles and David Dunn assuming the first and second vice-presidents posts respectively.
Jack Ritch will be re-installed as secretary-treasurer.

Appointed for two-year terms as directors will be John Johnson and Harvey Credit with Charles dePuyffer and Tony Senger serving one year.

Two Cases For Court

A Kelowna man pleaded not guilty to failing to remain at the scene of an accident and driving while prohibited when he appeared today before Judge D. M. White.
Gary Schmidt was remanded in custody until his trial June 11.

In other court activity a charge of obtaining lodging by fraud against Thomas Alexander Hair, Armstrong, was withdrawn.

Ottawa's New Approach In Anti - Inflation War

On Monday, following the surprising freeing of the Canadian dollar from a pegged rate, the dollar floated up on international exchange markets to 97.5 cents in United States funds, and Finance Minister Benson announced in the Commons that plans to impose consumer credit controls will no longer be necessary.

The dollar, released Sunday from its International Monetary Fund peg of 92.5 cents was quoted at 96.5 cents for most of the day on New York markets, though there was comparatively little trading. Reports were current in Montreal that the Bank of Canada had made moves to stabilize the floating dollar at about four cents higher than its former pegged rate.

It has been widely assumed that the authorities would try to hold the dollar at about 96.5 or 97.5 cents for a period in order to test the market forces at that level.

In the Commons, Mr. Benson was criticized by the Conservative opposition for "renegeing" on a Canadian commitment to the international monetary fund to hold the dollar within one per cent of the 92.5 cent peg that has been in effect since 1962. He said, however, that the dollar had been freed only after consultation with the IMF and with the world financial organization's approval. In Washington the IMF said Canada had undertaken to peg the dollar again when circumstances warranted it.

Canada appears to be following the lead given by West Germany last fall when the deutschmark was freed but pegged again after letting it float for four weeks. Ottawa authorities have hinted this may become the new practice of major countries in international finance, instead of firmly fixing new pegs when old ones no longer are effective.

The New Democrat opposition while approving its action in freeing the dollar, criticized the government for not having supplementary measures immediately available to protect Canadian labor, farmers and fishermen from the effects of the higher exchange rates. Mr. Benson replied the government is reviewing its economic policies in the light of higher exchange rates and will make an announcement in due course. Some of the decision would depend on how high the dollar rises.

Mr. Benson in March said the government would institute certain consumer credit controls. It would require minimum down payments and limit the repayment term on loans for consumer purchases of automobiles and other major purchases as another step to Jampen inflationary demand. However, on Monday he told the Commons that, with the dollar floating free, sufficient new restraint would be put on the economy to make consumer credit control unnecessary.

Letting the dollar slide upward narrows any price advantage for Canadian exporters and faces them with a tougher selling job abroad. At the same time it makes it a little easier for products imported into Canada to compete on a price basis with the domestic product.

The floating dollar will hit British Columbia hard. It will make that proportion of the Okanagan fruit crop that is exported just a little harder to sell. As a result of resulting higher costs for tourists, it may affect our tourist industry adversely, although at the same time it will make Canadian travel abroad cheaper. Certainly, it will affect the forest industries which sell a very considerable proportion of their products out of the country. And the same may apply to cattle sales, minerals and a host of other products. Of course, if Canadian products are preferred or needed by users in other countries, the net result would be greater revenue. But most of our products do not enjoy such a preferred position and the higher price will increase the already high competition just that much.

Ottawa, it seems, despairing of any success from its suggested "voluntary controls" because of the refusal of organized labor to co-operate, has turned to other weapons with which to wage the battle against inflation.

But, none of this manoeuvring changes the basic problem or touches the root of the inflation problem—the expansion of wages far beyond any expansion in productivity. Until this is controlled and checked, tinkering around the edges with the exchange rate and consumer credit controls is not going to have a significant effect.

JUST RUNNING OUT OF RUG

Old South Just Lingers On But Did It Really Exist?

ATLANTA, Ga. (CP) — The late Margaret Mitchell had the phrase for it—the Old South is gone with the wind.

Some doubt that it ever really existed, at least in the way novelist Mitchell and whites generally painted it—with happy, dancing pickaninnies, strumming banjos, beaming Aunt Jemimas arrayed before the picturesque poverty of lopsided shacks, sway-backed mules and fragrant magnolia trees.

The fictitious, bountiful land of eternal fried chicken and juicy watermelon never generated the realities of anguished poverty for most Negroes—except a few privileged slaves of some wealthy, paternalistic plantation owners.

Not only the social scene then with Tara, the fictional plantation estate where Scarlett O'Hara romped and flirted outrageously, but also many of the physical features of the Old South disappeared with the Civil War.

"Thanks to Gen. William Sherman," who virtually burned Atlanta to the ground, "none of Atlanta's buildings are more than 100 years old and many of the great buildings are less than 10," says an authoritative travel book.

BEAUTY ALONG COAST
"Atlanta will remind the visitor more of Chicago or New York than anything from novelist William Faulkner." It is of this city that formed the background for much of Miss Mitchell's vast book, later a movie of historic proportions.

"As a rule of thumb," says a journalist who has worked and travelled in the South for years, "the beauty of the South gradually disappears any time you move more than 50 miles inland from the coast."

Indeed, the beauty spots in general are the Savannah, Ga., area, increasingly popular as a wintertime haven for Canadians, and the Carolinas, on the Atlantic; Florida, and Mobile, Ala.; and the tourist city of New Orleans, with its French-Spanish flavor, on the Gulf of Mexico.

Inland, much of the country is flat, drab and dry except for such oases as the famed blue-grass country of Kentucky, the wealthy estates of North and South Carolina and the mountain areas.

Natchez, Miss., on the Mississippi River, still lives up to its motto: "Where the Old South still lives."

There, descendants of the old cotton plantation families that made millions before the Civil War on their "white gold" still live in the grand style of mint-julep society, with white-coated Negro servants and horses and colonnaded mansions that have slowly crumbled elsewhere.

DEATH IS REALITY
Whatever part fiction had in writing the history of the Old South, the realities of today are clear.

"The cycle of poverty," says author Paul Good in a report on U.S. Commission of Civil Rights hearings in Alabama, "extends from cradle to grave, often a journey of only a few hours for black infants in a state where Negro infant mortality is two and sometimes three times that of white."

Rev. K. L. Buford, Alabama field director for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said in notes compiled recently for the NAACP's national offices in Washington:

"There is no single area of life in Alabama for the black citizen—education, housing, administration of justice, employment and public service generally—where discrimination is the exception rather than the rule."

Ninety-five per cent of those picturesque Negro shacks, says Good in his report, "are officially classified as dilapidated, deteriorating or lacking plumbing and inside toilets." They are commonly white-owned.

Although mechanization is blamed for forcing Negroes out of the farm economy and worsening their poverty, many argue that the black was poor before the first mechanical cotton-picker lumbered on to an Alabama field in the early 1940s.

With the replacement of the traditional cotton crop by livestock and dairy farming and other crops, farms have become fewer and larger. Generally these changes portended the beginning of better times for an economically-depressed area, but in fact the Negro inhabitants are not benefiting from the changes. Also, many say that new opportunities apparently will not be open to them in the future.

Concludes Good: "The ways that discrimination works are varied, but all are variations on a single theme: Keep the Negro in his place or force him to flee."

Apparently, he is fleeing. The commission report says: "A high proportion of the people crowded into (northern) urban slums today are migrants from the South."

"If government policies fail to provide incentives for the development of jobs and economic growth in rural areas where technology is displacing people from the farm, the consequence will be felt by the nation."

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

June 3, 1970... The battle of Midway—the turning point of the war in the Pacific—began 28 years ago today—in 1942. Seeking a naval showdown, Japan committed the bulk of her fleet to an invasion of Midway Island, westernmost of the Hawaiian group. American carrier-based planes attacked the Japanese off Midway and sank four large carriers. Japanese planes sank the American carrier Yorktown. Appalled by their losses the Japanese called off the invasion of Midway. The destruction of so many aircraft carriers robbed the Japanese of their early initiative in the Pacific and restored naval parity.

Young French Revolutionaries

By PHILIP DEANE
Foreign Affairs Analyst

Paris looks like a city in civil war—some parts of it do, at least. The young are fighting the police and universities are being closed. Is this revolution just for kicks, the condition that Herman Kahn, "Mr. Think-tank," says may develop? Are the young, simply sowing wild oats, spurred on by extreme leftists who are mentally unstable and want nothing but destruction with nothing to put in the place of the system they plan to destroy? Are these young extremists unable to see further than the flames they light and able only to list the ills of the system they attack?

One of these young radicals, David Gelber, an American, has recently been answering such questions in a symposium called by the New York Times.

"With what would the left replace the present system? The question is misleading. In a revolution worthy of the name (such as the Vietnamese) radically advanced social institutions and human relationships develop in the course of the revolutionary struggle itself. An example close to home: last year, the radical community in Berkeley converted a useless piece of land into a people's park. Governor Reagan and the university's Board of Regents correctly saw the park struggle as a threat to the principle of private ownership of land. As a result, the Berkeley radicals are up against a co-ordinate attack by Reagan and the city council... and the more liberal University of California which prefers to destroy the radical community with a housing policy that would convert Berkeley into a well-heeled suburb for professors, obedient scholars and San Francisco executives. In self-defence, the Berkeley people increasingly are forming supportive community structures: free-schools, food co-operatives, democratic living arrangements, rent-strike units and free professional services. This is not the latest utopian flight from the real world. It is a self-conscious effort to strengthen the community for a fight for survival which lies in the imminent future. It is also a partial embodiment of the vision of the revolutionary society which inspires the young left... Those who tenaciously rely on liberalism for gradual solutions to social crises, need a strong dose of history. Liberals have been knocking around for 70 years now without giving us a positive solution to even one major social problem. Poverty and unemployment were 'solved' not by the New Deal but rather by the war... The system's answer to the race problem—integration—has integrated one per cent of black school children in the South."

REJECTION OF OLD, PLUS DREAMS

One other major complaint of the young rebels is that the present business structure is based on the production of "socialist trash"—consumer products whose main effect is to destroy the environment. Readers should judge for themselves whether this rejection of the old and the adoption of any means, including violence, to achieve a selfless communal society can ever work.

CANADA'S STORY

CPR 'Went To War' On Sidewalk Issue

By BOB BOWMAN

Over the years the CPR has been involved in some exciting railway "wars" in Canada. The first took place in 1888 when the Manitoba government broke the CPR monopoly and built the Red River Valley Railway. One branch went from Winnipeg to Portage la Prairie and crossed the CPR line at Headingly. The CPR tried to prevent this and sent out 250 workers to block the Red River Valley track-layers. A pitched battle was avoided at the last moment and the controversy was settled by the courts. The incident became known as the Battle of Fort Whyte because William Whyte was the CPR superintendent who led the campaign against the Red River Valley workers.

Another near-conflict took place at Olds, Alta., on June 3, 1907. The CPR passed through Olds and the citizens built crossings at 2nd and 3rd streets. These crossings did not impede the trains but the CPR said they were illegal and built fences so they could not be used. The citizens tore down the fences, and so the controversy continued until June 3 when the CPR decided to get tough.

It sent a special train from Calgary carrying 60 workmen, eight members of the North West Mounted Police, and a number of railway officials including District Superintendent Niblock. When the train arrived at Olds it was met by 200 angry citizens ready to do battle.

While the NWMP were having lunch the Olds village council used a number of special constables, sworn on the occasion, to arrest Niblock and several other CPR officials. Then the NWMP appeared, arrested the special constables, and put them in railway cars as prisoners. They were taken to Calgary and released on bail.

The CPR was judged to have won the first round, but eventually the citizens of Olds got the crossings reopened and life returned to normal.

How Efficient Is Man?

(Chatham News)

A well-known psychologist and anthropologist, Margaret Mead, and some of her colleagues, have come up with the appalling fact that most men are working at only six per cent of their capacity or their potential. Another scientist had even less consideration for the species and rated him as working at five per cent of his potential.

In the long run, men we have been considering as geniuses, empire builders and tycoons probably work at only 25 per cent of their means or more.

What could a man achieve with a much higher rating? The world would be his.

Many people in this world must even fire on fewer cylinders and simply must crawl from one day's work to another. Some appear to dwell in the nether regions and must rate a negative figure.

What lies in that 94 to 95 per cent dormant capacity of man?

Would we land in the field of extra-sensory perception, would we be able to read the minds and communicate with our brethren by sheer telepathy?

Perhaps we could reacquire some of the finest qualities and gifts with which so many animals are endowed and which in our human arrogance we choose to call instinct.

We might also lose in the process some of the evil traits that mark the human race.

We might shed hatred, arrogance, jealousy, greed, lust and the many other failings that drag man down to the extremely low potential with which he is credited by these scientists.

Would we be better or would the increase in potential merge with our negative impulses?

ANN LANDERS

Bunnies For 'Honey' Could Be Dumb Joke

Dear Ann Landers: My birthday was Easter Sunday. It was to the anniversary of the day I met. For the last 36 years Jerry and I have celebrated this date as a very important one in our lives. For months Jerry has been asking me what I want for a birthday. I told him I want him to be. In the meantime we've done plenty of window shopping. He knows my taste in luggage, jewelry and hostesses. This morning I became completely settled for a delirious man rang my doorbell and handed me a large box of air holes. I am now the mid-mother of two Easter nudes—one is tinted powder, the other is a bluish pink card read, "From Jerry—love. Name the girl after u, and the boy after me." I don't care for rabbits. I am in an efficiency apartment and have no place for them. I'd love more I don't want to be there. At first I was disappointed, now I am furious. Is little "joke" is nothing but cheap copout. Any advice?—Hutch Mistress.

Dear Hutch: Call Jerry at once and tell him he is the pud father of two rabbits and he can name them anything he likes. And hurry up before you have ten.

Dear Ann Landers: Since you are the lady with all the answers, please give us the answer to this one: Why would a girl good-looking, charming, stueque girl (about 5 feet 9), eat sense of humor and very popular, settle for a shrimp who is at least five inches shorter than she is—bookish, glasses, slightly bald, and still wears skunky ties? They are such a weird couple, they turn to stare. She is completely oblivious to his gazes, stands up tall as a can and gives the impression that she is proud to be seen with him. What's in her head?—The Group.

Dear Group: Brains, probably. The girl no doubt feels that this man has the qualities she considers important—such as integrity, kindness and consideration. He may even have a fascinating mind and an exciting personality. It should not be hard to understand why a girl with brains would prefer him to some of the handsome, dumb, boring, tall fellows who can talk of nothing but baseball and consider sex a contact sport.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has an older sister who considers herself a mother-substitute. Edmond and I are both past 50 so you know he has not needed a mother in quite some time.

His sister has been writing to him at least twice a week—at his office. The letters are addressed to him. I have two brothers and I always write to them at home—out of respect for their wives.

The problem is that Edmond's sister telephones me every few weeks and asks why she has not heard from us. I must then tell her I have not seen the letters. She always says, "I meant those letters for you, too, dear."

When I ask Edmond about the letters he says, "They are endless accounts of people I can't remember and have no interest in. I wouldn't dream of boring you. I just throw them out." I can't tell his sister the truth. She would feel hurt. What do you suggest I say to her?—Post Woes.

Dear P.W.: The only way to settle most in-law trouble is to your sister-in-law that she address the letters to Mr. and go to the source. Suggest to Mrs. and send them to your home since you have nothing to do with his office mail.

Shower Guests Make Dusters

Among the many showers for spring brides, was a delightful surprise shower hosted by recent bride-elect Sylvia Hodge for her bridesmaid Carol Dyne, also a May bride.

During the gathering at the home of Sylvia's parents, Aid. Syd Hodge and Mrs. Hodge on Knox Crescent, games were enjoyed and each of the 15 guests present made an autographed duster for the honoree.

Gifts were presented in a decorative umbrella and a bride's hat was fashioned from the package bows. A dainty lunch was served.

Carol, whose marriage to Rick Sere was a May event, is making her new home in Vancouver.

Women's Council Discusses Female Prisoners

WINNIPEG (CP) — The National Council of Women of Canada expressed its concern Monday for women in federal prisons.

At its annual meeting of the council, composed of federated societies representing women across Canada, decided to ask the federal government to appoint a qualified woman to the solicitor general's department as senior officer responsible for policy decisions on treatment of women offenders.

It also will ask the government to buy prison services from the provinces so that women prisoners can serve sentences nearer home.

Mrs. J. Frank Flaherty of Ottawa told about 110 conference delegates most women convicted of federal offences go to the Kingston prison for women in Ontario.

There were women in the prison from all over Canada and because some of them were a long way from home they were cut off from visits by friends and relatives. Some married women did not see their children for long periods.

HOLD ONLY FEW

This could be resolved if such women were allowed to serve their sentences nearer home. But since the number of women prisoners under federal jurisdiction was small, it would be impractical to set up special prisons.

The alternative was to purchase prison services for them from the provinces.

Mrs. S. G. Sinclair of London, Ont., told the delegates the Kingston facilities are "terrible."

HITHER and YON

Mr. and Mrs. David Worsfold recently returned from a most interesting trip to Europe, where they toured the Lighthouses in England, Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland and France.

Weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rode, Royal Avenue, were old friends Mr. and Mrs. Stan Paul of Palo Alto, Calif., who enjoyed touring the Valley during their three day stay here.

A number of Kelowna residents motored to Harrison Hot Springs during the weekend to attend the wedding of Donna Ball and Donald North. Among those who attended the reception in the hotel were Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Gunoff, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Addison, Douglas McDonald and Mary Parkin.

Nanaimo's hospitality to visiting delegates during the recent provincial conference of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of British Columbia, was wonderful according to Kelowna delegates. Among those attending the four day sessions from Kelowna were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bain, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wostradowski, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burch, Mr. and Mrs. Murray White, M. T. Bate, incoming president of the Kelowna Jaycees and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Smith, formerly of Kelowna, joined the conference group.

Kelowna Jayceettes who attended the Nanaimo convention, enjoyed a ladies brunch at the Shore Line Hotel on Friday and the previous night attended the Moon Miners night, during which everyone wore costumes in the space theme of the convention. Robert Bain of Kelowna won first for the best 'man from Mars' costume.

Mr. and Mrs. William Baxter, 353 Boyce Crescent, have returned to the city after attending convocation ceremonies at the University of British Columbia. Their daughter, Heather, was awarded her degree of bachelor of science in pharmacy. During her five year tenure, Heather was awarded several scholarships and bursaries. She is now employed in Vancouver.

Among highlights of the four day session of the Jayceette convention in Nanaimo attended by a number of Kelowna members, was the workshop on crafts—using tissue paper, dip-dye glass, Jay cloths and poster and corsage making. Effective speaking was another popular session.

Menus for the four day session featured international foods and one Kelowna delegate is still raving about the sea food barbecue. All of the Jayceettes from Kelowna are still chuckling about the 'toe painting' by Mrs. Dale Smith, formerly of Kelowna and a past president of the Kelowna club, during the past president's breakfast.

Kelowna Jaycette Elected Provincial Representative

Mrs. Wilbur Wostradowski of the Kelowna Jayceettes Club was elected provincial representative of the British Columbia and Yukon Jayceettes during the recent annual conference of Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada and its auxiliary Jayceettes at Nanaimo.

Mrs. Wostradowski who was installed at the president's ball on Saturday night in the Nanaimo Curling Club hall, was charming in a pink lace over taffeta formal gown with silver accessories. She and her husband will be attending the national convention in Regina the last week in June. Provincial chairman last year, Mr. Wostradowski is district vice-president of the Okanagan Mainline District.

Active since joining the Jayceettes in 1963, Marilyn Wostradowski served as registration chairman for the national convention in 1964 and, as unit secretary in 1964-65.

In 1965-66 she served as president of the Kelowna Club and in 1966-67 was album chairman. She also served as the Okanagan Mainline District representative that year and assisted in chartering the Salmon Arm Jayceettes.

During the 1968-69 provincial convention she co-chaired sessions, served as album chairman and was also chairman of the provincial effective speaking sessions.

Throughout her years of membership she has had perfect attendance since 1963.

Keenly interested in Jaycette activities, she has kept in touch with other clubs in other regions and provinces through attendance at provincial conventions at Prince George, Vernon, Victoria, Trail, Kamloops, Kelowna and Nanaimo. She has also attended national conventions in Edmonton, Victoria and Kelowna, as well as the international conference in Banff of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The purpose of the Jaycette club is to assist the Jaycees wherever, whenever possible. Their aim is to familiarize themselves with the program of the Jaycees and to promote the best interests of their cities, province and Canada.

Jayceettes attempt to further goodwill internationally through personal development, community service and good fellowship. They are not a service club but do carry out projects to aid and improve the community and endeavor to make the members aware of community needs. Special leadership training courses are offered by the Jaycees and Jaycettes take part in these.

Mrs. Wostradowski, nee Marilyn Wignall, was born in England and raised and educated in East Kelowna. An accomplished swimmer she was a member of the synchronized swim team in her pre-teens that performed during Regatta days, until she resigned to take part in the Lady of the Lake pageant.

Mr. and Mrs. Wostradowski, who have two small sons, Brian 5 and Roger 3, are ardent softball fans and attend most of the games.

Can 'White Parents' Bring Security To Metis Child?

SASKATOON (CP) — Louise is a dark-eyed, bright 3 1/2-year-old who, although her mind can't comprehend it yet, is engaged in a desperate battle which will shape her future.

The fight is for security, something she hasn't found in three different homes and something which her fourth—and probably permanent—parents hope to give her.

Louise's fight is different from that of most adopted children because her new family is white and she is Metis—part Indian and part white.

She represents a challenge not only to her new parents, but to a branch of the Saskatchewan department of welfare called AIM—Adopt Indian-Metis centre.

AIM was established three years ago as a pilot project in the Regina area when a serious backlog of Indian and Metis children under provincial care developed.

During 1966-67, the fiscal year before the project started, only 50 Indian and Metis children were adopted in Saskatchewan.

From April 1, 1969, to Dec. 31, 1969, a total of 140 were placed in permanent homes. Sixty of these were placed by AIM's Regina office and its Saskatchewan branch and the rest by the welfare department which handles Indian and Metis adoptions outside the two districts.

One of the questions Louise's prospective parents had to answer before going to AIM was: Aren't there enough problems in adoption without taking a child of another race?

"To most people who come here, race makes no difference," said Alison Vickers, AIM supervisor for the Saskatchewan office. "But they are aware that it does to some people."

Louise's new parents, who have two boys, aged 9 and 10, and a girl, 6, were drawn to AIM by its publicity campaign and a long-standing interest in the Indian people.

"I'm adopted myself and have wanted children both ways," says Louise's new mother, who wished to remain anonymous to protect her new child. "We felt that if we wanted another child, why produce one when there are so many already available?"

'Fish Group' Organizing In Kelowna

Nine people gathered in the Cameron Room of St. Michael and All Angels' Church Parish Hall on Sunday evening to discuss plans for the 'Fish Group' in Kelowna. Excerpts from the book 'Fish—For My People' by Robert Lee Howell were read and discussed at length. Other people in cities in the United States and some in Canada have already experimented in this phase of community participation, and were successful.

Rex Marshall, chairman of the planning committee presided at the planning session and those present were Mrs. F. Verkerk, Luanna Roth, Mrs. C. E. Munslow, Herb Sullivan, Saltmarsh, Jesse Ford, Hillary Sherriff and John Phillips. It was revealed that some 60 persons have already intimated their interest in participations in the 'Fish Group' which is being formulated in Kelowna proper and leaders of small communities have written in to confirm that a similar group could be in service in their town.

The meeting decided to hold an organizational meeting with four items outlined for a general meeting on June 16 in the Cameron Room at St. Michael's to which anyone interested in 'FISH' is invited to attend.

PURPOSE
The purpose of 'Fish' is simple—to help others! The 'Fish' are ordinary, untrained people; people with various religious affiliations—sometimes with none. People who are aware of other people. But they are all joined in a love and concern for their neighbors. Will you help? Please call the Anglican parish office 762-3321 between the hours of 9 and 5 p.m. and leave your name, telephone number and your capacity of participation for 'Fish'.

HERBED SPRING SALAD DRESSING
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
3 tablespoons vinegar
¾ cup salad oil
1 teaspoon each salt, sugar, dry tarragon and dry basil
Blend mustard and vinegar; combine with remaining ingredients. Shake well. Serve with a salad or crisp greens. Recipe yields 1 cup dressing.

TRACES HISTORY
OTTAWA (CP) — The National Film Board has recorded 400 years of North American history on nine one-hour films. It uses pictures, cartoons and sketches gathered from 200 archives to tell the story of growth from the first days of discovery in 1492 to the final definition of the Canada-U.S. border.

SMILES OF ACCOMPLISHMENT

All Angels' Anglican Church Scene Of Pretty Wedding

WINFIELD (Special) — Rev. R. E. F. Berry, assisted by Rev. R. W. S. Brown officiated at the ceremony which united in marriage Pamela Mary Pollard, formerly of Kelowna and Kamloops, and Charles Donald Buckland of Kelowna. The bride, the daughter of Mrs. Katherine M. Hutchison of Victoria, is a graduate of St. Paul's School of Nursing, Vancouver, recently holding a supervisory position at St. Joseph's Hospital in Victoria.

The best man was John H. Buckland, brother of the groom and the ushers were the groom's sons, Donald C. Buckland and Frank A. Buckland, all of Kelowna.

At the reception held at the Eldorado Arms, the bride's mother received the guests in a green and white figured silk two piece with accessories of white and a corsage of white feathered carnations complemented her ensemble.

The bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, topped with three white wedding bells, flanked by bouquets of yellow mums.

Duncan L. Clark of North Vancouver, proposed the toast to the bride and John H. Buckland proposed the toast to the attendants.

The master of ceremonies was Robert Hammond, who read a number of telegrams expressing good wishes to the happy couple, from relatives and friends in Australia, England, Victoria and Vancouver.

HAWAII
Before leaving on their honeymoon in the Hawaiian Islands, the bride slipped on a white silk shantung coat which matched her dress and her accessories were white. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Out-of-town guests included: Mrs. K. M. Hutchison, Mr. and Mrs. Alan S. Spelght and Pamela, Kathie and Susan, all of Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Hughes, M. and Mrs. R. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Stevens, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Duncan L. Clark, North Vancouver; Mrs. Sheila Blackie, Nanaimo; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Arnold, Prince George; Mrs. A. S. Knowles, Campbell River; Brian McDonald, Calgary; Mrs. D. S. Slater and daughter, Robyn of Keremvos and from Kamloops where the bride worked at the hospital came Mrs. Frances Grafton, Mr. and Mrs. George Signoretti, Mrs. Lynn Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Barrie Hardie, Theresa and Janet; Dr. and Mrs. D. F. Osborne; Dr. and Mrs. J. F. B. Beesley; Mrs. Dorothy Hales, Mrs. Florence

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Deane of Curepe, Trinidad, West Indies, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Ingrid Mary to George William Rawlings, son of Mrs. J. H. Moir and the late George William Rawlings of Kelowna. The wedding will take place on June 28 in Curepe, Trinidad.

STREET LENGTH
Given in marriage by her brother, Arthur G. Pollard of Winfield the happy bride wore a street length dress of white silk shantung fashioned on modified empire lines with fitted bodice and elbow length sleeves. Opalescent braid encircled the rounded neckline and accentuated the high bodice line.

Her two-tiered shoulder length veil of white nylon was held in place with a small bow of material which matched her dress.

Elbow length white gloves completed her ensemble and her only jewellery was a pair of pearl earrings, a gift from the groom. She carried a cascading bouquet of yellow roses, lilies of the valley and heather fern.

Attending the bride were her sister, Mrs. Alan Spelght of Victoria and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Arthur Pollard of Winfield.

They both wore street length dresses of daffodil yellow crepe fashioned on an A line with long slightly belled sleeves and round stand-up neckline. Their headresses were wedding circlets enlone and they carried nosegays of white feathered carnations, yellow rosebuds, lily of the valley against a background of heather fern.

Holiday Home Exchange Is New Way Of Cutting Costs

WEST VANCOUVER, B.C. (CP) — An organization has been started here to provide travellers with cheaper vacations while living literally in a home away from home.

Called Holiday Home Exchange, the plan is operated as a hobby by Tim Hollick-Kenyon, his wife and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bircho. The enterprise started last winter and has received more than 400 inquiries from across North America.

Basically, the exchange provides listings and acts as a central clearing house for people interested in exchanging their homes for a vacation.

For instance, a family in history-stepped Quebec City could swap its home with that of a Vancouver couple and have a seaside vacation on the West Coast without worrying about hotel and restaurant costs.

Holiday Home Exchange merely brings them together. People wishing to participate in the plan get their home and the amenities of the area in which it is situated listed for a $5 fee.

"We are not a rental agency," says Mr. Hollick-Kenyon. "We simply put people in touch."

"The whole thing is based on mutual trust, although it's possible for a lawyer to draw up a document covering the situation."

AROUND B.C. IN BRIEF

Landlord Blamed In Two-Death Fire

SMITHERS (CP)—A coroner's jury Tuesday claimed negligence on the part of several government agencies and a landlord in an April 7 fire which killed Sophie Patrick, 45, and Murphy Williams, 30, near here. While the jury attached no blame, it criticized and claimed negligence on the part of the landlord, the department of health, the provincial fire marshal's office and provincial and federal building standards inspectors. The jury recommended that cabins in the area be upgraded to meet proper standards or be declared unfit for human occupancy and rental.

BODY FOUND
CRANBROOK (CP)—RCMP Tuesday recovered the body of Verna McKinney, 31, of Cranbrook from a small lake about six miles northeast of here. The body was found in six feet of water about 30 feet from shore.

MAN CHARGED
SOOKE (CP)—James Thomas Bright, 20, of Sooke was charged with criminal negligence Tuesday as a result of a single-car accident in which a girl was killed and his sister was injured. Killed when a car left the Otter Point Road here Monday was Sandra Marshall, 13. Bright's sister, Bonnie Jean, also 13, was injured in the mishap. He was remanded to June 9.

TO STAND TRIAL
PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Arthur Stanley Belcourt, 25, of Prince George Tuesday was committed to stand trial on a charge of non-capital murder in the beating death of Christopher Cardinal, 32, whose body was found in a cabin at Summit Lake March 27. Belcourt remained in custody without bail and no date was set for the trial.

5,600,000 PLANTED
VANCOUVER (CP)—The reforestation program of MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. passed a record mark this spring with the planting of 5,600,000 seedling trees on 26 square miles of logged land in the province. The seedlings are mostly Douglas fir, with some spruce, hemlock and pine. The bulk of the planting was done in the Alberni Valley, Nanaimo and Powell River areas.

BODIES IN CAR
PORT McNEILL (CP)—The bodies of Alice Gilbert, 38, believed to be from Williams Lake and Albert Breault, 36, thought to be from Cut Knife, Sask., were discovered by police in a parked car Monday. Police said they appeared to have died from carbon monoxide poisoning.

COLORFUL HAUL
VANCOUVER (CP)—Burglars escaped with 20 25-inch colored and four black and white television sets plus nine stereos Tuesday from Stuart's Furniture and Appliances Ltd. Police said the thieves opened the firm's loading ramp door and filled up a truck driven into the store. Loss was estimated at between $9,000 and $10,000.

MRS. MISSES
LONDON (CP)—Judges in a competition organized by a company to find the brainiest of its employees' wives were impressed by one essay and decided the writer was the best of the 300 entrants. However, she forgot to include her name and address and the prize of £110 and a night on the town went to someone else.

BEDDED DOWN
SHEFFIELD, England (CP)—Thomas Laycock, 63, became badly tangled up in the springs of his bed after it collapsed. He remained trapped for five days until neighbors, noticing his absence from regular appearances, called police. Following his liberation from the clutter of springs, Laycock was given a new bed by a firm which manufactures sleeping equipment.

Montreal Expo's Scout Chief Camp Instructor

OLIVER—Al Ronning, Montreal Expo head scout for the Pacific Northwest headlines the instructional staff of the 10th annual Okanagan Major League Baseball Camp here.

Seven weekly sessions begin June 28 and conclude Aug. 17. Boys will play in age groups of 14 and under in the second and third sessions.

The first session has been reserved for a contingent of 60 players, managers and umpires from Saskatchewan.

The last four sessions are open age.

Ronning, who spent 24 years in professional baseball is a native of Arlington, Wash. where he signed out of high school. His last 11 of 12 years has been spent managing in the Los Angeles Dodger and Oakland athletic organizations.

Joining Ronning on the staff will be holdovers Bill Falter, Yakima Valley Community College mentor; Conrad Hamilton, Western Washington State College coach; Don Lundberg, former professional manager and coach at Nathan High in Seattle; Mal Watson, head instructor and former Pirate infielder who coaches at Bellingham high; Walt Milroy and Mel Waite of Ingham and Queen Anne (Seattle); Earl Silverthorne, Dodger farmhand who doubles as the Milwaukee Brewers' head scout in the northwest; Ken Lehman, University of Washington baseball coach and former Dodger and Oriole hurler.

New instructors this year are Chet Johnson, left handed pitcher for so many years in the Pacific coast league with some 17 years pro experience behind him; Harold Haddock, former Washington State Cougar hurling ace who spent four years in the N.Y. Met chain; Billy Harris, Canadian born pitcher from New Brunswick with years in the Dodger chain and his last three years in pro ball as pitching coach with the Tri-City Braves of the North west league.

Final Meeting Of Cubs, Scouts

RUTLAND—The final meeting of the school term was held by the committee of the Rutland boy scouts and wolf cubs on Monday evening, at the home of the chairman, Roger Dolbec.

The reports on the various activities indicated that the bottle drive, May 20, was a success, with a good turnout of scouts, cubs and adults. The scout leaders reported a successful campout on the May Day weekend, with three leaders and 20 scouts attending. The camp was set up in the vicinity of Bear Lake and the scouts used packboards to carry their self-made gear. The leaders attending camp were scoutmaster Harold Greenaway and assistants Mike Henderson and Peter Zazulak.

A board of examiners was set up to check the cubs on their various tests.

A family picnic, to wind up the activities of the cubs and scouts, will be held at the Mission Creek bridge, on the Joe Rich about 14 miles east of Rutland.

Cub pack number one will hold an overnight camp on June 13, and then join the family picnic the following day.

Medallions For Century

Kelowna and district senior citizens who were born in 1871 or before Jan. 1, 1897, are eligible to receive medallions from the B.C. Centennial Committee.

Applications are now being taken for those who qualify for the two medallions to be offered during the province's Centennial celebrations next year. The medallions are to be presented to centenarians (those who are 100 years or older in 1971) and the pioneers.

Application forms are available from the committee's offices in the Kelowna City Hall.

OKANAGAN CENTRE—Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Goldie of Galiano Island, with their daughter Charlotte, made a recent visit to Mr. Goldie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Goldie.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Beakhurst of Angmering, Sussex, England, have just returned home after a two week visit with Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Land. Mrs. Beakhurst visited her brother three years ago but this was Mr. Beakhurst's first visit to Canada.

Scout Reunion Set For June 20

RUTLAND—A second meeting of the committee to plan a reunion of former members of the Rutland Boy Scout troop was held Monday.

The committee, set up about 10 days ago, reported progress on a list which has been compiled by former members, for purposes of sending out invitations for the June 20 reunion.

The list includes about 200 names, with the addresses for close to 150 known.

The committee thus has about 50 names for which no address is yet available. The former members are widely spread from Europe to Australia, and any resident who can supply the name and address of a former boy scout is asked to contact Art Gray.

All members are being sent invitations, and where unable to attend, they are being asked to send a message which will be read at the banquet.

The banquet will be held at the Parish Hall at the Catholic Church.

Royals Pull From Slump Shut Out Lowly Labs 18-0

The Royal Anne Royals of the Kelowna and District Senior B Softball League, are making up for lost time.

After managing a tie in their past three games, dropping two encounters, 5-4 to the Willow Inn Willows, and 6-4 to the Vernon Kals, the Royals bounced back Tuesday, whalopping Kelowna Labatts 18-0 in King's Stadium.

The victory, their eighth this season, puts the Royals just two points back of the slumping Rutland Molson Rovers in the battle for first place, with one game in hand over the league leaders.

Tuesday, the second-place club collected 17 hits in their 18-run barrage, off three Lab pitchers, Ken Leveck, the loser, Ken Hehn, and Jerry Keys.

Royals' Rick Kraushaar, won his fourth game of the season, allowing only three hits, while striking out eight, and keeping the lead in that department with 43.

BOOSTS AVERAGE
Rod Bennett, going into Tuesday's encounter sporting a respectable .273 batting average, went three for four at the plate for the Royals, and boosted his average to .346, in leading his team in that department.

The chunky second baseman, hit his first home run of the season in the third inning, drove in four runs during the night, and scored three runs himself, for his most productive evening in three years.

The Royals scored at least one run in each of the six innings, but the second. In the first inning, Leveck was tagged for six hits and seven runs, while four were scored in the third, one in the fourth, three in the fifth and four more in the sixth.

A total of 12 extra base hits were included in the 18, nine doubles, two triples, and the two-run homer by Bennett.

For the Labs, who had won two games last week, their first and only two of the season, it was their third loss in three nights.

Tonight, in senior B action, the Willows will be trying for their fourth win in succession, as they meet Vernon Kals in Kelowna.

The Willows can move to within two points of the third-place Kals with a win and have a game in hand over the northern club.

Legion scored 10 runs in the third inning to overcome a 9-2 deficit and went on to defeat Firestone 12-9 in a Babe Ruth League game Monday. Jack Knoohuizen, with relief help from Mark Lang, picked up the victory.

The Post quotes Benjamin Weiner, 44, a close friend of both players, as saying the injury to Sawchuk was accidental. Weiner is to testify before the grand jury.

Weiner, manager of a restaurant, is reported to have told police that Sawchuk had returned after a futile attempt to reach a reconciliation with his wife.

District Attorney Cahn said he hopes to wrap up the grand jury hearing by a week from Friday. Grand jury activities remain secret unless a true bill is reported out.

Nicholas Castellano, Long Island lawyer hired by the Rangers to represent Stewart, said he had interviewed enough witnesses to come to the conclusion that the accident was "exactly as described" by Sawchuk.

"There is no crime in the entire situation," Castellano said in an interview.

District Attorney Cahn said that Stewart, who arrived in New York Tuesday from Barrie, Ont., would be subpoenaed, along with Rangers manager-coach Emile Francis, Weiner, and Rosemary Sasso, a nurse identified as a friend of Stewart.

Dr. Denis F. Nicholson of Long Beach, told The Times he had been called to the Sawchuk-Stewart house the night of April 29 by Miss Sasso. Stewart, Weiner and Miss Sasso were there, as well as Sawchuk.

"I found Sawchuk in horrible pain," the doctor said in an interview. "He was in shock."

Kelowna's Pirate Reject Sails Past Luckies 8-5

By ALLAN SIMPSON

VERNON — The Pittsburgh Pirates thought enough of Mike Burdette's baseball talents that they invited the six foot, five inch righthanded pitcher to their Florida training camp this spring. But apparently the North Vancouver native wasn't quite impressive enough to warrant a professional contract with the Pirate organization, so they cut him loose.

Then the Kelowna Carlings latched onto the 19-year-old prospect, and the way the lanky Burdette has been performing for the Okanagan Mainline Baseball League's leading club, including his most recent appearance in the Carlings 8-5 victory over the Vernon Luckies Tuesday, he may soon earn another professional trial.

FIFTH STRAIGHT
Burdette not only carried the Carlings to their fifth straight triumph Tuesday, but also extended his own personal winning streak to five games as he was again superior on the mound. The Carling ace bailed a struggling Bob Tanner, the starting pitcher, out of a fourth inning jam, with a slim two-run margin at stake, then proceeded to hold an offensive-minded Vernon squad at bay for the remainder of the contest.

MIKE BURDETTE ... fifth win

Burdette, while lifting his won-lost record to 5-2, lowered his earned run average to a stingy 1.85 figure. He has now earned credit for the victory in each of the last three Kelowna wins, including two in his only relief appearances of the year.

The Carlings, meanwhile, had staked Tanner to an early 5-0 lead but the veteran righthander couldn't take advantage of the prosperity as he surrendered Vernon eight hits and four runs in the 3½ innings he worked before Burdette took over.

GOSS PRODUCTIVE

Don Favell's two-run double and a sacrifice fly by Bob Goss provided Kelowna with three first-inning markers, while run-scoring singles by Jack Burton and Goss in the third added two more runs, off losing pitcher Brian Stephen.

Wayne Dye, even a more brilliant professional prospect than Burdette, brought Vernon back to within striking distance, however, as he drilled a solo home run in the third and laced a two-run double off the fence in the fourth. Then Chuck Bell's round tripper, in the fifth, cut the gap to 6-5 before Bob Schwabb and Burton put the game out of reach for the Carlings with RBI singles in the sixth off reliever Reg Main, making his first appearance of the season.

Kelowna's next encounter is Thursday, when they travel to Penticton to face the second-place Molsons.

CARLING NOTES: Kelowna's Jerome Richardson, and the Luckies Bob Adshear are waging a fierce battle for the batting leadership in the OMBL. Richardson, with a double in four trips Tuesday, sank to an even .400 figure, while Adshear, Vernon's player-coach, collected three hits and rose to a .392 mark.

Wayne Dye, who reports to the Milwaukee Brewers organization later this month, seems to have finally broken out of a season-long slump. He belted a single, double and home run to lift his paltry .214 average 54 points to .268. The club expects to have lefthanded pitcher Glen Harkie in the lineup for Thursday's crucial match. Harkie has pitched several games this year with Columbia Basin Junior College.

Lawrence Ortt slammed a two-run home, a double and two singles to lead Midvalley to an 8-7 victory over Bridge Service in a Little League game Monday at Lions Park.

The victory was credited to Roger Wolfe but not until Ortt had singled to lead off the sixth inning and came around to score the run which snapped a 7-7 deadlock.

England Unimpressive In World Cup

MEXICO CITY (CP) — England recorded an unimpressive 1-0 victory over Romania Tuesday night as it started its bid to retain the World Cup soccer championship it won four years ago. But Peru stole the show with a brilliant comeback from a 2-0 deficit to beat Bulgaria 3-2.

In the third game of the night, Uruguay defeated Israel's all-amateur team 2-0. Uruguay won the Jules Rimet Cup, emblematic of the world title, in 1930 and 1950, but didn't give much indication of being a threat for the 1970 title on its showing against the underdogs from Israel.

England manager Sir Alf Ramsey said he was well satisfied with his team's performance against Romania, but he may find himself with a full-back problem in future games. Keith Newton of Everton, assisted off the field with an injury to the right knee, is considered a doubtful starter for several days. Terry Cooper of Leeds United also suffered a leg injury.

"We will not know the full extent of the injuries for another 12 hours, but at the moment things do not look too serious," said a spokesman.

10-RUN INNING
Legion scored 10 runs in the third inning to overcome a 9-2 deficit and went on to defeat Firestone 12-9 in a Babe Ruth League game Monday. Jack Knoohuizen, with relief help from Mark Lang, picked up the victory.

Game time tonight is 8:30 p.m. at King's Stadium.

Grand Jury To Hear Evidence In The Death Of Sawchuk

MINEOLA, N.Y. (CP) — A Nassau County grand jury will hear evidence Monday in the death of Terry Sawchuk, 40, National Hockey League great who last season was backup goalie for New York Rangers.

Nassau County District Attorney William Cahn said: "The ends of justice are best served by presenting the entire matter to the grand jury."

Sawchuk died in a New York City hospital Sunday after a series of operations. Since then, detectives have been investigating how the goalkeeper suffered injuries the night of April 29 at a rented house in East Atlantic Beach, Long Island. Sawchuk and team-mate Ron Stewart had shared the house during the hockey season.

Sawchuk is reported to have told police before his death of a blood clot that he was injured during "horse play" with a team-mate on the lawn.

The Post quotes Benjamin Weiner, 44, a close friend of both players, as saying the injury to Sawchuk was accidental. Weiner is to testify before the grand jury.

RETURNED FROM DETROIT
Weiner, manager of a restaurant, is reported to have told police that Sawchuk had returned after a futile attempt to reach a reconciliation with his wife.

District Attorney Cahn said he hopes to wrap up the grand jury hearing by a week from Friday. Grand jury activities remain secret unless a true bill is reported out.

Nicholas Castellano, Long Island lawyer hired by the Rangers to represent Stewart, said he had interviewed enough witnesses to come to the conclusion that the accident was "exactly as described" by Sawchuk.

"There is no crime in the entire situation," Castellano said in an interview.

District Attorney Cahn said that Stewart, who arrived in New York Tuesday from Barrie, Ont., would be subpoenaed, along with Rangers manager-coach Emile Francis, Weiner, and Rosemary Sasso, a nurse identified as a friend of Stewart.

Dr. Denis F. Nicholson of Long Beach, told The Times he had been called to the Sawchuk-Stewart house the night of April 29 by Miss Sasso. Stewart, Weiner and Miss Sasso were there, as well as Sawchuk.

"I found Sawchuk in horrible pain," the doctor said in an interview. "He was in shock."

Seal Matter High On List At NHL Meet

MONTREAL (CP) — The governors of the National Hockey League had not expected to deal with the problem of the Oakland Seals franchise at the league's annual meeting June 2-11 here, but it now appears the topic will be prominent at the sessions.

NHL president Clarence Campbell said Tuesday a ruling made by Judge Robert Schnacke of San Francisco Superior Court Monday brought the Seals issue to the forefront.

The judge ruled that Trans-National Communications Ltd., current owners of the Seals, defaulted on terms of its agreement to buy the three-year-old hockey club from Seals Ltd. last year. But he adjourned the ownership dispute until June 9.

"Trans-National has been given a seven-day redemption period to pay outstanding debts and find another purchaser," said Campbell.

If the June 9 date is not met by Trans-National, Seals Ltd., headed by original Oakland owner Barend Van Gerbig, propose to sell to Charles O. Finley, owner of Oakland A's of baseball's American League, for $3,400,000.

UP TO LEAGUE

Campbell said only the NHL "can approve sale of the franchise for the purpose of being effective in the NHL."

The NHL meetings open Monday with the rules committee considering several changes, including new fines.

"We hope to double the current $25 automatic fine for a misconduct penalty and make a match penalty $200 instead of $100 and a game misconduct worth $100 instead of $50," said Campbell.

The regular intra-league draft takes place next Tuesday with the 12 existing NHL clubs participating. The inter-league draft will follow immediately, but the new Buffalo Sabres will be the only NHL club participating. All players on the American and Western hockey league reserve lists—except those on the WHL Vancouver and AHL Rochester lists—will be available for draft.

The expansion draft, 24 hours later, allows the existing clubs to protect 15 players, plus two goalkeepers, from Vancouver Canucks and Buffalo, the latest expansion clubs.

Buffalo and Vancouver have the first choice in Thursday's amateur draft.

THE EXECUTIVE JET™ CP AIR'S SOLUTION TO THE PHYSICAL AND EMOTIONAL NEEDS OF TODAY'S TRAVELING BUSINESSMAN.

We all have our needs. And we're sorry to say, we can't help most people with theirs. But we can help the traveling businessman with his.

We've introduced the Executive Jet for all our cross Canada flights.

It's designed to let a traveling businessman work when he wants to work. And play when he wants to play. (We give you freedom of choice.)

For instance, if you feel like working, just ask a stewardess aboard the Executive Jet, too. They won't have to dictate or read Fortune to have fun. There are dozens of other things to do.

So next time you're planning a flight within Canada, ask your travel agent to book you on one of our fourteen daily Executive Jet flights.

It's the other way to fly.

If you don't feel like working yourself, but would like to know how your money is working for you, just ask one of our girls for the Financial Post or the Wall Street Journal. We even carry a brief up-to-the-minute resume of marketing/financial information. (For the man who's not interested in those kinds of figures, may we suggest the ones in Playboy magazine.)

If you'd rather play than work (which we won't blame you for, either), just tell one of our stewardesses you're in the mood to play games. She'll understand. All Executive Jets carry grown-up games like Instant Insanity and Soma.

Perhaps you feel like doing absolutely nothing. Well, we couldn't think of a better place to do it. The atmosphere on board is always relaxed and informal.

Our stewardesses are great to look at, too. They don't wear uniforms that make them look like they're in the army. They wear what we call "non-uniforms."

They're supplied to us by Canada's best-known retailers. So you know they're contemporary.

For instance, you'll see our girls in pant-suits, maxi-coats, and bell bottoms.

Women can find happiness aboard the Executive Jet, too. They won't have to dictate or read Fortune to have fun. There are dozens of other things to do.

Allen Leads Long Balls With 5th Grand Slam

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Richie Allen exploded two home runs Tuesday, one of them a grand slam, to lead a display by prominent long-ball hitters in National League action.

Allen drove in seven runs as St. Louis Cardinals thrashed San Francisco Giants 2-1. Hank Aaron backed Phil Niekro's four-hit pitching with his first homer in two weeks as Atlanta Braves downed New York Mets 4-1; Johnny Bench drilled two homers and Tony Perez one as Cincinnati Reds thumped Philadelphia Phillies 7-2; San Diego Padres blasted six Pittsburgh Pirates pitchers for 19 hits in a 14-8 slugfest and Houston Astros tripped Montreal Expos 6-4.

The other scheduled National League game, Los Angeles at Chicago, was rained out.

Allen singled home a run in the first inning, belted a two-run homer in the fifth and capped the rout with his grand slam in the eighth. Backed by a 15-hit attack, Steve Carlton held the Giants to four hits, including Willie McCovey's 16th homer, and posted his first triumph since May 11.

The grand slam was the fifth of Allen's career and home run No. 18 for the season.

and Aaron, who hadn't homered since May 17, led it in the seventh with a two-run shot, his 17th.

Tommie Agee homered for the Mets' run.

Bench slammed two homers, one a three-run wallop, and Perez, the majors' leading slugger, socked No. 19 as the Reds scored a rain-shortened triumph over the Phillies, their fifth straight win.

Rookie Wayne Simpson, 6-1, yielded six hits and fanned seven before rain halted play with the Phils batting in the top of the eighth.

San Diego got a two-run homer from Clarence Gaston, tripled by Chris Cannizzaro, Tommy Dean and Jose Arcia and doubles by Ollie Brown, Steve Huntz and Nate Colbert in routing the Pirates. Willie Stargel homered for Pittsburgh.

START FAST
The Padres kaybed Bob Veale with a six-run first inning and never let up.

Johnny Edwards triggered a three-run second inning with a run-scoring single and tripled home another run in the fourth as the Astros sent the Expos to their ninth straight setback.

The Astros ended a three-game losing string with reliever Jim Ray rescuing rookie starter

Ron Cook in the third after the right-hander walked Rusty Staub.

Adolfo Phillips drove in three Expo runs with three hits and a sacrifice fly. Starter Carl Morton took the Montreal loss.

YOUNG FIRST LADY
ST. ALBANS, England (CP) — Gabriella Howard, the new mayoress in this Hertfordshire community, has been told she must not miss any schoolwork while carrying out her civic duties—she's only 14. Her uncle, a 46-year-old bachelor John Farrelly, has been elected mayor and chose his niece to serve with him as a compliment to all the young people in the city.

CAST OF MILLIONS
LONDON (CP) — Brunette Diana Bliss, 27, is worth £1,000,000 to her boss—that's the size of an order she won against stiff male opposition as sales manager for a steel production company. # Strikeout And Home Run Kings Are Having Little Problem

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Howard, the Washington Senators slugger who leads the American League in home runs, claims that making contact with the ball is his biggest problem. The same might be true of the entire American League when (Sudden) Sam McDowell is on the mound.

Tuesday night neither of these veteran all-star performers had any difficulty.

Howard drilled his 16th homer of the season, a two-run shot that earned the Senators a 2-2 tie, and his bloop single triggered a two-run eighth-inning rally that brought Washington a 4-3 victory over Chicago White Sox.

McDowell, the league strikeout king, had a no-hitter for seven innings and had to settle for a two-hitter in the opener of a doubleheader as Cleveland Indians swept Milwaukee Brewers 4-1 and 9-5.

In other games, Boston Red Sox whipped Minnesota Twins 5-1, New York Yankees edged Kansas City Royals 3-2, Baltimore Orioles stopped Oakland Athletics 5-1 and California Angels nipped Detroit Tigers 3-2 in 10 innings.

Howard, who hit 48 homers last year, says he doesn't think about the long ball.

"My biggest problem is making contact," said the 6-foot-7, 270-pound Howard. "I figure if I make contact, the long ball will take care of itself."

His bloop in the eighth however, was just as important as it moved Ed Stroud, who had opened the inning with a single—his fourth hit—to third. Mike Epstein then hit a single, scoring Stroud, and Aurelio Rodriguez got the eventual winner across with a sacrifice fly.

"I'll take them any way I can," Howard said of his eighth-inning single. "I was fooled on the pitch and started to back away. It just popped out over the second baseman's head."

McDowell, with eight strikeouts Tuesday night, now leads the league with 119. His record is 8-3. His attempt at a no-hitter was snapped when Danny Walton stroked a leadoff double in the eighth.

It was the stylish left-hander's seventh complete game—no other Indians pitcher has one—and his second consecutive two-hitter. His earned run average dropped to 2.35.

"I'm not interested in a no-hitter," McDowell said afterward. "I'm more interested in winning."

Jack Heidemman's two-run single and a solo homer by Graig Nettles helped ease the way for McDowell. The Indians crashed five homers in the nightcap, including a pair by Nettles.

Duke Sims also hit two and Ray Rosse another.

Limited Help Seen

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — The Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union has been told that limited athletic scholarships are coming, but not for a few years.

First will come a study, CIAU president Maurice Van Vliet of Edmonton said Tuesday. It will be conducted by the union and the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada.

"When the dust settles over the next two or three years," he said in an interview, "we will probably come up with some kind of an agreement giving a university certain leeway relative to scholarships for athletes."

Earlier Tuesday, delegates to the CIAU annual meeting unanimously approved enforcing the union's 1967 ban on athletic scholarships and voted to appoint a committee to police the ban.

Dr. Van Vliet, physical education dean at the University of Alberta, said that CIAU approval might involve a scholarship plan similar to a proposal by the Western Canada Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

The CIAU in 1967 accepted only academic scholarships and opposed any based solely on athletic ability.

Mosport Wonder Car Roaring Puts Grin On Maker Harris

MOSPORT, Ont. (CP) — The wonder car the critics said would never work was roaring around the track here Tuesday in final testing before its inaugural race June 14.

"One minute and 21 seconds," said Don Nichols with a grin. "We get another two seconds off the lap time and we're competitive."

Nichols, who lives in Los Angeles, had a special reason for being ecstatic. He's the man who has promoted the revolutionary Group 7 car, which he hopes will challenge McLaren-made racers in the Can-Am series this season and "revolutionize the whole race car design industry."

The track record at Mosport, site of the first race of the Can-Am series next Sunday, is just 1:19. Nichols said his team has taken four seconds off the lap time of the new car in the last few days.

The car was designed by Trevor Harris of Mesa, Calif. "What I did was sit down and ask myself what I would do if I'd never seen a race car," Harris said.

Retaining the wedge profile, Harris began with front wheels 17 inches high, compared with the 24-inch wheels on regular racers. This resulted in a lower design. The regular racer is about three feet high at the rear end, the Harris car about 23 inches.

Road clearance is approximately three inches but the bottom of the body flares out to deflect the air flow and keep it from building beneath the car.

ON STAYING AFLOAT Water safety is everyone's concern. Whether you're working or playing on a lake, you should wear a life jacket. Bern Daye (right) Boom Foreman for a Vancouver logging company, explains the life jacket fastenings to Teri Eagland. Since buoyancy equipment was made mandatory by the Workmen's Compensation Board in 1957, not one life-jacketed boom man has drowned. Before 1957, five or six boom men drowned in B.C. waters annually.

Wallace Makes Comeback As Governor Of Alabama

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS George C. Wallace has won his bid to recapture Alabama's governorship—the likely prelude to another United States presidential race in 1972—and less than a year after his Democratic nomination to oppose Gov. Ronald Reagan of California. Wallace, who overcame a narrow first-primary loss, promptly celebrated his victory in Tuesday's democratic runoff over incumbent Albert P. Brewer by demanding that President Nixon "give us back our schools." Nearly complete returns gave Wallace 542,154 votes, Brewer 510,442. In California, Unruh, a slimmed-down version of the man known as Big Daddy while speaker of the state's assembly in the mid-1960s, easily ousted and Mayor Sam Yortok of Los Angeles. Reagan was unopposed for Republican renomination for the November election. Primaries in the United States are held to select candidates for general elections. Only registered voters are eligible to vote for candidates for their party's nomination. TUNNEY LEADS California's battle of two anti-war Democrats saw Representative John V. Tunney, son of former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney, ahead of Representative George E. Brown Jr., who once threatened to launch impeachment proceedings against President Nixon because of the U.S. attack on Cambodia. The winner faces incumbent Senator George Murphy, the one-time actor and dancer, who defeated millionaire industrialist Norton Simon in the Republican primary. Murphy is a strong supporter of President Nixon's policies in Southeast Asia. The year's busiest political day so far, with balloting in eight states, saw the re-nomination of four Democratic senators—Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, John C. Stennis of Mississippi, Harrison A. Williams Jr. of New Jersey and Joseph M. Montoya of New Mexico. Besides Reagan, two other Republican governors were re-nominated—Robert D. Ray of Iowa, who was unopposed, and Frank Farrar of South Dakota. GOVERNOR UPSET In a major upset, Gov. David Cargoe of New Mexico was defeated for the Republican senatorial nomination by Anderson Carter, a conservative rancher and oil man, who now faces Montoya, victorious over Richard Edwards, former state representative. In New Jersey, Williams will meet Nelson G. Gross, former state Republican chairman. A youthful anti-war candidate, 28-year-old Louis Kaden, was defeated 2-to-1 in a bid to unseat Democratic Representative Edward J. Patten in a contest that saw involvement of hundreds of students from Princeton, Rutgers and other New Jersey colleges. In Montana, the 67-year-old Mansfield is heavily favored in November against Republican Harold E. Wallace. In Mississippi, Stennis has no Republican opponent in November. In Iowa, Ray will be opposed by Democrat Robert Fulton, former lieutenant-governor. In South Dakota, Farrar will meet state Representative Richard Kneip, the Democratic nominee. In the first Alabama primary May 5, Brewer fashioned an 11,763-vote lead in a seven-way race, but Wallace banked heavily on the racial issue in the runoff campaign. VANCOUVER (CP)—Police informer Michael Bonneau, 27, was jailed four years Tuesday when he pleaded guilty in provincial court to theft of $28,000 worth of diamond rings from a local jewelry store. "For Bonneau there is no turning back," said prosecutor Stewart McMorrnan. "His activities as an informant are no longer secret. "His life has been threatened and his bridges are burned." Mr. McMorrnan said at least four criminal cases will be in court as a result of Bonneau's informant activities. He said police have cracked a ring dealing in several thousand dollars worth of forged Canadian Pacific Railway employee cheques in Western Canada. Mr. McMorrnan said Bonneau was also instrumental in the arrest of two men in North Vancouver charged with conspiracy to kidnap and his information led to the recovery of $10,000 worth of stolen Bank of Nova Scotia money orders and separate recovery of a stolen stamp collection, 12 passports and three guns. He asked for a four- to five-year sentence for Bonneau in view of his "co-operation."

Romania Spurs NATO Plan For Talks On Troop Reductions

BUCHAREST (CP) — Romania today rejected the NATO proposal for talks with the East European countries on balanced troop reductions by NATO and the Warsaw pact alliance. The NATO proposal was outlined by External Affairs Minister Sharp of Canada to both President Nicolae Ceausescu and Foreign Minister Corneliu Manescu. Sharp told a news conference Romania clearly favors a security conference of all European nations and that the Romanian leaders gave no specific views on the NATO troop-cut suggestion. But a high Romanian official told Canadian newspapermen that the big NATO countries do not really want to talk about troop reductions, that the NATO proposal is not concrete and that Bucharest wants a complete security system for Europe. The official said all Warsaw pact members, including Romania, will turn down the NATO offer and stick to their own suggestion for an all-embracing security conference. Sharp said Manescu was "very clear" that Romania favors such a conference compared with any other talks. Furthermore, Romania did not believe in bloc-to-bloc negotiations, he said. Sharp was the first NATO minister to visit an East European Communist country since the Rome NATO meeting last week and one of his aims was to get reaction to the NATO troop-cut suggestion. He also said prospects for a European security conference are better now than at any time. He said NATO favors such a meeting though with qualifications about timing and preparation. The NATO foreign ministers stated that progress would have to be made in troop-cut and other talks with Eastern Europe before they would agree to a general security conference. Sharp himself said in Rome that troop-cut talks would provide a test of Soviet willingness to discuss security. Sharp said here prospects for a security conference have "considerably advanced" and that European countries are actively considering one. Manescu accepted Sharp's invitation to come to Canada, possibly later this year. SAIGON (AP) — Five hundred South Vietnamese troops made a helicopter assault today to link up with the weary defenders of a mountain-ridge artillery base shattered by two days of attacks in the northwest corner of South Vietnam. Following up an early-morning hammering by United States B-52 bombers, U.S. and South Vietnamese fighter-bombers dropped anti-personnel bombs on lower ridges within half a mile of beleaguered Firebase Tun Tavern, while the relief force flew into a landing zone about the same distance from the base on the opposite side. Field reports said there was no resistance as the reinforcements and their U.S. advisers joined the remnants of Tun Tavern's defenders to begin a sweep around the base. At noon, North Vietnamese mortar crews were still hurling shells into the helicopter pad of the kidney-shaped outpost four miles east of the Laotian border as American medical helicopters wheeled in to take out the dead and wounded. One helicopter was hit and destroyed today. Losses continued to rise on both sides in the battle for the base, which occupies a narrow ridge 1,600 feet above the Da Krong River valley, 21 miles south of the demilitarized zone. Field reports put 500 South Vietnamese casualties to 50 killed and 119 wounded. The U.S. said 81 North Vietnamese were killed. One American adviser was killed and several U.S. and Australian advisers were wounded. Tun Tavern, a former U.S. marine artillery base, was occupied by an estimated 500 South Vietnamese infantrymen, artillerymen and engineers when the North Vietnamese launched a fierce assault up its slopes before dawn Tuesday. The crew and the wounded got off the shattered helicopter before it burst into flames. The pilot, WO Walter R. Adams, 26, reported later that some panicky but un wounded South Vietnamese had tried to scramble aboard with the casualties. Other officers said un wounded South Vietnamese troops had also tried to get aboard medical evacuation helicopters Tuesday night to flee the base.

Imported Shirt Surtax To Aid Textile Industry

OTTAWA (CP) — A surtax on imported shirts was announced by Trade Minister Jean-Luc Pepin Tuesday to offset falling employment in the Canadian textile industry. Coronation Knitting Mills (Canada) Ltd., in a typical reaction from the industry, said the surtax is "the finest thing the minister ever did." Fifty Canadian textile plants have closed since 1966. The surtax, effective today, is expected to hit low-wage Asian, African and Communist countries with which Canada doesn't have restraint agreements. Imports from high-wage countries such as Britain and the United States won't be affected, officials said. Imports from Japan, and other countries with which Canada has restraint agreements, will not be affected either. The full $24 surtax will apply to shirts leaving their home plant at less than $12 a dozen. Canadian buyers have been paying as little as $8 a dozen. Importers of shirts priced at above $12 a dozen will pay twice the difference between $24 and

Smoother And Sharper Teeth Fitted In To New Water Act

OTTAWA (CP) — The "teeth" which Resources Minister J. J. Greene said were extracted from the proposed Canada water act in committee three weeks ago were replaced with a smoother and sharper set in the Commons Tuesday. The House passed a series of government amendments allowing the resources department to confiscate cleaning agents or water conditioners imported to or manufactured in Canada if they contain nutrients in excess of government regulations. Similar amendments were knocked out of the proposed act by the Commons resources committee when Liberal MP lawyers Hyland Chappell (Peel South) and Walter Deacon (Toronto High Park) led a vote against the section because it was poorly worded. They favored the intention of the section. At the time Mr. Greene said they had removed the teeth from the legislation. But Tuesday the government re-introduced the amendments, with the wording changed, and made the regulations even tougher. Manufacturers and importers are liable to $5,000-a-day fines as well as confiscation. Previously they had been eligible for confiscation only, although industries and municipalities were eligible for the fines for polluting waters under the jurisdiction of water quality management agencies in excess of prescribed levels. Mr. Chappell was seemingly satisfied with the new wording and content of that amendment, but displeased with another government change. Original wording of the bill would have made an industry responsible in pollution cases even if the employee who allowed pollution to take place could not be identified. The committee agreed with this. However, a section that would let the company off the hook if the offence was committed without its knowledge and it had exercised diligence to avoid it, was deleted by the committee. The government re-inserted that exception in an amendment passed Tuesday, and Mr. Chappell was angry. The company's knowledge or lack of knowledge, diligence or lack of diligence, should affect only the penalty, not liability, he said. If members didn't oppose changes to well-considered alterations by committees "then we were just little boys who should not have been allowed out alone in the committee." Much of Tuesday's debate dealt with a motion by Grace McInnis (NDP—Vancouver-Kingsway), which would make part of the bill a government ban on the manufacture or import of cleaners containing phosphates by Jan. 1, 1971, and ban on sale of these products by Jan. 1, 1972. A stated government policy of reducing the phosphate content of cleaning agents and water conditioners by Aug. 1, 1970, and an announced ban on any phosphate content by Jan. 1, 1972 "is not explicit enough," she said. Her amendment was deferred for later vote. The Commons was to continue consideration of the proposed water act today.

Charlotte Town Gets To Work

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — The Prince Edward Island Legislature wasted no time getting down to work Tuesday when the Liberal government brought down 30 bills only minutes after the session had formally been opened by Lt.-Gov. J. George MacKay. The session, the first since the May 11 election in which Premier Alex Campbell's Liberals picked up 27 of the 32 seats, was called to deal with legislation not passed before the house was dissolved March 26. Just before the four-paragraph throne speech was read, Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell, the premier's father, swore in the legislators. The speech said the members would continue their deliberations into measures outlined in the speech read at the opening of the spring sitting. One of the more important pieces of legislation, a bill to bring medical care insurance to the province, was among those given first reading Tuesday.

ON THE PRAIRIES Breath-Test Charges Halt

WINNIPEG (CP)—All charges laid in Manitoba under recent compulsory breath test legislation will be stayed until the Supreme Court of Canada rules on the legality of the laws. The section of the Criminal Code in question was called into review by a British Columbia Supreme Court judge who ruled the legislation invalid because only parts of it had been proclaimed. Crown counsel Bill Morton of the Manitoba attorney-general's department said here persons whose blood alcohol reading is over .08 will not automatically be guilty of an offence nor will they be charged if they refuse the test, as provided for in the Criminal Code. TURNED DOWN MEDICINE HAT (CP)—The Alberta Crimes Compensation Board Tuesday turned down an application from Roy Funk, former city police constable, resulting from injuries he suffered in a gun battle with two holdup men in July. The board said Funk had failed to demonstrate financial need, a key clause in the provincial Criminal Injuries Compensation Act. SUPPORT FUND WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian School Trustees' Association Tuesday passed a resolution asking that the federal government set up a capital loan fund for school construction. Other resolutions adopted at the conclusion of the group's three-day request that school furniture and equipment purchases be exempt from provincial sales tax and federal excise tax. PLANNED DROP OUT EDMONTON (CP)—A group called Citizens for Individual Liberty announced Tuesday they are working to set up a plan under which Alberta residents wishing to drop out of the provincial medical care plan can obtain insurance. Organizers said they want to have a private medical care insurance plan to offer by July 1—the deadline for residents wishing to leave the provincial scheme. BACKS POLICE CALGARY (CP) — Police should use what force is necessary to stop mob action and the destruction of property on campuses, Gen. Mark W. Clark said Tuesday. Gen. Clark, former commander of the United States forces in the Far East, said in an interview the students can't take the law into their own hands and should be punished for campus disorders. ELECTION CALL WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba Premier Ed Schreyer said Tuesday he will call an election if his New Democratic Party government's automobile insurance bill is defeated in the legislature. Speaking during a noisy debate in the legislature, Mr. Schreyer reiterated his earlier statement that an election would be called on "a defeat in the house" or after his administration has been in office for a four-year term. Language 'No Problem'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's problems are not caused by language differences but by an economic system that doesn't work, Creditiste leader Real Caouette said here. He told 300 persons in suburban Burnaby that all races understood the language that money talks. "I don't want to see this country become a little France or a little England," he said. "I want it to become a great Canada and we must do something about the economy to make it that." "The great issue of the day is coin, credit and circulation. "Money is not something handed down by God. It is created by man and when there is a shortage of money it is because some men have decided this. "Someone should decide there will be enough money to do away with misery. "We cannot have full employment when the machines are doing the production. But the machines must serve humanity, not penalize it. It is a matter of distribution. "Where have all Trudeau's kisses led us? The economy is far worse than it was two years ago. "The upwelling of the dollar at the weekend didn't surprise me. It had so much air in it it had to float some day."

What's It Like To Have Pap Test

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am soon to have an examination including a Pap test. I do not have anyone close to talk to, and I wonder if you could tell me what to expect. Is it done with an instrument that shows the result immediately? What is the object of this test? Maybe you will think this is foolish, but I hate being so green on the subject.—E.T.

When you don't know, the best way to find out is to ask. The Pap test (named after the late Dr. George Papanicolaou, a brilliant Greek researcher) is aimed primarily at detecting cancer of the cervix. The cervix is the neck, or opening, of the uterus and is one of the two most common sites of cancer in women. The doctor collects a sample of the secretions from that region, but he does not get any immediate answer. The samples have to be treated with a dye and then examined under a microscope.

Sometimes a person is born with a deformed or defective kidney. More often, though, infection and hardening of the arteries are the culprits. Infection may settle in the kidneys after some otherwise unrelated disease. Sometimes we have no way of knowing where or how it originated.

Kidney stones can cause irritation and infection, and to some degree diet can help control kidney stones, but there is no way of knowing what foods to avoid until a stone has been analyzed to show what type it is.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am puzzled over the term "bromated" on some bags of flour. What is done to the flour and why?—L.B.C.

It means that one of the salts of boric acid has been added. Purpose: to accelerate activity of yeast.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard people say that if you sleep on your right side you are cutting off several years of your life because of strain on your heart. Is this true?—J.H.

No. Flop whichever way you prefer.

TRY AND STOP ME

By Bennett Cerf

A NEWSHAWK, understandably nervous on his first jet ride to a battle zone in Vietnam, was asked by an M.P. before boarding, "Whom do you wish to be notified in case of an emergency?" The newshawk answered, "The pilot."

Two conspicuously atrocious puns from Vancouver's prolific Hymie Koshovoy: 1. To celebrate the opening of a beautiful new Vancouver planetarium, a local school elected to produce a play wherein students would enact the roles of heavenly bodies. A lass named Shirley was chosen to play a minor planet, but demanded that she be given the key part of Sirus, one of the sky's brightest stars. "Nothing doing," barked the director. "Shirley, you CAN'T be Sirus!" ... 2. An office secretary had a lovely face, but try as she would, could not develop a well-rounded figure. She turned herself with food from morning to night, but continued to look like a long string bean—especially when viewed from the rear. Heartless co-workers dubbed her "the bottomless pit."

In Brazil, one of Rio's top prison wardens was attacked for allowing his prisoners only one meal a day. His excuse silenced his critics: "If we treated them any better, they'd refuse to leave jail!"

Hospital Costs For Discussion

EDMONTON (CP) — About 1,500 delegates this week will debate costs and an enlarged community role for hospitals, at the annual convention of the Canadian Hospital Association. Cost reductions proposed in a federal-provincial report will be debated at opening sessions today by Dr. Stanley Haidasz, parliamentary secretary to Health Minister John Munro, and V. H. Chadwick, board chairman of Royal Columbian Hospital in New Westminster, B.C.

Dr. E. L. P. Brousseau, CHA executive director, said the association questions claims in the report that savings of up to $200,000,000 are possible. "There are many recommendations which are sound. However, most of the major savings are on a long-term basis." Dr. Brousseau said many people fear that patient care may suffer in stringent cost-saving methods which stress efficiency instead of patient well-being.

Dr. Brousseau told a news conference that if it comes to a choice of who receives expensive treatment and who is refused, the government would have to choose because it set the limits.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW Planetary influences for Thursday encourage both long-pending projects and new ventures. This is a day in which you can achieve top-rank gains if you bypass the irrelevant and the frivolous and concentrate only on worthwhile objectives.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that you are currently in a fine period for applying your ingenuity and advancing original ideas which could step up your achievement career-wise. Stars will continue to stimulate Gemini inventiveness and creativity until the 15th of this month, and now ideas and projects you dream up during this period should not only prove highly feasible but exceptionally pleasing to those concerned—with resultant benefits and recognition due in July. Next good cycles for job advancement: September, late October (when you can also profit by advancing original ideas), late December, January and March. As with last year, your financial status may not show much of an uptrend for several months—despite a possible "windfall" during the first three weeks of July—but on Dec. 23 you will enter a splendid 6-week cycle for expanding monetary interests—this to be followed by an even more profitable period lasting throughout the month of March. Do be conservative in managing monies for the balance of 1970, however, and, above all, do not let anyone tempt you to speculate in July, August, October or November.
